New Shows Debut Through October

By JERRY BUCK
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) - This year's fall television premiere will be the most drawn out ever. And it might not be a bad thing.

Debut of the new shows will stretch from Monday, Sept. 10, until the end of October. The reason, of course, is that the 16-week strike by the Writers Guild of America hit the studios and networks just as they were gearing up for the season.

PLAY DOUBTFUL SUIT AFTER PREPARATION
By Alfred Sheinwold
How should South play the diamonds in today's hand? The answer, in one word, is: late.

West opened the jack of hearts, and South with the ace. Declarer saw he would have to lose a club and either two or three diamonds.

Partner bids one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: Spades, Q-J-6-3; Hearts, 8-2; Diamonds, K-9-2; Clubs, A-7-5-2.

What do you say? Answer: Bid two clubs. You will raise spades at your next turn. The hand is too strong for a raise to two spades, but not quite strong enough for an immediate raise to three spades.

Oil Pipeline Needed

A positive step towards construction of the trans-Alaskan oil pipeline has been taken in the Congress by passage of a bill exempting the proposed line from the provisions of the 1969 Environmental Policy Act.

Construction of the pipeline has been and will be opposed by various environmentalist groups, who are, in our opinion, taking a very short-sighted view of the total welfare of the nation.

For months now the country has been in an energy crunch affecting the generation of electrical power and the availability of fuel oils and gasolines. Many municipalities are having a difficult time finding sources of needed fuel to run vehicles and school buses.

The environmentalists seem impervious to the oil needs of the country, preferring instead to maintain the pristine state of the tundra over the 789 miles between the rich oil fields and the ice-free port of Valdez.

Until other fuel means are developed the United States is in desperate need of oil both for domestic use and the needs of the military. Our planes can't fly, nor our ships sail unless they have the fuel for their needs. The country could be protectionless in a severe oil shortage.

Nor can we rely on the oil producing Arab states for a firm supply in an emergency. Their attitude to the country is almost inimical because of

Gulf Stream Horsepower

Men may one day harness the energy of the northward-flowing Gulf Stream to spin "underwater windmills."

The idea is suggested by three scientists — Drs. Harris B. Stewart Jr. and John R. Apel of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and Dr. William S. Von Arx of Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution.

They note that the Florida Current, a major component of the Gulf Stream, carries more than 50 times the flow of all the fresh-water rivers of the world right past Miami's front door. Theoretically, the current could produce about 25 megawatts — the output of 25 of the largest power plants built by man — if all the energy could be harnessed.

However, the scientists propose the extraction of only about 4 per cent of the total available energy — about 1,000 megawatts, equal to the output of a single large nuclear station. Taking out more energy might seriously alter the Gulf Stream's flow patterns and disrupt climatic conditions.

The "windmills" that are envisioned would be large, slow turning turbines arrayed across part of the channel between Florida and Bimini at depths between about 100 and 400 feet.

The Senate's Tape Outrage

WASHINGTON — Facing both a historic court test and massive popular disapproval following his refusal to release the Watergate tapes, President Nixon now confronts a new challenge from angry Senators who feel betrayed.

Sen. Adlai Stevenson III of Illinois, a liberal Democrat not normally noted for partisan fireworks, will take the Senate floor soon to denounce Mr. Nixon for "covering up the cover-up." Stevenson and other Senators of both parties believe Mr. Nixon's refusal to release the tapes reneges on his pledges of full authority for special prosecutor Archibald Cox. Without those pledges, the Senate almost surely never would have confirmed Elliott Richardson as Attorney General.

Thus, the world is closing in on the President over the tape issue. Instead of resigning in protest, as some presidential aides may have hoped, Cox is going to court. Public opinion, instead of admiring the President's pluck, has turned against him. And now angry Senators are about to add to the tumult.

Stevenson was a chief actor in the high drama last May during Richardson's acrimonious confirmation hearing. That drama centered on efforts by both the Senate Judiciary Committee and Stevenson, acting outside the committee on behalf of 28 Senators. The demanded Richardson pledge the Nixon administration to give the yet unnamed special prosecutor complete freedom of action in prosecuting former or present administration officials. Stevenson thought he got that pledge.

Instead, Stevenson now tells those 27 fellow Senators, the President's decision denying Cox access to the tapes has "violated Richardson's clear pledge." In his Senate speech, he will charge:

1. The President said in April 30 speech he would give Richardson "absolute authority to make all decisions bearing upon the prosecution of the Watergate case and related matters."

2. Richardson, in a much-studied "charter" of authority for the special prosecutor, in turn promised that Cox would have "full authority" for "reviewing all documentary evidence available from any source, as to which he shall have full access."

3. Richardson, in a much-studied "charter" of authority for the special prosecutor, in turn promised that Cox would have "full authority" for "reviewing all documentary evidence available from any source, as to which he shall have full access."

