BOOK REVIEWS

THE FALLING MAN. By Warren Forman. Crowell. 101 Pages. $4.95.

This is a rather pretentious little novel composed of bits and pieces that occasionally hang together but more often do not.

Frank Cleary, a New York policeman, has been shot by a gunman in Harlem. As he falls into death, thoughts of his past life drift through his mind. This is not a bad way of telling a story, but author Warren Forman needlessly clatters it up by giving Cleary thoughts that are not his but rather those of his Irish ancestors.

Obviously, Forman is trying to make a statement about needless violence dogging man for all his days. It doesn't come off. Nor does the Irish lilt he imposes on the speech of his American-born Irishmen. It doesn't ring true, at all, at all.

A LIFE. By Wright Morris. Harper & Row. 192 Pages. $5.95.

After spending most of his long life far from his childhood home in Nebraska, Floyd Warner decides to return when his favorite sister dies. Warner is 82, but he makes the long drive from California, and he does it in a car that is almost as old as he is, a Maxwell coupe.

He takes along a distant relative, a young boy, and nothing much happens on the way. Shortly after Warner arrives at the old home he burns down, and the boy takes off with a couple of hippies. Warner then decides to drive alone to a homestead several hundred miles away where he spent his young adult life and again nothing much happens except that the old man picks up an Indian hitchhiker who comes to symbolize — literally and figuratively — Death.

A rather bland surface for a story but deceptively so, for beneath it there is the powerful film" — paper coated with a gelatin substance. A roll of this film, sufficient for taking 10 negatives, could be loaded into a camera, later removed and exposed. Photographers no longer needed to use cumbersome plates.

"American film" had its drawbacks, however. The film, while still inside the camera, had to be sent back to the factory for processing. At the same time, fresh film was loaded into the camera for a fee of $10. His motto was "You Rest, Eastman went on to improve his film by substituting a clear plastic for the paper base which any amateur could easily develop for himself.

Edison obtained a roll of this film and, using it, was able to successfully demonstrate his peep-show kineoscope in 1889. A Kineoscope Parlor opened in New York City in April 1894. Within months it became a major attraction. The public loved it but only one person at a time could view a film. Something was needed that could project films to larger audiences.

In England, Robert Paul and, in France, Louis and Auguste Lumiere created devices that allowed motion pictures to be viewed by large groups of people. The Lumieres' device was the more widely used of the two. Called the Cinematographe, it was small and portable and could serve as a camera, a printing machine and a projector. Because of its compactness and versatility, it gained worldwide use.

EPA Issues Guide On Gas Guzzlers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency released Tuesday its 1974 What's Who of Gasoline Guzzlers, showing that the season's new cars will get slightly fewer miles per gallon, on the average, than the 1973 models.

With some new cars not yet tested, EPA reported an overall average of 15.1 miles per gallon on the 376 vehicles checked, three-tenths of a mile less than the 1973 average.

The averages ranged from 24.4 miles per gallon for 2,000-pound cars, to 15.3 mpg at 3,000 pounds, and on down to a low of 8.3 mpg in the heavyweight 5,500-pound class.

The most economical car tested was a 2,000-pound Honda Civic at 29.1 miles per gallon, followed by Toyota's Corolla-Coupe and Sedan at 27.1 and 24.8.

Rock-bottom among the EPA-tested cars was the 4,000-pound Ferrari-365 GTB-4 with a 288 cubic-inch engine, flaring one gallon of gasoline to glide a mere 6.4 miles.

Only a drop or two better was a 5,500-pound Oldsmobile Toronado with automatic transmission, whose 446-cubic-inch engine rolled it only 6.8 miles on one gallon.

EPA collects fuel-economy data while verifying anti-pollution performance in a test that simulates urban driving.

The agency issued its first gasoline-mileage listing on 1973 vehicles last April, to encourage fuel economy and thereby reduce pollution and ease the energy shortage.

For 1974 cars, EPA proposed the voluntary display, on new cars, of gasoline-mileage data by weight class and individual model. Most manufacturers reportedly intend to participate.

Within any production run, vehicles of identical design and equipment may vary widely in their actual on-the-road fuel economy, depending heavily on the habits of the drivers.

But EPA says that the test findings and averages provide at least a comparison of relative fuel economy characteristics that can be weighed by car-buyers.

As usual, sheer weight is the biggest mileage-stealer: as auto weight rises from 3,000 to 3,000 pounds, performance drops from the average 24.4 miles per gallon to 15.3, losing about one mile per gallon for every 100 extra pounds.

Above 3,000 pounds, the weight effect works less rapidly, with performance dropping less than half a mile per gallon for each 100 pounds.

The mileage-stickers displayed by participating manufacturers this fall were designed by EPA and will show, at least, the average fuel economy for each weight class and the weight class of the individual car.

As an optional feature, the sticker may also display the specific EPA-tested gasoline mileage for that particular model.

Here is a summary of the average fuel economy and top performers in each of the ten EPA weight classes.

—2,000 pounds, average 24.4 miles per gallon: Honda Civic 29.1 mpg; Toyota Corolla-Coupe 27.1 and Sedan 24.8.

—2,250 pounds, average 21.5 mpg: Datsun B-210 manual transmission 24.9 mpg; Toyota Corolla-2 Sedan 22.6; Datsun B210 automatic 22.2.

—2,500 pounds, average 18.9 mpg: Subaru SW 22.7; Volkswagen Convertible-15 at 22.8 mpg; Toyota Corolla-2 Station Wagon 21.1.

—2,750 pounds, average 18.5 mpg: Chevrolet Vega Hatchback 24.6 mpg; Ford Pinto 22.8; Dodge Colt SW 22.3.

—3,000 pounds, average 15.3 mpg: Chevrolet Vega Hatchback 20.0 mpg; Ford Pinto Wagon

Foreign Oil Dependence

Warnings of the domestic oil industry that the United States would be pursuing a perilous course by becoming dependent on Arab oil have been taken lightly in the past.

Too often the warnings were used as an argument of the industry to retain a favorable economic climate, such as the 27 per cent depletion allowance which was finally reduced to 22 per cent several years ago.

It is increasingly clear that the warnings were valid and that failure to heed them has placed the United States in a tight energy situation.

Libya has expropriated American oil companies taking 51 per cent ownership and announcing an increase in the cost of Libyan oil almost more than double what it has been. Fortunately our purchases of oil from that country have been comparatively small.

There is, however, a complicating factor in the Arab oil outlook. Middle East oil may be used as a weapon against the United States because of this country's long support of Israel.

Indications are that pressures are being applied to Saudi Arabia to use its fabulous oil reserves as an arm of Arab nationalism.

This is a real threat to Israel. The Arabs might do with oil what they have been unable to do with arms. And Israel is very aware of this. A government announcement has been made of support for an extensive and accelerated search for oil in the country. It is presumed this is not only for its own needs but also for export, if the program were successful.

President Nixon has warned the Arab nations of the possible loss of their Western markets and has announced new energy policies for the United States.

With a very real shortage of heating and energy-producing fuels facing the nation this fall and winter, the President has announced a policy of reducing clean air standards to permit the use of high sulphur content coal in electric generating plants.

Mr. Nixon also suggested other steps to meet the energy shortage both now and long term. Acceleration of construction of the Alaskan pipeline was proposed, as well as faster development of nuclear power plants.

He also proposed the use of Naval oil reserves in the Elk Hill field of California as a temporary measure. Suggested, too, was greater use of strip mining to get at great coal reserves in the west. Wyoming and Montana have vast untapped coal seams.

Also suggested was a quickened development of the Green River oil shale fields which lie in the state of Colorado, Utah and Wyoming.

Our domestic oil industry may need new incentives to encourage exploration, which is a highly risky venture. In the past five years the large oil companies have left new exploration largely to the independents. If an independent was lucky the majors would then purchase his production.

Perhaps the major companies may find it worth while to again take the gambles inherent in exploration for new fields.

If we are to remain an industrialized society with all the benefits and amenities which we have learned to use and enjoy the energy problem must be overcome and it must be done quickly.

Before You Complain

You've got complaints about the telephone system? Here's one to complain about:

The current Moscow telephone directory — the first to be published, incidentally, since 1958 — is priced at 12 rubles per four-volume set, reports the National Enquirer. That's $16.

The directories are being sold on a first-come, first-served basis at the city's newsstands. There's only 50,000 of them to go around for some 700,000 private subscribers and 150,000 phones in communal apartments.

The new directories give instructions for direct long-distance dialing, which is just being introduced in the Soviet Union. But it requires dialing a finger-tapping, 18-digit number, compared to 11 digits for most places in the United States.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Wednesday, Sept. 19, the 262nd day of 1973. There are 103 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1981, President James Garfield died of wounds inflicted by an assassin.
On this date — In 1777, American soldiers in the Revolutionary War won the first battle of Saratoga.
In 1846, posts Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning were eloped from London to Paris.
In 1870, the French surrendered Versailles to the Germans in the Franco-Prussian war.
In 1934, Bruno Richard Hauptmann was arrested in New York and charged with the kidnaping of the infant son of Col. and Mrs. Charles Lindbergh.
I must admit I am promoting square dancing as president of the Manchester Square Dance Club, but in all honesty, I have yet to find an activity so rewar-

"My idea is to form a special staff team to run down under judicial kickoffs and punts, like the 'kamikaze units' in pro football."

Capital Fare

Andrew Tully
The High Cost Of Education

WASHINGTON — This guy admits to making $50,000 a year, which even today is a lot of clams, but he and his wife had four kids lucky-split when they were young and carefree and now he says he doesn't know where his next bowl of chili is coming from.

He's got to be kidding, but he isn't. This year it will cost him $18,000 just for tuition, board and room to send one son to Harvard, another to Yale, and his two daughters to Wellesley and Vassar, respectively. This is, as your friendly automobile dealer would put it, "stripped." The tab does not include books or any other of the things that help make higher education broadening.

"Figure another $4,000 minimum by next June," the guy says. "That's 22 thousand bucks total and Uncle Sam will take a big chunk of what's left. Know anybody who needs a lawyer tonight?"

Fred may have to moonlight as a cab driver or a trash collector. His gross puts him a few notches above the middle-income group but he's also got a monkey called inflation on his back and it would not be too far-fetched to suggest that given the life style imposed by his profession he could wind up a poor man.

I expect there are quite a few Freds knocking around this country. They are the ones with no income except that earned by the sweat of brow or brain, who are fingered by both private charities and the Internal Revenue Service, and who want their children to get the best possible education. State colleges? This particular Fred worked his way through Yale and is snobbish about things like book learning, which is his inalienable right.

My Fred said he went to all four schools for help, but was told that with his annual income his kids didn't qualify for financial aid. I suppose you can't argue with the schools' position, after all, Fred could have settled for Moutswash U at less than half the price.

But his case suggests what might be happening to higher education in this land of spacious skies and amber waves of grain earmarked for Moscow. Combined with the high cost of living, the cost of sending a kid to a private college or university has increased at such a rate that middle-income Americans are being squeezed out of them. The day may not be far off when the Yales and Harvards will be populated only by the poor who can get financial aid.

This is bad not only because it discriminates but because the schools thereby obviously are losing some pretty good students — perhaps even an Einstein or two. The Freds of the Republic are ripped on superior education and for the most part their kids have had the advantage of good schools and good teachers all their college lives. They are Freds who used to be called "college material."

However, when a Fred is told that tuition at Harvard and Yale costs $5,000 this year, plus extras, he is apt to mutter something like "no way," and go shopping at the Moutswash U's, which specialize in football teams and finger painting. It's like buying a car; that Lincoln Continental in the showroom looks splendid, but the price tag sends you scurrying to the Ford dealer next door.

In their own narrow interests, schools of higher learning would do well to take a hard look at the situation. Enrollments already have begun to level off and in some institutions actually have dropped. That says more parents either can't or won't pay their right arm to educate their kids and suggests that the better schools might be pricing themselves out of the market.

Dime stores cut costs when this happens. Maybe the Yales and Harvards could save the country's Freds a few bucks by ordering their professors to put in a week's work for a week's pay, commencing forthwith.

Not Unfriendly
Dear Editor,
I read with interest your column "Hi Neighbor" of Sept. 12, particularly concerning a former short-term resident who severely criticizes the hospitality of Manchester people.

