Herald, WINF Given Recognition For Public Service In Ice Storm

The Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce awarded "Outstanding Achievement Awards" to two segments of the communications media, WINF radio station and The Herald.

In making the presentation Thursday at the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce, cited Robert Charms, WINF president, and his staff, for outstanding service and commitment made by the station in its efforts of community service during the severe storm the week of Dec. 17.

"It was a traumatic experience for most of us who live in Manchester and surrounding areas, one which we will remember for a long time," Kenney said.

He further noted that WINF stayed on the air 24 hours a day to keep the residents of the Greater Manchester area aware of the up-to-date emergency messages, and assisting residents in their efforts to keep their homes and property safe.

Commenting on the awards, Richard G. Clark, Chamber president, said, "Often times many of us forget the importance of the communication media and the significant place it holds in our daily lives. So often most of us only see the final product and don't always have an opportunity to recognize those that contribute to its fine quality."

Certificates of appreciation were also presented to members of The Herald staff including Hal Turkington, managing editor; Duane Edmonds, advertising director; Jeff Jacobs, station manager; and Philip Burgess, general manager.

Presentations were made during the John LaBella Show at WINF.

Police said Daigle was driving south on Main St. and struck parked cars owned by Philip E. Sumner of 73 Princeton St., Walter M. Schardt of 31 Eastland St., and Stanislaw A. Milewski of 12 S. Lakewood Circle.

After hitting those cars, Daigle's car missed a parked ambulance and then struck another parked car, owned by James E. McNamara of 98 Strickland St.

Daigle was able to drive away from the accident, police said, and the parked cars remained parked.

Iced Roads Make Driving Hazardous

Manchester's Main St. this morning shows the ice conditions throughout most of the state which made driving extremely hazardous during the night and early morning hours following sleeting conditions which started late Friday evening. Several minor accidents due to the ice conditions were reported to town police. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Freezing Rain Makes Highways Treacherous

DOUG BEVINS
Scores of minor accidents were reported in the Manchester area Friday night and today, as freezing rain covered roads with a treacherous icy glaze.

Most of the accidents, area police department said, were "fender benders." No major mishaps were reported.

The National Weather Service at Windsor Locks, forecasting clear and cold conditions tonight, continued a travelers advisory today, warning motorists about hazardous highway conditions.

The winter storm first started to affect roads late Friday night, and the bad drizzle continued through the night. At midday, there were some signs that conditions were improving. Temperatures were rising and the sun broke through clouds briefly.

There were no reports of electrical or telephone service disruptions in the Manchester area. Elsewhere in Connecticut, there were scattered blackouts in the Colchester and Middletown areas.

Gradual inclines on the Manchester area roads became steep, untraveled hills as rain froze on the pavement. Many drivers, unable to get up or down hills, skidded into snowbanks.

At about 8:30 this morning, Manchester Police were called to 92 Timber Trail to transport a man to the Manchester Memorial Hospital emergency room, but the responding cruiser couldn't make it up a hill and got stuck in snow.

A wrecker towed the cruiser out of the snowbank, but meanwhile an ambulance, equipped with tire chains, completed the emergency call.

Police said Zwinglestein's car collided with one driven by Gloria Barton of 88 Ellington Ave., Rockville. No injuries were reported. The two-car accident was towed from the scene.

Also receiving certificates at WINF were Philip Burgess, general manager; John LaBella, news director; Jeff Jacobs, station manager; and Rick Melzig, station chief engineer.

Presentations were made during the John LaBella Show at WINF.

WINDSOR LOCKS (UPI) — Rep. Ella T. Grasso, D-Conn., today loosed her hat into a crowded ring for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination with a scolding attack on the Meskill administration.

"She became the first woman to seek the state's highest elective office. We have lived too long with neglect," Mrs. Grasso told a gathering in her hometown, Windsor Locks.

Another reception was scheduled in her honor later today in Bridgeport.

Several opinion polls have favored Mrs. Grasso as the Democrat most likely to unseat Republican incumbent Gov. Thomas J. Meskill, in the November elections.

The 55-year-old congresswoman said despite "the highest taxes in Connecticut's history," the state's needs remain unmet. "Homeowners have been forced to bear higher property taxes and assume locally increased education costs. Vital state services have been curtailed. The burdens of the cities have been ignored. Our state humane institutions have been deprived, our state workers have been penalized."

"We have been overtaxed to create a political surplus, and now, in this election year, we can expect that dollars hoarded from federal revenue sharing funds and impounded from validly appropriated state accounts will be released," she said. "But the clear pattern of change and difference will not be erased."

South Vietnam, China Battle Over Small Atoll

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnam fought land and sea battles with China today near an isolated atoll in the South China Sea. The Saigon command reported sinking a Chinese gunboat, but said one of its warships was sunk and another damaged.

The Saigon command said two navy commandos were killed and two wounded in a clash with Communist Chinese troops. The two ships reported sunk in the two-hour naval battle each carried crews of more than 100 men.

