Miss Mankey, a 1968 graduate of Glastonbury High School, attended Thayer (N.Y.) College from 1968 to 1970, when she transferred to Pomona College.

Vernon Teen Center To Open Next Week

The Vernon Teen Center, Rt. 30, which has been open off and on over the past three or four years, will again reopen after being closed for more than a year.

Donald Berger, director of recreation, said the center will open next week Friday and Saturday nights from 7:30 p.m. to midnight. Plans are to open the center each week on these two nights.

Berger said he is still seeking persons who are interested in working as paid supervisors at the center. Anyone interested is asked to call the Recreation Department.

In a report to the Town Council in October, Berger said the Recreation Commission felt that any resumption of activities at the center should come to some extent as a result of some motivation on the part of the teen-agers themselves.

Such motivation did come forth and at a meeting held with officers of the junior and senior classes at Rockville High School, it was the considered

Tex Ritter Dies, Country Music Star

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Singing cowboy Tex Ritter, whose recording of "High Noon" became a Western classic, died of a massive heart attack Wednesday night while visiting a friend in the Davidson County Jail.

A veteran of 85 movies, 78 of them Westerns, and a singing career that touched six decades, Ritter, 67, was visiting Lamar "Jack" Watkins, apparently an employee, when he was stricken. He died at a local hospital a short time later.

"He was sitting here laughing and talking about getting this man out on bond and all of a sudden he just slumped over in his chair," said Police Lt. John Brewer.

Services are scheduled Friday at the First Presbyterian Church with burial Monday in Nederland, Tex.

"He was a giant in the industry and we will certainly miss him," said fellow singer Roy Acuff.

Ritter, who got his professional start singing on a Houston, Tex., radio station in 1929, was active until his death. He was prosperous in his later years, continuing his career by launching a chain of restaurants. In 1970, he successfully challenged Sen. Bill Brock for the Republican senatorial nomination from Tennessee.

Last month he visited the White House and presented President Nixon with a tribute album from the Country Music Association in which he read portions of Nixon's speeches.

Ritter was one of the original six members of the Country Music Hall of Fame, highest honor in the industry, and was a past president of the Country Music Association.

Ritter was born Maurice Woodworth Ritter in Panama County, Tex., Jan. 12, 1906. His father raised cotton and cattle on a spread settled by his grandfather when Texas, still was part of Mexico.

Ritter is survived by his widow, Dorothy Fay, who was married in 1941, and Mrs. John, an actor, and Thomas, a law student.

More Shots Slam Into Phnom Penh

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Rebel forces slammed seven 122mm rockets into the heart of Phnom Penh today, hitting a crowded refugee center and a military hospital. Police reported at least four persons killed and 18 wounded. It marked the second consecutive day of guerrilla rocket attacks on the capital.

The attacks came 19 hours after rebel gunners lobbed six 105mm artillery rounds from a captured American howitzer into a squatters area on the northern fringes of the capital. One person was killed and nine others were wounded in the artillery attacks late Wednesday night.

The attacks were believed to be part of the predicted rebel dry-season offensive. Fighting across the country has increased considerably since the monsoon season ended in December. There have been three attacks against the city since Dec. 30.

In Saigon, Communist forces fired 151 rounds of 60mm and 82mm mortar fire and 13 rounds of 107mm rocket fire Wednesday against 18 government military positions in the Mekong Delta of South Vietnam, killing five government troops and wounding 14 others, the Saigon high command said today.

"A sharp encounter between South Vietnamese infantrymen, and Communist forces Wednesday, half a mile south of Ben Cat district town, 25 miles north of Saigon, killed three Communist troops and five government soldiers."

Directors Hear Storm Reports

HELCO Official Discusses Ice Storm

Charles Hoffman, manager of the Manchester office of HELCO, speaks at review of "ice storm week," held Thursday night in the Municipal Building. It was attended by the Board of Directors, department heads, Civil Defense members and utility company representatives.

"Putting all power lines underground is beyond HELCO's financial reach," he said. (Herald photo by Gentilomo)

Chamber Launches Gas Consumer Aid Program

A consumer-gasoline assistance program was launched today by the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce, according to Helco President Joseph R. Clark said.

The program was developed as a result of a meeting with officials from the Connecticut State Department of Consumer Protection, Clark and Mrs. Sol R. Cohen, director of Retail and Consumer Affairs.

The plan provides an opportunity for residents to seek solutions to unfair gasoline practices through the local Chamber of Commerce, therefore enabling the Connecticut State Department of Consumer Protection to be a last resort effort.

As Clark outlined the program, it would encourage Manchester residents to contact the local Chamber in regard to concerns or complaints relating to gasoline prices.

The Chamber upon receipt of such complaints would communicate same to the station in question. In addition, the Chamber would provide the station with state and federal regulations as a guideline for solution to unfair practices. The Chamber's only role would be to communicate at the local level between the consumer and the gas station in question. If this communication is unsuccessful and the station

Communication Need Cited At Meeting

It was noted that the Republican Town Committee has a meeting scheduled the same night. Republican Town Director Vivian Ferguson said, "This is the ice storm review meeting is more important."

