Marxism's Violence

The toppling of President Salvador Allende of Chile contains a forceful lesson that will not be missed by other would-be social revolutionaries, in Chile or elsewhere in both hemispheres of the globe.

The lesson they will be told is that Marxism runs contrary to the grain of human nature and is anything but the wave of the future, much as the events in Chile may have given encouraging proof to champions of democracy that this is true.

Rather, the lesson — which Cuba's Castro, for one, could have told them — is that Marxism or socialism or communism cannot achieve political power in a country peacefully or democratically or gradually but only violently, totally and suddenly.

This, indeed, was the position of Chile's far-left MIR, or Leftist Revolutionary Movement, which all along had been contemptuous of Allende's gradualist approach to socialism. This attitude, combined with the resistance or rivalry of Chilean parties across the political spectrum, widespread strikes and the fears of Chile's middle class, helped guarantee Allende's failure, if not his spectacular and tragic end.

The extremists preferred to see Allende, the world's first com-stitutionally elected Marxist leader, go down rather than compromise or temporize with the "reactionary" elements of Chilean society.

Thus while the crisis in Chile may hold out hope over the long pull of history, her immediate future is still fraught with perils.

The extremists remain, insuring the continued existence of counter-extremism in return. The social inequities Allende attempted to rectify will continue to fester. Chile's terrible problem of inflation, though exacerbated by Allende's economic policies, is not going to be solved merely by his passing from the scene.

Also, the expropriation of large, foreign-controlled industries is an accomplished fact that is not going to be reversed by whatever political coalition finally comes into power, despite the wishful thinking of some U.S. investors.

Chile now joins the long list of Latin American nations under military rule. While her armed forces fortunately have a tradition of staying out of politics, it remains to be seen whether they can foster the return of a viable democratic government to Chile, and whether that government will be able to attack the multitude of problems besetting the troubled nation.

Special Effort

The Connecticut State Police are on the prowl in unmarked cars for "reckless and speeding drivers."

While marked patrol cars will still be making their appointed rounds and the flashing blue lights will be visible, the presence of the unmarked cars is necessary, according to Police Commissioner Cleveland B. Feusschen, to get the guy who goes 90 to 100 because he doesn't see a police car cut out.

There is no question in the minds of any of us who use state highways that there are many of our brethren who are not deterred by posted speed limits, common courtesy, and the safety of others.

While the idea of unmarked police cars might seem to some to be a "sneaky" trick, we must all remember we have brought it on ourselves either through violations of traffic laws or by tolerating the attitude all too prevalent today that "it ain't a crime unless you get caught."

If the state police plan is successful, more of us will be finding out what some of our traffic laws are and most probably will find the lesson costly to our pocketbooks.

We hope the plan works because as our highways become more and more congested the threat to life and limb by those who can't resist the desire "to try to get away with it" can no longer be tolerated.

We hope the plan will eliminate the "racertrack roulette" game too many Nutmeg drivers are playing on our highways today.

Troop Reduction May Be Deceptive

The United States and NATO is preparing a plan of bilateral troop reductions in Europe to be presented in October at talks to be held in Vienna with the Warsaw-Moscow powers.

The idea is attractive on the surface. Both the U.S. and the Soviet Union would agree, with their allies, to reduce troops in Europe on an agreed schedule and percentage.

It would be a tangible winding down of the tensions that have remained in the "cold" war, since the end of World War II.

Some 30,000 American troops would return in the first phase of the withdrawal and a like number in the following year. Yet the military warns that such a reduction might not have beneficial economic merit, if provisions would have to be made for a massive airlift to Europe, if their return were required. Russia, on the other hand, is within several hundred miles of areas in which troops might be deployed.

If it would have the effect of continuing to create cordiality between the East and West, as has already begun, it may be worthwhile. However, we should proceed cautiously to retain a strong position in Europe at all costs.

Max Lerner Comments The Oil Weapon

WASHINGTON — What we have been calling the "energy crisis" is far more than that. It is also an economic power crisis, a diplomatic crisis, an independence crisis. It is a pawn in a brand-new game of world politics in which the oil weapon is now being brandished by a little group of power-holders in oil-producing countries.

