Prosecutor Waits Agnew's Records

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has retired to a desert resort for a long weekend, leaving behind the question of whether he will turn over his financial records to federal prosecutors probing political corruption in Maryland.

Agnew left Washington for Palm Springs, Calif., Thursday after reportedly being granted an indefinite extension on the prosecutors' request for the documents while his lawyers study the possibility of claiming immunity, Jay H. Topkin, one of Agnew's attorneys, said he would be in touch with the prosecutors next week.

Agnew was expected to return to Washington early next week. Meanwhile, a federal grand jury in Baltimore, which since January has been investigating political kickbacks, heard

NEW HAVEN (AP) — Defense attorney Howard Jacobs of New Haven will get a chance next Tuesday to reveal evidence and present witnesses designed to prove Guillermo Aillon innocent of three murder charges.

The state rested its case Thursday after five weeks of testimony from 40 witnesses. Two defense witnesses, a pathologist and a photographer, have appeared out of turn. Citing commitments that would prevent them from appearing later in the proceeding, they were allowed to testify during the state's presentation in the Superior Court trial. A jury of six men and six women is hearing the case over which Judge Simon Cohen is presiding. There are two alternate jurors, a man and a woman.

Aillon is being held at the Bridgeport State Jail on $50,000 bond, accused of the stabbing deaths of his estranged wife, Barbara Montana Aillon, and her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. George Montana of North Haven. Their bodies were found at the Montana home Aug. 14. Aillon was arrested Aug. 18.

The Agriculture Department says this season's corn and wheat crops will be at record levels, although not as high as was thought a month ago. Deputy Asst. Secretary Richard E. Bell was reluctant to estimate how the reduced crop forecasts would affect grocery prices. But he conceded: "I can't say that I think they will be lower."

The department's Outlook and Situation Board had predicted Wednesday that retail prices for all of 1973 could average 18 to 22 per cent above 1972 averages, depending on the effectiveness of Phase 4 controls and on the accuracy of July crop estimates.

Three hours after the August crop-production report came out Thursday with estimates of corn and soybeans. But said that where export controls are concerned, "The policy of the government remains as the President outlined in his July 18 statement."

Herald Plans Phone Survey

During the next two to three weeks, personnel of The Manchester Evening Herald will be conducting a telephone survey on a variety of topics.

The Herald will appreciate the courteous response of those who are telephoned in order to compile a more factual survey. The survey is being conducted in Manchester only.

State Rests Case In Triple Murder

Much of the state's testimony has consisted of witnesses describing what State's Atty. General Markle referred to as the "state of mind" of the Montana family following the separation of Aillon and his wife in July 1972.

Lauren Montana, Barbara's sister-in-law, testified Thursday that Mrs. Aillon and her parents were very upset during the period between the separation and the slayings. Catherine Aillon, seven-month-old at the time of the killings, was taken by her mother to the Montana home when the Aillons separated. She

The memo, dated Nov. 20, 1969, also said other areas would be selected inside South Vietnam, which would not actually be struck. Instead, military record keepers would show each Cambodia mission as having occurred in South Vietnam.

Riots Flare In Belfast

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Rioting erupted in a Roman Catholic section of Belfast during the night as 4,000 persons attended a protest rally marking the second anniversary of the regulations permitting internment without trial of persons suspected of being members of the Irish Republican Army.

No casualties were reported in the riot. But earlier, a 17-year-old Protestant was killed and two men were wounded in Antrim when gunmen ambushed a minibus taking construction workers home. It was the 80th confirmed fatality in the four years of communal warfare in Northern Ireland.

One mob in Belfast stoned a police and army post, and security squads raced out to grab a dozen youngsters. The mob continued to besiege the post but later dispersed.

Another Catholic mob broke into a bottle factory, loaded up with bottles and attacked

Burger Refuses To Call Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger has refused to call a special Supreme Court term to consider the U.S. bombing of Cambodia, but opponents of the bombing are expected to make another attempt to gain the court's attention.

Burger refused the request Thursday from American Civil Liberties Union Foundation lawyers acting on behalf of Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y., and three Air Force officers.

Less than two hours after the request was filed, Burger wrote "denied" across the petition, a court spokesman said. It was not known whether the chief justice would issue a written opinion.

A spokesman for Rep. Holtzman said the lawyers are considering a barrage of follow-up petitions in an attempt to get the administration to stop the bombing before Wednesday, when the President has said he will obey a congressional mandate to halt the air attacks.

Burger gave no indication whether he had conducted a poll of the other court members before denying the petition addressed to him.

Thursday's action marked the fourth time in two weeks the issue had been before the court. The tangled path the case has followed includes an attack by Justice William O. Douglas on the conduct of his colleagues.

Last month, Rep. Holtzman won an order in a U.S. District court in New York to stop the bombing. That order was quickly blocked by the circuit court pending a hearing that was held Wednesday.

Not content to wait for that hearing, the bombing opponents went to Justice Thurgood Marshall last week. Marshall refused to act alone.

They then went to Douglas. Last Saturday morning, Douglas issued an order giving new life to the original court order and, in effect, ordering a halt to the bombing.

That order stood less than seven hours. Acting on a government motion, Marshall ordered the same district court order stayed, thus okaying the bombing which had continued unabated. Marshall noted that his action had the agreement of the other seven justices.

Douglas in his dissent, accused his fellow justices of taking an illegal shortcut to overrule him. He contended that the law does not permit a single justice to overrule another.

Sen. Armed Services Committee. The document, written by the former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Ret. Army Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, and initiated by Laird, outlines a plan under which simultaneous B52 strikes would be made in Cambodia and South Vietnam. The strikes in South Vietnam, the memo said, were designed to provide "a resemblance to normal operations thereby providing a credible story for replies to press inquiries."

The memo linking Laird, now President Nixon's top domestic adviser, to the deliberately camouflaged raids was released by Deputy Defense Secretary William P. Clements Jr. during testimony before the Stafford (AP) — Eight Stafford businessmen have offered an $8,000 reward for information "leading to the arrest and conviction" in the disappearance of Justice Pickett of Tolland July 26.

State police said the businessmen have deposited $8,000 in a Stafford bank. The 7-year-old girl disappeared when she went looking for a butterfly near her home. Her bike was found alongside a road.

Troopers, National Guardsmen and several hundred volunteers combed woods and swamps near the child's home for more than a week without finding a trace of the girl.

High Yield Predicted In Corn, Wheat

At that time, Nixon said, "Permanent control of exports is not the policy of this government, and we do not intend to broaden the controls beyond those now in force."

Controls would not be needed, Nixon said, "unless present crop expectations are seriously disappointing or foreign demands are extremely large."

Two hours before Balz's statement on export controls, Bell noted the lowered crop estimates and of mounting prices for wheat and grain on commodity markets.

"We have to study the data...over the next several days," Bell said repeatedly.

Meanwhile, as the price of wheat hit $4.41 a bushel on the Chicago commodity exchange, compared with $1.71 a year ago, international wheat experts predicted the world wheat crisis could last until January.

Thursday's Agriculture Department report estimated the U.S. corn crop at a record 5.61 billion bushels, 3 per cent above a year ago; the soybean crop, a record 1.54 billion bushels, up 20 per cent from last season, and wheat, a record 1.77 billion bushels, down 2 per cent from July's estimate but 11 per cent above 1972 production.

Vote Sept. 11 In District 50

HARTFORD (AP) — Gov. Thomas J. Meskill today set Tuesday, Sept. 11, as the date for a special election in the 50th state House of Representatives district.

The election will be to choose a successor to former state Rep. Morton Blumenthal, R-Danielson, who resigned July 1. The winner will serve out the remainder of Blumenthal's term ending Jan. 8, 1975.

Blumenthal resigned after he was convicted of perjury in the alteration of a deed. He received a nine-month suspended sentence and one year's probation.

There was some question over whether he could retain his house seat after he was convicted. Blumenthal resigned before the issue was resolved.