To be invited to attend next Wednesday's meeting will be HELCO President Joseph R. Clark, or some other HELCO official. A representative of Connecticut Natural Gas also will be invited to explain procedures for igniting gas furnaces during similar emergencies.

Weiss, in his report, said HELCO failed totally to estimate the true damage and to communicate it to the people.

He said his remarks were no reflection on any one individual, "certainly not Charles Hoffman (manager of the Manchester office of HELCO), who was as much in the dark as anyone else."

"The fault," he said, "lay with the higher echelon."

Weiss said it isn't true that HELCO's Manchester crews were pulled out of town to service other areas.

"All crews normally assigned to Manchester were in town, according to HELCO," he said. "Two engineers were at Otcut St. substation, directing operations. An actual work assignment report has been promulgated by HELCO's president."

Weiss gave the following chain of events:

"On Tuesday, I contacted HELCO in order to get an assessment of the storm damage and expected power outage. I asked for a HELCO representative to be stationed at the Civil Defense command post, to assist in communications, but HELCO rejected the request. Direct communications by the town

Killian Alleges Three Major Meskill Faults

State Atty. Gen. Robert K. Killian, who conceded Thursday night, "It's no secret about my intentions Feb 2 to the formation of Democratic Women."

He acknowledged that he considers three major failures of the Meskill administration, which should lead to its defeat next November. Killian is in the Democratic nomination for governor.

"In the first year," said Killian, "we were treated to a state income tax, which I don't believe we need and which I believe the governor also doesn't believe we need. However, we needed it for his legislative failures. He let the measure sit on his desk and became law. It was the easy way out. It took an action of a subsequent legislature to repeal it."

"In the second year," continued Killian, "we were treated to a bus strike of 121 days. It was more than an inconvenience — it was a hardship, despite the fact funds were available for just that purpose, to help mass transit."

"It was the impregnable stubbornness of one man which caused the crisis — and yet he eventually caved in and released the funds. Up to tonight, there still is no statewide transit plan. If the funds run out, we may again be faced with the same bus crisis."

"And, in the third year," Killian pointed out, "we were treated to a leadership found wanting in our ice storm emergency. I don't believe the governor could have put back into effect the plan for one house. However, Connecticut governors, by tradition, have always stayed with the people in time of emergency. This governor didn't."

Despite the season's first major snowstorm, the Municipal Board, hearing Room was packed and overflowing for Killian's appearance. On Saturday, he is holding state-of-the-art in Hartford and Milford, to announce his candidacy.

Snow Hampers Town Travel

DOUG BEVINS (Herald Reporter)

Local motorists were confronted with slippery roads Thursday night and this morning, as the Manchester area received its first major snowfall of the season — 5 1/2 inches, measured at the town's Porter, Howard Reservoir.

Driving was hazardous, but very few auto accidents were reported by Manchester Police. Elsewhere in the state, conditions were worse and there were numerous "fender-bender" accidents.

Schools in Andover, Hebron, Columbia and Marlborough were closed today, but schools in Manchester and other area towns remained open.

Local utilities — the Hartford Electric Light Co. and Southern New England Telephone Co. — said there were no reports of service disruptions because of the snow.

The biggest effect of the snowfall was on the roads. Manchester highway department crews started sanding on ten routes at 5:30 p.m. Thursday, switched to plowing on 27 routes at about 9 p.m., and returned to sanding operations on 14 routes today.

A total of 14 town snowplow crews and 13 private contractor crews were working in Manchester Thursday night, Highway Superintendent John Burchill said. There were a few minor equipment failures, he said, but the problems didn't slow the operation.

Burchill said sanding of town military situation along the Suez Canal deteriorating.

Troops Ready for War

War Minister Gen. Ahmed Ismail said his troops were convinced lost territories could only be regained by battle and the army was ready to go back to war, if political efforts fail to reach settlement.

The United States and Israel said Defense Minister Moshe Dayan would fly to Washington for talks Friday with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger on the Geneva conference. The talks will center on troop pullbacks and the Suez Canal.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy was scheduled to fly to Moscow in the middle of the month.

The diplomatic consultations followed a brief announcement Wednesday by the negotiators of progress in the withdrawal talks.

"An important stage as been reached in the discussions with both sides continuing their exchange of views," the negotiators said after meeting for nearly three hours. "The next meeting will be convened on Friday, Jan. 4, at 4 p.m."

No Elaboration

Egyptian, Israeli and United Nations officials refused to elaborate on the statement according to an earlier agreement to keep the disengagement talks secret.

Wednesday's meeting was the third session since the talks began a week ago and the first since the Israeli national elections Monday.

