

Natural Gas Rate Increase Hearing To Begin Monday

HARTFORD (AP) - A hearing on the Southern Connecticut Gas Co.'s request for a $7.6 million rate increase is scheduled to open Monday before the state Public Utilities Commission (PUC).
The increase represents a 20 per cent boost in the company's rates. Last week, the PUC denied the firm's request for a $5 million interim increase.
Southern Connecticut Gas says it needs the additional revenue to cover rising costs. According to the company, the increase would cost residents with medium-sized homes who use gas for heating an extra 21 cents per day. It said non-heating customers would pay 3 to 4 cents more per day.
The company said $3.3 million or 43 per cent of its

Mrs. Meir To Make Personal Appeal To Keep Camp Open

STHASBOURG, France (AP) - Premier Golda Meir said today the Austrian decision to close the Schoenau transit camp for Soviet Jews was "a great victory" for Arab terrorism. She appealed to the Austrian government to reconsider.
Mrs. Meir discarded the speech she had prepared for the parliamentary assembly of the Council of Europe and spoke almost exclusively of the dangers of Austria's "surrender to terrorism."
Sources in Tel Aviv said the Israeli premier would go to Vienna tonight to make a personal appeal to Austrian Chancellor Bruno Kreisky. The Austrian government has not said when it will fulfill its pledge to close the camp, a promise extracted over the weekend by two Arab guerrillas who kidnapped four hostages and held them for 15 hours.

Democrats Fail To Resolve Selection Issue

GAITHERSBURG, Md. (AP) - The committee drafting delegate selection rules for the 1978 Democratic convention has divided sharply over how to replace the controversial 1972 quota.
It was unable to resolve the issue at the final session of a three-day meeting here Sunday and said it would try again next weekend when it hopes to complete its work.
The panel voted tentatively 8 to 5 to remove the special consideration for women, minorities and young people as an encouragement to representative convention delegates. However, the absence of three members made it uncertain whether that vote would stand up next week.

The State Board of Health has informed town officials that they will support the abatement orders issued to 13 homeowners in Lakeview Terrace who had been receiving a hearing from State Health Commissioner Franklin Foote in Hartford.

The controversy of the abatement orders goes back to more than a year ago when they were first issued to about 45 homeowners primarily in the Lakeview Terrace area.

At that time many of the homeowners banded together, taking the issue to court. Through a compromise it was agreed that the town would reissue the abatement orders last January to allow the residents to appeal to the State Health Department, and in return the homeowners agreed to drop their lawsuit.

Dr. Foote has said that he supports all the abatement orders except that of Stella Robins on Lakeview Dr. There was some question as to whether there was in fact unsanitary conditions on the Robins property and Dr. Foote advised Dr. Robert Bowen, local health director, to keep the property under surveillance and issue a new order if sewage overflow is observed.

All others have been ordered to present to the local health director by Nov. 26 plans prepared by a qualified professional engineer and further directed to implement the plans to vacate the premises.

The homes involved through abatement orders are owned by Howard Leach, Mr. and Mrs. George Lucas, Charles Wagner, Norman Bernier, all of Junior Dr.

Mrs. Lorraine St. Amant, Carson Dr., Mr. and Mrs. Harry Leet and Mr. and Mrs. George Jean both of Hickory Dr., Hazel Aronson, Hazel Rosane, Victor Barella, Mr. and Mrs. Fernando Rivas, George Boldo and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Doughty all of Lakeview Dr.

The homeowners contended that Dr. Bowen had no authority over a chartered private residential association. Dr. Foote based his decision on the state attorney general's opinion that the health director was acting within his authority.

Dr. Foote gave the homeowners no solutions as to how they could correct their problems but ruled that they must be corrected.

According to Nancy Lucas some of the residents may be able to correct their problems with conventional septic systems but there is no guarantee that the systems would work for long. A solid soil conservation service's maps show that the solid in Lakeview Terrace are not suitable for in ground sewage disposal. And then some of the homeowners are on lots too small even to consider septic systems.

