The Watergate Committee

Further hearings of the Watergate Committee seem unlikely now that Chairman Sam Ervin has agreed to postpone and possibly suspend two more weeks of scheduled sessions.

The postponement came after the federal attorney for the Southern District of New York State had communicated with Ervin telling him that the planned sessions might be prejudicial to the trials of former Attorney General John Mitchell and Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans.

Ervin has been reliably reported to be anxious to conclude the hearings and terminate the work of the committee, even though the body has voted unanimously to request an extension of its life past the Feb. 28 deadline which had been set as the end of its term in the Senate resolution which created it.

The extension would be for the purpose of making recommendations to the Senate for legislation designed to prevent future election abuses, the original purpose of its formation.

During its life the committee seemed to have strayed far from the original intent and gave the appearance of being politically motivated to prove President Nixon's culpability.

Committee counsel Sam Dash, a law professor, has given indications that he would like to continue the public investigative work of the group, but with Chairman Ervin's desire to wind up the work and Senator Baker's seeming disenchantment with the road the committee has taken, that seems unlikely.

The New York trial of Stans and Mitchell is set for Feb. 19, only nine days before the end of the committee's authorized term. It is considered unlikely however, that the trial will take place that soon.

The committee failed to prove President Nixon responsible for the Watergate break-in or the "cover-up" which followed.

The only witness making that claim was John Dean, former White House Counsel, who was fired from his position at the same time that presidential aides Erlichman and Haldeman resigned.

His testimony was never supported, although the committee seemed to think that the taped conversations would substantiate it. It will probably never be known if the missing 18 minute section of the supposed tape of Dean's conversation with the President would have upheld his testimony.

To a great extent Dean's testimony has been vitiated by the statement of Emil "Bud" Krogh that his instructions never came either directly or indirectly from the President. Krogh, under conviction for the Plumber's activities, also said that Dean had told him that things were going on which the President knew nothing about.

What has emerged from the hearings is a picture of a White House palace guard, which possibly motivated by the best of purposes, still abandoned moral and ethical standards which should have controlled their conduct.

The means became to justify the end, and methods were employed which were unethical and illegal.

The whole sad affair has been strewn with shattered careers, jail terms, trials and charges which will never be erased from the records or the minds of the men involved.

If the Ervin committee can make recommendations which will make such actions and events impossible in the future, it will have made a contribution to American government.

Old Folks' 'Wisdom'

For about a decade, while the youth cult flourished, older people weren't supposed to have much sense. We'd get the world into a terrible condition and "never trust anyone over thirty," was an axiom of the very bright young.

But, Madison Avenue-types who are supposed to know what motivates people are now making their TV pitches on the premise that "mama knows best." And in an occasional rare case some sense is also credited to the old man.

That the younger generation is now giving some credit for know-how to the older.

You never see the husband, John, in this commercial. He is asleep on the couch and has been for some years. A grizzled character with untamed eyebrows and an outdoor look reminisces about his boyhood and those days when his father would come home all of sorts and upset and take an Alka Seltzer to soothe his problems.

Open Forum HELCO Interested In Saving Energy?

more than for the incandescents now in use. It is planned to replace gradually the older ones with the new mercury vapor lights, the smallest of which is 225-watt, 3500-lumen unit.

I was so intrigued by the brilliant display of street lighting on Tolland Turnpike that I took a copy of the Herald over there, stood on the opposite side of the street between two of the lights, and was able to read the fine print with little difficulty. It's marvelous, but also I think it's a big mistake, especially since our energy shortage has appeared. I am glad to see the improvements in the mercury lights now being used, but in my opinion, a light on every pole is being a bit too extravagant.

Up to a short time ago their efforts have been directed toward increasing the consumption of electric energy by their customers in all kinds of industrial, business and home uses. The more the merrier, and the bigger profits for them.

All this has been changed by the threatened shortage of fuel oil and now the electric utility companies are imploring their customers to be very careful in the use of their product.

An attractive brochure put out by Northeast Utilities, a cooperative combination of Connecticut and Massachusetts producers of electricity, advises all its customers to "Conserve Energy" by using it wisely and sparingly in electric ranges, refrigerators, oil burners, air conditioning, washing machines and dryers, water heaters, and especially lighting.

One evening last fall I was returning from an affair in East Hartford and decided to take Tolland Turnpike instead of I-84. All seemed to be as usual until I reached the Manchester town line and then it went to believe my eyes.

Max Lerner Comments How Long Is Enough?

NEW YORK — The Nixon battle cry, launched in his State of the Union speech, is now "One Year of Watergate Is Enough." It risks a counterstatement from the anti-Nixon forces: "Three More Years of Nixon Are Too Much."

