Energy Crisis Cutting Out Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) - The fuel shortage has begun taking its toll on jobs, putting thousands out of work before Christmas in the first of an expected series of major layoffs that may push unemployment up sharply.

Major Layoffs May Be Ahead. Labor Federation successfully lobbied for inclusion in the emergency energy bill approved by the Senate provisions that would protect workers who are laid off.

Some private economists have forecast an unemployment rate next year of anywhere from 8 to 9 per cent, compared to the current rate of 4.5 per cent.

Voters Okay $40,000 To Plan New School

ANNE EMT Correspondent
Although the referendum was defeated in Hebron and only slightly carried in Andover, a strong vote in favor in Marlborough passed it, only a majority vote of all three towns was necessary.

Over-all in the three towns, only 39 per cent of the registered voters turned out at the polls. By towns the vote was: Andover, 181 yes and 156 no, 30 per cent of the 1,108 registered voters; Hebron, 333 yes and 371 no, 30 per cent of the 2,347 registered voters; and Marlborough, 522 yes and 98 no, 31 per cent of the 1,940 registered voters.

It is presumed the regional board will proceed immediately on hiring an architect as the $40,000 requested was for architect and engineer fees and other incidental expenses to the planning of the school. The referendum also gave the board authority to issue its notes to defray the appropriation. Passing of this referendum will be needed on approval or disapproval of the construction of the school once plans and costs are available.

Podium Players will present its fall production, "Come Blow Your Horn" by Neil Simon, Friday and Saturday in the Rham High School Auditorium. Curtain time for both performances is 8:15 p.m. and the admission is $2 for adults and $1.25 for students.

Starting in the production are Roger Phelps as Alan, Robert Fancher as Buddy, Beth Fitzgibbons as Connie, Shirley Gaudinski as Peggy, Steve Wolfman as the Father, and Cindy Robson as the Mother.

The production is under the direction of the Gene Devine with Wilda Devine and Cheryl Phelps as producers. Margaret Lindsay is the stage manager as well as being in charge of costumes.

THERE ARE TWO WAYS TO SHOP.

THE OLD FASHIONED WAY THE FAIRWAY CATALOG SHOWROOMS WAY
1. You get in your car. You fight blocks of traffic. You get a parking place. Maybe. You get a free parking place. Probably not.
2. You relax at home. Make yourself comfortable. Then select what you want from our free 304-page catalog.

2. Appliances are on one floor, way at the back. Jewelry is on another floor, between dishes and silverware. Film is somewhere else, next to records. Or is it books?
3. Visiting one of our glamorous showrooms is real shopping pleasure. Plenty of free parking. Everything elegantly displayed. Diamonds, jewelry, silver, gifts, appliances, stereo-TV's, luggage, sporting goods, photo equipment, and much more. All on one floor.

3. You pay full retail prices. Enough said.
4. Because we sell direct to the public, we're able to pass along tremendous savings on famous name brands. The price-coded Fairway catalog tells the whole story.

4. "We'll have to order it for you." "Don't carry that brand anymore." "Should have it any week now." "Sorry."
You've seen it on display. Now you simply ask one of our trained sales people to get it for you. Within minutes, you're on your way. "Sorry."

Dear Winthrop,
Thought you'd like to know that I've graduated from the flannels I have a new love now. Sans-Souci. All white, of course, and trimmed in the most lavish satiny quilting... There's nothing like it. So if you ever think of me, think of me in a long brushed robe of Celanese (rind) triacetate and nylon, 10-18 sizes $35. And a long gown or pajamas to match, of non-cling, non-static Untron III nylon, sizes 32-42. Gown $12. Pajamas $15. Then when you think of me, think of me as beautiful. And, I'll be home for Christmas.
With fondest regards,

Social Security

It seems that Social Security recipients are going to get an additional 11 per cent in their payments starting next year. The raise is proposed to offset cost of living increases.

Wages subject to Social Security would be expanded from about $11,000 per year to a little over $13,000. The bill which has passed the House and seems certain of approval by the Senate also provides for an annual adjustment every June, geared to the cost of living.

All this is admirable, of course. The elderly have been overcome by inflation. We all have read horror stories of old people shoplifting, going through garbage and otherwise showing the desperation of poverty.

Fixed incomes, which seemed adequate, have dwindled in real purchasing power.

But, we fear that an imbalance may be coming.

Other Editors Say

Congress' Burden

Now that a serious impeachment investigation is in the offing, Congress has assumed the duty of assuring the public that justice is done in the Watergate affair. It is a heavy burden for a body that shows all the weakness of any other committee of 535 souls.

It is to Congress' credit that the House has overwhelmingly voted to finance the impeachment investigation at $1 million. If the investigation itself seems competent and fair, it could do much to clear the air. But the hassle over President Nixon's meetings with Congressmen, and the confusion over the creation of a special prosecutor, are not encouraging omens on the kind of investigation we are likely to see.

As the House was voting funds for the investigation, Democratic leader Thomas O'Neill was criticizing Mr. Nixon for meeting with congressional Republicans. The President, Mr. O'Neill charged, was trying to influence the grand jury that would hear his case. Yet the President still is President, and it is his responsibility to build political support to run the nation. Dealing with Watergate certainly is part and parcel of this task. Surely it is unreasonable to expect the President to cloister himself while the House waits until January or later to take up the charges against him, which charges in any event remain unspecified. That the President is explaining himself must be rated a plus, especially after all the charges of presidential isolation, regardless of the audience he chooses.

A more apt criticism would be that in meeting with audiences based on party affiliation, Mr. Nixon is trying to depict Watergate and impeachment as purely partisan issues. The Democratic leadership would be on firmer ground in making this criticism if Democrats had taken greater pains to avoid partisanship. If they are serious about impeachment, a moment's thought and a little arithmetic should convince them that the absolute key to taking along a good number of Republicans. If Democrats ignore this point, they will be seen as wanting not to resolve the crisis but to wield a partisan club.

Those in the prime of life, still working hard to maintain family and home, are going to start looking at their rising Social Security taxes with a very critical eye. They, too, have been hit by inflation and the decreasing purchasing power which has so often vitiated wage increases.

A realistic balance must be struck between care of the elderly and allowing the young enough of their money to take care of the wider responsibilities which they have.

Certainly, we do not want to create a class society in which the young and the elderly are antagonists, with one group paying the bills and the other living off it.

In the preservation of the race the needs of the young and their families are paramount. Even though all of us are potential beneficiaries, we do not want it, if it is going to hamper our children in their life's goals.

Max Lerner Comments Two-Edged Sword

PHOENIX, Ariz. — When the Arab wielders of the oil weapon gave Europe the oil-cut reprieve, did they expect the Western world to fall down on its knees in gratitude? Actually the "reprieve" was the turn of the screw. If the sword of oil-withholding can be used a bit, it can also be plunged deeper. It little Holland and giant United States can be omitted from the reprieve to make their punishment a more obvious warning, then the rest of the Common Market countries could get the same punishment.

Hi Neighbor

It might be a good idea if the Manchester Board of Directors keeps a close eye on major gasoline stations that might be closing over the next few weeks or early into the new year.

At least when a station does close, directors could write to the major oil company involved and express regrets, if nothing else, but perhaps at the same time stress the importance of keeping them in Manchester.

Under the federal fuel allocation program, it seems likely that if a major oil company once had four stations in Manchester, but now has only two, the allocation will be only for the two stations.

At the same time, when directors inquire from the major oil company about a closing, they should attempt to find out whether the station is simply being phased out and another opened in another community where the margin of profit might be a bit higher.

It will involve some paper work but we believe it is worth the cost of the paper, time and effort. With or without a gasoline shortage, the community should always express regrets when a business of any type closes its doors.

But more important, with fuel allocation, we might see the time when Manchester motorists would have to go outside the town to purchase gasoline.

A worthwhile fund-raising project is the current drive to purchase a new bus for Manchester's senior citizens. The present bus, which was purchased used about five years ago, is groaning a lot these days under an expanded senior citizens' schedule.

Without the bus, many of our senior citizens would virtually be prisoners in their own homes. The bus is used to carry our citizens to and from center functions and also for shopping.

We're certain that your contribution, in any amount, would be appreciated. Your check can be mailed to the Manchester Senior Citizens' Center, 63 Linden St., Manchester.

Worth repeating from the December Rotarian: People who refuse to become involved in the problems and needs of their community are like the two men shipwrecked in a lifeboat. From their end of the boat, the pair watched as those at the other end bailed furiously to keep the boat afloat. One of the men said to the other: "Thank heaven, the hole is not in our end of the boat."

Starting this week the Detroit Free Press is charging for wedding and engagement announcements. The paper said it was forced to initiate the charge due to the newspaper shortage coupled with a rising number of engagements and marriages.

It isn't the first newspaper to make a charge for such service. Over the past 12 months, a number of others have adopted the same policy.

We aren't contemplating such a policy at The Herald and hope it is never necessary.

Marine Researcher is Pushing Octopus as Source of Protein

HONOLULU (AP) — With meat prices skyrocketing, biochemists are turning to cheaper protein sources, such as cheese, fish and even horse meat.

But if you suggested octopus, they'd probably turn up their noses, says marine biologist William F. Van Heulekem, even though the eight-legged mollusk isn't the huge, slimy, deep sea villain many believe.

On the contrary, Van Heulekem said, the octopus is generally small, very shy, surprisingly tasty and is popular as a food in much of Asia and in Mediterranean countries.

"The main drawback to Americans and North Europeans is the appearance of the animal and the stories they've heard about him. To them it's like eating insects," Van Heulekem said. "Of course, I suppose you could chop it up like hamburger or cut the tentacles off, but the idea would still be there."

Van Heulekem is pursuing research aimed at making commercial raising of octopuses feasible. Getting the American public to accept octopus as a meal will take time, he admits.

Working at the University of Hawaii's Institute of Marine Biology on Coconut Island in Kaneohe Bay near here, Van Heulekem recently succeeded in bringing a Mexican species of octopus through a complete reproductive cycle in captivity, a scientific first.

It was the technical key to commercial production of the mollusk.

When compared to beef, pork or other animal sources of protein, the octopus' reproduction and growth rate and proportion of edibility seem fantastic.

Van Heulekem, 31, who has been researching the octopus for nearly 10 years, said it is "an extremely efficient food converter. It converts 50 per cent of the food it eats to growth," compared to 10 to 15 per cent for most other animals.

The octopus reaches a marketable weight, one pound, in five and a half months and reaches a more profitable five-pound weight in just two more months, he said.

Van Heulekem said octopus is 65 per cent edible, low in fat and high in protein. The only part of the blemished animal discarded is the intestine.

Octopus has a mild taste, something like tender shadrock.

A female of the Mexican species lays 500 to 3,000 eggs. She broods the eggs for about six weeks, until they hatch, and then she dies, Van Heulekem said.

Increasing the water temperature in the laboratory tanks ten degrees warmer than the ocean environment caused the octopuses to grow three times faster than they would normally, he said.

Van Heulekem selected the Mexican species for his research because it doesn't have a larval stage as do most other species. The Mexican species develops directly from the egg into an octopus form, giving it greater chance for survival in the laboratory, he said.

Van Heulekem now has some 15,000 eggs developing in huge wooden tanks at the institute and he expects 80 per cent will reach maturity if he can afford to feed them that long and find enough space.

While the creature favors crustaceans, such as crab and shrimp, Van Heulekem said these are too expensive. But, he said the octopus also likes shark meat and Ulapia, a nuisance fish common to Hawaiian waters.

He sees promise for locally raised octopus in the market here, where 95 per cent of what is sold is imported frozen from Japan.

Stove Builder Getting Swamped

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — Jack Gaurapp, who owns a sheet metal shop, was driving to work Friday when he heard a woman on a radio talk show complaining about how the was unable to find a wood burning stove.

"It just hit me, and I said to myself: 'Gee, why can't we make these at the shop?'"

Later Friday, Gaurapp placed an advertisement in a Portland newspaper, saying 200 stoves were under construction at his waterfront shop. Then he designed it.

On Saturday, he and foreman Wallace Smith worked for 15 hours building the sheet metal stove, a two-foot-high "schoolhouse" model that stands on legs six inches off the floor.

After a paint job Sunday night, the prototype model, retailing at $90, was ready to go on display.

The response, said Gaurapp, has "just been out of sight." He said he received 400 orders on Monday alone and will be hard-pressed to keep up with demand.

"We had to put on a night shift and double my crew," said Gaurapp. "Starting Thursday, we're going to put on a third shift and work 24 hours a day, seven days a week."

While most of his customers have been from the Portland area, Gaurapp said some drove from Boston after hearing from relatives in Maine that wood stoves were available here.

A concern in Bangor, he added, purchased 50 stoves as the word got around the state.

Gaurapp said he never expected that his idea would work out so well.

"I thought I'd be lucky if I could get orders for 50 stoves," he said. "I'd be able to make a nice profit and provide some work to some of the men," he said.