Actually, say Mr. Nixon's men, the President never intended any such unprecedented delegation of power. What Richardson really meant to tell the Senate was that Cox would have exactly the authority which he, Richardson, would have if the Justice Department were in charge of the prosecution. No more, no less.

The fact is that, in making his pledge to the Senate Judiciary Committee (and separately in his two letters to Stevenson), Richardson was acting on his own. His "charter" for the special prosecutor was never discussed with the President or with the White House lawyers who are handling Mr. Nixon's legal case.

Shocked

To the editor:

While driving my car up East Middle Turnpike Tuesday, I was shocked to observe an American flag shredded and splattered with paint and streamers about the lawn of a town resident.

I inquired at the door of the homeowner concerning the origin of the flag and the resident told me nothing of the incident. I then turned the flag over to the police.

As a veteran of Vietnam and a member of the Connecticut National Guard, not only do I feel this is an insult to America but also to the individual who has served under the colors.

Perhaps the individuals who committed this atrocity don't realize the seriousness of the act. The act generates a fine and a possible prison sentence. Freedom of expression is one thing but to "desecrate" the symbol that represents our country, let alone to "defile" it, is another matter.

If the persons guilty of this crime are dissatisfied with the symbol that represents our country, let them live another one.

Respectfully yours,
Sgt. Jack Barrera Jr.,
recruiter, Army National Guard, Manchester

When we apply for a job we are usually asked, "What experience do you have?" because the employer wants to know what we can do — not just how much we know.

Bombing Of Cambodia

Sir:

The recent air strikes against the people of Cambodia have produced a rather unique expression of attitude toward human life on the part of Congress and the President. Whereas the men, women and children of Vietnam were used as pawns in a military game, the Cambodians are being treated somewhat like a teabag. Congress states that because no solvent reason has been given to justify the bombing, it should end immediately. The President counters this by insisting that his image has been weakened enough lately and if the commander-in-chief were confronted again, he would look like a clown in the eyes of the world.

So through the miracle of compromise, we have a solution. American bombers will continue to kill people around the clock until August 14. In other words, we shall ignore the plea of paper called the Constitution for a while and anyone killed before the cut-off date is just plain unlucky and better off dead anyway.

The man responsible for this peculiar circumstance is Lon Nol. In March 1970 he took control of the Cambodian government while Prince Sihanouk was in Paris. Since then he has successfully maintained an all out war against his countrymen with our aid, following in the glorious and highly profitable footsteps of General Hanoi.

His main enemy is the Khmer Rouge which has grown since 1970 from a splintered rebel army of 5,000 into a 200,000-man standing force loyal to exiled Prince Sihanouk who serves as one of his nominal heads. They now control 80 per cent of the Cambodian land mass. Lon Nol quickly organized a pathetic defense unit comprised of mostly untrained recruits. As part of his first directive to his soldiers, the dictator suggested that they hold a Buddhist meditation retreat to help them because bullets could not hurt them if they did, which suggests that the unit's morale was at a low level, minimal.

So United States air power stepped into the picture. It has been spending 90 per cent of Cambodia with every imaginable weapon which has been especially flexible in the matter, it states that all military action should end in Cambodia, but it names no specific cut-off date.

If one more life is taken in Cambodia it will serve nothing, help no one, except Lon Nol, and severely damage the disintegrating image America holds before foreign powers. But such is the way of all war. One would think we would have learned that by now.

Buy Good Reproductions

A word, by Schertle Galleries, to the buyer of Color Reproductions:

Merchandise of all kinds, from toys and typewriters to cars and clothing is for sale at various prices; and by comparison and careful shopping it is usually not difficult for the average buyer to detect a difference in quality and to weigh value against cost. With reproductions of works of art it is an altogether different matter! Even for experts, the variations are much more subtle and harder to recognize.

"Why is it," asks the average buyer, "that when I am looking for a reproduction of a painting by Renoir or Van Gogh, I am faced with a choice of two prints of the same picture, one costing $3.98 and the other $15."

Naturally he feels that the $15 one is expensive; and if direct comparison is possible he may study the prints side by side. But even then he may not detect a glaring difference in quality. Of course to compare them both against the original painting would be the best solution, but the least possible one. Thus we offer our readers a little guidance in the buying of color reproductions for their own use and enjoyment.

Let us consider the very different histories of these two prints. It is sadly obvious that the cheap one is produced by cheap methods in order to keep the price down, all the painstaking and highly specialized processes required in the production of a first-class print have either been completely omitted or applied

Life of Jesus
The Parable of the Good Samaritan

A certain teacher of the Law came up and tried to trap Jesus. "Teacher," he asked, "what must I do to receive eternal life?" Jesus answered him, "What do the Scriptures say? How do you interpret them?" The man answered, "You must love the Lord your God with all your heart, with all your soul, with all your mind; and, 'You must love your fellow-man as yourself.'" "Your answer is correct," replied Jesus; "do this and you will live."