I wonder what this person did to encourage friendliness toward him and/or whether his own attitude may have created this situation. After all, it does take at least two to start a friendship. It may very well be that he was not approached by anyone during his short stay that should have prevented him from taking the first step which would result in friendship.

Your closing sentence in this portion of the column sums up the quality of our Manchester friends, even though this was precipitated by the tragedy of a man. It certainly is comforting to know that when the chips are down, Manchester residents are down, Manchester friends are down, Manchester friends are pleased to say that we found more friends than we ever anticipated. From our experience with the Manchester Square Dance Club, I cannot think of any activity that will generate friendship more readily than square dancing.

I must admit I am promoting square dancing as president of the Manchester Square Dance Club, but in all honesty, I have yet to find an activity so rewar-

Today's Thought

We drive ourselves with a passion for perfection that makes almost all our struggles with ourselves doomed to either failure or the walking of a knife-edge success so that, if we do make it, we continue to hurt ourselves with the fear of falling.

Very few of us have learned to feel the nourishment of the ground of being as we walk upon it, striving warmly in the sun, comfortable in our warm selves. Then we can be slow to give, even ourselves, and let the good works flow out of us as water from a cool spring or grow out of us as fruit from a well-tended tree or some grain or corn that bursts out in a fundamental price of sun and soil, compost and water.

of Consumer Concern

Reports of shoplifting cases are again being carried by The Herald.
Sometime ago we dropped them following numerous calls by people who claimed to be innocent victims in such cases. Perhaps for some, their claim was justified.
The sad commentary, though, is that shoplifting is on the increase. One store manager told us the other day that it is almost impossible to get a conviction, in fact the court doesn't even bother to call the store to see if the manager wishes to testify.
Therefore, it appears that the only recourse, if the courts can't seem to cope with violators, is to give adequate publicity to those charged with shoplifting and let the chips fall where they may.
Shoplifting is costly to both the merchant and the consumer. In some fashion, if he is to stay in business, the cost has to be passed from the merchant to the consumer. In essence, you may end up paying a bit more for an item.

What happened?
While in Westerly, R.I., awhile back, A.H. (Red) Almetti of Manchester, was given a letter addressed to The Herald which he personally delivered.
It seems a friend found the letter, which had never been opened, on a street in Westerly and knowing Red was from Manchester gave it to him to deliver.
The letter turned out to be a news release from the State of Connecticut regarding the state lottery. It had an Aug. 31 Hartford postmark.
How the letter landed in Rhode Island remains a mystery unless one of our wind straws whisked it away. We appreciate Red's thoughtfulness in delivering it to us even though the news release was outdated when we got it.

Congress and the President moved quickly to end the television blackout of professional football.
It's a shame they can't get moving as rapidly on the many problems facing the economy. But at least the American people keep the priority when it comes to legislation.

In further moves to combat the growing shortage of newsprint, the commodity upon which your newspaper is printed, there will be some revision in the television listings now being carried and at times some spot news will appear on the editorial page.
Our first responsibility is to cover Manchester and its environs and that is where we will place the emphasis and still try to conserve as much newsprint as possible.
Lindsey-Schaub Newspapers in the Midwest, announced last week it will suspend all advertising in five of its newspapers for two weeks in the hope that the cutback would allow the company to increase its newsprint inventory.
By continually watching our inventory, and taking steps to conserve as much as possible, The Herald should be able to weather the shortage even in the heavy local news-making months ahead.

In light of the varied store hours carried by some Manchester stores, this sign in a California store brings a chuckle:
"Saturday-Sunday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. usually. Sometimes Thursday-Friday. Not always."

In advance of the November election, we can assure both political parties we will carefully scrutinize all advertising, especially just prior to the election.
We can also assure both parties of news coverage for their candidates and fairness to all.
We can also assure both political parties that we will never endorse any candidates editorially even though it has never really been proven whether an endorsement helps or hinders the candidate.

In the Downtown Idea Exchange, we read where Syracuse, N.Y., has revived a long defunct farmers market tradition.
A portion of a square in the heart of the central business district was designated a farmers market. Space for 22 stalls was marked off and those interested in marketing arranged to occupy the space through the Chamber of Commerce. The market runs from 11:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. on Thursdays throughout the summer and autumn. Farmers offer plants, flowers, fruit and vegetables, bread and cookies, candy and other items. Some retailers have joined the action by setting up merchandise outside for sidewalk selling.
We'll wager the market brings people to town.

Sentenced On Charge Of Fraud

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack L. Clark, former head of Four Seasons Nursing Centers of America, was sentenced Tuesday to a year in prison for conspiring to defraud investors in the corporation.
Clark had pleaded guilty June 4 to one count of indictment that alleged he realized $10 million in illegal profits while investors lost more than $200 million when the chain went into bankruptcy.
U.S. District Court Judge Thomas P. Griesa ordered Clark to surrender Thursday morning.
Clark stood with hands clasped in front of him as Griesa pronounced sentence. His wife, Ann, blinked her eyes and blotted tears as she stood between her two sons.
The government had accused Clark and seven others of manipulating Four Seasons' stock over a five-year period, making it for a time a so-called glamor stock on the American Exchange.

Report Catalogs State Cost Growth

HARTFORD (AP) — State government in Connecticut is 2 1/2 times as big and nearly 12 times as expensive as in 1950, according to a recent report by the Connecticut Public Expenditures Council.
At a time when the cost of living is preying on nearly everybody's mind, the private watchdog organization has compiled tables which show:
— The state budget has mushroomed from $141 million to $1.6 billion in 23 years. It has literally doubled three times in less than a quarter of a century.
— The number of state employees has increased nearly 2 1/2 times from 17,000 in 1950 to 43,000 (including more than 37,000 who work full time).
— The amount of money earmarked to repay borrowed funds (debt service) has grown from $8 million to $204 million.
Expenditures in other areas have increased as follows: welfare, from $25 million to more than $300 million; health and hospitals, from $23 million to $184 million; corrections, from $3 million to nearly $30 million and education from $23 million to $200 million.

The amount earmarked for public education has risen from $17 million to $230 million. The University of Connecticut, which received $6 million in 1950, will get more than $53 million this year, apart from $22 million that will go to the Health Center.
The state colleges have gone from a $2.5 million expense to $34 million. The community colleges, which will receive $19 million this year, weren't around in 1950.
The number of full-time legislative employees has more than doubled from 55 to 116 last year, while employment in the judicial branch has risen from 376 to 1,438.
Not surprisingly the number of employees in the Finance Department has increased from 40 to more than 450, although 180 of those work at jobs that were previously in other departments.
The governor's staff has increased from 17 to 28. Expenditures for the governor's and lieutenant governor's offices $44,000 in 1950, have increased from $90,000 to $441,000.

Tornado Review Planned

A number of town officials and representatives of public utilities have been invited to attend a Friday morning meeting to review action taken when a tornado swept through the North End of Manchester Sept. 6.

Town Manager Robert Weiss, announcing the meeting, said "a large number of emergency forces of the town were called into action" during the tornado. "In order to benefit from this experience," Weiss said, "there will be a critique session to review procedures."

Officials invited to the meeting include representatives of the Board of Education, police and fire departments, Manchester Memorial Hospital, the American Red Cross, and the town public works, highway, park, and welfare departments. Weiss has also asked representatives of the Southern New England Telephone Co. and the Hartford Electric Light Co. to attend.

The meeting is scheduled for 10 a.m. Friday in the Municipal Building Hearing Room.

A "Back Jack Thompson" night will be held Sunday, Oct. 7, at the Knights of Columbus Home, 138 Main St., from 7 to 10 p.m. Chairman of the event is John Fitzpatrick.

"The event," Fitzpatrick said, "will officially open the re-election campaign of Mayor John Thompson. All Democratic candidates for local office will be invited and we plan a real team party," said Fitzpatrick.

Two years ago "Meet Jack Thompson" night was a sellout.

"We plan to demonstrate to Mayor Thompson and the Democratic Directors our appreciation for two outstanding years of good government," said Fitzpatrick.

The theme for the event will be a "Gay 90's Night." "There will be plenty of music and good entertainment with banjo players and old-time piano playing," said Fitzpatrick.

Tickets will be $5 and refreshments will be served. Ticket information may be obtained from Fitzpatrick, 119 Florence St.

Makulis-Erickson

Miss Gail Ann Erickson of Hebron and Richard Martin Makulis of Manchester exchanged wedding vows Sept. 8 at Hebron Congregational Church, Hebron.

Mrs. Richard M. Makulis

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of chantilly lace designed with Empire waist, long sleeves, and floor-length train. Her veil of silk illusion was attached to a floral headpiece. She carried white flowers with greens.

Miss Linda Erickson of East Hampton was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a blue gown fashioned with square neckline, Empire waist, long A-line skirt. She carried a nosegay of pastel flowers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Heidi Erickson and Miss Vicky Erickson, both of Hebron, and both sisters of the bride; Miss Lorrie Kropp of Hebron; Miss Karen Finney of Hebron; and Mrs. Laurie Mallin of Vernon.

They wore gowns similar to that of the honor attendant's gown except in lavender, blue and pink. Their flowers were identical to those carried by the maid of honor.

Robert McAllister of Manchester was best man. Ushers were George MacDonald of Glastonbury; Thomas Makulis of Manchester, the bridegroom's cousin; Donald Coyne of Hebron; Mark Costello of New Britain; and Paul McAllister of Manchester.

A reception was held at the Shell Chateau in Williamstown.

Upon their return from a trip to Pennsylvania, the couple will reside in Vernon Tower Apartments in Vernon. Mrs. Makulis is employed at Marshall's of Manchester. Mr. Makulis is employed at Economy Oil of Hartford.

All By Herself

Shirley, a severely retarded resident of the Southbury Training School, is now able to make her own bed. She is a participant in an intensive behavior modification program at the school where residents are taught self-sufficiency. (AP photo)

School Seeks Self-Sufficiency For Retarded

By MARGARET DEMARINO
Waterbury Republican-American
SOUTHBURY (AP) — Shirley slowly picked up the pillow case and tucked the pillow inside.

Across the room, an aide watched. "I think Shirley has come a long way — I'm very proud of her."

Bed-making may not be a major event for many, but to the staff and residents of Cottage 21, Southbury Training School, it is an important part of the intensive behavior modification program.

Simply stated, behavior is changed by rewarding good or correct acts. A behavior modification program began at Southbury in 1970 when 36 profoundly retarded women were taught to feed themselves.

Two years later the cottage, part of the state's school for the mentally retarded, was established as a full-time intensive behavior modification center.

Before entering the program few, if any, of the 13 severely and profoundly retarded residents could feed themselves. Now, in little more than a year, all can feed themselves.

Tom of the 13 are now toilet trained. None were at the beginning. One resident, Karen, used to strike herself in the face at a rate of 190 blows in 10 minutes. Within five months the rate had been reduced to six blows in six hours.

Mark did not even respond to his name when he entered Cottage 21. After five months, he could dress himself with a little help and master 10 oral directions.

David used to thrust his hand down his throat 42 times in 10 minutes. He no longer does it in the presence of a trainer.

When a new resident arrives at Cottage 21, the staff first learns his favorite food. The food is then used as the reward.

Social rewards, such as hugging and verbal praise, also are used. But all the rewards are phased out when the resident no longer needs them.

Although Cottage 21 is considered a classroom, efforts are made to make it home-like. Each resident has a bureau. New furniture is on order. Paintings and decorations hang on the walls.

According to Tom Sullivan, assistant director of residential life at Southbury, the cottage was established to provide behavior training 24 hours a day, in a normal setting as possible.

Rising Interest Rates Deflating Home Construction Industry

BY JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — If your business is home mortgages or home building, or if your ambition is to be a homeowner, you've learned to hold onto your hat, so to speak.

Every few years housing activity rises to a crest and then hurtles downward like a runaway roller coaster. Businesses and hopes are wrecked by the impact.

It happened in 1960, in 1966 and in 1969, accompanied each time by declarations from legislators that, for societal and business reasons, the ups and downs of the housing market must be flattened out.

Now, after what one observer remarks is enough rhetoric to be measured in millions of board feet, housing is in the midst of another serious tumble. Mortgage rates are rising. Money is less available. Construction is falling.

In the view of most homebuilders and many mortgage lenders, the basic problem always — that the Federal Reserve Board is seeking to fight inflation by allowing interest rates to rise.

Higher interest rates supposedly have a multiple impact on inflation: One, they discourage borrowing, two, they encourage people to put their money into savings instead of spending it.