The 50th District in northeast Connecticut takes in the towns of Ashford, Eastford, Chaplin, Hampton, Pomfret, Canterbury and most of Killingly.

The weekend at Tanglewood in the Berkshires, Lenox, Mass., begins tonight at 7 with Phyllis Curtin, soprano, Ryan Edwards, pianist, and members of the Boston Symphony Chamber Players performing Shostakovich's "Romances on Words of Alexander Blok," and Rorem's "Ariel" for soprano, clarinet and piano.

At 9 p.m., principal guest conductor Colin Davis conducts the orchestra in all-Mozart program. The concert closes with Mozart's Mass in C, with Benita Valente, soprano, Heini Watts, contralto, Ryland Davies, tenor, Stafford Dean, bass, the Tanglewood Choir and the Tanglewood Festival Chorus.

Saturday at 10:30 a.m., as on every Saturday morning throughout the Tanglewood season, there will be an Open Rehearsal of works to be performed Sunday.

Saturday evening at 8:30 p.m., Davis will conduct the orchestra in works by Beethoven and Haydn. The concert will close with Brahms' Symphony No. 3 in D.

Sunday at 2:30 p.m., the orchestra will perform Handel's Messiah, with the soloists who appeared Friday in addition to Robert Levin, harpsichordist, and the Tanglewood Festival Chorus.

The Pillow

The Cincinnati Ballet comes to Jacob's Pillow in Lenox, Mass., Tuesday through Saturday and will be bringing with them some works that have not been seen in the East Coast for more than 20 years. One of the most exciting dances is "Face of Violence," based on the biblical story of Salome. Also to be seen are "Dedication to Jose Clemente," "Orzoco and the Beloved," both by Lester Horton.

Performances are Tuesday at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, Friday and Saturday at 8:40 p.m. Matinees are Thursday and Saturday at 3 p.m. Box office, 413-243-0745.

Strawbery Banke

The Strawberry Banke Chamber Music Festival continues this summer season with performances Saturday and Sunday evenings at 8 in the Old South Meeting House on Meeting House Hill, Marcy St., Portsmouth, N.H. The program will include a Haydn Piano Trio, Poulenc Sextet for winds and piano, and Ibert "Trois Pieces Breves" for wind quintet. Admission is free.

Coast Guard Band

The United States Coast Guard Band, directed by Lt. Cmdr. William L. Broadwell, will present the last of a series of Concerts Under The Stars Sunday at 8:30 p.m. on Cadet Memorial Field at the U.S. Coast Guard Academy in New London.

As a grand finale, the band will play "The Overture 1812" by Tchaikovsky. As has been customary in past years, the artillery in the score will be real cannons firing away as they follow the musical score with a "bang."

The concert is free.

Hart College of Music

The final performance of the Summer Chamber Music Festival at the Hart College of Music, University of Hartford, will feature the Hart Chamber Players in Hilliard Auditorium on Sunday at 8 p.m.

HORRIBLE PROBLEM HAS EASY SOLUTION

By Alfred Sheinwold
"Please settle a problem that is driving me and my friends out of our so-called minds," requests a correspondent. "We want to know if there is a correct play for West in the accompanying hand or if he just has to guess at the right play."

East dealer
Both sides vulnerable

Opening lead — Four of Spades

"West thought long and anxiously about his opening lead. Since South seemed to be ready for a club lead, West decided to open a spade."

"Declarer put up the jack from dummy and East played the deuce of spades. West did a thousand deaths but South had to win the trick with the king and West breathed again."

"Then South led a low diamond and West had a horrible problem. If he put up the king of diamonds, it might turn out that his partner had the singleton ace. But if West played a low diamond instead of the king, it might turn out that South had led from the ace-queen and then West would lose his trump trick."

"West stewed anxiously for a long time and then played the king of diamonds. As you can see, that was the end!"

"Did West make a horrible play or just an unfortunate guess?"

Caused Own Misery
West caused his own misery by his horrible double of six diamonds.

Just imagine that West had not doubled. If South led a low diamond, it would be obvious that he could not be trying to hoodwink West. If South had then ace-queen of diamonds he would have lost his trick.

When the Manchester Board of Directors, on March 8, 1972, appointed a 15-member Charter Revision Commission, it informed it by resolution that its scope of inquiry "shall include an examination and evaluation of the present (council-manager) form of government in Manchester."

The commission held seven public hearings — one in each of the town's voting districts — met 25 times, and listened to testimony from five persons with realized expertise in council-manager and strong-mayor forms of government.

In November 1972, by a 10 to 5 vote which crossed party lines, the commission rejected a change to a strong-mayor form of government and went on record for a retention of the council-manager form of government for Manchester.

On March 20 of this year, less than five months ago, the commission submitted its final report to the Board of Directors. It was accepted by the board unanimously. In addition to scheduling 12 proposed charter changes for referendum Nov. 6, the board accepted the commission's recommendation "that the manager-council form of government be preserved in the charter of the Town of Manchester."

Why, then, did the directors appoint a Blue Ribbon government study committee on Tuesday night — also with 15 members and also instructed to study the different forms of government and to come in with a recommendation no later than next May?

After all, it is less than five months ago that the directors accepted the recommendation that the manager-council form of government be preserved.

Brainard Will File New Community Bill

MONICA SHEA

Rep. Jesse Brainard, R-53, of Coventry will introduce a bill in the House of Representatives to allow Connecticut residents to vote on a referendum and express their desires concerning new communities in their towns.

Residents may now petition for a referendum and a new community is proposed, but this is not binding on the developer.

Appeal through court action is now the only legal course open to residents attempting to control rapid growth of towns through concentrated development, Brainard said.

Developers now must present their plans to the planning and zoning commissions and to the necessary variances. The only chance residents have to express their opinion is at the hearing that must be held by the planning and zoning commission, but the final decision rest with the commission, subject to court appeal, Brainard said.

The legislation which is being drafted by the office of the legislative commission would provide the final step in allowing residents participation.

This bill would provide for action which is "reasonable, practical, final and binding," Brainard said.

Conservation Commission
At the Conservation Commission meeting Wednesday the commission voted to continue membership in the Connecticut Conservation Commission for another year.

There was a discussion of the Inland-Wetland Act with the two commissions to work the regulations, and the PZC to administer them, providing a mandatory referral is sent to the Conservation Commission in each case for its recommendation.

The open space report is nearing completion and a map showing the various wetlands in town will soon be ready for use.

New Student Loan Program

The Guaranteed Student Loan Program (GSLP) was established under the Higher Education Act of 1965 to provide young Americans with the means of borrowing to finance part of their post-secondary education.
Through the GSLP, a student may borrow up to $2,500 each academic year up to a maximum total of $10,000 extending through graduate school. He may enroll in a variety of post-secondary educational institutions, including vocational and trade schools.
At the core of the program is the issuance of student loans by participating lenders, with the loans guaranteed by state or private non-profit agencies or insured by the federal government.
The U.S. Office of Education estimates that since 1965 more than three million young men and women attending nearly 7,000 eligible institutions have benefited from these loans. About $4.5 billion in insured student loans is currently outstanding.
From the beginning, however, the GSLP has been hampered by the problem of "liquidity" — there has been no secondary market for student loans. Moreover, loan repayments are often deferred for relatively long and uncertain periods of time. Repayments do not commence until 9 to 12 months after a student completes his education and can be suspended by service in the military, the Peace Corps or Vista.

The result has been a decrease in the flow of funds into student loans in recent months.
To remedy this situation and to enlarge the economic opportunities for lower- and middle-income youths to attend the schools of their choice, a government-sponsored private corporation has been created — the Student Loan Marketing Association, or "Sallie Mae."
The new corporation is designed to establish a secondary market in student loans and expects to tackle the liquidity problem in two major ways: By the outright purchase of student loans and by making advances to eligible lenders using their portfolios of student loans as collateral.
Sallie Mae plans to obtain funds for its initial operations through the sale of 700,000 shares of common stock in mid-August. A nationwide underwriting group will be co-managed by Lehman Brothers, Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, and Morgan Stanley & Co.
The law under which Congress chartered Sallie Mae requires that advances acquired by lenders be channeled into additional student loans, thus enabling more students to obtain the educational financing they may need.

