Conflict Issue Has No Simple Legal Answer

NEW HAVEN (AP)—There is no simple answer to the growing conflict between Congress and President Nixon because the issues at hand have "never arisen in this stark form," a constitutional law expert says.

The President bases his refusal to surrender tapes of conversations made in his office on the "doctrine of executive privilege which is based in the constitutional principle of separation of powers," Professor Thomas E. Emerson of Yale said in an interview Monday.

The courts have never developed the legal issues involved. Usually these things are decided in the political arena and get to court. "There's no body of law to define the limits of executive privilege," Emerson said. "The law has ever suggested that executive privilege exonerates a president from releasing information relating to criminal activity, Emerson said."

Nixon was slapped with subpoenas Monday from the Senate Watergate committee and the office of special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox. If Nixon refuses the requests of the subpoenas, "I take it then the issue will go to court," the veteran law professor said. If the courts rule in the Senate's favor and Nixon "at that point says, 'No, I am the judge of my department,' then we would have a constitutional confrontation."

A wounded Japanese crewman who was released after the plane landed in Dubai said hijackers included a Japanese, a Latin American, a European, an Arab and a Latin American woman who blew herself up accidentally with a hand grenade in her dress soon after the plane was hijacked. The major Palestinian guerrilla groups all disclaimed any part in the hijacking. Their executive committee scheduled an emergency meeting in Beirut today to formulate a statement on the matter.

BATH COUP IS OLD BUT STILL EFFECTIVE
By Alfred Sheinwold
Today's column is written chiefly for modern bridge players who don't know the difference between a Bath Coup and a bathub. The Bath Coup, first invented about 200 years ago, in the days of Whist, is still a very effective play in contract bridge. The bathub is still effective, too, but not at the bridge table.

Sentenced For Robbery

NEW HAVEN (AP) — A 60-year-old Bethel man who admitted he robbed a bank in Stamford of $3,400 has been sentenced to three years in prison.
Fred J. Goll admitted that he held up the Connecticut National Bank office in March, 1972, from New Britain, because of the plea, and because his previous record was clean.

Cruisers Will Get 'Hope' Resuscitators

The Manchester Police Department has purchased a number of "Hope" resuscitators, according to Lt. Robert Lannan, the Manchester Police Department's training officer.

The resuscitators were purchased on the suggestion of Patrolman Gary Benson, who was commended last week by Town Manager Robert Weiss for his idea to use the resuscitator.

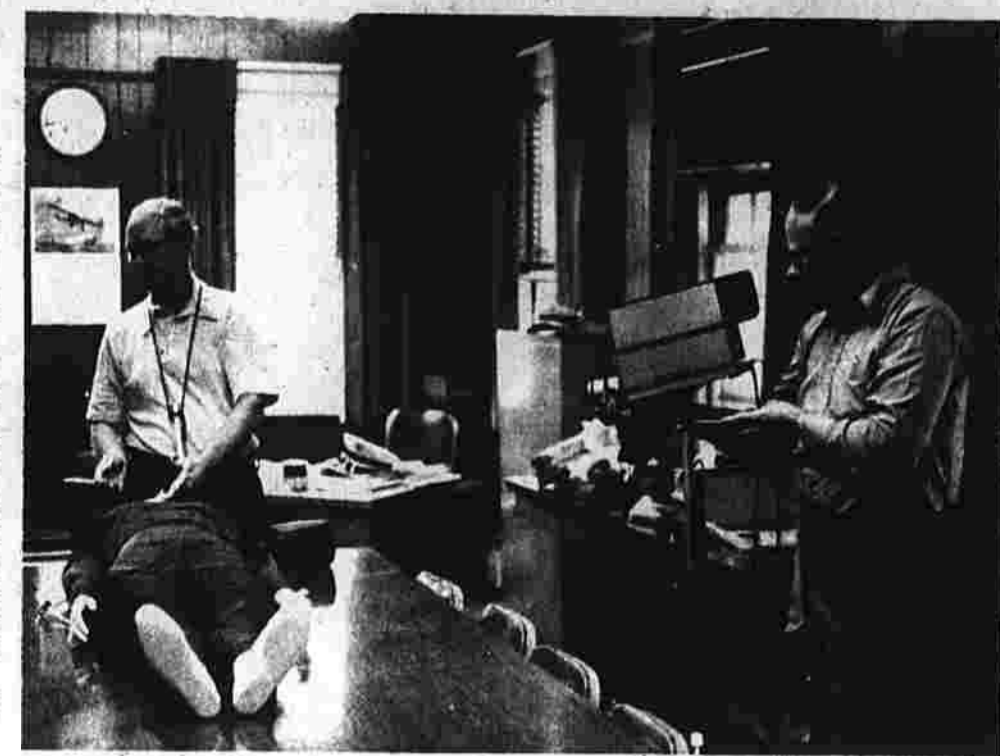

According to Lannan, the advantages of the resuscitator is many-fold. It is less complex than those presently used by Manchester Police. It is more compact and easier to handle. It also allows the officer to see that the patient is getting air.

The victim's lungs. When the pressure on the bag is released, the valve slides back, closing off the air output passage. The suction, created by the partial vacuum in the resuscitator, pulls fresh air into the resuscitator.

Dr. Charles Hamilton, head of the respiration department of Manchester Memorial Hospital, demonstrated the proper use of the resuscitator to Sgt. Joseph Brooks and Sgt. Brian Rooney, both of the Manchester Police Department. Lt. Lannan filmed the demonstration on video tape to be used in the instruction of patrolmen in the use of the new resuscitator.

Dr. Hamilton said that the resuscitator is in "widespread" use at the hospital.

Lt. Lannan said that the resuscitator will be placed in general use in cruisers as soon as the men receive instruction in its proper use.

Resuscitator Demonstration

Dr. Charles Hamilton, head of Manchester Memorial Hospital's respiration department, demonstrates the procedure for using the "Hope" resuscitator as Lt. Robert Lannan, Manchester Police Department training officer, video tapes the demonstration to use to train patrolmen in its use. The resuscitator, on the table at Dr. Hamilton's left, is a duplicate of those recently purchased by the police department as a result of a suggestion submitted by Patrolman Gary Benson. Stamps In The News

AP Newsfeatures
By SYD KRONISH

In North America during the 18th century, the Indians were "out west." But in South America at that same time, other Indians "came east" — from India to Surinam.

The Indians arrived in this little country (formerly Dutch Guiana) 100 years ago as recruits to work on the plantations, and now this centennial is being hailed with the issuance of three new postage stamps by Surinam. About one third of Surinam's present population are descendants of these immigrants, most of whom remain as farmers and plantation workers. Hindi is one of the chief languages of Surinam.

The 15 cent yellow and violet stamp shows an Indian woman gathering the rice crop. The 25 cent grey and red depicts a portrait of J.F.A. Cateau van Roosevelt who was the head of the area's Department of Immigration a century ago. The ship "Lalla Rookh," which carried the first Indians to Surinam, is in the background.

The 30 cent blue and orange stamp illustrates symbolic representations — a dove of peace and a factory complex — acknowledging Surinam's present policy.

Each new stamp also has the inscription "honderd jaar immigratie" (100 years of immigration) and the dates, 1873-1973. Not all collectors are happy with recent stamps issued by the U.S. Postal Service. The American Philatelic Society's New Issues "Watch-

The 1972 edition of the Minuteman Supplement to the Supreme and Master Global albums is now available. Included in the new listings are stamps for Bangladesh and Zaire (formerly the Republic of Congo). The supplements bring the collector up to date as of mid-1972. There are spaces for over 9,000 new stamps of the world issued during the one-year period. The price is $5.95 at your local dealer.

Another new item on the album scene is the White Ace for the souvenir pages produced and sold by the U.S. Postal Service. For displaying the 8-by-10 1/2 souvenir pages, the publishers (The Washington Press of Maplewood, N.J.) include a supply of postage stamp coupons made of acetate expressly for these pages.

U.S. Postal Service Souvenir pages are officially released for new issues. Each page has a picture of the new stamp, complete design and background story of the stamp.

The price for the album to accommodate the souvenir pages is $9.95. It is also at your local dealer.

The highest prize for a German exhibit in competition at the international stamp show, IBRA Munich '73, was won by a collector from the U.S. The recipient was Arthur Salm of Chicago with his display of Thurn & Taxis. Salm also received a gold medal for another collection.

Unfair Tactics

While most of us are pre-occupied with Watergate, Phase 4, and other major headline problems, we tend to become somewhat indifferent to other lesser problems.

Unfortunately, this neglect sometimes translates into a situation where a problem is solvable when small but not so solvable when it has grown from neglect or lack of action taken to nip it in the bud.

Now these problems fall into general categories which make them easy to pass the buck on by the bureaucrats.

For example, there is the problem of states and communities raising other states and communities of industries.

Now in the main, this is as old as the nation. If done on an up and up basis, it is part of the game of economics as practiced under what we allegedly call free enterprise.

However, once in a while there is a cry of "foul."

Our senior senator (we have two although the Watergate limelight might indicate the contrary) Abraham Ribicoff has pointed out in a recent newsletter that Waco, Tex., has been waging some Nutmeg industries to move to the wide open spaces of cheap Texas land and cheap Texas labor. His objection is not to the waging but by the fact the courting fees are being supplied by the federal government. Now we agree this is wrong.

The attempts of Connecticut and other New England states to reverse the flow of its industries abroad and to other states is difficult enough without Uncle Sam financing the opposition.

Sen. Ribicoff is trying to get legislation or regulations adopted by the federal agencies involved in aiding community development to prevent this specific misuse of federal funds.

Since Connecticut is one of the higher income states, and therefore a heavy contributor to the federal coffers, it should not have to subsidize those who would lure away Connecticut businesses.

As we said before, we have no quarrel with other states putting their best foot forward in their pitches for new industry—we sincerely hope our state is doing this at every opportunity—but let's stop federal subsidizing of such efforts and keep the game as fair as possible.

We hope Sen. Ribicoff is successful in solving this problem now while it is small and solvable. If everyone gets into the act the federal government will wind up financing not only efforts to attract industry to another state but also efforts to keep it where it is now. This will be the ultimate in bureaucratic waste of tax dollars whether they come from Texas or Connecticut.

Inside Report

Roland Evans and Robert Novak
Phase 4: Made by Nixon

WASHINGTON — Partly because of the political ravages of Watergate, President Nixon overruled the pleas of top economic advisers for a tax increase and personally crafted the tough Phase 4 anti-inflation controls program to court the immediate good will of voters at the possible long-range cost of losing the anti-inflation war.

Just as he ordered the June 13 across-the-board freeze over the advice of those same advisers, Mr. Nixon has now constructed a Phase 4 anti-inflation program streamlined for quick political approval and flying a bold "Made by Nixon" pennant.

Even when he was riding high earlier this year after his record landslide and before the Watergate scandal broke, his loose-control Phase 3 program grew politically intolerable. Geared for high profits and hence expanding production, Phase 3 did not prevent prices from going up. The result: his much-delayed order of June 13 which put the economy in the straitjacket of a freeze.

Now fighting for his political life, Mr. Nixon understandably dare not risk a repeat of that Phase 3. More than any approval of the voting public, the decision he has recently made the President has proved by his choice of Phase 4 weapons that approval of the voting public is not the opinion of business or economists, it is now his first concern.

of the Treasury. These advisers were urging a choice of 12 different tax options on the President, including across-the-board personal and corporate income tax hikes between 2 percent and 6 percent.