This would appear to be helpful to the housing market, because savings and loan associations are designed specifically to channel funds into mortgages. But it's a bit more complicated than that.

Because they are committed to mortgages, and because it is considered socially desirable to keep money flowing into housing, thrift institutions have traditionally been permitted to offer savers a higher rate than commercial banks.

But now that rate advantage has been reduced to just one-quarter of one per cent. Commercial banks now can offer 5 per cent on passbook savings, the thrift institutions 5.25 per cent, a very narrow advantage.

The more serious regulatory change, however, was in permitting lending institutions to offer a so-called wild card certificate, a savings device on which there is no rate limit on funds left on account for four years.

This permitted commercial banks still another advantage. Since they are allowed to charge more on the money they lend to business, they understandably can offer more on wild card savings. Thrift institutions, being limited to making relatively low-cost mortgage loans, cannot compete.

In August alone about $1.2 billion poured out of savings and loan associations and another $300 million from mutual savings banks. And unless rate competition eases, hundreds of millions more will spill away.

Says Norman Strunk, executive vice president of the U.S. Savings and Loan League: "The only way savings associations could boost savings rates substantially over a short period would be to require that new borrowers pay unconscionably high loan rates, which in itself would bring residential construction to a halt.

The flow isn't headed only to commercial banks. Many withdrawals are going into other areas where yields are higher. U.S. Treasury and federal agency securities, for example, offer up to 10 per cent.

Neither are thrift institutions the only ones being hurt. Insurance companies are finding customers borrowing the cash value of their policies, at rates limited by law to 5 and 6 per cent, and reinvesting the money elsewhere.

This practice also deprives the housing market, especially that for multifamily buildings because insurers simply have less money to lend.

"Apartment lenders are issuing no new mortgage commitments for 1973 or early 1974 payout," notes Advance Mortgage Corp. It adds that insurance companies are again seeking a piece of the action, a percentage of the builder's profits, in addition to interest on the loan.

Meanwhile, prices continue to rise, leaving no easy solution for the couple contemplating a purchase.

IBM Ruling Impact Assessed

NEW YORK (AP) — The big, glamorous computer industry appears to be in for some major changes if Monday's ruling in the IBM-Telex antitrust case survives the appeal IBM was promised.

If it stands, industry officials and Wall Street analysts generally agree, the ruling from U.S. District Court Judge A. Sherman Christensen is likely to draw new companies into some parts of the business and reshape its whole competitive structure.

The judge, in a ruling sent from his Salt Lake City office to the U.S. District Court in Tulsa where he heard the case, ordered IBM, the world's largest computer maker, to pay Telex $352.5 million in damages.

It also instructed IBM to make some changes in its pricing procedures and to disclose additional information about new products when it announces them.

"The decision foretells a different market in the computer world," said Lester Kilpatrick, president of California Computer Products, Inc. Judge Christensen set a hearing for Oct. 16 to consider motions for a new trial. And IBM responded quickly to the announcement of the decision with an announcement that it would appeal.

As a result of a countersuit by IBM, Telex was ordered to pay IBM $21.9 million for infringement of IBM-copyright manuals and for hiring IBM employees to get trade secrets from them.

In view of the likelihood of containing court action, some observers said it may be premature to draw any conclusions about the impact of the ruling.

"IBM has one of the best legal staffs in the country," said John Douglas, computer industry analyst at Reynolds Securities, a large brokerage house.

There was an immediate impact, however, on the prices of the two companies' securities in the stock market.

The opening of trading in the issues was delayed for several hours Monday as investors received the news of the ruling and brokers and exchange specialists who make markets for the stocks worked to match up a heavy flow of orders.

By the close of Monday's trading, IBM, a longtime favorite of institutional investors, had slipped 26 points from Friday's close to $272 a share — a drop of about nine per cent.

The relatively low-priced Telex stock and warrants — rights to buy Telex common at $11 a share — climbed even more dramatically.

Cholera Victim Considers Self Lucky

PORT LAVACA, Tex. (AP) — He sat at a table, smoking an occasional cigarette and drinking coffee.

He said he didn't attach any special historical significance to his having contracted the first confirmed case of cholera in more than five decades in the United States.

He said he felt like, "Why did it have to be me?"

"But it was. And the way it turned out, I'm all right. They caught it in time. I was just lucky that they did catch it in time."

Now the 51-year-old father of three said he is ready to return to his job as a handy man. He consented to tell his story to The Associated Press as long as he wasn't identified, with the explanation that he dislikes publicity.

The victim attributed his survival to quick diagnosis by medical personnel here and treatment at Champ Taylor Hospital in this Texas coastal town. Doctors said at one point he had stopped breathing.

The victim also said he is alive because of "the good Lord. If it wasn't for Him, I wouldn't be here... It is something that you've got to have to know how bad it really was."

"I've known pain because I had a broken back and two stomach operations and I have had pneumonia, but I've never known pain that was that bad. It just seemed like your whole body was a flame of fire."

He said he was stricken during the last week of August as he prepared to leave his trailer home at nearby

Magnolia Beach on a fishing trip. Since he contracted the disease, the victim's family and other persons have been tested, but all tests have been negative.

"We very confidently do not expect another case of cholera," said Clayton Tolson, Calhoun County's sanitarian.

1974 Chevrolet

A better-than-ever way.

When the wheel belongs to you, the road goes anywhere you say. And it's so much better with a '74 Chevrolet.

Caprice Classic. Introducing an elegant motor car, just asking to be enjoyed. Outside: an imposing new grille and, on the Coupe, a distinctive new roof line. Inside: peace, quiet and convenience. With standard power steering to do most of the turning, standard power front disc brakes to do most of the stopping, and a standard Turbo Hydra-matic transmission to do the shifting. If you want the luxury and comfort of a car that leaves little else for you to do but enjoy the ride, you don't have to look beyond the '74 Caprice Classic. However, the freedom of the open road begins with the freedom of choice:

Monte Carlo. You'd think its looks were everything, until you drive it. It has steel-belted radial tires and a refined radial-tuned suspension. Power steering and power front disc brakes. We think you'll appreciate how well it handles, how smoothly it rides. For it's as elegant mechanically as it is in appearance.

Vega GT. This year's version of last year's Motor Trend Economy Car of the Year. (And Car and Driver Readers' Choice as Best Economy Sedan for the last three years.) With a reshaped nose, bigger bumpers, nicer carpeting, new stripes and new colors. Plus more good things to make it better. See what it's like to drive a winner.

Camaro. The way it looks is the way it goes. Quick, sleek and nimble. With a low, wide stance, responsive steering. And comfort that's rare in a car that handles so well. Plus classic new styling, and plushness from the cut-pile carpeting up.

Malibu Classic. A luxury Chevelle, new this year. With full foam seats. A fold-down front armrest. Wood-grained vinyl accents. Elegant inner door panels. ### Sheehan-Poreda

The marriage of Miss Jacquelin Elizabeth Poreda of Mansfield Center to Dennis Alan Sheehan of Andover was solemnized Sept. 15 at the First Congregational Church of Lebanon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander E. Poreda Jr. of Nagy Rd., Ashford. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence D. Sheehan of Bolton Hill Rd., Andover.

The Rev. John Welicko performed the double-ring ceremony. A bouquet of yellow and white snapdragons with yellow pompons decorated the church and the pews were marked with white ribbons.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a traditional bouffant gown of delicate rose pattern lace designed with fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves, scalloped neckline embroidered with French tulle, and bouffant skirt terminating in a chapel-length train. A lace Camelet cap held her mantilla veil of imported illusion which was flowered with pearl-embroidered motifs and matching lace. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses, daisy pompons, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Miss Wanda Perrin of Uncasville was maid of honor. She wore a gown of apricot chiffon and multi-colored flower printed chiffon designed with apricot bodice, vee-neckline, long fitted sleeves and A-line skirt. She wore a picture hat banded and bowed with matching tulle.

Bridesmaids were Miss Linda Crouch of Stonington, cousin of the bride; Mrs. Judith Keeney of Willimantic; and Mrs. Kathie Sideris of Willington, sister of the bridegroom. The attendants wore mint green and multi-colored printed chiffon gowns with picture hats designed to match that worn by

Four Firms Accused Of Discrimination
WASHINGTON (AP) — Four giant companies — General Motors, Ford Motor Electric and Sears Roebuck — are under federal investigation in the biggest case ever of alleged discriminatory employment practices.

The Equal Employment Opportunity Commission said it consolidated numerous complaints against four national corporations and the unions with which they hold contracts into a single case.

Also involved are a major construction union and the contractors and contractors' associations with which it bargains.

The commission refused to name the companies or unions because of a federal law barring such disclosure until lawsuits are filed. However, all four corporations confirmed they are targets of the probe.

Commission Chairman William H. Brown III said the agency would attempt to negotiate voluntary settlements with those cited. "If settlement cannot be reached, however, the commission will consider taking the cases to court," he said.

General Motors, Ford and Sears Roebuck issued statements denying the charges, which include allegations of job discrimination on the basis of race, color, creed, sex and national origin. They relate to such areas as wages, benefits, union representation, layoffs, promotion and seniority.

Sears Roebuck had no comment.

The unions involved include the United Auto Workers, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, International Union of Electrical Workers and others in the auto and electrical industries. Only the IUE commented, saying it would cooperate fully in the investigation.

Identities of the construction union and contractors could not be learned.

The charges were the first to be brought by the commission's new National Programs Division, which is headed by David Copus, the attorney who ran the commission's investigation of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

The AT&T case resulted in a settlement earlier this year requiring the payment of $15 million in back wages, to women, blacks and others who were found to have been discriminated against. Another $23 million was to have been paid in wage adjustments aimed at elevating women and minority men to equal job standing with whites.

Total pasture acreage in Alabama has increased only about 100,000 acres since 1966, while the number of brood cows has increased by nearly 250,000.

Deceptive Price Hearing Draws No Complainers

HARTFORD (AP) — Connecticut Consumer Protection Commissioner Barbara Dunn played to an empty house Tuesday when nobody showed up for a public hearing on regulations governing deceptive pricing.

The hearing was the second on regulations implementing Connecticut's new Fair Trade Act. The act gives the department broad power to deal with consumer fraud.

Mrs. Dunn went through the motions of outlining the regulations for reporters. Essentially they prohibit merchants from advertising fictitious prices when stating that an item on sale at a certain price previously sold or sold elsewhere at a higher price.

Department attorney Robert Sills said any store that made such a claim would have to have evidence that it had in fact sold the particular item at a higher price or that it had surveyed other stores in the area to determine their prices.

In cases where the cost of an item was contingent upon a customer buying more than one, stores would have to say if the price or quantity of the original item had been changed.

For example, a drug store would have to say if it raised the price of a tube of toothpaste 10 cents before offering "two for the price of one."

The regulations also would prohibit "advance" or "limited" sales when in fact they were neither.

Naval District Consolidation To Be Asked

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A member of the House Armed Services Committee said Tuesday he will ask Congress to approve a Navy plan eliminating five of the 11 naval districts in the continental United States.

The plan as sent to the committee by Secretary of the Navy John Warner would consolidate headquarters at New York City, Charleston, S.C., New Orleans, Great Lakes, Ill., Seattle and San Diego.

Rep. Bob Wilson, R-Calif., said the present district headquarters at Boston, Philadelphia, Washington and Norfolk, Va., would be eliminated.

An estimated 175 military and 157 civil service jobs would go. Wilson said he will introduce a bill to carry out the money-saving consolidation sometime this week.

Under the proposed Southwest Naval District, combining the 12th district headquarters at San Francisco with the 11th in San Diego, San Diego would become the supervisory point for naval operations in California, Nevada, Utah, Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico.

Wilson said New York City would be headquarters for the new northeast region. Great Lakes for the midwest, New Orleans for the southern and Seattle for the northwest.

Meat Industry To Adopt Uniform System Of Describing Products

WASHINGTON (AP) — When you buy a "His and Her steak" or a "Yankee pot roast" you will be able to tell what part of the animal it came from under a voluntary labeling plan announced by the meat industry.

The industry, unveiled by the government's blessing by the National Livestock and Meat Board, was prompted by increasing complaints of confusing names for cuts of meat.

In New Jersey, for instance, inspectors found "dell roast" selling for $1.80 in one store earlier this year. Elsewhere the same cut, top round, was selling for $1.40 a pound.