Other Editors Say Washington Whipping Post

Exactly one year ago, we at Finance Magazine proposed to nominate Richard Nixon for the Nobel Peace Prize of 1972, in recognition of his extraordinary efforts to put world welfare ahead of political concerns.
We said at that time, "When a President, or any person, pursues peace as an end in itself, not as a current achievement but as a carefully built system of stability for the years to come, he deserves the supreme recognition" . . . meaning the Nobel Peace Prize. Since then, Finance Magazine has seen the nomination through the complex procedures and preparation of documentary material for the consideration of the Norwegian judges who will announce their decision about Oct. 1 of this year.
Meanwhile, here at home, the immediate, overwhelming interest in the muddy backwaters of Watergate has exercised a kind of hydraulic pressure which makes what was previously clear seem doubtful. Yet no great upheaval such as we are now witnessing can sensibly be ascribed to a single person or even to a single administration. It goes back again and again to the subliminal distrust and dislike of the Presidential power, nourished by both political parties and exploited by a press to prove its own power by stampeding public opinion to its own preformed judgments.
This is an inability to understand, based on a determination not to. This is an intolerance for the human absurdities which the record so bleakly reveals. This is a total lack of concern for the consequences of putting different kinds of people into different sealed categories and treating them differently.

The American atmosphere has become uncivilized, moving backwards into the time of whipping posts, recording daily the sins of some as praise for others.
The spirit of the nation seems to be passing into the custody of those who would employ the sanction of hearsay, of questionable motives, of spreading the image of contagious corruption throughout the world. This public purging has long ceased to be cleansing and has become a threat to the painstaking negotiations for peace and to the development of friendly trade relations.
Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes wrote, "For most of the things that properly can be called evil in the present state of the law, the main remedy for us is to grow more civilized."
If we accept that the greatest of civilized ideals is peace, then we must accept also the demonstration of genius for building the structure of peace beyond our time which has been accomplished by President Nixon.
Now is the time for those of us who are concerned with the dire consequences which may result from discrediting our own government, our own system, and even our own President, to take the high road to right action. — Finance Magazine

Max Lerner Comments Where Is Latin America Going?

CARACAS, Venezuela — Every year I return to Latin America to make some soundings of what has happened since my last trip. This is my third visit to Venezuela (the first two were in 1964 and 1967). Herewith a few reflections on some of the directions in which this crucial continent is moving.
There are four main directions today, represented by Argentina, Peru, Chile and Venezuela.
One is Peronism, with its replay of the past and its reawakening of voices in the corridors of power which we thought had died and been stilled by time. Most observers had pronounced Peronism dead and buried. They were wrong.
After 18 years of exile Juan Peron has been embraced again by enough Argentines to give his new regime a viable popular base. His earlier method was to ally himself with the trade unions, which he kept into a formidable force. The "descamisados" — the "shirtless ones" — felt they had a personal champion and protector in him. What if some judges were fired, newspapers closed down, political opponents rousted up and public opposition repressed? Peron could always say that the people had given him their mandate.
He is an example of Arnold Toynbee's phrase about the "withdrawing and return" of a haloed leader. After wandering in the wilderness he is back, partly because of people love to dwell with nostalgia upon some "golden age" in the past, partly because Argentina's later leaders failed to appeal to the political imagination, partly because they left a vacuum of social welfare and social justice. He is showing himself wiser than in the past. He largely ignores the struggle between the left and the right in his own party, builds fences to the traditional power groups and the army. He risks social chaos, as every adventurer-dictator does, but he has always enjoyed presiding over danger, on the edge of chaos, and this time he may manage it.
Here in Venezuela, the supporters of former dictator Perez Jimenez have taken heart at the example of Peron's return, and there are four or five leaders of rival factions

Open Forum Group Homes In Manchester

Dear Mr. editor:
For the past year a committee consisting of representatives of several agencies and organizations from Manchester has been evaluating the need for a possible group home facility in Manchester.
Initially the committee conducted a series of studies to determine if indeed there was a need for a home of this kind in our town. Research findings revealed that Manchester had 203 runaway children during 1971 and 156 in 1972, many of them chronic repeaters. Interviews with parents, child, social workers, police department officials, clergymen and others brought out additional information that indicated a serious need for a group home in Manchester.
We discovered several research projects concerning group homes at this time. Most studies of the group home concept pointed out several factors supporting the group home trend in America. Recidivism, or return to prison for juveniles residing in group homes decreased dramatically in Massachusetts while Florida shows a 74 per cent success rate for juveniles in one of their major programs. Massachusetts estimates its recidivism rate to be 35 per cent for group home residents. A series of meetings with the town manager and town planner led to a drafting of a Group Home Ordinance proposal. This was done by the committee made up of representatives of the town complete control regarding the establishment of group homes. An ordinance of this kind would ensure that the residents of the home would receive proper care, and live in a safe environment, and it would serve to determine where a home may be located. The proposed ordinance has been submitted to the Manchester Human Relations Commission for consideration. The commission has unanimously endorsed the ordinance to release group homes, and has recommended, with the advice of the Board of Directors, that the ordinance be strengthened as it was incomplete in some areas.
This ordinance is one step in an ongoing project that has been in existence since April 1972. It has been written to enable Manchester to regulate the establishment of group homes in Manchester and to eventually bring about the home for Manchester girls that is really needed. The ordinance has no connection with the proposed establishment of a New Hope Manor as this facility is planning to house 20 residents when it reaches its maximum capacity. The ordinance specifically defines group home categories and the maximum number of residents allowed would be eight in a group home of any kind.
Confusion seems to prevail as numerous rumors and allegations have been heard regarding the Manchester Group Home Ordinance. I hope this letter clarifies the position of the group home committee and the Human Relations Commission and encourages you to work with us to bring about this needed legislation. If passed the ordinance will allow the town to regulate the establishment of these group homes in Manchester. Without it, no regulations exist.
Sincerely,
Stephen T. Cassano
Chairman
Group Homes Committee
Manchester

"Respect is the first prerequisite of love. It is so difficult to love someone whom we can't look at (spectate) — to look at and re-look at (re-spectate) with the knowledge that this person is just as magnificent — a wholesome contribution to the human race. Respect is the womb of the centering of relationship and the birth of love."

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Friday, Aug. 10, the 222nd day of 1973. There are 143 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1792, the French monarchy was overthrown as mobs in Paris attacked the palace of Louis XVI.
On this date —
In 1609, Ecuador began a struggle for independence from Spain.
In 1821, Missouri became the 24th state.
In 1845, the U.S. Naval Academy was established at Annapolis, Md.
In 1921, Franklin D. Roosevelt was stricken with polio while at his summer home at Campobello Island in Canada.
In 1945, the Japanese offered to surrender in World War II if the emperor would be permitted to keep his throne.
Ten years ago, West Germany announced it would accede to the nuclear test ban treaty worked out by the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union.