But the teacher of the Law wanted to put himself in the right, so he asked Jesus, "Who is my fellow-man?" Jesus answered, "There was a man who was going down from Jerusalem to Jericho, when robbers attacked him, stripped him, and beat him up, leaving him half dead. It so happened that a priest was going down that road; when he saw the man he walked on, on the other side. In the same way

News for Senior Citizens

Hello everybody! Well here we go again on what's happening at the Center. It was a busy week because we had 85 members take off for Rockingham Race Track last Tuesday, and everyone really enjoyed a wonderful day. We didn't make much money, and in fact I guess yours truly became lucky for a short time. All in all the weather was great, and the track was fast, and so were the horses. After a delicious meal at the "88" Restaurant we journeyed home tired but happy.

Next came a trip to Boston to watch the Red Sox whip the Yankees not only by a 3-2 score but also in "five cuts." The weather really threatened. At the start we had light rain; however, by game time it was play ball. As the game went along, so did the bad weather, and by the end the sun was shining. We saw a great game, lots of excitement with tempers turning into flying fists. After the game we enjoyed a nice dinner at the Valle Steak House, and that rounded out a happy day for all.

Setback Results
Well, let's get back to the happenings at the Center. Last Friday night we had 48 players for setback, and the following were winners: Robert Schubert, 131; Michael DeSimone, 129; John Kehoe, 124; Josephine Schuetz, 122; Hans Fredrickson, 122; Jennie Fogarty, 121; Bernice Gaywell, 119; Cis Wilson, 118; Frances Fike, 116; Anna Haupt, 116; Lyla Steed, 115, and Ted Taylor, 115. The top prize went to Eleanor Gates who had a 78.

On Monday we started off with 86 players for our kitchen social bingo, and then in the afternoon some 64 players were on hand for pinocle with the following winners: Robina Carroll, 705; Gus Gal, 696; Gussie Sanford, 671; Robert Schubert, 670; Louise Kohls, 669; Les Steinmyer, 662; Betty Jenans, 658; Alfreda Hallin, 655; Grace Moore, 654; Paul Schuetz, 653; Harriet Hoseney, 646; Josephine Schuetz, 647; and Cis Wilson, 643.

Dutch Trip
Now back to trip, and here's the story on our Penn Dutch Trip. We start registering for this trip Monday morning, and we will take as many buses that we can fit in the morning. One must pay a deposit of $25 later on, you can pay the whole thing.

Here is what the trip will include. We leave the Center at 7 o'clock in the morning at 10:30 a.m. on Sept. 17. We'll stop around 8:30 in the morning for our coffee break. A lunch stop around noon. Around 1:30 in the afternoon we should arrive at the world famous Longwood Congress Inn in Lancaster. We should arrive at the hotel around 5:30 in the late afternoon. We'll unpack our bags, and then spruce up a bit before we take off for the Plain and Fancy Restaurant for an all-you-can-eat dinner at the price of the package, and then you can browse around the gift shops before returning to the motel for the evening.

Tuesday we'll be off and running at 8:30 in the morning. We will pick up our good friend and rated tops as a guide, Mrs. "Mom" Buckwalter, and then on to an interesting tour of the Amish country which will include many surprises.

Four Generations

This is the "King Family" of Manchester. Unlike another family of the same name (and with about as many generations employes in the family trade) they are not showmen. For many years they have been selling fresh fruit and vegetables to townspeople. Pictured above are the four generations of King's who run the Pero Fruit Stand on Oakland St. They are from left: grandfather Fred King, grandfather Douglas, father Charles and son Charles Jr. Charles Jr., of course, is at the present only part-time labor at the stand and helps to unload and stock on days when freight comes in. Ajello-Alfano Ask Changes In Rev Share

HARTFORD (AP) - Democratic legislative leaders Carl R. Ajello of Ansonia and Charles T. Alfano of Suffield have urged Sen. Abraham Ribicoff to see that loopholes in the federal revenue-sharing program are plugged.

In separate letters to the Connecticut Democrat this week, Ajello and Alfano asked Ribicoff to urge the state to be amended to require that states spend their revenue-sharing funds and maintain that level of support for local governments.

Ajello, Senate minority leader, said the number of dollars available to state and local governments has increased slightly during the past three years but the percentage of local control by the state has dropped.

"The U.S. Treasury regulations on revenue-sharing are blind to the major realities of inflation and growth. At the moment, the state government of Connecticut is in non-compliance with the rules while making a mockery of the Congressional intent to prevent cutbacks in state aid to municipalities," he said.

The Bible Speaks
by Eugene Brewer

Stereotyping the foe, one of the demagogue's favorite weapons, is basically an appeal to prejudice. It categorizes the opponent by applying to him a loaded expression, a term that arouses ideas against him - e.g., "Communist," "John Birch," "Fundamentalist," "radical," "right-winger," "liar," etc.

Now if a person accepts an application, it is legitimate to so denigrate him. But if he denies such an association, no matter how clearly we think his views mark him, it is unfair to so brand him. Granted, it is easier to stereotype than to specify, but it is neither honest nor fair.