David H. Stroud, president of the board, said its standardization program "will do two things: reduce shipper confusion and help consumers make wiser, more economical decisions."

In other food news, the government predicted another record crop year in 1974 but no general decline in retail prices.

And Consumers Union said it had tested six brands of condensed milk and found hazardous levels of lead contamination from solder used in making the cans. The Food and Drug Administration, however, said its own tests of the same brands showed the lead content well below the danger level.

In addition to requiring that factually named cuts be labeled to show where they come from on the animal, the new meat industry program calls for standard names for the different cuts, reducing their number from 1,000 to 300.

Two of the top three national food chains, A&P and Kroger, said they would comply.

Safebuy said it believes it is already in compliance.

The plan would require, for example, that "London Broil" be labeled to indicate whether it was shoulder steak, flank steak or plate steak. It makes a difference in how lean the meat is.

tested two cans each of six brands of condensed milk. The average level was 0.7, the consumer organization said.

The FDA said it tested 79 samples from 10 manufacturers, including the six tested by Consumers Union, and the highest level it found was 0.37, small children.

Somanhis Orders Due

Tomorrow is the only day this year that Manchester High School students can order copies of the 1974 Somanhis, the high school yearbook, according to Mrs. Nancy Grassilli of MHS.

MHS students will have the opportunity to order the yearbook during tomorrow's homeroom period, Mrs. Grassilli said, but payment of the $9 yearbook cost isn't due until next Tuesday.

Mrs. Grassilli urged parents of MHS students to tell their children to order the yearbook tomorrow so they won't be disappointed when the yearbooks are delivered in June.

Further information is available from Mrs. Grassilli at the high school.

State-Federal Law Conflict Pointed Out
HARTFORD (AP) - The federal government says a new part of the state Unemployment Act is inconsistent with federal regulations.

The 1973 state law requires unemployed persons to accept jobs paying within 15 per cent of their former salaries during the first six weeks of unemployment and 25 per cent afterward.

A U.S. Labor Department spokesman says federal regulations prohibit states from denying benefits to jobless persons who refuse jobs paying less than the prevailing rates.

Vernon Committee Reactivated To Fill Town Vacancies

Mayor Frank McCoy has reactivated his committee to make recommendations concerning the filling of the position of town planner and a new position of deputy building inspector.

The committee, with Councilman Donald Szadrozinski as chairman, was originally formed to make recommendations as to employment of a Town Engineer and Town Planner. Since Joseph Pastic resigned as planner, the position has been vacant.

Vernon Wehrli Reports Building Progress

Robert Wehrli, chairman of the Vernon Municipal Permanent Building Committee, in a report to the Town Council, said construction of the Talcottville School addition is proceeding on schedule, with the exception of the gymnasium area.

The interior of the older portion of the school and the new pre-school classroom area were ready for use when schools opened earlier this month.

Work on the gymnasium was delayed due to the late arrival of the steel. The projected completion date of this portion is Oct. 1, Wehrli said.

This is the second addition to the school which is used as a regional one for special education classes.

The council was also told that the construction of a stairway which will lead from the High St. area to the downtown shopping area of Rockville, has been delayed due to problems with Penn Central Railway.

The land where the stairs will be built is railroad right-of-way and the town must have a deed for it before it can start construction.

However, the town has received a deed for Penn Central land located on Windsorville Rd. and needed for the proposed expansion of the sewage treatment plant.

Mayor Frank McCoy said the deed will now have to go to the Public Utilities Commission for its approval. The expansion of the treatment plant is now in the early engineering stages. Expansion was ordered several years ago, by the state, to abate pollution of the Hockanum River.

The best way to control the Southern pine beetle in shade or ornamental pines is to spray, using a power sprayer, with a mixture of lindane and fuel oil or lindane and water.

McCoys said that actually the planning office has been assisting the mayor's office in the processing of these grant applications, for some time, and will continue to do so.

Mayor McCoy said he has received many applications for the new position of deputy building inspector and he feels that a test, given either by the State Personnel Department, or by the town itself, should be the method of determining the top candidate for this job.

McCoys said he has asked Richard Borden, director of administration, to contact the State Personnel Department regarding procedure and costs if the town should decide to have the state conduct the examination for the deputy inspector.

Councilmen James McCarthy and Peter Humphrey are the other members of the committee.

Vernon FISH Asks Donations

The business community and the individual residents of Vernon are being asked to support Greater Rockville FISH (Friends in Service Here).

The organization, which helps those in need, is facing its first budget deficit since its founding more than five years ago.

FISH operates with an annual budget of $600 and most of this goes toward telephone and answering service expenses. The workers are all volunteers.

The organization provides emergency assistance. During July and August there were about 50 calls each of the two months with transportation to doctor's offices, the hospital and such, being the reason for most of the calls.

Although the number of contributors to the organization has been constant over the five years, the amount of the donations has decreased this past year. Those wishing to donate may send a contribution to FISH, Vernon, Conn.

"A customer is the most important person in this business — in person, by mail, or by telephone.

"A customer is not dependent on us — we are dependent on him.

"A customer is not an interruption of our work — he is the purpose of it. We are not doing him a favor by serving him — he is doing us a favor by giving us the opportunity to do so.

The Candidates Are Saying

Glenn Roberts

(Roberts is Democratic candidate for the Vernon Town Council.)
"When the Democratic party in Vernon asked me to run for the Town Council, they did so out of a commitment to a broad and positive participation in the problems of the elderly, and it was because of this commitment that I gladly accepted their invitation."
"The problems of the elderly are not just in the area of recreation, and it is our intent to establish in the town government of Vernon, a well defined program of all inclusive services to our senior citizens."
"Specifically, there are three major areas in this proposal: transportation; physical services, such as medicine, eye-glasses, and the like; and a thirdly a climate where retired citizens can perform needed services within the community."
"Transportation is easily the number one concern of the retired person. Visits to the doctor, shopping, church going, are all severely limited when adequate transportation is not available. At present there is a generously donated mini-bus in operation on a limited basis."
"By providing sufficient drivers for this bus, and scheduling the bus through strategic pickup and shopping centers, a vast improvement in the transportation picture can be achieved for the elderly. In time, a larger capacity bus will probably be required. Such a program, united with a town-encouraged voluntary emergency program, would meet a most urgent need."
"Physical necessities of the senior citizens are a close second in priorities. Assistance in providing eyeglasses, hearing aids, and other vital ar-

Astronomy Class Will Meet at MHS

For those whose heads are in the stars, a new series of courses in celestial navigation, astronomy and meteorology will be offered at Manchester High School.

Members of the Mystic Seaport Planetarium staff will offer two courses which are basic practical celestial navigation as well as a refresher and advanced class in celestial navigation.

The basic course meets Wednesday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 from Sept. 26 through Nov. 28. Students will study the fundamentals of guiding a vessel by celestial observation.

Use and adjustment of a sextant, use of the nautical almanac, sight reduction, plotting of lines of position, and star identification are also covered in the program.

Tuition for the course is $30 and approximately $11 is required for books.

The refresher and advanced course begins Nov. 19 through Dec. 17, meeting Monday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30.

In addition to reviewing basic celestial navigation, course content includes star identification, determining time of meridian passage, time sight for

Meskill Fiscal Policies Protested By Teachers

DANBURY (AP) — Teachers at Southern and Western Connecticut state colleges demonstrated Tuesday in protest against the fiscal policies of the Meskill administration toward education.

Wallace Lee, president of the American Federation of Teachers at Western, said five teachers were lost at the school last year because of budget cutbacks.

Lee said he found it "irresponsible when the governor is sitting on a $70 million budget surplus" this year.

Representatives of the Concerned Citizens of Coventry were there as observers.

The Democratic Town Committee will have a special session at 8 tonight at Democratic Headquarters so that the entire committee can review the platform that will be filed this week.

The meeting is open to the public.

Pioneer Systems, Inc. today announced that its board of directors has approved a plan under which its principal operating subsidiaries would be grouped into three companies.

These companies would be Pioneer International Corp., Vogart Crafts Corp., and the Putnam-Gellman Corp., according to David N. Abrams, Pioneer president.

To be consolidated within Pioneer International are the company's parachute and recovery systems business, its engineering services division, its international trade operations, and its precision gauge business.

Vogart Crafts will include the manufacture and sale of art needwork, needlepoint, and hobby craft kits.

Putnam-Gellman will consolidate those subsidiaries now engaged in the finishing and processing of textiles, and the manufacture and sale of automated industrial sewing equipment.

Registration statements are currently being prepared for filing with the Securities and Exchange Commission with respect to the board's plan to consider distribution of approximately 30 percent of the stock of each of the corporations as a dividend to the shareholders of Pioneer Systems.

The planned distribution, which would be on the basis of one share of each of the new

Utility Tax Cut Possible

Governor Outlines 1974 Fiscal Plans

WEST HARTFORD (AP) — Gov. Thomas J. Meskill said Tuesday he will ask the 1974 General Assembly to remove the sales tax on utility bills next February, barring an unforeseen downturn in the state's economy.

Meskill said the step would cost the state about $11 million this fiscal year and $22 million next year.

The disclosure came at two briefings sessions for the press and state officials here and in Stamford. Their purpose was to discuss Connecticut's financial condition and its record $70 million surplus for the last fiscal year.

Both Meskill and University of Connecticut economist Paul Weiner, a member of the Governor's Council of Economic Advisors, defended the surplus as a good thing to have during the current period of national inflation.

For this reason, Weiner said, the state shouldn't spend the surplus until the rate of inflation drops off.

"If you spend it now, prices will go up even more and it will be the same as increasing taxes. Not spending the money is just the same as tax relief," he said.

Asked later how Meskill's decision to eliminate the utility tax squared with that line of reasoning, Weiner said by all indications the rate of inflation will have slowed by February.

Even if it doesn't, he said, he could see no reason why Connecticut couldn't have special cuts to help "particular segments of the economy."

"I'm talking about the elderly and people on fixed incomes," Weiner said.

Meskill said that technically the money that would permit elimination of the tax would come from increased revenue during the next fiscal year and not the surplus.

State law requires that the surplus be incorporated in the 1974-75 state budget. Assuming that revenues continue to increase, however, the state still will have several million additional dollars to spend if it chooses even after the tax is removed. Meskill declined to say how such money might be spent.

One Of Denver's Sextuplets Dies

DENVER (AP) — One of the Stanek sextuplets has died from a lung disease common in prematurely born babies. A doctor says three of the other infants show signs of the same ailment.

Julia Stanek lived about 44 hours before severe hyaline membrane disease caused her death Tuesday night.

Doctors at Colorado General Hospital had given her two blood transfusions Tuesday afternoon and a respirator was used to aid her breathing.

Dr. Darrell Miller reported the condition of two of the sextuplets had declined, with both showing signs of the hyaline disease. They are Catherine, Julia's only sister, and an unnamed brother.

Another boy, Steven, was reported in fair condition with indications of the ailment.

Miller said that two of the boys, Jeffrey and John, were in good condition.

The babies were about six weeks premature.

Miller said he talked to the mother, Mrs. Eugene J. Stanek, 34, and reported "she was moved by Julia's death, but seemed stoic and very accepting."

Booklet Gives Tips For Safer Cycling

WETHERSFIELD (AP) — The State Motor Vehicle Department (MVD) is giving away a booklet full of tips for people embarking upon one of the most dangerous experiences of your life — learning to properly ride a motorcycle.

The booklet, entitled "Motorcycling and You," contains "56 ideas for two-wheeled safety."

When it's two wheels against four, as in most accidents, your skill and savvy are your best, maybe your only, protection.

Two-wheelers have special characteristics which make driving skill important: light weight combined with power; stability depends mostly on the operator because it's not built in as in cars.

Study the owner's manual and then learn all the cycle controls by touch.

Practice off the street or on familiar, low-traffic streets before taking to the highway.

Drive defensively. Most accidents occur because drivers get "trapped" in situations from which they can't escape.

In addition to the sometimes technical data in the booklet, which is issued to people applying for a cycling learners permit, Kozlowski adds several safety tips of his own:

—Keep your lights on at all times.

—Drive defensively and obey the same rules of the road cars must.

—Wear a helmet at all times.

—Use both light and hand signals when maneuvering your cycle.

—Keep your distance: 50 feet at 20 miles per hour; 100 feet at 30 m.p.h.; 300 feet at 50 m.p.h.

—Practice off the street or on familiar, low-traffic streets before taking to the highway.