How long is enough? And how long is too much? Each side, I suspect, will have to put up with some disappointments. Nixon will have to stand at least another year of Watergate. It will take almost that long before the House and its committee have disposed of the impeachment question, and at least that long again for the Senate to act.

There are a number of things that make the current state of the presidential crisis phenomenal. It is phenomenal after all the revelations of complexity, that the President was lucky to get off that easy. There is no stirring of roses, but neither was it a lynching bee.

There have been Presidents who got more lukewarm receptions, and who didn't get impeached. And it is phenomenal that with so intolerable a crisis there is no certain resolution of it in sight.

The business of government somehow continues. The crises go on — Watergate, energy, Midwest, and energy crises even after the President's resignation. The cameras focus on several of the three top Cabinet officers — the Secretaries of State, Defense, and Education.

Today's Thought
"Never to judge rashly; never to interpret the actions of others in an ill-humored, but have compassion for their infirmities, bear their burdens, excuse their weaknesses, and make up for their defects, but love them — this is the true spirit of charity."

Discipline Discussed In Executive Session

Prompted by a request of a parent, made at a recent Vernon Board of Education meeting, the board, administrators and teachers discussed a discipline problem at Rockville High School in executive session Tuesday night.

The parent, who asked to remain anonymous, said students who should be in classes are many times hanging around in groups outside the school, particularly in the Wilson Lane area. He asked the board to take action to correct the situation.

Board chairman Maurice Miller at that time said he felt discipline should start in the home. The board has decided that the situation is a sensitive one and requires more study before reaching any conclusions about what, if anything, has to be done.

He explained it represents a small percentage of alienated students who have developed truancy problems long before they came to high school. Marchant expressed hope that a combination of disciplinary and curriculum changes can be developed which would contribute to the solution of the problem. He feels double sessions at the high school have made the problem more visible.

Mrs. Stewart Prepares Aushak

Rhea Talley Stewart has been in love with the Afghan people and their country since her first visit in 1966. "I really didn't want to go there at all. Persia was my interest then. I selected to tour which included Iran with a side trip to Afghanistan. I started to read about it and became interested."

Her fascination would bring her many friends, would plunge her deeply into research, would take her back to Afghanistan five times in all. She would write one of the finest books ever written on the country, "Fire in Afghanistan 1914-1929", published last year. Acclaimed by critics, it is entirely factual though highly readable, almost in story form.

Rhea told me that the Afghans are extremely poor people. Their country is rugged and they have few resources. So-called Persian lamb is one of their products. The skin, which is sold for coats, etc. comes from the Karakul sheep. The Afghans, of course, feel it should be called Afghan lamb.

Despite their poverty and often the isolation of the rugged mountainside, the people are exceedingly friendly. Rhea sees this in direct contrast to our own mountain people of Appalachia who, in their isolation, have become apprehensive of outsiders.

The beautiful azure blue semi-precious stone, lapis lazuli, is another of their assets. "They raise wonderful fruits which they dry and ship all over the world," Rhea said. "The grape crop for raisins was very poor last year over most of the world. This was a boon for the Afghans who had a good crop."

The Afghan does not cook at home. Cooking is done over charcoal braziers. A meal must be made and eaten immediately. Bread, called "naan", is bought. The dough is pasted to the side of an extremely hot oven which is a pit in the ground.

Lamb is the basic meat. The Afghans, being of the Muslim religion, do not eat pork. They will make kababs which are sold on the streets. You buy a skewer of meat, then go to the seller of "naan" or bread and make yourself a little sandwich by folding that flat bread around the meat. Rhea calls this "the hot dog of Afghanistan."

Yogurt is an important food item. I have been told by many travelers that yogurt is "different" in other countries. Rhea tells me that yogurt is drained, thereby thicker and more adaptable in cooking. "You see little white bags suspended on stick tripods. This is the yogurt dripping. Rhea puts hers into a cheesecloth-lined colander. For the Aushak which we had for lunch, she allowed the yogurt to drain for about an hour."

"Why it looks like an Italian dish," I commented. The odor was marvelous. It was lasagna, covered with chutney (yogurt seasoned with garlic and salt), topped with lamb flavored with leeks, mint and tomato sauce.

Rhea explained that the original dish was made much like ravioli. Pockets of unleavened dough were filled with leeks, then the chutney and meat poured over. The Afghans who came to this country, as well as the Embassy people, soon discovered that pasta was ideal. "At the Embassy, I was served this dish with shells," she said. "The Baghdad Kebab, patties made of ground lamb are relatively easy to make especially if you have the butcher grind the meat. Why not make these into little balls and serve as hors d'oeuvres?" The elephant ears are very much like Italian angel wings though the flavor is different.