The military withdrawal talks centered on the pullback of Israeli forces along the Suez Canal. The negotiators were expected to try to establish permanent borders in the Middle East if the withdrawal talks are successful.

The Cairo newspaper Al Akhbar said Wednesday's clashes covered the entire length of the 100-mile canal. It reported "continuous escalation in the fighting since the start of the year."

Snow Means Work And Play

The town's first heavy snow of the winter was a mixed blessing for many Manchester residents. For workers it meant clearing off cars and hoping the car could get to a plowed out street without trouble. For housewives like Mrs. Gail Berzenski of 58 Delmont St. it was shoveling off a walk while daughter, Karen, 3, enjoyed snow as only a youngster can. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Vernon School Schedules Changed

BARBARA RICHMOND (Herald Reporter)
Plans made last June by the Vernon Board of Education and school administrators concerning school vacations and opening and closing times have had to be cast aside to accommodate the energy crisis. And at a special meeting Thursday night the board approved some of these changes in schedules. Starting Monday, when daylight saving time goes into effect, Vernon schools, with the exception of a minor difference in the Rockville High School schedule, will open and close one-half hour later.

The board, in a 4-1 vote, approved several recommendations made by the ad hoc committee on energy conservation. Board member Robert Dubois, who was the only one present to vote against the committee's recommendations, said he was mainly because of the high school schedule. He said he objected to shortening the school day in the middle of the day. "Double sessions was a hard pill to swallow and the thing that was going to help was to move the time ahead but I did object to taking away the time from the activity period. In order to restore the school calendar for the days lost during the December ice storm to the required 180 days, and to provide an additional "make good" day, the committee recommended changing April 17, 18, and 19 from vacation days to school days. This would presently provide 182 school days in the school calendar.

Dubois also objected to this recommendation, noting he would prefer to cut back one day of the February vacation and one in April and the others at the end of the school year. "I feel the vacation times at six-week intervals are very necessary for the students and the teachers," he said.

William Houle, a member of the ad hoc committee, said the committee also shared this concern, but the way the April A session is set up it will still provide a five-day vacation.

Dr. Robert Linstone, assistant superintendent, reminded the board that the school has had more bad days when schools might have to be closed. The committee recommendation was accepted.

Also approved was a provision for possible school closing in January or February in the event of serious fuel shortages.

Gardening

with FRANK ATWOOD

We arranged a still-life composition for the picture on this page, illustrating what we have been told about planting a living Christmas tree.

The tree stands with its roots in a ball of earth, wrapped in burlap, just as it came from the nursery. A hole, larger than the ball of earth, has been dug in soil that was soft and wet after last week's rain, and the soil dug out of the hole is in a garden cart where it was kept in a warm garage until needed.

A galvanized tub, which held the tree for six days while it was in the living room, still has its covering of Christmas wrapping paper.

Directly beneath the Christmas tree is the splintered tall stump of a silver maple whose branches still litter the ground. The larger pieces of maple will be cut for firewood and the brush left at the roadside for the town truck to haul away.

Part of Landscaping
The location was chosen so that the Christmas tree, as it grows, will take the place of the ruined maple in our home landscape. It is far enough from the street so that plowed earth from the street cannot be blown up, we hope, and it is not under any utility wires. It was branches torn from the maple by the weight of ice that knocked down our power lines and left them flat on the ground.

Flowers were restored to our house and two others at the end of Westland St. during the dark evening hours, Saturday, six days after the storm. The telephone started to function again on Sunday.

We used the telephone to trace the story of our tree. We had found it on the lot at the John E. Whitham Nursery in Bolton. Mr. Whitham told us later that he got the tree from Rebecca (Mrs. Robert M.) Treat in Bolton.

Mrs. Treat, after consulting her husband, said the tree came to them from the Verkeade Nursery in New London, where she thought it had been grown from seed. It was either four or five years old when it came from New London, still a tiny tree, and was set in a bed for two years, then set out in a row with others, three feet apart. The roots were pruned when either eight or nine years old.

Dense Branches
Henry L. Botticello, owner, and the branches, as a result of the pruning, are dense and thick. The tree is three feet tall and at its widest point it is almost three feet wide. The needles, growing in pairs, are green and stiff.

We had asked for a Scotch pine, but Mr. Whitham, who had no Scotch pine, suggested the Austrian pine as a similar but better tree. My gardening encyclopedia says it can grow to 90 feet tall. Mr. Whitham says I can keep it shorter by judicious pruning.

When this column started in December 1970, the first piece I wrote was about a living Christmas tree being planted by Charles J. (Mike) Cavanaugh Jr. of Bolton. The Cavanaghs, who already have '10 or a dozen' trees on their house lot that started as Christmas trees, are adding another one, a Fraser fir, this year. It will be planted in the spring.

It was taken out of the house on New Year's Day and will stay in an unheated garage through the winter. Mr. Cavanaugh has tried both methods, but thinks his trees start new growth faster if planted in the spring.

