Low-Cost Meal Plan Will Start Dec. 17

Alice Evans (Herald Reporter)
A new federally-funded low-cost meal program for the elderly will begin Dec. 17 in Manchester. Up to 60 meals a day will be served Monday through Friday at the West Hill and Mayfair Gardens housing units for the elderly.

The goal of the new program is to raise nutritional, educational and social levels for the elderly. It will strive to integrate leisure time and make people aware of the other supportive services available to them, the CRT representative said.

With the new program about to start, the present program at the Senior Citizens Center since its inception about five or six years ago, told the commission that the meals at the same price and maintain the same high quality.

Fendell said that without such a subsidy it would be necessary to raise the prices of meals from 10 to 25 cents. He said that when the program first started, it just about broke even.

"We need money now to keep prices and quality at its present level. We could offer cheaper food, but would rather make our soups from scratch rather than resort to the canned variety," he said.

Fendell said that about 90 senior citizens participated in the complete dinner that is served on Thursday and about 40 on the other four days, when soup and sandwiches are served.

Mason said that people are being encouraged to go to the Senior Citizens Center for meals and tickets for distribution to the elderly have been given to the Rev. Ronald Fourrier, co-pastor of Emanuel Lutheran Church and president of the Manchester Area Conference of Churches; Sister Mary Patricia, executive director of the conference; Miss

Truckers Protest New Limit
DANBURY (AP) - About six truck drivers, angered by fuel shortages and reduced speed limits, parked their rigs in the East bound lanes of Interstate 84 Monday, blocking traffic for 30 minutes, police said.

They said there was only enough fuel to get to the next open filling station, fuel prices were too high and lower speed limits caused their vehicles to burn fuel at twice the rate as the speed the trucks were designed to travel.

European alfalfa was a descendant of the alfalfa brought into Greece by the Medes and Persians around 400 B.C. It was probably introduced to Europe by Roman legions.

Bus Runs Cut To Save Gas

Rham
ANNE EMT
Correspondent
Tel. 228-3971
In view of the increasing energy crisis, the Regional District 8 Board of Education Monday night voted to eliminate "fan" buses to save gas.

The board also considered a moratorium until March 1 on field trips and the possibility of dropping some away basketball games in an effort to conserve gasoline, but took no action at this time.

Michael Zotta, physical education department coordinator at Rham, attended the meeting and stressed the importance of the physical education program to his students.

He said he would like "to run our athletic program under any conditions within reason."

Zotta was referring not so much to the gasoline shortage but the oil shortage in urging the board not to cancel Saturday practices or evening games.

The board has received notification that for the month of December the school will receive only 80 per cent of the allocation delivered during the month of December last year.

Representatives from Hamden Oil, which supplies the school, have stated to Cattanch that the school can expect a 50 per cent increase on the price of oil per gallon.

Taking into consideration the low use of oil because of the mild weather and the measures already taken in the school to conserve fuel, the board agreed to go along with maintaining the present athletic schedule of practices and games.

However, it will consider blocking off the area of the gymnasium, keeping the temperature between 45 and 50 degrees and also keeping in mind the future possibility that by the middle of this month it might have to withdraw this support if the crisis worsens.

In this respect, the board also voted that, until further notice, all other extra-curricular activities (both school and non-school) that are presently scheduled will continue subject to review if the crisis worsens.

However, no further activities will be scheduled and the chairman was authorized to make any decisions, after consultation with other board members, should a situation arise necessitating the immediate cancellation of any existing programs.

By Monday's vote, the PZC is authorized to promulgate such regulations, in conformity with those of the commissioner of environmental protection, as are necessary to protect the wetlands and water courses of the town.

Consistently
By a vote of 25 to 19, town meeting action approved an ordinance authorizing the executive authority (selection) of the town to appoint in November of the odd-numbered years not more than seven constables for two-year terms. The first appointments will be made in 1975.

This new ordinance takes precedent over the present procedure of electing constables at the regular town election.

Originally the state had designated a town's Conservation Commission as having the authorization to draw up regulations protecting the wetlands and water courses of a town. However, amended Public Act 971 now calls for the town to designate an agency

Space Scientist Plans Workshops

Dr. Isidore Adler, space scientist, will be in Manchester Thursday to meet with high school students and to conduct workshops with science teachers from the high schools and Manchester Community College.

His visit is part of a week-long schedule of appearances by a team of educators from NASA headquarters at Goddard Space Flight Center who are appearing at Manchester schools this week presenting lecture-demonstrations on the space program.