The no-tax decision, made early last week in a three-hour meeting of his economic high command, was the President's own. Only Dr. Herbert Stein, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, backed Mr. Nixon. Burns was quick for at least a temporary tax hike to sop up purchasing power.

Rejection of such advice may give Mr. Nixon more economic trouble than political profit today. It puts the entire burden of the anti-inflation battle on Burns' Federal Reserve System and the extremely tough new Phase 4 price controls. This threatens the program's credibility in the world of business and industry, menacing the expanding production base essential for long-term control of inflation by creating more goods for sale.

Max Lerner Comments Kissinger In State?

WASHINGTON — Before it goes wholly into limbo, at most speculative stories do, I venture a comment on the Dan Rather story (on CBS) that President Nixon has been talking privately of making Henry Kissinger his secretary of state in name as well as in fact. The State Department spokesman calls it a "dead issue," which could mean it has been stillborn or else that it had been decently interred until it is dug up again. Ordinarily these rumors don't deserve much notice, but this one got front page in the European capitals and in Tokyo—and deserves it. For whether true or not, it tells us something about President Nixon's current frame of mind and his possible view of his remaining years as President, if he survives politically.

He has gone through fearful stress, and is still under it. His own view seems to be that the time of such an ordeal is a man to the limit, and burns away the dross in him. Some men crack under such pressures, others emerge strengthened, but no one emerges the man he was before the ordeal.

If Mr. Nixon isn't impeached or forced to resign (either is possible), I agree with the London Economist's guess that his remaining tenure would be the second but the third Nixon Administration. He would be more compliant in domestic policy and in his relations with Congress. He would extend his foreign policy, but sharpen its lines of direction, as with a man who finally knows, after many batterings, who he is and where he is going—and who is going with him.

There has, of course, been talk in Washington that Rogers would get the next Supreme Court vacancy. He comes from New York, and would probably join the Warren Burger-Lewis Powell Republican moderates on the court. He might relish the appointment, even more than his present post.

The trouble about judges is that the Federalists packed the bench against him, that "few die and none resign." Neither Justice William O. Douglas nor Justice Thurgood Marshall is likely to commit either of these acts for the convenience of Nixon, Rogers, Kissinger and Co.

What would it mean for Kissinger? I've heard him read the best book on his that has thus far appeared, Stephen R. Graubard's "Kissinger: Portrait of a Mind" (Norton), which is an intellectual biography, given the gist and the settings of Kissinger's writings in a chronological sequence. It is not a book to read through at a sitting, since both the subject and the author are too wordy. But it is a first-rate book to quarry in.

Hi Neighbor

Burl Lyons, Publisher

We are glad to be back home after a two-week jaunt to the Far West which included travel by plane, bus, boat and automobile.

Most enjoyable was the boat. We can report first hand that airplanes in the sky are as big a problem today as cars on the highway. While attempting to land in Chicago, we were in a holding pattern over Flint, Mich., and Milwaukee, Wis., for nearly 90 minutes due to heavy air traffic.

At Chicago's O'Hare, though, the security check operation has taken on a new dimension. All carry-on baggage is inspected by an X-ray machine and unless the buzzer sounds there is no need for you to open your brief case or whatever you may be carrying.

In our travels, we observed a number of new bumper stickers which might bring you a laugh or two such as: "Smile, you could be in Russia"; "Watch out for school children, especially if they are driving"; "You can't have bread and loaf"; "Some cause happiness wherever they go, when they go."

In Yellowstone National Park, we observed this sign on the back of a large trailer: "Caution, Tourist, New England Unit Caravan from Massachusetts."

In case you are interested, Old Faithful is still spouting. Yellowstone is the nation's oldest park but if you are a senior citizen or a foreign visitor with a passport, admission is free in the National Park System. All others pay, including the press.

We have given some thought to researching the family tree but don't know if we can stand the truth. On Boot Hill in Montana we observed a marker for Haze Lyons, who along with a notorious sheriff and 23 others, met death by hanging for their unlawful acts.

We observed no problem in buying gasoline except from the standpoint of the pocketbook, paying 45 cents a gallon for regular in a couple of locations.

Of interest was an inspirational seminar we attended which was conducted by Dr. Herbert True of the University of Notre Dame. He made some points that are worth sharing:

There are no great men; there are only average men doing great things.

If you are not in love with what you are doing, chances are no one else is either.

The size of the crowd on the day of your funeral will not depend on the number of friends you are leaving behind but on the weather.

Wouldn't it be nice if we could forget our troubles as fast as we do our blessings?

We can't have the winnings of a race horse with the temperament of a jackass.

The three greatest words in a woman's vocabulary are "reduced," "repair" or "additional" without penalty.

The happiest man in the world today is Martha Mitchell's first husband.

So much for the vacation rest following the Sesquicentennial. From a relaxing standpoint, we would have been better off to stay home in New England.

Of interest is a bill currently in the U.S. Senate, introduced by Sen. Dominic Pardo, which would make every initial inspection by OSHA, in any plant, an inspection in warning which would allow adequate time to make adjustments, repairs or modifications without penalty.

Under the present measure, employers may be subject to instant fines for violations.

The new bill seems worthy of support, Mr. plant manager, and perhaps you should express your thoughts to your congressional delegation.

Makes sense. The owner of a company offered $25 for money-saving ideas from his employees. First prize went to a man who suggested the amount be cut to $10.

Marion Reid Roberts of Fillmore, Calif., writes: "May I tell you how very pleased and happy I was to receive the Sesquicentennial Edition. It brought many fond memories of our home town where we were born, brought up, and lived for 45 years."

"It also brought back fond memories for me as I use to pick strawberries in Bolton and crate them. "It was a pleasure to see the full page of the Damato's, now in the building business and have been for many years. Except for the position of tax collector and one seat on the school board, interested candidates have appeared before the town committee for all other positions.

As of the present, there are two candidates seeking the slot for first selectman and, for the first time, one is a woman, Mrs. Patricia Mulligan of Grant Mill Rd. and Carl Thompson of Barrows Hill Rd. are the candidates.

Incumbents who have expressed interest in running again are A. Pete Dallaire of Bass Lake Rd., selectman; Harry Wirth of Slocum Rd., Board of Finance; Edward Hinchfield of Gilead Rd., Board of Education; Mrs. Marian Foote of Gilead Rd., town treasurer; Wilbur Curtis of Gilead Rd., Board of Tax Review; Charles Eaton of Old Colchester Rd., Planning and Zoning Commission; James Derby of East St. and Emery Taylor of Bass Lake Rd., Zoning Board of Appeals; and Roger Crosby of East Gilead, Donald Belanger and Raymond Bart, constables.

One incumbent, Mrs. Marian Celio, tax collector, has expressed an interest for the position of town clerk, which is being vacated by Mrs. Gladys Miner, who has served in this capacity for over 20 years. Mrs. Celio is an unaffiliated voter.

Those seeking election for the first time are Mrs. Janis Prell of Hall Rd., for the Board of Education; Robert J. Jan Dr., for the Board of Tax Review; Edward Foote of Gilead Rd., for Planning and Zoning Commission; Ian Cooke of Church St., for alternate to the Zoning Board of Appeals.

There is no time like the present to become a member of the Master Donors Club of Manchester Memorial Hospital. Your contribution of $100 makes you a member of the club and the money will be used toward the purchase of a blood chemistry analyzer.

If you feel a bit pressed because it is tax time, various payment plans are available which would enable you to stretch your contribution over a year.

Then too, some folks, have contributed as little as $1 toward the analyzer. For some the $1 contribution is a greater sacrifice than those who are giving $150. The important thing is that it is your hospital, and because you live in this community, you should become a part of it.

Your contribution may be sent to the hospital in care of Burt Dittus, development director.

Information Available On Services for Blind

Vernon's state representative, Thomas Dooley, has information concerning the comprehensive program of service for legally blind and visually impaired persons of all ages.

The program has been updated to reflect recent legislation, Dooley said, and it is under the jurisdiction of the State Board of Education and Services for the Blind.

The Services for the Blind organization has been providing service to visually handicapped persons for more than 75 years, Dooley said. He added that legislation has enabled it to provide an even greater level of necessary assistance.

Dooley outlined the services a direct educational assistance, vocational rehabilitation, career and family counseling and referral, orientation and mobility instruction, and visual help programs.

The board also provides liaison with the Connecticut Braille Association, a private, non-profit organization which provides braille and large print educational materials, Dooley explained.

The majority of the services are provided in the home and community by traveling rehabilitation personnel, Dooley said. He has the information concerning all of the programs and may be contacted at 109 Irene Dr., Vernon.

The information is also available by calling or writing to the Board of Education and Services for the Blind, 170 Ridge Rd., Waterbury, Conn. Dooley also invites anyone who has any suggestions as to recommendations relative to the improvement or expansion of currently available services to let him know. He said the General Assembly reconvenes in February and it may be possible to take additional legislative action to improve the services.

Zollo Property Town Meeting Topic

HOLLY GANTNER
Township Correspondent
Thursday night at 7:30 at the high school to consider the purchase of the so-called Zollo property at Rt. 31 and Daly Rd.

The property, which includes approximately 15 acres of land, plus a 40 by 100 foot building, is being offered for sale at $58,000 to the town. It is assessed at $30,550, with two separate appraisals of $46,000 and $58,000 given by two separate Manchester firms.

A consulting engineer has listed $56,000 as the approximate figure needed for improvements to bring the property up to building code standards. The cost of this could vary according to the usage of the building and the present condition of the structure.

Renovation projects would include exterior site work, painting the exterior, heating and electrical work, roof support, interior finishing, raising the fireplace chimney.

The town has been in the process of negotiation for some time with the Waterfront Heights Association over possible takeover of the association beach, which abuts the Zollo property. Some members of the Town Council feel it would be in the best interests of the town to purchase the Zollo property, since the two parcels together would make an attractive waterfront site.

The Town Council, which is recommending purchase of the Zollo property to the town meeting, with concurrence of the Planning and Zoning Commission, recommends also that the purchase be financed out of the present cash surplus during the current fiscal year, with the remaining two-thirds to be split over the next two succeeding budget years.

Zoning Decision
An appeal by Manchester

Realtor Richard Hayes regarding a Coventry Planning and Zoning Commission decision concerning the Coventry Development Corporation has been settled in the courts in Hayes' favor.

Hayes had appealed a PZC decision granting a change in zone from RZ-40 to Light Industrial to the CDC for land it owns on Rt. 31 and on which it proposes to erect an industrial park.

Hayes owns land across the road from the proposed site, and is seeking approval for an eight-lot subdivision on his land. His subdivision application was turned down last year by the PZC which felt the Hayes property was too close to the town dump and a water supply problem might develop.

He appealed this decision in the courts as well. Before a decision was issued, he re-applied for the subdivision, offering proof, he said, that contamination problem would not develop. The PZC has as yet not acted on the re-application but is expected to late in August.

Hayes appealed the zone change granted to the CDC because he felt an industrial park so close to his property would devalue it.

Food Costs Rise

This AP chart depicts the rise in eggs and pork chops in 13 selected cities. A survey by The Associated Press shows prices are up in 12 of the 13 cities checked from July 1 to July 24. (AP photo)

Food Prices Rise For Eggs, Pork

By LOUISE COOK, Associated Press Writer. Up, up and away: That's where food prices are going according to an Associated Press marketbasket survey.

The AP surveyed the prices of 15 food and nonfood items in 13 cities on March 1, and has rechecked at the beginning of each succeeding month. An extra check was made this week in the wake of the lifting of price controls on all foods except beef.