—Drive defensively. Most accidents occur because drivers get "trapped" in situations from which they can't escape.

East Coast Off-Shore Oil Exploration Urged

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — The chairman of the board of Mobil Oil Corp. urged a federal environmental control council today to quickly approve oil and gas exploration off the East Coast.

"I strongly urge the council to speed its assessment and reporting on the Atlantic shelf so that exploration can proceed as soon as possible," said Rawleigh Warner Jr. in prepared remarks.

Warner, who also is chairman of the American Petroleum Institute, was one of several oil industry executives to testify at the second day of a two-day hearing by the President's Council on Environmental Quality.

The council is looking into the environmental impact of oil and gas drilling on the Atlantic continental shelf and in the Gulf of Alaska.

Quick approval is needed, Warner said, because "if the Georges Bank were leased today, a minimum of three years would be required to locate the oil and gas, and an additional three to ten years would be needed to bring the production up to commercial levels."

"Other oil importing nations want, need and are willing to take risks to develop sources of oil much closer to home and less susceptible to foreign control," he said.

In addition, he said, "it is important that there be an equitable distribution of revenue to all coastal New England states."

Warner said, "The time for action is now."

The National Weather Service issued a four-hour tornado watch for most of New England during the afternoon hours but Connecticut and Long Island were the only areas hit with funnel clouds.

Police in Greenwich, Conn., said a tornado that touched down at 11:45 a.m. uprooted trees—some of them five feet in

Laser Beam Theory May Solve Energy Needs

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — A complicated theory that laser technology may someday provide the world with an energy source as plentiful as water is exciting scientists.

The work of scientists to prove the theory takes on added drama as a power hungry world continues to eat up its rapidly dwindling energy sources.

And the work appears to be paying off as significant breakthroughs have been reported in the last six months, encouraging researchers that they were on the right track, according to Dr. Helmut J. Schwarz, a physics professor at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute (RPI).

The theory involves compressing hydrogen into a 200-pound pellet the size of a marble, then setting up a self-sustaining controlled nuclear fusion, the German-born scientist explained in an interview at RPI's campus here.

The theory has the hydrogen extracted from water, frozen, and compressed by the rays from eight laser beams, Schwarz said.

Once fusion is achieved, the hydrogen pellet may replace rare uranium ore to supply the world with electricity, all with an almost limitless supply of hydrogen pulled from the waters of the world, Schwarz pointed out.

"As far as the theoreticians are concerned, I think the problems are solved. Now, it is a question of technology. And the technology exists," he said.

Laser scientists were encouraged by reports confirming much of the theory at a recent international laser conference held at the RPI campus, he said.

The reports issued by scientists from the Max-Planck Institute of Munich, Germany, and the Lawrence Livermore Laboratory of the University of California at Livermore, Calif., confirmed that lasers could be used to compress the hydrogen.

The reports were a significant breakthrough, according to Schwarz, who is doing his own research out of RPI's labs in Hartford, Conn.

The greater the density of that marbled pellet, the less energy will be needed to put the theory into practice, he said. And if the pellet can be compressed enough, present-day technology will do the job.

But so far, scientists haven't been able to compress the pellet light enough to make their equipment work.

The problems that stand in the way of scientists compressing the hydrogen, achieving self-sustaining controlled nuclear fusion and solving the world's energy crisis are immense, he said.

One problem is getting the eight lasers to fire simultaneously at one-billionth of a second. If one beam lags compression is impossible.

Another problem is lining up the small beams perfectly. If one is a fraction off, compression is impossible.

And, a self-sustaining controlled nuclear fusion is yet to be achieved, Schwarz said.

He predicted that it may be another seven years before the theory is worked out completely, and another 50 years before the technology can be adapted to the theory. By then, he said, the world's petroleum and uranium sources should be bankrupt.

But, Schwarz says that scientists are much more optimistic with recent developments than they were six months ago. And to Schwarz, who is doing his own research out of RPI's labs in Hartford, Conn., the theory is attracting financial support from the federal government, he said.

If and when the theory is realized, the world should have a "nearly perfectly clean" power source "that is almost limitless," Schwarz said. The controlled hydrogen fusion would be much safer than the hydrogen bomb, or the dangers posed by uranium-powered nuclear plants, he said.

The theory has attracted the interests of scientists from Germany, France, the Soviet Union and China, as well as the United States.

The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission has recently taken the wraps off information on American research into the theory, and all the countries seem to be sharing their information, Schwarz said.

Namibia, formerly South West Africa, but now governed by a U.N. Council until its ultimate independence, has been honored by the United Nations on a new commemorative postage stamp.

Since October 1966 the U.N. has been working hard through its "United Nations Council for Namibia" to educate and train the 600,000 people of the area with a view to that future time when self-government and independence is achieved.

The new stamp will come in two denominations, 8 cents and 15 cents. The design depicts a map of the African continent with Namibia's location clearly shown as a light ray focuses on its location.

Collectors may obtain first day cancellations by sending their requests with enclosed remittances (in money order or certified check) to: United Nations Postal Administration, P.O. Box 3500, Grand Central Station, New York, N.Y. 10017. Since the date of issuance is Oct. 1, send your envelopes prior to that date.

"Jerusalem 73," the international stamp exhibition in Israel this December, has its philatelic eye on the Jewish and Christian calendars as it prepares its program for the thousands of visitors who will be attending the two-week event.

The dates, Dec. 19 through the 30th, include the holidays of Hanukkah and Christmas. Included in the festivities are the ceremonial lighting of the Hanukkah menorah in Bethlehem on Christmas Eve.

Designs of the souvenir sheets by the Israeli post office will reproduce three of the "1973-74" original issues with a relief of the coin itself, reports the Israel Philatelic Agency in America.

A souvenir card in honor of POLSKA 73, the world philatelic exhibition held in Poznan, Poland, has been issued by the U.S. Postal Service. The card depicts three stamps issued in honor of Nicolaus Copernicus.

At the left is the U.S. 8 cent stamp featuring Copernicus while at the right are the two Polish adhesives in tribute to the famous scientist.

The international stamp show was the largest ever held in Poland as philatelists from almost 100 countries participated.

Collectors can obtain the card directly from the Postal Service. Send your requests to: POLSKA 73 Souvenir Card, Philatelic Sales Unit, Washington, D.C. 20508. Enclose $1 for each card plus a 50-cent handling charge (in money order, NO cash or personal checks).

Pakistan, Turkey and Iran — three countries involved in a common effort for regional development — have combined for a trio of stamps honoring the ninth anniversary of this agreement. The subject of these stamps is "archeological sites" of the three countries.

Pakistan's stamp illustrates the 5,000-year-old remains of the city of Mohenjo-daro. The Turkish stamp bears statues of the mausoleum of King Antiochus I, who reigned from 98 B.C. to 34 B.C. The stamp from Iran shows the relics of an early civilization found in the Las Desert in 1968. One of the finds, a clay tablet of a bearded man, is featured on the adhesive.

West Berlin has issued the second part of its "Berlin Street Transportation" set, according to the World Wide Philatelic Agency. The 20-plate set features a 1959 "Omnibus" or trackless trolley bus. The 30-plate set has a double-deck bus of 1970 and the 40-plate set displays the modern, elongated bus placed in use this year.

The first three in the set (issued April 30) showed a horse-drawn bus of 1907, the first gasoline engine buses and a Berlin double-decker of the 1920s.

FROM THE MAIL BAG... To the many readers who have requested further information on the Independent Postal System of America, the private corporation which competes with the U.S. Postal Service, here is where you may write directly for its stamps, which are available in mint condition as well as plate blocks. The Independent Postal System of America, 1335 Tonne Road, Elk Grove Village, Ill. 60007. First day covers also can be obtained.

Social Security

Q. I just found some doctor bills from last year and was wondering if I could bill them in to Medicare for payment. Can you tell me if there is a time limit on claiming medical expenses from 1972?

A. Yes, there is a limit. It is Dec. 31, 1973, for services received from Oct. 1, 1971, through Sept. 30, 1972. It is Dec. 31, 1974, for services received from Oct. 1, 1972, through Sept. 30, 1973.

Q. My doctor doesn't accept Medicare assignments for direct payment to him. He has sent me a bill that I can't pay right now. What can I do about it?

A. You can send the itemized bill to Medicare before you pay it. You are responsible for the first $60 in doctor bills each year. After that amount is deducted, Medicare will pay you 80 per cent of the reasonable charge for the services shown on the bill. Then you can turn this money over to the doctor and you will owe him the balance.

Q. I recently received my Medicare card, but it has my husband's Social Security number on it. Since I have my own Social Security number, shouldn't it be on my Medicare card?

A. Not necessarily. The number on your card is determined by the work record under which you have your Social Security coverage. If you are drawing benefits as a wife, your card will have your husband's Social Security number on it with a "B" after the number. If you are drawing benefits as a widow, your card will show his number with a "W" after it.

Q. I'm signed up for both parts of Medicare. After a car accident last month, I had some teeth broken and had to go to the hospital for jaw surgery. Will Medicare pay any of this?

A. Yes, Medicare covers this type of surgery, but not ordinary dental care.

Q. My mother, who was 69 years old, died last month. Since I paid some of her doctor bills, could I receive any payments from Medicare for these bills?

A. You could receive partial reimbursement. You should ask the doctor for a receipt showing you paid the bills in full and the date, place, charge, and description of each service. Call your Social Security office for help in completing a claim for payment.

Have a question about Social Security and its retirement, survivors, disability or Medicare benefits? Write to Questions and Answers, Social Security Office, 687 Main St., East Hartford, 06108.

MCC To Offer Wine Course

Manchester Community College will offer an adult education course entitled "Wines of Europe and America" which will begin classes Sept. 24 at Manchester Community College.

Persons who do not know the difference between Bordeaux and Burgundy, and those who do, will be able to study and taste both, along with many other European and American wines. The studying and sipping will take place in the food service laboratory on MCC's main campus each Monday from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

Thomas Reilly of 17 Phillip Rd. who will instruct the nine-week course, says that despite 15 years of experience he still calls himself a student of wine. "There is always something new to learn," he says, "about the history of wine and winemaking, as well as about the wines themselves."

Further information may be obtained from the Extension Division at Manchester Community College, 646-2127 or 646-2138.

Storm Insurance

Mayor Frank McCoy reminds Vernon residents that the town has been approved for the National Flood Insurance Program which is administered by the Department of Housing and Urban Development. Any residents who experienced damage to their property during the recent tornado should contact their own insurance agents or the Aetna Insurance Co., 55 Elm St., Hartford, for more particulars on the insurance. Aetna has been designated by HUD as the servicing company for Vernon.

Also in connection with the storm, Andrew Tricarico, director of public works, has suspended the glass collection for three weeks until the major cleanup program is completed.

Tricarico said the storm damage affected about 32 streets in Vernon and the cleanup is being carried out street-by-street. He asks that people affected be patient.

Parents are urged to assist the Scout Committee to help plan and work in the program.

The Candidates Are Saying

James Roche

(Roche is Democratic candidate for mayor of Vernon.)

"A properly managed Capital Improvements Program is a vital tool for the effective management of municipal government and it is also the main protective device by which the Town Council keeps a check on the mayor and his spending habits," Roche said. "This also means that the need for a school or other public building must be formally presented, not just talked about at board meetings, well in advance, so that the council can calmly and deliberately decide on the worth of such a request. Such requests must not only be measured on their own merits, they must also be evaluated against the other needs in the town."

"The need for a Capital Improvements Program was clearly recognized by those people who wrote our charter, and two charter revision committees have since seen fit to retain this feature. Some feeble attempts have been made to implement this program, but they were never followed through."

"A properly working Capital Improvements Program requires a strong Town Council in order to function effectively, and the present rubber stamp Republican majority, unwilling to assume its rightful responsibility, has allowed the mayor complete freedom in effecting his own pet projects."

"This list of pet projects includes the stalled renovation of the Memorial Building, perhaps the most primitive sidewalk system in the state, and certainly one of the most expensive sewerage systems which is loaded with engineering deficiencies."

"Capital Improvements Program is a major item for Vernon, and its implementation is long overdue."

School Gets Dental Health Endowment

OGDENSBURG, N.Y. (AP) — The 3,200 public school students here are learning how to care for their teeth because of an unknown woman's penchant for dental hygiene.