Tree Sales Down
Milton Stocking of Simsbury, president of the Connecticut Christmas Tree Growers Association, said there had not been time to assemble reports from members of his organization, but he thought sales trées were probably less than anticipated. The ice storm shut down business pretty completely for a few days and the ruling by State Police Commissioner Cleveland Fuesenich that trees could not be used in apartments, although later withdrawn, also discouraged buyers.

Mr. Stocking said some way "has to be found" to distinguish between a Christmas tree cut locally in December and one shipped into the state from northern New England and perhaps cut in September. He said a friend of his had "observed a pile of Christmas trees in Maine, in September covered with tarpaulin. Local growers maintain stoutly that their freshly cut trees, if their stems are kept in water while the trees are indoors, are not a fire hazard.

Mr. Stocking says his favorite Christmas tree now is the Douglas fir. Scotch pine, he said, was popular a few years ago, but only a few are now planted. The trunks have a tendency to grow crooked. He likes white spruce and Colorado spruce as well as Douglas fir.

Robert Visky, who teaches at the Washington School in Manchester and grows Christmas trees in Coventry, said he had sold 415 cut trees, a little short of his usual number and he thought the State Police ruling accounted for the difference. He usually sells a number of trees to University of Connecticut students, particularly married couples, who live in campus apartments, and they did not buy this year.

Fashion Tips

Undercover
Soft subtle floral print undergarments and matching bra sets that pick up one of the pattern colors.

Current Hits
Suits without the look - jackets are solid knit jersey and their skirts are printed crepe or pinstripe cotton. Gives you greater flexibility in mixing and matching outfits.

Party Plunge
Deep V-neck halter aglow with glitter to contrast against your skin for the brightest, most sensational party look (entrance).

Buckle Up
Slip on leathers with narrow metal buckles add something extra to his more casual slacks and sweater outfits.

Perfect Timing
Try vinyl or leather, narrow or thick, that look exactly like reptile or alligator skins but don't hurt those endangered species for an up-beat looking watchband for him or her.

Women's View

By GAY PAULEY

"Daughters of the American Revolution are conservative, with a forward look."

This is how the President-General of the Daughters of the American Revolution DAR sums up the credo of an organization that through the years has been maligned, misunderstood, the butt of jokes, and its members often called those "little old ladies in tennis shoes."

The head of the DAR, Eleanor Washington Sullivan Spicer, says that the little old ladies image probably started years ago when it was mostly the older women who came to meetings.

The truth is, she said, there is much accent on youth. Of the DAR's nearly 200,000 members in 5,000 chapters, one third are between the ages of 18 and 35.

Public Image

Mrs. Spicer, a tiny, blue-eyed woman on the go more than she's in her office in Washington, D.C., was in New York recently for the state conference of the society.

"We talked of what the DAR is all about, no matter what the public image."

"We've pioneered in a lot of areas," said Mrs. Spicer. "We've always been active in conservation. We were providing education and assistance for underprivileged children in Appalachia more than 60 years ago and still are."

The DAR in 1968 withdrew its support of the United Nations, although in 1945 when it was chartered DAR was the only woman's patriotic organization represented at the San Francisco meetings.

"But the charter has been violated so many ways," she said, "the United States is paying most of the bill. I don't think the general public is so firm in its support today."

DAR was founded in 1890 as a non-political organization and its first president was Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, then First Lady.

To Prove Direct Descent. To be eligible for membership, one must be female of 18 and up who can prove "direct descent from a man or woman, who with unflinching loyalty, either aided or fought for the cause of American Independence during the period 1775-1783."

Mrs. Spicer, whose late husband Donald was a Marine Corps officer, is a descendant of George Washington's only sister, Betty, and of elder William Bradford of the Massachusetts Bay Colony.

Three-Forward Offense Sparks MCC 89-55 Win

By Chris Blake

An improvising three-forward offense along with the sizzling shooting of Greg Moody and Bob Kichnet powered Manchester Community College to an easy 89-55 non-conference victory over Northwestern Community College in Winsted. The win upped the local mark to 7-1.

The upcoming schedule will be much tougher than last night's romp. The Cougars have three games in four days including a head-to-head battle with CCAA co-leader, Mattatuck, Saturday afternoon in Waterbury.

Ice-cold shooting in the first half by the Pioneers enabled MCC to build a 26-10 margin in the first 10 minutes. Moody, Kichnet and Tucker, all forwards, accounted for all the scoring in the sport.

Forced to play without 6-E Eric Moody, MCC Coach Don Geisler called on Moody, and he responded with a game-high 23 points and eight rebounds.

BOB KICHNET

The local offense didn't seem to revolve around anyone, largely because of the hot shooting of Kichnet from the outside. The former East Hartford High captain put on a dazzling display, hitting his first seven shots from the field and finished with nine for 10 for 90 per cent. He added two free throws for a 20-point showing.

Northwestern recovered gamely from a 30-12 deficit to trail 38-30 at the half.