The strong-man ruler of Libya, Col. Muammar Khadafy, has moved ahead swiftly in the new power struggle, first by taking over a 51 per cent controlling interest in the oil companies operating in Libya, then by setting a state-fixed $6 a barrel price for crude oil and announcing that American dollars are unacceptable in payment.

In a number of oil-producing countries the trend is toward the kind of nationalism in interviews in Caracas some weeks ago with cabinet ministers oil experts, and the leaders of the major parties, I found that the tide of oil politics is moving toward greater government "participation" in the oil company operations, and ultimately toward nationalization (the present target date is 1983 but it may be moved ahead).

The Shah of Iran made a move on his own toward an oil nationalism which doesn't satisfy his more militant Arab neighbors. The Arab Gulf States made an agreement with the oil companies for a 25 per cent participation share in 1973, to reach 51 per cent in 1980. Now comes Khadafy with a leapfrogging move which carries him beyond the Shah of Iran's move and even beyond the Gulf States agreement.

It is a game of competing nationalisms, with contempt visited by zealot leaders upon any national regime which can be accused of being chicken.

Open Forum Pays Town Damages

To the editor:
Most years, senior classes at the high school end their activities "in the black." The sizes of these balances vary, depending on the number of class-sponsored activities and the amount of participation in them.

In the past, senior classes have purchased gifts for the high school or given to the high school, or they have released money that remained to be spent at the discretion of the school.

The Manchester High School Senior Class of 1973, however, spent its balance differently. A check for the entire amount left in our account has been turned over to the town to pay for damages done (and damages allegedly done) the night of graduation to town property.

Certainly this is not a way in which we feel a class should spend its funds. But it was our obligation and responsibility to pay for the losses. We genuinely

Capital Fare Andrew Tully

Lunatic Mobs

WASHINGTON — The back of both hands to my Irish ancestors. In the madness that grips Northern Ireland, I am on the side of the hated enemy — none other than the English snobs — and the dead in their graves deep in the Old Sod can rise up and call down a curse on me and my thumb will go to my nose.

But I don't believe the graves will open. In the good days the Irish Catholics and Protestants fought like men, not like savages from some barefoot republic. They didn't pick on women and children except by accident, and when they threw a bomb or set a fire it was to destroy the adult enemy not whole families.

You can't even say two cents worth for the rival churches. Both Catholic and Protestant clergy talk about God as if He were their private property and was egging them on to kill and plunder in the streets and never mind if there are kids hanging around because the kids have to take their chances as punishment for not being Catholics or Protestants. Like the Inquisition bishops, these fanatic men of the cloth figure a kid is better off dead if he was born in the wrong faith.

I thought the crazy days were past when an illiterate parish priest warned us boys to stay away from the YMCA because it was a Protestant plot to steal our souls from the True Church, and Catholic Pa had to fire a cleaning woman because he caught her telling me my Church of England grandparents were in Hell. And when the Protestant clergy huddled regularly with the WASP establishment to make sure none but non-Catholics got the good jobs at the American Optical Co.

But bad luck to the wild men, the crazy days have returned to make Ulster a charnel house. It was never more than a half-baked country anyway, one of those mistakes the poor misguided Sassanach in London made over the centuries because he wanted to have done with a problem and get his club or to the cricket at Lords.

But now it's not even a half-done country but an untidy jungle of booby-trapped streets under siege by jackal terrorists.

And now indeed the irony is that England is the Irishman's only hope in Ulster. At long last, after tip-toeing gingerly around the problem, hoping it would go away, the British government has issued an ultimatum that Northern Ireland will ignore at its peril.

What Prime Minister Heath told the moderates in the Catholic and Protestant camps was something the non-knuckleheads on both sides fear — that the British will remove their peace-keeping forces unless the Irish get together and set up a moderate coalition government to run what's left of the poor country.

Even the kind of Irishmen you find in Ulster — the terrorists — don't want a full-scale civil war. And they know that's exactly what they'll get if the Sassanach pulls out his troops. And the British will do just that as a last resort. Both sides have been killing and maiming Englishmen simply because the Englishmen were in the way and back home the British public is fed up with furnishing human fodder for the nuts with bombs and guns and bits of rope just right for garroting.