Rhea Talley Stewart wanted to be a journalist from childhood. She was an easy candidate for membership in Phi Beta Kappa while attending the University of Richmond in her home town. Her journalistic career began with the Richmond Times-Dispatch. Later, she became women's editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal as a free-lance writer. New York became her headquarters. She was New York correspondent for a multitude of newspapers. Also writing for magazines and TV. Manchester became her home when she married Arthur Stewart, now retired from United Aircraft Corp. They reside at 179 Boulder Rd.

Rhea's book is the story of Amanullah, king of Afghanistan

Wings' GM Resigns, Lindsay May Be Next

DETROIT (UPI) — Ted Lindsay may be summoned to bail out the Detroit Red Wings once more.

The abrupt resignation of Ned Harkness Wednesday left the sagging National Hockey League franchise without a general manager and neither of the top two candidates seems to want the job.

"This isn't any job for me at my age, I want to be able to enjoy life," said Jim Skinner, tabbed as the acting GM by owner Bruce A. Norris after Harkness left the club.

The next general manager inherits a team that has been in the Stanley Cup playoffs just once since that first-place team Lindsay left nose-dived to fourth the following year.

Harkness had gone through four coaches in the less than four years he was on the job, including himself, but did resigning the farm system and scouting in the organization stripped of its young talent by Sid Abel.

"He really worked at it," DelVecchio said, "and was a dedicated hockey man but success just eluded him here. We had our differences but I guess they were only about shop talk."

"Daily pressures and harassment from the media were resented cited him here for his quitting in a statement funneled through the club. Norris termed the criticism 'unfair.'

"I'm still trying to make it as a coach, I hope they're not considering me for the GM job," Coach Alex DelVecchio said.

Vickers Scores Hat Trick As Rangers Club Islanders

NEW YORK (UPI) — In only his second season in the National Hockey League, Steve Vickers is beginning to get an idea of the star syndrome.

The part that puzzles him most is how other people set their standards. "I was supposed to be having a bad year, but I've got 20 goals with a third of the season to go," he said Wednesday night after his hat trick powered the New York Rangers to a 6-0 rout of the New York Islanders. "Other players get 20 goals in two-thirds of a season and people say they're having a great year."

Hawks' Streak Nine, Trinity Also Wins

HARTFORD (UPI) — The University of Hartford streaked to its ninth straight win, and Trinity and New Britain captured victories in state college basketball Wednesday night.

Hartford's Gary LaRoque scored on two fouls with 22 seconds left to overcome a pesky American International College team 77-76 at Springfield, Mass.

MHS's Carlson on Beam After Some Early Trouble

By Len Auster

Not having enough pressure exerted by normal circumstances, this performer made life doubly difficult for himself. He felt that since he was the only returning starter from a year ago, the bulk of the responsibility should fall squarely on his shoulders.

Saints, Quebec Win To Move Upin WHA

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Quebec Nordiques and Minnesota Fighting Saints are a couple of teams on the move in the World Hockey Association.

Steve Cardwell set two team records for the Saints in their rout of Chicago when he scored their second and third goals. He also scored the night at 8:10 of the final period. It was the eighth time Minnesota has scored this season while a man shy and extended Cardwell's record of scoring in six consecutive games.

Local Basketball

ILLING GIRLS: Sparked by Nancy Downing's 16 points, Illing Junior High's girls' basketball team nipped the Foxboro team 47-39.

Bob Pagan and Mike Callahan with 23 and 20 points respectively led Fansi. Tim McConville had 25 points and Dewey Post 14 for the losers.

Slalom Races

STRATTON MOUNTAIN, Vt. (UPI) — The U.S. National Giant Slalom Championships will be held here, Feb. 29-31, marking the start of the national championships.

Academic Star

STORRS (UPI) — Robert Burdy of Norwich, a biology major and a pulling guard for the University of Connecticut football team, has been named to the College Academic All-Star team.

Carlson explained his early season difficulties. "As a sophomore I figured they didn't expect much of me and as a junior I felt the seniors could do the job. This year, I guess I pressed too much. Now I know we have others who can pick up the scoring load."

Near Impossible Task For New Penguin Coach

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Marc Boileau, a successful minor league coach whose credo is discipline and hustle, took on a near impossible task today as coach of the Pittsburgh Penguins after Ken Schinkel was fired with the team in a five-game losing slump.

Boileau, moved up just last month to the GM post, said he had decided last Monday to "make the change" but "I didn't want to fire the news to Schinkel personally."

Boileau will be at the helm in Pittsburgh tonight when the Flyers entertain the Penguins, who are in next to last place, at the Spectrum. During his playing career, Boileau spent all but one year in the minor league.