The total marketbasket bill was up in 12 of the 13 cities checked. Pork chops and eggs led the list of higher-priced items, with increases of 20 and 30 cents a pound on the chops and boosts of up to 17 cents a dozen on eggs. Previous increases averaged no more than a dime an item.

One-fourth of the food items checked went up in price from July 1 to July 23. Twenty-two per cent of the total number of items checked—food and non-food—increased during the same period.

The items checked in the AP survey were: chopped chuck, pork chops, frozen orange juice, coffee, paper towels, butter, fabric softener, cookies, tomato sauce, milk, all-beef frankfurters and granulated sugar.

The cities surveyed were: Albuquerque, N.M., Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, Salt Lake City and Seattle.

The same supermarket in each city was used for each survey. Items not available on one of the check dates were not counted.

The controls on the other items were removed as part of the Phase 4 economic program, partly as a result of reports that shortages of certain foods were developing because processors were closing rather than operating at a loss.

The pork industry was among the hardest hit and pork products were among the first to jump up after the ceiling was lifted.

Pork chops were up in 11 of 13 cities. They were unchanged in Seattle and Miami, but a spokesman in the meat department of the Miami supermarket used for the survey said he expected a new higher price list momentarily. The increases ranged from a penny or less than one cent in Dallas—where a pound of pork chops went from $1.48 to $1.49—to 25 cents in Los Angeles—where the cost jumped from $1.48 to $1.73.

Eggs were more expensive in eight cities. Increases ranged from two per cent in New York to 26 per cent in Detroit where a dozen grade A medium white eggs went from 71 to 89 cents. Miami was the only city where the total marketbasket bill went down. The drop was a fraction of a per cent. Elsewhere, the increases ranged from less than one per cent in Seattle to nine per cent in Boston.

The marketbasket bill was up in eight cities and down in five during the June 1 to July 1 survey period.

Jukido Students Get Certificates

Hebron - Andover

ANNE EMT, Correspondent, Tel. 228-3971

Certificates of "Introduction to Jukido" were presented to the students who have completed six or more classes of jukido, a self-defense program sponsored by the Hebron and Andover Recreation Commissions.

A special award was given to Lori Bonafant of the children's classes and one to Adrian Cheney of the adult classes, for demonstrating the true spirit of jukido.

Those receiving the special award are eligible for a free class at the International Karate and Jukido Academy and will have the opportunity of meeting Master Paul Arel who is head master of the self-defense Art of Jukido.

Children's classes are Saturday mornings at 9:30 and adult classes are at 10:30 a.m. on Saturdays and 7 p.m. on Wednesdays, all at the Hebron Elementary School. In the event of rain, classes are held at Phelps Hall.

Jewelry The two commissions are also sponsoring a creative jewelry workshop to be taught by Everett Graham at his home on Rt. 85 in Hebron.

The classes are open to students in Grades 7 through 12 and adults and will be held on four consecutive Tuesday mornings beginning Aug. 7 from 9 to noon.

The cost is $4 for the course which will include cutting and polishing and mounting of agate and gem stones. Graham may be contacted for further information.

R: SAFE LIVING

MANCHESTER PUBLIC SAFETY COMMITTEE

Coming home, the vacation is over. You open the door and your home looks like a battlefield. What on earth could have happened. Brother, it looks like you were robbed. And look at the mess. Those thieves must not have known you were going to be away so long, the work looks hurried. And everything you own is scattered across the house.

When going on vacation there are a number of things you can do to make your home a little safer from burglars.

The first thing is to lock all doors and windows. And another idea suggested by the Public Safety Advisory Committee is to leave at least one light burning.

If you receive a lot of "wrong number" telephone calls, watch out at home. It's sometimes use this method to find out if you are at home. It is also a good idea to report any suspicious-looking cars in the area; it might be lefty and the boys "casing the joint."

If possible leave front and back outdoor lights on. Visibility is a large deterrent to those who indulge in the "sneak-thief" type of crime.

If you are going on vacation make a list of all valuables in the house. If your home is burglarized in your absence, the list will be helpful for filing your claim with your insurance company and making out a police report.

Keep shrubs and trees near your house neatly trimmed. Shrubs can provide cover for would-be thieves while trees can offer easy access to second story windows if the thief watches any television. Also lock any ladders you have in the garage or basement. A ladder left in the yard is an open invitation to a good second-story man.

If you go on an extended vacation, cancel your papers and mail and make arrangements with your neighbors to pick up any unscheduled deliveries in your absence. It might be a good idea to ask them to keep your lawn cut. Not only does this play keep your house from looking vacant, but it also saves you the trouble of mowing your lawn on your first day back.

Place any jewelry or coin collections in a safe deposit box. Leaving them lying around is asking for trouble.

Leave some drapes open in your home to allow neighbors to keep a check on your house, and notify police that you have gone on vacation. Finally, and possibly one of the most important points, is do not seek a timetable to giving a third party telling your friends that you have gone on vacation and they will be back at a certain time. That amounts to giving a timetable and an open invitation to rob your home.

Have a happy vacation; if you follow these rules, you might even have some valuables left in your home when you return.

Osteopaths Elect Missouri Physician

NEWTON, Mass. (AP)—Dr. John C. Taylor, an osteopathic physician in general practice from Kansas City, Mo., was installed as president of the American Osteopathic Association for 1973-74 Tuesday.

Dr. Taylor succeeds Dr. J. Vincent Murphy of Grand Blanc, Mich., as president of the 14,000 member group.

Elected president-elect, to serve as president during the 1974-75 year, was Dr. Paul E. Wilson, a general practitioner from Ocala, Fla. He was elected to the post during the Association's annual meeting Tuesday. The 140-member ADA house of delegates elected Dr. Eli H. Stark of North Bellmore, N.Y., first vice president; Dr. Dale Dodson of Northfield, Minn., second vice president, and Dr. D. Steven Strickland of Tucker, Ga., third vice president.

Named to three-year terms on the board of trustees were Dr. A. A. Feinstein of Philadelphia; Dr. George Label of Ft. Worth, Tex.; Dr. Henry F. Olen of Grand Rapids, Mich.; Dr. Donald Siehl of Dayton, Ohio, and Dr. Max Gulensohn of Kirksville, Mo.

Re-elected ADA speaker of the year was Dr. Samuel R. Galt of Corpus Christi, Tex., and Dr. Robert D. McCullough of Tulsa, Okla., was re-elected vice speaker.

Delegates went on record as opposing formation of a physicians union, and maintaining separate internship and residency apart from the American Medical Association, a spokesman said.

IGE Will Be Expanded

The Individually Guided Education (IGE) Program instituted in two Vernon elementary schools last fall will be expanded to another area in the coming school year but will not be extended to additional schools.

Dr. Daniel Woolwich of the Board of Education curriculum committee, reported to the board on the progress of the program and, on recommendation of the principals of the two schools involved, asked the board to approve expanding the program into the area of study skills. The program now involves word attack skills.

The Maple Street School, with Andrew Maneggia principal, and the Northeast School, with Joseph Bellis, principal, are the two schools presently involved in the program.

A recommendation of the committee that the program be expanded to another school will be considered by the board in the fall but will not be implemented next year as implementation requires months of planning.

Board member Robert DuBeau opposed the committee recommendations noting he felt there had been some problems and that the program would amplify, to an extent, the differences within the schools. Some of the schools, among them Maple and Northeast, also have an ungraded program in some grades. DuBeau said there is a diffcult way of implementation of the ungraded and he would be reluctant to expand this program until the board has a greater degree of similarity within the other schools.

The board originally approved the program on a three-year term. The second year will start in the fall. Because Maple and Northeast Schools were already into the ungraded program, it was felt they were the logical ones to start with the IGE program.

The program focuses on the individual learner and involves teams of teachers working with small units of students. Working with the teachers are Mrs. Connie Kelly, elementary reading supervisor; and Blaine Gerard, supervisor of language arts, plus the principals of the schools.

The program is state funded with the board also appropriating some of the funds. The program also is provided with a coordinator who works on a regional basis. The reading program or word attack skills, instituted in

NEW YORK (AP) — With funds provided through federal and state subsidies as well as private sources, a 355-apartment complex for low and moderate-income people has been built in New York City's Harlem, predominantly populated by blacks.

The complex is called "Lionel Hampton Houses," named for the musician who as a prime mover in the project, and who, through a new company, will manage the complex.

Hampton is concerned with rebuilding Harlem, where he has lived for the past 30 years, and is now pushing for creation of a college in the area, a spokesman said.

About 80 per cent of the population of the Philippines is Roman Catholic.

Social Security

Q. I recently read in the newspaper about a new program under Social Security called Supplemental Security Income. Can you tell me what it's all about?

A. Starting in January 1974, the federal government will make monthly cash payments to people in financial need who are 65 or older or who are blind or disabled.

The new program will replace the present federal-state programs of public assistance payments to people who are 65 or older or blind or disabled. Until federal supplemental security payments start in January 1974, state and local public assistance officers will continue to make payments as usual.

Q. How do I qualify for Supplemental Security Income?

A. Whether you qualify depends on the amount of your regular cash income and the amount of property or other things that can be turned into cash, such as stocks, bonds, jewelry or other valuables.

Q. Can you tell me the aim of the new Supplemental Security Income program?

A. The aim of the program is to provide supplemental payments, when they are needed, so that anyone who is 65 or older or blind or disabled can have a basic income of at least $10 a month for one person and $16 a month for a married couple. This doesn't mean that every eligible person will get that much from the government every month. The amount will depend on how much other income he has.

Q. Can you tell me the difference between the new Supplemental Security Income program and Social Security. Are they all the same?

A. No. Even though the SSA will run the new federal program, supplemental security income is not the same as Social Security. The money to make supplemental security income payments will come from general funds of the U.S. Treasury.

Social Security benefits are paid from contributions of workers, employers, and self-employed people. Social Security funds will not be used to make the supplemental security income payments.

DUALITY

Such is man's duality: he is part of the world and nature, and he is an heir of eternity. The duality belongs to him as creature of God in God's own image. He is in a world which can seem so fascinating as to absorb all his thoughts. But if it is allowed to absorb all his thoughts he can be misled in his understanding of it and of himself, and diverted from the realization of his own true stature. — Arthur Michael

Volunteers In Probation

BETTY RYDER
Women's Editor

Volunteers in Probation, a program designed to bring together young probationers and concerned citizens on a one-to-one basis, is seeking volunteers.

The program, which is open to men and women, was initiated in June 1971 through the efforts of two probation officers in the New Haven office of the State of Connecticut, Department of Adult Probation. It is geared to relieve probation officers already laboring under heavy case loads, and allow them more time to spend with individual probationers.

Francis D. Rogers, senior probation officer in the Hartford office, commenting on the program said, "We have nearly 1,000 probationers in the Greater Hartford area, and trying to give them individual counseling is difficult. Most of the probationers are first offenders, between the ages of 16 and 21, he said.

His assistant, Mrs. Claire Collins of Glastonbury, said, "Volunteers will find many of the young probationers very appealing. They just want someone to talk to, someone to listen. We have found that the program and the friendships that have developed, have cut down on the number of repeat offenders."

While the need for volunteers is great, Rogers admitted that "many are called but few are chosen."

"Each person selected to work as a volunteer in Probation, must be responsible for seeing his probationer at least once a week, attend regular training sessions, and submit reports to the department," he said.

"Volunteers make their own arrangements as to when they will meet and when. It could be a drug store, a restaurant, library or the park, wherever it is mutually agreeable," he added.

