Mayor Candidates Meet Head On

BARBARA RICHMOND (Herald Reporter)

Vernon's two candidates for mayor met head on last night at a meeting sponsored by the Vernon League of Women Voters.

Dr. Ellen Marmer, acting as moderator, allowed each candidate 10 minutes to speak and five minutes for rebuttal and then allowed the audience to field questions to any of the 23 candidates present.

Mayor McCoy, speaking first, outlined as many programs as he could in the 10 minutes he was allotted. He listed as one of the most important ones the extensive sewer line installation throughout the town and the obtaining of a federal grant to expand the sewage treatment plant.

He also cited the "giant step" taken to alleviate traffic problems in town—getting the state to widen Rt. 30 and Rt. 83 and the installation of traffic control signals.

The installation of some eight miles of sidewalks, which he said benefited the children who walk to school and older persons who like to walk, was another major accomplishment mentioned.

He said he took issue with comments from the opposition that the sidewalks were not satisfactory, noting that the walkway on West Rd. was put in the way it was due to the topography of the area and to save taking down any trees or shrubs unless absolutely necessary.

He also said he worked diligently to get the high-rise apartment, "which was bogged down in a morass of legal complications," built. In the area of services for the elderly, he also said he recommended to the Town Council that it waive payment in lieu of taxes for the elderly projects to help stabilize the rents.

He added that the town has fiscally maintained an excellent financial rating, taxes were reduced by 1.5 mills this year and the atmosphere of the annual budget meeting has been reversed due to the fact that improvements in such areas as zoning, setting up a summer youth hiring program, obtaining a grant to renovate the Memorial Building, improvements in the refuse collection, and improvements in recreation programs were a few of the other programs listed by the mayor as accomplished during his terms in office.

After listing the many things he has done and the many hours spent on getting them done, he further charged that there is an illusion that zoning and planning reform is under way. He said that there were no fast food outlets along Rt. 83 during the two years under Democratic Mayor Thomas McCusker. He also criticized the doubling of the number of apartment units and the additional traffic on Rt. 83.

He termed McCoy's appointment of a Zoning Task Force "a crisis appointment" and added that none of the recommendations of the group has been acted upon.

Roche also criticized the mayor for what he termed was mishandling of the purchase of the dump area, the sale of industrial park land, the purchase of camp Nuobaca, the handling of recreation funds, and the misdirecting of some funds.

Roche advocates rapid implementation of a Capital Improvements Program, a seven-point program aimed at zoning reform, planning and zoning enforcement, and several other improvements in the area of recreation, sidewalks, and governmental interrelationships. Roche closed by stating that he feels the voter has a clear choice on Nov. 6, "the government by crisis of the present one-man rule administration, or the government dedicated to the system of checks and balances that our charter calls for."

In his brief rebuttal, Roche criticized the sewer construction on Merline Rd. He said he talked with people there and they are upset with the way it was handled and upset with the cost.

Referring to the $300,000 federal grant received for renovation of the Memorial Building, Roche questioned how this project rated in the list of town priorities. He said it was not to cost the taxpayers anything but when the bids came in, the low bid was $675,000. He charged that "geared to the proximity of election day" it was decided to put the project out to bid again and "the town has absolutely nothing, but the illusion is there."

U.N. Assembling Troops To Enforce Cease-Fire

By The Associated Press Israel reported it had beaten back an attempt by the Egyptian 3rd Army to break through encircling Israeli forces today as U.N. officials began putting together an international force to patrol the Middle East cease-fire.

In Moscow, Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev announced the Soviet Union has "sent representatives" to the war-torn area at the request of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat. He did not describe the persons sent and did not say whether they were military forces.

Sadat on Wednesday had asked for both Soviet and U.S. troops to enforce the U.N. cease-fire. The United States rejected the request and said about 60 phone calls to inform the United States of the forces into the troubled area.

The Soviet Union appeared to agree with this when it supported a U.N. resolution specifying that Security Council members, including both the United States and the Soviet Union, should be barred from the U.N. peacekeeping force.

Before passage of the resolution, U.S. military installations were placed on alert, and administration sources said they believed at one point that about 1,000 Russian troops were en route to Egypt.

Brezhnev accused Israel of violating United Nations calls for a truce and declared "urgent and necessary measures were required to implement the cease-fire."

Pressure Mounts For New Watergate Special Prosecutor

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's chief domestic adviser says a new Watergate prosecutor likely will be named to replace Archibald Cox.

The prediction by White House aide Melvin R. Laird was made at a news conference in Chicago Thursday as it became evident that Congress will not settle for a Justice Department probe of the still-swirling scandal.

The President, who canceled a broadcast address Wednesday and news conference Thursday, was expected to meet with reporters at the White House today. Meanwhile, there were new disclosures in cases involving Nixon's close friend, Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo, and the alleged milk-price deal between the administration and Connecticut's Greater Hartford Chamber of Commerce on the issue.

Reference was made to a sales promotion stunt that may affect the health of youths who participate in an endurance contest.

Yesterday's meeting at the Manchester Country Club followed a different format than usual with several round-table luncheon discussions. Archibald Stuart, council president, moderated the reports.

"Arrange an 'open house' to acquaint the public with the various agency offices. The program involves a family of a comment from the talk by Town Manager Robert Weiss, that the council maintain an action program, not just a talking program."

Mrs. Frances Kleiman, social worker at the New Hope Manor on Hartford Rd., said improvements are made to the quarters, the accommodations for drug dependent girls will be increased to about 30 girls. At present there are six girls at the former Jessie Lee House.

The program involves a year-round school schedule — 12 weeks of classes and 12 weeks of work. Michael Spiciale, assistant coordinator of Infoline, gave a partial breakdown. Several calls dealt with mental health crises, family and individual counseling, and transportation requests. Most requests, said Spiciale, are for general legal information. Some are for housing, he said. He reminded the group that Infoline stays open 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, and the number is 321-7150.

Mrs. Dorothy Schiomo described a proposed committee for the handicapped for the purpose of evaluation and procurement of physical, recreational, legislative and social services for all handicapped and disabled people in the Manchester area. There will be an organizational meeting for this purpose Saturday at 1 p.m. in the student center at MCC.

Allan Mason, human services coordinator, was unanimously elected executive secretary of the Manchester Community Services Council.

Soviets Send Personnel To Mideast

MOSCOW (AP) — Leonid I. Brezhnev said today Soviet personnel have been sent to the Middle East in response to Egyptian calls for help from the United States and the Soviet Union to help secure a ceasefire. He expressed the hope the United States would do the same.