From Belfast, the word is that the Protestant moderate Unionist Party and the Catholic Social Democratic and Labor Party got the message during Heath's separate but equal meetings with them. Even the rival wild men, the Protestant Brian Faulkner and the Catholic Paddy Devlin, seemed willing to talk about coalition, although both cussed out the other side and wondered whether they could trust the British, which is standard procedure for an Irish politician who doesn't want a crack in the mouth from his supporters.

But they had better get together unless they're looking for more than a crack in the mouth. If civil war comes, it'll be the terrorists running the show and the moderates will be liquidated, whether they're Protestant, Catholic, or Holy Roller because that's what always happens in a revolution.

So it's either Paddy Devlin and Brian Faulkner sitting down a table or both of them standing up against a wall.

TIMELY QUOTES

It seems like falling six stories would be a matter of a few seconds, that you'd have time to think of something. I wish I could describe the fall, but actually I do not remember it at all.

—Paul Wilson, Miami steelworker who survived six-story head-first fall.

The war is losing more and more of its point and having less and less meaning to any of the people involved. If you examine the record of the other side you get the unmistakable impression that they are not interested in negotiating but in what they call final total victory.

—Emory Swank as U.S. ambassador to Cambodia.

"Anybody Who Has An Account with Us Is Going to Get the Best Banking Service Around"

We wouldn't say this in the newspaper if we didn't know we could back it up at the bank.

It's not easy. There are many good banks around... but we didn't get to be the largest Connecticut savings bank east of the river by being like other banks.

We look at our customers in a different way. We are dedicated to their service. Our services are designed for their convenience... like evening hours and being the first in the area to offer Saturday banking hours. And having eight offices so our customers will have eight places where they can do their banking.

We know that when our customers need money, they want it quickly... so we give same day service on Personal and New Car Loans... that is, unless you're in a hurry... then we give you three hour service.

In the little things and the big things, we have to give you better service than the next bank. That's the way we see it... that's the way we do it.

Plugs Plan For Safer Motorcycling

Kaiser Hershberger of Manchester says he has lost a leg and 13 friends in motorcycle crashes. And so far this year, motorcycle accidents have claimed 81 lives in Connecticut.

Hershberger says the state Motor Vehicle Department should start a cycle safety school to teach young drivers, stiffen its testing of drivers and create a fact-finding committee to investigate incidents in which motorcyclists are "run off the road" by car drivers.

Hershberger, who came to Connecticut from Michigan three years ago, lost a leg last summer in a motorcycle mishap.

Everyday living is more complicated today no matter what your particular role in life may be, and surely this is the case when it comes to a funeral director. Because of these complications, many people have come to depend on the Holmes Funeral Home, 400 Main St. People need a person who can take care of O.A., M.A., Social Security Benefits and Veterans Benefits. These and many other related services are offered at the Holmes Funeral Home. Many people have also benefited by "The Knowledge Booklet" put out by the Order of the Golden Rule, which is yours for the asking. Just stop in at the Home and pick up a copy from the table in the hall of the main corridor; or, if you prefer, ask them to mail a copy to you. This booklet is most helpful, and explains in a very clear and factual manner the many problems the family will face upon the death of a loved one, and has been proven most helpful. Just recently, a new organ was installed at the Holmes Funeral Home, and for those who wish music at a service, this is a welcome addition. The Holmes Funeral Home is unique in that it is a family business. It was started in 1923 by Mark Holmes, and today his three sons, Howard, Arthur and Norman, carry on the family tradition. No matter when you call the Home, one of the sons will be there to assist you...this is a service of sincerity where personal consideration is a tradition. Through the Holmes Funeral Home's membership in the Order of the Golden Rule, funeral arrangements can be taken care of all over the country. Should death occur away from home, just call the Holmes Funeral Home and tell them just what arrangements you want made and everything will be taken care of. This is a most helpful service and one