The program was awarded a federal grant to help fund the pilot project in September 1971, and since its inception has proved successful.

"We have found that the probationers working with volunteers, have returned a similar report to the department," he said.

"Volunteers in Probation are comprised of two groups. The first one is the Court Aide Program in which a volunteer

Parish To Honor Clergymen

The Rev. Paul Tringone, who recently was assigned as assistant pastor of the Church of the Assumption, and John Bossidy, permanent deacon of the church, will be honored Sunday at a reception from 2 to 4 p.m. in the church hall.

Father Tringone was ordained to the priesthood May 26 at the Cathedral of St. Joseph in Hartford, and the Church of the Assumption is his first appointment. For the past year, he has served as deacon at St. Mary's Church in New Britain.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Tringone of Bristol. He attended St. Thomas Seminary, Bloomfield, and received his bachelor's degree from Mt. St. Mary's Seminary, Emmenaburg, Md.

Bossidy, who lives at 61 Cambridge St., was ordained in Holy Orders to the Permanent Diaconate of the Archdiocese of Hartford June 3 at St. Isaac Jogues' Church in East Hartford. He graduated from the Archdiocesan Permanent Diaconate course, a three-year program in theology and formation, at St. Thomas Seminary.

Rev. Paul Tringone, a permanent deacon is a permanent, part-time minister in the Roman Catholic Church.

able to administer all sacraments of the church save exorcism, and to formally officiate at all paratiturgical services and functions. A permanent deacon is not a priest and cannot consecrate or celebrate Mass. The deacon's main function is to serve the archbishop in his assigned parish as a ministerial aid to his pastor in providing the sacraments and guidance to the whole parish community.

Bossidy and his wife, the former Barbara L. Ruggles of Rockville, have five children, John, 16; Bridget, 17; Daniel, 16; Kathleen, 13; and Mary, 10. He is employed as a lathe operator at the Purdy Corp., Hilliard St., Mrs. Bossidy teaches at Waddell School. Bossidy is interested in the composition and performance of contemporary liturgical music and is leader of the Daystar Singers, an ecumenical singing group.

Lends A Helping Hand

Being a student involves more than one kind of learning, according to National Technical Institute for the Deaf student Sue Mozer.

SUE MOZER
ground for the deaf and hearing to share their ideas and become more sensitive to each other's goals, interests and problems," Sue said.

Sue is currently on the NTID's Dean's list. She was chairman of last summer's successful Junior National Association for the Deaf biennial convention held at RTI, is a member of the RTI policy committee and active in the NTID Student Congress.

She is enrolled in the College of General Studies Social Work program and devotes a large part of her time to NTID's community volunteer program.

"I like to get involved with people because you can learn so much about yourself at the same time," Sue said.

During the past year Sue has been working with the Monroe County Department of Social Services counseling a family who needed the help of someone familiar with the deaf. The parents, who are deaf, have four hearing children, which resulted in communication problems.

"My work with this family showed me the great need there is in social work for trained counselors who are experienced with problems of the deaf," Sue said.

Another activity taking up more of her time lately is organizing NTID's Listen to the Deaf Week, scheduled October 6-12. "Deaf Week" will comprise a week-long series of lectures, workshops, cultural activities, deaf history and entertainment devoted to all aspects of deafness.

The idea for deaf week was conceived by Sue and other student leaders as a way to inform the hearing community about the deaf — their problems and achievements.

"We're trying to set up a program that will reach out to the total community so that hearing people will understand us better," Sue said.

Activities during the week will include a performance by the National Theater of the Deaf, an original play performed by NTID's Drama Club in conjunction with RTI's Brick City Players.

Sue's involvement with the special project stems from her feeling that the deaf and hearing must learn "to get together." Sue attended high school at the American School for the Deaf in Hartford.

"I think Listen to the Deaf Week will help people understand us better. Hopefully it will provide the kind of common

Attorney Reports Murder Victims Feared Aillon

NEW HAVEN (AP) — The defense was expected to continue a detailed cross-examination today of a lawyer who claimed two persons expressed fear of Guillermo Aillon shortly before they were killed last summer.

Howard Jacobs, who represents Aillon, objected repeatedly when attorney Arthur A. Abeshouse was allowed Tuesday to quote others in his testimony.

Jacobs also questioned the New Haven lawyer about his recollection of conversations and his friendship with the victims.

Abeshouse said Barbara Aillon, 28, went to him July 28, 1972, for help in getting a divorce. She claimed, without giving details, that Aillon had threatened her and said she was afraid, he said.

Mrs. Aillon according to Abeshouse, said her husband had lost his job and they had quarreled because he was seldom at home in the evening.

After she left their Wallingford apartment and took their 7-month-old daughter to live with her parents, her father also expressed fear about Aillon, Abeshouse said.

S. George Montano, her father, said during an Aug. 11 telephone conversation that Aillon had called the house regularly.

First he asked to talk with Mrs. Aillon but three days earlier had asked for $1,600 to attend a preparatory school, Abeshouse said.

Aillon had presented an "ultimatum," according to Montano, that he get the money by Aug. 11 but Montano said he

State Budget Becomes Political Flap

By GARY LUHR Associated Press Writer

HARTFORD (AP)—Connecticut's budget controversy, heretofore a politically partisan flap, this week became a sparring match between the executive and the legislative branches.

Democratic State Auditor Leo Donohue dealt the first blow in a memorandum to Governor Thomas J. Meskill on Tuesday, accusing Gov. Meskill of "playing unfairly with the legislature's budget."

Carlson conceded that $8.9 million probably would go unspent this year anyway but that it would be responsible for the state to rely solely on luck for that to happen.

As a result, he sent a letter last month to all state agencies urging them to hold their spending for the year to 97 per cent of their total allocations. His office said some agencies received only interim allotments at the start of the fiscal year while they re-evaluated their spending requests in line with Carlson's directive.

If all state agencies complied fully with the directive approximately $36 million would go unspent this year.

The Democrats have criticized Carlson for forcing departments to limit spending in the face of a possible surplus.

State Given Deadline For Meeting College Deficiencies

HARTFORD (AP) — The New England Association of Schools and Colleges (NEASC) has imposed a Sept. 1 deadline on Connecticut's community colleges to show "significant progress" on suggested improvements or face loss of accreditation.

In a July 14 letter to the Connecticut Regional Community Colleges Board of Trustees, M. Evans Munroe of NEASC said the accrediting organization was pleased that Gov. Thomas J. Meskill had assigned an aide to work with the trustees on problems fairly with the legislature.

But Munroe repeated the organization's criticisms, first stated in mid-May, that the Meskill administration interferes too much with the colleges and has imposed fiscal and personnel restrictions too rigid to all state college operations. The agency also said state funding for the community colleges is inadequate and criticized the "inattention and indecisiveness" of planning for the institutions.

Munroe said he was encouraged by the plans outlined for college improvements by Searle F. Charles, community college executive director who responded to the NEASC's original criticisms.

However, he said evidence that progress is being made must be shown before the group could encourage any of the community colleges to seek an evaluation for accreditation.

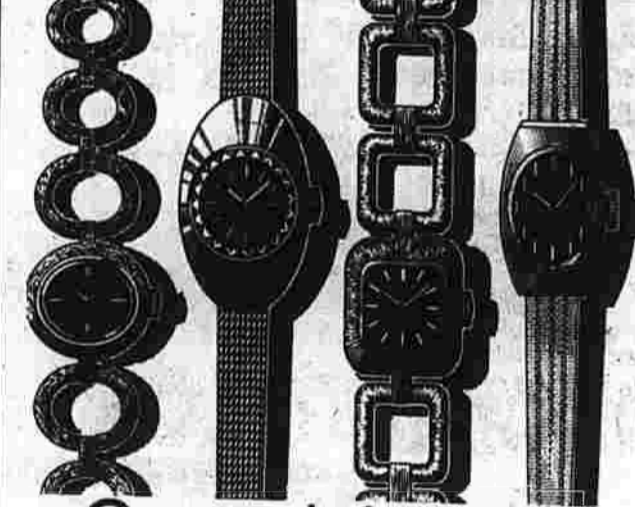

Unless such evidence is forthcoming before Sept. 1, Munroe said there will be no evaluations this fall.

Bush Alleges Democratic Spying In 1960

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief Senate Watergate investigator has denied a Republican accusation that he spied on the 1960 GOP campaign and may have bugged Richard M. Nixon's headquarters.

Carlton S. Bellino said the allegations were intended to disrupt the committee's probe of wiretapping and spying aimed at Democrats.

GOP national Chairman George S. Bush Tuesday released three affidavits in which he said strongly indicate Bellino used electronic surveillance to monitor conversations in the hotel space in which Nixon prepared for his televised debates with John F. Kennedy.

Bush said he learned of the Court Orders GOP To Reveal Contributors

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge has ordered President Nixon to disclose within 60 days a list of secret contributors to the 1972 campaign.

The finance committee asked the judge last month for 90 days to compile the list, and to disburse the Common Cause suit.

Common Cause argued that motion on the ground that disclosure of its list before it could examine the list would deprive it of any recourse if it believed the finance committee filed an incomplete accounting of contributions.

Common Cause also argued that 90 days was longer than necessary.

Divers Poised To Tap Treasure

NANTUCKET, Mass. (AP) — Salvage divers poised above the wreck of the Italian luxury liner Andrea Doria say they hope to have their habitat for the two-week operation anchored to Doria's side this afternoon—17 years to the day after her collision with the Swedish liner Stockholm.

The habitat is a 12-foot-long torpedo-shaped tank compartment where the salvagers will live while they try to pierce Doria's side and find their way to strong boxes reputed to hold $1.1 million in cash and other valuables worth about $4 million.

Robert Hollis, a member of the expedition, told the Providence, R.I., Journal via radiotelephone that it will take between four and five hours to lower the 12-ton cylinder to Doria 235 feet below the surface.

The cylinder is often referred to by expedition members as "habitat," but it also has acquired the nickname "Mother."

"Mother" has food and beds and will serve as living quarters for the two former Navy scuba divers undertaking the salvage, Donald Rodercker, 27, and Christopher DeLucchi, 22, both of San Diego.

Jay Flindella, handling news relations for the expedition, said late Tuesday night the divers—in addition to Rodercker and DeLucchi, there's a support team of about eight other divers—still have a few more support lines to hook up today before "Mother" starts her descent.

Richardson Caught In The Middle On Privilege Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The growing Watergate confrontation has a cautious ally. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson in the middle between the President and the prosecutor.

Richardson, who has responded to questions about the approaching clash between President Nixon and special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox.

Technically, Cox works for Richardson and Richardson works for the President. But Cox operates under a mantle of independence and his challenge to the President leaves Richardson with little and carefully weighs his response to questions about the approaching clash between President Nixon and special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox.

He said his 1973-74 audit report may contain a recommendation for Board of Directors' approval of a $50,000 to $100,000 writeoff in uncollectible taxes — dating back to 1965 — to correct recurring non-reconciliation.

Baskin made two recommendations which would require action by the Connecticut General Assembly.

He recommended legislation which would transfer to the state the burden of collecting property taxes on motor vehicles, and he recommended the legislation concerning local collection of the state use tax on bills (invariably for the larger users) for water and sewage charges.

At present, the municipalities must forward the use tax to the state quarterly, at once as water and sewage bills are mailed and even before payment is received. Baskin's proposal is for a change in the law, to permit payment of the use tax to the state only when the funeral home tonight from 7 to 9.