The Soviet Communist party leader did not specify that the personnel sent to the Middle East were military men. He said the Soviet Union is ready to cooperate in returning the Middle East to normal "along with all other interested countries," and added:

"But such actions undertaken in certain circles of NATO countries in recent days — such as an artificial heightening of tensions through dissemination of various kinds of fantastic inventions on the intentions of the Soviet Union in the Middle East — cannot favor such cooperation."

Brezhnev did not elaborate on this point. The United States is the leading power in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Referring to the call Wednesday by President Anwar Sadat of Egypt for U.S. and Soviet troops to police the Middle East cease-fire, Brezhnev said:

"We expressed our readiness to satisfy Egypt's request and have already sent such representatives."

While saying that he hoped the United States would follow suit, Brezhnev added, however, that the Soviet Union would entertain "other possible measures in connection with the continued violations of the cease-fire."

Brezhnev, who is the Soviet Union's top leader, did not specify what these measures would be.

In connection with Thursday's U.S. Security Council resolution that established a

The Israeli state radio reported the estimated 20,000 troops, surrounded by Israelis in the Sinai Desert, are in desperate straits and are running out of food and water. While the command reported repeated Egyptian cease-fire violations in efforts to escape the trap, the state radio said several other encircled troops have surrendered to the Israelis.

The Israeli reported that an oil tanker, first said to have been disabled by Egyptian artillery, had struck an Egyptian mine at the southern entrance to the Gulf of Suez. Two crewmen were injured and taken off the ship, identified as the Israeli-owned 29,522-ton Siris, a communicate said.

The vessel, it said, was still afloat but "it is feared that it cannot be saved from sinking." King Faisal of Saudi Arabia told an interviewer that the Egyptian mine attack was the wake of the cease-fire was to have Israel withdraw from territory occupied in the latest war and in 1967.

He warned Arabs to prepare for more war in case Israel refuses to give up the occupied land. Faisal also told the Beirut magazine Al Dnyar that his oil embargo against the United States will be maintained until

Citadel Becomes Night Classroom For Adults

Maybe you can't teach an old dog new tricks, but a person is never too old to try to catch up on education that has been missed. About 20 women of all ages over 16 can be found during any given weekday working with two teachers and one aide at school studies in basement rooms of the Salvation Army Citadel on Main St.

The adult education classes are part of a federally funded general educational development program which has been going on about five years. A high school equivalency program is being offered this year for the first time.

The class members who are not working towards a high school diploma are in pre-high school review classes. The program, which includes lessons in English, science, mathematics and social studies, is free and open to all men and women over the age of 16 from Manchester, East Hartford, Vernon and Enfield. There is also a program offered for the foreign-born to learn English.

Registration is continuous during the regular school year for the classes which are held daily, except Friday, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Vote Zinsser

To the editor:
Having known and worked with Carl Zinsser for several years, I have been in a position to see the amazing amount of time and energy he has spent working for his community.
Most of this work does not receive notoriety, nor does it offer any reward beyond personal gratification.
I believe that if the voters of Manchester will elect Carl Zinsser to the Board of Directors, they will find a man who is a tireless worker but equally important, a man who has the knowledge and ability to get the job done.

'Thanks'

Dear Sir:
I'd like to say a word of "thanks" for our local police department.
Recently a problem occurred on Parker Street. I called the police and they responded immediately. They handled the situation professionally and quickly.
It is not easy to keep order, as parents, teachers and elected officials know. I appreciate the responsiveness of our police.

Vote Willhide

Dear fellow citizens:
On Election Day, do yourselves a favor and cast a vote for Paul Willhide for town director. We have both known this selectman for over 10 years and we assure you that it is truly refreshing to know that people of his caliber are running for Board of Directors this year. These, like ourselves, who know Paul Willhide either through church, community services or perhaps even a friendly Sunday afternoon softball game, realize that he represents the interests of the majority of Manchester residents.
One of the most admirable qualities of Paul Willhide is his ability to speak up on issues and do something for the understandably concerned citizens of our town. There are many candidates running for public office this year and we will all be making our choices soon. One thing we can promise you is that we will elect Paul Willhide to the Board of Directors who will hear his name and read of his hard work and accomplishments long after most of the opposing candidates, like their bumper stickers, have faded from sight.
Sincerely,
Greg and Marthan Pope

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Friday, October 26th, the 299th day of 1973. There are 66 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1825, the Erie Canal was opened, connecting the waters of Lake Erie and the Hudson River.
On this date: In 1780, George III was crowned king of England.
In 1774, the First Continental Congress adjourned in Philadelphia.
In 1905, Sweden recognized their independence of Norway.
In 1917, Brazil declared war against Germany.
In 1942, the U.S. aircraft carrier, "Hornet," was sunk in the Pacific war battle of the Solomon Islands.
In 1961, 33 Soviet tanks moved into East Berlin during a dispute over Allied rights of free entry into the Communist sector.
Ten years ago ... the Soviet Union indicated it was bowing out of the race with the United States to put the first man on the moon.
Five years ago ... a manned spacecraft launched by the Soviets maneuvered closed to an unmanned Soviet craft during while in orbit around the earth.
One year ago ... presidential assistant Henry Kissinger declared that "peace was at hand" in Vietnam.
Today's birthdays: The Shah of Iran, Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, is 54 years old. Republican Sen. Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts also is 54.
All who call ourselves Christians have our "road" mapped for us, in our personal lives and in our public lives we must take Christ seriously. We must be deeply convinced that His Life in this world and His teachings are the only blueprint for our lives.

Today's Thought

Only a relatively small number of people prepare and sign a peace treaty. But it takes a very large percentage of all the people in a country to make a lasting peace a reality. Hence, all of us in this country have a part to play in making peace a factor in our national life. Just as it will require a very large percentage of the people of Vietnam, working together to bring peace to that country.
If we Americans want to have peace in our country we must build it on a foundation that is solid. This eliminates materialism, secularism, pragmatism, force, and no other such theories that have no place for God.
When our lives are lived according to these guidelines, we shall be giving the kind of witness to which we committed ourselves in baptism. And we shall be contributing in a very positive way to a lasting peace in our country and in the world.