UP AND AWAY — COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Skip Towe, 12, has established a national record for control line aircraft, according to the Academy of Model Aeronautics.

Skip, who flies in the AMA's junior age class, kept his aircraft in the air for 42 minutes, 45.8 seconds, more than doubling the old mark.

Residents Suggest Ways To Replace Old Hall

JUDITH KUEHNEL

The Town Council met Monday evening to allow interested citizens to voice their opinions on the loss of the old community hall, destroyed recently by fire.

While no conclusion was reached at Monday's meeting, the council will consider the comments of the Main St. residents and continue to seek out the feelings of others on this issue. Future meetings are likely.

Successful Farmer Needs No Lib

SALISBURY, Md. (AP) — Kitty Payne can drive a tractor and handle a combine as well as any of her farming neighbors. But the 45-year-old widow says her 17 years of running a 30-acre farm haven't put her on a par with her neighbors.

Although there may have been some raised eyebrows when she first took up farming, Mrs. Payne says she's very comfortable in the work now. "I love farming. I love the soil, the clean fresh smell of it, especially in the springtime."

Knight Writes Book On Shakespeare Era

A former Manchester resident has written a book on an unknown phase of William Shakespeare's life, which is being released today.

Steel Producer Increases Prices

Dr. Knight has dedicated the book to his wife, Susan, and his four children, Pauline, Nathaniel, Jessica and Fortia—the latter two names suggested by characters in the bard's "Merchant of Venice."

PITTSBURGH (AP) — U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's largest producer, has announced plans to increase steel prices Jan. 1 by about 6 1/2 per cent on half of the industry's product line.

Tornados Wreck Havoc In South

A fast-moving cold front smashed into hot, humid air covering Dixie and touched off tornadoes and flash floods which killed three persons and injured more than 100.

Hundreds of houses and trailer homes were destroyed or damaged. One of the twisters ripped into an elementary school at Southaven and sliced the roof from the main building where 1,400 pupils huddled in hallways. Six of the children were among the 62 persons injured in the Southaven area.

At least three tornadoes touched down in Tennessee, at Birchwood and in Maury and Henderson counties. Fifteen persons were reported injured at Birchwood.

Selectmen Discourage Driving Car To School

DONNA HOLLAND
Correspondent
646-0375

Due to the fuel shortage and the fact that everyone has been requested to do everything possible to conserve the nation's fuel, a concerned resident brought to the attention of the selectmen the number of parents who drive their children to school and the number of students who themselves drive to school even though bus transportation is provided both ways for students in Grades K-12.

The selectmen request everyone to seriously consider the fuel shortage, to use the buses as far as possible and when using a car is necessary, to use car pools.

Maonan Resigns
Russell Maonan has resigned as a member of the Bolton Zoning Commission. The selectmen are seeking a replacement.

RPHNA
The Rockville Public Health Nursing Association made a total of 49 visits in Bolton in October for a total of 974 hours community time.

Visits made include 1 antepartum, 1 postpartum, 6 health promotion, 13 cancer, 5 cerebral vascular, 1 mental illness, 6 non-communicable and 7 not home.

Benefit Show
The Sunshine Group of Manchester is putting on a benefit show to raise money for St. Maurice Church Friday from 8 until 10 p.m. at the church. Ida Cormier and Tommy O'Neill are director and assistant director of the show, respectively. O'Neill is president of the Sunshine Group. The variety benefit includes the Griffith Irish Dancers, and the Burton School of Dancing doing pop and jazz numbers and featuring Tommy Joyce.

Singers include David Lyons and Beatrice Maher. O'Neill will be playing the violin for the Irish dancers.

Receives Certificate
Calvin Hutchinson, building inspector, received a certificate award from the University of Massachusetts for his participation in the municipal building officials' conference.

The conference was designed to acquaint building inspectors with new developments in their particular fields of interest.

Hutchinson's office will be closed all day Thursday. He will be attending a seminar on modular housing at the University of Connecticut.

Lose Whooper Contest
The Bolton Bulldogs in the finals of the Burger King Whooper Eating Contest lost to the Manchester High School Football team 28 to 26.

The event was televised by WTIC and was seen on a recent broadcast.

The Bolton Ecumenical Council will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. at the United Methodist Church.

The Doris Gibson Perrett School of Dance, normally meeting at UMC has been cancelled for Saturday as Mrs. Perrett will be attending a special church conference session.

Oil Refinery Planned In New Hampshire

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Backed by the wealth of Aristotle Onassis and guaranteed by promises of Middle Eastern oil, Olympic Refineries, Inc., announced plans Tuesday to build its first American refinery in New Hampshire.

Peter Booras of Keene, a spokesman for the New York based group of businessmen, said the proposed 400,000 barrel-a-day facility, to be located near the seacoast, would provide one-quarter of New England's petroleum needs.

The $600 million plant, the second proposed refinery to be announced recently for the six-state region, which has no refining capacity.

The other refinery would be built in Sanford, Maine by the Gibbs Oil Co. A third refinery proposal has been under consideration for Eastport, Maine by state authorities.

Booras and Gov. Meldrim Thomson both stressed that the refinery would be built and operated with controls to safeguard the environment. Thomson said the facility would help fulfill President Nixon's aim of American independence from foreign energy sources by 1980, although Booras said it would rely on guaranteed shipments of oil from Saudi Arabia.

Booras, a Greek-American who ran former Vice President Spiro Agnew's 1972 New Hampshire primary writing campaign and made an unsuccessful bid for the Republican U.S. Senate nomination, outlined plans for the refinery at a State House news conference.

Columbia Stopgap Landfill To Be Surveyed

VIRGINIA CARLSON
Correspondent
228-9224

The selectmen have announced that a surveyor will be staking out the perimeter of the 2.8 acres which the state has temporarily approved for a landfill area on Rt. 8.

However, plans for the hydrogeological study of the full 20.5 acre site, which the town purchased partially with federal revenue sharing funds, are not yet under way, according to First Selectman Joseph Stegala.

Former First Selectman Howard Bates said in October that negotiations with the state Department of Environmental Protection produced an agreement that the state will pay for the study to determine the nature of the parcel. A permit good until April 30 has been issued to allow the town to use 2.8 acres of the site which may contain soil conditions unsuitable for fill use.

Appointments Made
The selectmen appointed Guy Beck chief constable and Marshall Nutter glazier. Several appointments remain to be made, according to the town charter, within 30 days of the board's taking office.

Other appointments to be made include civil defense directors, fire warden, road foreman, town attorney, tree warden and special constables.

Columbia Second Pier Asked For More Boats

VIRGINIA CARLSON
Correspondent
Tel. 228-9224

Three members of the Recreation Council (CRC) have suggested building a second boat pier to accommodate more boats at the town beach.

The members appeared before the Board of Selectmen and suggested blasting and repainting the existing pier while the water level is low. They also urged the removal of stone from the left side of the pier followed by the removal of sand which has washed in front of the Wolmer and Marphy properties.

Selectmen were also asked to include in the town lawn maintenance budget mowing grass at the beach. They were also asked to consider installing an emergency phone there.

Wallace Lohr said presently eight boats may be moored at the pier and the CRC feels this is inefficient.

The CRC feels there should be a phone installed year-round because people use the beach area year-round. The fire department had previously notified the board it had voted not to install a call box or fire alarm.

Priests Returned To Prison

MADRID (AP) — Six Roman Catholic priests who went on a hunger strike for 12 days have been returned to their prison cells after spending eight days in a prison hospital, the Ministry of Justice announced Tuesday.

The priests, who are serving terms of from 12 to 30 years for political crimes against the regime of Gen. Francisco Franco, were transferred on Nov. 18 from Zamora provincial prison to the hospital at Madrid's Carabanchel prison.

A communique said the priests had recovered and had been returned to Zamora to "serve the rest of their sentences."

The priests began their hunger strike on Nov. 6 after they tried to burn down the Zamora prison. They were demanding that they be housed with other political prisoners or be transferred to a convent in accordance with the 1963 Communist governing relations between the church and state. Church sources said their return to Zamora could arouse new tensions between the government and the church and provoke new antigovernment demonstrations.

Students To Lobby For Impeachment

WEST HARTFORD (AP) — The Constitutional Action Committee (IAC), a student group at the University of Connecticut Law School, plans to lobby in Washington, D.C., Dec. 3, for President Nixon's impeachment, a group spokesman said.

"Now more than ever it is clear that continuing public pressure must be brought to bear on our elected representatives regarding the constitutional crisis currently confronting our nation," the spokesman said.

The IAC will support its arguments for impeachment with legal briefs prepared by students and faculty members, the spokesman said.

The School Bell

Bennet Junior High School

Allan Cone, Principal

provided him with a most successful season in this first year as coach of the varsity team.

Cheerleaders
Helping to make the fall sports season a success were two fine girls cheerleading squads. These girls probably spent more hours in practice than did the teams they cheered for and certainly the girls' enthusiasm and skillful gymnastics added much to the athletic scene.

The JV cheerleaders coached by Mrs. Ruby Cleveland were led by co-captains Kathy Kozlowski and Kate Warren and Mary Carroll, Kim Fiano, Nanette Goff, Kim Kelly, Barbara Landolina, Maura Lindsey, Monica Smith, Lisa Taylor, Merrienne Taylor, Laurie White rounded out the squad.

Co-captains Liz Barrett and Siobhan Duffy led the varsity cheerleaders who were coached by Miss Rose LaRocca and Miss Marsha Gunther. Other girls on the varsity group include Cindy Hanson, Chris Solomon, Cindy Cain, Sandy Spilke, Jeanne Grant, Patti Doering, Danna Demonte, and Vanessa Moore.

Once again we salute the many boys and girls who represented Bennet on the playing fields this fall. They were a credit to their school and their community and to themselves and their parents. We also congratulate the many coaches for the long hours and

Fall Sports
The old adage to the effect that "all work and no play makes one dull" seems to support our extensive junior high school sports program. Since this program has enjoyed a considerable degree of expansion recently, it also has succeeded in what seems appropriate to keep everyone informed as to what is occurring.

At Bennet this fall, almost 200 boys and girls participated in our fall sports program. Schoolwide assemblies recently acknowledged the participation of these students with awards from their coaches and accolades from fellow students and teachers.

Bennet fielded six interscholastic teams - girls field hockey, football, cross country, and three soccer teams. Teams played a scheduled of from six to twelve games during a season which began for most in August and ended in early November.

The girls field hockey team was a first this year for Bennet at the interscholastic level. The team was coached by Miss Rose LaRocca and captained by Rachel Rosen and Tatiana Pina. The girls compiled a record of 1 win, 4 losses and they gained much valuable experience and are eager to return to competition next season.

Bennet's football team, although it did lose for the first time to Hilling, compiled a 2-2-1 record under the leadership of tri-captains Domenick Vuoto, Fred Miller and Robert Reault. Perhaps the most encouraging part of the season for Coaches Fred Lennon and Charles Viani was the continued skills improvement throughout the season. The season was made in the runners' individual times.

Cross country was also a new interscholastic sport at Bennet this year and it was a co-ed team in which 22 boys and girls participated. Coached by Stanley Belyin, this team never lacked for spirit and enthusiasm and steady improvement throughout the season was made in the runners' individual times.

Again as a first year team the record of 2 wins and 5 losses was not impressive but optimism is high for next year. Team leaders on this squad were Bob Lyon, Rich Telgener and Brett Jones with Lori Veal displaying outstanding ability among the girls.

Soccer Popular
Bennet's soccer teams fared well with each of the three teams enjoying a winning season. Our seventh grade team, again a newly established team this year, was coached by Gerald Fournier and compiled a 4-2-1 record. Leaders on this team were Ben Hennigan, Brian Jones and Matt Glosky.

Our JV soccer team was our most successful team with a record of 9-2-1 and Coach Arthur McCann already has visions of great accomplishment in future for these boys. Leadership for this team was provided by Greg Smayda, Scott Trudon and Rich Marshall.

Varsity soccer again flourished at Bennet as 32 boys made up a squad which won its final five games and finished the season with a 6-2 record. Captains for this team were Bob Nurni, Horace Henry and Matt Walsh. For Coach Dave Nordling, this year's club

LISTEN, BURGLARS!
CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) - Gail Ann Wacker, 22, was named as the burglar who had taken an ax, a tent, foam pad from her boy friend's camper that she put the following ad in a local newspaper: "Good luck with it. The tent foam pad has bugs!"

Miss Wacker said it's all true except for the bugs. "The more and more I thought about the madder and madder I got," she said. "I really hope the thief gets all shaken up when he reads it."

She said the pad, plus a new tent, ax and foam pad, were birthday presents from her to the boyfriend, Charles Gritzak.

Energy Crisis May Crimp Tourism

RENO, Nev. (AP) - The energy crisis, which has already taken much of the glitter out of Nevada casinos, may now pose a threat to the gaming industry itself.

There are fears among some officials that President Nixon's decision to seek the Sunday closure of service stations could stave the state's lifeline, the tourist.