Hayes Earns Eagle Badge

Explorer Scout Post Sponsored by Guard

Manchester Explorer Post 169, sponsored by the Manchester Army National Guard, received its new charter at its first awards program on Saturday night at the Manchester Armory.

Frank Ennis presented the charter, which signifies the post as the first one in Connecticut to be sponsored by a National Guard unit, to State Comptroller Nathan Agostinelli, who is the battalion commander.

During the awards program, Dave Hayes, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hayes of 122 Lake St., received his Eagle Scout badge, the highest honor in boy scouting. The 15-year-old freshman at Manchester High School is the first member of the post to earn the rank of Eagle Scout. He has been active in scouting for the past eight years.

Charles Barrera, post advisor, announced the acquisition of another charter which sanctions the members of Post 169 in the National Rifle Association's Junior Program.

Post 169 meets every other Monday evening at the Manchester Armory on Main St. There are presently 17 members enrolled, all interested young people may attend any meeting.

Members of the post also were among the hundred of volunteers assigned to search for the missing Tolland youngster, Janice Pickett, last summer, Barrera said.

The dinner was prepared by Jackie Ennis and Sandy Barrera. Those seated at the head table included Agostinelli, Ennis, Mayor John Thompson, Capt. Leigh Lovering, Sgt. Joseph Coombs, Carl Gustavson, district committee chairman, and Mrs. Laura Freeman, the VFW Auxiliary Americanism chairman.

Quirks In The News

It's Easier TAK HARBOR, Wash. (UPI)—Police are looking for a car with aromatic exhaust smoke. Someone stole 60 gallons of gasoline from the Whitely Island Naval Air Station, where officials recently ordered perfume mixed with the gasoline to make thieves easier to catch. The perfumed gasoline gives auto exhaust smoke an easily detectable bouquet, officials said.

Contempt Cited SAN JUAN, P.R. (UPI)—A nightclub owner who tried to prepare his own motion for dismissal of a charge against him cited for contempt of court because his secretary typed "U.S. pe-secutor" instead of "U.S. prosecutor."

Anthony J. Tursi, a Brooklyn-born longtime resident, said he was notified to appear in U.S. District Court to show cause why he should not be held in contempt.

Tursi had been seeking dismissal of a charge of extortion brought against him in 1972 by another nightclub owner who later died.