First Hartford Controls
Forbes & Wallace Store
Neil H. Ellis, president of First Hartford Corp., has been elected a director of Forbes & Wallace, Springfield-based department store chain.
Six other directors were also elected: Robert E. Fisher, treasurer of First Hartford; Leonard Sander, vice president of First Hartford Realty Corp.; Norman S. Ito, general counsel of First Hartford; Mrs. Elizabeth Ellis, publisher of Vernon-Enfield (Conn.) Journal-Enquirer; Melvin Hathaway, assistant treasurer, First Hartford and Daniel M. Keyes, Springfield attorney.
Ellis assured a special meeting of shareholders that First Hartford has "absolutely no plans" to close down the Springfield store, but on the contrary "plans to expand Forbes & Wallace operations and open more stores in the future."
First Hartford's purchase of a controlling interest in the chain marks the first time control of the organization has passed from the Forbes & Wallace families since Alexander Forbes and Andrew Wallace founded the store nearly a century ago.

First Hartford Corp., whose stock is listed on the Amex, showed a net profit of $337,749 on gross sales of about $1 billion last year. The new acquisition will give First Hartford gross revenues in excess of $80 million Ellis stated.

Ellis pointed out there isn't a major department store chain in the country that doesn't have large scale real estate operations, and most of them build their own shopping centers. He said First Hartford and Forbes & Wallace formed a logical partnership for this type of expansion because of their combined merchandising and real estate abilities.

The Town Council will make a presentation of the bridge proposal tomorrow night at 7:30 at the High School. The reconstruction cost of the four bridges in question is estimated to be $749,412.
This cost includes the expansion of each of these bridges to two lanes.
The South St. Bridge would be relocated to the south of the proposed roadway with new approaches to the bridge being planned.
The River Rd. S. bridge will also be reconstructed to the south of the present bridge with new approaches. The existing bridge will remain in place while the new bridge is being constructed.
New approaches are planned to the Merrow Rd. bridge in its existing area.
The Brewster St. bridge will be expanded to two lanes with some changes planned for the approaches. The work on this bridge which is set in a natural hemlock grove, will be done with a minimal amount of loss of trees and damage to the ecological balance to the area. Environmental consultants

More also emphasized that these interest rates could change between now and the time that the town actually bonds for the expenditures.
The meeting tomorrow night will be a presentation only with the referendum Oct. 4 from 6 a.m. to 8 p.m. so that residents may vote on the appropriation of the funds to be raised by the sale of municipal bonds.
Information and maps are on display at the town hall. Councilmen will be available at the

Mets Thinking '69

NEW YORK (AP) — Exactly four years ago today, the New York Mets clinched first place in baseball's National League East Division. "It was," recalls shortstop Bud Harrelson, "a very exciting moment. Now, after a sorry summer and in the midst of a sensational September, the club is thinking 1969 all over again. "My wife has already spent the money," chuckled Harrelson. "She said to me the other day, 'If you win tonight, I'm going out and buying a dress. I told her I'd see what I could do.'"

A's Champs Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Winning the American League West pennant was as easy as one, two, three for the Oakland A's. The A's won the West title for the third straight year with a 10-3 romp over the Chicago White Sox Sunday. St. Bando, whose single and double drove in three runs in the A's 16-hit offense, found this title-clincher "the most satisfying of the three."

Red Sox Rolled Over, Played Dead for Tigers

DETROIT (AP) — Where would the Detroit Tigers be without the Boston Red Sox? Better yet, where would the Boston Red Sox be without the Detroit Tigers? The Tigers sure wouldn't be tied for second place in the American League East as they are now—they'd be near the bottom of the pack. Boston wouldn't be tied for second as they are now either—they'd probably be battling for first place with Baltimore, which has instead already clinched the title with a week of play remaining.

Play of Two Rookies Pleases Yank Skipper

CLEVELAND (AP) — "It's not the same as when I counted. It's always nice to win," said New York Yankee Manager Ralph Houk after the Bronx Bombers swept a doubleheader from the Cleveland Indians 9-1 and 2-1 Sunday. The Baltimore Orioles have already clinched the title in the Eastern Division. The Yankees are holding down fourth place and the Indians are solidly in the cellar.