Gov. Mike O'Callaghan said the decision would hurt no state more than Nevada. He described tourism as "the lifeline of Nevada's economy. The shutdown of retail gasoline supplies on Sundays might curtail weekend visits."

Plans designed to keep tourists on the roads to Nevada's casinos were already surfacing in Reno and Las Vegas, where neon casino lights have been dimmed in response to the energy pinch.

Chamber of commerce officials estimate Las Vegas gets more than 17 million visitors a year, two thirds of them coming by car and most from the Los Angeles area. In Reno, officials estimate there are eight million visitors annually, 75 per cent coming by car and most from San Francisco and other northern California points.

Although estimates of the amount of money they bring

Woman Sentenced To Prison

LITCHFIELD (AP) - Catherine S. Kraft, 21, a former beauty contest winner in Springfield, Mass., was sentenced in Superior Court Tuesday in the March shooting death of a Winsted woman and the wounding of the victim's husband.

Miss Kraft, who told the judge she was sorry, was sentenced to 10 to 20 years in prison on a charge of first degree manslaughter and five years on a charge of second degree assault.

"I can't understand how I did it. All I want is for my son to lead a normal life," she said after the sentencing.

Her son was born Feb. 8, 1973. Police gave no reason for the shooting but said a "love triangle" might have been involved.

Electric Power Plant Conversion Rules Finalized

WASHINGTON (AP) - In an effort to cope with the energy crisis, the White House issued final regulations Tuesday forbidding coal-burning electric power plants from switching to oil.

The regulations, signed by John A. Love, head of the White House Energy Policy Office, also affect Dec. 7.

While prohibiting coal plants from making the change, the rules permit power plants burning natural gas to switch to oil, because natural gas is in critically short supply.

The regulations make an exception for power plants which must switch fuels in order to meet the nationwide Primary Ambient Air Quality Standard, an antipollution rule protecting human health.

Unless they fall into that category, however, power plants already burning oil are forbidden from switching even to another oil or mixture with a lower sulfur content.

The rule aims to save as much low-sulfur fuel as possible for the power plants that really need it to meet the cleaner standard.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Is doctor mistaken?

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB - Please give me some information. I don't want to change doctors, but I may have to. For the last four years I have had several attacks of pancreatitis. After the first hospitalization the doctor asked me if I drank alcohol. Truthfully I told him I am a non-drinker. Another bout with pancreatitis and he advised me, "no alcohol."

Then I discovered he had not believed me when I told him I am a non-drinker. Again I repeated it. On the insurance claims he lists my illness as "chronic relapsing pancreatitis" which I am told is the same as alcoholic pancreatitis.

Dr. Lamb, I don't imagine I've had three drinks of liquor or beer in my life. I'm 58 years old. This doctor and I have had a good physician-patient relationship for years. Now, why won't he believe me?

Trust me, I am a two-way street if I am to continue as his patient. Why would a doctor suddenly take this attitude?

When I have an attack I am hospitalized from 12 to 24 days and am quite ill and weak for weeks afterwards. Will you please comment in your column on the causes of this disease as I must soon see a physician and I am wondering about continuing with this one if he does not believe me.

DEAR READER - Communications I believe faulty cause of over half the world's problems. Your doctor does not disbelieve you. You have been misinformed and he doesn't know it.

There are a lot of different causes for inflammation of the pancreas. It can occur as a complication of a virus infection such as mumps. And, it can and often does occur in individuals who use lots of alcohol in a large number of cases the cause is never known. It simply recurs at intervals even though the person drinks no alcohol, and apparently doesn't have any other infectious disease or problem.

The term chronic relapsing pancreatitis used by your doctor IS NOT the same as alcoholic pancreatitis. All the many people who have never touched a drink in their life and who have this problem have the same diagnosis. The confusion comes from the point that one of several causes, but not the only cause, of this problem is alcohol. Your doctor was absolutely correct in using this term on your insurance papers. It means chronic, or long term as opposed to short term, recurring inflammation of the pancreas, exactly what you describe having had for several years. It means nothing more and in no way indicates the cause of the problem.

So, you have done your doctor an injustice. No doubt you have had an acquaintance who knows someone who had this diagnosis who also drank alcohol. The moral of the story is to listen to your doctor when it comes to your medical problems. You have a tough problem to manage and he will need your full cooperation to do the best he can for you. I hope you get along better.

Court Cases

CIRCUIT COURT 12

Manchester Session
Anthony Garabino, 18, of 13 Greenwood St., Mendon, pleaded guilty to third-degree robbery and his case was continued to Dec. 3 for presentence investigation.

The charge stemmed from an Oct. 13 incident in which Garabino and an unidentified accomplice robbed a nine-year-old newspaper carrier of a money bag containing $60.

Garabino and his accomplice went to Florida, where the latter was picked up by military authorities as AWOL, police said.

Garabino reportedly worked on a ranch in Florida before returning to Manchester, where he surrendered himself to police on Nov. 15.

James Webber, 23, of 940 E. Middle Tpk., pleaded not guilty to a disorderly conduct charge (substituted for unlawful assembly) and his case continued to the court's East Hartford session for a December jury trial.

Webber was charged in connection with a Halloween night incident where police officers and firemen were physically and verbally abused.

Other cases disposed of Monday in Manchester included:
-Roscoe Lamar, 25, of 388 Woodland St., discharging firearms within town limits, nolle prosequi.
-Maurice Gross, 54, of East Hartford, fourth-degree larceny, nolle.
-Maureen Mott, 31, of South Windsor, fourth-degree larceny, nolle.
-Peter Southwick, 17, of Somers, second-degree larceny, nolle.

Halfway House Reports On Progress

NEW HAVEN (AP) - Ninety per cent of the 30 former psychiatric patients who passed through the New Haven halfway house in the last year made it successfully back into society, a spokesman says.

Only three of the young men and women are institutionalized again because of problems in readjusting. Stanley Greenberg, one of the house's directors recently said.

"The others are living on their own - still on parole but on their own," he said.

The private and state-funded house is one of five in the state and is part of a shift toward creating neighborhood centers where former patients and inmates can ease back into the mainstream of life.

Detailed record-keeping at the 8-year-old house began only last October.

The residents, who must be older than 18 and pay $23 a week for room and board, have nearly complete control of the activities at the facility. Most remain three to four months.

One of the residents was sent back to a correctional institution because it was discovered he was still practicing his former illegal trade.

"I had a professional burglar living in the house," said one resident. He had opened a locked door and bureau, bypassing a burglar alarm, to steal money.

Law Book Costs Shock Councilmen

SEATTLE (AP) - If law books were published in paperback there would probably be no delays in the construction of two additional Superior Court courthouses here.

The King County Council appropriated $50,000 last June for the courtroom additions to accommodate three new judges appointed several months ago.

But the council was shocked when told an additional $36,000 was needed to buy two sets of law books.

One councilman questioned the need for complete legal libraries in each courtroom. But he was told the judges "consider this part of their furnishings."

Hearing Adjourns At 2 A.M., Requests To ZBA Draw Fire

BARBARA RICHMOND (Herald Reporter)

A public hearing of the Vernon Zoning Board of Appeals that extended to about 2 a.m. today because of two of the seven appeals were controversial, will be continued at a special session Thursday night for decision by the board.

The appeal of Thomas Carruthers for a variance to operate a boarding house, not owner-occupied, and to house more than seven occupants, was made after the Planning Commission denied him permission to lease a house he owns for use by the state.

The state would use the house for a boarding home for young male residents of Mansfield Training School. The boys are classified as educable retardates. The house would be supervised by a trained husband-wife team. It is located at the intersection of Cold Spring Dr. and Rt. 20.

One of the prime questions raised was the definition of owner-occupied as required for boarding houses in the town's zoning regulations plus the fact that the house will be occupied by more than seven persons who are not related.

Atty. Sol Kerenky, representing the appellant, said the boarding house was a permitted use in the R-27 zone where the house is located. The question of hardship arose, and he said the hardship is the state's need for such a group home.

Atty. Kerenky explained that R-27 zone is not limited to single family homes and cited the fact there are two churches, a school, and commercial development in that area.

The Planning Commission

denied the appeal because of the zoning laws concerning owner-occupied and then advised Carruthers to take the matter to the ZBA. Carruthers said he feels lease-occupied is tantamount to owner-occupied.

Albert Evans, director of social work at the Mansfield Training School, said there has been a commitment to the concept of group homes for most retarded people. The homes would allow these people to lead a more normal life. There are seven similar facilities already established in nearby towns.

Evans cited the need to get these retardates out of the institutional environment and into the mainstream of society. The state has authorized the funds to open these boarding homes but is now finding it difficult to lease the proper facilities.

Carruthers said he has never been in the business of leasing homes and his offer to the state was very spontaneous. He said, as state senator, he worked to have this legislation passed to "disinstitutionalize" the retarded.

The house in question, built by Carruthers, is an oversized colonial. It has five large bedrooms and three bathrooms and is air-conditioned.

Many of the objectors, and there were many who spoke, seemed to indicate their main objection was they feel the area is dangerous due to the heavy traffic on Rt. 20.

Some also said having the house used for a boarding home for retardates would devalue their property. Some indicated they felt the retardates would be better off kept at Mansfield. They questioned if two persons could supervise eight boys saying, "You have wonderful facilities at Mansfield...they are wonderful people...you have wonderful grounds up there."

Robert Vanderpool of Cold Spring Dr. presented a petition signed by 122 persons of the area who opposed Carruthers' application. He said granting permission would be in conflict with the town's plan to preserve the village character of Vernon Center.

"I think granting of the appeal would be a serious encroachment on a single-family neighborhood," he said and added that he was also concerned about the safety of the home occupants.

There were several other objectors, all echoing the reasons of those first heard.

Then Building Inspector Francis McNulty said he did not think it was the intent of the zoning laws to allow anyone with a single-family home to use it as a commercial venture. He said he did not think a boarding house was a permitted use in that zone, if not owner-occupied.

Speaking in support of Carruthers were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Garabedian, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Slicer, and Mrs. Eva Farmer.

The Garabedians and the Slicers said they are the closest neighbors to the house in question and they had no objections to it being used by Mansfield. Garabedian said the purpose of the area was dangerous as far as traffic goes, but added that he had raised 11 children in the neighborhood. He said, "If you are concerned about traffic and safety then be concerned about my children too."

"If you believe in the program then you have to believe there is a place for them (the retardates) next to your home," Garabedian said.

Mrs. Farmer said she has a son who has been a resident of Mansfield for 17 years, and added that she would place more trust in the house parents than she would anyone else because they are trained to take care of retarded children.

Mrs. Slicer said they had lived in their house since 1955 when the area was virtually a cow pasture. She said all the others came after with kids and dogs "and we didn't object."

The other appeal which brought many objectors was that of Mrs. Dorothy Lamot of Gottier Dr. She was appealing a decision of the building inspector who denied her a permit to use the recreation room in her home for classes in gymnastics. The neighbors in the area mostly objected because of the traffic created by the program and the fact cars are parked in the street causing further traffic hazards.

Mrs. Lamot told the board that the program started very informally with a few children coming after school and it has grown to 240 children a week. She said she has never specified the children have to pay but most donate $1.50 a session.

She said there are 24 cars at the most on her biggest day which she said is Tuesday, when there are children coming and going from 9 a.m. (pre-schoolers) to 9:30 p.m. She said she doesn't teach when school is not in session, just so there will not be more cars and students. She objected to a suggestion of the ZBA that she rent a studio. She said this would not create the same atmosphere for the children.

Comments from objectors included the fact that while Mrs. Lamot said she does not call her classes a business, "I feel 240 kids is a business."

A petition was presented by the neighbors in the area, stating their opposition to the appeal noting that the traffic the classes creates is "totally objectionable."

While agreeing they could not argue with the benefits of the gymnastics program, some dissenters said the argument was that the zoning regulations were written for a purpose and the residents of the area should be protected.

One woman speaking in favor of the appeal said being a taxpayer in town she had as much right to use the roads in that area as anyone else.

Several others spoke in favor, including several of Mrs. Lamot's students. All cited her ability as a teacher as the prime reason for granting the appeal.

The ZBA will meet in executive session Thursday night to come to a decision on these two appeals and five others which were heard last night.

Social Security

Q. When my children graduated from high school, I went back to work. I plan to retire at 62. My husband will be 66 then. Will I get retirement benefits based on my husband's work record or my own?

A. You may be eligible for reduced monthly retirement benefits on your own work record as well as your husband's. You can't collect both benefits but you'll always receive the higher of the two amounts.

Q. I understand that when a person accepts Social Security retirement benefits at 62 his benefit is reduced. But I heard recently that it goes back to the full amount at 65. Is that right?

A. No. If a person decides to retire at 62 and take reduced monthly benefits, the benefit amount won't change at 65. However, some people who retire at 62 later return to work. In that case, the benefit could be higher later.

Q. I get monthly retirement benefits from Social Security, and my wife also draws benefits on my work record. My wife is planning to start working at a part-time job. Will her earnings affect my monthly benefits?