Teachers of error must be confuted (Titus 1:11) but with truth spoken in love (Eph. 4:15). The childhood proverb, "Sticks and stones may break my bones, but names will never hurt me," may be true regarding physical injury, but not so socially and psychologically.

Harry Wehr
Harry Wehr, 78, of New Haven, formerly of Manchester, died Friday at Grace-New Haven Hospital. Mr. Wehr was born April 27, 1895 in Manchester, son of Conrad and Rosalie Bargatski Wehr. He was at one time office manager for the former Dell Auto Agency of East Hartford. More recently, he was employed at the security office of Yale University. He retired 13 years ago. Survivors are two brothers, Leo F. Wehr of Manchester and Arthur Wehr of Pomona, N.Y.; three sisters, Mrs. John J. Allison of Manchester, and Mrs. Roy A. North and Miss Agnes G. Wehr, both of Torrington; and several nieces and nephews. The funeral will be Monday at 9:30 a.m. from the John F. Tierney Funeral Home, 219 W. Center St., with a Mass of the Resurrection at St. James Church at 10. Burial will be in St. James Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. facility could be in obtaining an air-pollution control permit. Forrest Bumford, director of the state Air Pollution Control Agency, said he was waiting for more information about the system before granting the permit. "They didn't tell me anything about it," he said, referring to the initial application which he returned with the request for specifics on the operation. If the plant puts off no air pollutants as the company claims, he said, there will be no problem in granting the permit.

Congress Recesses, Holds Wage Bill To Stall Veto

then sailed through the Senate on a voice vote. The highway bill, given an overwhelming 382-34 vote on final passage in the House, would open up the highway trust fund for the first time for mass transit purposes. No money could be taken from the trust fund for mass transit during this fiscal year. But starting July 1, 1974, $200 million would be available to help cities buy buses and a year later $800 million would be earmarked for buses, rail transit systems and urban highways. The bill's manager, Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., held up final action on it until he received assurances from Transportation Secretary Claude S. Brinegar that Nixon would sign it. No such assurances could be given on the minimum wage bill by Labor Secretary Peter Brennan, although he said he would urge Nixon to sign it. However, several Republican senators and representatives said they expect a veto. The bill, passed by the House 253-152, would increase the minimum wage from $1.80 to $2 two months after enactment, and to $2.20 on July 1, 1974. It would also cover 7 million additional workers, including state and local government employees and domestics. The administration objects to the rapid increase to $2.20, to the new coverage, and to the failure of Congress to allow a lower minimum for teenage workers. By not sending the bill to the White House until the end of this month, Congress will prevent Nixon from pocket vetoing it, which is the term for killing a bill when Congress is out of session by simply declining to sign it.

Crew Plans To Descend To Doria

NANTUCKET, Mass. (AP)—A salvage crew seeking the riches locked aboard the Andrea Doria plans to once again drop an underwater habitat to the side of the sunken liner 240 feet under the ocean today. The converted trawler Narragansett with two chief divers and backup crew of 10 arrived on station above the ship's watery grave for the second time late Friday afternoon. The habitat, a stubby 12-foot chamber in which the two chief divers will stay between forays into the vessel, broke loose from the Narragansett Friday morning enroute to the site. The ship reported it encountered heavy winds and seas up to 15 feet when the undersea tank it was towing broke loose. The crew had to put over a small boat to corral the tank and secure it to the Narragansett again. The Andrea Doria sank in July 1956 after a collision in fog with the ship Stockholm.

Scouts Attend Sub Launching

Eight members of Boy Scout Troop 98 were among the invited guests today at the noon launching of the nuclear submarine Glenard S. Lipscomb at the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics in Groton. They are Adrien and Jean Barraco, Roger Plante, Frank and Robert Burns, Chris Young, and John and Martin Hafner. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Andre Baracco and Mrs. and Mrs. Frank Burns. Atty. Gen. Elliott Richardson and former Defense Secretary Melvin Laird spoke at today's ceremonies. Mrs. Glenard Lipscomb christened the submarine.

Then ...and Now

Back in 1927, "Moon" Erickson, fourth from the left in the "then" picture, leased this auto repair garage from Aaron Cook, grandfather of Manchester's present Aaron Cook. The garage, at E. Middle Tpk. and Vernon St., previously had housed Cook's Blacksmith Shop. It later became Cook's Service Station and, more recently, Sunset Service, as in the "now" picture. Second from the left in the 1927 picture is the late Aaron Cook, father of the present Aaron Cook. In the white shirt, standing between him and Erickson, is Robert Beattie. At the extreme right, leaning against the fender, is Bill Prentice. The other two men were not identified. The 1927 picture was loaned to The Herald by Mr. Erickson.

who was watching television in his eighth-floor room. "I heard all this commotion. People began knocking on the door. The police said: 'You better get out.' I said: 'Do I have time to get my goods?' They told me I better get out." Some residents said they had seen people buried by the falling walls. On the Broadway Central's grand staircase in 1872, railroad magnate Jim Fisk was shot in a romantic triangle. Meetings that led to the formation of organized baseball were held at the hotel. Its bar was privy to multimillion dollar deals by such as Boss Tweed, Diamond Jim Brady, Jim Fiske, Jay Gould and Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt. In recent years, community groups have charged that the hotel was ruining their neighborhood. State officials said that, in 1971, the hotel was involved in 124 complaints of crimes.