MISSION, S.D. (AP) — Howard Lamoureux is one of the high-rollers of the Great Plains.
He has survived blizzards and droughts for half a century while building a 17,000-acre cattle ranch. But he's not sure how he survived the high cost of raising beef, and says ranchers have much more to lose than consumers from today's soaring market prices.
"We can lose everything we have," he says.
Lamoureux and his grandson, Bill Potter, operate the 27-square mile spread between Mission, S.D., and Valentine, Neb., in the heart of the cattle country of the Upper Midwest. They raise about 500 head of their own cattle and graze another 2,500 head for cowmen who have the money to buy large litters of young at the same time.
The oldest are riding clinging to her back.
The youngest are developing in her womb.
Another litter have been absolutely helpless and put into an abdominal pouch where each fattens on one of a cluster of nipples until time to graduate to the back and make room for the next batch coming along.
Possums are so adaptable that if O.C. is still around for the next ten million years he will not be surprised to see possums also flying like hawks.
O.C. was born in Manchester, Conn. in the 1880's and lived here until 1910 but never saw an opossum here then.
We supposed they were only denizens of the deep South where some people were said to be fond of the table-treat of opossum and sweet potato. They affectionately called a child "little possum later."
Now possums are becoming quite common in Connecticut, judging by the number that are seen along highways killed by trucks and make room for the next batch coming along.
O.C. has eaten possum and found that if it is properly dressed and cooked it is not bad at all. However it is not likely to be a very popular object of the hunt here because possum is a rather repulsive appearing animal and has an offensive odor. They get into O.C.'s garden traps.
Possums were quite plentiful in Ohio when O.C. lived there. He accompanied a friend, Clyde Adams, running a couple fur trap lines.
Possum pelts are poor in quality and bring low prices that Clyde wouldn't go out of his way to catch them, but if the dog "barked up" on one or one had stumbled into a trap, he would take it. Same with a rabbit, but what he wanted most were raccoon and skunk. Just at that time, "coon was so plentiful that their pelts were not top in price."
Skunk was in greatest demand, and of course the less white and more black the higher the price. There is science gained by experience in handling skunk. The old professional skinner used to themselves scent up.
Opossum is one of the oddest forms of wildlife we have. It is claimed that they now live in the same condition and appearance as they did millions of years ago when they had four and other now long extinct forms roamed this continent.
You see how well they have developed to survive. They hide during daylight to avoid predators. Also it is their scent is repulsive to carnivores.
They can travel quite well on land, can swim if they need to, though avoid getting wet if possible, and are very adept at climbing. Besides all four feet having thumbs like a human hand, they also have a long tail that wraps around limbs and twigs and can even suspend the animal if the feet are disengaged from their holds.
Animals that have sharp claws to stick into the bark usually climb larger trees, but the hand-like feet of the possum are better for small trees and bushes. So when the dog "barked up" a possum we would find it on a small sapling usually.
We could shake and snap the sapling like a whip without dislodging that five-point paw.
But just a light tap with a small stick would often cause a possum to release a mouse, and drop to the ground as if dead. We could push one around with our foot. No matter what we did to it it got no reaction even up to the actual killing.
But if left alone a short time the possum would disappear. A dog was reluctant to touch one. See whence came the expression "play possum!"
Possum eat anything and almost everything and are developed for that, too. They have three kinds of teeth, fangs or canine teeth to hold and tear, front incisors for cutting, and molars to grind up their food.
They are the most intelligent anything O.C. has ever seen in mammals. It is a continuous process.

Ranchers' View Of Beef Costs

calves but don't have the grass to fatten them.
The ranchers buy 400-pound calves in the fall, feed them to about 800 pounds during the next 12 months and then sell to feeders who fatten the animals for commercial slaughter.
Last fall Lamoureux and Potter sold 350 head of yearlings for $42.50 a hundredweight. Last week they rejected an offer of $50 a hundredweight.
"I asked $55 and was turned down," said Potter, 25. "Two days later I heard feeders were paying $65 a hundred for yearlings. The market is so wild nobody knows what they're worth."
Potter said his yearlings will go to sales barns after the Sept. 12 beef freeze ends. "We don't know what they're worth but an auction should get us a fair price," he said.
Lamoureux, in his 70s, and Potter, an Air Force veteran who has worked with his grandfather most of his life, said the prices sound good but there's another side of the coin. They said overhead costs have tightened the profit margin to 11 or 12 hours a day in below-zero weather feeding the animals.
"Last year we paid $20 a ton for the high-protein feed that supplements the wild hay we feed the cattle," Potter said. "Today it costs $25 a ton."
"That was a $25,000 tractor you saw being hauled away for repairs," the rancher said. "We've got two more rigs for cutting hay that cost $15,000 apiece. You can't buy a tractor for less than $10,000."
Potter said the next problem may be the accelerating cost of purchasing calves for the next crop. "Last year we paid $52.50

South Windsor Democrats Caucus On Monday Night

The South Windsor Democratic caucus will be held Monday at 8 p.m. at the South Windsor High School auditorium to nominate candidates for Town Council, Board of Education, Planning and Zoning Commission, Town Treasurer and Selectmen.

This will be an open caucus. There will be no endorsed slate presented. Any Democrat seeking party endorsement for the November elections, whether an incumbent or not, is encouraged to attend and make a bid for nomination at the caucus.

Deputy Mayor Robert J. Smith announced Thursday that he will seek re-election to the South Windsor Town Council, a position he has held for the past four years, the latter two as deputy mayor under the Democratic-controlled administration.

Smith has also served on the past two Charter Revision Commissions, Public Health and Safety Committee, served as chairman of the Capital Improvement Committee of the council, as a member of the CDAP Committee and is a member of the Democratic Town Committee.

Smith has also acted as liaison with the Public Building Committee and the Parks and Recreation Committee.

He is president of Smith Brothers Insurance, Inc. of South Windsor, is a member of St. Francis of Assisi Parish Council, the Eastern Advisory Board of the Society for Savings and a member of Congressman William R. Cotter's staff. He is also an incorporator of Manchester Memorial Hospital.

Vernon Farmoil Will Supply No. 2 Fuel Oil Needs

When the town recently went to bid for gasoline and No. 2 fuel oil it didn't have any takers so Farmoil of Rockville, which was low bidder last year, will continue to supply the town as long as it can.

Farmoil officials told the town it did not enter a bid this year due to the unsuccessfulness of its supply. The arrangement for the coming year will be on a month-to-month basis.

Richard Borden, director of administration, told the Town Council that Farmoil has offered a base price under the base price received by the Capitol Region Purchasing Council.

Accordingly, there is a large flower pot, hidden by leaves in the picture, beside the steps to Mrs. French's kitchen door, and she is harvesting summer squash from a vigorous and healthy plant. There is just one plant in the pot and it seems to be producing as well as if it had been planted in a big vegetable garden.

Under the pot, also hidden, is a pan to catch water that drains through the pot and avoid any chance that the plant will become too dry in hot weather. "It takes a lot of water," Mrs. French added, but she also says she has learned to grow summer squash in a flower pot she needs only a few square feet of ground to raise her favorite vegetable.

That the squash is crookneck makes it a bit unusual. All summer squashes, in an earlier generation, were crooknecks, but the newer hybrids with straight necks and heavier yields, have almost entirely taken over the commercial market.

This has been a good season for summer squash and it is one of the abundant crops offered now at every vegetable market.

Green squash of the zucchini type is equally abundant, says Al Colton of Manchester, part of whose responsibility for the State Department of Agriculture is to keep consumers informed on supplies and prices of fruits and vegetables.

There was not much favorable news for consumers during the first half of the summer. Harvest were late, or reduced in volume, because of wet weather planting time. It was a poor season for strawberries. Sweet corn has been two to three weeks late and some fields were "drowned" by rain in June and had to be replanted. Supplies of sweet corn now are good, and quality is excellent, but there may be a couple of weeks in late August when those "drowned" fields will be missed.

with FRANK ATWOOD

Crookneck summer squash grown in a flower pot was a surprise to Mrs. Ruth French of Grant Hill Rd., Coventry. She got a small plant from Lester Whitman of Old Stafford Rd., Tolland, who suggested she try keeping it in a pot, where it has done very well. Mrs. French is holding the second and third fruits from her squash plant. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Mrs. Ruth French says she loves summer squash, and when she saw some small squash plants started in pots at a roadside stand in Tolland, she wished she had a place to grow them. A senior citizen, living alone, with yard help only from two small boys across the road who cut the grass, she had given up her vegetable garden.

"No problem," said Lester Whitman, who had started the squash plant. "Just put it in a flower pot."