A. No. If she earns enough, your wife may have part or all of her own monthly cash benefits withheld, but will not affect your retirement payments.

Q. I have a small business of my own, and I have no plans to retire yet. My net earnings have been averaging around $3,000 a year. Now that I am 62, can I get any benefits from Social Security?

A. You might be eligible for some retirement checks from Social Security. For a self-employed person, like yourself, it depends on your net earnings and the number of hours you put into your business in a month. Contact your Social Security office for complete information.

Q. I'm planning to retire in January 1974 when I am 62. I found a baptismal certificate dated 1912, which is the year I was born. Can I use this to prove my date of birth for Social Security benefits?

A. Yes, since your baptismal record is dated before your were 5, it's all you'll need to prove your age for Social Security retirement benefits.

Have a question about Social Security and its retirement, survivors, disability or Medicare benefits? Write to Questions & Answers, Social Security office, 657 Main St., East Hartford, 06108.

Today's Thought

Christmas 1973. The suggestion yesterday of Christmas Family Worship in your home once a week beginning the first week of December may have many interesting byproducts.

It may reveal that there is more interest in spiritual things among your household than you realized because it lay beneath the surface of things.

You may discover what may have been your one step of faith receives a greater response from the Lord than you imagined and a new cohesion for the family is discovered.

I remember in my childhood approaching near adolescence that fearful thoughts accompanied the anticipation of emancipation from parental dependency. To whom would I turn when they would no longer be available? My finiteness called for the infinite, though I would not have expressed it that way.

At that time, for economical reasons, we began family prayer. I learned through this that Parental Dependency is not to be replaced with No Dependency, there was in fact a great God who has made certain promises. He speaks through His Word. He responds to faith. He has chosen to identify towards me as "father."

What a byproduct from Family Worship and answered prayer.

Sometimes during each week of the Christmas season, stop for family worship. Out of the rush, listen for the "still small voice of God." In the words of Frances Schaeffer, "He is there, and He is no silent."

TOMORROW: Specifically how shall we begin family prayer?

PRAYER: Dear Lord, fear grips our hearts, the venture suggested, we've always left to the clergy. We will no longer shift the home responsibility to the church. You will help. Help us make specific plans.

Dear Eugene,
As you know, I'm a firm believer in this new women's movement. So I'm asking you straight away... what are you doing Saturday night? Let's get together. I've already been to Butterfield's and picked out this off-the-shoulder gown ($16.95). But if you prefer, I'm very fond of this sparkly jacket dress. (7-15, $56.) You can rent your tux at Butterfield's too. Just stop by anytime to be measured (the sooner you go, the better the selection of course.) And we could discuss New Year's Eve on Saturday night.

Christmas may be for kids. But memories are for mothers.

The Mother's Ring
by Guertin Brothers / a true original

Christmas means a lot to everybody. Especially the little ones. Every year seems just a little more special, a little more exciting than the one before.

But for a mother it's different. She remembers. Warm, personal thoughts. Joyful recollections of Christmas past. Each one filled with gaiety, fulfillment... and love.

This year, why not give a gift of memories? The Mother's Ring.

Twin bands of solid 14K gold. Warm. As warm as the love of husband and wife. United in love by colorful synthetic gems. One for each and every child's birthday.

She'll always remember Christmas. But this year's will seem just a little bit nicer.

TWELVE (12) OTHER STYLES AVAILABLE. DON'T FORGET THESE ARE ALL CUSTOM-MADE AND REQUIRE TIME TO PROCESS.

Legion Seeks Fund To Develop Site

ANNE EMT
Correspondent
Tel. 228-3971

The site development committee of Post 96 of the American Legion has requested a $1,000 appropriation for work on the Legion property adjacent to the new shopping center being constructed by Robert L. Tupper on Rt. 86. A vote on the money will be taken at the post's Dec. 12 meeting.

The post purchased the site in 1962 and the final payment is due in February next year. Present plans are to develop the property as the annual Christmas Eve Party in August may be held there.

Also slated for action at the December meeting is the annual operating budget of the House Committee for building maintenance and capital expenditures.

The post has announced it will again hold its annual Children's Christmas Party for children and grandchildren of members. The date is not yet set, but hours will remain the same.

It will also hold a New Year's Eve Party under the supervision of Warren Holbrook, junior vice commander.

With the acceptance of Robert Richards of Colchester and Raymond O'Brien, membership has reached 162, with a quota for 1974 of 162.

BOY OF THE YEAR for the March of Dimes is Scott Hafes, 5, of North Las Vegas, Nev. Born with multiple birth defects including an open spine, Scott is the 1974 National Poster Child for the organization's drive for funds to support its research, medical service, professional education, and community health programs.

Commission To Study Services for Youths

Manchester Youth Commission for the next few months will conduct a study to determine what services are available to Manchester youth. The commission's decision to conduct such a study was made at its meeting Tuesday night at the Municipal Building. The study will encompass such areas as health, legal aid, recreation, and counseling on drugs and family problems.

The commission will invite various speakers to discuss the availability of such services to the youth of Manchester.

Dr. Alice Furek, Manchester's director of health, will be invited to speak at the Dec. 11 commission meeting on health services including VD and pregnancy detection and the confidentiality of such services.

Other speakers at future meetings will include a member of the Manchester Bar Association, the town recreation director or assistant director, James C. Breitenfeld of Crossroads, and Mayor John Thompson.

The commission felt that young people could not afford legal aid and cited the need, perhaps, of para-professionals such as law students to give needed advice on legal problems.

At the conclusion of its study the commission hopes to publish its findings in a brochure, which will be made available to all Manchester youth.

The continuation of SAM on a year-round basis was also discussed at Tuesday's meeting. The consensus was that if schools closed for a month during the winter, such a recreational program as SAM would be needed.

McKinney Chastises Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Stewart B. McKinney, R-Conn., compares congressional action on emergency energy legislation to the Gulf of Tonkin Resolution.

In a speech Tuesday on the House floor, McKinney criticized the Senate for passing a bill giving President Nixon sweeping powers to deal with the energy crisis. A similar bill is expected to reach the House floor next week.

"But it is absolutely appalling to me that the Senate and this house could possibly consider passing a bill in the field of domestic policy ... which would give the President the most dictatorial powers ever given to a chief executive without a nation being in a state of war."

The bill passed by the Senate would authorize the President to order gasoline rationing and take such energy-saving steps as reducing speed limits, lowering thermostat and shortening school days. The Tonkin Gulf resolution, passed in the wake of an alleged attack by North Vietnamese PT boats on U.S. ships, was frequently cited by the Johnson administration as the constitutional authority for waging the Vietnam war.

Bicentennial Fund Bill Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress gave final approval Tuesday to a bill authorizing $10 million a year for the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission to plan and carry out the nation's 200th birthday celebration.

House passage by a vote of 357-34 sent the bill to the White House for President Nixon's action.

Out of its $10 million, the commission is authorized to make grants to each state of $25,000 a year. In addition it will have $20 million to disburse between now and the end of 1976 in 50-50 matching grants to the states.

Pope To Celebrate Church Holiday

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI will drive to the Spanish Steps Dec. 8 as he does every year to celebrate the holiday of the Immaculate Conception, despite a government ban on private traffic on Sundays and holidays.

The Pope will pray before the statue of the Virgin Mary which stands near the steps.

Vatican sources stressed that the pontiff was exempted from the ban both as head of a foreign state and as a prelate performing a religious ceremony in his archdiocese.

Zullo To Speak At Andover

Former Mayor Frank Zullo of Norwalk, an aspirant for the Democratic nomination for Governor in 1974 will address the Andover, Bolton and Hebron Democratic Town Committee this evening at the Andover Town Office Building.

Members of the Bolton and Hebron committees will be guests of the Andover Town Committee at the meeting.

The Andover committee will meet at 8. Zullo will speak at 9. The public is invited.

Zullo last week won the public support of Mayor Joseph Carini of Wallingford, who was elected to his second term Nov. 6.

On Monday, two former town chairmen who expect to be delegates to the Democratic state convention next June also announced their support of Zullo.

They are Dr. Thomas Cady, New Canaan town chairman for 10 years, and former Darien chairman William Murphy.

Nuclear Ships Eyed As Source Of Electricity

BOSTON (AP) — The military should use nuclear-powered ships and government generating plants to provide electricity to New England, according to a labor official.

Kenneth T. Lyons, president of the National Association of Government Employees, said today that atomic aircraft carriers and submarines and three underused government power plants could be pressed into service during the fuel shortage.

During a flood in Tacoma, Wash., 10 years ago, the Navy supplied energy with a non-nuclear aircraft carrier, Lyons said.

"If a conventional-type aircraft carrier can supply power for a city of 150,000 people, then Providence with 180,000 Portland with 65,000 and Hartford with 158,000 can be expected to reap considerable power from nuclear super-aircraft carrier," Lyons said.

He said the three government-owned power plants at the Boston Naval Shipyard and the Quonset Point and Newport Navy Complexes in Rhode Island are operating at reduced power. Meskill was given a standing ovation.

Businessmen Hear Peale

HARTFORD (AP) — Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, author of the "Power of Positive Thinking," told the Connecticut Business and Industry Association that "pain and suffering is here to make us stronger."

They are Dr. Thomas Cady, New Canaan town chairman for 10 years, and former Darien chairman William Murphy.

Big Car Sales Continue To Decline

DETROIT (AP) — Sales of standard and intermediate-sized cars continue to drop as consumers seeking better gas mileage turn increasingly to smaller cars, industry officials say.

Mid-November sales of the big Chevrolets, Fords and Plymouths fell below year-ago levels for the sixth consecutive 15-day period, industry figures show.

But the increase in small car sales has helped offset losses in the larger models to hold the decline in industry sales for the period to about 4.4 per cent below last year.

Mid-November sales of standard-sized Chevrolets and Fords were down 20 per cent from the same period in 1972 while Plymouth Fury sales declined 36 per cent.

AVOID ELECTRIC SHOCK

Electricity makes possible many of the conveniences we enjoy today. It heats, cools, illuminates, and supplies energy, power, and motion. Unfortunately, it can also be harmful - and even, electrocute. Any pieces of electrical equipment can cause serious injury. Circuits of less than 50 volts have killed.

Ordinary 115-volt electricity can be dangerous. (As little as 60 milliamperes, the amount of current required to light a small Christmas tree bulb, can kill a healthy man in only one second.) Defective insulation can allow current from an energized conductor to escape and you can become a conductor, providing a path for the current to ground. Avoid the shock of your life by making sure.

All electrical equipment is in good condition.

All power tools are equipped with double insulation or a three-wire cord with the third wire grounded to the metal case of the tool and to an electrical ground.

A ground fault circuit interrupter can provide extra protection. It senses a trouble and automatically snaps off the power when current begins to flow to ground through a person or any object not intended to carry it.

What should you do in an electrical emergency?

In case of electric fire, disconnect the circuit or unplug the appliance. Use dry chemical or carbon dioxide extinguisher or common baking soda to put out the fire.

In case of broken wires, don't touch them. Call the proper authority (an electrician or the fire department) and warn others to keep away.

In case a victim is in contact with live electricity, shut off the power or call the power company. Free the victim from the live wire by using a dry rope, board, or stick; make sure your hands are dry; stand on dry, non-conductive surface, such as a board. Get medical aid immediately.

To keep yourself safe from electrical accidents: Inspect and test tools before and after each use. Never patch a cord break. Replace the cord. Connect three-wire grounding power cords to circuit with ground connection. Protect cords from heat, chemicals, and oil. Coil cords neatly and store them in a dry place. Enjoy the benefits of electricity and avoid its more shocking personality traits.

Catholic Chaplains Request Reassignments

NEW HAVEN (AP) — Two Roman Catholic chaplains have asked to be transferred from assignments at Yale-New Haven Hospital because of "exploitation" by both the hospital and their archdiocese.

The Revs. Frank A. Mayock and Paul A. Wirtus, in a letter to the 110 Catholic priests in the greater New Haven area, stated they were not receiving adequate support, but did not elaborate.

"We feel we have been exploited by the Archdiocese of Hartford through its indifference and the administration of the Yale-New Haven Hospital because of a WASP (White Anglo-Saxon Protestant) mentality," they wrote.

Although an average of 48 per cent of the hospital's patients are Catholics, the hospital has two Catholic and four Protestant chaplains, according to a hospital source.

The chaplains aid the hospital and the archdiocese had a "dual responsibility" for their resignation.

The hospital, they said, should translate "ecumenical endeavors into reality rather than words," and the archdiocese should "depart itself is not frustrating but a combination of factors had made it so for them. They have agreed to stay at the hospital until their replacements are assigned."

South Windsor New Program Tried in Math

JUDITH KUEHNEL Correspondent 644-1364

William Spohn, principal of South Windsor High School, announced that Miss Deborah Dillon has been named as the DAR Good Citizen. Deborah is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dillon, 607 Main St. This award is made to a senior girl who excels in dependability, service, leadership and patriotism.