Dr. Adler is a senior scientist in the Laboratory for Space Physics at Goddard in Greenbelt, Md. His work, mostly in the area of X-ray spectroscopy, has included studies of the composition of Apollo lunar samples. He has acted as principal investigator for the X-ray fluorescence experiment for both Apollo 15 and Apollo 16.

Dr. Adler came to NASA in 1964 from the U.S. Geological Survey where he was a project leader in X-ray spectroscopy. Before this, he was a chemist and spectroscopist for the U.S. Customs Laboratory in New York.

Born in Brooklyn, N.Y., Dr. Adler graduated from Brooklyn College in 1942 with a B.A. in chemistry. He received a B.S. in meteorology in 1944 from New York University. He received an M.S. in chemistry in 1947 and a Ph.D. in chemistry in 1952 from the New York Polytechnic Institute.

Dr. Adler is a member of the American Geophysical Union, the Society of Applied Spectroscopy and Sigma Xi. His personal interests include a variety of athletics and scuba diving. He lives with his wife and two children in Chevy Chase, Md.

Democrats Plan Victory Party

Manchester Democrats will celebrate their Nov. 6 election win with a "Victory Party" Jan. 12 at Garden Grove, off Keeney St. It will honor all Democratic winners and all Democratic workers in the campaign and the election.

"In addition to being a 'Victory Party,'" explained Democratic chairman Ted Cummings, "we are calling it also a 'Break-Even Party.' We went through a very active campaign and still finished in the black. Because of that, the charge for tickets will cover only our expenses. We aren't looking to make a profit. The party is for celebrating — not for fund-raising."

Other dates mentioned by Cummings are: Dec. 19, when Atty. Gen. Robert Killian will address the town committee; Jan. 24, when former Norwalk Mayor Frank Zallo will address it; and Jan. 28 or 29, when caucuses will be held in all 10 voting districts for election of the 80-member Democratic Town Committee.

Kilian and Zallo are seeking the Democratic nomination for governor. Because Jan. 29 is the last legal date for holding the caucuses, a determination will be made Dec. 19 on holding them that date or Jan. 28, Cummings explained. Whichever date it will be, the voting will be from 7 to 10 p.m., with all registered Democrats eligible to cast ballots. Each district caucus will have a presiding officer and a moderator, neither of whom may be a candidate for the town committee.

Any Democrat desiring to run for the town committee need merely file with the town clerk a statement to that effect — not more than 10 and not less than 5 days prior to the caucus date. Election to the town committee is for two years.

The case of Joseph Noel, 23, of East Hartford, charged Sunday with first-degree robbery, possession of a non-narcotic substance (marijuana) and carrying a weapon in a motor vehicle, was continued to Thursday's Manchester session by Judge Nicholas Armentano. Noel is being held in the Hartford Correctional Center in lieu of a $11,000 surety bond awaiting a hearing.

Daniel Davis, 18, of Rockville, was committed to Norwich State Hospital for a period of 30 days for tests and observation. Davis was charged with disorderly conduct in connection with an incident where he fired a rifle at home for no apparent reason.

Reginald Smith, 42, of 17 High St., Rockville, charged with reckless endangerment, threatening, interfering with an officer, and risk of injury to a minor child, had his case continued to Dec. 18 at the Vernon session. Smith was arrested Saturday by Vernon Police after a domestic disturbance involving a rifle, his wife and child. Judge Armentano reduced bond, and Smith was released

Court Cases

Thomas Sullivan, 20, of Coventry, was fined $100 for operating a motor vehicle while his license was under suspension and $25 for abandoning a motor vehicle.

Other cases heard in Manchester Monday include: —Nicholas Longo, 45, of Ellington, fined $50 for disorderly conduct (substituted for third-degree burglary).

Vernon Town Wants Camp For $145,000 Cash

BARBARA RICHMOND Camp Newhous on Bolton Lake in Vernon will be purchased by the town, but on slightly different terms than originally proposed. The Town Council, following a public hearing and a special town meeting Monday night, passed a resolution authorizing Mayor Frank McCoy to purchase the camp property at a cost not to exceed $145,000. The special town meeting approved an amount not to exceed $150,000.