Still shooting poor, the home five got back in the game on the consistent rebounding of Lou Mica, who had 17.

In the first seven minutes of the second half, the Cougars left no doubt that the huge first half lead was no fluke. Tucker and Curt Iverson got the locals rolling and the game was soon out of reach.

MCC outscored the home five, 21-5, for a 41-33 lead. Moody and Iverson paced the spree. Mica fouled out with 10:29 left and Northwestern was sadly outclassed.

Steve Mills netted 18 points, Gary Methot 15 and Larry Williams 15 for the losers.

Tucker added 12 for MCC. On the boards, Moody, Tucker, Kichnet and Kerry Johnson pulled down 36.

Jerry West, Goodrich's backcourt mate, was selected for a record 14th time, but had to decline the invitation since he is recovering from an abdominal muscle pull that has kept him out of lineups since last December. Indians Set for Invasion of Hall

Assists to snap their four-game loss skid is Manchester High's eagerness. Tonight they host Hall at 8:15. The starters may come from this group. Rear, Coach Jim Moriarty, John Koepel, Kim Bushey, John Feeny and Assistant Coach Doug Pearson. Front, Kurt Carlson, Jack Maloney and Connie McCurry.

Scoring a resounding 68-46 victory over defending HCC champion Northwest Catholic, the unbeaten East Catholic basketball team goes hunting for bigger game Saturday night against arch-rival South Catholic. Manchester High, meanwhile, will attempt to break into the win column after four straight losses entering Hall High tonight at Clark Arena in a CCL struggle.

West Choice

HONOLULU (UPI) — The East All-Stars have Herman Trophy winner John Cappelletti but the West figured to be the sentimental favorite of the fans because of Levi Stanley in Saturday's 28th annual Hula Bowl football battle.

Stanley, the popular University of Hawaii's defensive standout, will be playing against Ohio State's John Hicks, the nation's top offensive lineman and side-by-side with Oklahoma's Lucius Seimon, the nation's top middle guard.

against Rocky Hill, and Bolton and Rham square off in Hebron. On the distant side, the maidens of Manchester High are in Storrs to meet E.O. Smith.

Coach Stan Ogronnik's high-flying 6-0 Eagles soundly thrashed Northwest Catholic with "Jumping" Joe Martens leading the way. The Rebels of South, under Coach Joe Reilly, are 5-4 overall and 3-0 in the conference, and have shown the ability to score — averaging close to 90 points per outing. The game is slated for the University of Hartford.

Manchester High, which fell before the bombardment of Wetherfield Wednesday, 64-61, has to eliminate turnovers in order to win against a team they've committed too many in their first four outings. Also, senior Co-Captain Kurt Carlson will have to break out of his slump to provide the Indians with the outside shooting he's capable of.

Viridon Yank Skipper But for How Long?

NEW YORK (UPI) — It was a combination christening and walk-off win that Bill Viridon was named manager of the New York Yankees Thursday afternoon, but the news conference questions centered around how long he would hold the job.

Viridon's hiring came three weeks after the Yankees were relieved by the retired American League President Joe Cronin in their attempt to hire Oakland Manager Dick Williams, who is still under contract to A's owner Charles Finley.

Reporters at the news conference eagerly sought confirmation Viridon would manage the Yankees regardless of the outcome of the Williams-Finley stalemate, but none was forthcoming from New York club President George Steinbrenner or General Manager Gabe Paul.

Asked if Viridon's hiring meant the Yankees were abandoning their attempts to sign Williams, Steinbrenner replied, "It doesn't mean we've abandoned any idea."

Viridon was signed to a one-year contract for an estimated $50,000 by the Yankees. He had signed last month to manage Denver of the American Association next year, but was released from his contract so he could accept the New York offer.

Steinbrenner even refused to issue assurance Viridon would still be manager when the season opened. "He's our manager now and we're starting our season right now," he said cryptically.

It was also announced at the news conference that Whitey Ford, Elston Howard and Dick Howser, Yankee organization stalwarts, would comprise Viridon's coaching staff with a fourth member to be named later.

"I can't think of anything better I'd like to do," said Viridon of his new job. "I'm not concerned about Dick Williams. It's great to be a Yankee."

But, the question is still for how long?

Francis Tarkenton, who has seemingly thrown out the loser's tag put on him many seasons ago, will be in the unenviable task of directing the NFC champion Minnesota Vikings against Miami.

With operatives like Larry "Zook" Csonka, Mercury Morris and Jim Kick devastating the opposition coming out of the backfield, Shula's troops are something to behold. Equally impressive are two of the finest guards in all of football — Larry Little and Bob Kuechenberg.

Not many people remember but Little was signed by the San Diego Chargers as a free agent. He was later traded to Miami for a never heard again cornerback. That must be one of the biggest heists of the century.