The program is geared to aid the slow learner in that it allows the student to be exposed to all new concepts even though they may be presently beyond his comprehension.

While children are often grouped homogeneously (similar capabilities), the pilot program will be taught to heterogeneous, or randomly chosen, groups.

The mathematics lesson will be taught to the entire class. Once the concept has been developed by the teacher, the children will meet in small groups for further exploration and discussion. The small groups will constantly be reorganized, sometimes by rows, at times alphabetically, etc. The purpose is to get as much interaction as possible between all of the children in the room, regardless of their level of comprehension.

When a new concept is to be introduced, all children will go to the next level of study whether or not they were successful in the last.

It is expected that at the end of the program, those students who ordinarily excel in math will continue to do so, profiting by the experience of being in a position to "help" those having difficulty with a concept. The students who have problems with math are expected to do significantly better in that they will have been exposed to a higher degree of learning experiences.

It is hoped that an added advantage will be that no child will be "lost" within a group, as the groups will be constantly changed. It will also prevent the possibility of "labeling" which often results when a child is always placed in the same slower moving group.

At the Nov. 13 Board of Education meeting, when the program was approved, Mrs. Cle Decker, chairman, commented that it would be interesting to see if an added advantage would be improved.

Longjohn Sales Booming

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — Long underwear, flannel shirts, tin stoves, and firewood are hot items in this south central Michigan community. Sales have apparently been stimulated by talk of an energy crisis.

Sales of long johns are running at three times the rate of previous years, according to John McCully of Miller's Clothing Store. Flannel shirts and other heavy-duty clothing also are in great demand, he says.

John C. Burkey, who has been cutting down trees and selling the wood as a sideline for more than 20 years, says business is booming. He had to increase his crew from 10 to 14 workers to keep up with the demand for firewood.

"I've never seen it like this," said Burkey, one of the area's two major cord wood suppliers. "People who used to buy one cord of wood are buying three or four," he said.

A cord is a stack of logs 18 to 20 inches long piled three feet high and eight feet long.

Burkey said his customers range from families in coalheated homes who need firewood to help tide them over the winter to the affluent who like to sit in front of a roaring fire on frosty evenings.

Wood-burning, wrought iron pot-bellied stoves — most recently used as antiques for ornamental purposes — now are in great demand as heaters, according to Cary Storey, manager of Storey Stove Co. He says sales of the stoves are "three or four times" what they were last year.

Decry Fuel Allocation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal fuel allocation based on the amount of fuel used last year threatens to have a catastrophic economic effect on the construction industry, a construction association official has warned.

Citing a survey of the association's members, who perform 80 per cent of all contract construction, the association's president, Nello I. Teer Jr., said: "Construction activity in this country is already down 20 per cent. If present fuel allocation programs are not altered quickly, the economic impact on the construction industry may reach catastrophic proportions before the end of winter." He said: "Our survey indicates that thousands of construction workers are now out of work and the situation is worsening daily."

Noting that allocation is based on the fuel consumed during the corresponding month of 1972, Teer said such a system "has no validity for the construction industry because the fuel requirements on a particular job in a given month in 1972 may be vastly different than the fuel requirements on the same or a new project in the same month of 1973."

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Right To Travel

"The right to travel is a part of the 'liberty' of which the citizen cannot be deprived without due process of law. Movement across frontiers (is) a part of our heritage. Freedom of movement is basic in our scheme of values."

The words are those of the United States Supreme Court. And, during most of our nation's life, there were no governmental restrictions on going abroad. All you had to do was buy a ticket, board the ship, and sail away.

Nowadays, of course, you do need a passport. But even today, the government's exit requirements are subject to careful scrutiny by the courts.

In one case, a member of a radical organization was denied a passport on the ground that he might make contact with radicals overseas. However, there was no evidence that he was an active member or that the organization had any illegal plans of which he was aware.

The Supreme Court ruled that the government could not constitutionally prevent him from going abroad. Such a ban, said the Court, could block him from even visiting a foreign relative or doing research in a foreign library.

Furthermore, the government has even less right to keep a citizen from coming back into the country than to keep him from leaving.

"It is inherent in the concept of citizenship," said a federal court, "that the citizen, when absent from the country to which he owes allegiance, has a right again to set foot on its soil."

On the other hand, lesser limitations on the right to travel have been upheld. In another case, the government granted a passport with "area restrictions"—barring several countries as out-of-bounds.

This procedure was lawful, a court ruled later, because it fell within the presidential power to "conduct foreign affairs." The government could reasonably foresee, said the court, that American visitors in certain trouble spots might complicate our foreign policy.

Even in a neighborhood community," the court added, "every man's right to roam is restricted."

HOT MUSIC

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP) — While the Blood, Sweat & Tears rock group was giving a heated concert at Memorial Hall, things got hot in the records storage section in the basement below.

Asst. Fire Chief Robert Drake said firemen vented smoke and heat out side windows and few if any in the jam-packed 1800 seat auditorium even knew of the fire. The venting process lasted for 1½ hours as the fire-damaged government records smoldered, although the blaze was extinguished in 10 minutes.

Carver Winning Renown For His Unusual Statues

By ROBERT O'MEARA
Associated Press Writer

CLAM LAKE, Wis. (AP) — Jerry Holter has carved a reputation that extends far beyond this northern Wisconsin village. His crossroads country store hosts an assemblage of historic figures, animals and birds that he has chiseled from native pine. But Holter is no backwoods whittler. He says he has received up to 400 letters a week from people all over the country who have heard of or read about his hand-hewn creations.

"I guess people are fed up with all the artificial, machine-made things on the market today," the 43-year-old Holter said.

He credits some of the current interest in his wooden statues to the nostalgic longing for a simpler age when artisans, working only with hand tools, spent days, weeks, or even months, on one product.

Holter carves likenesses of Indians, bears, and eagles, inspired by this land of lakes, forests, rivers and tourists.

Walk into Jerry's combination service station, general store, curio shop and art museum and you're slightly overwhelmed by the stereotyped group near the door. Eight-foot tall Indians stare down at you. Rampant bears paw the air above your head.

Each figure is carved from a single log of white pine about 30 inches in circumference. The logs, as knot-free as possible, are obtained from timber cutters within a few miles of this southern Ashland County community.

"I stand the log up and don't do anything with it for two or three weeks," Holter said. "I just keep looking at it every once in a while, trying to get a mental picture of what I want to make of it. Then it's just a simple matter of removing the wood I don't want."

The long winters give Holter plenty of opportunity to chisel wood. He said one statue requires about a month of carving, working daily from 5 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Then he takes two or three weeks off from his woodwork before starting another.

Holter began carving when he took lessons in violin-making from an itinerant teacher in his native Rockford, Ill. He never went the way of Antonio Stradivari, but Holter clung to his interest in wood carving.

"In those days, if you wanted to, you made it," he said. "We made our own wagons, guns, everything."

For the past 4½ years he has lived in Clam Lake, an unincorporated village within the sprawling Chequamegon National Forest, operating the store with the help of his wife, Tish, and two children, Lynne, 16, and David, 11.

Holter feels he is helping preserve an art form that reached its height with the hand-carved figures on the bows of sailing ships. When wooden ships became obsolete, the art was preserved for a while by the cigar store Indian carvers. He hopes he is keeping alive that skill.

What do Indians think of the way he depicts them?

"I've been checked out several times by the Indians and they feel I do good work," Holter said. "They've never complained. I don't depict them in any derogatory way."

His other creations vary in price from $500 to $5,000. He doesn't use models, relying on his memory and creativity.

Oregon's Governor May Start Third Party

SALEM, Ore. (AP) — Oregon Gov. Tom McCall says he may launch a third party presidential bid in 1976 to showcase Oregon's progress in ecology, drug control and efficient government.

"The Oregon story... is a catalyst for a third force capable of attracting 30 million independents and disgruntled Republicans and Democrats," said the 60-year-old Republican. McCall completes his second term as governor next year, and he is barred by statute from seeking a third.

During McCall's administration, Oregon enacted the nation's first law requiring cash deposits on all beverage containers, as a means of reducing litter. The state was also the first to eliminate criminal penalties for possession of less than an ounce of marijuana. And early in his first term McCall effected a massive reorganization and consolidation of state government.

When McCall's son, Sam, underwent treatment for heroin addiction four years ago, father and son gave a full disclosure on network television in hopes other youngsters would benefit.

Stamps In The News
AP Newsfeatures
By SYD KRONISH

Two crossed American flags - the present dollar and the original 13-Star - are featured on the new 10-cent U.S. stamp which will be used for domestic first-class mail starting Jan. 5. The new rate is the result of a request by the U.S. Postal Service for an across-the-board price increase from the Postal Rate Commission, as mentioned previously in this column.

Other postal items soon to be available to the public in quantity are the 15-cent airmail stamp (in coil, booklet and sheet form), a 15-cent airmail stamped envelope, a 10-cent regular stamped envelope, an 8-cent, first-class postal card and an 11-cent airmail card. Depiction of the 13-star flag on the new 10 cent was used as a salute to the bicentennial of the American Revolution in 1976. The design was by Ren Wick as one of four stamps to be issued in Philadelphia on a U.S. stamp.

New postal items will also be available for the proposed international rates but have not as yet been officially announced. Speaking of new U.S. stamps, the Postal Service has approved five commemoratives as part of its 1974 philatelic program. Scheduled for issuance early in the year will be a stamp calling attention to the plight of retarded children. Also on the agenda is a stamp honoring the 75th anniversary of the founding of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, one for the centennial of the birth of poet Robert Frost, another for the 200th anniversary of the founding of the first permanent settlement in Kentucky at Fort Harrod in 1774 and a block of four stamps to be issued in Philadelphia on July 4 to honor the 200th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. Already announced for 1974 were two additional stamps in the Rural America series.

This year's big West Coast exhibition, Stamp Expo '73 will be held in San Francisco Dec. 7-9, sponsored by the International Stamp Collectors Society. Three different full-color, standard-size 6 1/2-inch covers, each carrying a different U.S. Postal Service pictorial hand cancellation will be available to collectors. The first, with a Dec. 7 cancellation, pictures Santa Claus astride a space rocket. The second, with a Dec. 8 cancellation, commemorates the 100th anniversary of the United States San Francisco cable car. The third, canceled Dec. 9, marks the 25th anniversary of the U.N.'s World Health Organization and shows a mother embracing a child.

The complete set of the three covers costs $2.50 and can be obtained directly from: Stamp Expo Covers, International Stamp Collectors Society, P.O. Box 4888, Los Angeles, Calif. 90048.

Musical toys provide a whimsical atmosphere for a new set of stamps from West Germany and Berlin. The musical toys appear on this year's charity set - four from West Germany and four from Berlin - according to the World Wide Philatelic Agency. Such instruments as a violin, drum, piano, French horn and a harp are illustrated. While toys are a universal theme, also recognized is the growing awareness by countries everywhere of the problems of pollution, and this theme is publicized on a new set of four stamps recently released by Germany.

MONEY COLLECTOR
DOVER, Del. (AP) - Terry Bryan, 28, has collected 300 different pieces of Delaware bank money that were turned out between 1776 when the old Bank of Delaware first began issuing notes and 1866 when the federal government went into the paper money business. Bryan, a dentist, said his goal is to publish "a definitive list of money of Delaware so at least there will be a starting reference on the subject."

Here are some of the ways we're conserving energy...

Conserving energy is everybody's concern. At Grand Union we've instituted special conservation measures, which include:

- A 17-point program for conserving heat, light and power by reducing all store and office lighting and heating.
- A 20-point conservation program for warehousing and the operating of Grand Union trucking fleet and company-owned cars.
- Plus a special program to conserve store and office supplies that require large amounts of energy to produce.

Bolton Club Plans Yule Sale

DONNA HOLLAND
Correspondent
Tel. 646-0375

Plans are under way for the Bolton Junior Woman's Club fifth annual Christmas Auction. Each club member is asked to donate one or two homemade items for the auction. It will be held Dec. 6 at 4 p.m. at Hertrick Memorial Park.

Richard Breslow will be auctioneer.

All members are requested to turn in their items by Dec. 1 with an estimated value on each one. Drop off points will be the homes of Marilyn Lemaire, Elaine Sherman and Sherry Shaw.

Homemade items to be auctioned off include knit, crocheted and patchwork, Christmas decorations, canned and baked goods.

Refreshments and coffee will be served.

The B.J.W.C. hopes that, because each year the auction gets bigger and better, more Bolton people as well as area residents will attend.

School News

Bolton High School math students recently observed a demonstration of the Wang computer and heard explanations of programming as applied to all subject areas.

Mrs. Patricia Bankel, math teacher, made arrangements for the computer to be brought to the high school when she attended the regional convention of the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics in Massachusetts.

The students will also have an opportunity to view a digital computer.

The 14 girls enrolled in the Home Ec class at Bolton High undertook their own Thanksgiving project.