The camp is owned by Newton Children's Hospital and the trustees of the hospital originally asked a price of $175,000 for the site which contains 29 buildings, through negotiating, the price was brought down to $150,000. The trustees said their auditors recommended that the deed be paid in installments rather than one lump sum. The town will pay for the purchase from revenue sharing funds. The agreement was that one-fifth would be paid when the deed was signed and the other in four installments on the anniversary of the signing. Following the town meeting, the mayor told the council that he had more recent information from the trustees that the auditors changed their minds and would now like the payment in a lump sum. The town had planned to pay the first installment and then the remainder of the purchase price, because the federal money to have it draw interest. Town Attorney Abbott Schwabel explained when the town planned to pay the $150,000 in five payments, it was figured it would make about $15,000 on the interest of the reserve in the revenue sharing fund. This would be true if the town invested the money at a five per cent interest rate. If the interest rate were six per cent, the town would gain $19,500 in interest. If paid in one lump sum, the hospital will draw interest if the money is invested. So figuring this, the real estate committee approved a sale price of $145,000 with the notation that negotiations were still open. Atty. Schwabel said the only problem is figuring the possible interest rate and he suggested that they probably agree to settling on a rate of 5.5 per cent for negotiation purposes. At the public hearing several persons spoke in favor of the purchase of the camp and no one opposed. Daniel Wright of Greer Rd., president of the Middle Bolton Lake Association, read a letter from 90 members of that group noting they fully supported the purchase of the camp. Wright said the members feel the camp would be a valuable asset to the town and invited the town to become a member of the lake association. Several other residents of that area on the lake also spoke in favor of the purchase as did some representatives of the town Conservation Commission. Paul Margolony, who also spoke in favor of the purchase, questioned what the approximate cost of maintaining the camp would be. The mayor said he could not detail the costs because the uses may be so broad and numerous. He did say, however, that one-time initial improvements which would be to upgrade and repair electrical, plumbing and masonry work, would cost about $700. Fire Chief William Johnson has suggested that a dry hydrant be installed to the lake. He said it is not essential but it would enhance fire protection. This would cost about $1,500. At some time the town would like to improve the parking facilities for the camp. This would run about $4,000, but the mayor said several alternatives can be considered. Annual operating costs and maintenance costs are expected to total about $1,465. These were itemized as follows: insurance, $125; electricity, $240; miscellaneous repairs, ground maintenance, moving, refuse and such, $600; and recreation program costs, $500. The recreation costs, it was explained, were tentatively planned to cover costs of bus transportation, supervision, picnic tables, benches and similar facilities for senior citizen day trips and outings. In addition, recreation commission-sponsored youth activities such as hiking, fishing or swimming are anticipated. It was also noted that private groups such as Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, YMCA and Little League, might involve and would now like the town groups may develop activities on a self-sustaining basis. Also discussed was the question of whether, because the camp is being paid for with federal money, the camp can be restricted to use of Vernon residents only. Mayor McCoy said this was discussed at the Conference of Mayors' meeting and it was the general feeling that once a town gets the federal money it becomes town money and its use does not have to be within federal guidelines. No precedent has been set on this, as yet.

Bids Sought For Gas, Oil

Manchester's purchasing agent declines to predict what the response will be to invitations he has sent out for bids on the town's gasoline, motor oil, grease and lubricant needs for the coming year.

"I know the situation is very serious," said Maurice Pass. "However, we're making every reasonable effort to locate a source for next year's needs. Gasoline and motor oils may be in short supply, when compared to previous years, but they still exist, and the suppliers are still in business."

The bids received will be opened Dec. 14 in the Municipal Building. Pass said he has sent bid forms to seven suppliers of gasoline, including Chevron Oil Co. of Fairfield, the town's present supplier, and to 10 suppliers of motor oil, grease and lubricants.

The present contracts for the automotive supplies expire Jan. 21, and with about 200 gallons of regular-grade gasoline, with 90,000 gallons of it for the police department, 15,000 for the Park Department, 20,000 for the Water Department, and 170,000 for the Highway Department. The storage capacity for the four departments is 27,000 gallons.

The motor oil, grease and lubricant needs are for a variety of grades. An estimated 2,000 gallons of motor oil is being sought.

Historical Society Wesley Reed, radio and television personality, will give his popular program, "More Music From the Attic," at the Hebron Historical Society's meeting tonight at 8 at Rham High School. As is the custom of the society at Christmases, the public is cordially invited free of charge to join with the society in the enjoyment of Reed's program. There will be a short business meeting prior to the program.

The Planning and Zoning Commission voted in executive session last week to approve the 10-lot subdivision (approximately 22 acres) on West St. and Martin Rd. known as the Fawn Ridge Subdivision. However, building permission was withheld on lots 3, 4, 5 and 6 until approved designed sanitary systems are received by the commission, approved by them and by the health department. The commission also stipulated that lots 9 and 10 are not to contain less than 4.3 acres each.