Richardson says Cox will not be able to steer clear of a direct role should the case reach the Supreme Court.

Solicitor General Robert Bork, who works under Richardson, normally represents the executive branch in arguments before the high court.

Richardson says Bork will not be able to steer clear of a direct role should the case reach the Supreme Court.

He doesn't say whether the Justice Department, in the person of Bork, will argue against Nixon's lawyer in any Supreme Court appearance.

Social Worker to Join Services Center Staff

A Preventive Youth Counseling Grant from the Connecticut Planning Commission on Criminal Administration has made it possible for the Heckswood Valley Community Services Center to hire a full-time social worker.

Miss Cornelia F. Sharrow has been hired to fill this position. John Nichols, executive director of the center, announced today.

The sponsoring organization is a community-based youth program that holds great promise for meeting the needs of the youth of individual communities, Nichols said.

Miss Sharrow, who will take over her duties in Vernon on Aug. 1, is the holder of a master of social work degree from the University of Connecticut. She has had internship experience at the Central Connecticut Regional Center for the Retarded which is in Meriden.

She also has worked in an outreach program sponsored by Catholic Family Services at Charter Oak Terr., Hartford. Prior to her graduate education, Miss Sharrow did summer work at the Massachusetts Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

She has also served three years as a social case-worker with the Westchester County Division of Child Social Services of the Department of Family and Social Services.

A plant spokesman said Americo DiNardo, 53, of East Hartford, was unloading a 365-pound, 35-gallon oil drum from the rear of a truck when he slipped and fell and the container landed on top of him.

DiNardo, an employee at United Aircraft Corp. plant since 1946, died of massive internal injuries while unloading a 365-pound, 35-gallon oil drum from the rear of a truck when he slipped and fell and the container landed on top of him.

Cyclist Killed

LYME (AP) — William A. Rowan, 20, of Old Lyme died Tuesday when the motorcycle he was riding rounded a curve on Route 156 and slid into oncoming traffic, police said.

"Hopefully," he concluded, "an audit of the 1973-74 fiscal year will show that the corrections were made."

Miss Sharrow will be assuming much of the responsibility for the preventive youth counseling as well as marriage counseling. She will schedule daytime and some evening appointments, depending upon the needs of area residents.

Jackstons Deny Tie to Reform Unit

Nicholas and Phyllis Jackson today denied "emphatically and categorically" that they are members of the Delegate Reform Committee, formed within the Connecticut Democratic Party by Edward L. Marcus of New Haven, former majority leader of the State Senate.

A news release Tuesday from the Delegate Reform Committee claimed representatives in more than 100 of the state's 169 towns and named Nicholas and Phyllis Jackson as representatives from Manchester.

Jackston said he and his wife received letters from the committee, asking them to join, and that the letters included forms to be filled out and mailed in. "Neither one of us filled out, signed or returned those forms," said Jackston. "Nor did we reply to their follow-up letter."

"We feel that this committee has used our names without authorization and we will seek a retraction," he said.

Marcus, executive secretary of the committee, was an unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic nomination for U.S. senator in a 1970 primary. Jackston assisted in his Manchester campaign. Mrs. Jackson is a member of the Manchester Board of Directors.

Mrs. Kowalski Heads School Board Again

ANNE EMT Cowpound, Tel. 228-3971

The Board of Education Tuesday evening unanimously re-elected Mrs. Beatrice Kowalski as chairman for the tenth consecutive year. She has served as chairman since 1964.

Mrs. Kowalski is starting her 15th year as a member of the board, having been first elected in 1958 for a six-year term and subsequently re-elected for six-year terms in 1965 and 1971.

During her years of service, she has a record of having missed only one regular meeting and two special meetings, all in 1969.

Also elected unanimously was Mrs. Patricia Tiemann as secretary of the board. Mrs. Tiemann is starting her fourth year as secretary.

Surplus Final reports on the 1972-1973 budget show that the board ended up the fiscal year with a surplus of $4,506. This amount has been transferred to the bus fund account according to town ordinance which authorizes such a transfer.

Kindergarten The board voted to have two kindergarten sessions starting in September. Both will be morning sessions for the anticipated enrollment of 25 children.

The board had the alternative of operating the two sessions with two teachers or one session with a teacher aide assisting. It based its decision on the advantages of smaller classes for the first exposure these children will have in school.

Staff The board approved the appointments of Miss Eileen Mary O'Brien as a fourth grade teacher and Miss Rosemary Bishop as a second grade teacher.

Miss O'Brien was graduated in 1973 with a BS from Russell Sage College. She did her student teaching at the third grade at Sullivan (N.Y.) Central School, and in the fifth grade at

Director

Miss Jacqueline Abbott of Bolton, assistant principal at the F.R. Noble School of Eastern Connecticut State College, will be the director of the "Beginning Teacher In Service Program," which will begin Aug. 13.

The year-long program, funded by a $47,500 grant, will provide on-the-job supervision of first-year teachers through periodic workshops, the program will attempt to strengthen the performance of those teachers in the classroom.

About 75 teachers from 13 towns surrounding Windham will be involved in the program.

Cattanch did point out that school will be starting at 8:35 a.m. and closing at 3:35 p.m. Friday afternoon after 5 o'clock. Spahn Temple housing accommodations are at the "77" Motor Lodge at Park Square.

There will be a welcome party Friday night, the Northeast parade is at noon Saturday, a social time is scheduled after the parade, and a breakfast Sunday morning before departure for home.

Jan Wright, 75 Main St., tel. 649-8843, is handling the reservations for the Oamar members. He said 20 have already signed up, and others who want to should contact him this week.

Shriners Plan Boston Parley

Omar Shrine Club's color guard and marching unit will participate in the Northeast Shrine Association convention in Boston the weekend of Sept. 28-30.

Plans are to leave Manchester by private car Friday afternoon about 5 o'clock. Spahn Temple housing accommodations are at the "77" Motor Lodge at Park Square.

Jan Wright, 75 Main St., tel. 649-8843, is handling the reservations for the Oamar members. He said 20 have already signed up, and others who want to should contact him this week.

Physician

The board voted to ask Dr. Robert Dyer to again serve as school physician for the 1973-1974 school year and authorized the administration to appoint him if he wishes the position.

Lunch

Dr. David Cattanch, superintendent of schools, informed the board that there is a possibility hot lunch prices will have to be increased due to the loss of milk subsidy and the large increases in food prices.

The board will discuss this at its August meeting.

Dahl Oil Co. has informed Libby that effective Oct. 1, the state is requiring the installation of smoke detector compliance systems in connection with pollution. However, a representative from Dahl mentioned that he doubts Andover will be involved as oil burner systems must have a 35-gallon-an-hour capacity before it is necessary to install one. Dahl will send a representative to check the school's system to see if it must comply.

The board authorized Libby to arrange to have stude at Sullivan (N.Y.) Central School, and in the fifth grade at rather than waiting until the oil level is lower sometime during October. Libby explained that an additional cost of $100 would be incurred to drain the oil and holding it in a stand-by truck while the sludge is being cleared out.

Libby presented a proposal to the board concerning the installation of hot water heater systems to use when it is not necessary to fire the two boilers for heating. He explained how in the long run, money could be saved by using the heaters and that they would pay for themselves in a short time. The board took no action on this proposal.

Acting on a recommendation from Percy Cook, selection, and Mrs. Kowalski, Libby also reported that a representative from Lees Carpet Co. will visit the school to review the poor condition of the rug installed there.

Knudsen Bros. bids on ice cream were approved by the board as was the company's bid on milk which was .0075 per one-half pint.

Dahl Oil Co.'s bid of 1726¢ per gallon for No. 4 oil, based on the New Haven tank car prices, was also approved.

Museum Offers Nature Classes

In response to numerous requests, Lutz Junior Museum will offer two special sessions of nature classes at the Oak Grove Natural Science Center.

These sessions, which begin Tuesday and continue for two weeks, will be open to students who will enter first grade in the fall. All other sessions have been limited to children who have completed Grade 1 through 6.

The morning session, Session V, meets from 9 a.m. to noon and the afternoon session, Session VI, from 1 to 4 p.m. Both sessions are taught by Bruce McCabrey, a science teacher at Bannet Junior High School.

The enrollment fee is $20 per child per session. A membership fee of $2 would make any child, who is not already a museum member, eligible to attend any of these nature classes.

The children participate in pond hunts, animal tracking, stream walks and many other outdoor action activities as well as various nature crafts. Anyone interested in enrolling their child should contact the museum, 643-0949, by Friday.

Super 75 Finalists

A Manchester bride of two-and-a-half months and her father, also of Manchester, shared a $5,000 winning ticket in the Connecticut Lottery.

Mrs. Donna Agnew of 40 Olcott St. and her father, Raymond E. Coleman of 73 Lydall St., held the winning number drawn last Thursday. They now are eligible for tomorrow's Super 75 drawing, to be held at 10:30 a.m. in Middlebury's Quassapaug Park.

The winning ticket had been purchased by Coleman and given to his daughter, who insisted they split it.

Mrs. Agnew works for Hodge Associates in Farmington. Her husband, Michael, is a building inspector for a construction firm. Coleman works for J. M. Ney of Bloomfield.

Mrs. Agnew said she has been too excited to make definite plans for the winnings and that she's waiting to learn the results of tomorrow's Super 75 drawing.

Thomas Tyler Named Court Coordinator

WINDSOR (AP) — Thomas Tyler of Enfield, a graduate of Holy Cross College and the University of Connecticut Law School, will assume the post of coordinator of the 13th Circuit Criminal Justice Coordinating Committee Monday.

Tyler, who will take his Connecticut bar exams Wednesday, replaces Henry Ide who resigned in April to enter private law practice. He will be responsible for coordinating the court activities in the eight towns served by the district.

137 Give Blood

There were 132 appointments made for Tuesday's Red Cross Bloodmobile visit to the Knights of Columbus Home, but only 100 of them were kept. Another 51 walk-in donors appeared for a total of 151, but 14 people were not allowed to give blood for varying reasons. So, the Bloodmobile drew 137 pints of blood, 15 pints below the 150-pint monthly quota.

Gallon marks were reached by several donors, as follows: One gallon: Edward A. Borgida, Miss Betsy Jane Hunter and Paul F. Tesik Jr.

Agreement Reached On Bank Purchase

VIVIAN KENNESON
Correspondent
Tel. 875-4704

After a closed meeting with Savings Bank of Tolland directors last night, Stuart Joellin, Board of Education chairman, announced that an agreement acceptable to both parties has been reached regarding purchasing of the former bank building on the green.

A maximum of $100,000 is the cost of the building, 1.7 acres, and a house to the rear of the building. The house is still subject to controversy as the State Board of Education will not reimburse the town for its purchase as it is a wooden frame building.

James Cornish, Board of Education chairman, said that "dollar for dollar, the bank purchase is the best bet. If the school administration were to build a new building we would want more than $100,000 worth."

Cornish said that the State Board of Education will have to send someone out to do an appraisal on the property. The state will reimburse the town 50 per cent of the purchase cost and renovations.

According to Cornish, renovations may be made by school personnel and, together with furnishings for the building, it would come to approximately $5,000.

The SBT rejected a $100,000 bid from the Board of Education over two months ago and came back with a firm offer of $140,000. The finance board rejected the higher price and the option expired June 30.

At the finance board's suggestion, the Board of Education engaged an architect who has come up with three plans for construction of a new school administration building. The last plan was presented to the combined boards last week and cost $104,000 for 2,750 square feet of space.