The full-time dental hygiene course was among the first programs to get the ax from the Greater Ogdensburg City School District Board of Education when the district was feeling a financial crunch.

The decision, distributed to the city's women who want to remain anonymous. She called Supt. John Karan to defend the students' need for dental hygiene instruction.

Nobody Knows The Office Manager's Many Woes

The Straw Boss: Nobody knows an Office Manager's Woes.

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks an office manager gets tired of hearing: "The least real authority a man has, the more it goes to his head."

"The only day Pete gets to work on time himself is Mondays, just so he can report half the office is late."

"Pete likes to think of himself as a straw boss, but he's really only a straw dummy."

"Yeah, he has the title of office manager. But all that means is that he was a promising office boy 40 years ago who managed to work his way to the bottom."

"If he kept his brain as busy as he does his hands when he is near one of the girls, he'd have been president of the firm a long time ago."

"Pete, will you write me out a requisition for a new pencil? I've had this one for two years, and it's beginning to show a little wear and tear."

"Well, after 40 years here, Pete, do you still have much hope of being made a junior executive?"

"One of his duties is to give intelligence tests to new applicants. But somebody in the personnel department has to grade the papers, because Pete himself can't understand the questions, let alone tell the right answers."

"The big moment of Pete's year is when the boss drops by the office Christmas party, and Pete gets to yell out, 'All right, kids, how about three cheers and a tiger for the fine fellow who pays the bills — and let's make them real loud and clear!'"

"He's a terror in the office, but I hear that at home his wife makes him serve her breakfast in bed and do all the dishes."

"By ordering smaller paper towels for the office washrooms, Pete has saved enough money since January to buy the executive vice president a dozen boxes of golf balls."

"The only real reason the big shots keep Pete around is so they can tell their backs."

"What are you going to do when you retire, Pete? Have you thought of starting a second career by becoming a shepherd?"

Watergate Panel To Resume Monday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Counterbalancing expert John Ragan, who has been called as a surprise witness in the Senate Watergate hearings, worked simultaneously for the Republican party and International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

Ragan worked as a 100-day security consultant for the Republican National Committee from 1969 until September 1971. He also was sent by ITT in early 1971 to assist the late Chilean President Salvador Allende. An ITT spokesman denied that Ragan's mission to Chile was related to his work at the Republican party.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin, chairman of the Watergate committee, announced Tuesday that Ragan would be one of the first witnesses when the panel's hearings resume Monday.

Also on the list are convicted Watergate wiretapper E. Howard Hunt Jr., White House speechwriter Patrick Buchanan and a previous witness, John J. Caulfield, who allegedly supervised undercover activities for the White House.

Ragan's name turned up once before in Watergate testimony. Ousted White House Counsel John W. Dean III mentioned Ragan as having reportedly helped wiretap the home of columnist Joseph Kraft.

Reached by telephone at his home in Massapequa, N.Y., Ragan said he had undertaken a "feasibility study" at Kraft's home in 1969. But he denied involvement in any bugging. "There was no tap," he said.

Three sources close to the committee also said that Ragan would be questioned about President Nixon's alleged wiretapping of his brother, F. Donald Nixon. But Ragan said he knows nothing about that.

Ragan said he has been interviewed by the committee's investigators three times and has told them he has little information to offer.

Ragan, 59, worked for the FBI for 24 years before retiring in 1964. He said his last 11 years were spent in "technical matters," meaning electronic surveillance and bugging. He now works as a private security consultant, specializing in anti-bugging measures.

Ragan said that his trip to Chile was in April and May of 1971, four months before he ended his ties to the Republican party.

State Income Tax Seen As Best Solution For Cities

NEW HAVEN (AP) — Political Union.

Newark Mayor Kenneth A. Gibson said Tuesday the financial boost of a state personal income tax would be the "best" solution to his city's problems. Despite general opposition to such a tax in the current New Jersey gubernatorial campaign, Gibson predicted that one would be enacted during the next governor's term.

New Jersey, like Connecticut, is one of the few states without a personal income tax.

"Our biggest problem are money," said Gibson, the first black mayor elected in a large eastern seaboard city.

He argued, as many officials in other large cities have, that urban centers provide services for suburban dwellers as well as for their own residents and should not have to pay the entire expense.

A state income tax would be "the best way" to spread the cost and raise the needed funds, he said during a news conference sponsored by the Yale

Political Union.

He also said the New Jersey government should make payments in lieu of taxes to communities to cover income lost because of tax-exempt institutions like schools, hospitals and government property.

In a speech Tuesday night at Yale, Gibson said low pay of public servants and police officers in Newark makes them more susceptible to bribes than if they were paid salaries equal to those in the private sector.

Asked about crime in Newark, Gibson said heroin use is the biggest problem. He added that he had lost personal friends to heroin overdoses and that the solution to the problem rests in cutting the heroin supply.

Gibson also said that mass marches and freedom rides which characterized the civil rights movement of the early 1960s are out of fashion. More and more blacks are turning to the elective political sphere to further their goals, he said.

Mets Rally Tops Bucs

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The New York Mets, running out of tomorrow in the National League East race, have kept their last-ditch drive alive with help from a .234 hitter and a jumpy relief pitcher.

They were on the brink of defeat here Tuesday night, but they rallied for five runs in the climactic ninth inning to edge the first-place Pittsburgh Pirates 6-5.

Weak hitting utility man Don Hahn, who entered the game with just 11 RBIs, stroked a two-run single to provide the margin of victory, and Bruce Capra, an admittedly "jumpy" reliever, saved the night by pitching out of a bases loaded jam in the Pirate victory.

"We had to win it. I don't think there was any way we could have lost that game," gushed Hahn, whose decisive hit pushed the Mets to within 2 1/2 games of the Pirates, whom they meet again tonight in New York to open a three-game set.

"Let's hope this will swing the momentum our way," he added. "We're running out of time."

The Mets opened the ninth by scoring two runs and leading the bases off Ramon Hernandez. Dave Giusti then replaced Hernandez and he delivered the crucial pitch to Hahn on a three-and-two count.

"It looked good enough to hit, so I swung at it," said Hahn. "I don't know if it was a fastball, a slider or what."

Bob Apodaca, making his first major league appearance, came into pitch for the Mets to open the Pirate ninth, and he immediately walked Gene Clines and Milt May.

"A little bit of adrenaline in me, but I am broke with me," Apodaca said later with a broad grin. "I tried to calm myself down, but I just couldn't get the ball over the plate."

After the two walks, Met Manager Yogi Berra called on Capra, who entered the game with a 2-7 record and just three saves. "I always get excited when I come into a game," said Capra, "but I was even more excited tonight. I'm kind of hyper I guess."

The first batter Capra faced was Dave Cash, and he advanced both runners with a sacrifice bunt. Al Oliver then grounded to first to score Clines and narrow the Met lead to 6-5.

That's when Capra walked Willie Stargell intentionally before filling the bases with an unintentional walk to Richie Zisk. Then free-swinging Manny Sanguillen stepped to the plate.

Capra ran the count to three-and-one on Sanguillen before he hit a fly to medium left that Cleo Jones tracked down for the final out.

"It was the biggest pitch of my career up to now," the boyish looking, 186-pound Capra said excitedly. "I just made up my mind I wasn't going to walk Sanguillen."

Jones slammed the ball triumphantly to the turf after making the final catch in left, and he joined the other Mets in rushing to congratulate Capra.

"I felt like I was in the World Series," Capra said. "My mind just went blank. It was a great feeling."

"Sure it was a big win for us," said Berra, whose club lost 10-9 here Monday night.

"They're in first place and we've got to beat them to catch them," he added. "I just hope things go our way again."

Hunter in Class of Bender, Grove, A's Pitcher Boasts 20-4 Win Record

NEW YORK (AP) — Chief Bender... and Lefty Grove, great names out of baseball's hallowed past. Their legends now are being revived... because of Jim Hunter's steadily brilliant pitching. The Oakland A's ace righthander, American League leader in winning percentage last year with a .750 mark on a 21-7 record, is bidding strongly to lead the league again. His current 20-4 record, an .833 percentage, is the best in the AL.

No AL pitcher has finished with the best winning percentage two years in a row since Grove did it three consecutive years, from 1929-31. The only other American League hurler to accomplish the feat was Bender, in 1910-1911.

Ironically, both Grove and Bender pitched for the A's... when the team was in Philadelphia.

Hunter reached the 20-victory mark for the third straight season Tuesday night as the A's edged the California Angels 5-4 and maintained their 7 1/2-game lead over Kansas City in the AL West race.

In other AL games Tuesday night, Baltimore topped Detroit 6-2, Kansas City defeated Minnesota 4-3, Boston topped New York 4-2, Cleveland overcame Milwaukee 6-5, and Texas beat Chicago 7-2.

Orlando 6, Tigers 2

The Orioles moved closer toward clinching their fourth East title in the past five years—they finished third last year—beating the Tigers 6-2, and reducing their "magic number" to five over runner-up Boston.

Royals 4, Twins 3

Kurt Bevaqua drove in two runs with a triple and a sacrifice fly, and scored another, pacing Kansas City's 4-3 decision over Minnesota. Amos Otis smashed his 20th homer of the season for the Royals, giving him 276 total bases for the year, a club record.

Red Sox 4, Yankees 2

Bill Lee hurled a seven-hitter against the Yankees for his 17th triumph, and became Boston's biggest left-handed winner since Mel Parnell won 21 games in 1953. Homers by Reggie Smith, his 19th, and Cecil Cooper, his second, backed Lee's pitching in the Red Sox 4-2 victory.

Indians 6, Brewers 5

Pinch hitter Johnny Ellis, the first batter to face reliever Chris Short in the bottom of the ninth, slammed a two-run homer, hitting Cleveland to a 6-5 victory over Milwaukee and thwarting Jim Colborn's bid to become the first 20-game winner in the Brewers' brief history.

Hangers 7, White Sox 2

Jim Spencer's two-run homer and Jeff Burroughs' 27th homer of the season supported rookie Jim Bibby's five-hit pitching and helped Texas beat Chicago 7-2.

Cardinals Lean Right, Close In On Pittsburgh

NEW YORK (AP) — Leasers used to only count in horsebets but now St. Louis Cardinals Manager Red Schoendienst is counting on a leaser in his sport.

"If we can keep on winning and if we're leaning the right way, maybe we can fall into first place," said Schoendienst after the Cardinals beat the Expos 7-4.

The victory, coupled with the Pirates' 6-5 loss to the Mets, pulled St. Louis to within 1 1/2 games of Pittsburgh's front-run-

Elsewhere in the National League, Philadelphia and Chicago split a pair, the Phils taking the first game of the second 3-2; Cincinnati blanked Houston 1-0; San Diego dropped Atlanta 9-4 and Los Angeles downed San Francisco 3-1.

Steve Arlin held Atlanta to five hits and Hank Aaron to a single and a long out in hurling the San Diego Padres to a 9-4 victory.

Manchester Looks at the Lobber and the Libber

By Earl Yost

Two - both female - of 10 well-known tennis experts in Manchester, all long-time players, and all who at one time or another won championships, like Billie Jean King to beat Bobby Riggs tomorrow night at Houston.

The eight others, including three members of the "Tennis Battle of the Sexes," Channel 8 will carry the best of five-set match starting at 8 o'clock.

Support for the women's liberationist in the sports spectacular that rivals baseball's World Series, football's Super Bowl and Muhammad Ali's heavyweight boxing bouts in interest, came from Sue Hodge and Daintra Bailey, two outstanding players.

Tennis pros, Jack Redmond and Gloria Darling can see no way that the 29-year-old Mrs. King can cope with Riggs' unorthodox play. At stake will be $100,000, winner-take-all, under the dome of the huge Astrodom which seats 46,000.

Las Vegas oddsmaker Jimmy the Greek has installed Riggs a 5-2 favorite over the five-time Wimbledon champion.

Pancho Gonzales, one of the sports all-time greats, and still one of the world's best, looked at the match like this: "Billie Jean couldn't last three sets at Forest Hills. How is she going to last five against Riggs?"

Riggs made a shambles out of his first big match against the opposite sex when he trimmed Margaret Court in a "Mother's Day Massacre." The match made Riggs and he's making more money today than during his peak years when he started winning national titles at 15, 40 years ago.

Riggs said he'll sweep the set in three straight. On the other hand, Billie Jean claims her racket will do the talking.

Here's the way Manchester's polled tennis players answered.