Two others subdivisions, Northern Hills Section 1 on Old Colchester Rd. and property of William Eisenman on Wall St. and Loveland Rd., were received by the commission for consideration.

The Northern subdivision is proposed for five lots and the Eisenman is for 16 lots. Both subdivisions will be referred to the Recreation and Conservation Commissions so that recommendations may be made for open space.

There are still a limited number of appointments available for the Hebron Lions Club free glaucoma screening to be held Dec. 12 at the Glaucoma Center in Wetherfield.

The tests are offered to persons 45 years of age and over and residents wishing to make an appointment may call 228-3890. John Fulginiti, night conservation chairman for the Lions Club, stresses the importance of the testing citing how "one out of every eight blind adults is a victim of Glaucoma."

However, if spotted early and treatment undertaken immediately, Fulginiti said, glaucoma need not rob one of his sight.

Transportation for residents needing it will be furnished by the Lions by calling the above telephone number.

Astronomy For the next several weeks, weather permitting, interested fifth grade students and their parents will be spending Wednesday evening observing the skies.

The program, which is under the direction of teacher Michael A. Klapiak, will give the students orientation on observing objects in the sky as well as the recognition of principle constellations.

Telescope techniques will be used to observe the moon, Venus, Jupiter and its moons, Mars, Great Nebula in Orion, double stars, and other unique features found in certain constellations.

The purpose of the program is to develop skills of observation and recognition as well as reinforcing classroom studies, and to develop an awareness and appreciation of natural wonders of the sky.

The class will also be preparing for the observation of Comet Kohoutek and the partial solar eclipse due this month.

Truckers Protest Energy Restrictions

Sewer Project Draws Fire At Hearing

SOL R. COHEN
Herald Reporter
Because of the considerable and, at times heated and emotional opposition Tuesday night to a proposed $500,000 sanitary sewer installation in Keeney St. area, the Manchester Board of Directors will schedule public hearing on the proposal at a future date. Last night's public hearing was at Keeney St. School, with about 125 persons in attendance and about 20 of them speaking—a few in favor of the installation, most opposed. If the applause that greeted talks by opponents is any indicator, most of those present were opposed.

Discuss Voltage Reduction Effects

Lydall, Inc., a Manchester-based manufacturing complex with eight plants in five states, is taking steps to cut its $15 million annual energy usage by 10 per cent, and it is working on an emergency 20 per cent curtailment plan just in case the energy crisis gets worse.

Traffic Tie-Ups Reported In Several States

Truck drivers blocked off the Delaware Memorial Bridge today, stalling rush-hour traffic on the main highway linking New York and Washington, D.C., in the latest of a series of protests against rising fuel prices and lower speed limits.

Layoffs Welcome
DETROIT (AP)—Auto industry layoffs mean pay losses for hundreds of auto workers, but perhaps the loss of their jobs. But to thousands of their fellow workers, the layoffs are a welcome holiday season respite from the unemployment that has been "outstanding" since the energy crisis.

Hospitality Center To Open Tomorrow

Robert Charnas of Radio Station WJMF and Manchester Mayor John Thompson display a Santa Claus in preparation for tomorrow's opening of a "Downtown Christmas Hospitality Center" in a vacant store at 825 Main St. Observing the display are Miss Katherine Giblin (left), who headed the drive for the center; Les Watkins, chairman of the Main Street Guild; and Gail Burgh, director of retail affairs of the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce. Charnas heads the chamber's Retail Trade Commission. The hospitality center, which offers relaxation and free coffee for weary shoppers, is being financed by contributions of downtown merchants. Darkened Skyline

NEW YORK (AP)—The energy crisis is erasing some of the sparkle from Manhattan's after-dark skyline. The Great White Way is turning gray. Awesome spires like the Empire State Building, once bathed in brilliant lights, blend with the black of the night. The scapes of lights atop bridges have been turned off, and only the bases of the spires are marked by a single strand of lights to caution ships passing in the night.

NASA Space Program Tonight

Minot H. Parker, space science specialist of the Educational Programs Office from Goddard Space Flight Center of NASA will present a lecture-demonstration tonight at 8 in Bailey Auditorium at Manchester High School. The program is free and open to the public.

Amish Conservation

OELWEIN, Iowa (AP)—The Amish of Iowa are consummate savers of energy. There are no telephones or power lines leading into the Amish farm homes. No cars, trucks or tractors are parked in the yards. Television antennas are missing from the roofs. The plumbing is outside because to pipe water in would require the use of fuel or electricity. The Amish have none of the niceties of modern America, but they also show none of the effects of the nation's struggle with severe energy shortages and inflation.