The girls, presently involved in a unit dealing with the family and the importance of the home environment, decided to remember children who were unable to have a home for the holiday.

Under the direction of their instructor, Mrs. Irene Tabatsky, the girls baked gingerbread cookies that were taken to the pediatric ward of Manchester Memorial Hospital.

Students enrolled in the Consumer Economics and Asian Studies courses at Bolton High traveled to New York City for a day filled with a variety of activities.

Faculty members Fred Audette and Tony Falsetta arranged guided tours through the Stock Exchange, the United Nations and the Museum of Natural History.

The students had a traditional mandarin dinner, featuring pork, poultry, beef, and selected oriental vegetables, at the Blessing Restaurant in New Haven.

Faculty and parents accompanying the 90 students were Mrs. Arnolden Thornton, Mrs. Pat Dooley, Mrs. Jean Vincent, Mrs. Marion Nicolay, Barbara Sandmann, Bill Morgan, Audette and Falsetta.

Mrs. Marion Nicolay, art teacher, attended an all-day workshop entitled "Ceramics Day" at Hartford Art School. Slide lectures and demonstrations were given by such nobles as Tom Shepherd, Richard Cole, Paul Berube and Peter McLane.

Subject matter ranged from the organization of ceramic studios to a view of contemporary ceramics.

Students of the art school participated in fire and wheel throwing demonstrations.

About Town

Friendship Lodge of Masons will have a Travel Review and Slide-O-Rama night Thursday at the Masonic Temple at 8 o'clock. The program will feature reviews of the lodge trip to St. Catharines, Ont., Can., in May, and Nantasket in September, and a preview of the lodge's trip next April to Bermuda.

The commission on stewardship and finance of South United Methodist Church will meet tonight at 7:30 in the church reception hall.

'St. Nicholas' Will Visit Church Fair

A display of Christmas decorations and gift items are given the final touch by, from left, Mrs. Stephen White, Mrs. Alexander Eigner Jr. and Mrs. Joseph MacLeod, as they prepare for the St. Nicholas Fair, Saturday, Dec. 1, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, 41 Park St. (Herald photo by O'Hara)

A visit from St. Nicholas will be among the highlights of the St. Nicholas Fair to be held Saturday, Dec. 1, at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, 41 Park St. Fair time is 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and tri-chairmen of the event are Mrs. John Ferguson, Mrs. Joseph MacLeod and Mrs. Stephen White.

Booths and their chairmen are as follows: Grandma's Downfall, featuring toys and party clothes for infants and small children, Mrs. White; gift table, handmade gift items, Mrs. John Garrapolo, Mrs. Edward McCree, and Mrs. Myron Rice; Christmas books, handmade Christmas decorations and wreaths, Mrs. MacLeod; plants, Mrs. Edward Platz; candles, Clarence Maron; antiques, Mrs. John Timney; flea market, Mrs. Frederick Burr. Green wreaths, sprays and loose greens will be sold by Boy Scout Troop 27.

Items of interest to children include: Santa's chimney; grab bag; games with prizes conducted by Robert Brown; balloons; a children's make-up corner and a visit from St. Nicholas. There will also be a Children's Store where youngsters may purchase gifts for the family. Mrs. Leroy Gatzkiewicz is chairman.

Also featured will be an art booth, Mrs. Peter Swanson; book store, featuring jewelry, religious materials and Advent calendars, Karl White; original drawings of children, Stuart Jones; food, Mrs. Michael Parsons; coffee and donuts, Joseph and Margaret Carter.

Lunch will be served from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. with Mrs. Eigner and John Ferguson in charge. Baby-sitting service at 50 cents per hour will be provided by Mrs. Connie Roberts.

NEW YORK (AP) - Things we could all do without: Anything that's in short supply - at least until after lunch. The exchanging of Egyptian "his" and "her" mummies for Christmas gifts. Hypocritical girls which dress so as to invite men's stares - and then meet them with glares. Any more cuts in gas for motor cars until they first start rationing fuel for cigarette lighters. Any more books with titles such as "I Was a Crooked Cop," "I Was a Dope Addict," or "I Used to Scrub the Bathrooms in the White House."

Girls who bring you a single daisy on your birthday but expect you to send them a dozen red roses on theirs - and take them out for an expensive dinner, too.

People who are snobbish enough to believe that any wine made abroad tastes better on the palate than any wine made in America.

Women who can tie up a telephone for 45 minutes exchanging the news that there's nothing new in their lives.

The sight of fine old trees blown down during a sudden windstorm.

Neighbors who put off raking their autumn leaves until the wind has blown most of them onto your lawn.

Three kids in muddy shoes kicking impatiently at the back door to get in just after the kitchen floor has been freshly waxed.

Going to the funerals of acquaintances who take up strenuous jogging after 30.

Ladies who block access to a supermarket checkout counter while they gallop around collecting eight more items they remembered at the last minute.

Politicians who say a little inflation isn't bad for a country now and then - just so you don't let it get out of control.

From these and other trials of flesh and spirit, deliver us, Amen.

Trash Burning Won't Dent Energy Demand

By ED SCHAFER
Associated Press Writer
ST. LOUIS (AP) — The use of trash as a fuel to run electric generators may help get rid of the solid wastes of the nation's cities but will never make much of a dent in the energy crisis, says the head of a trash-fuel project here.

"If we burned all of the trash produced by the two to three million residents of the seven-county area surrounding St. Louis, it would still provide only 5 to 10 per cent of the total fuel needed to power Union Electric's power plants," said David Klumb, an engineer for the utility. "We would still need a lot of coal."

For the past year, Klumb has been working the bugs out of a system that shreds St. Louis trash and feeds it to a huge boiler at the utility's Moraine power plant. So far, the project has had mixed results.

"I have to say I'm cautiously optimistic that we can make our system work. We've had some problems in the past year, but I feel the basic system is sound and we can go ahead and think about expansion to handle the trash for the whole area," said Klumb.

The engineer is quick to point out, however, that the trash-fuel project does more than provide a small percentage of the utility's fuel and reduce solid waste problems.

"What we are really talking about is a recovery process. Right now the city is removing the ferrous materials, the iron and steel, from the trash with magnets and selling the material to Granite City Steel, where it is being recycled.

"And now we are working on ways of removing copper, aluminum and other valuable metals from the trash before it is fed to the furnace," he said.

One of the early problems encountered by the project resulted from glass. The engineers at the plant soon learned the glass was wearing

South Windsor Craftsman Prepare For Yule Fair

The South Windsor Historical Society is sponsoring a Christmas Craft Fair Dec. 1, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the Ellsworth Elementary School on Main St. in South Windsor.

According to Mrs. Nancy Case, co-president of the historical society, last year's fair was a great success and similar results are expected this year. Many members of the society voice the opinion that most people are interested in crafts and there are hopes of making the Christmas Craft Fair an annual event.

"The plan also found it is creating its own solid-waste disposal problem by burning the trash. Chunks of wood, metal and heavy plastic in the trash are being burned without burning. This residue is sluiced from the ash pit and pumped to settling ponds, where it is piling up. Ash from pulverized coal, the main fuel at the plant, also piles up, but it is sold by the ton to manufacturers of cement blocks and to street and highway departments that use it in snow-covered roads.

The problems of the glass and residue may be eliminated soon by a new piece of equipment added to the city's trash-shredding facility.

"They are working to perfect their 'classifier,' an apparatus that will effectively separate the heavy materials from the predominantly paper trash," Klumb said. "That will help a lot."

The engineer said the environmental effects of burning the trash with low-sulfur coal have yet to be tested in the air and water around the plant.

"We are starting our own tests soon, and the Environmental Protection Agency will also run some tests," he said. "But I believe the emissions from our stacks will be clean."

The funds for the $3-million project, called the only one of its kind in the country, are being provided by the federal government, the state of Connecticut and the city, with the EPA picking up about two-thirds of the tab.

Julia Gardner who became the second wife of President Tyler and the first bride of a president in history, was referred to as "the Snow-White Island."

Marine Fuel Priority Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Office of Petroleum Allocation ordered sales Tuesday of marine distillate fuels on a priority basis to boats and shore installations harvesting and processing fish and seafood.

The order permits the sale of marine distillate fuels to a priority list of boats and shore installations harvesting and processing fish and seafood. The regulation bars allocation of marine distillate fuel, unless the seafood industry supply is assured.

"Ships and any other marine craft whose primary use is or will be of a recreational or pleasure nature, including both private and commercial yachts, cruise ships, sport fishing boats and other pleasure craft whether operated or chartered.

"Suppliers of marine fuels should furnish such fuels to such end users only where such furnishing will not compromise the supply of the preferred end users," the regulation said.

The Ladies Missionary Society and the Golden Rule Club of the Talcoville Congregational Church will sponsor the church's fourth annual Christmas bazaar Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the church on Main St., Talcoville.

The bazaar will feature the sale of items such as Christmas decorations, handmade articles, jewelry, attic treasures, hand-knitting portraits, woodwork table, children's table and several others.

A light lunch will be available.

Vernon Grange voted at its last meeting to hold only one meeting during the months of January, February and March, due to the energy crisis.

The Grange will hold its annual bazaar Dec. 8 at Grange Hall, Rt. 30, starting at 4 p.m. with an old-fashioned turkey supper to be served from 5:30 to 7 p.m.

The bazaar will feature the sale of Christmas items, and white elephant items. It is not necessary to make reservations for the supper.

Following the supper the Junior Grange choir will present a program of Christmas music. The affair is open to the public.

Mini Bazaar
A take sale and mini bazaar will be held at the Vernon Center Congregational Church Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the church basement.

In an effort to have books returned to the library by borrowers who have apparently forgotten about them, the Rockville Public Library will welcome back these books during the week of Dec. 10 with no fines and no questions asked.

The week will be fine-free week in the adult section of the junior section of the library.

Oscar Gailbault, library director, said, "We are interested in getting back some of our long overdue books so that we can put them back into circulation."

He said he hopes the patron will be notified of the plan, noting that a fine-free week is common in most libraries as a way of having long-overdue books returned.

Chimney Sweeping Booms

HARTFORD (AP) — The fuel shortage, a source of gloom and frustration to the average American, is bringing prosperity to chimney sweeps.

Chimney-cleaning firms in Connecticut report a huge increase in jobs from homeowners who are relying more on their fireplaces because of the fuel oil shortage.

"We're getting calls to clean chimneys that haven't been cleaned since the Civil War," said Mrs. Marcel Gellas, wife of the proprietor of the East Granby company. She estimated their business has about doubled since last year.

John Allison of Milford, president of a cleaning company, said business is up about 50 per cent. Although most of the new customers have fireplaces, he added, some also have wood-burning Franklin stoves.

home where fireplaces have not been used much until recently, he said. Wood fires cause more chimney-clogging soot that a chimney sweep is needed.

Roy Tennant of Norwich, who runs his own cleaning company, said business is up about 50 per cent. Although most of the new customers have fireplaces, he added, some also have wood-burning Franklin stoves.

Straight Talk On Energy Crisis Needed Today

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — One thing that the American people could use more than a pay raise or price cuts or even lower taxes is some straight talk on Washington on the energy crisis.

In terms of economic impact from the shortage, the administration has withdrawn to the role of cheerleader or sideline critic of private forecasts. But it has come up with few specifics of its own.

If the 8 per cent jobless forecasts of some economists are too high, as suggested by the administration's experts, what should we expect? If 8 or 9 per cent inflation isn't to be expected, what is?

The independent and academic economists have had a forecasting field day, many of them collecting substantial fees from private enterprise for providing their confidential advice.

So many of these forecasts have become public in the past two weeks that it is possible to come up with something resembling a consensus.

The economy already was turning cold at the time of the Midwest oil cutback. Expansion would amount to only 3 per cent, or about half that of 1973. The cutback has shaved that estimate in half.

If the cutback continues beyond that point the economy could be tipped into a recession which technically means two successive quarters of production declines.

Regardless of how long the cutback last, unemployment most likely will rise substantially.

Initially, the lower end of the range appears to be around 5.5 per cent, the upper limit about 8. The present rate is 4.5 per cent.

Inflation, also regardless of how long the cutback lasts, is expected to continue. The upper limit of forecasts appears to be a rate of about 8 or 9 per cent in the early months of 1974, tailing off thereafter on the assumption the cutback ends.

Based on general forecasts such as these, and more specific forecasts for particular businesses and geographical areas, industry is making its plans for 1974. But the message from Washington to the public is far less specific.

In one breath Americans are urged to reduce heat, the amount of electricity used, the speed of their cars, the amount of gasoline used, but in another they are told the situation is under control.

"Above all, every step will be taken to insure that any disruptions to our economy which may occur are short-lived, and that they do not cause lasting damage," the President said in his most recent message.

While service stations are closing, the nation's biggest car maker is cutting production and officials of the U.S. Postal Service say mail deliveries are disrupted, the President attempts to minimize the problem through rhetoric.