When Mrs. Lucas asked the Regional State Health Office in Storrs about the use of gas fired toilets, she was told that these were permitted in isolated areas for limited use only and were not practical in a small high density area.

According to Mrs. Lucas the Board of Health at its Wednesday meeting voted to proceed "with all due haste" to correct all pollution problems in the town. This would include all the abatement orders issued in the past year not all those involved in the lawsuit.

Mrs. Lucas further stated that one of the residents of Lakeview Terrace has applied to a local bank for a loan to install a septic system and was turned down because the bank felt that installing a system in that part of town was too risky.

June B. Tompkins (Herald Reporter)

There is no age limit for discovering music. Just a few years ago, John Bossidy, of 61 Cambridge St., who had had less than a handful of lessons on the guitar, became inspired to compose songs. They were of a folk nature with religious themes. After having witnessed a similar type of music in one of the local churches, he felt motivated to compose his own melodies and use selections from the Holy scriptures, or words from hymns to complete his songs.

He has fulfilled a statement made by Walt Parazider of the rock group, Chicago, "When people realize they have enough ability to do something musical and to create something, they really get turned on by it."

Not only does Bossidy get "turned on," but the group of young people who sing his songs with him join in the musical sensation to the point that the group calls the music "our music," and not "Bossidy's music."

Plant Connecticut Week

Autumn is something special in New England as the foliage under the whims and vagaries of Mother Nature begins its annual transformation from green to the countless varied hues of the color spectrum.

With this scenic splendor now unfolding before us, it may seem inappropriate to be thinking about spring, yet the very beauty we now enjoy is not the product of accident but of man's foresight and planning plus the blessings of nature our area enjoys the year around.

Those trees we now view exist because there has been the foresight to retain and replant our forests so it is not really out-of-place that Gov. Thomas J. Meskill has proclaimed this week as Plant Connecticut Week.

The program was initiated several years ago by the Connecticut Nurserymen's Association, Inc. and has become a vital force in the state's environmental preservation efforts.

The emphasis this year is on Netherlands flower bulbs as part of a "hand across the ocean" project which, with citizen cooperation, will add color and splendor to the Nutmeg State come spring.

Bulbs contributed by the Netherlands Flower-Bulb Institute are being planted in public locations throughout the state's seven county areas.

But those who have the space for a flower bed might back up this effort by planting a few bulbs.

Even a window box of colorful flowers next spring will add to the lift we need after winter. In our own way, we will be keeping our state's reputation for natural beauty intact in an age where too many of us are dusting plastic imitation flowers in our planters instead of watering the real thing.

For flowers, wild or domestic, sown and grown in small pots or large plots, are a joy not only to the eye but the nose and most of all to our morale for it is experience in living and appreciation of nature's gifts.

Plant Connecticut Week is now. Enjoy Connecticut Week is every week of the year for those who will help create beauty as well as those who seek it.

An Open Letter To Henry Kissinger

TACOMA, Wash. — Dear Henry: It was all there in the books — the President doing the light touch with some pleasanties about half-parting among the secretaries of state and about being shot at without result, the Agnew and Rogers seats empty (each understandably), the presence of immigrant parents of the immigrant son who had been appointed secretary of state, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger administering the oath with power between nations.

Then your careful yet dramatic talk at the United Nations, heralding a welcome change from the United States as traditional U.N. whipping boy to the United States as committed to peace initiatives, and then the even more dramatic scheduled meeting with the Arab envoys, which shows that whatever else you may lack you don't lack either imagination or courage.

Quite candidly I am disappointed in your own response. You have become, in form and fact together, the head of American foreign policy at a point when great changes are taking place in the world. One is the ending of the cold wars with the Soviet Union and China and the new era of economic and political rivalries it ushers in.