The battle was near an island in the Paranel group, a desolate archipelago about 200 miles east of South Vietnam's central coast. Vietnam and China have disputed the sovereignty of the islands for more than 50 years.

The Nationalist Chinese also jumped into the fray today issuing an official statement asserting its claim to the Paranel. But official sources said Taipei would not send troops to the area "now or in the foreseeable future."

What began with a "naval" operation of 18 Communist Chinese fishermen from the islands two days ago threatened to escalate into a major Asian crisis.

The Saigon command said a South Vietnamese ship was hit and sunk, probably by a Chinese Styx surface-to-surface missile. A second Vietnamese ship was damaged, the command said.

It said South Vietnamese warships "probably sank" one Chinese boat and pounded a Chinese ground force with naval guns, "likely" causing heavy Communist casualties.

Both ships believed sunk were 600-ton former American Navy coastal patrol vessels. The Chinese seized the U.S. ships when they took over the islands in 1949 and the American Navy turned over some to South Vietnam during its involvement in the Indochina war.

In neighboring Cambodia, one person was killed and at least 13 wounded today when rebel rockets landed in the capital near government military headquarters and a monastery. Government troops and Communist-led guerrillas battled in heavy hand-to-hand combat only seven miles from the capital.

Sirica Suggests Grand Jury Investigate Tape Erasures

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal Judge John Sirica, concluding there may have been "unlawful destruction of evidence" on some of the tapes, urged the matter be turned over to a grand jury for possible criminal indictment.

Sirica's suggestion, issued Friday in a stunning finale to his lengthy investigation into the mystery shrouding some of the tapes, won a swift but cautiously worded response from Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

"It is our purpose, in conjunction with the FBI, to conduct an exhaustive investigation into all phases of the matter, and any relevant information will be referred to the grand jury," he said.

White House lawyers termed the recommendation "appropriate," but urged the public not be misled since the referral is neither a conviction nor an indictment.

"And it would be wrong to conclude on the basis of Judge Sirica's decision that any individual within the White House is guilty of improperly or criminally handling the Watergate tapes," a White House statement said.

Reading slowly from a prepared statement, Sirica said he was suspending his own investigation which began last October when the White House revealed two of the subpoenaed Watergate tapes did not exist.

On Nov. 21, it was further revealed that 19 1/2 minutes of a third subpoenaed tape had been obliterated by a loud buzz.

"It is the court's considered opinion that a distinct possibility of unlawful conduct on the part of one or more persons exists here," said Sirica, chief judge of the U.S. District Court in Washington. "A grand jury should now determine whether indictments are appropriate."

He stressed he was not accusing any individual of a specific crime.

"Rather, the court has concluded from the evidence now before it that the possibility of the unlawful tampering with or suppression of evidence is sufficiently strong to merit grand jury scrutiny."

Just hours before the attorney for Rose Mary Woods, Nixon's personal secretary, charged in court that White House lawyers had tried to pin the blame on his client for the 18 1/2-minute gap in a private meeting with Sirica last Nov. 21.

"These lawyers for Miss Woods came down here and proceeded to grill me before these proceedings even started," said her attorney, Charles S. Rhyne. White House lawyers strongly suggested the acts were deliberate.

The married tape is of a meeting Nixon had June 20, 1972 — just three days after the Watergate bugging arrests — with his then top aide, H.R. Holmes, chairman of the Senate committee on the Watergate case.

Audio experts reported on Tuesday night was caused by at least five and maybe nine separate erasures, strongly suggesting the acts were deliberate.

Heath Struggling To End Britain's Economic Crisis
LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Edward Heath staked his government's future today on talks with union leaders aimed at ending Britain's crippling economic crisis.

Government officials said Heath was concentrating on an all-out attempt to reach an accord ending a slowdown by Britain's 269,000 coal miners as a first step to ending the economic crisis.

It was the coal slowdown coupled with the slashing of Arab oil supplies and a unsettled conflict with 29,000 railroad engineers that plunged Britain into her current economic woes.

Officials said Heath's scheduled meeting Monday with leaders of the Trades Union Congress (TUC), Britain's version of the AFL-CIO, would be a chance to avoid dissolving Parliament and calling elections in an appeal for a new mandate.

Heath invited the leaders of the 10 million-member TUC on Friday to attend the meeting and they promptly accepted. A meeting last Monday ended in deadlock after 5 1/2 hours.

The TUC refused to give a watertight guarantee that if the miners are granted pay increases above the government's guidelines, other unions will not seek similar treatment.

Government officials said the next round of talks could last several days and Heath might invite coal union leaders to join discussions with TUC officials.

British commentators rated chances of agreement poor, but officials said Heath wanted to exhaust every possibility of a settlement before plunging into a bitter and divisive election.

Unless a junior high school student has a definite idea of the vocation he will pursue, or if he has decided on continued formal education after high school, he can miss valuable time by not being aware of the attractive opportunities that could guide him toward a lucrative and satisfactory career.