DINTRA BAILEY-Three-time women's singles champion at Neipic Tennis Club: The whole thing is stupid. Billie Jean should never have gotten into it. It should be interesting to watch. It's strictly a publicity stunt. My pick is Billie Jean, for sentimental reasons. The odds are against her.

BETTY RYDER-Women's Page editor at The Herald: Bobby Riggs will win. He's more determined, experienced and clever.

JACK REDMOND-Manchester Racquet Club tennis pro: On a one-shot deal, Riggs will win. He'll give her an awful lot of slow stuff. The only chance Billie Jean has is to get on top quick to build her confidence and staying power against Riggs' assortment of garbage. If she plays a serve and volley game, she can expect a lot of overhead shots. I have to go with him to win.

HILLARY DEMAREST-Racquet Club manager and veteran tournament player: I would like to see Billie Jean win. Bobby's pretty shy and smooth. Billie Jean has been sick, too. He's a clever little, old guy. I think Riggs will win. No woman should be able to get a man.

PHIL HYDE-Former town tennis champ and coach: I'll take Riggs in three straight sets and he'll do it in 27 games. He's the greatest hustler in the world. I got an insight this summer on Riggs from Hal Fennerty, his commanding officer in the Navy, and I know that he'll win. He has a variety of spin-type shots and although he's reached his peak, he's still capable of beating men much younger. The age will be no differential. I know one thing, everyone will be watching the match Thursday night, not only tennis players.

MARTIN DUKE-Five-time town singles champ and veteran tournament player: Riggs will win. It won't be any competition, as old as he is. He'll play a low game, raise his shots or hit them high, which will be to his advantage. He'll lob the ball or hit it harder, if needed. He's a smart player. I think Billie Jean will give him a harder time than Margaret Court did. I like Riggs in three sets, the first 6-4, and the others by wider margins.

SUE HADGE-Tournament-tested veteran: Our friends are getting together Thursday night to watch the match, the men on one side and the women on the other. I sure hope Billie Jean creams him. I know she's going to beat him. I like Billie Jean to win it in three straight sets.

LINNEA EVERETT-Town women's singles champion: I'll have to pick Riggs. He's a real court artist. He has too many shots for Billie Jean.

MAL DARLING-Men's senior champion: I'll go along with Riggs. I'd like to know all he has forgotten about tennis. Where there's money, there's Riggs. He's got too many shots for her, some she has never seen before. He's a complete player.

GLORIA DARLING-Tennis professional: Riggs will win because he's got every shot in the book. He'll outsmart her and outplay her. She can't beat him, no how. Riggs has great court savvy. She's got the power but he'll patty-cake her to death.

THIS WRITER-A tennis buff: Riggs - without even working up a sweat.

On Eve of Battle - Billie Jean King and Bobby Riggs pause during workout before Thursday night's big match.

Tennis

HOUSTON - Third-seeded Rosemary Casals of San Francisco, Calif., defeated Jill Schwicker of Las Vegas 6-0, 6-1 in the second round of the $30,000 women's professional tennis tournament.

LOS ANGELES - Top-seeded Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., the defending champion, defeated Mike Machette of Belvedere, Calif., 6-4 in the Pacific Southwest Open Tennis Championship.

Tennis Match Audience To Outdraw Watergate

HOUSTON (AP) - The $100,000 winner-take-all tennis showdown between Billie Jean King and Bobby Riggs in the Astrodom will be like no other tennis extravaganza ever held. Promoter Jerry Perenchio has seen to that.

"It's certainly going to be more fun than Watergate," Perenchio said of the internationally televised battle of the sexes that has been tagged "The Match of the Century."

To be sure, the match has captured the fancy of the nation and will have a wider audience than the 40,000 spectators who will be beamed into 40 countries and "be shown nationally by ABC.

The scene surrounding court-side for Thursday night's match on the floor of the Astrodom will look more like a college football rivalry than a tennis match.

"We're going to have a cheering section for both of them," Perenchio said. "Bobby will have 'Bobby's Boosters' and Billie Jean will have about 100 women players on her side. We're going to try to have some fun with this thing."

Five-time Wimbledon champion Billie Jean has played all over the world. Riggs, who won the 1959 Wimbledon title, has played in some pretty bizarre matches.

He's unlikely either has ever played to the accompaniment of an entire marching band.

Adding to the noisy throng, expected to reach 40,000, will be a new head coach, Manchester Community College's 1973 soccer team begins its season Sept. 19 against Eastern Connecticut State College J.V.'s.

The new field, located on the main campus of Wetherell St., will be the site of all home games for the Cougar booters.

The new coach is Jim Dyer. For the past two years, Dyer coached East Catholic High's soccer squad. Under Dyer, who started the soccer program at East, the varsity squad compiled nine victories.

"I'm very happy with the new field," said Dyer. "It gives us an isolated place to practice and plenty of room to work on various drills."

Bobby Campbell, one of five returnees from last year's 6-5-1 squad, was elected team captain. Campbell is flanked by returnees Sal Mangialico, Steve Teachman, Tom Miller and Ken Roback.

Teachman, a fullback last season, moves to the defensive backfield. His natural skill coupled with experience should help Teachman adapt to the position.

"We've done about $20,000 so far," Perenchio said. "If he doesn't win, they'll say Bobby who? If he wins, we could run up to $25 million."

He's got people standing in line to buy buttons for $3 that say "I was hustled by Bobby Riggs," Perenchio said.

After winning her first two matches in a women's tournament on Monday, Mrs. King went into semi-seclusion to prepare for the match, leaving Riggs and Perenchio to the promoters and commercials.

Riggs continued to work out in a huge plastic covered bubble on the Astrodom parking lot and take on all comers.

New Field, New Coach On MCC Soccer Scene

Mangialico and Miller will be vital to the club as defensemen. Both possess good soccer skills and plenty of experience.

Greg Denies is a standout among the frosh crop. Denies, a local talent from Manchester High, is a polished defenseman who will probably nail down a starting berth.

Additional first-year players include Jeff Fournier, Brad Thrall, Bill Hale, Ray Boyd, Ralph Roberts, Craig Clarke, Rick Epstein, Brian Bloomfield and Daris Tarascio.

Many on the squad never played soccer in high school and this poses a problem. "We lack a large number of skilled soccer players," Dyer stated. "However, everyone on the team is working hard."

The crucial goalie spot will feature first-year man Epstein. In pre-season competition, Epstein has looked good in the nets.

"As far as facilities are concerned, Dyer has no qualms. Coachman, (MCC) athletic director has taken care of everything," commented the soccer mentor.

The Cougars start league competition Sept. 22 against Mattituck Community College. This will be the first home start for Manchester.

No Tickets Needed This Time

Several weeks ago the first announcement was made that the fifth annual East Siders' Reunion would be held on Saturday night, Oct. 5 at the Knights of Columbus Home.

"Several days before the story appeared in The Herald," Sam Maltempo said, "I got a call from one of the committee members who asked me what I was doing on Oct. 5. I wanted to know why, and he said it was the date for the East Siders' Reunion."

"I told him to put me down for my usual four tickets."

It was then that Maltempo learned that he was to be the guest of honor.

Maltempo, who retired from the Police Department this month, is a former pro boxer who was recently named to the officials' staff of the State Department of Consumer Protection, which governs pro boxing in Connecticut.

Thus, instead of sitting out in the crowd, Maltempo will be at the head table, the center of attraction, two weeks from Saturday night.

Close Race Not New

No less than five clubs in the National League East still have a shot at the divisional title. Close races are not anything new to the older of the two major leagues.

From 1956 thru 1966 (11 seasons), the flag wasn't clinched until the final week, sometimes the final weekend, twice on the final day of play, and twice by a playoff.

Following were the clinching dates during that 11-year period:

Year - Winner - Date
1956 Dodgers Sept. 30, final day
1957 Braves Sept. 23, Monday, final week
1958 Dodgers Sept. 25, playoff, beat Braves
1959 Dodgers Sept. 25, playoff, beat Braves
1960 Pirates Sept. 25, second last Sunday
1961 Reds Sept. 26, Tuesday, final week
1962 Giants Oct. 3, playoff, beat Dodgers
1963 Dodgers Sept. 24, Tuesday, final week
1964 Cardinals Oct. 4, final day
1965 Dodgers Oct. 2, Saturday, final week
1966 Dodgers Oct. 2, final day

Notes Off the Cuff

All home basketball games of Manchester College this season will be played at Cheney Tech. Last year, the Cougars used East Catholic High for their home hoop starts. It cost $18 a seat for an individual, but a lesson at the Racquet Club. In contrast, golf lessons run $12 an hour. Did you know that the average playing career in the National Football League is 4.6 years? Baltimore Orioles played 300 ball against first division clubs, splitting 46 games, but ran against the second division occupants in their bid for the American League Eastern Division crown.

Coaches' Corner

By John LaFontana

East Catholic High

In what's getting to be a traditional event every year, we opened with a typical Rockville-East Catholic barn burner. After the first quarter was over and we had a 21-0 lead, I was starting to worry about making all the arrangements to move my family to some college next year where I would be taking a new job after a spectacular high school season this year.

During the third quarter when Rockville was pulling to within a touchdown of the lead, I was mentally dropping the plans for a move next year and by the fourth quarter, I was trying to figure what was the best solvent for removing tar and feathers. Such are the fortunes of coaching.

The game, as expected, was a bit ragged but exciting. Even though we lost a disappointing game, I thought we played very well. There were key mistakes, including several in our kicking game that hurt us badly, but the main factor in the loss was our inability to control the ball.

We had only 23 offensive plays to Rockville's 61. It's just inevitable that if you run three times as many plays as the other team, then you should outscore it in most games. Our scores came too easy, without any sustained drives and that doesn't set up the clock.

Cephus Nolen, in his first varsity start as a sophomore, scored on a run of 70 yards and a Dave Bener scored on two long passes which were beautifully set up by play-action (take by Bob Love, out by quarterback Bob only three seven times but had five completions.

The rest of the scoring was an extra point kick by Marc Belloy and a two-point scoring pass from Love to Joe Banning on an extra point kick.

There were a lot of mistakes on offense and defense but many were expected since we started so many inexperienced players on our team. On defense, we really missed Tom Wardwell during about half the game when he was on the sidelines with a bit of nausea. Tom was probably worth the three-point margin by which we were beaten. On the subject of defense, Bill Leahy had an outstanding game as defensive tackle, pursuing runners all

Sanderson Out

FITCHBURG, Mass. (AP) - Vitercikian center Derek Sanderson will miss the Boston Bruins' first two pre-season games because of a back sprain.

Sanderson, who has a back trouble, was injured in trying to catch Greg Sheppard on the National Hockey League club's first day of training Monday.

Indians Prep for Opener

Play Hall Saturday On Road

By Dean Yost

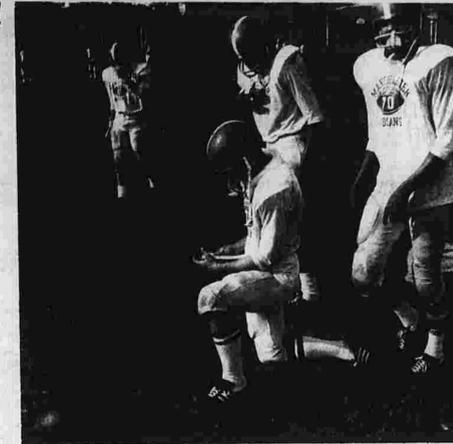

"We are lacking a sustained drive offensively and our defensive backfield still isn't up to par," noted first-year varsity head football coach at Manchester High, Larry Olsen as he prepared his squad for Saturday's opener.

Manchester, 6-3, last season will play Hall High in West Hartford Saturday, with the kickoff scheduled for 1:30 at the Warriors' Field Hall, already with a game under its belt, played East Hartford High last Saturday and lost, 9-0.

"The defense," Olsen said, "has been doing a great job on the line, but the secondary has been giving up the yardage. We still aren't able to come up with a complete game though," Olsen added.

A head concussion to Jack Maloney has given Olsen his first, many, headaches. Maloney suffered his injury Saturday in a scrimmage against Glastonbury, but he wasn't detected until Monday's practice when he became light-headed and fell in the field. Maloney spent Monday and Tuesday night in the hospital under observation. "He is a tough man to replace," Olsen added. "He should be able to rejoin the club next week, but will be a spectator Saturday."