That is why I found you swearing in to moving the great dream on which young Americans have been nourished is that of the career open to talent in an open society. That dream has faltered, and there have been many — the blacks, the poor, the women, the young — who wondered out loud whether it was being dreamt for them. You are witness that what has happened to you can happen to others with brains and imagination, proof of the fresh resilience in American society and the circulation of new energies in the talent groups.

Fare Wet-Eyed Campaign

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON — New York City's sensitive civil liberties bunch has launched a wet-eyed campaign against the state's new mandatory minimum sentences for such crimes as rape, armed robbery and burglary. The charge is that the people are being too beastly to criminal creeps who presumably are merely overflowing with animal spirits.

The sentencing provisions were included in Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's new law aimed at dope pushers and addicts convicted of violent crimes.

Minimum sentences of at least a year in pokie are fixed for such felonies as second-degree burglary and attempted assault, and a second-felony offender must plead guilty to a felony instead of a misdemeanor if he turns to plea bargaining.

For example, a convicted rapist who served his time or a portion of it, was eligible for probation if convicted of a second rape charge before the new law took effect Sept. 1.

I have never understood the law's compassion for the second offender in a crime of violence. A first offender of course should be given as big a second chance as possible to course in the type of facis the result of a momentary lapse.

"Discredited," maybe, by folks like Glasser and possibly former Atty. Gen. Ramon E. Clark. But "totally discredited" I await with interest Glasser's brief on that claim.

For instance, I do not believe Glasser will find support for his position among those 500 angry residents of Manhattan's Lower East Side who a few weeks ago tried to stamp a precinct station to lynch a suspect in the murder of a young boy.

In fact, Glasser's own town recently seems to have abandoned the liberalian penitent and turned vigilante. The newspapers are filled with

The Innocent Bystander

Art Hoppe

The morning after the Billie Jean King-Bobby Riggs "Battle of the Sexes," Mr. Wilbur Wasp awakened with a weight on his chest.

It was, he discovered on blearily opening his eyes, a large, porcine pig to which was attached a note reading, "Make your own damn breakfast."

Stomping angrily downstairs, Mr. Wasp found his wife, Ernestine, working out in the living room with a set of bar bells. "What's the meaning of this?" demanded Mr. Wasp, waving the note.

"I haven't got time...one, two...to make your breakfast...three, four," replied Mrs. Wasp, "because I have to...one, two...go jogging...three, four."

Look, just because a 55-year-old has been hustler gets whipped by a 22-year-old female," said Wasp, "doesn't we regard it as such, and you will be starting off well on your new job."

After burning the toast, Mr. Wasp boarded the bus and was delighted to get a seat when a young lady arose. He was delighted that it was he who she simply stood there all the way downtown smiling patronizingly at him as he nervously rattled his newspaper.

Another young woman pushed open the heavy door of the Gollub Building as he entered. "I'm not crippled, you know," he said testily.

In his office he found his secretary doing isometric exer-

Kremlin Victory Over Dissent May Prove Hollow

EDITOR'S NOTE — A secret journal of Soviet dissidents has been silenced but individual voices carry on. A special deal with this and its impact on the Kremlin's policy of peaceful coexistence in this last of three articles.

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
The Kremlin evidently won a victory over the voices of dissent in the success of Case 24, but the cost may yet prove to have been heavier than it reckoned.

Case 24 was the code name applied by the KGB, or secret police, to an operation that was a key part of the most sustained official assault on dissent since the Stalin era.

A wave of searches, arrests and trials began early in 1972 when the KGB bore down heavily on a special target: the Chronicle of Current Events.

The Chronicle, a celebrated "samizdat," or self-publication, journal had appeared regularly every two months since April 1968 and was about to publish its 24th issue in April 1972.

It had been obvious that the Yuliy-Feldman trial was in reality the trial of the Chronicle and the whole rights movement.

Clearly, the death of the Chronicle was a main goal of the official crackdown on dissidents. The KGB closed the trap on the Journal with the arrest of Pyotr Yakir, a historian, and Viktor Kravyn, an economist, both active in the civil rights movement.