Speaking to the Sealers International Union, he called the energy crisis a temporary matter that might be cleared up in a year or so, despite contrary advice and warnings from members of his administration.

"We have a temporary problem, a problem that is going to exist for this year, perhaps somewhat longer," said the President, without specifying how, even with an end to the Midwest cutback, this could be accomplished.

American, and which is indeed their right, and the government's obligation, is a set of candid, honest estimates that will permit them to make their plans.

A two-day workshop, sponsored by the National League for Nursing Council of Home Health Agencies and Community Health Services, will be held Thursday and Friday at the Hartford Hilton Hotel. Attendance of the workshop will be Mrs. Jean Bates, director of the Manchester Public Health Nursing Association; and Mrs. Dorothy Goretz, supervisor of MPHNA.

The workshop will concentrate on "Problem Oriented Systems of Patient Care."

Forfeit in Opening Game

Play in the Rec Senior Basketball League at the Y got off to a rather auspicious start Monday night when the officials stopped play in the fourth quarter and awarded the decision to Schiebel's over Groman's. The Partsmen were leading at the time, 34-47. Eddie Werner, a fine volleyball setup player with the Latvian team, recently completed 25 years with Pratt & Whitney and was admitted to the Quarter Century Club. South Windsor High will host a three-school basketball jamboree Tuesday night involving Central Valley Conference members. Joining Coach Charles Sharov's club will be Rockville and Ellington. Play starts at 7. Winner of the Sportsmanship Award in the Manchester Midget Football League, Tommy Roach, is the son of Jimmy Roach, the all-time Manchester High star who went on to Auburn. UConn attracted better than 10,000 fans to each of its five home football games this fall and lured a new record-high total of 63,247. Jimmy Balesano ex-Manchester High star wound up as the No. 2 ground-gainer with Trinity College's football team this fall. He picked up 284 yards in six games for a 4.3 yard per carry average and 40 punt runs. John Wholley, an East Windsor High product, paced the Bantams with 349 yards in eight games. Wholley tallied five touchdowns and Balesano two. The latter was injured most of the year but came on in the finale to pace the win over Wesleyan with a 100-yard plus effort. When Jim Lambert rolled an alley tying three-string record at the Holiday Lanes last week with a 509 total which included a 201 effort, it marked his second better-than-200 one game effort this fall. He boasts a 129 average.

Road Race Leftovers

Teammates on the UConn cross country team 32 years ago, Jon Hutchinson now is a teacher-coach at Torrington High and Charlie Robbins a practicing M.D. in Middletown. Both took part in the Five Mile Road Race again last Thanksgiving. Hutchinson's No. 1 runner at Torrington High, Gerry Whittaker, only a sophomore, was the first high school runner to finish. "He's going to be a good one," Hutchinson offered. The latter is married to a daughter of the Rev. Watson Woodruff, former pastor at Central Congregational Church. Among the no-shows were six-time winner Little Johnny Kelley, the veteran Fred Brown who has completed in close to 2,000 sanctioned races, and Dan Moynihan, one of the favorites. Last in the 1972 finishing line, Dr. Joseph Kristan of Rockville placed a very respectable 263 and was fresh as a daisy at the final line. Paul Phinney, old No. 88, was 363rd in his 20th consecutive appearance. Former winner Charlie Dyson, a few months from his 40th birthday, placed 29th. Robbins, a two-time champ, was 96th in 26:47. His clocking was just 37 seconds slower than his winning time 28 years ago. In 1945, the year the race was revived after a lapse of 10 years, Robbins was timed in 26:10. Marty Cavanaugh, the spry 75-year-old road runner, placed 519th. He promised to return in '74. Correction Department: Amy Burfoot's winning time of 22:37 was 18 seconds slower than a year ago and not 26. Burfoot said he was running 25 seconds slower than in '72 but as it turned out, the difference was just 16 seconds, thanks to being pushed by John Vitale. David Low, the young Harvard student who penned the unusual but artistic entry blank and envelope, plans to become a physician. Low placed 16th. Larry Woykowski, Manchester Community College's No. 1 cross-country runner, placed 92nd. Times and placements of local runners may be obtained by phoning or writing this department.

Sixth-Man Status Suits Bobby Weiss

NEW YORK (AP) — Veteran guard Bobby Weiss apparently is getting used to his sixth-man status with the Chicago Bulls, and even Coach Dick Motta thinks, "It's nice to have him around." "He feels and accepts his role as the No. 3 guard," Motta said Tuesday after the Bulls defeated the Golden State Warriors 123-117 in a National Basketball Association game. Coach Walker had 19 points for the Bulls and Weiss added 24 as the Warriors saw a four-game winning streak on the road come to an end. "It was a heck of a game," Motta said. "I finally thought we'd win it when Walker and Weiss hit baskets in the final minutes." Elsewhere in the NBA, the Milwaukee Bucks defeated the Buffalo Braves 115-110, the Cleveland Cavaliers beat the Seattle SuperSonics 120-118, the Atlanta Hawks crushed the Kansas City-Omaha Kings 129-110, and the Houston Rockets defeated the Phoenix Suns 125-111.

Rhody Elects

KINGSTON, R.I. (AP) — Backcourt ace Joe Charles and forward Steve Dolcetti have been named co-captains of the 1973-74 University of Rhode Island basketball team. Charles led the Rams in assists while playing in 23 games last season. Dolcetti, a reserve for two years, appears to have clinched a starting berth as a senior. Bob Netolicky added 24 points to the Indiana attack and Billy Keller, who saw limited action, added 22. Rookie Dwight Lamar led San Diego with 19 points, followed by Chuck Williams 18. "Well we just couldn't get the ball in the basket," said San Diego Coach Will Chamberlain. "We'll have a two-day layoff

Garcia Distant Second

NEW YORK (AP) — Al Bumbry, a 230-pounder in his first full year in the big leagues with the Baltimore Orioles, was named today the American League's Rookie of the year for 1973. The speedy outfielder, a Vietnam veteran who worried about making the Baltimore roster last spring, won the coveted award in a landslide over Milwaukee infielder Pedro Garcia.

Bennet Junior High's X-Country Squad

Short of Rebound Record

NEW YORK (AP) — After collecting 29 rebounds, George McGinnis unhelpfully pointed out that it was six short of the American Basketball record. "I am really angry that I didn't get the record tonight—35 rebounds," said McGinnis after guiding the Indiana Pacers to a 129-117 American Basketball Association victory over the San Diego Cougars Tuesday night. "Not only did he hit the boards, he hit the basket with 39 points—and even added a big assist when he went for three." McGinnis' magnificent performance was fashioned in the face of foul trouble. He played only two minutes in the second quarter after picking up his third foul. "This is incredible," said Indiana Coach Bobby Leonard. "When George walked out of the dressing room tonight, he said, 'I'm gonna get there and get that rebound record.' And he didn't want to come out of the game in the second quarter. But I said, 'No, buddy, not with three fouls on you.'"

Several Girl Candidates With High Swim Team

Girls at Manchester High will not only participate in programs of their own, but they'll also be competing on a varsity level with the boys. The Connecticut Interscholastic Athletic Conference (CIAC) has passed new legislation that girls can take part in non-contact sports on the high school level. Taking advantage of this ruling are four girls who are currently trying out for Coach Dick Solimene's swimming team. Other swimming teams are expected to do likewise. Also, of the town's high school girls will be participating in basketball, volleyball, gymnastics and ri-

Patulski Play Earns Laurels

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Ferguson threw a game-tying touchdown pass, but it was Walt Patulski who gave him the chance to do it. Then Dwight Harrison intercepted a pass and ran it back for the game-winning touchdown. Again, it was Patulski who gave him the chance to do it. Buffalo's premier defensive end didn't give Baltimore the chance to do much of anything last Sunday. And, although he didn't score, it was the 6-foot-8, 260-pounder from Notre Dame who gave the Bills their 24-17 victory over the Colts. He harassed Baltimore's David Lee into a critical bad punt. He deflected three passes, including the one that would up Harrison's scoring run, and he made five tackles, assisted on two others and had a quarterback sack.

For that performance, Patulski was selected today as the Associated Press' Defensive Player of the Week in the National Football League. Before the poor punt that changed the game around, the Colts were nursing a 17-10 lead. The ball was snapped badly, striking the crossbar. Lee caught it on the rebound and, with Patulski swarming all over him, was barely able to get the kick off. It went for only 18 yards, out to Baltimore's 25-yard line.

Moments later, Ferguson came through with his 35-yard touchdown pass to Bob Chandler. Buffalo had the tie-but Baltimore had the ball with about a minute to play. "At that point, I just was happy to see us with the tie," said Patulski. "When we went back on defense, I went into the game just hoping to keep the Colts outside of field goal range." He did better than that. After two incomplete passes, quarterback Marty Domres went up to pass again. This time, Patulski got his big hand in front of the pass, tipping the ball to Harrison, who dashed 31 yards for the touchdown that won the game.

Other fine performances were turned in by Cincinnati linebacker Bill Bergey, with 11 tackles, one assist, an interception and a fumble recovery in the Bengals' 42-24 rout of St. Louis, and Atlanta safety Ray Brown, who intercepted two passes, one of them leading to a touchdown in the Falcons' 26-20 victory over the New York Jets.

Iling's Football Board of Strategy

Guiding Iling Junior High's football team to its first undefeated and untied season this fall were the coaches, assistant Mike Masse and Head Coach Alex Ferguson. The pair was singled out for special recognition at the team's annual banquet at the Country Club this week.

Manchester High Basketball Injuries in Football Hurt Hoop Chances

By Len Auster

"If you had talked to me a couple of weeks ago, I would've said we were going to have a super team," Manchester High basketball Coach Jim Moriarty proclaimed. But, sidelining injuries to Ray Sullivan (soccer) and Dallas Dodge (football) has derailed any chances of the Tribe hoopers getting out of the gate quickly.

Still, Moriarty says he feels his team will improve over a 1972-73 record of 9-20, 9-8 and seventh place in the CCHL and qualify for the state roundball tournament in March. The coaches open Dec. 11 at Maloney.

Besides the absence of Sullivan and Dodge, who are both expected to return in mid-December, Moriarty has been sidetracked by a severely twisted ankle suffered by probable MVP Jim Busey, The 6-4 junior center played JV ball last campaign as a sophomore and has "progressed tremendously," according to his mentor. "Red Auerbach (former great Boston Celtics coach) had him in his summer camp and raves about his performance," Moriarty added.

Strong Alumni Swimmers Win

A strong alumni swimming contingent defeated the Manchester High varsity team, 92-55, in an exhibition meet held at the high school.

Preseason favorites should be Maloney High of Meriden and High of West Hartford has a "solid crew" in Billy Ayers and Maloney has a very deep and talented squad. High of West Hartford should also be right up there among the trail blazers. The eternally optimistic Moriarty also foresees Manchester making a run for the crown.

Chris Evert Wins

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Chris Evert of Port Lauderdale, Fla., defeated defending champion Evonne Goolagong of Australia 6-3, 6-2 to claim the women's singles title in the South Africa Open Tennis Tournament.

Elliot Named

MIAMI (AP) — University of Miami Coach Pat Elliott has been named to the south team's coaching staff for the 1973 Miami Shrine North-South All-Star football game.

Pats Add Carl Johnson, Game Tickets Available

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — The New England Patriots have moved to bolster their linebacking corps by signing rookie Carl Johnson, the Dallas Cowboys' 10th round choice in the National Football League draft this year.

Johnson, a former Tennessee standout, was signed as a free agent Tuesday as linebacker Brian Steffer was placed on the injured reserve list because of a neck injury suffered against Green Bay Nov. 17.

The Patriots also announced that 5,618 tickets still were available Tuesday afternoon for Sunday's 1973 home finale against the San Diego Chargers at Schaefer Stadium. The local television blackout will not be lifted unless all tickets are sold by Thursday noon.

SHOP LIFTING ...LEADS TO PRISON

Doubleheader action last night in the Rec Business League saw the Buzzards take Telo, 68-52, and Robert's Electric get past UAC Barons, 68-69.

Leading the Buzzards' winning effort was Ron Rosario with 24 markers and Jim Kelly who contributed 12 points.

Telo was paced by Larry Covell's 22 tallies along with Mike Keller's 12.

The Hence brothers, Phil, Bruce and Clay led Robert's to victory as they canned 21, 19 and 15 points respectively.

Top pointmaker for the Barons was Vic Luptik with 23 markers. George Seaman had 19 tallies in the losing cause.

Arizona State Paces Offense

NEW YORK (AP) - Arizona State is major college football's 1973 total offense and scoring champion.

Arizona State rolled up 701 yards rushing and passing against Arizona last Saturday and finished with an average of 58.5 yards for 11 games, just one yard short of the record season average set by Oklahoma in 1971.

Arizona State also won the scoring title with 491 points for an average of 44.6.

UCLA won the rushing title with an average of 400.3 yards for 11 games.

San Diego State virtually has clinched the passing title with a 300.8 average for 10 games, with one game remaining against Iowa State Saturday.