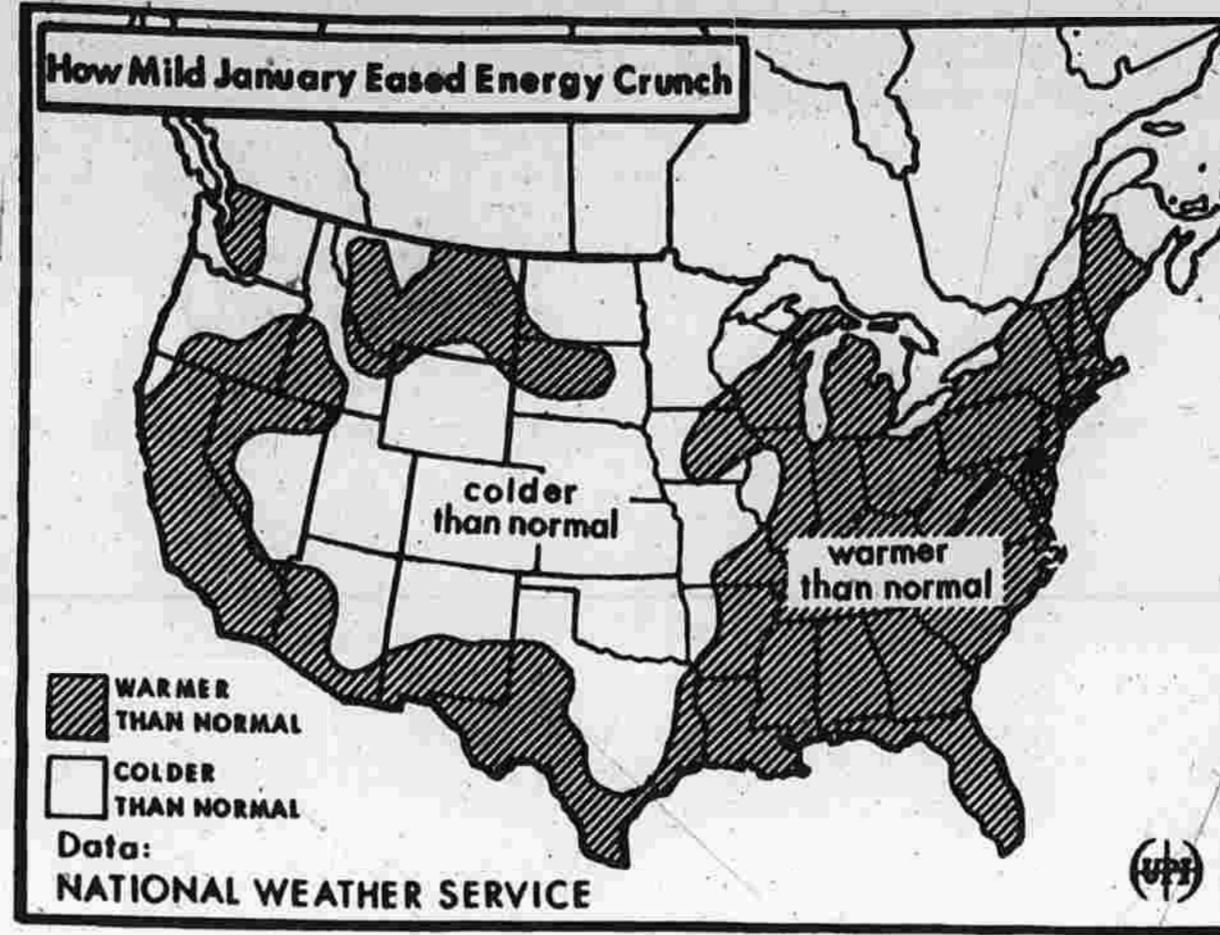

He decided to draw up the motion himself, Tursi said, because "my lawyer has been avoiding me."

January Temperature Summary

This UPI newsmag is based on information released by the National Weather Service Wednesday and shows the temperatures were above normal in the shaded areas during January and colder than normal in the unshaded areas. Of significance is the fact that more than 170 million of the total U.S. population of 210 million live in the warmer-than-normal areas — or eight out of 10 households. Estimated reduction in heating fuel needs, based on degree and persistence of mild weather, was greatest along the populous East Coast. In New York City it was 10 per cent and in Washington, D.C., 20 per cent.

Vermont Ruling Narrows Court Right To Know News Sources

MONTPELIER, Vt. (UPI)—The Vermont Supreme Court has ruled that newsmen may be forced to divulge confidential sources and information only if it can be shown that the information is not available elsewhere and is relevant to the guilt or innocence of the accused.

The decision, written by Associate Justice Albert Barney, came in a case involving John Gladding, a television newsman for WCAX-TV in Burlington.

Gladding had been ordered by Vermont District Court to reveal all sources of information and material to the issue of guilt or innocence.

With the ruling, the drive for the legislature to pass a shield law to protect newsmen's sources appears to have died.

The court's ruling was praised by WCAX Television Vice President Peter Martin who said it established a "limited form of shield" for Vermont newsmen.

Barney wrote, "When a newsgatherer, legitimately entitled to First Amendment protection, objects to inquiries put to him in a deposition proceeding conducted in a criminal case, on the grounds of a First Amendment privilege, he is entitled to refuse to answer unless the interrogator can demonstrate to the judicial officer appealed to that there is no other adequately available source for the information and that it is relevant and material to the issue of guilt or innocence."

Car Pool Kit Is No Answer

By DICK WEST WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government keeps yapping at us commuters about organizing car pools, yet it provides no instructions on how to put them together.

This is no job for an amateur. Compared to putting together a car pool, putting together a child's Christmas toy (Fold Tab, B into Slot X and fuse with Side Y) is mere child's play.

What you need, of course, is a Car Pool Kit with an illustrated instruction sheet showing where all the pieces fit.

You can buy five-member car pool kits at some hobby shops, but unfortunately the only ones currently on the market were made in Japan.

This is not to suggest there is anything wrong with Japanese car pools. To the contrary, they work beautifully, once you get them assembled.

Unusually Long Period Some even carry a four-week warranty, which is an unusually long operating period for a car pool. The average car pool falls apart in 10 days or less.

What happens, as a rule, is that one member becomes miffed about something and drops out. Car pool replacements are extremely hard to find. Sometimes you can keep a five-member car pool running with only three or four members, but the timing is thrown out of sync, making it hard to start in the mornings.

To repeat, Japanese car pool kits are both durable and functional. The trouble is that the instruction sheets were originally written in Japanese and were translated into English by someone who is strictly monolingual.

Instruction sheet translators work from an English-Japanese dictionary, which lists up to three different meanings for the same word.

This is where it gets complicated. Bob works late on Monday and Carol goes in early on Tuesday off and Alice owns the driving four days a week. And on the fifth day you ride all the way into town and back with Carol sitting in your lap.

Carol recently received a dishonorable discharge from Weight-Watchers, Inc.