Pirates Snap Slump

NEW YORK (AP) — endless summer for Philadelphia's Ken Brett, who had 13 victories August 11th. Sunday he finally gained No. 14 and he did it on the mound and at the plate. Brett's two-run single capped a five-run eighth inning counter rally that carried the Phillies to a 9-7 victory over the Cubs. Dodgers 6, Reds 4. Steve Garvey and Tom Paciorek slugged two-run homers and the Los Angeles Dodgers stopped Cincinnati 6-4, preventing the Reds from clinching the National League Western Division flag. Cincinnati is assured of at least a tie and a single Dodger loss or Reds victory will wrap it up.

Hall Buries Tribe

By Dean Yost

Bouncing off would-be Manchester High tacklers, Hall's Tom Cronin rambled for 152 yards on 20 carries to lead the Warriors to a 42-20 CCLL win over the Indians Saturday afternoon in West Hartford. Hall is 1-1 and 1-0 in CCLL play while Manchester sports a 1-1 league mark.

Fullback Cronin accounted for three Hall touchdowns, one of which covered 55 yards. Cronin took the handoff from quarterback Bob Clarin on Hall's 35-yard line, plunged over center and kept on going.

Hall won the toss of the coin and elected to receive. Tom plays left, signals. Clarin, the Indians' quarterback, rambled down the right sidelines for a 17-yard score. The extra point attempt was successful and Hall led 7-0.

Opening the second quarter, Manchester's quarterback Rick Milka dropped back to pass and hit Dave Hunt on the sidelines for a 7-yard strike. The extra point was good and Manchester trailed, 13-7.

Breaking at the half, Hall ran a command in 207 yards and had up 147 yards on the ground and didn't attempt a pass. Manchester had 34 yards on the ground and 109 yards via passing.

The Tribe dug its hole deeper in the third stanza when Hall's Bob Parker punched to Jeff Rice at the goal line. Rice kicked a 22-yard field goal and Hall's John Brigham recovered it on paydirt to increase the margin to 27-7.

Milka hit end Hunt on a six-yard strike and the extra point attempt by Milka was good as Manchester trailed, 27-14. On the ensuing kickoff, Cronin rambled the field's length on his 65-yard gallop. The two-point conversion was good and Hall erased a 35-14 edge.

Manchester's final score came on a four-yard keeper by Milka, the extra point boot went wide to the left and the Tribe trailed, 35-20.

Reserve quarterback Bob Lin for Hall falled on a two-yard keeper to increase the Warriors' margin to 42-20. Rick Chalmers' conversion split the uprights for the final count of 42-20.

Offensively, Manchester called 53 plays, totaling 289 yards, 178 of which Milka had in passing. John Kunz rambled for 49 yards.

Hall, statistically speaking, dominated every category. The Warriors had 302 yards, 289 by rushing; Cronin had 152 yards and Hall recorded 141 first downs. Hall ran 64 plays.

"We got burned in the middle of our defense," commented Larry Olson, who made his second start as Manchester's head coach. "Before the game I felt our defense would contain them and that our offense would have difficulty, but that was the opposite," he added. "I was pleased with the performances of Milka, Hunt and Mike Coughlin," the mentor said.

Manchester will play Platt High in Meriden Saturday morning at 10:30 in another CCLL contest.

Saints Trip Eagles

By Marc Rick

St. Paul's Steve Phelps scored the only touchdown of the game but it was enough to vault the Falcons to a 7-0 HCC victory last night on a crisp afternoon at Muzzy Field, in Bristol.

A sparse crowd saw quarterback Phelps blast over from the one on the first play of the second period. The tally capped a 64-yard drive using a total of 10 straight running plays. Kicker Mark Julius completed the scoring and a seven-point triumph.

It was a hard-fought but lustrous affair with both clubs spending most of the time in their own territory. The weather was less than favorable for passing attacks as only 11 of 40 passes connected. This factor greatly subdued the Eagle offense which relies more on passing than the run oriented Bristol team.

The closest the Silk Towers came to hitting paydirt came on a 15-yard field goal by Pat McCormack. Although the conversion looked good to many East onlookers the referee signaled it wide to the left. The campaign ignited on a Tom Wardwell fumble recovery at the St. Paul 35.

The Eagle offensive attack sputtered throughout and was unable to capitalize on three 100 yard drives including two fumbles and an aerial pickup. The locals placed third with Rooseveltville Football Club.