Epicure Favors Mussel Dishes

By TOM HOGE AP Newsfeatures Writer I had lunch the other day with Zach Hanie, editor of "Epicure," the new magazine devoted to the pleasures of food and drink, and she painted a bleak outlook for the American lobster.

"Not only is the price of lobster soaring out of sight," she said, "but there is a distinct possibility that it may become extinct. This is partly because of the pollution of our waters and partly because people have been too greedy. They have seriously depleted the number of these crustaceans."

Present assessment of the lobster population, said Mrs. Hanie, indicates that the catch may soon be restricted both seasonally and quantitatively. Limited to size and length of lobsters have already been laid down.

Mrs. Hanie, who has written more than 65 books on food and allied subjects, had a suggestion for lobster lovers. Turn to the more shellfish that are more easily available and a lot cheaper.

"Clams are going up in price, but they are still within reason," she said. "The same holds true of scallops. They have good solid meat and their sea scallop is available the year around."

But the best buy, Mrs. Hanie noted, is the mussel, available along the entire Atlantic Coast and in certain seasons on the West Coast. The blue mussel is the prime mollusk one finds in the magnificent Moules Mariniere or Moules Frites in our restaurants. And yet mussels are still so reasonable that a dollar will buy enough for four people in many fish stores.

Mussels share many of the characteristics of clams and can be prepared in much the same way, but they are rarely eaten raw, at least in this country. Like clams, mussels may gape open before they are cooked, but they usually don't close their shells at once when handled. However, if the mussels remain open when held under running cold water, throw them away. Another test is to submerge mussels in cold water. Any that float to the top should be discarded. Scrub the remainder under cold running water. Any that remain open after the "beards" or seaweed with your fingers or pliers.

Here is a recipe Mrs. Hanie gave me for steamed mussels. STEAMED MUSSELS

60 large mussels (about 2 quarts) 1 cup dry white wine 1 large clove garlic, minced 1 stick butter or margarine 1/4 cup coarsely chopped parsley 1 bay leaf 1/2 cup chopped celery, stalks and tops 1/2 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper Wash and scrub mussels, removing beards. Place in large pot with light lid. Add all remaining ingredients and cook over high heat till shells open. Remove from heat. Serve in soup bowls with some of the sauce and crusty French bread for dunking. Serves 4. Good with a chilled white wine.

50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Battaglia of Welles Rd., Talcoville, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday with a dinner party at the Rosemont Restaurant in Bolton. The couple was married Aug. 7, 1923 in St. Bridget's Church in their hometown.

Prior to their retirement, Mr. Battaglia was employed at Lydall and Foulds Paper Co. and Mrs. Battaglia has been employed as a secretary at C. R. Burr & Co.

The wedding cake was made and decorated by the couple's niece, Mrs. Roland Irish of Manchester.

Handicapped Youths Benefit At Hostel

By KAREN HILGEMANN Waterbury Courier Writer CEDAR FALLS, Iowa (AP) - A "helping house," called a hostel, bridges the gap between dependent life at home with parents and independent life for handicapped persons.

The hostel is operated by the Exceptional Persons Inc. of Goodwill Industries, and Rehabilitation, Education and Services Bureau of the State of Iowa. It provides in-between service for nine young men.

Exceptional Persons is currently establishing a similar hostel for women.

Houseparents Mr. and Mrs. Ken Lewis are called Ken and Pam by "their boys." They live with them and provide any guidance and help the residents might need.

Most of the young men work at Goodwill Industries where they receive job training. Some attend River Hills School.

For them, the hostel is home. They live two or three to a room in the spacious house's four bedrooms upstairs.

During the two years the hostel has been open, it has provided a special service to men who have lived there. It has taught them independence and offered a positive alternative to entering an institution such as a county home or hospital where custodial care is provided.

Of the first men who lived in the hostel there was a 100 per cent success record of independence.

No Sugar May Cause Tantrums

TORONTO (AP) - Keeping kids away from candy and sugar to save their teeth may not be the answer after all, says a Montreal children's doctor.

"Harping away about candy and sugar is a cheap and possibly harmful excuse for the lack of insight and knowledge of the many contributing causes of dental caries," said Dr. G. H. Nickerson in an article for doctors.

Writing in Canadian Family Physician, a medical magazine, he said he had seen a number of cases where children suffered from low blood sugar - a condition in which the blood is low in absorbed sugar needed for nutrition, usually between meals.

For example, he had treated a 4-year-old boy who had several temper tantrums that had occurred about 11 in the morning 3:30 in the afternoon. As the time factor was so striking, he suggested snacks between meals.

"The parents protested vehemently," he said, until he suggested the choice: "The child's teeth or his brain, and with this, the parents listened to reason."

Since that day, there had been no "temper tantrums," Dr. Nickerson said.

"Sugar is vital to the active and lively growing child. In my opinion, snacks between meals and even some candy are essential to active, growing children."

Snacks and candy "make a minor contribution to dental caries and a major contribution to good health," he said, "provided fluoridated drinking water, adequate nutrition and good oral hygiene, especially dental flossing, exist."

Tolland Olson Resigns As Principal

VIVIAN KENNISON Correspondent Tel. 875-6704 Richard Olson, Tolland High School principal, will be leaving his post once he reads the school for opening Sept. 5, to accept a comparable position at Staples High School in Westport.

A recent change of policy at Staples changed from one principal for the entire school to four "housemasters" to head each of four divisions. Olson has been principal at Staples since 1969 and saw the first three graduating classes. He enjoyed a rapport with students, but was unsuccessful in attempts such as obtaining authorization for a full-time assistant principal to help with administrative duties at the school.

Tolland High School achievements, under Olson's leadership, include a self-evaluation by the school in 1972, and a thorough evaluation and eventual accreditation by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges earlier this year.

It was brought up repeatedly after the accreditation team made its report with recommendations that many of the suggestions could not be accomplished because of lack of funds in the school budget. Arthur Featherington, science teacher at the high school, has been serving on a part-time basis as assistant to Olson. The superintendent of schools will interview candidates to fill the position, hopefully by school opening next month.

Arguments Are Advanced For Year-Round Schools

For those who've already grown bored with summer vacation — and even for those who haven't — how about this: Year-round school.

The very phrase may strike fear into the hearts of some students; however, it really isn't as bad as it might sound. Actually, on a year-round schedule, we'd still be going to school for approximately the same amount of time, only it would be balanced differently.

Our school calendar as it stands now was originally organized to accommodate an agricultural society — the children would attend school in the winter and help out with the crops in the summer. But, with education progressing as rapidly as it is, it seems hardly relevant that we should continue with an old-fashioned calendar. There are different theories for the scheduling plan of a year-long school. The most popular plan is the 45-15 principle, where students attend for 45 consecutive school days (or nine weeks) then take off for 15 days (three weeks).

In some schools, students are divided into four groups, each group taking its vacation at a different time than others. More students could be accommodated, and it's also a lot cheaper than building new and larger buildings.

However, there are drawbacks to this plan. For instance, would you want to work in school while your friends are out? And there is the chance that your father or mother may not be able to arrange to take their vacation the same time as yours.

Another more feasible plan is the four-quarter system, where students go to school for three quarters and take off one. A more ambitious student may do all four quarters and complete a 12-year education in 10 or 11 years.

The advantages of such systems are:

- (1) A lot of money can be saved on schooling — some educators estimate 10 per cent since a school wouldn't have to be closed down and remain idle. (Believe it or not, that can be expensive!)
- (2) Some of the money saved can be used to buy air conditioning, so summer heat can't be used as an excuse against going all year.
- (3) Teachers would be given a chance to earn more money; they would be able to work a little longer on the different types of schedules; and they wouldn't have to worry about summer jobs.
- (4) It might be easier for parents, who wouldn't have to put up with bored children; and public officials hope that year-round schools would keep them off the streets.

Of course, you wouldn't be able to count on getting a summer job; but some schools would allow working students to elect a lighter schedule load, so they could keep their jobs year-round.