Manchester received good performances from Dallas Dodge, Mike Coughlin, Steve Goff, Jim Chichak and Scott Odell in past scrimmages. Dodge, the tallest member of the Tribe squad, is 6-6 and tips the scales at 230. He will be in a tackle position. Coughlin, the youngest of three brothers who played with Manchester, is a guard and also a letterman. Georgetti, a senior, weighs in a 224 and plays tackle. Michalk, a quick responding back, is also a senior with varsity experience. Odell, is a hard-running senior halfback, with a good knowledge of where to go with the ball.

Quarterback Rick Milka (kneeling) looks over play sheet while ends Leslie Cox and Robin Washington await assignment.

Babe's 714 Homers Hit in Less Time

NEW YORK (AP) - Babe Ruth didn't need as much time as Henry Aaron to hit his 714 home runs, baseball traditionalists will argue.

That's true, the younger fans will admit - but Ruth didn't have to go with some of the travails that Aaron has had to face in his career, like coast-to-coast travel and night games.

Perhaps the biggest handicap Aaron has had to overcome is the memory and mystique of Ruth. What it comes down to is that it's easy to set a record when nobody's done it before. But to break one, especially one set by a legend, is a different matter entirely.

Roger Maris discovered that 12 years ago on route to breaking the Babe's one-season record of 60 homers. Aaron, with 711 home runs, is discovering the same thing now. Threaten a legend and your whole world is shaken.

Consider, for a moment, the "records" Ruth was pursuing when he began busting fences. When his major league career was beginning as a pitcher with the Boston Red Sox, the modern-era (post-1900) record for homers in a season was 24, set in 1915 by Gavy Cravath of the Philadelphia Phillies. Cravath, whose 13-year career with the Red Sox, Chicago White Sox, Washington Senators and Phils ended in 1920, also owned the modern-era lifetime homer record with 119.

For purists, the pre-Ruth all-time career homer record was Roger Connor's 131 in an 18-year career that ended in 1897 and the single-season mark was held by Williamson's 27 with the 1894 Chicago Cubs.

What it all means is that, back then, nobody made a big deal about records. There was no pressure on Ruth when he hit 29 homers with the Red Sox in 1919 and none when he hit his 132nd with the New York Yankees two years later, when he finished the season with 59, the record he himself broke six years after that in 1927.

Aaron, completing his 20th season in the majors, has remained silent when the comparisons with Ruth are flung at him. And, remarkably, he has shown no visible signs of reacting to the intense pressure, the flood of hate mail he has received and the downgrading by those who view him as a threat to the sanctity of the legend.

Ruth played for 22 years before retiring in 1935 - but (and this is what a lot of his supporters will loudly proclaim) he batted only 8,399 times in that span. And in 11 of those years, he was a part-time pitcher, which conceivably cut down a bit on his at-bats.

Through Tuesday night, Aaron had batted 11,294 times. That's 2,895 times more than Ruth, the Bambino's supporters thrum. And, they add pointedly, the Babe had a career batting average of .342 while Aaron's is .311.

R: SAFE LIVING

MANCHESTER PUBLIC SAFETY COMMITTEE

In Manchester, most children go to school on the bus. According to statistics compiled in 1971 by the National Safety Council, 150 people were killed and 5,600 injured in school bus accidents. Of the 150 killed, 85 were students (35 of whom were bus passengers and 50 of whom were pedestrians approaching or leaving zone). These statistics are grim, but unless you know one of the accident victims, they seem very impersonal. As a parent, however, you are doubtless interested in preventing your children from becoming such grim statistics. Teach your children the art of good busmanship. Remember, safety starts at home. Children should be dressed for school and should leave home at the same time each day. They should get to the bus stop five minutes early. The driver can't wait for latecomers, so it's important to be on time. If your children have to walk to get to the bus stop and there are no sidewalks on their route, teach them to walk facing traffic. This way they can see the cars coming toward them and the driver can see them, too. While walking, they should stay as far from the road as possible. At the bus stop, children should not wait in the street. This is inviting trouble. It isn't safe for others, either. If the bus has to stop in the middle of the road. It's a good idea to line up, with younger children first, so that when the bus stops they will be ready to get on. Teach your children the importance of waiting until the bus comes to a complete stop. When getting on the bus, children should use the handrail to help them keep their balance as they go up the steps. Standing up in the bus is dangerous. Sometimes it's necessary, however. Children who have to ride standing should give their books to a seated person, stand facing forward or sideways, and hold onto two seat grips. If anything in the bus is damaged (windows, seat cushions, etc.), children should report it to the driver when they leave the bus. Encourage your children to develop good bus manners. This may be done by playing the game "Bus Trip" with your children. The rules are simple: 1. Stay quietly in your seat. No getting up and walking around. 2. Save snacks and homework for later. Coming to a sudden stop or going over a big bump or a hole can send apple cores and pencils flying. This could badly injure somebody. 3. Put books or bundles where they can't fall. Your lap is a pretty good place. 4. Keep your arms and legs out of the aisle where they can trip somebody. 5. Act as you would in a classroom. No loud talking, screaming, or fighting. 6. Try not to carry big or heavy things on a bus. No pets allowed in the bus. 7. Don't stick your head, hands, or books out the bus windows. You could use them. 8. Don't talk to the driver except in emergencies. He has to keep his eyes and his thoughts on the road when the bus is moving. 9. No talking at all when the bus is near a railroad crossing. The driver has to be able to hear as well as see if a train is approaching. 10. Get permission before opening windows. Leaning against windows is not a good

Feminist Art Center Opens In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — A new feminist art gallery designed to show that "women don't just have to be mothers or dietitians" has opened here. This is one of the goals of Artists, Residencies-museum (ARC), explained Mrs. Gerda Meyer Bernstein, an exhibitor. The new gallery is a cooperative effort, in which 17 Chicago-area women are participating initially. Those who belong pay $30 a month to pay gallery expenses. Similar galleries have opened in New York and Los Angeles, and a second such gallery is to open here Friday, next door to the gallery "will provide a vehicle for women artists to work together for mutual support and cooperation." She said it will "enable them, by their combined efforts, to assume a more significant role than has been possible in the past in the gallery-museum dominated art system." A wide variety of media is represented in the first exhibition, which opened Sept. 14. It includes oil and watercolor painting, etching, ceramics, sculpture, lithography and photography. It also includes some unusual media, such as shaped and stuffed canvas, quilts and X-ray. One of the most accomplished pieces in the exhibition is Mrs. Bernstein's drawing and X-ray montage called "Body Alchemy." It is a deeply moody depiction of Freudian conflict and a major accomplishment. Ellen Ferrar shows lively abstract watercolors, and Johnnie Johnson displays deep-pressed abstract etchings in bright colors on white paper.

DOUG BEVINS (Herald Reporter) Roger J. McDermott of 107 Keeney St. was named chairman of the Blue Ribbon committee studying Manchester's town government. McDermott, food service supervisor at Pratt & Whitney Aircraft (East Hartford), was elected at the Blue Ribbon committee's first meeting Wednesday night. Other officers named at the same time were vice chairman, Robert H. Franklin of 68 Elm St., and secretary, Mrs. Anita Murphy of 131 N. Lakewood Circle.

Democratic Club Backs School Work

DOUG BEVINS (Herald Reporter) The Democratic Club of Manchester, after hearing a Wednesday night presentation by School Superintendent James P. Kennedy and School Board Chairman Allan Thomas, endorsed the proposed $5.6 million additions-renovations program for Manchester's junior high schools. About 20 Democratic Club members voted to endorse the proposal, which will be held by town voters in a Nov. 8 referendum.

The referendum item "involves construction and bonding for two schools (Bennet and Iling Junior High Schools) but affects all secondary schools in Manchester," Thomas said, explaining the proposal. Thomas said the proposal, which is essentially a scaled-down version of a $8.8 million referendum defeated last year, is a three-pronged approach to solving secondary school needs. The first part consists of addition of 19 teaching stations at Iling. The construction work at Iling, also to include minor renovations, will allow Iling ninth graders to return to their school — they have been housed at Manchester High School due to lack of space at Iling. The second part of the program involves additions to

Nixon, Agnew Deny Breach

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's offices are trying to dampen press reports of a growing breach between President Nixon and Agnew that could lead to the latter's resignation. Deputy White House Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren strongly denied on Wednesday that Nixon was applying pressure on Agnew to quit because of his involvement in a federal investigation of alleged political corruption in Maryland. A special federal grand jury probing the allegations was scheduled to resume work today in Baltimore. He said there was no "disposition by the White House or the people in the White House to force the resignation of the vice president, or that the White House is exerting pressure on the vice president to resign." Warren also denied that the White House, as has been widely reported, was the fountainhead for reports that Agnew was contemplating resignation. Following the bland "no comment" reaction of the previous day, Warren's disclaimer was welcomed in the Agnew camp, where there has been dismay, sometimes to the point of anger, over the White House public response to the vice president's crisis. Some Agnew backers contended that a policy of non-silence and only qualified support for him is designed to build pressure to force his resignation — or at least to distract attention from Watergate. A spokesman for Agnew acknowledged on Wednesday that some individuals at the White House might be encouraging speculation about a resignation but said he couldn't believe it was being done as a matter of Nixon policy.

Rhode Island Governor Wants State Road Link

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Gov. Philip Noel made it clear today he wants to build a major highway between Rhode Island and Connecticut, but said he hasn't got a commitment from Gov. Thomas Meskill for the road. In his firmest statement yet on the proposed extension of Interstate-84 from Hartford to Providence, Noel said, "there is no question we will build that road, or try to build that road." Noel said a major east-west highway is very important to Rhode Island's economy. One question still to be resolved, he said, is where the road will be built. A number of routes have been proposed and the state is examining which would have the least environmental impact, he said. However, the major question is Connecticut's attitude toward the proposal. If Connecticut decides not to build the road, Rhode Island would not merely construct a highway to its western border, he said. Noel said the prospects for the highway are uncertain now. "After talking on two occasions with Gov. Meskill, I have not yet received an indication from him they are going to build the road," he said. The Hartford-Providence link had been considered a much-needed highway by the Connecticut Department of Transportation. Two segments of the road — a stretch from Spencer St. in Manchester to Bolton Notch and a so-called Willimantic Bypass — have been completed and opened to traffic.

Court waits word about tape accord. WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House and the Watergate special prosecutor were to tell the U.S. Court of Appeals today whether they have agreed to a proposed solution to the legal battle over presidential tapes. Each side is scheduled to file a response to the court's proposal that special prosecutor Archibald Cox be permitted to listen privately to the tapes to determine what portions are needed for the Watergate grand jury investigation. A spokesman for Cox disclosed Wednesday that White House lawyers and members of the prosecutor's staff had discussed the proposed compromise, but he refused to say whether any agreement had been reached. Lawyers for President Nixon appeared to take a hard line in defense of withholding the tapes in a legal brief filed Wednesday with the appeals court. The brief was part of the continuing arguments being given the court and did not directly deal with the suggested compromise. But after citing Nixon's efforts to aid the Watergate investigation, including giving Cox broad

Senate Passes Pension Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed 93 to 0 a private pension plan reform bill and the odds seem to favor similar action in the House. The landmark legislation, which has been worked on in Senate committees for more than three years, would set the first minimum standards for private pension plans. It is designed to guarantee that the approximately 40 million Americans now covered by the plans actually get benefits when they reach retirement age. Sponsors said that investigations have shown thousands of persons never received any pensions despite many years of service in a company with a pension plan. Sen. Harrison A. Williams (D.N.J.), chief author of the bill with Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.), called the action "an historic step in extending security for American working men and women." The Senate vote sent the measure to the House where the Education and Labor and Ways and Means committees have been working for their own versions. Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., ac-

Minimum Legal Fees Labeled Price Fixing. WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department is setting out to shatter a 179-year-old tradition of America's law profession — the minimum fees recommended by hundreds of local bar and that antitrust laws therefore do not apply. But Wilson declared that the fee schedules — usually drawn up by a local bar committee and sometimes voted upon by the entire membership — "are often more than mere suggestions. They are often accompanied by the threat of disciplinary action for those who systematically choose to undercut the suggested fee." The antitrust division, he said in the interview, would likely begin its assault upon the practice by a civil suit rather than criminal action "in order for the measure to get through." Minimum fees, Wilson noted, have been followed by the measure to the House where the Education and Labor and Ways and Means committees have been working for their own versions. Rep.