Before he was taken to Lefortovo Prison for interrogation, Yakir confided to friends he would not be able to withstand the pressure and would tell them anything if they beat him.

Yakir's was a tragic story. In the Stalin purges of the 1930's, his father, a Red army commander, was executed.

Because of his relationship to an "enemy of the people," he was deported what he saw as the limbo of the West in meeting a sudden revival of barefaced barbarity with nothing but concessions and smiles.

All this damaged the "peaceful coexistence" image Brezhnev, the Communist party chief, had tried to build. The response sounded ominous. Sakharov was warned officiously he was being "harmful and frankly anti-Soviet."

The American Psychiatric Association has declared that if the Soviet regime, as charged, uses mental hospitals for punishment purposes, that must be ended at once.

American writers are up in arms against liberalization of trade between the Soviet Union and the United States while the

South Windsor Shop Seeking Volunteers

The South Windsor Woman's Club has invited other women's groups to join in the efforts to make its Thrift Shop a real community project. Although the idea of a Thrift Shop was conceived by the Woman's Club and is presently sponsored by its membership, it is a project beneficial to the whole community and all are encouraged to participate. Shop hours are Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., and the second and fourth Saturdays of each month from 1 to 4 p.m. Hours are arranged to suit the volunteer's schedule and only a few hours per month are requested from each worker. There are presently 15 non-club members donating time to the shop.

The Thrift Shop is the main source of funds for the Woman's Club. Last year over $1,000 was donated to various scholarships, community projects and other charities. Available for sale are new and used clothing, bric-a-brac, toys, books and games and small appliances. An unusual feature is the Kraft Korner made up of unique hand-made items. Aldermen Put Ban On Front-Yard Gardens

WAUWATOSA, Wis. (AP) — A city council here has voted to ban front-yard gardens, says a suburban alderman, all right in their place. And that place is not in the front yards of a community that prides itself as a "city of homes."

After three months, Alderman William Stach's battle against a front yard vegetable garden planted by a woman who said she wanted to raise food for her five children is over. The Common Council of this residential community near Milwaukee recently adopted an ordinance prohibiting produce gardens in front yards. The ordinance, which at one point appeared doomed, takes effect next year, with violators subject to fines between $10 and $200.

Stach said the ordinance stemmed from complaints about Mrs. John Murphy. Mrs. Murphy dug up her front lawn and put in a garden because her back yard was too shady. "If you want a garden you've got room in your rear yard," Stach said. "If you don't have room and are of that nature that you have to have a garden then I think the thing to do is move and not jeopardize the value of all the homes in the neighborhood."

"I've got no qualms about a garden — I've got one myself," he added. "But there's a place for everything."

His idea of a proper front yard in Wauwatosa, Stach said, "is a nice front lawn, a few shrubs and a few flowers — something you can be proud of."

Alderman George Mathes, who himself had a lettuce border on a front yard flower garden, opposed the ban. He also said he sympathized with Mrs. Murphy because his own backyard was too shady.

Mrs. Murphy, 36, said she wants to fight the ordinance if she gets enough support and can find the time. She is separated from her husband and has just started premedical studies at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

"The issue is more individual rights than the garden," she said.

The ordinance contains a provision for appeal to a citizen's board, but Mrs. Murphy held little hope for success there.

"I'd like to keep the garden," she said. "But if I can't I'll probably plant flowers. I'd like to see them try to put up an ordinance to stop that."

State Song Effort Expected
HARTFORD (AP) — An intermittent 40-year search for a state song is expected to be revived next year. Public hearings are planned for next January on compositions submitted to a legislative subcommittee by Dec. 31. Anyone wishing to submit a song must send sheet music and a record or tape recording to the government administration and policy committee at the state capitol. The subcommittee says only "serious and original" songs will be considered.