Obviously year-round schools aren't in the majority, but the number grows a little bit each year. Schools in Virginia, Illinois, California and Georgia have switched to this system; and while some will admit that, at beginning, it lacks better theory than in practice, most agree that, thus far, it has been successful.

My fellow students may brand me a traitor, but I think it's a good idea.

A Program What To Do

The Land of ABC By Lee Hay Production Staff

SAM Movie

Tuesday, Aug. 14 SAM will present "Bullitt" starring Steve McQueen. There are not many cops like Bullitt around; Italian shoes, turquoise pull-overs, reports about personal misconduct, and his "disruptive" influence. You get to wonder if he's up for trade, an easy mark. But when some rare Chicago blood starts spilling in San Francisco, they give Bullitt the mop.

The plot is dense with detail about the way things work: hospitals, police, you know, politicians with futures, gangsters, dingy hotels, airports, love affairs, traffic; see the famous chase on San Francisco's hilly terrain from a behind-the-wheel view. The setting in San Francisco is solidly there.

"One of the best movies I've seen this year with the most exciting 15 minutes of cinema I've seen in I don't know how long!" — Saturday Review

"A winner! It fastens your seat belt from the start, the super movie!" — Cosmopolitan

"A crime flick with a taste of genius and action sequences that must be compared with the best in film history!" — Life Magazine

Adapted from the novel "Mute Witness" by Robert L. Pike.

"Bullitt" will be shown Tuesday at dark in Mt. Nebo.

Tennis Tourney

Summer Activities in Manchester (SAM) will sponsor a Student Tennis Tournament Aug. 13, 14, 15 for all Manchester students, Grade 5 and including college.

This tournament, a result of the increased popularity of tennis, was suggested by Major John W. Thompson so students could participate in a 70-man Tennis Tournament. It is sponsored by SAM in cooperation with the Manchester Recreation Department since the regularly scheduled matches in September are for age 18 and over.

The matches will have the following divisions:

- Boys: Singles, doubles.
- Girls: Singles, doubles.
- Mixed doubles.
- Last grades completed in the spring of 1972.
- 5-7, starting 9 a.m. Aug. 13, 8-10, starting 9 a.m. Aug. 13, 11-college, starting 6 p.m. Aug. 13.

Matches will be held at Manchester High School Memorial Field starting Monday, Aug. 13 through Wednesday, Aug. 15.

Registration must be made prior to the start of the tournament by calling the Recreation Department at 646-6010 8:30-4:30 weekdays.

Youth Orchestras Open Festival

ABERDEEN, Scotland (AP) — With a fanfare by 150 trumpets, the Fifth International Festival of Youth Orchestras opened Monday with 1,000 musicians, dancers and singers in attendance.

The participants include the Young People's Symphony of the East Bay, from Alameda and Contra Costa counties, California, and the Allegro Ballet of Houston, Texas. Other groups are from Canada, Hong Kong, Japan, the Netherlands, West Germany, Denmark, Scotland, Czechoslovakia and Switzerland.

The West German National Youth Orchestra gave the first concert. The Allegro Ballet will open the dance program on Tuesday.

There will be six scholarship awards for outstanding performers, including a grant for the best young cellist to study with Leonard Rose in New York.

Student Registration

Registration for students new to Manchester is now in process.

For those entering Manchester High School Monday, Aug. 13 through Wednesday, Aug. 15, registration must be made prior to the start of the tournament by calling the Recreation Department at 646-6010 8:30-4:30 weekdays.

Registration for students new to Manchester who will be entering Grades 7, 8 or 9 at Bannet Junior High School will take place from Aug. 13 to 17, from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

All students should report to the Franklin Building, Room 18, on Tuesday, Aug. 21 at 9 a.m. for placement testing. Conferences with guidance counselors will be scheduled for Aug. 22 to 31.

School will open Wednesday, Sept. 5 at 8:05 a.m.

Talent Day at Camp Kennedy

Wednesday, Aug. 1, was the day of the Talent Show at Camp Kennedy which marked the end of its camping session. Campers and counselors presented such acts as singing, dancing, storytelling and comedy acts.

In the middle of the show Harry Smith (former director of Camp Kennedy), called "The Cle Harry," was received with much enthusiasm. The Talent Show ended with a big dance.

Camp Kennedy is a summer day camp for retarded and handicapped children, under the direction of Dave Moyer. Each session has about 36 campers balanced off with an equal number of counselors from the Manchester area. They are put into four groups according to their ages; they work and play in the group until they change counselors, which is a weekly change.

The day itself is composed of many different activities. The four groups rotate so that they all get a chance to use the materials available. One portion is called Skills which is active games. A favorite is the parachute donated to the camp this year. The campers hold it right and throw balls up and down, and sometimes the smallest campers.

Another section is called Choice which is a quiet period of reading, talking, listening to their ages; they work and play in the group until they change counselors, which is a weekly change.

Crossroads Doggett Ain't Through Yet

By RICHARD T. PIENCIAK Associated Press Writer

NEWARK (AP) — Bill Doggett changes his music with the times, but inside he's the same fellow who recorded the million-seller, "Honky Tonk," back in 1956.

The Philadelphia native has been at the top and the bottom of the music scene. Today he's somewhere in the middle, playing the organ nightly here at the Robert Treat Hotel's Peacock Alley.

The times have changed, according to Doggett, who at one time arranged music for Ella Fitzgerald. He thinks top performers in today's rock scene are pampered.

"Performers come up today with the attitude of expecting to be pampered. When I came up," Doggett said, "we had to stay in line, and be on time."

The arranger and song writer began his career in the City of Brotherly Love as a piano player in a roadhouse cafe. He says he doesn't regret having missed the pumping "Moby" party he didn't miss what you never had," he remarked.

According to Doggett, in the days when he was battling Elvis Presley for the top of the "Hit Parade," promoters were in complete control of the scene.

"I would have been fined by the promoter if I showed up late for a performance," Doggett said.

"The artist blames the lack of managerial control by promoters for so-called 'problem' rock stars, like Sylvester. Sylvester got a grant from the Family Art of Sly and the Family Stone.

"For the promoter see a big gate and will put up with anything to make money," Doggett said.

A 35-year veteran of the music circuit, Doggett remembers the days when he did 200 one-night stands in a year, plugging his big hit, "Honky Tonk," all across the nation. He'd also love to do it again.

"Sly has been accepted as an eccentric, thus people don't look for the norm from him. When you come to see Sly, you expect to wait."

So Bill Doggett keeps rolling on the way he knows best.

HONKY TONK—Bill "Honky Tonk" Doggett has changed his music to fit the times, but he's still the same guy inside, unspoiled by success.

He's got a new album in the works and it will be his first. Doggett said the new disc remained without a title, but that it "will definitely be funky."

Doggett, who has a five-piece combo as backup, plans to return to France soon for his fourth European concert tour.

Doggett is a popular attraction in France. Acknowledging this, he says, "In France, they know things even I've forgotten."

Doggett does realize that a good record can be pushed and pushed and pushed.

Wherever Doggett goes these days, the signs proclaim the appearance of Bill "Honky Tonk" Doggett, a hype for his old hit that sold four million copies.

Doggett has high hopes that his new album will hit the sales charts big. He feels he's too young to think about retiring.

"When John Paul Getty retired, I'll retire," he chuckled.

Interview with Menachem Begin

Menachem Begin

(Editor's Note — Michael Dworkin, his wife Ellen, and their 13-year-old daughter, Martha, all of 282 Ledford Ave., spent three weeks in Israel last month.)

While there, Dworkin talked to many people in and out of government and was granted an interview with Menachem Begin, head of the Liberal party, a member of Knesset (Parliament) and a member of the cabinet.

Begin has undertaken the apparently hopeless task of opposing Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir in her quest for reelection in November. Mrs. Meir's Socialist party is the strongest party in Israel. Begin's Liberal party is the largest opposition party.

In this article, Dworkin talks of Begin, the man, and of Begin's answers to the questions put to him.