Some of the objectives the career education program are intended to show students of junior high years are that occupations exist for a purpose, that individuals can learn to perform adequately in a variety of occupations, that education and work are related, that occupations and life styles are interrelated, and finally, that individuals are responsible for their career planning.

Each person will describe his job and the aptitudes or skills necessary for it. He will touch on the financial aspect, long-range outlook, required training — whether high school, trade school, college, apprenticeship, or graduate degrees are necessary.

Other factors covered will be working alone or with people, necessary equipment, and general information on working conditions, bosses, employees, etc.

Ship Collision Kills Two Men
PILLOTTOWN, La. (UPI) — A tanker loaded with home heating oil collided with a Norwegian ore ship, spewing millions of gallons of water near the mouth of the Mississippi River and killing two crewmen Friday.

The Coast Guard said as many as 16 of the men forced to jump into the flaming water were missing.

Spokesman Dave Cipra identified the ships as the 155-foot tanker Key Trader and the 657-foot Norwegian ore ship Baune.

Ten hours after the collision, the Baune's superstructure was gutted, blackened and smoldering. Flames licked through the Key Trader, as a Coast Guard cutter sprayed water from high pressure hoses to break up the burning oil slick.

Cipra said the fire appeared to be under control and had not reached the entire 152,000 gallons of fuel oil.

Sixty-one persons were rescued by late Friday night, and Cipra said the number of missing might shrink as updated crew lists were obtained.

Regardless of how many people we believe to be missing, we will continue to search until we can account for everyone or until all hope is lost for recovering them," he said.

Prison Riot Quelled
ATMORE, Ala. (UPI) — Two prison guards were taken hostage by inmates Friday in an uprising at Atmore State Prison. One was stabbed to death as the warden attempted to bargain with the prisoners. The other was in satisfactory condition at a local hospital. Other guards, who opened fire to quell the uprising, killed one of the prisoners and critically wounded another.

Star's Son Charged
LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Dean Martin Jr., 22, charged Friday with possessing seven machine guns illegally, was freed on $5,000 bond today. According to his attorney, Martin had "innocently acquired" the guns and a 20mm anti-tank cannon as part of a teen-age hobby. He was trying to get rid of them and sold two automatic weapons to a federal undercover agent.

Moving Money - You Can Take It With You

By RAY DE CRANE

A direct deduction against gross income may be claimed by new employees, transferred employees and self-employed persons who moved last year.

If a change in jobs would have required at least 50 additional miles one-way commuting to work if the move had not been made and if you will be employed at least 39 weeks in the 12 months following the move you are eligible for the deduction.

If there is any reimbursement from the employer, the full amount of the reimbursement must be included in gross income.

Since moving expenses are considered an "adjustment to income," they are far more valuable in tax savings than a deduction. After claiming them, you could still claim the standard deduction (providing you do not have a net operating loss).

Moving expenses which may be claimed include (1) the actual cost of moving household goods; (2) the

The Bible Speaks

A typical situation today is the church member who denounces his church for its errors, while refusing to sever his ties. Thus many alienated church members loudly criticize hypocrisy, yet continue to give moral support to a church whose teachings they disavow.

Today broadmindedness is expected to cover up all differences. While one should be tolerant of those with whom he disagrees, his integrity precludes his being indulgent of what he believes is error. To fellowship error is to partake in it, 2 John 9-11.

"Come ye out from among them, and be ye separate said the Lord," 2 Cor. 6:17. Herein lies the distinctive challenge of Christianity. Some who read this are doctrinally alienated from a church in which you still hold membership. Is this not a form of hypocrisy? We urge you instead to seek the truth and follow wherever it leads!

FISH Cuts Its Driving

FISH of Manchester, feeling the pinch of the energy crisis, will cut its volunteer transportation service to Tuesdays and Thursdays only starting Feb. 1.

With the shortage and increased cost of gasoline presenting difficulties to many of its volunteer drivers, FISH made the decision to shorten its schedule so that it may continue to be of service to those in Manchester with no other means of transportation. A FISH spokesman said.

The organization will attempt to provide transportation for February appointments which cannot be changed to Tuesday or Thursday.

No Witch Hunt, Please

An audit of the major oil companies, as announced by energy chief William Simon, is probably a sensible move in view of the frequently disseminated opinion that the government should have its own figures.

Presently it is dependent upon statistics furnished it by the American Petroleum Institute. In this we do not imply in the least that the API figures are incorrect. In fact we suspect that its figures will compare quite closely with those of the government audit which is to be conducted by a staff of IRS investigators.

Charges that the oil shortage is not real but has been created by the oil companies to increase their prices, and hence their profits, have been widespread.

The audit could well reveal the untruth of this allegation. We have had a lifelong tendency to think everyone honest unless proven different and it continues in this case.