Gray Says He Was Used

Christmas ribbons. "I really cannot explain why I failed to tell Sen. Weicker all the facts at this time, and made misstatements to him," Gray said. "A sense of shame is all I can remember. I suppose I felt, in some irrational way, that I would look better in his eyes if I had destroyed them promptly and never looked at them." Weicker gave the somewhat garbled story to newspapers the next day, forcing Gray's resignation and ending his agony. The Senate had refused to confirm him as permanent FBI director, and the White House had not withdrawn the nomination. Gray was left, as Ehrlichman put it in a bit of gallows poetry, to "hang there and twist slowly, slowly in the wind."

Gray said he didn't tell Nixon anything more specific. "There was a slight pause and the President said, 'Pat, you just continue to conduct your aggressive and thorough investigation.'" Gray said he had no further trouble, and concluded he had been an alarmist. Gray is scheduled to return to the witness chair Monday at 9:30 a.m. EDT to begin answering questions. The committee plans to question two more witnesses, Petersen and former Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst, before going into summer recess. In other developments, White House chief of staff Alexander Haig said President Nixon briefed him on the contents of the controversial Oval Office tapes and telephone conversations.

Police Report

Lawrence Fortin, 25, and his wife, Ruth, 22, both of 24 1/2 Snipsic Rd., Rockville, were charged Friday on Circuit Court 12 arrest warrants in connection with unrelated crimes, police said.

Fortin was charged with third-degree burglary in connection with a Sept. 28, 1972, burglary at Caldor's department store, Burr Corners Shopping Plaza.

After being processed, Fortin was turned over to Vernon Police who served him with a Circuit Court 12 rearrest warrant which charges him with fourth-degree larceny. Vernon Police released Fortin on a $500 non-surety bond and turned him over to Avon Police who also had an active warrant for his arrest on unknown charges.

Fortin's court date on the Manchester charge is Monday. He will appear in court on the Vernon charge on Aug. 20.

His wife was charged by Manchester Police with second-degree larceny, third-degree forgery and criminal impersonation in connection with the recent theft of a U-Haul truck, police said. She was released on her written promise to appear in court on Aug. 20.

VERNON
Joseph Terrio, 30, of 78 Grand Ave., Rockville, turned himself in at the Vernon Police Station, where he was served with a Circuit Court 12 arrest warrant which charges him with public indecency in connection with a July 30 incident in Vernon. He was released on a $250 non-surety bond for court Sept. 4.

a letter. At the same time, administration officials said only unarmed reconnaissance and delivery flights would be made after the Aug. 14 cutoff date. "I can only hope that the North Vietnamese will not draw the erroneous conclusion from this congressional action, that they are free to launch a military offensive in other areas of Indochina," Nixon said. Congressional Democratic leaders made no response to Nixon's criticism of the cutoff. "It was kind of strong," said Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, "but he's going to observe the deadline so I'm satisfied."

House Speaker Carl Albert said he read Nixon's letter not as an attack on Congress but as "saying he is going to follow the law." As Nixon's letter was read to Congress, top defense officials announced that the only U.S. air activity in Cambodia or Laos beginning Aug. 15 will be reconnaissance flights and delivery of military equipment. Officials said U.S. planes will not retaliate even in the unlikely event that one of the unarmed intelligence reconnaissance planes is shot down. Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger Jr. ordered his commanders in Indochina to halt all other U.S. military activity in Cambodia and Laos at midnight Aug. 14, including, strafing, helicopter gunship strikes, air artillery spotting and use of American combat advisers.

NEWSPAPER FOR TEXTS
OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Al Wilson, principal of an elementary school in Granite City, Ill., says his school is the only one in the country where newspapers are used almost exclusively in place of textbooks. In Omaha recently to take part in a "Newspaper in the Classroom" workshop at the University of Nebraska, Wilson said 90 per cent of the instruction is based on the daily paper. He said the newspaper-related instruction, for instance, enables primary grade students to see letters and numbers in a variety of situations and usages; the sports page can be used by an arithmetic class to figure percentages and do other numbers skills; the columns and stories can be used for grammar and punctuation lessons. The Newspaper in the Classroom approach is not a fad, Wilson said. "I had always read the newspapers, but I can't say I was a fan before. But now I think they will be the text of the future."