BY MICHAEL DWORIKIN

Menachem Begin (pronounced BEE-jin) is head of the opposition Liberal party of Israel. He will be running against Golda Meir in the fall. Who is this man?

He was born in 1913. At the age of two he was hungry and deprived in Russia. Strangely enough, there was no civil war between Jews, because Mrs. Begin firmly believed that if he fought the Jewish Provisional Government with guns this civil war would destroy the possibility of the future Jewish state.

Behind the background of the German ovens, which destroyed six million Jews, emerged the rebirth of an old nation after 2000 years. History has no parallel in its records. The revolt headed by Mr. Begin and the daring Irgun was directly responsible for Israel today.

The following interview with Mr. Begin was on Friday, July 20, in his office on 38 King George St., Tel Aviv, Israel, at 8:30 a.m.

Q: After all those years of agonizing revolt against the British and also against some of your own people, do you resent these same people who now control your government?

A: The American people had a history very similar to ours. During the time of George Washington, people collaborated with the British. The Jews tried to remain the most humiliated and the most oppressed people in human history.

Mr. Begin fought Mr. Ben Gurion, who sought, instead, to appease the British, to gain Israel's freedom. With the aid of the Haganah (the official Israeli army), Ben Gurion's government hunted down the Irgun for the largest government. Ben Gurion blew up a shipment of ammunition and guns meant for the entire Israeli armed forces which Ben Gurion incorrectly thought was for the overthrow of his government by the Irgun underground. Conditions were such at that time, that Jew turned on Jew.

Truth must prevail, and I am proud to say that my book I wrote 25 years ago called "The Revolt" has not had one fact contradicted. Truth must prevail!

Q: Why have we not been able to hear many of your liberal views in the press or TV?

A: A small country like Israel has its Department of Information, and the large press agencies merely go directly to them for their news sources.

Unfortunately, I oppose many of the present government's views and it's obvious why my thinking is not presented. However, there is a newspaper in the U.S. called the Jewish Press and I am read by a half-million people. But the most important thing I must do is convince my people, not yours. I represent the Gahal Liberal party, the largest party opposing Golda Meir's Socialist party.

Q: What are your views on the economy? How would you improve the bureaucratic government Israel now has?

A: There are many obstacles to a socialist bureaucracy. The ruling party, as you know, is Socialist. It lacks some controls but it wants to control everything. We have an anomaly here!

The Histadrut, the country's largest trade union, should represent the workers and they are the largest capitalists and represent our largest business, while one-third are private initiative!

So you see that the private initiative sector is very small.

Showdown for Crown In Silk City Playoffs

By Earl Yost
trimming Sportsman, 12-4, before a crowd of 500. Tonight the title will be on the line when the two titans clash at 7 o'clock. Each has suffered one loss in the annual post-season playoffs.

Feline Softball Crown To Cut & Curl Entry

By Earl Yost
Sparked by Lynn Frazier's grand slam home run in the nine-run fourth inning, Cut & Curl added the playoff championship to its regular season crown in the Feline Softball League last night at the Nike Field by trouncing Crispino's Supreme Foods, 9-0.

Crispino's Sue Leslie Forced Out at Second Base
Sue Driscoll of Cut & Curl Takes Throw and Steps on Bag

The triumph didn't come easy by any means over challenging Crispino's in the double elimination playoffs. Crispino's surprised the champs with a lopsided 11-1 decision in the opener which necessitated a second game last night before a hundred fans.

With all the chips on the line, the Beauticians pulled out all the stops and broke a 2-2 deadlock after two innings with a five-run spurge and then a nine-run outburst in the fourth on route to their one-sided win.

Moriarty's Capture Third Straight Win

By Earl Yost
Making a rare appearance on the mound, lefthander Brad Steurer tossed a five-hitter as Moriarty Brothers defeated the Vernon Orioles, 7-1, last night in Rockville.

Leadoff batter Bob Trikakis collected two singles to pace the MB attack.

Tonight at St. Thomas Seminary in Bloomfield, 7-1, last night in Rockville.

Scoring at least once in every inning, Groman's had little difficulty against Moriarty's in game No. 1.

Leading the 18-hit attack were Kowalski, Randy Smith and Viara with three base knocks each.

Best in defeat was Les Keston with two safeties, one over the fence.

With all the chips on the line, the Beauticians pulled out all the stops and broke a 2-2 deadlock after two innings with a five-run spurge and then a nine-run outburst in the fourth on route to their one-sided win.

Bright News After Vacation

Following a two-week absence from this desk while vacationing in Maine, one of the brightest news items that caught my eye in checking back over issues of The Herald was the report from the Manchester Board of Education that it has unanimously agreed to name the track and baseball diamond at Memorial Field in honor of long-time retired coaches, Pete Wigren and Tom Kelley.

Cosmos Triumph For Soccer Crown

By Chris Blake
Tension prevailed from start to finish in a well played soccer tilt, as the Cosmos turned back a determined Chiefs squad, 2-1, to take the Division D playoff crown last night at Iling Field.

The first half featured good defense by both teams and the second half started the same way. That is until Hedlund spearheaded several drives to the goal, but the stubborn Cosmos defense refused to crack.

The two goalies, Kent Stringfellow of the Cosmos, and Tom Woods of the Chiefs, played well in the nets.

Mauch Dials 'M', Reliever on Line

NEW YORK (AP) Whenever the Montreal Expos are in trouble, Manager Gene Mauch dials "M" for Marshall. "He's the most complete relief pitcher I've ever seen," said Mauch after his bullpen ace saved a 5-3 victory over the San Francisco Giants Thursday. Consider Marshall's record and you can believe Mauch's superlatives. The right-hander has won 10 games, saved 23 and fashioned a 2.47 earned run average while working in relief. Marshall did what he is primarily paid to do Thursday — choke off late-inning threats. He came into the game with one out and Giants on first and third and preserved the victory for Mike Torrez.

Orioles Triumph On Disputed Pitch

NEW YORK (AP) Today's baseball quiz: When is a strikeout not a strikeout? One time a strikeout might as well not be a strikeout when it is a wild pitch. Another time a strikeout is not a strikeout when it is a foul tip that is not caught. Minnesota Manager Frank Quilici remembers seeing the wild pitch strikeout and is convinced he saw the foul tip one as well in Baltimore's 2-1 victory over Minnesota Friday night. The Orioles moved back into first place in the American League's East Division with the slim victory that turned on the wild pitch strikeout and is convinced he saw the foul tip one as well in Baltimore's 2-1 victory over Minnesota Friday night. # Match Course Record Geiberger, Iverson Sharing PGA Lead

CLEVELAND (AP) — Al Geiberger forgot his peanut butter and still matched the competitive course record with a four-under-par 67. Don Iverson, armed with a tip from Lee Trevino, finished the same 67. The improbable pair's performances Thursday left all of pro golf's glamor names far behind leading into today's second round of the 55th PGA National Championship at the Canterbury Club. However, Geiberger, Iverson, and Bob Dickson and Mike Hill, deadlocked for third at 69, looked to first base on a hot, steamy day before winds swirled over the 6,882-yard layout. The stoney Geiberger still munches peanut butter for energy out on the course but confessed, "I forgot the peanut butter and crackers today. Instead, I took a bite of a friend's hot dog on the 10th tee."

WASHINGTON (AP) — If running back Duane Thomas could be compared to an expensive automobile that's been in storage a year, he would be a 1972 Buick Wildcat. Thomas, who sat out the 1972 National Football League season before being traded to Washington last month, will start his first game in more than a year when the Redskins meet the Denver Broncos tonight in an exhibition game. Charlie Walker, Redskins offensive backfield coach, says Thomas has made "amazing progress."

Police Report

Alphonse Godbout, 18, of 74 School St., and Danny William Weingartner, 17, of East Hartford, were arrested Thursday night and charged by Manchester police with fourth degree larceny.

The charges stem from the alleged theft of a battery (valued at $10) from a used car at Pantaleo's Used Parts on Parker St.