Court Resumes
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court opened its 1973 term today with a five-minute ceremony that gave no hint of the constitutional questions awaiting its consideration. Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson put in a brief appearance to introduce new Solicitor Gen. Robert H. Bork, the government's lawyer before the high court. The brief official ceremony marked the end of the court's three-month recess.

With most new cars performance problems have taken the fun out of driving. But with Mazda's rotary-engine the thrill is back.

It used to be a kick to show your friends how much snap your new car had.

But not anymore. At least, not for many new cars.

For smog control devices are making them drive, says one automotive writer, "like they have a permanent case of the blues."

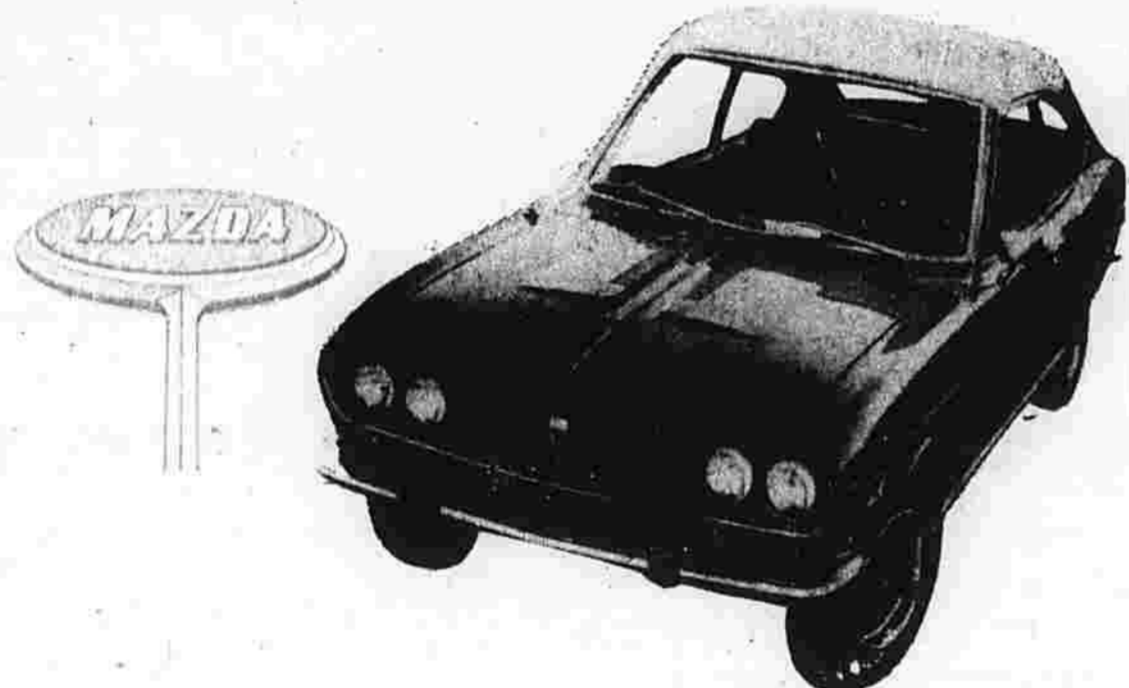

Mazda is different. It's alive, well and kicking.

In fact, it beats a lot of cars that cost a lot more. The Mercedes 450SLC, for example, in a 0 to 60 acceleration race. Or the Thunderbird, in a 50 to 80 high-speed passing test.

What's Mazda's secret?

The rotary engine, because it's so small and powerful, it can team up with an advanced thermal reactor system to control emissions.

No other car has this team. That's why no other car performs like Mazda. The thrill is back.

MPOA To Poll Members On Referendum Issues

A poll of its membership is being conducted by the Manchester Property Owners Association, to determine the MPOA's position on a proposed $5.8 million appropriation for school improvements.

MPOA president Charles Pillard said his executive board has deferred its decision pending results of the poll and pending a presentation of the proposal by school board personnel at an Oct. 24 MPOA general meeting.