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The camel was one of the first animals domesticated by man. Contrary to popular belief, the camel's hump does not store water, but instead serves as a storehouse for fat. The World Almanac notes. This central concentration of fat enables a camel's body to dissipate heat more rapidly under extreme desert conditions. Copyright - 1973 Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. We had them just as bad, and just as good, in the '20s and in the '40s."

Our Country Faces a Serious Energy Shortage

Independent dealers are in trouble. Saw horses let customers know that these pumps are empty. Some people think that the big oil companies are to blame for the shortage. They feel that these companies are trying to force independent dealers out of business.

Our country faces a serious energy shortage. When we talk about energy, we don't mean the sunlight and food that makes people and animals grow. Instead, we are talking about the energy from gasoline and other fuels that make things run.

This kind of energy is made by oil, gas and nuclear power. This energy runs cars, furnaces, kitchen ranges, air conditioners, light bulbs, trains, planes, TV networks, and farm and factory machinery.

This energy makes our country move. It helps us live better than people in any other country in the world. We have only six percent of the world's population, but we use 33 percent of the world's energy.

Necessary clean air and water laws, a cold winter and poor planning are some of the causes of the fuel crisis.

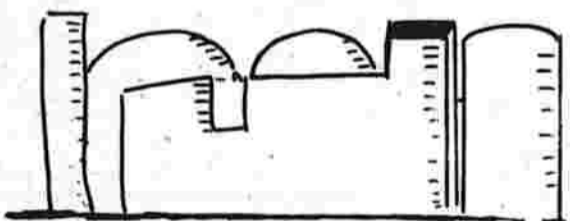

Although clean air and water laws are needed, they have caused problems. The drive for cleaner exhaust fumes has resulted in a new type of engine that uses more gas.

Off-shore drilling for oil has been stopped for fear that the operation may pollute the waters. A new pipeline to run from rich Alaskan oilfields has also been blocked.

There is a new clean air law against burning coal that contains a certain amount of sulphur. Since much of our country's coal has a high sulphur content, it cannot be used.

Nuclear power plants could help solve the problem, but plant building is behind schedule because of high cost. Also, companies are having trouble finding sites.

Winter in some parts of the country was very cold. When the refineries should have been making gasoline for spring and summer use, they were still making heating oil for winter use.

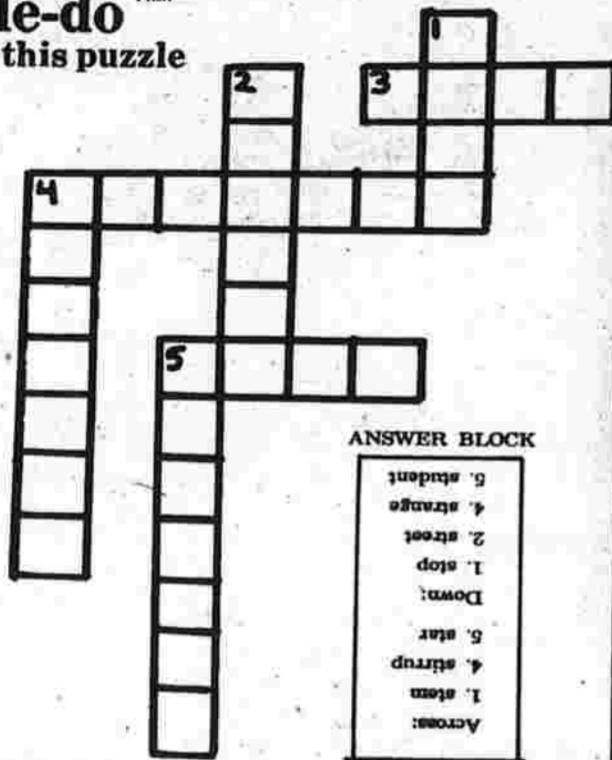

Natural gas could provide energy. It is in demand because it doesn't pollute and is cheaper than oil and coal. According to the gas companies, it is scarce because the price was so low that people who drill wells became discouraged by low profits.

Some Solutions to the Energy Crisis

Import Oil - We will have to import more oil from countries in the Middle East. These countries include Libya, Kuwait, Iraq and Saudi Arabia.

How to Prepare Lettuce for Salads

Hold lettuce head with stem up.	Using a paring knife, cut out the stem.	Hold the head under cold water.
Pull the leaves off one at a time.	Put leaves on paper towels. Pat them dry.	Put leaves in a crisper or plastic bag. Keep in the refrigerator.

Conserve Energy - Every citizen can help. Today, only 50 percent of all energy goes for useful work. The other 50 percent is lost in the form of waste heat.

Improve Appliances - Research will have to be done to invent appliances that don't use and waste so much energy.

New Sources of Energy - Researchers will have to find new sources of energy, such as the sun's rays and underground heat.

Higher Prices - For years we have had cheap energy. Higher prices will keep people from using so much energy.

Mass Transit - Cities will have to work out better ways of transportation than today's private car that uses so much gas.

Plan - Both government and private companies will have to plan and work out ways to help solve the energy crisis, now and in the future.