The Falcons also generated little offense as quarterback Phelps was three of 15 for 14 yards along with speedster Mike DiPietro who was the leading rusher with 57 yards on 10 chances.

St. Paul's defense was stout and kept the Saints from scoring. Northwell Catholic in another HCC clash at M. N. Meo Field in Manchester.

The East offense, led by versatile quarterback Bob Love, racked up 138 total yards with the air attack coupling for 69, on eight of 25 attempts.

Running mates Cephus Nolen and Joel Desimone controlled the ground game with the flashy Nolen getting 34 yards and the steady performing Desimone accounting for 31.

Raiders Shatter Dolphin Streak

NEW YORK (AP) — "We wanted to play them last year and stop the streak but we didn't get the chance. But now we're the team that did it."

That was Oakland Coach John Madden, whose Raiders finally shattered Miami's slowly tarnished image of invincibility Sunday.

They didn't exactly overpower the Super Bowl champion Dolphins. In fact, the only thing that got them on the scoreboard all day was a 46-year-old play belonging to George Blanda. But it got them there four times.

And that got the Raiders a 12-7 victory over Miami, halting the Dolphins' regular-season and playoff winning streak at 18 games.

So, until some other "dynasty" comes along, the Dolphins and the Chicago Bears of 1964 and 1965 will share that National Football League record.

In Sunday's other games, the St. Louis Cardinals snuffed Washington 34-27, the New York Jets blunted Baltimore 34-10 and suffered a greater loss when Joe Namath suffered a shoulder separation; the San Diego Chargers walloped Buffalo 34-7; the Pittsburgh Steelers bombed Cleveland 34-6; the Los Angeles Rams smothered Atlanta 31-0; Cincinnati Bengals 24-10; Houston 24-10; the Kansas City Chiefs nipped New England 10-7; the Minnesota Vikings trounced Chicago 23-13; the San Francisco 49ers outlasted Dallas 20-14; the New York Giants and Philadelphia Eagles tied 23-23 and the Detroit Lions and Green Bay Packers played to a 13-13 draw. State College Football Yale Hosting UConns In Saturday Feature

The University of Connecticut football team, with a two week head start, finds out Saturday just how low they can go in the Yale stadium, left with its biggest battle, can growl.

Despite the graduation of star running back Dick Larson, Yale is one of the favorites in the Ivy League race that opens Oct. 15.

While Connecticut was dropping a close season opener to Lehigh on a late field goal and rebounding to defeat Vermont last Saturday, 26-14, Yale continued preparations for their season opener with the Huskies. A poll among sports information directors in the Ivy League has tabbed Yale as the team to beat. The Bulldogs open their league season Oct. 13 against Brown.

In evening's mark at 1-1, Connecticut relied on the running of Eric Turkelson, who picked up 151 yards and two touchdowns at Vermont, a 20-10 victory gave the Huskies a 1-0 lead in the conference.

Freshman quarterback Bernie Palmer also had a good day for Connecticut, hitting on 10 of 19 passes for 119 yards and one touchdown.

Bridgeport University, which this season has failed to win the power that built a 22-game winning streak, tries to get back on the beam Saturday when it hosts Northeastern.

The Purple Knights had their longest-in-the-nation success string snapped last Saturday by American International College, 38-25.

Central Connecticut State, the only Nicting States top 10 team, won its first two games of the season, goes for number three at Maine. Central came from behind in the second half last Saturday to wallop Springfield, 46-13.

Wesleyan, the only undefeated team in Connecticut, hosts a strong Middlebury eleven. The Cardinals were successful in their first outing last Saturday, upsetting Southern Connecticut State, 14-7.

Southern, 1-1 on the year, travels to Maine Maritime next weekend.

Coast Guard, defeated by Southern in the opener for both teams two Saturdays ago, rebounded with a strong 30-0 performance over Rensselaer at the Polytechnic Institute. The next target is Colby, a 33-10 loser to Middlebury last Saturday.

Western Connecticut State, which dropped a 3-0 decision to Bridgewater State in its opener last Saturday, is on the road next Saturday at New York Maritime.