The bank has 2,960 square feet of space on the street level and another 2,540 square feet in the basement. The 1.7 acres of land included in the purchase runs down behind the bank to the back of Meadowbrook School.

There is a possibility of some special education classes to be located in the building. School Superintendent Kenneth R. MacKenzie had previously reported that other governing town groups could use part of the building without jeopardizing the 50 per cent state grant.

The Board of Education will have to go back to the Board of Finance with definite information regarding the state grant and renovation costs. The final step will be to call a special town meeting for approval of the purchase.

Crandall's Park Activity The Board of Recreation will present Walt Disney's production of "The Absent Minded Professor" tonight at 8:30 p.m. at Crandall's Park. Admission is 35 cents.

Tomorrow at 1 p.m., a doll contest for girls aged 5 to 14 and

Summer School Program Down

Competing town recreational programs and vacationing townspeople desiring to "get their money's worth" from summer school activities are some of the factors which have been causing a continuous decline in the summer school program, according to Oliver J. Chatfield, summer school director.

Speaking at Monday night's Board of Education meeting, Chatfield explained that the summer school did not offer the "incentives" provided by such programs as SAM (Summer Activities in Manchester). He referred to crafts fairs sponsored by SAM which allow youths to market their projects created through SAM courses.

He also maintained that townspeople are reluctant to send their children to summer school during the family vacation period, when the students would not be able to attend part of the session.

Chatfield cited numerous enrollment statistics. For example, the total pupil enrollment over a four-year span is as follows: 1173 students, 1970; 964 students, 1971; 664 students, 1972; 673 students, 1973.

Half of those enrolled in this year's program are from elementary schools: 339 pupils.

The total enrollment in the summer school program for Manchester high students dropped from 101 pupils in 1970 to 76 pupils in 1973. However, this is an increase from last year's total of 69 students.

The total enrollment for Bennett Junior High School has remained relatively consistent over a four-year span. This year's figure is 73 pupils.

Statistics for those enrolled in Iling Junior High summer school programs have dropped from 61 students in 1970 to 27 students in 1973.

However, Chatfield urged members of the board to consider the more positive aspects of the summer school program. These are — the establishment of a program for perceptually handicapped as well as for mentally retarded children, which helps to maintain skills these students have achieved during the regular school year; new offerings in crafts, auto mechanics and English; and an increase in the enrollment in elementary schools.

Chatfield's account comprised part of the superintendent's report to the Board of Education.

Following the summer school information, Dr. James Kennedy, superintendent of schools, briefed members of the board on the maintenance system.

Subpoenas Bring Thorny Issue To A Head

WASHINGTON (AP) — The executive and legislative aides implicated in the scandal, apparently are headed for a constitutional showdown that never before has been decided in U.S. history.

The issue is whether a President must obey a subpoena from Congress or a prosecutor. It was raised when President Nixon refused Monday to turn over to Watergate investigators tape recordings of meetings between himself and former presidential aides implicated in the scandal.

Nixon was subpoenaed twice by the Senate Watergate committee and once by special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox — making him one of only a few presidents to have been served subpoenas.

None of the previous cases reached the Supreme Court. Now the high court may become not only the ultimate referee but perhaps an equal participant in a three-way clash between the executive, legislative and judicial branches of government.

The crux of the legal issue involves the doctrine of the Constitution that the three branches remain separate.

President Thomas Jefferson faced the issue in 1807 when Chief Justice John Marshall was sitting as the circuit judge in Aaron Burr's treason trial.

Marshall subpoenaed Jefferson but stipulated that Jefferson need only furnish certain papers.

Jefferson produced the documents, but rejected the notion of a personal appearance as a judicial witness.

Watergate prosecutor Cox has gone back even further to support his demand on the president. He cited Marshall's landmark decision of 1803 in the Marbury vs. Madison case, in which the Supreme Court held that there are exceptions when an individual interest of confidentiality outweighs the public interest of disclosure.

Cox said the decision proved "ours is a system of government in which no man is above the law."

Nixon supporters argue the same case did not require the attorney general to disclose certain information he felt a constitutional obligation to shield.

Despite the 19th century cases, constitutional lawyers agree there is little legal precedent for such a confrontation.

But Yale Prof. Thomas I. Emerson said Nixon "has no legal right to claim executive privilege or separation of powers when his papers or in this case, his tapes, might reveal a criminal act."

The court cited a 1960 ruling which said that "every person within the jurisdiction of the government is bound" to testify when summoned before grand juries.

Though not referring directly to presidents, that ruling noted that there are exceptions when an individual interest of confidentiality outweighs the public interest of disclosure.

Cox said the decision proved "ours is a system of government in which no man is above the law."

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Work-Connected Recreation

Harrison, an appliance salesman, walked so strenuously at a company party that he suffered a fatal heart attack. Was his widow entitled to collect workmen's compensation for his death?

The company said no. "Obviously, he was not at work when he was dancing," the company reasoned in a court hearing.

But Mrs. Harrison pointed out that the party had taken place on company premises, under company sponsorship, as part of a company contest—and that all the company's salesmen were expected to show up.

The court decided that the dancing had indeed arisen out of the job, and granted the widow's claim. The court said the party was simply the company's way of inspiring its employees to greater effort.

Workmen's compensation laws generally cover accidents that occur in the course of employment. As a rule, courts have included any recreational activities that are closely connected with the job.

This is especially true when the company plays an active role in the event.

Thus, in a case arising out of a company picnic, the court granted compensation for an accident largely because of the participation of the company president. It seems he would use these occasions to present special prizes to employees and to give them pep talks about "our one big family."

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, July 25, the 206th day of 1973. There are 159 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1963, Puerto Rico became a self-governing U.S. commonwealth.

In 1876, the first Chinese diplomatic mission to the United States arrived in Washington.

In 1944, Adolf Hitler staged an unsuccessful attempt to take over Austria. Troops of the Nazi Black Guard assassinated Austrian Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss.

In 1943, during World War II, Benito Mussolini was forced to resign as premier of Italy.

In 1966, the Italian liner Andrea Doria sank off the New England coast, with a loss of 95 lives, after a collision with a Swedish ship.

In 1967, the French National Assembly voted to grant independence to Tunisia.

In 1967, Pope Paul VI, visiting Turkey, becoming the first Roman Catholic pontiff to enter or pray in an Eastern Orthodox church.

Ten years ago, the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain concluded a treaty prohibiting nuclear testing in the atmosphere, in space, and underwater. The formal signing came later.

Five years ago, the cabinet in Bolivia resigned during a political crisis resulting from publication of the captured diary of Cuban revolutionary Ernesto "Che" Guevara.

One year ago, Missouri Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, the Democratic vice presidential nominee, confirmed that he had undergone psychiatric treatment.

Today's birthdays: Longshoreman and writer Eric Hoffer is 71. Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, is 90.

Purchases Approved By Education Board

DONNA HOLLAND Correspondent

The Board of Education at its last meeting approved the purchase of a mimeo machine from Testa, Inc. for $225 and a mixer for the Elementary School cafeteria from Golden & Son for $1,500.

Bids were awarded to Hepler Associates for draperies, $800, and to Marlow's in Manchester for an Olympia typewriter, $285.

A bid was also awarded for unassigned lockers for the high school in the amount of $1,050. The lockers will be assembled by Jim Velich.

Musical instrument purchases include two French horns, $415, and one trombone, $450. Whalen's one bell lyre, $79.50, Bell's Music Center, one pair clarinet, one pair maracas, two wood blocks and three snare sticks, $117.77.

Scrimmage Game All boys interested in playing Pony League baseball next year, including 12-year-olds who played Little League this year, are invited to a scrimmage game tonight at the high school field at 6 p.m.

Joe Tracy, long-time Bolton Pony League coach, will be there to get a good start on next year's team.

Charter Revision The Charter Revision Commission will meet tonight at 8 at the Town Hall.

Junior-Woman's Club Mrs. Betty Debraine of the Bolton Junior Women's Club has announced three more courses to be offered this fall in addition to the two already accepting registrations.

Mrs. Jeanie Marshall of Coventry will teach rug hooking beginning Monday, Sept. 10, from 7:30 until 9:30 p.m. for eight consecutive weeks.

Mrs. Marshall will have available for purchase at the first lesson beginner kits in four different patterns. The kits consist of a 14-inch round chair cover or pillow and all necessary materials for making same.

Beginning Wednesday, Sept. 12, Mrs. Joan Shaw of Vernon will instruct a course in beginners knitting from 7:30 until 9:30 p.m. the course will last for eight weeks.

A course in crewel will be taught by Mrs. Barbara Johnson of Bolton on Wednesdays starting Sept. 12. The course will last for eight weeks. A list of necessary supplies can be obtained from Mrs. Debraine.

Openings are still available in the high school in the amount of $1,050. The lockers will be assembled by Jim Velich.

School Board Accepts Procedural Policies

VIRGINIA CARLSON Correspondent

The Board of Education has accepted two procedural policies, one on development codification and dissemination system of the National School Boards Association.

The board also agreed that the superintendent or his designee will be responsible for recasting group consensus about policy recommendations into acceptable written form for further deliberation and action by the board.

A chorus is planned for next year and this group, along with the band, will use the cafeteria for group instruction.

The board has received a $200 donation in memory of Carl and Elizabeth Park to be used for graduation awards. The money will be held in a special account.

A $25 savings bond will be awarded to a Grade 8 student for proficiency in music.

The board accepted Louis Gannache's bid for tree removal at $30. He is insured and has had experience with moving trees, according to Charles Edmondson, superintendent principal.

Bids for paving were opened Monday and Edmondson has been authorized to accept the most favorable. The work will be completed by Aug. 4.

Reports of activities of the executive committee of the Columbia Lake Association (CLA) during the year will be heard when the CLA meets Thursday at 8 p.m. in Yeomans Hall.

Argentine Winter Worst In Decades

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — It's winter in Argentina, and it's one of the worst in decades.

Heavy snows blanket Patagonia, the 1,000-mile-long southern area that ends at Cape Horn. In the north, rains are sending rivers over their banks.

Snow has fallen within 100 miles of Buenos Aires for the first time in years, and temperatures in the capital district have dipped to 36 degrees.

Nearly a million sheep are believed to have perished in Patagonia, a loss of $10 to $15 per head, newspaper reports say.

Housewives banded up against near freezing weather formed lines in poor districts of Buenos Aires, carrying pails to collect heating kerosene from tank trucks sent out by the state petroleum company.

Nearly five million acres of pasture and farmland in Buenos Aires Province.

Improving weather over the weekend permitted thousands of families to return to their homes.

The severe livestock losses could be a setback to the economy, which was just beginning to recover after several disastrous years of bad weather and a drop in beef exports.

Agricultural sources said that total losses in Patagonia alone could reach $10 million, including $15 million for sheep that perished.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The governor of Vermont, which state depends heavily on tourism, said Tuesday that the "Watergate scandal's negative overtones" are hurting business.

Tourism is down throughout northern New England, Gov. Thomas P. Salmon said.

"The news from her (Washington) is creating some negative overtones" contributing to a stay-at-home attitude among potential tourists, Salmon told a breakfast meeting with reporters.

Other factors, he said, include late June floods in Vermont and New Hampshire, the economic situation especially inflation and the gasoline shortage.

In Vermont, Salmon said, tourism was already down some in May and June and is appreciably off in July since the floods. It is the state's second largest industry, after agriculture.

In Maine, which had no floods, officials say tourism is down 20 percent, the Vermont Democrat said.