South Windsor

Service Council Seeks Volunteers

JUDY KUEHNEL
Correspondent

The Volunteer Opportunities Limited Project of the South Windsor Community Service Council has three new areas looking for volunteers, according to Mrs. Mimi Dunbar, chairman of the program. Volunteer opportunities have been added to secure a sizeable staff of telephone operators for the elderly people in South Windsor who might not understand their rights under the federal Supplemental Security Income program. "This would just be a short commitment," Mrs. Dunbar explained, "and we would be sure to assign you to work exactly what you want. Special problems would have to be referred to the co-ordinator. The Avery St. School has asked if Volunteer Opportunities can get together a group of eight persons to work on a one-on-one basis with the youngest school children. There would be a short training period first and an opportunity to observe and work with other adults who are helping. Transportation to the school can be arranged for volunteers if needed. A program already in progress at the Oak Hill School in West Hartford needs six additional drivers. This is a Friday evening program, and drivers will not participate more than one in three or four months. Anyone interested in learning more about the Volunteer Opportunities Program is invited to contact Mrs. Dunbar at 89 Greenfield Dr., South Windsor.

South Windsor

Town To Get New Industry

Parkcentre Industrial Park in South Windsor has secured another new industrial facility. Sabo Food Service, Inc. will occupy a new 10,000 square foot facility, according to Kenneth B. Van Anglen, regional vice president.

The new building at 175 South Satellite Rd. will house Sabo's regional office staff and will also serve as a commissary for local Sabo vending units. It is expected that 37 employees will move from the present facility at East Hartford to the South Windsor facility.

According to Van Anglen, Sabo had researched the general Capital Region for its new home and had chosen South Windsor for two major reasons: its "excellent accessibility to all major highways in the area and its expansion possibilities." Van Anglen said the "refreshing attitude of South Windsor's town officials in assisting in the site survey" was also a deciding factor.

Sabo Food Service serves many major industrial facilities within the state and operates in 49 out of the 50 states. Sabo's growth in its field of food management and service for hospitals, schools, colleges, institutions and industrial locations had dictated the move to the more spacious location. Sabo, whose corporate offices are located at Lyons, Ill., expects to occupy the new building in the early spring.

Sausage Theft Brings Jail Term

MOSCOW (UPI) - A guard at Moscow Meat and Sausage Factory No. 4 noticed that sausages kept flying out of a window of the boiler room of the plant.

After 25 sausages, one by one, had hit the ground, the guard saw a man come by and start picking them up. Then he grabbed the man, later identified as factory employee I. Moiseyev.

Moiseyev was sentenced to 2 1/2 years in prison, the newspaper Sotsialisticheskaya Industriya said.

Trash Collection
During the winter months residents are reminded they should, whenever possible, set their refuse containers in their driveways and they will be put back there when emptied.
Andrew Tricarico, director of public works, said this is to avoid the possibility of snow plows covering the containers and it will expedite the collections.
The collectors will not pick up trash from anything but legal containers of 22 gallon capacity or plastic bags. Larger containers and 50-gallon drums of cardboard or fibre board will not be picked up. Tricarico said that such items as refrigerator or washing machine cartons which are loaded with trash, cannot be handled. They should be broken down and placed beside the trash.

Split In Trucker Ranks Sparks New Violence

Truck Protest Negotiators

While acceptance of the agreement between leaders of the independent truck drivers and the government seems to be in dispute, negotiators were hopeful the trucks could be rolling again by Monday. Major principals in the agreement were: Pennsylvania Gov. Milton Shapp, right, and William Hill, president of the Fraternal Association of Steel Haulers and chief trucker negotiator. (UPI photo)

A split in the ranks of the independent truck drivers over acceptance of a government settlement offer today triggered new violence in the 5-day-old drivers' strike.
Even so, there were indications that more trucks were on the road than at any time this week and that truck stop business was returning to normal.
Two truck drivers were shot and wounded, one critically, in Ohio early today. In Pennsylvania, a truck traveling on Route 22 near Hollidaysburg was struck by a bullet fired from a passing car. The slug failed to penetrate the cab and the driver was not injured.
The Mississippi Highway Patrol reported three trucks fired on during the night. Two lumber trucks were hit by bullets and a third one was fired on by two white men armed with shotguns. No one was injured.
Two drivers have been killed thus far as a result of violence connected with the strike by drivers for lower fuel costs and higher freight rates. One driver was shot to death and the other was killed when a rock thrown through the windshield of his truck caused him to lose control and crash.
Lawrence Huff, 48, New Waterford, Ohio, was shot in the stomach today while driving on Ohio 11 near East Liverpool for the Ray Molder Carrier Corp. Snipers opened fire on his rig and another that had been following close behind, police said.
Another truck driver was shot in the leg near the Elyria exit on the Ohio Turnpike. The Ohio Highway Patrol said he was standing beside his truck when he was fired on by someone in a passing car.