Big Task Ahead

Continuing along the winning streak, East Catholic High's freshmen team triumphed over the Windham Frosh yesterday, 66-48. Trailing at the period, 15-16, the Frosh rallied to a 39-30 halftime edge. Jeff Hein (21) and Pete Thompson (11) led the East Frosh. Scott Holland added six assists.

Giant Step Forward Four Teams Ready For Adult Baseball

Revival of adult twilight baseball in Manchester took a giant step forward last night at a second organizational meeting.

Jeff Koelsch, the man behind the move, presided over a session at the West Side Rec which attracted four teams and several interested ball players.

Men interested in entering teams are Ernie Nicos, Steve Fish, John Odeli and Lytle Eastman. Sponsors for three of the four teams have already been secured.

A notable absentee entry was the American Legion.

Carl Silver of the Rec Department staff felt that more interest is needed for the Rec to undertake sponsorship of an adult baseball league. Silver said that before his departure would back the move he would have to scan the roster to make sure that there was sufficient talent. Also, to make sure competent coaches would handle the entries.

Perfection
The Miami Dolphins have to be rated right up there among the greatest professional football teams ever assembled. Coach Don Shula's defending Super Bowl champions played perfect football in demolishing a potentially dangerous Oakland Raiders' club.

The Dolphins will never beat themselves. With quarterback Bob Griese sticking to an awesome ground attack, Miami doesn't have to throw it up for grabs that many times. He passed only six times against Oakland, once in the second half.

With operatives like Larry "Zook" Csonka, Mercury Morris and Jim Kick devastating the opposition coming out of the backfield, Shula's troops are something to behold. Equally impressive are two of the finest guards in all of football — Larry Little and Bob Kuechenberg.

Baltimore Businessman Buys Jersey Ice Team

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — Andre Lacroix, a sturdy center from the Jersey Knights, felt he had something to prove in the World Hockey Association All-Star game and he did.

Lacroix, who wasn't named to the team last year even though he became the league leading scorer, got two goals and an assist Thursday night in pacing the East Stars to a second straight victory over the West 4-1.

"I had to prove that last year wasn't just luck, that I could play good hockey," Lacroix said. "I went into the game feeling more like I was playing for an All-Star game."

Lacroix, despite his performance on the winning team, was upstaged by a home townier in the voting to pick the Most Valuable Player.

That honor went to center Mike Walton of the Minnesota Fighting Saints, who had the first hat trick in WHA All-Star games on his 29th birthday in a losing cause. Lacroix was second and Chicago Player-Coach Pat Stapleton was third in the voting.

"This game meant a lot to me because of the great players out there," Lacroix said. "I wanted to prove that I deserved to be in an All-Star game."

Winning Coach Jack Kelley, who tutored the East to a 9-2 victory in the first WHA All-Star game, said the second performance was "a fantastic game and we really enjoyed winning."

"I didn't ask my players to make a point of fooling me," he said. "They did it naturally. They are true all stars. They put it together themselves and as coach I just tried to balance the ice."

The game, nationally televised, drew a crowd of 13,196 compared to last year's attendance of 5,435 at Quebec.

Bucks Triumph

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — In the only National Basketball Association game played Thursday night, the Milwaukee Bucks scored a 128-104 victory over the Kansas City-Omaha Kings.

Tom McClellin, who had only seven points in the first half, scored 22 in the second half to pace the Bucks to the win, which appeared in doubt until the final minutes. He finished with 29 points.

Higher Scores in NHL Due to Fuel Shortage

NEW YORK (UPI) — The fuel shortage may lead to a goals surplus in the National Hockey League, according to Pittsburgh Penguin Coach Ken Schinkel.

But the goals surplus was certainly not in favor of his hapless Penguins. Thursday, who dropped a 6-1 decision to the Buffalo Sabres.

And, although the Penguins have not needed an excuse for their winless play since Dec. 16, Schinkel clearly attributed Thursday's poor effort to the fuel shortage.

"You're going to see more high-scoring games like this now that there's no more charter flights available to NHL clubs," he said.

After Pittsburgh's charter flight from Minneapolis was cancelled, the Penguins had to fly to Buffalo on a 5 a.m. commercial flight.

"It's awfully hard to get to sleep after a game and then to have to get up at five in the morning is too much. You really don't get that much sleep when they play the next day," complained Schinkel.

Whatever the reason, Buffalo right wing Rick Martin feasted on the Penguins with a three-goal hat trick. Craig Ramsay, Rick Dudley and Gil Perreault, absent from Buffalo's French Connection line for two months with a broken leg, scored the other Sabres' goals.

Utah Stars Turn Back Ailing Foe

NEW YORK (UPI) — Though sick and tired, San Antonio refused to fold against ABA West Division-leading Utah Thursday night but with two starters out and another hurting, the Spurs finally succumbed to the Stars, 101-83.

Simmie Hill, San Antonio's 6-foot 7 forward, collapsed from the effects of the flu as he left the floor after scoring six points in the first half. William "Bird" Averitt, the Spurs' 6'1 guard, was forced to the locker room after becoming sick in the third period, also out of the flu.