Asked about the political impact of the Watergate affair, Salmon said "obviously, the Democratic party has a ball in its court. It's a question of how we run this ball."

He said there was "a genuine dependency" over so far as political Democratic governors at their Huron, Ohio, meeting last April and added "The American people are today terribly distrustful of people in public life."

The 40-year-old Democrat said it is becoming increasingly difficult to convince young people about the worth and importance of careers in public service.

On the other subject, Salmon said: "Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., would have 'very considerable support' in Vermont if he sought the presidency, saying 'Sen. Kennedy appears to be immensely popular despite Chappaquiddick,' a reference to the 1969 incident in which a secretary riding in his car was killed."

"There is a flock of talent" among his fellow governors. Among the Democrats, he cited Gov. Dan Walker of Illinois, David Hall of Oklahoma, Jimmy Carter of Georgia, Reubin Askew of Florida, Dale Bumper of Arkansas, John Gilligan of Ohio, Patrick Lacey of Wisconsin and Wendell Anderson of Minnesota.

He disagreed with a public opinion poll showing a majority of those sampled thought senators were better qualified to be president than governors but conceded that it would take "a very substantial monetary effort on the public relations side" to make someone like Bumper a presidential contender.

Republican Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee, a member of the Senate Watergate committee, is the chief spokesman so far as political stature from the scandal.

"He hopes Sen. George Aiken, R-Vt., runs for reelection next year although he will be 82. If he doesn't, Salmon said he would consider a Senate race for himself as "a viable possibility" although he likes being governor.

Cambodia Faces Three Stark Options

The Communist army, numbering around 40,000 Cambodian insurgents with 2,000 to 5,000 North Vietnamese advisers, launched its offensive in February.

Western experts say the obvious aim was to draw the Phnom Penh army into a grinding fight in the field well outside the city. The intention was to force a political compromise in Phnom Penh.

But the Phnom Penh forces fell back. Despite massive American bombing, the insurgents kept forging ahead.

The insurgents apparently had neither the intention nor the capability to take the city. But as time went on, the circle lightened around Phnom Penh. Each day saw on important Highway 2 and 3 a few miles from the city, the Phnom Penh troops fall back a little more.

What started as a Communist military-political strategy to win concessions from central government had now turned into something else: the capture of Phnom Penh is now an attainable military objective for the Communists.

Man for man, the Phnom Penh army is no match for the insurgents. Without American bombing, the experts see defeat as inevitable.

But the insurgents might not want to attack the city and risk destroying it.

Anderson Finds Taste of Victory Satisfying, Bench, Bonds, Davis Deliver Home Run Ball

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A roast beef sandwich sat on Sparky Anderson's desk, but he hardly glanced at it. He found the taste of victory better.

"This is great satisfaction to me," said the manager after his National League team defeated the American League 7-1 Tuesday night in the 44th All-Star Baseball Game.

The meaning was obvious for the Cincinnati Reds' skipper had finally broken a personal losing streak against the other league. He had lost two World Series and the 1971 All-Star Game before Tuesday night's overwhelming success.

"I was nervous before the game," said Anderson, "probably as nervous as the players. I really had butterflies."

But that uptight feeling vanished along about the middle of the game, when the Nationals pulled away on home runs powered by Johnny Bench, Bobby Bonds and Willie Davis.

For a very brief moment, it appeared that Anderson's bad luck would continue against the American League. A double by Reggie Jackson followed by a single by Amos Otis gave the American a 1-0 lead in the second inning before a partisan crowd of 40,849 at Royals Stadium. But then Anderson's own Reds helped produce the first four runs for the Nationals.

Cincinnati's Pete Rose and Joe Morgan scored on singles by Cesar Cedeno and Hank Aaron in the second. The Reds' Bench smashed a long home run into the left field seats in the third and Morgan doubled and scored on Bonds' homer in the fifth. Davis finished the two-run slug-bat attack with a home run in the sixth.

Anderson also found satisfaction in watching Bonds' performance. The San Francisco outfielder also got a double and was voted the game's most valuable player.

"Bonds does everything a ballplayer can do," said Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves. "He's super."

Dick Williams of Oakland, the American League's manager, didn't like seeing Bonds' slug-bat attack but for that matter, the other sluggers in the National League.

"I was feeling okay—until they started to hit," said Williams. "Then I felt a little pain."

The reference was an obvious one to his recent appendicitis operation. He had left a hospital bed after his illness just last Thursday, but in Kansas City for the glamour game.

The National League victory was its 10th in the last 11 games and boosted its overall series edge in All-Star affairs to 25-18 with one tie.

Bonds Named MVP

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Bobby Bonds and Willie Davis are pretty fair examples of the potency of the reserves in baseball's All-Star game.

Neither was selected in nationwide balloting to start in Tuesday night's 44th renewal of this classic. Both went away with their names firmly etched on the list of an overflow crowd of 40,849.

Bonds, the pride of the San Francisco Giants, and Davis of the Los Angeles Dodgers, who recorded his 2,000th career hit a month ago, each blasted two-run homers as the National League hammered the American League into oblivion, 7-1.

Bonds also contributed a double and Davis a single. As a result, they were selected co-heroes of the NL's 10th victory over the AL in the last 11 games.

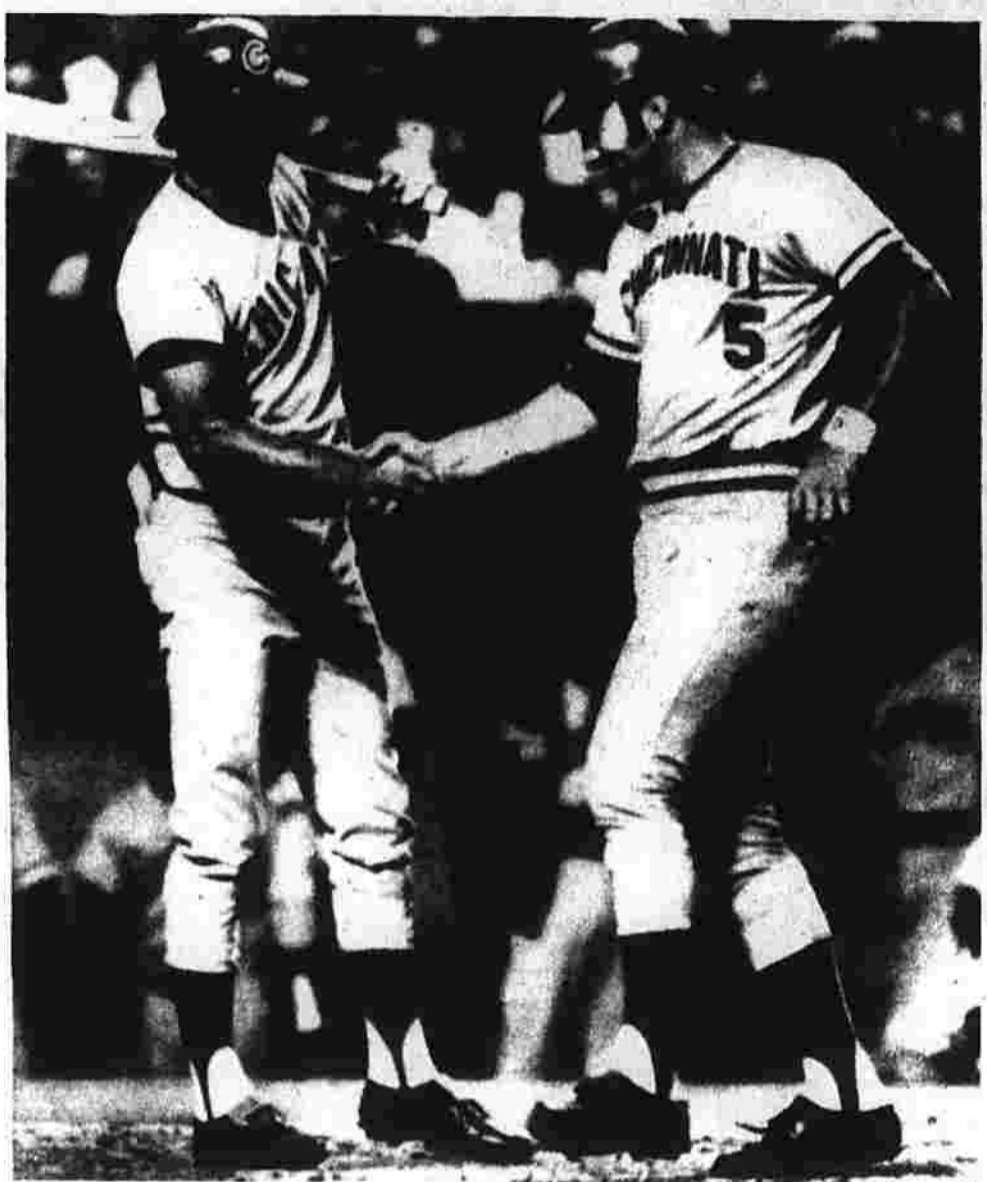

Ironically, the homers came on only the second time at an All-Star competition for both Bonds and Davis. Davis' homer was the 11th pinch-hit home run in San Francisco history.

Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves, the old pro who has watched a parade of All-Star players come and go for all these years, was lavish in his praise of Bonds.

"He's super," said Aaron, who is closing in on Babe Ruth's career home run record. "He does everything a ball player can do."

Bonds said he wasn't disappointed because he was voted to the starting lineup. However, NL Manager Sparky Anderson wasn't happy that Bonds was only a reserve and was determined to get the Giants' outfielder into the action as quickly as the rules permit. After three innings,

"I told Bobby when he returned to the dugout after the home run," Anderson said, "thank you for proving me right."

Johnny Bench is Greeted at Home by Cub's Ron Santo after Slugging Fourth Inning National League Homer

Williams States, AL Overmatched

KANSAS CITY (AP) — "We were overmatched tonight," said Manager Dick Williams after his American League team lost to the National League 7-1 in the 44th All-Star Baseball Game Tuesday night.

"It proved that the 29 players on the National League team were better than the 29 players on the American League team tonight," said victorious Manager Sparky Anderson.

"This is a great city with great fans," Williams said. "We (the Oakland Athletics) lead Kansas City by 2 1/2 games and I can understand."

BOOK REVIEWS

KILLER. By Joey, with Dave Fisher. Playboy Press. 318 Pages. $2.95.
Joey, not his real name, is a professional killer. It's a job most people wouldn't care to apply for. But to Joey, who the reader is assured is a very real person, it's just a job. Or, as he puts it, "I don't even call it murder. To me it's a way of making a living... It's my profession."

Regardless of society's feeling toward Joey's work, his story is a moderately interesting one. A desperately poor kid who grew up tough, it was natural for Joey to turn to crime as a livelihood. As he is quick to point out, there really weren't any alternatives.

Joey's explanations as to why he does his kind of job are interesting, as are his views of contemporary society. But there are times when he gets carried away by subjects that aren't of all that much interest to the reader, and goes on for pages about the different types of gambling there are and how fences operate. It's an uneven book but worth a look if the reader is willing to plow through a lot of unnecessary detail.

That's the question confronting Lt. Tromple Kramer of the South African police force and his Bantu assistant, Sgt. Zondi, and they answer it in a most ingenious manner. But not until they've led the reader through some of the most interesting terrain to surface in a detective novel in a long time.

James McClure writes not only about crimes and solutions. He writes about people and their relationship to each other as well as to their place. In this case it's South Africa, a place where a white cop and a black cop can work together as a team but only while preserving on the surface the relationship of boss and servant. A strange relationship, but McClure brings it off well, as he does everything else in his book.