Super Sport: Robin Campbell

Robin Campbell is a champion runner at age 14. The young star started running in competition at the age of nine and has won over 35 trophies. She hopes to run in the 1976 Olympics. She broke the American women's record in the 1,000 yard distance race in a meet held this spring in Canada. She ran this distance in two minutes and 30 seconds. She also has been the champ in her age group for the cross-country race for three years.

Robin is the oldest daughter of seven children. She is an honor student in the eighth grade in Washington, D.C.

How Kids Can Help During the Energy Shortage

Ride bikes or walk to places near your home. Here are other energy saving pointers:

Mini Jokes™

 Knock, Knock	 Who's there?	 Lettuce	 Lettuce Who?	 in and you'll find out!
 George Washington threw a dollar across the Patomac. Why can't we throw one across?	 Money doesn't go as far as it used to!

Cut off the lights when leaving your room. Turn off the television, radio or record player when you are not listening.

Close the door when you leave the house to keep cold air in in the summer, warm air in in the winter.

I clean my plate. Don't be wasteful. It takes energy to make toys, school supplies, food and anything you use.

Don't play with the thermostat. Once Mom or Dad has set it, leave it alone.

Safe Sandy™ Bicycle Signals

left turn, right turn, slow or stop

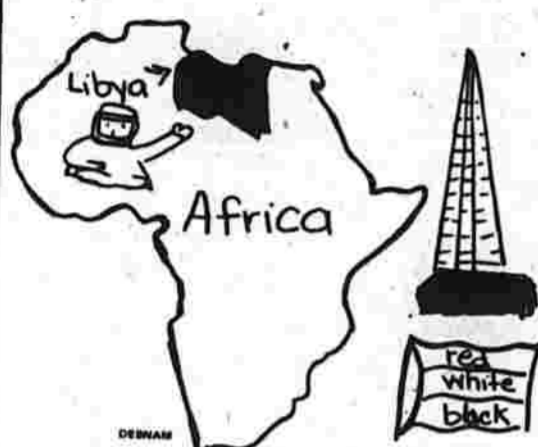

Play School with Your Telephone Book

Attention all teachers: Maybe you are a mother or father or an older brother or sister, or a school teacher, but here's something you might enjoy doing with your students!

Ask your students these questions to see if they know the answers!

- How is a telephone book like an encyclopedia?
- What facts must you know before finding a number?
- How are the yellow pages arranged?
- Where are the emergency numbers?
- What does the size of the directory let you know about the size of the town?
- Where is your number in the book?