However, there is a great danger that the audit may develop into a witch-hunt. Statistics can be read many ways and those unfamiliar with a business operation can easily make misjudgments as to the economic requirements of an unfamiliar operation.

We might point to the Environmental Protection Agency's final abandonment of its plan to tax parking places, at its ruinous rate, as an example of the very bureaucratic thinking that can go very wrong. They thought the way to stop automobile pollution was to make parking so expensive that everyone would be forced off the road.

The nation's third largest oil company, Texaco, apparently beat Simon to the punch by releasing its own figures of oil inventories about the time that he was announcing the federal audit.

The Texaco audit appeared to make sense to us. While it showed an inventory increase in middle distillates, home heating oil, jet fuel, etc., gasoline on hand was about the same as last year.

However, stocks of crude oil to be refined were down from last year's figures representing a tightening situation ahead.

Texaco explained that at the time the Arab boycott was announced that there were already tankers at sea bound for United States. Hence the boycott is only now being felt as an actual shortening of crude.

The overall picture now would seem to make the gasoline shortage not as critical as it was recently felt to be. We hope that the audit can be conducted solely in the spirit of fact-finding — not trying to bear our preconceived ideas or conclusions. It must be judged solely on a business basis without political or environmental overtones.

The oil companies cannot protest an honest effort which will enable the government to have its own statistics and ally suspicion that API figures are not sufficiently revealing or do not show the overall picture of oil supplies.

To our knowledge however, the oil industry itself depends upon API to know accurately what is going on in the business. And oil is a business where it is vital that the individual companies know what their competitors are doing and what the total industry picture is at any time.

Meditations At Christmas Time 73

In this time of war and rumors of war
Of famines and earthquakes in different places
Let us give thanks to the Lord
For what He has given us to see
The trees, the grass, the sky, the snow,
The mountains, the birds, the sun, the stars,
And all our loved ones,
In these days of darkness when lights are turned off,
In these days of cold when heat supplies
dwindle,
In these days of hungry cars needing gasoline,
Let's give thanks to the Lord Our God,
And turn away from the corruptible things
of this world,
And turn to the Lord Our God in joyful
praise,
becoming new in Him.

Today's Thought

Read: John 15:12-17
The greatest commandment, love one another, as I have love you, takes on a real meaning during Christmas Unity week. It has been said that Christian Unity would require a miracle from the Lord and prayer will open the way to accomplishing this miracle. World Council of Churches has said we can hope for miraculous helps and expect them in response to the prayer we offer up. But we have no right to put limits to what God may do.
Let's brotherly love continue. And turn away from the corruptible things of this world, and turn to the Lord Our God in joyful praise, becoming new in Him.

Uncle Sam Hands Over The Checkbook

WASHINGTON — Sen. Henry Jackson's declaration that "the public is about to revolt" over the fuels shortage is a piece of forgivable hyperbole. While none of us insurgent working stiffs has been caught sharpening scythes or stockpiling flints, there indisputably is a desire among people who have to work for a living to punch somebody in the big fat mouth.
Thus, a Congressional look-see into whether an oil crisis actually exists was just and overdue. Indeed, almost everybody has gotten into the act, namely the Senate Permanent Investigations subcommittee, the Senate Foreign Relations committee, the House Select Committee on Small Business and the Joint Economic committee.
That's a lot of investigating, and maybe too much because Congressional committees have a tendency to get in each other's way. But better too many than none. If something is fishy in the executive suites, Big Oil, the public has a right to know. If Big Oil is innocent, it should be spared the assaults of cheap-shot artists.
Accordingly, Congressional hearings will extend into next month in an attempt to force the $100-billion oil industry to prove that the energy crisis is real. Jackson, whose Senate Permanent Investigations committee will open hearings Jan. 21, will call in officials of the seven biggest U.S. oil companies.

The biggest question is how much privacy government by the people should permit any industry whose operations affect all the people. As of now, there is no law requiring Big Oil to make public its fuel holdings around the world. This laissez-faire policy may be okay in normal times, but when an industry says it's running short of its product and therefore its customers must use less of it and pay more for what it gets, the public has a right to say "Show me!"
In essence, that's what the four Congressional investigations are all about. Assorted staffers on Capitol Hill already are drafting legislation that would be bad news for Big Oil. The legislation includes measures requiring the oil industry to reveal its fuel holdings and a tax and a limit on excess profits. It also could include Big Oil's public utility or place oil companies under charters, like banks.
This is scary stuff for an industry that always has been relatively unregulated in the profits field, and Big Oil has reacted in kind. At this writing, five major oil companies are filing major oil "disclosures" of their fuel supplies, all in standard press releases. According to the figures, four of the companies are real oil companies, and one, Gulf, Mobil, and Shell — surprisingly has more kerosene, diesel fuel and home heating oil than they did a year ago. Texaco has more gasoline and aviation fuel than in early 1973.