Threats to continue the walkout.
Today's violence came only hours after many drivers across the country shouted against a compromise proposal reached Thursday in Washington that did not meet all of their demands. There were threats to continue the walkout.
Meanwhile, more and more grocery outlets reported dwindling food supplies.
In Washington Teamster President Frank E. Fitzsimons, Nixon's staunchest labor supporter, condemned the strike Thursday and urged all of his members to keep the trucks rolling.
More than half the independent drivers who own their own rigs are members of the Teamsters. But many of them were forced to join in order to remain in business and are hostile to the union.
The agreement reached after negotiations in Washington provides for truckers to get all the diesel fuel they need, to pass on increased fuel prices to the firms that hire them, and for government monitoring of prices and supplies.
There were reports that truck traffic picked up after the agreement was announced, but on-the-scene observers said the increase was not large enough to make much difference.

Solon Charged With Vote Fraud

NEW HAVEN (UPI) — Six persons, including a Democratic state representative were named in arrest warrants issued today in connection with voting frauds in New Haven.
Rep. William P. Ambrogio, 67, D-New Haven, was named on four counts of violation of the state election laws in a Superior Court warrant. The warrants were issued in connection with an investigation by the New Haven police department and the state's attorney's office.
The probe was spurred by information in a series of articles published by the New Haven Register.
Both Ambrogio and another suspect, Mrs. Rose Barbarito, a Democratic party worker in the city's 7th Ward — reportedly were out of state.
Four others named in warrants were arrested and scheduled to appear in court. Among them was James E. Perillo, a guidance counselor and varsity basketball coach at West Haven High School. He was charged on five counts of violation of state election laws.
Charged on eight counts of election law violations was Salvatore Franco, 53, of New Haven, the assistant town clerk.
A New Haven couple, Morris and Evelyn Schatz, was also arrested. Schatz, a Democratic assistant registrar or voters in the 2nd Ward, was named in 15 counts and his wife, 12 counts.

Town Democrats Back Moriarty For Director

By SOL R. COHEN
District congressman.
Moriarty was nominated for endorsement by State Rep. Francis Mahoney, a life-long friend of the Moriarty family. Seconding speeches were by Theresa Parla and Nicholas Jackson.
Mahoney said he wanted to squelch rumors (none had reached this desk) that he isn't running for re-election.
"I'll be running in November as hard as I ever did, and I intend to win," he said.
Barry was nominated for endorsement by Democratic Registrar Herbert Stevenson, who had been co-chairman of Barry's campaign committee in 1968, when he was elected state representative. Seconding speeches were by Irene Fisch and Raymond F. Danato.
On a motion by Judge of Probate William FitzGerald, the town committee formally thanked Pietrantonio for his "many years of devoted, unselfish and fine service to the Town of Manchester."
Moriarty thanked the committee for its endorsement and the leadership of the committee for its backing and Pietrantonio for his advice.
"It's going to be difficult following in Tony's footsteps," said Moriarty. "He's done all the groundwork. I'll try to continue."
He said it will be like being (See Page Eighteen)

Herald Sends Editor On DevCo Jaunt

Alex Girelli, city editor of The Herald, will accompany a group of Coventry residents on a trip this weekend to Columbia, Md., Montgomery Village, Md. and Reston, Va.
Most of those taking the tour are members of the Coventry Citizens Advisory Committee.
The trip was arranged by the Greater Hartford Community Development Corporation which is planning a new community in Coventry.
Plans for the community have engendered strong opposition from many Coventry residents.
According to corporation spokesmen, the trip was arranged at the request of the advisory committee and will supplement a similar, one-day trip made earlier to planned communities in Connecticut.
The Herald is sending a staff member on the trip because of the expected impact of DevCo's plans on Coventry and on the surrounding area.
The expense of the trip for Girelli will be borne by The Herald.

Skylab 3 Crew End Record Trek

ABOARD USS NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The last Skylab astronauts landed on target in the gentle Pacific today from man's longest spaceflight, an 84-day, 34.5 million mile journey that opened the way for a trip someday to Mars.
"It's good to be back," said mission commander Gerald P. Carr as he, Edward G. Gibson and William R. Pogue chatted with recovery forces in helicopters hovering overhead their landing capsule.
The Skylab 3 astronauts splashed down about 5,000 yards from this veteran recovery ship. The veterans indicated they were in good shape after spending nearly three months in weightless space.
"Well done," said Pogue as he and his crewmates look pulse readings to see how well they were adjusting to the rigors of earth gravity. They were special pressure pants to prevent blood from pooling in their legs.
America's first space station was left behind in a 269-283 mile high orbit where it is expected to drift like a ghost ship around earth for at least five to eight years. Slowed aboard was a "time capsule" containing equipment for possible retrieval by visiting spacemen in the future.
The astronauts returned to earth on their 1,213th orbit and, like the beginning of the $2.5 billion project nine months ago, a technical problem had to be overcome just before reentry, the pilots discovered one of two redundant control rocket systems was leaking. The astronauts used the other system without difficulty.