Weingartner was also charged with altering the birth date on his operator's license.

Both were released under written promise to appear in court Aug. 27.

Robert Soucier, 17, of 375 Bidwell St., surrendered at the Police Headquarters Wednesday night. A warrant had been issued for his arrest on a charge of tampering with a motor vehicle.

Police said the arrest came after an investigation into alleged ransacking of vehicles recently on Symonee Road. Soucier was released on written promise to appear in court Aug. 27.

A three-car, chain-reaction collision that occurred Wednesday on Rt. 30 in Vernon about 7:30 p.m. is under investigation.

Police said the accident occurred at the intersection of Vernon and Main roads. Drivers were Brian Caruthers, 16, of Lawler Rd., Vernon; Joseph Mroz Jr., 20, age given, of 201 Regan St., Vernon; and Watson L. Peterson, 47, of 35 Grandview Circle, Storrs.

Ignacio Santolito, 79, of 695 Talcottville Rd., was charged with reckless driving and driving while under the influence of liquor or drugs. Police say Santolito's car collided with cars driven by Richard H. Crabowski, 25, of 25 Snipset St., Rockville; and Joseph Canan, 25, of O'Leary Dr., Manchester, before crashing into a utility pole. Santolito was westbound on Windover Ave. when the accident occurred at 9:30 p.m. Wednesday. He was released for arraignment on court Sept. 4.

GOP Endorses Slate Aug. 22

SOL R. COHEN (Herald Reporter)

The Manchester Republican Town Committee will meet Aug. 22 to endorse candidates for the November town election.

The committee will be guided by the recommendations of its executive board, which will meet Thursday to prepare a slate of candidates for the Board of Directors, Board of Education, town clerk, town treasurer, Board of Selectmen and constables.

The executive board, in turn, will be guided by the recommendations of its two-member, candidate-screening committee - Harlan Taylor and Walter Doll.

Thursday's executive board meeting and the Aug. 22 town committee meeting both will be at 8 p.m. in the Municipal Building.

The Republicans must endorse a slate of six candidates for the Board of Directors (for two-year terms), five for the Board of Education (two for the term 1973-76, two for the term 1974-77, and one for the unexpired term 1971-74), one for town clerk (for a four-year term), two for town treasurer (for a two-year term), two for Board of Selectmen (for two-year terms), and four candidates for constables (for two-year terms).

The Republicans, at present, are the minority party in Manchester - with three members on the nine-member Board of Directors, three on the nine-member Board of Education, one on the three-member Board of Selectmen, and three of the seven constables. Charles McKenzie has removed the town clerk and town treasurer are Democrats.

Of the three Republicans on the Board of Directors, only Mrs. Vivian Ferguson has declared for re-election. Charles McKenzie has removed the town clerk and town treasurer are Democrats.

Republicans Robert Spillane, whose term on the Board of Education expires this year, and Mr. Philip Sussag, whose term expires in 1974, have yet to reveal their plans. The third Republican, Robert Maltempo, is not up for re-election. His three-year term expires in 1975.

Mildred Schaller, the lone Republican on the Board of Selectmen, has announced she will seek re-election. She is not up for re-election. Her three-year term expires in 1975.

Maltempo, the town clerk, is undecided at present. He is not up for re-election. His three-year term expires in 1975.

Butz Won't Use Farm Bill Powers

EARL L. BUTZ

WASHINGTON (AP) - Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz says he doesn't intend to exercise the sweeping powers given him in the new farm bill to control food prices.

The measure gives Butz authority to raise or lower prices of farm products. He said he would use the power only in a dire emergency.

Laird Denies Report

CHICAGO (AP) - Melvin R. Laird denies that he authorized falsified reports of secret U.S. bombing in Cambodia but says he started a reporting procedure that was not the normal type.

Laird, a former secretary of defense, told newsmen on Friday that the reporting procedure "ran directly to the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, me and the President of the United States."

Laird said the procedure he authorized for reporting the secret 1969 bombings was "not the normal type of reporting procedures used in Vietnam ... but because of diplomatic sensitivity a separate channel of reporting was established."

Laird, now President Nixon's chief domestic adviser, denied that he authorized falsified Defense Department reports. He said the continued government silence on clandestine air operations after the U.S. incursion into Cambodia in April 1970 was a mistake.

NEW YORK (AP) - Many major banks have announced an increase in their prime lending rate from 9 to 9 1/2 per cent, a new high and the 12th prime rate hike this year.

The increase, announced Friday, involves the minimum borrowing fee banks charge their most credit-worthy corporate customers and will have no immediate effect on mortgage, auto or other consumer loans.

Wall Street reacted negatively to the prime rate rise, with the Dow Jones industrial stock average dropping 9.11 points, a new high and the 12th prime rate hike this year.

Washington (AP) - The Secret Service says it has launched its own probe to determine if one of its agents spied on Sen. George McGovern and passed the information to the White House.

A spokesman for the service said if the investigation verifies the reports, it could result in disciplinary action against the agent.

The Washington Post reported on Friday that White House memoranda indicated that Secret Service agent James C. Bolton Jr., assigned to protect McGovern during the 1972 presidential campaign, had relayed information on the South Dakota Democrat to presidential aides.

California's secretary of state says he has been promised a full financial report next month on President Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign.

Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr., a Democrat, said he expects to get details of millions of dollars in still-secret contributions from Nixon campaign officials on Sept. 28.

"All financial activities of the Nixon campaign will now be brought into the open, and the public will finally receive a full accounting of how money was raised and spent," Brown said Friday.

Brown said he invoked a little-used state law and an opinion from California's Republican attorney general, Evelle J. Younger, in negotiating the agreement with the Finance Committee to Re-elect the President in Washington.

The report will include all money contributed to the Nixon campaign before a new federal law went into effect April 7, 1972, that required disclosure of all contributions, Brown said.

He said Nixon campaign officials have agreed to provide records on contributions made before 1971, although that information may not be ready by Sept. 28.

Although federal law may not require disclosure of pre-1971 contributions, California law clearly does require full disclosure of campaign donations no matter when they were received," Brown said in a statement.

An aide to Brown said subsequent reports are expected to include more than $1 million left over from Nixon's 1968 election campaign and he said during the interim by Herbert W. Kalmbach of Newport Beach, Calif., Nixon's former personal attorney.

The aide said Kalmbach told Brown some of that money was turned over for use against the election campaign in Maryland. In the past, presidential campaign statements filed with the state dealt only with their California committees.

Brown said the fund-raising and spending procedures of Nixon committees made it "im-

Israelis Pirate Jet, Kidnap Try Reported

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - Israeli jets dodged anti-aircraft fire Friday night to pirate an Iraqi airliner in what sources called an unsuccessful attempt to kidnap top Palestinian guerrilla leaders.

However, the guerrillas were not on the airliner, and the Israelis allowed it to return to Beirut after they questioned the 74 passengers and eight crew members for two hours at an Israeli airfield.

The Israeli military command refused to disclose the motive of its mission and stood by this statement issued Friday night.

A Lebanese passenger plane belonging to Middle East Airlines, enroute from Beirut to Iraq, was intercepted by Israeli planes and ordered to land at a military airfield in Israel.

The aircraft was intercepted and landed at 2130 hours. After a passenger check, the aircraft was permitted to take off and continue on its way at approximately 2330 hours.

The passengers were treated fittingly. The informants said that among the Palestinians the Israelis were trying to capture was Dr. George Habash, head of the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine.

Guerrilla sources said Habash was booked on the Baghdad-bound plane with two other guerrillas. Habash, who is on Israel's most wanted list, changed the group's travel plans at the last minute in what has become a standard security tactic among top guerrilla leaders, the informants said.

Other reports said there were two Israeli F-4 fighters in Baghdad scheduled to leave within minutes of each other. The Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine (PFLP) was the group's travel plans at the last minute in what has become a standard security tactic among top guerrilla leaders, the informants said.