For those interested in a good mystery, this is a superior one. For those who want the mystery plus a powerful look at the way of life surrounding it, this novel more than does the job.

Committee To Seek Court Test State Files Suit Against Oil Firms

HARTFORD (AP) — Connecticut Atty. Gen. Robert K. Killian has filed a federal lawsuit against 20 major oil companies and three subsidiaries, charging them with violating federal and state antitrust laws.

The suit claims that monopolistic practices over the past four years have forced the state and its residents to pay a quarter billion dollars extra for gasoline and other petroleum products.

The suit seeks triple damages for its losses.

Mobil Oil Corp., one of the companies named in the suit called Killian's charges "false and totally without foundation. We are confident that the facts determined under rules of law will establish that we have done nothing that violates the spirit or the letter of the antitrust laws."

A company statement said, "Unfortunately, the energy problems facing this industry are very real and... recently, a supply shortage, from protecting the consumer and public interest—serve only to deceive and mislead the public about the causes of and solutions to the energy problem."

The suit also asks that the companies be made to: —Divest themselves of all crude oil holdings and exploration activities. —Refrain from future joint ventures for offshore leases. —Refrain from bidding for oil and gas lease acquisitions. —Refrain from selling crude oil to "preferred" customers. —Refrain for 10 years from acquiring stock or assets of refineries.

The suit also asks the court ensure equal allocation and distribution of petroleum products throughout Connecticut.

Named as defendants in the suit which was filed Wednesday in Hartford's U.S. District Court, are: Amerasia Hess Corp., Ashland Oil Inc., Atlantic-Richfield Co., Cities Service Oil Co., Clark Oil and Refining Co., Continental Oil Co., Exxon Corp., Getty Oil Co., Standard Oil Co. of California, Mobil Oil Corp., Marathon Co., Phillips Petroleum Co., Shell Oil Co., Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, and its subsidiary, Amoco Oil Co.

Similar suits have been filed by the state of Florida and the Federal Trade Commission.

Killian told a news conference today, that for the past 20 years the oil companies have worked together at every level of the industry, including exploration, transportation, refining and distribution.

"These companies have enjoyed a virtual stranglehold on gasoline and petroleum products that has long meant inflated prices and more recently, a supply shortage," Killian said.

"For too long, these giants have enjoyed an inappreciable shelter from serious antitrust inquiry, while at the same time they have enjoyed shelter from federal taxation unparalleled in any other industry."

Killian said the major companies control 85 per cent of all domestic crude oil and 97 per cent of all domestic offshore crude oil production. He also said there was interdependent or joint control of at least 60 per cent of crude and refined oil pipelines, joint ownership of most federal offshore leases, combined ownership of nearly 75 per cent of total domestic refining and combined domestic ownership of 75 per cent of the retail gasoline market through branded distribution and sales.

Killian has spent the last two years gathering information in preparation of the suit. But only one attorney has worked fulltime on the case.

Nixon Offers Some Papers But No Tapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Watergate committee voted unanimously today to challenge in court President Nixon's refusal to supply tape, recordings and documents sought for its inquiry.

The chair recognizes that there is no precedent for litigation of this nature," Committee Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D.-C. said. "I think this litigation is essential if we are to determine whether the President is above the law, and whether the President is immune from the duties and responsibilities of this kind that all evolve upon all the other mortals that dwell in this land."

Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., vice chairman of the committee, said the motion, which would refer the case to the Supreme Court, should be approved. Ervin had read to the Watergate committee Nixon's letter which refused to comply with two subpoenas demanding that he turn over the tapes and documents which Nixon might have turned over some documents if the committee could be specific about what it wanted.

Ervin immediately rejected the Nixon response as irresponsible to live with. "We are not clairvoyant," Ervin said as he opened today's committee session. "You can't identify a document you've never seen."

Ervin reiterated his call for both the tapes and all Watergate-related White House documents which Nixon previously has refused to supply on grounds that to do so would violate the doctrine of separation of powers.

"The Constitution wouldn't collapse and the heavens wouldn't fall in it," Nixon turned over the material, Ervin said.

As for the tapes, he added, "Here the President of the United States has informed us that some of these recordings do have reference to the matters that we are investigating, but he can't furnish them to us because we might misconstrue them."

Nixon's letter said in response to a subpoena demanding five specific conversations with former counsel John W. Dean III that, "I must respectfully refuse to produce the recordings" for reasons cited in previous presidential statements.

"It is quite possible," Nixon added, "that there are other records in my custody that would be within the ambit of that subpoena and that I could, consistent with the public interest and my constitutional responsibilities, provide for the Select Committee."

Nixon did not specify which of the thousands of Watergate related presidential papers might be available to the panel but said, "All specific requests from the Select Committee will be carefully considered."

Balance Of Trade Improves

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. foreign trade almost was in balance during June and there also was a sharp improvement during the second quarter of the year, the Commerce Department reported today.

The administration has said a favorable trade picture is vital to helping stabilize the U.S. dollar in world financial centers.

The trade deficit for June was $15.5 million, a big improvement over the May deficit of $17.9 million.

For the second quarter, the Census Bureau said its seasonally adjusted figures show a surplus for the April, May and June of $22.9 million of exports over imports and distribution.

"These companies have enjoyed a virtual stranglehold on gasoline and petroleum products that has long meant inflated prices and more recently, a supply shortage," Killian said.

Fairfield Woman Wins Super 75

MIDDLEBURY (AP) — Mrs. Gloria Ehlers, 44, of Fairfield won the $75,000 top prize today in the Connecticut state lottery.

She and her husband William, a construction supervisor, said they planned to use the money for their daughter Kathleen's wedding a year from now and for their nine-year-old son Mark's education.

They also plan to buy a new Mrs. Ehlers is a part-time employee of a Fairfield department store.

The $15,000 prize winner today was Pasquale Fiorito, 56, of East Hartford. He and his wife Helen, who is a keypunch operator, have three married children.

Florida, a 33-year employee of a tool company, said he plans to save the winnings for his retirement in five years.

The winning weekly number picked in the lottery today was 03363.

Next week's drawing will be in Colchester.

Ordeal Over
ATHENS, GREECE, (AP) — A 65-day ordeal for passengers of a hijacked Japan Air Lines jumbo jet came to an end today when two relief planes left Benghazi, Libya, to take the 137 stranded passengers and crew to Athens and Amsterdam, an airline official reported.

The planes, both DC8s belonging to JAL, were scheduled to take their passengers to Tokyo via various routes.

The two jet liners had waited all night in Tripoli after flying in from Athens and Paris Wednesday. Benghazi's main runway was cleared late Wednesday night, permitting the two planes ample room to land without danger.

Connally Leaves
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Their training completed, Skylab 2's astronauts fly from Texas to Cape Kennedy today to make final preparations for their launch Saturday on a marathon 59-day space mission.

There is persistent speculation here that Melvin L. Bell, former congressman and defense secretary, is not entirely pleased as successor to John D. Ehrlichman and may quit as Nixon's top domestic policy adviser.

Connally's resignation was announced by Nixon Wednesday. The former Democratic governor of Texas and secretary of the treasury during Nixon's first term plans to rejoin his Houston law firm Monday.

Veto Expected
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Ambassador John A. Scali is expected to cast the fifth American veto in U.N. Security Council today to an anti-Israeli resolution before the committee and to U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica.

The council's morning meeting was to climax the group's first comprehensive debate on the permanent crisis in the Middle East since the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

Cambodian War Ruling Appeal Set In Motion

NEW YORK (AP) — The federal government has filed a notice of appeal to overturn a court decision that calls the U.S. bombing of Cambodia unconstitutional and orders it halted.

Hours after the ruling was announced Wednesday, U.S. Atty. Robert A. Morse said appeal papers were being prepared and that he would seek a stay of the order that takes effect Friday. He said the case would be carried to the Supreme Court if necessary.

In Washington, the White House had no immediate comment.

The permanent injunction against bombing and other military activities in Cambodia was issued by U.S. Dist. Court Judge Orrin G. Judd in a suit brought by Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y., and three Air Force fliers.

Judd said that because Congress had never voted its approval, the government lacked the necessary authority "to order military forces into combat in Cambodia or to release bombs over Cambodia."

Rep. Holtzman, a freshman Congresswoman, said in Washington that she was "extraordinarily pleased" by the decision.

"It reasserts the constitutional requirement that no American lives can be risked and that no American taxpayer's dollars can go to a military effort that has not been approved or authorized by Congress," she said.

The unprecedented decision came exactly three weeks before the Aug. 15 date by which President Nixon previously agreed to stop the bombing raids after both houses of Congress voted to cut off funds.

One effect of Judd's order, according to a lawyer for the American Civil Liberties Union, which represented the plaintiffs, might be the dismissal of cases against persons facing courts-martial for refusing to bomb Cambodia.

The lawyer, Burt Neuborne, cited the case of Air Force Capt. Donald E. Dawson, who is under charges for refusing to fly bombing missions over Cambodia on June 19 last.

In arguing against the suit on July 6, the government claimed that the Cambodia operations were "part and parcel of a war that has continued for many years. Now one phase of that war is continuing."

In his 36-page memorandum on the basis for the decision, the government said that the one put by the government, "but whether Congress has authorized bombing in Cambodia or the withdrawal of American troops from Vietnam and the release of prisoners of war."

The Congressional action before and after the beginning of hostilities in Cambodia does not include authorization to bomb Cambodia in order to achieve a Cambodian cease-fire or even to protect the Vietnam cease-fire as urged by the defendants.

Meat Industry Leaders Seek Beef Price Thaw

CHICAGO (AP) — Meat industry leaders are predicting that the retention of the price ceiling on beef will create soaring prices in pork and poultry and spur black market buying of cattle.

A Brooklyn, N.Y., wholesaler who claims he will run out of meat by Monday says, "The slogan in our business has become 'black or broke,'" referring to black market sales.

A Texas meat packer who can't find steers to slaughter says, "We have three choices: close our doors, buy on the black market or continue losing money by taking a loss on dressing beef."

A representative of the nation's food chain stores declares: "We are swamped with calls about beef."

An industry spokesman defined the black market as the sale of beef "out of the normal distribution channels."

About 100 representatives of producers, packers, processors and wholesalers met Wednesday in Chicago at a conference called by the American Meat Institute, a trade association of 360 packing houses.

The group asked for an immediate meeting with Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz and officials of the Cost of Living Council in an attempt to dislodge the administration from

Senate Committee Approves Broad Rail Service Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill calling for development of a comprehensive rail-service plan for 17 states was approved Wednesday by the Senate Commerce Committee.

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., who heads the Senate surface transportation subcommittee, said he will try to get Senate action on the bill before the Aug. 3 congressional recess.

The measure directs the Interstate Commerce Commission to develop the plan to reorganize the railroads in the Northeast and Midwest within 12 months.

Hartke said the system would be operated by private rail companies, and offers an alternative to nationalization of the railroads.

The bankrupt rail carriers represent the biggest portion of the nation's entire transportation system by land, sea and air. To allow it to dissolve in

Asked about suggestions that President Nixon might veto the measure, Hartke said a veto would mean nationalization.

In developing the plan the ICC emergency office would have to consider passenger, shipping and mail service, as well as the needs of national defense and environmental protection.

The 17 states involved are Maine, Indiana, New York, Illinois, Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Jersey, Ohio, West Virginia, Michigan, Rhode Island, Delaware, New Hampshire and Vermont. It would also include the District of Columbia.