Unfortunately, the public is asked to take these "disclosures" on faith, a commodity in short supply these days. Scream if you must, Standard Oil, but I see no reason why such disclosures should not be made under oath, with suitable penalties for violation of that oath. If people's homes are cold, I don't care much if Big Oil goes into a sulk because "Show me!"
I demand a notary's seal on its press releases.
There are too many rumors making the rounds, most of them nasty, about sharp practices by Big Oil and collusion between the industry and the national administration. For example, a top Navy Officer resigned the other day because he feels the energy crisis was one of a series of ploys by the Nixon government to open the Navy's huge oil reserve fields for commercial exploitation.
In this era of Watergate, we need more rumors — like we need a hole in the head. What we do need is for everybody concerned in this energy crisis to be real or contrived to come clean. A government that forces the working staff to swear his income tax is honest, and prescribes jail terms for cheaters, is strictly from hunger when it asks him to turn down his thermostat and wait in line for gasoline on the unwelcome word that there's not enough energy to go around.

Roy Ash, director of the Office of Management and Budget, suggests the new U.S. budget will show the federal government is becoming more and more a "transfer agency," collecting money and then handing it out — in a way that fosters the President's "new federalism."
Translated for recipients of federal benefits, this means that a higher proportion of the expenditures which don't involve the direct running of the government (like defense) will go to people or to lesser governing units without strings attached.
The forecast, therefore, is for proportionately more revenue-sharing, with a big share "passed through" to the cities and all these local governmental levels of course given their freedom of decision as to how this money shall be spent.
Also in prospect are more income benefits for American citizens in the form of cash payments (welfare, higher Social Security) with a smaller percentage of funds bearing labels which restrict individual spending decisions (food stamps, housing, etc.).
Outside budget experts like those at Brookings Institution, arguing through the various methods of benefit payment, can make a strong case for the non-labeled benefit, in the name of free spending choice.
Ash takes full cognizance of the most persistent criticism of this larger freedom as it applies to spending by states, counties and localities.
"Some of them are going to make errors, and spend the money badly. But they've got to be left to make mistakes. That's the only way they can learn. Some need training, and they can get that help more and more," Ash says.
He notes that Stanford University has a school specializing in business management as applied to the governing of cities. He and others are encouraging Harvard to develop similar studies affecting other governmental units.
Ideally, Ash said in an interview, the federal government should take no direct hand in such training efforts. That is seen as in contravention of the spirit and purpose of the new federalism. At best, he adds, Washington should go no farther than to put lesser units in touch with helpful sources which can increase state-local spending expertise.
The objective, again, both in personal social benefits and in governmental outlays, is to broaden the spending options at the citizen-local-state level.
Ash, at least, seems to view the inescapable waste in this process as expressed in bad spending choices as an acceptable, necessary trade-off for the freedom gained.
And it is pretty clear that not only he, speaking for the President, but a lot of U.S. lawmakers would like to see the "new federalism" or something like it succeed.
They not only consider federally directed programs as increasingly ineffective at "targeting" their objectives, but they are weary of the "shopping experts" who have come to Washington year after year — making a living off telling lesser units of government how to find the maximum amounts of money that can be pried loose from the United States Treasury.

Manchester has assured itself the preservation of a magnificent tract of upland vital to its well being and charm.
Through their non-partisan civic leadership at this most critical moment of decision, our Board of Directors has ratified the expressed convictions of prior boards, individual directors, commissions, civic organizations, individual town, state, and federal officials, and countless Manchester Citizens over most of a decade — that Case Mountain certainly should be preserved perpetually as a wilderness park.
The ordinance joining us with our state and federal governments in this unique environmental commitment is distinctly in line with earlier equally vital precedents in park establishment set by previous Manchester inhabitants, who obviously held that, while preserving beautiful open space has its cost in time and money, it is a necessary perpetually

Against Walk Way
Dear Sir:
It was with no little concern that I read the front page story last week concerning the proposal by the Mayor's Downtown Action committee to make a walk way to the Purnell Place parking area.
I was reported that $10,000 to $15,000 was needed to develop the 26-foot wide area now at the burned out location of Frederick Shoe Store and Land Of Fashion apparel shop. It was stated that the present owner would willingly sell the property for $45,000.
If I may ask, why the need for a second walk way for the sake of 25 yards of walking. Besides the exercise will do us all some good. I am against such a recommendation.

If you are looking for a really good watch, stop in at Bray's. Select a time and look over their fine selection of well known watches. Mr. Bray carries Longine, Bulova, Wittnauer and Caravelle Watches, any one of which would make a wonderful gift. Not only that, but you know you are purchasing a watch that will give you beauty, accuracy and dependability.

Perhaps you have wondered why so many business firms and so many individuals depend upon the Community Press for all of their printing requirements. Surely there must be a reason, and the reason is a very good one. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Larson, owners of the business are experts in the field of printing. No work goes out of the shop that does not measure up to high standards of excellence, and whether the job is a small one or a large one, the same careful attention is given. Small volume work is done and more people are turning to Community Press for all printing needs.