The recovery ship New Orleans is expected to dock in San Diego Saturday and the Skylab 3 spacemen are due back home in Houston Sunday night for a long awaited reunion with their wives. They must remain away from their children, however, for another week to give them time to adjust again to earth's germs.
Doctors predict it will take the spacemen about three weeks to readapt to the rigors of gravity after spending so long without it in orbit.
No state money was spent to pay the lease, according to Gov. Thomas J. Meskill who ordered the investigation.

Clothing Sought For Fire Victims

A fire Tuesday night which did extensive damage to the second floor of a residence at 302 Adams St., occupied by Mrs. Janet Winegar and her four children has left them in need of clothing, blankets, and other household items.
Mrs. Winegar, who is divorced, and reportedly has no insurance on the furnishings, is especially in need of clothing for her children ages 14, 13, 12 and 8.
"We need sheets, blankets, almost everything," she said, "but especially clothing for the children. There are three boys and a girl, and two of the boys have no warm jackets nor shoes."
Persons wishing to donate clothing may bring it to her residence at 302 Adams St. at 3 p.m. days. Mrs. Winegar works nights at Best Eaton on Center St. and those wishing to contact her may call her there at 649-0140.

O'Marra Charged With Forgery

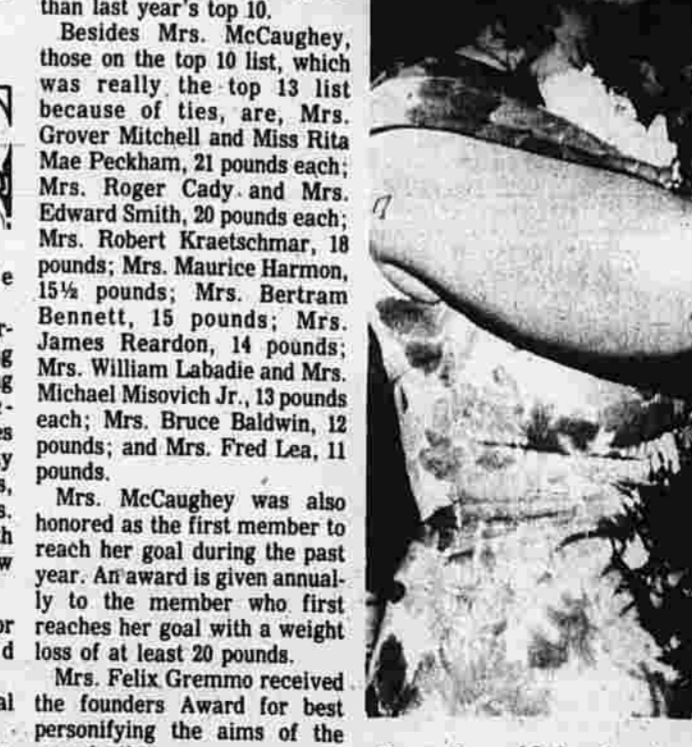

HARTFORD (UPI) — Thomas R. O'Marra of Manchester was scheduled to appear in Hartford Superior Court today to answer to a charge of second-degree forgery.
O'Marra, a former high official of the state Public Works Department, was arrested Thursday for allegedly forging the signature of Connecticut's deputy attorney general on a welfare housing lease.
State Police said Thursday O'Marra surrendered to State's Attorney John D. LaBelle. The second-degree forgery charge is a misdemeanor, calling for one-year imprisonment, a $1,000 fine or both.
A spokesman for the Department of Public Works said O'Marra, a Republican, resigned last Friday from his job as chief of the department's leasing division.
The arrest culminated an investigation begun after the signature of Deputy Attorney General C. Perrie Phillips on an $11,246 welfare housing lease was found to be a forgery.
The attorney general's office is supposed to approve leases for legal content, but said it had no knowledge of the disputed lease.
The lease, handled by O'Marra, was for two apartments at 537-539 Boston Ave., Bridgeport, owned by Bridgeport druggist Michael W. Licarnello.
No state money was spent to pay the lease, according to Gov. Thomas J. Meskill who ordered the investigation.