And Sven Nater, the rookie center who has made a large contribution to the Spurs this season since being traded from Virginia, was thrown off his game somewhat by a cut eye.

Utah, which now leads the West by two games, capitalized on San Antonio's difficulties to improve its record to 12-5. Six of the seven Stars who saw action scored in double figures, paced Willie Wise's 19 points.

Nater, despite his injury, led the Spurs with 19 points.

In other ABA games, Indiana edged Denver 100-97, Carolina whipped Memphis 122-94 and Kentucky thumped Virginia 110-89.

Two free throws by Darnell Hillman with three seconds left clinched Indiana's fourth straight victory. George McGinnis led the Pacers with 30 points, Don Freeman added 21 and Mel Daniels had 19.

Willie Long had 16 for Denver. Eight of nine Carolina players scored in double figures, paced Willie Wise's 19 points.

Nater, despite his injury, led the Spurs with 19 points.

Not many people remember but Little was signed by the San Diego Chargers as a free agent. He was later traded to Miami for a never heard again cornerback. That must be one of the biggest heists of the century.

Post Game

Listening to broadcaster Sam DeLuca in the Miami locker room after the contest was the biggest hee-haw I had in a long time. Coach Bud Grant and the Windham Frosh yesterday, 66-48. Trailing at the period, 15-16, the Frosh rallied to a 39-30 halftime edge. Jeff Hein (21) and Pete Thompson (11) led the East Frosh. Scott Holland added six assists.

Baltimore Businessman Buys Jersey Ice Team

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — Andre Lacroix, a sturdy center from the Jersey Knights, felt he had something to prove in the World Hockey Association All-Star game and he did.

Lacroix, who wasn't named to the team last year even though he became the league leading scorer, got two goals and an assist Thursday night in pacing the East Stars to a second straight victory over the West 4-1.

"I had to prove that last year wasn't just luck, that I could play good hockey," Lacroix said. "I went into the game feeling more like I was playing for an All-Star game."

Lacroix, despite his performance on the winning team, was upstaged by a home townier in the voting to pick the Most Valuable Player.

That honor went to center Mike Walton of the Minnesota Fighting Saints, who had the first hat trick in WHA All-Star games on his 29th birthday in a losing cause. Lacroix was second and Chicago Player-Coach Pat Stapleton was third in the voting.

"This game meant a lot to me because of the great players out there," Lacroix said. "I wanted to prove that I deserved to be in an All-Star game."

Winning Coach Jack Kelley, who tutored the East to a 9-2 victory in the first WHA All-Star game, said the second performance was "a fantastic game and we really enjoyed winning."

"I didn't ask my players to make a point of fooling me," he said. "They did it naturally. They are true all stars. They put it together themselves and as coach I just tried to balance the ice."

The game, nationally televised, drew a crowd of 13,196 compared to last year's attendance of 5,435 at Quebec.

Utah Stars Turn Back Ailing Foe

NEW YORK (UPI) — Though sick and tired, San Antonio refused to fold against ABA West Division-leading Utah Thursday night but with two starters out and another hurting, the Spurs finally succumbed to the Stars, 101-83.

Simmie Hill, San Antonio's 6-foot 7 forward, collapsed from the effects of the flu as he left the floor after scoring six points in the first half. William "Bird" Averitt, the Spurs' 6'1 guard, was forced to the locker room after becoming sick in the third period, also out of the flu.

And Sven Nater, the rookie center who has made a large contribution to the Spurs this season since being traded from Virginia, was thrown off his game somewhat by a cut eye.

Utah, which now leads the West by two games, capitalized on San Antonio's difficulties to improve its record to 12-5. Six of the seven Stars who saw action scored in double figures, paced Willie Wise's 19 points.

Nater, despite his injury, led the Spurs with 19 points.

In other ABA games, Indiana edged Denver 100-97, Carolina whipped Memphis 122-94 and Kentucky thumped Virginia 110-89.

Two free throws by Darnell Hillman with three seconds left clinched Indiana's fourth straight victory. George McGinnis led the Pacers with 30 points, Don Freeman added 21 and Mel Daniels had 19.

Willie Long had 16 for Denver. Eight of nine Carolina players scored in double figures, paced Willie Wise's 19 points.

Nater, despite his injury, led the Spurs with 19 points.

Communications

Information received on the expected time for restoration of power was totally inaccurate. Reliable information was finally available Friday when town personnel were placed at the Otcutt St. substation with radio communication to the town.

Weiss said the people managing the CD defense post could answer almost every question but one—"So-and-so has power—why did he get it before me?"

When Director Carl Zussner recalled that a 1971 mock Civil Defense emergency resulted in a recommendation for a better communications network, Weiss said it was established.

Weiss said also that he believes Manchester is one of the towns that has the best Civil Defense facilities in the state.