Max Lerner Comments The Frankfurter Inheritance

NEW YORK, N. Y. — Columnists often have dreams (if not delusions) of grandeur about their clout on opinion and their impact on history. In most cases, the fact falls to bear out the dream. But my colleague, Jack Anderson, can claim to be an exception, as witness his partial triumph in the strange case of the Frankfurter collection.
Sometime ago, there was a serious theft from the Library of Congress of papers and diaries of the late Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter. Whatever their money value, they were of high historic importance. The shrewdness with which the choice was made of the stuff to be stolen, leaving the rest, showed it was a scholarly larceny. Anderson reported the theft in his column and, in response to his appeal, someone — presumably the scholarly felon — has now sent him copies of the stolen letters, but not the precious diaries. The latter, alas, are the real treasure.
There are mind-enticing possibilities behind the whole story. Is the thief a real legal, historical scholar or only some hanger-on who sees a chance to make a buck? Will he hold on to the stuff while it is hot and then sell it to a university library in the kind of black market made famous by stolen paintings or rifled archival treasures?
If the thief is himself a scholar, does he plan to use it to write a learned book? If so, does he think he can get away with citations to letters and diaries which the knowing know to have been stolen? Perhaps he doesn't plan to write the book himself, but to have someone else do it. He had a pastime for justice and care about social change, but he had an almost esthetic revulsion from any kind of zealotry, whether Right or Left.
Most of all, he scorned the simplistic approaches to tangled, knotty problems and to institutions that had built themselves into the society. He regarded the simplistic people as simpletons, and saw the slogan thinking as a set of names of the Four Freedoms, or something. So far as I can recall, all have been served — courteously if not enthusiastically.
But, ah! (The feliberris always have an ah, hal up their sleeves.) Several members of the National Organization for Women testified that most women would be put off by sign or, once inside, would find an atmosphere of "hostility."
One of those witnesses was Carol Ryan, a computer-systems manager, who said she had found no other women in the bar when she peeked into the place on two occasions one night. "Every eye was focused on me, and I didn't have the courage to order a drink," said Miss, or Mrs., Ryan.
Let it pass that someone of my might find curious a female who resents being the center of attention. The relevant fact is that Carol Ryan did NOT claim she was thrown out or even asked to leave. Unless the habits of men's bars have changed, she probably was welcome, but it was her own decision — not that of the bartender or the customers — to refrain from having one for the road.
Again to the logical mind, it would seem to support the assertion of Frederick W. Rovet, a lawyer and president of Realty Hotels Inc. "It's not a man's bar," said Rovet. "There is no implication that the word 'men's' is exclusionary." But when

Capital Fare Lousy Legs

WASHINGTON — I keep trying not to notice the more idiotic activities of Women's Lib, but just when I'm about to decide that the fringe nuts are also people something comes up like the case of the Billmore Hotel's Men's Bar.
This New York watering hole, dear to the hearts of male commuters from time immemorial, has come under attack from the city's Human Rights Commission, which apparently found itself with even less to do than usual. The commission charges that the bar's name and the signs designating it as such are in violation of the public accommodations law.
Now, then. The commission scheduled a hearing on the matter. To the logical mind, a hearing is intended to get at the facts of a case so a judgment can be made. Not, apparently, to what passes as the corporate mind of the Human Rights Commission. Like the Wild West's Judge Bean, that outfit favors an automatic hanging.
Accordingly, in the middle of the hearing, presiding commissioner Murray Gross informed counsel for the Billmore that continued use of the bar's name "would appear discriminatory on the face of it."
On what face of what? No one contended that the bar refuses service to women. Indeed, as any annoyed male can testify, certain hard-bitten females over the years frequently have invaded the Men's Bar. In the

Coventry Board Concerned Over Cost Of Ten From Mansfield

MONICA SHEA
Correspondent
Board of Education members say they believe in the concept of returning students from the Mansfield Training School to communities, but are concerned about where to get money to pay for special education for ten students if they are housed in Coventry.
The cost of educating the ten students at the Talcoville School would be $17,000 in tuition and $9,000 for transportation. The state would reimburse about 85% of it.
If these students become residents of town the board has no choice but to educate them.
Robert Walsh moved that the school bus drivers be instructed to pull over to the side of the road and shut off their flashing lights when an emergency vehicle, ambulance, fire truck or police car is approaching them. At the present time emergency vehicles must stop for the school buses.
This motion was passed unanimously.
Student enrollment is up by 20 pupils in all the schools.

Chorus Will Compete In Area Competition

Manchester's barbershop chorus will rely on the South tomorrow afternoon when they sing in competition with other barbershop choruses from the North in Lake Placid, N.Y. It will be the annual chorus contest of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Inc., Northeastern District.
The Silk City Chorus will offer "Down Where the South Begins" and "Ring the Bells in Dixieland" before a panel of judges and an audience expected to number more than 2,300 at the resort city's Olympic Arena. Twenty-four barbershop choruses will compete for the title of Northeastern District Chorus Champion and the right to represent the district in S.F.E.S.S.A.'s international chorus contest in Kansas City, Mo., next summer.
The Manchester men currently are ranked among the top ten of 79 choruses that comprise the barbershopper's Northeastern District. The group placed eighth last year in contest sessions at Montreal's Queen Elizabeth Hotel.
Competing choruses in Lake Placid are those that qualified in area contests earlier this year. Other choruses from Connecticut that will compete are groups from New London and Housatonic-Derby.

Coventry Felice Hits Stand By Miller

MONICA SHEA
Correspondent
Anthony Felice, Democratic Board of Education candidate, today challenged what he called the "recent irresponsible public statements made by the Process-DevCo's Citizens Advisory Committee."
"I cannot believe that anyone who lives in Coventry, and is concerned about education could be so ill-informed," said Felice.
According to Felice, "Their claims of inadequate pre-school facilities is totally unfounded. And there are no publicly funded programs, there are three privately run cooperative nursery schools plus one day-care center," he said.
Felice added, "Furthermore, the school staff has been working with some of these programs to insure coordination of curriculum."
"The Democrats are not prepared to recommend that Coventry taxpayers foot the bill for pre-school education," he said.
Felice noted that, "The DevCo statement about the town's having a community school is an outdated notion. It dates back to the early 1960s when the Board of Education formally approved the community school concept. The expanding hard hat use in schools which is up one-third over the past two years coupled with our Adult Education programs are clear indications of the board's intent."
"Community school grants by the Mott Foundation are also being explored," he said.
"The DevCo groups remarks on curriculum again leave the impression that they are operating in a vacuum," Felice said.
"An exhaustive study was undertaken by Curriculum Coordination Study Committee composed of townspeople in 1969-70. Some of the recommendations of the group have been instituted including the Sequential Learning Program, the middle school language arts program, a much broader high school curriculum and a continuing development in all school levels," according to Felice.
Noting that the citizens group had investigated Coventry's physical needs in education, Felice said, "The Town's Building Needs Study Committee completed its investigation of this matter in 1971 and found that there is no immediate need for new school construction and no projected need for significant construction throughout the 1970's."
Felice said in closing, "It is ironic that the Mr. Willhide Miller, who says 'Ask yourselves what DevCo can do' is the same Miller who continually urges severe cuts in the education budget at our annual town meetings."