The proposed appropriation is for additions and renovations to Hiling and Bennet Junior High Schools. It will appear on the voting machines Nov. 6 as a referendum question.

Pillard, who was a member of the Citizens Advisory Committee which reviewed the school plans and which recommended the appropriation, said many MPOA board members "expressed disappointment that the town Board of Directors combined both schools as one issue."

MPOA vice president Frank Utakis heads a nominating committee which consists also of Craig Niles, Mabel Sheridan and Jo Patiselli. The executive board accepted the resignation of Lewis Southgill, who cited the pressures of his work; and announced the resignation of long-time MPOA worker Herman Schendel, who has entered a convalescent hospital.

Eligible Voters Should Register

Vernon residents who are eligible to become voters and who wish to vote in the Nov. 6 election should register on or before Oct. 13.

Those wishing to register may do so at the office of the town clerk, Memorial Building, Park Pl., Rockville, Tuesday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and on Mondays from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Special registration sessions will be held on Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m., Oct. 10, from 7 to 9 p.m., and Oct. 13, from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Absentee ballots must be received at the office of the town clerk by 6 p.m. on Nov. 5 in order to be counted on election day.

Tuesday, the registrars of voters will be in their office at the Memorial Building, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. to prepare a preliminary voting list. Change of address or names should be reported to them to insure that there is no delay on election day.

Those residents who have received a notice of intent to remove their names from the voting list and haven't responded within the prescribed address are urged to do so immediately.

These notices of intent were sent to persons the canvassers were unable to contact during a recent required census of the town.

If an elector still lives at the same address this year as he did at the time of the last elections, but still received a notice, he should return it, with a continuance statement, to the registrars.

Schools Studying Residency Policy

June Tompkins (Herald Reporter) The Manchester Board of Education is continuing to rewrite and update its policies. One policy on student admission, however, has been referred back to the administration for reconsideration for clarification on the definition of residency.

In his presentation of a report to the board recently on admission requirements, Robert J. Digan, coordinator of youth services for the board, said it was difficult to give a definition of residency as each individual case has to be considered by its own facts.

During the past year, he said, there have been 40 requests requiring individual analysis. They came from South Windsor, Bolton, Rockville, and other area towns, he said. He mentioned the student who has been referred to our schools through the Juvenile Court, or Parent Effectiveness Training course will be sponsored by the Indian Valley YMCA starting Oct. 8 at the Avery St. Christian Reformed Church in South Windsor.

A similar program was held last spring, and it was so well received by the participants that the local "Y" scheduled this fall's training course, according to Arthur Theroux, executive director of the YMCA.

Mike O'Conner will again conduct the classes. He is a teacher in the West Hartford school system and has organized and taught at workshops and seminars on inter-personal communications and processes. He is also managing editor of the national educational publication, "Humanistic Education Quarterly."

Parent Effectiveness Training is a different way to learn the skills in bringing up children. It is skill-oriented learning experience that focuses on specific communication skills, problem-solving and counseling techniques and a no-lose method for conflict resolution.

Enrollment in the course is limited and registration may be made by contacting the YMCA office, 875-8718.

Holiday Bazaar is scheduled for Nov. 10 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Rockville United Methodist Church on Grove St.

The bazaar is being sponsored by the United Methodist Women-of-the-church. The Youth Fellowship will conduct children's games with prizes and will also have a booth of handmade crafts at the bazaar.

Chairmen of the various booths are Mrs. Thomas Dorman, Christmas decorations; Mrs. Ira Cressman, fancy work; Mrs. Donald Ross, stuffed animals; Mrs. Kenneth Weller, jewelry; Mrs. Leonard Aronson, and Mrs. John Spork, attic treasures; Mrs. Alex Dugolenski, children's items; Mrs. John Ward, plants; Mrs. Ellen Thomas, baked goods; Mrs. John Nahold, charity.