Community Press is easy to reach for it is located at rear 254 Broad St. and you can drive right up to the door and park. This eliminates any parking problems. Perhaps you are not familiar with the proper way to lay out your printed message. The Larsons will gladly help you.

First Day Sales Record

RECORD EARNINGS
CBI Corp., whose major subsidiary is The Connecticut Bank and Trust Co., reports record results in almost every operating category for 1973 and for the fourth quarter ending Dec. 31, 1973.
Earnings for the year reached $5.73 per share, a gain of 10 per cent over the $5.21 per share earned in 1972. These year end per share earnings represent an all-time high for CBI. Fourth quarter earnings contributed substantially to this record achievement, as earnings per share for the three months ended Dec. 31 increased 25.7 per cent to $1.71 compared with $1.36 reported for the same period in 1972. This improvement in fourth quarter earnings primarily reflected higher loan volume and careful control of expenses.

Defense, Foul Shooting Key As Indians Avenge Setback

By Len Auster

Defense and foul shooting played key roles in last night's foul-infested basketball action at the Clark Arena. On the strength of its swarming defense and John Koepsel's two free throws with 1:35 left, Manchester High upset CCIL foe Meriden Maloney, 56-54.

Koepsel turned in his finest performance of the campaign as he led the Indians with 15 points and nine rebounds. The edge of his high 15 markers in the half-to-keep the visitors close.

Both clubs shot poorly from the floor in the first half, but Koepsel snapped his icy streak in the third quarter to grab a 48-34 margin. The Spartans ran off 14 unanswered points to take the lead. They also dominated both boards in the stanza, outbounding the Silk Towers 11-3. Over-all, Maloney held the edge off the backboards by a lopsided margin, 42-26.

In the decisive fourth quarter, Manchester fought back to tie it at 49-49 on Carlsson's two foul shots. Curtis Wise hit one of two from the charity stripe, to regain the lead for the visitors, but Ray Sullivan put Manchester back on top following up a Carlsson miss. Two buckets by Maloney gave them the advantage again, cuffed by Walt Micowski who played the midrange role in the Spartan 2-1-2 zone. Bushey tallied just eight points before fouling out with 5:40 left in the final stanza. In all, 42 fouls were committed and two Maloney starters, Micowski and Robert Hetrick, also fouled out.

"When Bushey fouled out, I told them they just had to work a little bit harder, and they did. It was just a great team effort tonight," Manchester's mentor Jim Moriarty jubilantly yelled. Maloney led the first attendance home throughly satisfied.

Supplementing Koepsel's output, was Carlsson with 15 points. Behind Hetrick, who was missing with 13 tallies, Dana Athorne and Wise, who had been averaging double digits, were held to just eight and three marks respectively by the tight Manchester defense.

The next CCIL matchup for Manchester is Friday at Bristol Eastern. Manchester dropped the playoff contest, 55-53 with Kevin Paddock's 24 leading the winners. For the Indians' J.V.s, now 5-5, Bob Ostberg tallied 22.

Manchesters' defense and foul shooting played key roles in last night's foul-infested basketball action at the Clark Arena. On the strength of its swarming defense and John Koepsel's two free throws with 1:35 left, Manchester High upset CCIL foe Meriden Maloney, 56-54.

Koepsel turned in his finest performance of the campaign as he led the Indians with 15 points and nine rebounds. The edge of his high 15 markers in the half-to-keep the visitors close.

Both clubs shot poorly from the floor in the first half, but Koepsel snapped his icy streak in the third quarter to grab a 48-34 margin. The Spartans ran off 14 unanswered points to take the lead. They also dominated both boards in the stanza, outbounding the Silk Towers 11-3. Over-all, Maloney held the edge off the backboards by a lopsided margin, 42-26.

In the decisive fourth quarter, Manchester fought back to tie it at 49-49 on Carlsson's two foul shots. Curtis Wise hit one of two from the charity stripe, to regain the lead for the visitors, but Ray Sullivan put Manchester back on top following up a Carlsson miss. Two buckets by Maloney gave them the advantage again, cuffed by Walt Micowski who played the midrange role in the Spartan 2-1-2 zone. Tech Blows Big Lead, Bows to Somers High Outscored from the floor by four baskets, 22 to 18, Somers made hay at the 15-foot foul line, cashing in 22 points to 11 for Cheney Tech last night in Somers. The result was a 58-55 decision.

It was a bitter loss for Cheney to take as the locals beat a 28-20 halftime advantage—their 57-50 back was the seventh in eight starts for Tech.

Cheney was unable to contain Jimmy Slopa who canned 24 points. He registered seven times from the floor and added 10 singles from the charity stripe. Glen Bennett added 11 points to the Somers' total.

Sharpshooting Tommy Locourt continued his hot shooting with 23 points, including 11 from the floor on nine ballistics. Tall Mark "Midget" and Tommy Foran each added 14. The trio accounted for 51 of Cheney's 55 points.