Employment Increases Reported

HARTFORD (AP) — Employment in 13 of Connecticut's 17 labor market areas increased in September from a year ago, state Labor Commissioner Jack A. Fusari said Thursday.
Hartford recorded the largest gain, 14,040, followed by New London, 3,590; Waterbury, 3,690; Bridgeport, 3,590; Danbury, 2,320; and New Haven, 2,290.
Fusari said factory workers in the Bristol area earned a record $203.43 weekly in September for an average 43.1-hour week at $4.72 per hour. In Stamford factory workers earned $189.47 weekly, followed by New Britain's $185.74 and Hartford's $185.27.
The labor commissioner reported five per cent over employment statewide for September, the lowest in over three years. He said the New London area had the lowest jobless rate with 3.5 per cent. Other unemployment figures were Hartford, 4.1 per cent; Danbury, 4.5 per cent; Norwalk, 4.8 per cent, and Willimantic, 4.9 per cent.

Coventry Better Rapport Urged by Keller

MONICA SHEA
Correspondent
Robert Keller, Republican candidate for Town Council, stated in a recent position paper that elected officials have the obligation to be always alert to improve the lines of communication between the various boards and commissions as well as all interested agencies and groups within the town.
He therefore offers the following seven-point plan of action for consideration:
1. Invite one board or commission or town officer to meet with the Town Council at each regular meeting. In this way the council is in a better position to get direct input from the various groups within the town on a constantly rotating basis.
2. Encourage a better liaison between the town committees of the two political parties and representatives of the non-affiliated political organizations.
3. Publish the agenda meetings of town boards and commissions at least 48 hours in advance of the meeting. Also publish the minutes of the meetings at its conclusion.
4. Publish summaries of activities of the police and fire departments and ambulance service for granted now. The idea of letting the townspeople know what is happening in these areas would go a long way in focusing interest and attention on these three vital community services.
5. Establish an open door policy in the Town Hall, making key town personnel readily available to townspeople to hear their views on what are considered important questions to the citizens of Coventry.
6. Encourage citizens to notify their elected officials when significant land purchasing pressure is observed or when contacted by persons interested in purchasing large tracts of land.
7. Encourage citizens to notify the zoning agent when obvious violations of town zoning laws and ordinances are observed.

School Personnel Urge Yes Vote For Addition

BARBARA RICHMOND (Herald Reporter) The Vernon Board of Education, the school administrators and the teachers feel they are being hamstrung in administering to the needs of the students at Rockville High School and the big problem is double sessions and the lack of space.

At a press conference held yesterday, board members and administrators made a final plea to the people of Vernon to go to the polls on Nov. 6 and vote yes for the construction of an addition to the high school.

Additional committee chairmen helping to make Manchester's contribution to the United Way of Greater Hartford fund drive successful are Mrs. Lois Dunham and Dr. Kenneth Wichman.

United Way Chairmen

Most of the high school students have indicated they do not like double sessions and limits the number of subjects they can take and also greatly limits any extra-curricular activities such as sports and clubs.

Commenting on suggestions made by some people that the system should go on a year-round school program, the board members said this program does not save any money, "it just makes for more efficient use of the buildings."

Area Lottery Numbers List By The Associated Press Here is a list of winning weekly lottery numbers from northeastern states drawn this week.

September Trade Surplus Biggest Monthly Gain In Eight Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States had a trade surplus during September of $973 million, the biggest single monthly surplus in more than eight years, the Commerce Department reported today.

The trade balance with Japan continued to improve, but still was in deficit. A trade surplus with the European Common Market increased.

The surplus of $973 million in September was the biggest single monthly surplus since March 1965 when it was $978 million.

Exports were listed as $6,448,400,000 and imports at $5,475,430,000, an increase of 7.4 per cent for exports and a decline of 7.4 per cent for imports from a month earlier.

The September surplus also put the country's trade for the first nine months of the year into a surplus by $183 million, compared with a deficit at the same time a year earlier of just over $4.8 billion.

The figures indicated the United States has a good chance of recording a trade surplus this year following deficits of $3 billion in 1972 and $2 billion in 1971.

The Commerce Department said the big jump in September exports was in civilian aircraft, machinery, chemicals and textiles. The decline in imports occurred in consumer goods, crude petroleum, steel and non-ferrous metals.

Total exports so far in 1973 have been at an annual rate of $67.5 billion, 37 per cent above the 1972 total of $49.2 billion. Imports during the first nine months have been at a rate of $7.3 billion, about 21 per cent above the 1972 total of $5.6 billion.

The Commerce Department said the big jump in September exports and the big drop in imports was unexpected and said trade was "strongly influenced by unusually volatile movements" during the month.

The country's trade picture has been the biggest single bright spot in the economy of the country this year.

Officials have said the turnaround in trade largely is a result from the two devaluations of the U.S. dollar which have made U.S. goods cheaper abroad and foreign goods more expensive at home.

In addition to strengthening the dollar, the administration says trade also benefits Americans in that every $1 billion in new trade creates 72,000 jobs.

Candidates Are Saying —

Howard E. Fitts

(Howard E. Fitts is an incumbent Republican Town Council member in South Windsor.)

The responsiveness of this year's Republican platform has been clearly demonstrated by recent opposition party comments. We have recommended the establishment of a management committee consisting of the chairman of the Board of Education, the chairman of the Planning and Zoning Commission and the mayor. This group should meet regularly in order to coordinate programs and planning and open up communications.

South Windsor is a $9 million business making use of the funds of local citizens. We owe it to the taxpayers to carefully plan ahead to produce the kind of town they want and to make the most effective use of their tax dollars.

Recent comments on the Republican position of no more apartments for South Windsor produced the comment that "members of the PZC are elected and bear the responsibility of zoning and zone changes." This comment highlights the very narrow view of the party in power and fails to recognize that the town council must budget for and raise tax monies to support these zones and zone changes. It is the height of folly to assume planning and zoning matters can be separated from the basic financial activities dealt with by the town council or the population implications dealt with by the board of education.

The potential for the destruction of South Windsor as we have it today is in the PRD regulations so callously presented by the PZC last week. The proposed management committee would bring together the policymakers of the elected boards so an issue of such impact would be discussed by these municipal agencies — an activity that does not occur at this time.

The warm, sunny weather we've had well past the middle of October has given vegetable growers a fall bonus of crops that would have been killed by an earlier frost.

Field-ripened tomatoes and good quality sweet corn have been going to the Hartford Regional Market from nearby farms this third week of October. Maurice Yandow Jr. of Fowler & Hunting, wholesale produce firm, said green beans, wax beans, both yellow and green summer squash and locally grown peppers were all arriving this week.