The on-going Civil Defense planning and operations—telephone connections, control center, dry runs.

Prior preparation for power outages. Shelter facilities at the fire stations and high school. The Army was valuable but cannot be depended upon fully because of National Guard needs.

General public response to provide whatever aid was requested. WINF for its continuing assistance in communications.

The ability to handle emergencies on our own as much as we did. The weaknesses.

Lack of reliable information from HELCO. Physical limitations of the Civil Defense command post.

Lack of auxiliary power for massive shelters and for water and sewer installations. Proper scheduling of personnel, to prevent fatigue.

Failure to provide personnel to assist in handling psychological or emotional problems of the community, so that his message would have credibility with the public.

The public information officer, she said, could handle and answer rumors, and could prepare scripts for radio and news releases for the newspapers—on behalf of the mayor and town manager.

Helms commended the town for its assistance to HELCO crews, especially in closing dangerous streets and placing barriers at road intersections.

He said it is the policy of HELCO to place power lines underground in new residential developments. He said it would be beyond HELCO's financial resources to place existing lines underground.

He said a declaration of a state of emergency wouldn't have changed anything—as far as work crews were concerned. He said all were utilized, including those from outside.

Town Council member William Broenell said no provision exists in Manchester's charter and ordinance for declaring a local state of emergency. The powers, he said, lie with the governor, and not with the Board of Directors.

Broenell was asked to check into a possible ordinance or charter change, to permit the Board of Directors to declare states of emergency. Broenell said it might warrant Manchester's state legislators to explore possible state

Boston Lawyer Named To Handle Watergate Case

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI)—After shaking up the White House legal staff, President Nixon has handed his Watergate and possible impeachment defenses to a high-powered Boston trial lawyer who 20 years ago played a major role in the Army-McCarthy hearings.

Nixon's choice for the job was James D. St. Clair, a registered Republican and Harvard Law lecturer. St. Clair said he would be handling some more top talent to help with what he described as "a large undertaking."

"At the present moment, I'm trying to find out all there is," St. Clair said in a telephone interview from his home in the Boston suburb of Wellesley. He shortly after Nixon announced his appointment as special counsel to the President.

St. Clair, 51, was chief assistant to Army counsel Joseph N. Welch, his law partner at the time, during the 1954 Army-McCarthy hearings.

Given other responsibilities in the reshuffle week J. Fred Buzhardt Jr., head of the Watergate defense team for the past eight months, and Leonard Garment, his chief deputy, particularly in light of his decision to the President and Garment was appointed an assistant to the President.

The changes suggested that Nixon was digging in for a new series of court battles, particularly in light of his decision to the President and Garment was appointed an assistant to the President.

Massive Move Linked To Gun Running

LONDON (UPI)—British troops and tanks took up positions at London's Heathrow Airport today for the first time since World War II in a security operation that stunned the public. The British press said the operation was connected with the arrest of an American girl and two companions on gun running charges.

A Scotland Yard statement under heavy police guard to "A joint police-military exercise has been started in the airport where they were remained to police custody until Jan. 14 pending further developments in the case."

Police today identified a tall, dark-haired American girl in a black coat and described as a known associate of the trio as Robin Rubin, 20, and said she was arrested when she arrived at Heathrow from New York Friday morning. She was being questioned.

Newsmen at the airport said light tanks, armored personnel carriers and tracked artillery pieces took up positions at 8 a.m. at strategic points in one sector of the airport housing cargo and other facilities for airlines serving the Middle East and other areas.

"We have swamped with calls from members of the public asking what it's all about," said a spokesman for the British Airports Authority (BAA) which operates Heathrow. "They were absolutely dumbfounded and we really couldn't tell them much."

Nigel Tomkins, a veteran reporter with the British News Agency who covered the troops and tanks moved in, said: "I cannot remember anything like this before in this country except during the war."

Tomkins said he counted at least eight light tanks positioned along a road leading to the cargo area. "The tanks were all painted in brown and green camouflage colors and foot soldiers in combat dress were seen in the area," he said.

The withdrawal talks center on the pullback of Israeli troops from Egypt. The Middle East peace conference, which convened in Geneva before Christmas, set up the disengagement of forces from the Sinai Peninsula and the Golan Heights. The disengagement of Egyptian and Israeli troops in the Sinai has been killed in the same period. Israeli press reports described the skirmishes as a war of attrition to force concessions at the Geneva talks. The command said the Syrian front was quiet.

In Washington, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan met for 2 1/2 hours Friday and described it as a "very useful and positive" discussion of ways to disengage Egyptian and Israeli forces on the Syrian front.

Dayan, who will meet again with Kissinger Saturday, reportedly proposed a limited unilateral withdrawal of Israeli troops from the cease-fire line in exchange for a return of Egyptian forces on the eastern side of the Suez canal.

In Cairo, the semi-official newspaper Al-Ahram said today the disengagement of Egyptian and Israeli troops in the Sinai