Committee chairmen are Miss Ruth Parker, tickets; Mrs. Wallace Johnson, dining room; Mrs. Robert Sugalski, lunch; Mrs. George Klingman and Mrs. Wesley Thain, turkey dinner; and Mrs. David White, publicity.

St. Bernard's School of the parish analysis committee was the speaker for the evening. She explained the function of the committee.

A bingo is conducted each Thursday at 7 p.m. at St. Bernard's Church Hall.

Tolland Boosters Club Seeks Members

The Tolland High School Boosters Club has set a goal to push the membership to 300 active members. The club is in its second full season and has already received a great interest in the membership drive.

Membership chairman, Chip Duran, feels that there are a lot of people concerned with the students at the school and the membership goal will be obtained.

Through the efforts of the men and women who make up the Boosters Club, the school has already received many useful items. The club represents all the students at the high school. Last year the club purchased glass backboards for the gym, a souaphone for the music department, a whirlpool bath for the athletic department, and provided a banquet for all sports activities.

This year the goal has been set to raise $3,500 to purchase much-needed items for the high school students.

The club recently accepted the resignation of its chairman Richard Roberts and unanimously elected Stanley Johnson as new chairman.

Persons interested in joining the Boosters Club may contact Chip Duran at 875-4538, or Stanley Johnson at 875-2778.

Columbia Chart Describes Election Setup

VIRGINIA CARLSON Correspondent Tel. 228-9224

Mrs. Grace Pringle, GOP registrar, has prepared a chart on how the ballot will be set up in the November election. It includes the details of how the offices are to be filled in accordance with minority representation laws. Mrs. Pringle says it will be one of the longest ballots in years, mainly because of having to fill board vacancies.

Vacancies are filled first after election in the order they occurred.

Mrs. Pringle said with the new six-member Board of Education, two seats are necessary for minority representation. For the 1973-1977 term there are three positions available.

Each party has put up two candidates and the three highest vote-getters will win the seats. For the 1973-75 term which was created by the charter to make a six-member board, each party will run one candidate with the top vote-getting winning.

For the 1973-75 term, which is the duration of the term of Donald Tuttle who resigned, each party will run one candidate to determine the winner.

However, Mrs. Pringle said it is the opinion of the secretary of state the last position to be filled after the election would be the newly created term.

Therefore, if all four Democrats were to win the election, the Democrat in the newly-created term could not serve since a Republican would have to take the seat to satisfy minority representation.

One Democrat is on the board, Mrs. Harriet Rosen, whose seat is not up for election.

Currently all town boards are Republican majority with the Democrat holding only one seat on each board with the exception of the school board where there are two Democrats.

The offices of the treasurer, tax collector and town clerk are held by Republicans.

The only place on the ticket where there is no competition is the zoning board, since only one term is up this year and that seat must be retained by a Democrat to satisfy minority representation.

Democrat Leo Goldberg of Old Willimantic Rd. will automatically retain his seat.

Building Fee Refund Illegal, Says Joslin
Vivian Kenneson
Tolland Correspondent
Stewart R. Joslin, Board of Finance chairman, has charged that the $6,100 Middle School addition building permit fee has been illegally returned to the contractor.

As a result of this action, I am requesting Town Council Robert D. King to take immediate action to recover the necessary funds to recover these funds. To date the loss is $6,100, which could be increased by $4,800, if the building inspector requests his fee of 80 percent. The State Department of Education, possibly could reduce the contracted cost by $6,100 as a result of the refund costing the town an additional $3,500 in state aids. Joslin summarizes that refunding the fee constituted a dispersment of town funds to the contractor, that the selectman did not have the authority to approve such a refund, that the treasurer violated her statutory responsibility of depositing money turned over to her into the general fund, and that the subsequent approval of the building committee was an attempt to cover up the whole transaction.

It is my intention to follow this up until the town recovers all funds it is entitled to," Joslin said.