Most of these late crops, he said, are sold by farmers to operators of independent grocery stores or roadside stands. The supermarkets, that need vegetables in large volume, have for the most part turned to shipped-in produce.

A roadside stand operator in Bolton, Eugene Giglio, picked sweet corn for us Tuesday of this week from a field that will continue to yield good ears until it is killed by frost. It is yellow corn, called Merit.

After he planned the corn July 15, Mr. Giglio really left it to survive or perish without his help. It was never cultivated and never sprayed. A thunderstorm and high wind on Aug. 31 flattened the stalks but the corn was young enough to straighten itself up again quite well.

Stripped Many Ears

Many stalks in the next field that had been growing a few weeks longer stayed in a lagged smart, flat on the ground or leaning at all angles, and the animals that like corn moved promptly into this field to help themselves. Gray squirrels, skunks and raccoons have stripped many ears, beginning with those on the ground and then pulling down others that they could reach.

One family of skunks dug a burrow in the middle of the cornfield and stayed there all summer.

There are a few corn borers also in Mr. Giglio's corn, and he regards them as a necessary nuisance. He doesn't use any insecticide spray for two reasons. He can tell his customers that there has been no spray on the corn, which is regarded as important by many of them.

Furthermore, the stalks will eventually be fed to dairy animals on the Giglio Bros.

PUD Seen Spurring Housing for Elderly

MARGARET LACROIX

(This is the last in a series of articles on Planned Unit Development)

According to the Connecticut General Statutes the South Windsor Planning and Zoning Commission must act within 65 days from Oct. 9 on the Planned Residential (PR) Zone regulations.

Minor changes to the regulations can be made by the commission, but any major changes must be taken before a public hearing.

If the regulations are adopted, South Windsor will join most of its neighboring towns which also have similar regulations. Manchester, Glastonbury and Marlborough also permit a variety of housing within a planned zone.

The PR zone may bring housing for the elderly to South Windsor. At his presentation at the Oct. 9 public hearing, Commission Chairman William Grace said that one of the most important aspects of the PR zone regulations is that they will encourage the development of housing for the elderly.

According to the report of the Governor's Task Force on Housing, the elderly are adversely affected by the housing situation because they have fixed incomes on which to live.

Housing for the elderly would be desirable. Retirement communities would only cater to the elderly and would keep out young families which put a strain on the educational and recreational facilities of the town.

If the plan is adopted as it stands, there is one important pitfall, according to State Rep. G. Warren Westbrook of South Windsor. In expressing his concern for the protection of the town he questions the default concept in the regulations.

The developer has five years to complete his project, according to the regulations. If he builds in segments, which is usually the process, the question arises as to what percentage of the building must be completed before a certificate of occupancy can be issued.

For example, if the plan includes 400 units to be built, and after completing and allowing occupancy for 25 units, the developer cannot finish the project, the town of South Windsor will be left with an unfinished and partly occupied development.

Westbrook suggests that there be a regulation stating that a high percentage of the building must be completed before the certificate of occupancy can be issued. This would protect the town.

If the plan is adopted, apartments and condominiums will surely come to South Windsor, but the Planning and Zoning Commission will have rigid control over how and where they come.

Engineer Corps May Help Town With Drainage

Vernon may get some assistance from the U.S. Corps of Engineers in solving several serious drainage problems which have been magnified by the increased volume of rainfall over the past few years coupled with continuing development of the town.

Mayor Frank McCoy said he wrote to the Corps of Engineers in September requesting assistance in completing a study of the problems which could lead to a system of retention basins, control of water volumes and velocities, and establishing alternate systems mitigating the flooding situations which developed at the end of the water season.

He said Leonard Sczesny, town engineer, has been working on a review of the problems but because of the volume of work his office is handling, the review is only in the initial stages.

In a letter from the Corps of Engineers, it was noted that it does not have the authority to perform consulting services concerning local drainage systems. He said, however, that the 1948 Flood Control Act allows the Corps of Engineers to provide local flood protection work if there is economic justification for modifying an inadequate major drainage outlet.

The office explained that this referred to a stream or river which is usually the collector for a lateral drainage system. He said within a few days a member of the corps' office will meet with him to analyze the problem and to see whether the corps can furnish any technical assistance in the solution of the problem.

The mayor said he feels that the Ogden Brook and the Hockanum River both could be interpreted to be collectors of lateral drainage and he hopes to convince the engineers to provide technical assistance.

Two of the major problem areas are at the intersection of West Rd., Union St. and Windsor Ave. and in the Sispic St. area.

Time Away From Parents Called Benefit for Children

Some research has shown that there is a better relationship between parent and child after they have been separated sometimes during the day than there is with constant togetherness. Dr. Tanash Atyanan told parents of children attending the Hockanum Valley Day Care Center in Vernon.

Dr. Atyanan is the psychiatrist-director of the Manchester Community Child Guidance Clinic. He assured the parents that in the experience of day care centers, both here and abroad, that children attending them actually benefit in some unexpected ways.

He also stressed the fact that mothers who may not have to work for financial reasons may need to for emotional health, they may need time to themselves to grow in various ways, or to lessen the burden of a large family.

Listing the many benefits of day care center, Dr. Atyanan said that pre-schoolers benefit from being with other children and also by being under the watchful eye of sensitive and trained people who, "Are more apt to spot behavioral, emotional or physical problems which might not be noticed by the parent."

He explained that six or seven years ago only three per cent of the children being treated at the child guidance clinic were of pre-school age. He said not presumably as a result of professional observation, 18 per cent of those being treated are pre-schoolers. He added that many children with problems may have had them go unnoticed until they arrived at elementary school.

The session provided some answers to questions of the parents concerning bringing up their children and perhaps left them with a good feeling that they are lucky to have the day care center in Vernon.

Detectives said the man pictured was seen in the area near Anthony Road home where the girl reportedly went after telling her mother she was going to retrieve a butterfly.

Her bicycle was found nearby but police said they never found a trace of Janice.

Detectives said they believed the man in the sketch, described as between 30 and 40 years old, "may be able to supply them with valuable information concerning the child's whereabouts."

Mrs. Gail Burch Gets CofC Post

Mrs. Gail Burch has been named director of retail affairs of the Greater Hartford Chamber of Commerce, according to Richard G. Clark, chamber executive vice president.

Mrs. Burch was one of 20 applicants from across the country who applied for the position, Clark said.

She will assume the responsibilities for the overall coordination of the total retail community, business consumer relations, and will be working with the coordinators of the Main Street Guild and the Parkade Merchants Association as they independently plan their individual promotional calendars.