Directors Will Meet At Keeney St. School

Mayor John Thompson has announced that next Tuesday's (Dec. 4) meeting of the Manchester Board of Directors has been moved out of the Municipal Building and into Keeney St. School. It will be at 8 p.m.

The move, he explained, is to accommodate those members of the public interested in a public hearing on the installation of sanitary sewers in Keeney St., Leland Dr., Linwood Dr., Santina Dr., Garden Grove Rd. and Erie St.

The public hearing results from a petition for sewers, signed by the area's residents.

Thompson said the board plans to hold more meetings in the different parts of town, "for the purpose of bringing local government to all sections of our town and giving people the opportunity to participate in their government."

Also next Tuesday, public hearings will be held on:

- ... A proposed $15,380 appropriation for the Vocational Education Program, to be financed by an equivalent state grant.
- ... A proposed $76,710 appropriation to the Revenue-Sharing Account, to be financed by revenue-sharing funds anticipated in January.

... A proposed $42,000 allocation for a storm-drainage project in the N. Elm St.-White Brook area, to be financed by revenue-sharing funds.

An appropriation of anticipated revenue-sharing funds is a normal bookkeeping operation, similar to appropriations in anticipation of tax receipts. It is necessary in this instance because the balance in the account is insufficient to cover the proposed $42,000 allocation for the drainage project.

The town has received word it will receive $42,000 in revenue-sharing funds during the balance of the current fiscal year — $211,425 in January and $211,425 in April.

Q. If I have to reduce my heating by government order, why don't those others?

A. Not everybody. Just householders and building operators who heat with "middle distillate fuel" that includes heating oil, kerosene, range oil, stove oil and diesel fuel. Those who heat with natural gas, electricity, wood or some other fuel are requested to cut their fuel consumption but are not legally required to do so.

Q. What is the government's plan to reduce my heating by government order, why don't those others?

A. Oil in a heating fuel whose deliveries can be controlled. It is much more difficult, in fact nearly impossible, to cut deliveries of electricity and natural gas for heating without creating serious problems and safety hazards. The administration is studying ways to cut the use of electricity and natural gas, possibly by imposing some surcharge on consumption in excess consumption. But it has not yet come up with a plan.

Q. What right does the government have to tell me how to heat my home?

A. It has the legal authority, based on 1973 amendments to the Public Economic Stabilization Act — the "Eagleton Amendment" — to control the distribution of fuels. It has been controlling distribution of home heating oil at the wholesale level since Nov. 1. Now it plans to extend that control to the final consumer.

Q. Why is this necessary?

A. Because the United States has been increasing its fuel demand faster than its supply.

The Arab oil nations made our problem worse by cutting off their shipments of oil to the United States last October. Thus, the consumption of all petroleum products — gasoline, home heating oil, industrial oil, diesel and jet fuel — must be cut.

Q. I wouldn't mind turning down the thermostat a degree or two, but why six degrees?

A. That's what the government figures it will take to save about 15 per cent of the distillate oil: a six-degree reduction in homes and ten degrees everywhere else.

Q. President Nixon said Sunday night we should lower the heat six degrees to an average indoor temperature of 68 degrees. We always keep the thermostat at 68. Must we cut back?

A. Yes. You will have to turn your thermostat down to 62. The regulation says: "Each end-user must reduce his ambient indoor temperature by the appropriated amount, or take action to conserve energy in a fuel saving equivalent."

Q. Who's going to make me?

A. Nobody. But if you don't do it, you'll run out of fuel on a cold day.

Fuel Plan Questions Answered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House proposed a heating oil rationing plan Tuesday under which homeowners using oil must lower their thermostats six degrees. All others using oil for heat must lower their thermostats ten degrees. Here, in question and answer form, is an explanation of the plan, subject to official revision before its final adoption.

Q. Does absolutely everybody have to lower his heat?

A. Not everybody. Just householders and building operators who heat with "middle distillate fuel" that includes heating oil, kerosene, range oil, stove oil and diesel fuel. Those who heat with natural gas, electricity, wood or some other fuel are requested to cut their fuel consumption but are not legally required to do so.

Truck, Bus Speed Limits Debated

HARTFORD (AP) — State Police Commissioner Richard B. Fuesenich said Tuesday there were no plans to raise the speed limit for trucks and buses despite complaints that diesel vehicles were wasting fuel at lower speeds.

Bus and truck operators complained for a higher speed limit but so far have not changed schedules. A source at Greyhound said schedules were being met by disobeying posted speed limits.

Fuesenich, who is chairman of the State Traffic Commission, said there are no plans to raise the speed limit at 55 m.p.h. even though President Nixon recommended it Sunday along with a 50 m.p.h. limit for cars.

He said Connecticut has the authority to set speed limits lower than federal limits.

"The situation will be evaluated as time goes on," he said.

Truckers agree that cars run more efficiently at 50 m.p.h. but say trucks in this area are geared to run most efficiently at 60 m.p.h. The customary speed limit is in the northeast.

Regarding the trucks it is impossible because parts are not available, they say.

The added fuel consumption results when the truck shifts down to less economical gears for lower speeds or to climb hills.

Spokesmen for Schuster's Express Inc. in South Windsor and Lombard Brothers Inc. in Waterbury said they also are experiencing increased fuel consumption.

experience, but it could vary with the type of truck and gearing, road conditions and weather, he noted.

"The vast majority of the diesel fleet will be in trucks at the slower speed," he said.

Major bus companies have appealed for a higher speed limit but so far have not changed schedules. A source at Greyhound said schedules were being met by disobeying posted speed limits.

Two Groups Oppose Buckland Project

Two local organizations — the Democratic Club of Manchester and the Parkade Merchants Association — are voicing opposition to a proposed $100 million commercial-industrial-residential development on 561 acres of tobacco land split between Manchester and South Windsor.

Democratic Club

SOL R. COHEN
(Herald Reporter)

The Democratic Club's executive board and social action committee this week adopted a resolution urging the Manchester Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) to deny the zone change requests because "the information provided by the developer does not present a balanced view of the pros and cons and because serious concerns to Manchester remain unanswered."

Parkade Merchants

DOUG BEVINS
(Herald Reporter)

The Parkade Merchants Association, by a telephone vote Thursday, urged the PZC to deny zone changes to allow commercial development at Buckland for three main reasons, association president Michael Dworkin reported.

The three reasons listed by the merchants are economic, environmental, and traffic concerns.

Dworkin said merchants agreed that a one-million-square foot regional shopping center planned by MAP Associates would "destroy the economic health of Manchester's existing business community."

"Our business (at the Parkade), of course, will be diminished," Dworkin said, "and so will downtown business be diminished." Dworkin said the developer's claims that a new shopping center would benefit Manchester financially are not true, because the Parkade and downtown shopping areas "may turn out to be graveyards."

As for environmental concerns, Dworkin said Parkade merchants think the proposed Buckland development "would be hazardous to public health" and that pollution levels would exceed national standards.

Dworkin, also mentioning the current energy crisis, said it would be "absurd" to build a complex development which would require "millions of gallons of oil" to build and operate and which would deprive homeowners of adequate fuel.

Traffic problems would be the "major obstacle," Dworkin said, mentioning that the town hasn't been able to relieve traffic

(See Page Fourteen)

The resolution lists the following concerns:

"Whether the necessary predicted growth for the Manchester-South Windsor area is still viable, in the face of this nation's long-term energy crunch."

"Whether traffic circulation patterns are adequate to handle the conservatively estimated 30,000 extra cars on existing secondary roads."

"Whether sewage treatment capacities would be exceeded by growth of areas other than 'Buckland Commons.'"

"Whether any safeguards exist to assure Manchester that 'Buckland Commons' would be constructed according to the proposals."

"Whether any anticipated revenue benefit to Manchester has taken into consideration the burden of such costs as fire department, new schools, police protection, sewage systems, social services, etc."

"Whether the granting of the zone change would be in the best interests of the town."

Kreskin Fails To Find Check

JUNE B. TOMPKINS
(Herald Reporter)

The "Amazing World of Kreskin" was truly amazed last night when Kreskin failed to find the check which had been hidden in Bailey Auditorium. If found, the check for $2,500 would have been Kreskin's fee for appearing in Manchester.

It was the second time at a public performance Kreskin failed to locate a check. The first occasion was about a year ago when he was recovering from eye surgery and was under medication at the time of his performance.

The gimmick is apparently standard at his performances. He uses four people selected at random from the audience who hide the check somewhere in the time.

Grand Jury Indicts Ex-White House Aide

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal grand jury today indicted former White House aide Dwight L. Chapin on four counts of lying to a Watergate grand jury.

The indictment charged that Chapin lied to the grand jury on April 11, 1973 when asked about the activities of Donald H. Segretti, underground political agent for the 1972 Nixon re-election campaign committee.

The formal charge lodged against Chapin is "making false declaration before grand jury or court."

The charge carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine on each of the four counts.

Chapin was President Nixon's appointed secretary during Nixon's first term as president and executive with United Airlines.

Segretti has pleaded guilty to three misdemeanor counts of violating federal campaign laws during the Florida "I was like an infirm full of cries of fleeing mothers and children," a survivor said.

Officials said the cause of the blaze was not immediately known. The fire broke out in the bedding section of the Tailor Department Store, which is usually closed on Thursdays but opened today.

Fire in Japan Takes High Toll

KUMAMOTO, Japan (AP) — Fire broke out in a department store crowded with year-end holiday shoppers today and police said perhaps as many as 100 persons perished in flames, smoke and fumes. Another 100 were reported injured.

Police officials said that some confusion as to the exact number of dead but that the toll could range from 90 to more than 100.

Helicopters flew to the scene 550 miles southwest of Tokyo to pluck survivors from the roof of the seven-story building.

Holiday Center Planned

Manchester's downtown merchants are planning to open a "Downtown Christmas Hospitality Center" Dec. 10 in a vacant store at 855 Main St., Miss Katherine Giblin told the Mayor's Downtown Action Committee this morning.

The committee members unanimously endorsed the plan, which call for businesses to provide free coffee or shoppers and at least two visits by Santa Claus.

Miss Giblin said individual merchants and the Main Street Guild, a merchants' association, have contributed about $700 to open the hospitality center.

She said the center will offer residents and shoppers and public toilet facilities will be available at the center. Two weeks ago, downtown committee chairman William Sletten complained about the lack of such facilities downtown.

Miss Giblin said there was tremendous response by merchants to the idea for a hospitality center, which she sees as a pilot project which may be continued. "Everyone said 'yes' right off the bat," she commented, when discussing the merchants' contributions.

The hospitality center idea was originally conceived as a "downtown kiddie keeper," Miss Giblin said, but state regulations on nursery schools blocked that proposal.

The "kiddie keeper" would have allowed mothers to leave children at the center while they went shopping.

The hospitality center, to open Dec. 10 if financial arrangements are complete, will be open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. It would close at 8 p.m. on Christmas Eve.

Nathan said when his company (Choice-Tend of Windsor Locks) was seeking a location, it checked 13 communities and found, invariably, that the well-meaning citizens groups weren't organized nor sufficiently trained to provide the information being sought. The full-time professional administrators were able to supply the information, he said.

Pillard asked the study committee to get down to the task for which it was appointed — to come up with a recommendation. He said the committee can't ignore the 1,464-signature

MPOA petition which created the largest taxpayer in Manchester is not the big corporation, said Pillard, but, rather, the homeowner.

Pillard acknowledged charges that the MPOA is for a strong-mayor form of government because it disapproves of the man now holding the job of town manager. He then listed the manager's actions and alleged mistakes as reasons for the MPOA's position.

Inferring that The Manchester Herald is using its news columns to back the council-manager form of government, Pillard quoted of government. Pillard form of government. He didn't quote from the article itself, which stated that six persons spoke at the study committee's Nov. 14 public hearing (on council-manager form of government).

Town Gets Land For Training Center

Brief ceremonies at ribbon-wrapped deed to Town of Manchester Community Manager Robert Weiss Wednesday afternoon marked the town's acquisition of a site at the northwest corner of the town's Hilltown Rd. and Wetherill St. The training center, estimated to cost about $1 million, would house numerous facilities including five instructional classrooms and several types of service areas — industrial and automotive laboratories, occupational training, food service and physical education, functional, academic, and team-work programs.

Architects for the center are the Lawrence Associates of Manchester.

Participants in the Wednesday afternoon land transfer ceremonies, conducted at the MCC president's conference room, included MCC President Frederick Love, Manchester School Superintendent James P. Kennedy, Manchester school board chairman Allan Thomas, State Sen. David Odegard, Manchester Mayor John Thompson, also, James Nakos, chairman of the MCC Regional Advisory Council; Kenneth Sumner, deputy director of the state's regional community colleges; and Arnold and Richard Lawrence of the Lawrence Associates.

Plans and specifications for the center, now being prepared, will go before the State Board of Education next February. State grants will pay for the entire project, through a reimbursement schedule with the Town of Manchester.