South Windsor also had 24 points from Tom Goodwin and is now 8-1. John Basch had 24 points for East Windsor rolled in the final three minutes to win. Coventry bowed for a third time in nine starts.

Behind John Mackey's 21-point showing, South Windsor High bowed Windsor High last night in the CVC, 52-46, and in the NCC, Ellington High went down to a 66-59 defeat at the hands of East Windsor. CVC action featured a comparative 193-75 score for the home team.

Irish Set to Repeat Role

NEW YORK (UPI) — The last time UCLA lost a basketball game, Notre Dame's Austin Carr only had to throw in 46 points worth of 20-foot jump shots.

That was 89 games ago.

But Notre Dame is confident it can handle UCLA again when the Irish meet the visiting Bruins in Convocation Hall at 7 p.m. (EDT) today.

There's a big reason for the second-ranked Notre Dames confidence and it's not the luck of the Irish.

It's No. 1 UCLA's 6-foot-11 center Bill Walton. Or rather, the possible absence of Walton from Bruins' lineup.

Walton has missed the last three UCLA wins after suffering a back injury in a game against Washington State Jan. 7.

According to the oddsmakers, the inevitable Bruins are no match for Walton cannot play against Notre Dame. The Irish are three-point favorites to handle the Bruins if Walton sits this one out.

Notre Dame Coach Digger Phelps is confident of his team's chances whether or not Walton plays. After watching the Walton-less Bruins' 68-44 victory over Iowa Thursday night, however, Phelps admitted, "They're awesome."

But UCLA Coach John Wooden said after the game his team "must shoot better and be sharper or we'll be in trouble."

In a light schedule Friday night, Holy Cross topped Cornell, 70-59. Air Force downed Oregon, 76-66, and Nevada-Las Vegas nipped San Diego State, 81-79, in overtime.

Nets Win And Hold Advantage

NEW YORK (UPI) — The ABA schedule makers have created a tight situation in the Eastern Division race.

The New York Nets figure to be a fresher team than the Nets.

The Nets, who beat the Memphis Tams, 124-105, Friday night while Kentucky was away, now have played five more games than the Colts. They have a 4-1 record in those games so the two clubs practically are even.

Kentucky is 24-16 for a 45.8 percentage while New York is 31-18 for a 63.3 percentage. So while the Nets are technically a half-game ahead, they're still 103 1/2 behind in percentages.

How many games will have to go to the extra five games to have an advantage — if the two clubs are even the rest of the way.

Julius Erving and Larry Kenon combined for 27 points in the third quarter to pace the Nets over Memphis. Erving led New York with 26 points and Kenon had 26. Mike Jackson and Wilbert Jones had 20 each for Memphis.

In the other game, Indiana beat Virginia, 118-105. Utah downed Carolina, 115-102, and Denver topped San Diego, 120-113.

Utah outscored Carolina, 30-16, in the first quarter and then coasted over the Cougars. Utah made the West with 26 points. Willie Wise scored 16 of his 26 points in the first quarter when the Stars built their lead to 20-17.

Indiana reeled off 15 straight points in the third period to overcome Virginia. George McGinnis led the Pacers with 22 points while George Gervin topped the Squires with 32 but was held to six in the second half.

Willie Long scored 25 points, 18 of them in the last quarter, as Denver edged Utah 135-129 in the first half deficit and beat San Diego. Down 92-87 at the end of three quarters, the Rockets also got 24 points from Willie Beck and 22 from Ralph Simpson. Caldwell Jones paced the Q's with 22.

Rec Board Officers Greet New Member

Re-elected chairman and secretary of the Advisory Board and Recreation Commission were Ronald Gates and Joel Janenda. The pair welcomed Mrs. Dorothy Brindamour as the first member of her sex ever to be represented on the commission. Joseph Sylvester was elected vice chairman at this week's meeting.

Pro Basketball

NEW YORK (UPI) — There are statistics for just about everything in basketball but they should invent a new one for Jerry West — games won by the buzzer.

Basketball's Mr. Clutch was sidelined since Dec. 11 — missing 14 games with an abdominal muscle pull — but he made his return to the Los Angeles Lakers' lineup Friday night in typical fashion. West hit a buzzer shot to give the Lakers a 115-113 triumph over the Kansas City-Omaha Kings. He got only seven points in the game but he got the big basket when the Lakers were down by a point.

West's basket prevented rookie Jim Price from being the game of the week. Price hit two free throws with three seconds left to give the Lakers a 114-113 lead.

But he then was charged with a dead ball when the Kings tried an in-bounds pass at midcourt and Nate Archibald made two free throws to give the Kings a 115-114 margin.

In the other NBA game, Houston beat the New York Knicks, 96-80. Boston topped Atlanta, 98-94. Detroit topped the Los Angeles Buffaloes, 116-104.

In a see-saw battle throughout, Northwest finally took the lead with 1:03 left, 56-55, and carried the margin to the final buzzer, the last four points coming via foul tries.