Mrs. Burch is a 1971 graduate of the University of Minnesota with a bachelor's degree in degree in business administration and a bachelor of arts degree in journalism. She was previously employed by the Nutmeg Broadcasting Co. in Williamstown as an advertising consultant.

Her husband, Terrill L. Burch, is a doctoral candidate majoring in geology at the University of Connecticut at Storrs. She will begin her responsibilities at the Chamber on Monday.

Democrats Unearth 1923 Registration List

Democratic Registrar of Voters Herbert Stevenson has unearthed a registration list dated Aug. 11, 1923 which shows there were 519 registered Democrats in Manchester then — with a town population of about 18,750. A search for Republican registration figures for that period has been unsuccessful to date, but is continuing.

Because the 19th Amendment (giving women the right to vote) was ratified in late 1920, it was the custom in those days to list men and women voters separately.

The 1923 Democratic list shows 307 men voters and 212 women voters making up the 519 total.

Today, Manchester's population is estimated at about 49,000 and the registered Democrats number 10,825.

In 1923 the registered Democrats equaled just under 3 per cent of Manchester's population. Today, they equal just under 22 per cent of the population.

Thomas Sheridan was Manchester's Democratic registrar of voters in 1923. The Republican registrar was Thomas Ferguson.

Mayfair Y Club will have a kitchen social Monday at 1:30 p.m. in Crown Hall of Mayfair Gardens. The event is open to all Mayfair residents.

Nov. 14 Hearing Set By 'Blue Ribbon' Unit

Manchester's "Blue Ribbon" Government Study Committee has scheduled a public hearing for Nov. 14, to hear citizen views on the type of government best suited for Manchester.

The hearing will be held at 8 p.m. in the Municipal Building Hearing Room.

The 15-member committee was named by the Board of Directors in August, as a direct result of a 1,464 signature petition submitted to it in March.

The petition, circulated by the Manchester Property Owners Association, requested the board to schedule an "opinion" referendum — so that the voters might decide what form of government is best for Manchester.

Simultaneously with accepting the March petition, the board accepted a report by the now-dissolved Charter Revision Commission. The CRC report recommended Manchester remain its council-manager form of government, and rejected an MPOA proposal for a change to a strong-mayor form of government.

The committee was instructed to conduct a thorough study of the town's form of government, to determine whether it correctly serves the best interests of Manchester.

It was told the study should be "thorough and objective, non-political, and reflecting a diversity of the various interests in Manchester."

Mrs. Putnam is scheduled to appear in court Nov. 5, police said.

Parties Agree: No Literature

In the interest of neatness, population-control and, to a lesser extent, economy, Manchester's two political parties are repeating an agreement made last year.

They have agreed not to distribute campaign and election material in the vicinity of the town's 10 polling places election day in a statement.

The second televised program for the poll workers will be Nov. 1, 8 p.m.

About 40 teen-aged girls were honored Thursday night at Manchester Memorial Hospital for service in the Junior Auxiliary Volunteer program.

Paul Moss, assistant administrator at the hospital, thanked the girls for their contribution to the hospital. He said hospital work is hard and essential and not always as glamorous as it is often portrayed on television.

"I'm sure it can save lives because it can identify damage, and proper therapy can be started," he said.

Gale Warnings Issued Along Seaboard

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Tropical Storm Gilda, packing winds of 65 miles an hour and churning up 25-foot seas, issued gale warnings from North Carolina to Massachusetts, the National Hurricane Center said.

Forecasters warned of heavy tides and beach erosion along the East Coast and pestered gale warnings from Cape Hatteras, N.C., to Merrimac River, Mass.

"Gilda's rather a large storm with some occasional gusts in the center at hurricane force and gales reaching inland. But we believe she's reached her maximum strength and will start weakening," a spokesman at the hurricane center said.

He said the storm was expected to pick up speed today and head further out to open sea.

A rather high astronomical tide today will produce some coastal flooding," forecasters said. "Serious beach erosion is likely to reach a peak with tides up to three feet above normal." Small craft were warned to stay in port.

Gilda first reached tropical storm strength last week in the Caribbean but was later downgraded to a tropical depression. After traveling the Atlantic, Gilda picked up strength and was again designated a tropical storm on Wednesday.

Gilda is the seventh tropical storm of the 1973 Atlantic season. Four of the storms became hurricanes when their winds exceeded 74 m.p.h.

Ford And UAW Reach Accord

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers reached tentative agreement on a new contract with Ford Motor Co. early today, averting a scheduled 10 a.m. walkout by 185,000 workers.

Local negotiations will continue and strike authorizations will be given as necessary, UAW President Leonard Woodcock said in announcing the new contract.

He did not release details of the new package.

"But obviously we would not have accepted it if we did not think it was acceptable to Ford workers," Woodcock said. "We're satisfied with the contract. I don't know if we're pleased."

But a union source in Local 1250, Cleveland, Ohio, said the three-year package includes retirement after 25 years with full benefits for the firm's 9,000 foundry workers, a goal not achieved in the pattern contract with Chrysler.

Woodcock declined to say how close the contract matches the Chrysler pattern.

"We still have a General Motors problem, Ford of Canada problem and a General Motors of Canada problem," Woodcock said, referring to auto industry contracts which still must be negotiated.

Woodcock said 40 of Ford's 97 bargaining units still were without local contracts.

The assembly will open Saturday at 1:45 p.m. The Sunday program will also open at 1:45 p.m., when Frank R. Bartel, a representative of the Watchtower Society, will speak.

"Act Wisely As the End Draws Near."

The program is open to the public free of charge according to Wright, and those interested in attending the assembly may contact him for directions.

There will be no meetings at the local Kingdom Hall this weekend.

Test Detects Heart Damage

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — A simple new blood enzyme test developed here can spot minor heart attacks undetected by electrocardiograms and save thousands of patients who otherwise wouldn't get treatment, its developers say.

"This is the most sensitive and specific test to determine damage to the heart," said the test's developer, Dr. Paul Wolf.

He is associate professor of pathology and director of the Stanford Medical Center clinical laboratories at Stanford University.

"I'm sure it can save lives because it can identify damage, and proper therapy can be started," he said.

Price Is Right!

He said the test takes only a few minutes and can be performed with equipment in most hospitals.

Appointment No Surprise

Four months ago while dining at the Yankee Stadium VIP room with Lee MacPhail, general manager of the New York Yankees and Yankee Public Relations Director Bob Fishel, I asked if I was talking with the next president of the American League.

MacPhail, a close friend of many years, didn't confirm or deny that he had been offered the top position in the major circuit. However, his eyes supplied the answer and it was only a matter of time before the official announcement would be made.