Mini Tour: Let's Go to Libya

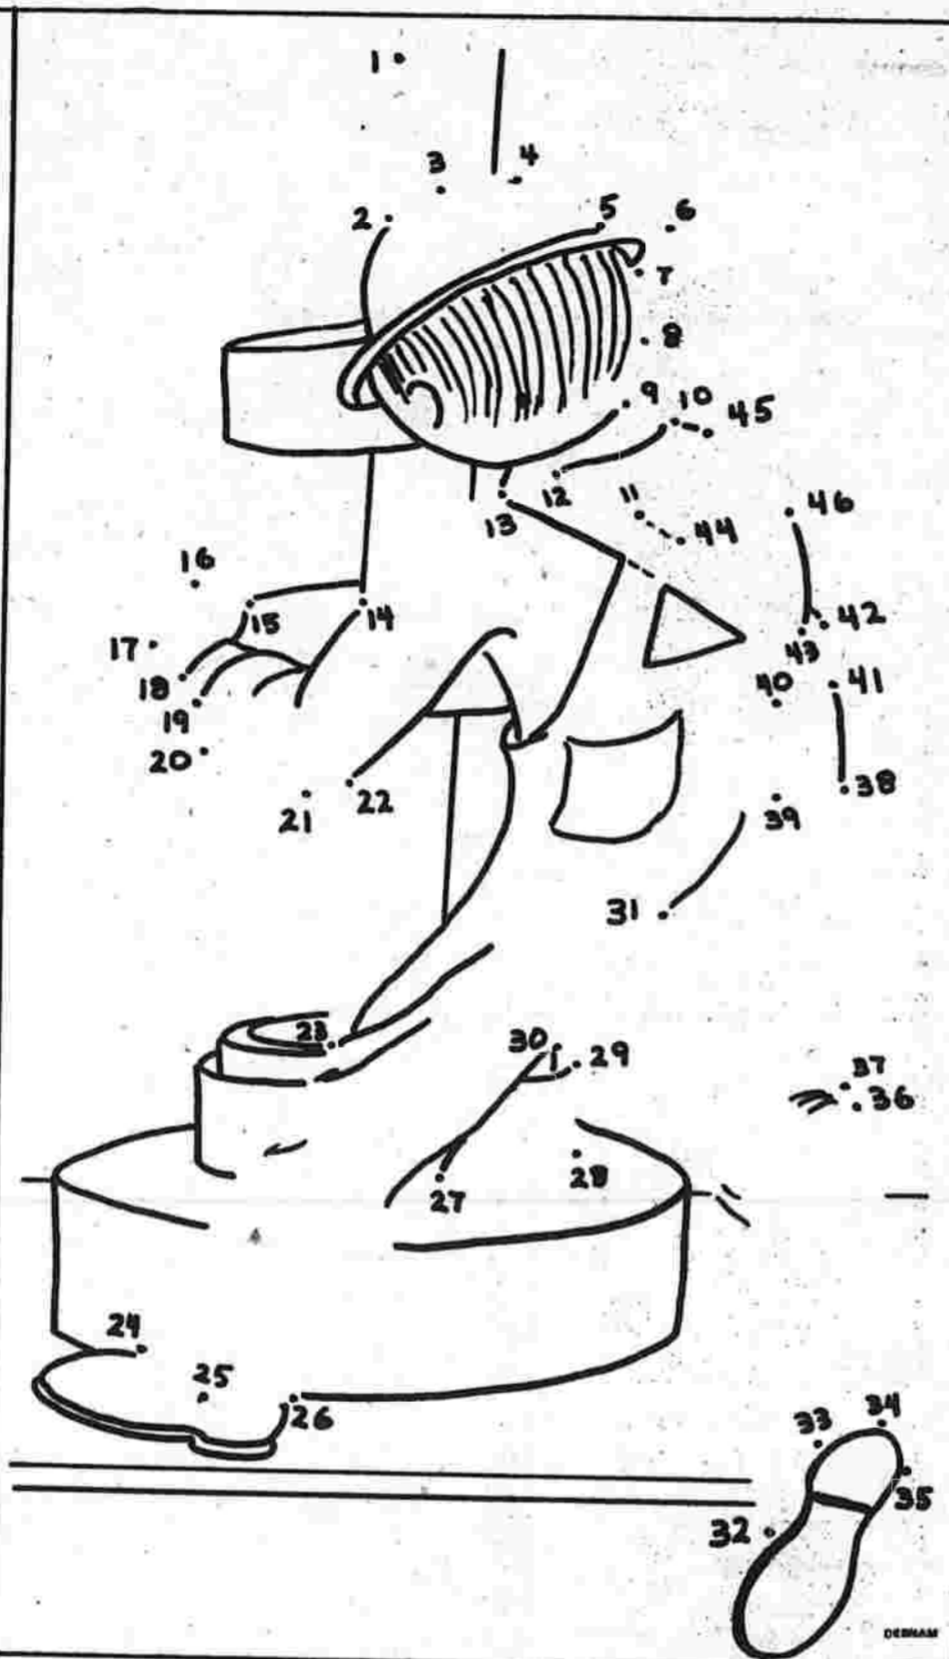

Libya is a country in the Middle East on the continent of Africa. Until oil was discovered in 1959, it was very poor.

Libya has a population of around two million people. Although 90 percent of the country is made up of the Sahara desert, there are some fertile lands where fruits, olives and other plants grow.

The ruler of Libya is a young, 31-year old, army colonel named Muammar Gaddafi, who came to power in 1969. He is the son of a poor camel and horse trader.

Libya is an Arab nation. This means that the people speak the Arabic language. Most of them are members of the Islam religion. Their prophet, Mohammed, lived around 600 A.D. Their god is called Allah. The people who follow this religion are called Moslems. Their holy book is the Koran. Today's Libyan ruler, Gaddafi, is a very loyal follower of this religion.

The world is watching to see how the newly-rich country of Libya will spend its money and use the power that riches bring. The United States is also wondering how much of Libyan oil will be needed to help keep the machines in our country running.

Ruth Roman portrays a metermaid respected by patrolmen on the beat as well as parking violators in "Cops," one of a trio of comedy dramas to be seen on "The New CBS Tuesday Night Movies," Aug. 7 at 9:30 p.m.

TV Notes

The American Broadcasting Co. (ABC) and the Central Broadcasting Bureau of the People's Republic of China recently agreed on a broad exchange of television newsfilm, documentary programs, sports programs, and personnel. ABC-TV News documentary team is scheduled to visit the People's Republic of China in early September to film a one-hour documentary and coverage for ABC Evening News and "The Reasoner Report."

Charlie Brown, the Peanuts clan's perceptive little "failure face" whose experiences have resulted in Peabody and Emmy awards, will lead his complex troupe through three new adventures during the ninth season of Charles M. Schulz's "Peanuts" specials on CBS-TV. The new animated specials will have as their themes Thanksgiving, Easter and a baffling Peanutland.

Comedy actor Henry Gibson, comedienne Rose Marie, Gloria De Haven and June Lockhart are some of the stars in "Honeymoon Suite," an "ABC Afternoon Playbreak" presentation airing Thursday, Aug. 9 at 1:30 p.m. The comedy-drama reveals an insight into the lives of two disparate couples in a Beverly Hills hotel.