New Haven, seeking its first victory after two losses, is scheduled to play Hartford University Saturday.

Trinity, idle so far this year, opens at Williams next Saturday, 14-12.

Mattatuck Community College's Jerry Laplaca chalked up a pair of goals to lead his club to a 3-0 CCCC triumph over Manchester C.C. Saturday morning at the locals' soccer field.

Laplaca's initial goal, seven minutes into the second half, gave the visitors a 1-0 lead. Mattatuck's front line blasted in a penalty kick for another goal. Laplaca's 15-footer last in the contest ended the scoring.

"We moved the ball well on offense and our passing showed improvement," commented Mattatuck coach Jim Dyer.

Giants Lucky to Tie

NEW YORK (AP) — "No doubt about it," Ron Johnson said. "We took them too lightly. We never thought Philadelphia could mount that kind of an offense. We were laced after a week—but we sure got taught a lesson in a hurry."

No doubt about it. Everybody expected the New York Giants to tie the Philadelphia Eagles in their 1973 season opener. But in the third period, the Eagles suddenly took control, cutting the New York margin to one point on Tom Dempsey's third field goal, then vaulting into a 16-10 lead on an eight-yard touchdown run by Tom Sullivan, who rushed for 100 yards.

But in the fourth quarter, back came the Giants, getting within three of the Eagles on a one-yard plunge by Johnson, the lead on a one-yard run by 113 yards.

That came with about five minutes left and looked like the lead would be secure. But Gabriel, overruling his receivers, made the game, suddenly became deadly accurate and hit passes of 19, 12 and 16 yards to Harold Carmichael, the last of a 25-20 lead. Just 1:54 remained and, after the kickoff, the Giants were buried on their own 15-yard line.

Then Norm Snead took center stage, hitting passes of 11 yards to Vin Clements, 14 yards to Bob Tackler, 11 to Rich Houston, 17 to Don Herrmann and finally six yards to Tucker. Fourteen seconds to go and no time outs left for the Giants, who rushed Pete Gogolak onto the field.

"Snap the ball! Come on, come on!" he shouted. With one second to go, the ball was snapped and Gogolak kicked the tying field goal.

"There was no pressure," he said later. "After all, I wasn't that far back. But I got awfully scared when I looked at that clock."

Woodall came on late in the first quarter after Namath, dumped by hitting Baltimore linebacker Stan Wulf, suffered a right shoulder separation that will keep him out of action for at least six weeks.

"I honestly thought he'd just bruised his shoulder. I thought I'd be in for just a series or two," Woodall recalled.

But the five-year veteran from Duke went the rest of the way at quarterback, completing 17 of 21 passes for 149 yards and two touchdowns.

A club spokesman said Namath was scheduled to be X-rayed in New York Sunday night and a decision on whether to operate would be made at that time.

"If it's decided an operation is necessary, Joe will be out for the season," the spokesman said. "If there's no operation, he'll be out a minimum of six to eight weeks."

Namath's injury was a terrible setback for the Baltimore offense and was intercepted four times.

Jets Have Field Day Intercepting Passes

BALTIMORE (AP) — Coach Weeb Ewbank calls it the "nickel defense," and it may wind up paying big dividends for his New York Jets.

The Jets picked off eight Baltimore passes—one short of the National Football League record—and Al Woodall snubbing for the injured Joe Namath, beat the Colts 34-10 Sunday.

"I wasn't anything we hadn't done before, just our nickel defense-five defensive backs," explained Ewbank. "Some of the defenses we used all the way back to when I was coaching here in Baltimore."

Rick Sowell had three interceptions, returning one 28 yards for a touchdown, and his partner at cornerback, Delles Howell, came up with a pair of losses from Colts' rookie quarterback Bert Jones.

"The balls just came right at us. We were just in the right place at the right time," said Sowell, who had just two interceptions during the entire 1972 season.

Woodall then got into the act, picking off a pass intended for Doughty at midfield to set up another Howfield field goal that gave the Jets a lead they never relinquished.

Marty Dumars relieved Jones early in the final quarter, but the five-year veteran failed to generate any action from the Baltimore offense and was intercepted four times.