The latter came Tuesday when American League club owners unanimously endorsed the New York front office executive to fill the shoes of the retired Joe Cronin. MacPhail knows baseball inside and out and there is every reason to believe that he will give strong leadership to the position.

The chances are good that Fishel will be offered a job in league headquarters which undoubtedly will be moved from Boston to New York. There is no finer and capable man in public relations than Fishel.

MacPhail, a close friend of many years, didn't confirm or deny that he had been offered the top position in the major circuit. However, his eyes supplied the answer and it was only a matter of time before the official announcement would be made.

Last-Place Teams For Baseball Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — Ferguson Jenkins, who wasn't sure if he wanted to play anymore, and Willie McCovey, who was sure he wasn't playing one more day, were traded to last place clubs.

Jenkins, a 29-game winner for the San Francisco Giants, was traded to the Chicago Cubs before falling to 14-16 this year. He was dealt Thursday to the Texas Rangers, the last-place team in the American League West, for Bill Madlock and Vic Harris.

McCovey, who has blasted 413 career homers for the San Francisco Giants, but was critical of Manager Charlie Fox for benching him in 1973, was traded to the San Diego Padres, the last-place club in the National League West, for pitcher Mike Caldwell.

In other baseball developments, American League Detroit for details on the signing of Manager Ralph Houk from the New York Yankees and slugger Frank Howard was given his release by the Tigers.

Jenkins, 29, the National League's Cy Young Award winner in 1971, said in mid-season that he just didn't feel like playing baseball. McCovey, plagued by knee and foot injuries throughout much of his career, led the National League in homers in 1968 and 1969, and tied Hank Aaron for the home run title in 1968.

Caldwell, 24, was used mostly in relief last season and had a 5-14 record with a 3.74 earned run average. McCovey was displaced because he wasn't playing enough baseball. The 15-year veteran said last

July that he shouldn't "have to prove anything to anybody and added: "If you don't think I can still do the job, ask the opposition and see what they say." In a part-time role, the left-handed hitting McCovey managed 29 homers.

"I decided I would rather play in San Diego than anywhere else," the 35-year-old McCovey said by phone from his San Francisco home. "I know I can help the Padres. I just hope they don't leave San Diego."

Jenkins gives us the stopper we needed desperately. He's a workhorse and he's a winner. Getting Jenkins in the first big step toward establishing our pitching staff and turning things around for the Rangers." Jenkins, who lives in Canada, was not available for comment.

Cub Manager Whitey Lockman viewed the trade as part of Chicago's "youth and speed" movement. Of infielder-outfielder Madlock, 22, he said: "Our scouts are extremely high on him as being one of the best hitting prospects they have seen in some time."

Harris, 25, played centerfield in 1968 and 1969, and tied Hank Aaron for the home run title in 1968. McCovey was displaced because he wasn't playing enough baseball. The 15-year veteran said last

July that he shouldn't "have to prove anything to anybody and added: "If you don't think I can still do the job, ask the opposition and see what they say." In a part-time role, the left-handed hitting McCovey managed 29 homers.

Illing Gridders Win On Last-Second Play

With a come-from-behind effort, the Illing Rams football team defeated a stubborn East Hartford outfit 14-12 Wednesday afternoon.
Illing opened the scoring as Mark Gardella hauled in a pass from quarterback Steve Dawson and went over for the TD. The conversion attempt was wide.

East Hartford scored in the second stanza after a long drive following a 51-0 humiliation in 1966. So far, he hasn't.
"Next start will be Saturday morning at 10:30 against arch-rival Bennett at Memorial Field.

Illing opened the scoring as Mark Gardella hauled in a pass from quarterback Steve Dawson and went over for the TD. The conversion attempt was wide.

Manager-of-Year Laurels to Mauch

Gene Mauch

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Nine years later, at the ripe old age of 47, Gene Mauch has won another National League Manager-of-the-Year award. That's a long period of time, Mauch, manager of the Montreal Expos, said at his suburban Hacienda Heights home, and he added with a chuckle: "It's just like my career as a player when I had a life-long slump as a hitter."

Equal Rights Sought In Grid Locker Room

BOSTON (AP) — Chuck Fairbanks, the rookie coach of the New England Patriots, has two worries for Sunday.

One is the world champion Miami Dolphins whom the Pats face at Schaefer Stadium in Foxboro and the other is a perky 24-year-old blonde named Barbara Borin.

Mrs. Borin is the weekend sports anchor on WNBC-TV, in Boston, and the last barrier in her crusade for equal news gathering rights is the New England Patriots locker room.

MCC Booters In Big Game

Tomorrow morning a difficult task looms for the Manchester Cougars. They will play the Cougars travel to Middletown for what Coach Jim Dyer terms "our biggest game of the year."

Manchester, which dropped its first three contests, has only one league setback. However, two ties against conference foes make Saturday's bout "a must-win" situation for the Cougars and their slim title hopes.

Flyers Disappoint In Early NHL Play

NEW YORK (AP) — The preseason prediction was that the Philadelphia Flyers were strong enough to challenge the Chicago Black Hawks for first place in the National Hockey League's West Division.

The Flyers started the season as though that prediction would be an understatement. They won their first four games, allowing less than one goal per game, and looked tough enough to challenge anyone for the championship of anything.

They're in first place and the Black Hawks are in sixth, so how come Coach Fred Shero is worried? Well, he's not happy that his charges have lost their last three games.

"I don't know what's wrong with the Flyers were stopped 4-0 by the Montreal Canadiens.

In the other NHL games Thursday night, the Boston Bruins bombed the Buffalo Sabres 9-4 while the Minnesota North Stars tied the New York Islanders 1-1.

In the World Hockey Association, the Chicago Cougars tripped the Quebec Nordiques 4-2 and the New England Whalers routed the New York Golden Blades 8-3.

Bruins 9, Sabres 4 A badly bruised chest didn't bother Phil Esposito in the Bruins' 9-4 routing of the Buffalo Sabres. The burly center, who suffered the injury when he was hit by a Montreal player, scored two goals.

COUGH DROP RISES IN POPULARITY MORRIS PLAINS, N.J. (AP) — During 1973, more cough drops than ever before, approximately 4 billion, will have been sold to the American public, according to the Smith-Barney company spokesman. The rising popularity of cough drops is due to the new flavors currently available in cough drops, and their connection appeal, as to the severity of the cough and cold season this year. "After all, many teachers will allow them in class," he reports, "while regular candy is strictly out."

MEAs Backs School Issue

Correspondent

The representative council of the Manchester Education Association has unanimously voted to support the referendum question seeking additions to and renovations of the Iling and Bennett Junior High Schools.