John Ramm led the winners with 20 points while Pete Tompson canned 16 for East. East was now 8-1 and Northwest 7-0.

The locals play Penney here Tuesday at 7:15.

Two Prime Sites Listed For Boxing Title Bout

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Boston and Puerto Rico appear to be the prime sites for the March 25 world heavyweight title fight between champion George Foreman and challenger Ken Norton.

Frank Schwartz, vice president of Video Technologies, Inc., New York, promoter of the fight, was expected to travel to both places to meet with fight officials. He said an announcement would be made next week.

Bob Burt, who manages Norton's affairs along with Art Griffin, said the fight definitely would be held east of the Mississippi River.

He ruled out Jamaica, when Foreman captured the title from Joe Frazier Jan. 22, 1973, and New York's Madison Square Garden, site of the fight between Muhammad Ali and Jim Frazier-Mohammed Ali fight Jan. 23.

The World Boxing Association and the World Boxing Council have threatened to strip Foreman of his title if he did not sign to defend against a leading contender by Jan. 21 — a year from when he won the title.

Foreman, unbeaten in 39 professional fights with 36 knockouts, said he would begin his training here and also hold some workouts in Hayward, Calif., where he has lived for some time. San Francisco, Oakland and New York.

New-Look Penguins Doing Well

NEW YORK (UPI) The Pittsburgh Penguins may be working for the Pittsburgh Penguins.

The Penguins began dealing last week in an effort to revitalize their attack and the results looked pretty Friday night.

The new-look Penguins are doing well. They have a 4-1 record in their last five games. They are now 11-11-11.

Canucks, 6-2, in National Hockey League play.

Goalie Gary Innes, just up from Hershey of the American Hockey League, allowed only a fluke shot from mid-range and a meaningless goal by Bobby Schanzwitz with one second to play while blocking 35 shots.

Lowell, Macdonald and Bernie Lakowich had a goal and an assist each, while Steve Durano got one goal and also managed to break Dave Dunn's nose with a punch.

In the only other NHL action, John Stewart scored two goals to lead the Atlanta Flames to a 6-2 victory over California, 15-11, in the 15th straight on the road for the Golden Seals, who have won just once in 23 road games this season.

Regional Energy Use Drops

HARTFORD (UPI) — New England's energy consumption fell below last year's for the eighth consecutive week, Northeast Utilities has reported.

Northeast said Friday warmer weather, daylight saving time and energy conservation measures were responsible for the drop in energy consumption.

Northeast said total consumption was 9.7 per cent less than a year ago for the week ending Jan. 12 and heating requirements were 10.3 per cent lower.

On a related matter, Northeast said that the available fuel supply for New England power generation has reached its highest level since the initial reporting period in late November.

For the second straight week, Northeast said, the New England region has shown better than a six per cent increase in the amount of electric energy expected for the next four weeks.

Northeast said energy conservation, mild weather, increased nuclear and hydroelectric power generation and conversion of some units to coal combined to save 1.3 million barrels of oil for December.

If Olga Korbut Can Do It, Maybe You Can, Too!

A young gymnast works out on the balance beam. A spotter stands close by. A spotter is someone who stands in a special place so he can protect the performer in case of a fall.

Girls and boys have flipped over gymnastics ever since the Russian schoolgirl, Olga Korbut, won the hearts of so many television viewers when she competed in the 1972 Olympics in Munich, Germany.

Although Olga made the stunts look simple, they are dangerous. If you take up gymnastics, you must be carefully taught and learn the procedures step by step.

Most experts feel that you must wait until you are 11 or 12 years old before going into this sport in a really big way. However, there are many exercises you can practice before then.

Gymnastics builds physical fitness and is a relaxing sport you can enjoy. Success in it can give you confidence.

To be good at gymnastics you should:

1. Have a good coach.
2. Practice and be determined to succeed.
3. Be well coordinated and have strong muscles.
4. Be brave enough to try new tricks.
5. Be the right size. Your size determines what stunts you can do best.

When you are young, you will probably do simple, beginner stunts on equipment your coach picks for you. You can also do stunts on the trampoline and ropes. When you get older, and if you compete, you can perform on other equipment designed specially for men and women. Both boys and girls do exercises and other stunts such as rolls and cartwheels on padded mats.

"Boulevard des Italiens, Morning, Sunlight," by Camille Pissarro, is from the Chester Dale Collection at the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D. C. This painting shows people on their way to work on a famous street in Paris, France, in 1897.

Art: Camille Pissarro

Camille Pissarro (Pe-sah-ROH) was a French impressionist painter. The impressionists were a group of painters who used dashes and blobs of bright colors to make their pictures.

Pissarro liked to paint scenes of "far away" views. Look at this picture. It was painted as he looked down from a hotel room. He also liked to paint outdoor "open air" scenes. He was a busy artist who produced many paintings.

He had many friends and was well respected. He lived from 1830 to 1903.