At Bennett, the renovations will bring the school up to fire and safety standards. A much needed library-medical center and gymnasium facilities will also be added.

At Iling, additions will allow all Iling Junior High students to be housed in one building. Additional facilities in such areas as science, business, music, and learning disabilities will be built.

The MEA endorses the referendum in the Nov. 6 election as a vital step toward a complete education for students in all sections of Manchester.

Nixon Confident Of Mideast Peace

Arab, Israeli Guns Silent

By The Associated Press Arab and Israeli guns were silent today as U.N. peacekeeping troops continued to move into Cairo, Russia said on Friday it had sent 'representatives' to the Middle East to observe the cease-fire.

In Washington, President Nixon told a news conference that the United States would use its influence to bring about a negotiated settlement in the Middle East.

The President said the two superpowers have moved from the gravest crisis in a decade "to a great step toward real peace in the Middle East."

The Moscow announcement prompted little concern in Washington. State Department spokesman Robert McCluskey said the Soviet observers were not combat personnel.

The first contingent of U.N. peacekeeping troops — Austrian, Finnish and Swedish soldiers from the U.N. force on Cyprus — began landing at Cairo airport Friday night.

Cease-Fire On Home Front May Prove More Difficult

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, in a wide ranging news conference, said he was confident of a peace settlement in the Middle East, but said finding a "cease-fire" domestically may be more difficult.

In the 40-minute session with newsmen in the East Room of the White House Friday night, Nixon also got in a swipe at the news media and took an opportunity to praise his friend Charles "Bebe" Rebozo.

On the Mideast, Nixon said it was his closeness with Soviet Leader Leonid I. Brezhnev that averted a confrontation between the two superpowers and offered a promise of peace between Arabs and Israelis.

"I do not mean to suggest that it is going to come quickly because the parties involved are still rather far apart, but I do say that now there are greater incentives within the area to find a peaceful solution."

The President said the United States and the Soviets had agreed to use their influence more than ever to bring about negotiations in the Mideast.

Nixon said he ordered an alert of U.S. armed forces because the United States had reason to believe the Soviet Union was planning to send "a very substantial force into the Mideast, a military force."

seemed to be more interested in the issue than he was in a settlement. Nixon used some of the strongest language of his presidency to bitterly assail the reporting of his administration.

"I have never seen such outrageous, vicious, distorted reporting in 27 years of public life," he said.

After Nixon bluntly singled out television news commentators for criticism, a network correspondent asked: "What is it about the television of these past weeks and months that has so aroused your anger?"

"What I was simply saying was this: that when a commentator takes a bit of news and then, with distortions of what the facts are, knowledge of which I have no respect for the individual."

Skylab 3 May Orbit 85 Days

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Skylab 3 astronauts might stay in orbit a record 85 days after they rocket from earth on Nov. 10, the space agency reports.

Skylab program director William C. Schneider announced on Friday that the flight "will be planned as a 68-day open-ended mission with consumables aboard to provide for as much as 85 days."

A Saturn IB rocket is set for a battle in the Mekong Delta on Thursday.

The astronauts plan two space walks to view the comet, on Christmas Day and on Dec. 29 during its nearest approach to the sun.

The Nov. 10 launch date was confirmed Friday after experts determined there was no structural damage to two fuel tanks on the first stage of the Saturn rocket.

The Skylab 3 mission is intended to study the comet Kohoutek and to continue earth resources, solar astronomy and medical experiments begun on the first two flights.

That avoided a two-to-four-week launch delay that would have been necessary if either the tanks or the first stage had to be replaced.

At the conclusion of the 1972 campaign, he decided that it would be in the best interests of everybody concerned rather than to turn the money over to them to be used in the '74 campaign, to return it intact," Nixon said.

Nixon said he thought Rebozo's handling of the Hughes company "is a pretty good indication that he is a totally honest man, which he is."

Following the news conferences, many members of Congress credited Nixon with diplomatic success in reducing tensions in the Middle East but said he failed to end suspicions about his willingness to permit a complete and independent Watergate investigation.

Vice President-designate Gerald R. Ford suggested Nixon name former Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson to replace Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said, "I do not believe his recommendations for a special prosecutor are adequate, and Congress will not accept them. We need an independent prosecutor."

No-Fault Insurance Education Stressed

NEW BRITAIN (AP) — The insurance industry said there were a number of public seminars run by the companies and the agents. Every service club in the state had a no-fault speaker.

Maloney said, "It does make a difference." He said that although Connecticut's no-fault system is probably the most straightforward in the nation, the public has been confused by different no-fault plans elsewhere and the long discussions that preceded its enactment here.

"I think over the years we had so many different debates and plans about no-fault, some of which were so complicated," Maloney said.

"The program could have been named better," he added. "It's a meaningless term because it came to mean so much. It included so many different plans with so many different ideas."

Tougher Air Pollution Rules Offered

WASHINGTON (AP) — New shopping centers, ball parks, highways, airports and anything else that attracts large numbers of cars or planes would be banned if they cause violations of clean air standards, under regulations proposed Friday by the Environmental Protection Agency.

EPA proposed state review of plans for achieving national air quality standards under a court order won by the Natural Resources Defense Council (NRDC), a citizen environment group.

Meanwhile, NRDC has renewed its legal attack by charging that EPA was moving too slowly and was being influenced and impeded by the White House Office of Management and Budget.

In a petition filed Wednesday, NRDC asked a federal appeals court to cite EPA for contempt of court for missing an Oct. 15 deadline to propose its regulations, and to enjoin the OMB from hindering EPA's issuance of further regulations.

At a news conference Friday, however, EPA administrator Russell E. Train denied that his agency's action was delayed by OMB influence and said OMB was consulted along with other agencies routinely.

Last Jan. 31, a federal court ruled that state plans, approved by EPA, for achieving national air quality standards must also provide for maintaining those standards and not slipping back into pollution.

Train said Friday that only three jurisdictions — Alabama, Florida, and the territory of Guam — have submitted approvable plans so far.

He issued a proposed federal regulation to control "indirect sources" throughout the rest of the nation, but said approvable state plans could still be submitted later for the federal program.

Essentially simple, the federal proposal would require each state to review large construction plans to make sure they will not indirectly cause air-pollution violations by attracting vehicles and aircraft, thereby concentrating their engine exhaust beyond legal limits.

The states would have to bar projects which would cause air quality violations. The regulations would not stop economic growth, but would ensure that new facilities are located and designed to avoid pollution violations.

The regulation would apply to all large facilities attracting vehicle and aircraft traffic, specifically including: highways and roads; parking lots and garages; shopping centers; recreation centers and amusement parks; sports stadiums; airports and commercial and industrial developments.
