Station Owners To Consider Shutdown

HARTFORD (UPI)— Connecticut gas station operators will probably decide Wednesday night whether to launch a full-scale shutdown in protest of a federal order banning preferential sales.

Charles Matties, a West Hartford Exxon dealer and a director of the Connecticut Gasoline Retailers Association, said today that Federal Energy Administrator William E. Simon is on a "collision course" with the nation's gasoline dealers.

Unless Simon rescinds or modifies his order, Matties believes the result could be a nationwide shutdown of gas stations.

"We don't have to lead a rebellion," Matties said. "It's there."

"We've been successful holding it in check so far," he said, "but by Wednesday night, something's got to give."

Matties said national gasoline dealer representatives are to meet with Simon Tuesday for clarification of his edict against preferential treatment of regular customers at the gas pumps.

Connecticut gas dealers have decided to withhold any protest action until results of the meeting are known, Matties said.

A statewide meeting of gas dealers is scheduled for Wednesday night, Matties said, but regional groups will be meeting as early as Tuesday night.

Matties said any action will be announced ahead of time to allow the public to prepare. No action will be taken against emergency or police vehicles, he said.

After meeting Sunday with Greenwich, Conn., and Portchester, N.Y., area dealers, Sen. Lowell P. Weicker said he convinced them to remain open until at least Tuesday afternoon.

Weicker said he will hand-deliver to federal officials a letter from the dealers addressed to Simon.

Through their lawyer, R. Richard Roina, the Greenwich and Portchester gasoline dealers said they did not want to strike.

They said the most important issue is their right to give their regular customers preferential treatment.

All or most of the 46 gasoline retailers in Greenwich are believed to be united in their position, as are some 26 dealers in Portchester.

Weicker met Sunday morning with three dealers, Roina, and Greenwich Police Chief Steven M. Baran Jr.

"This is a federal problem," Weicker said after the meeting. "Dealers are trying to work out a solution which enables them to do their job legally and with dignity."

Meanwhile, Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., said he can't understand why Connecticut hasn't followed other states in the nation in implementing the Oregon plan of rationing.

Speaking on the Connecticut Public Information Network radio program, "Dialogue '74," Ribicoff said, "In the absence of any other form of allocation, this would bring some order out of chaos. It would mean that only half the automobiles on any given day would be eligible to go to a filling station."

Ribicoff criticized the performance of the Federal Energy Office.

"It's in chaos," he said. "They don't know which side is up. Promises are made all over the lot. They're not kept."

Ribicoff said you can't get definitive answers from the FEO.

Nevertheless, Connecticut's senior senator praised Simon.

"I would say Mr. Simon is a very able man," he said. "But the thing is running away from him."

Nevada Gambling Undimmed

The lights on the Las Vegas Strip may have been dimmed because of the energy crisis, but it's not all that gloomy to the operators of the casinos inside.

Gaming revenues, one of Nevada's best economic indicators, shot up 19 per cent in the last quarter of 1973.

It was one of the few bright spots found in a United Press International state-by-state roundup of economic affects of the energy crisis.

Gov. Mike O'Callaghan of Nevada said "some businesses are hurting but generally it's not bad." He said, however, the current quarter would be more of an indicator of the energy crunch.

Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., called his Senate Interior Committee to hearings on the crisis in Ohio last week because, he said, it was the hardest hit industrial state.

In Arizona, claims for unemployment compensation in January jumped by 12,300, or 66 per cent.

Oklahoma's picture is among the most favorable of all the states," said Raymond Crump, information officer for Oklahoma Employment Security Commission. He said Oklahoma has benefited from booming oil activity as well as bumper farm crops and rising prices.

Pennsylvania Labor and Industry Secretary Paul Smith said, "I am certainly not looking for a good year. We had 270,000 unemployed for January, a 57,000 increase over December. Of course, the picture is muddied by the truck strike.

Miners Cut Demands Slightly

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's striking coal miners cut back their wage demands today, but still insisted on nearly twice as much as allowed under the government's antiinflation wage guidelines.

Leaders of the miners union went before the National Pay Board today, offering to reopen contract negotiations if the government promises to grant the coal workers a 31 per cent wage increase.

The new salary request, although below the 35 per cent demanded before the walkout began Feb. 10, was almost twice as much as the 16.5 per cent maximum allowed under Prime Minister Edward Heath's salary guidelines.

With coal supplies plunging and miners blocking pits and power stations, the government has urged the pay board to consider the possibility of treating coal workers as "a special case" under the wage guidelines.

The coal strike, which followed a 13-week slowdown, has combined with Arab oil cutbacks to create what Heath has called Britain's worst industrial crisis since World War II.

Pray Tell Me, George, When Is Your Birthday?

By SOL R. COHEN

Talk about your credibility, to say nothing about executive privilege.

Look what we've got here. The very first president of the United States, the father of our country, the man who couldn't tell a lie — George Washington — is now suspect, and all because he told everyone he was born on Feb. 22.

Our Congress and our state legislature, comprised of sincere men and women who are looking out for our good, these knowledgeable individuals say today, Feb. 18, is George Washington's Birthday.

They say it doesn't matter that all school books, all encyclopedias, all legal records indicate George Washington was indeed born on Feb. 22.

What they say may have nothing to do with executive privilege, but has plenty to do with credibility.

But, say these shining examples for the youth of America, the credibility gap isn't important. What is important, they say, is the weekend gap — a Saturday-Sunday-Monday holiday for some, a Sunday-Monday holiday for others — to think about doing things and going places they can't anyway, because the gasoline shortage won't let them.

But wait a minute. If it's only the Monday holiday that concerns them, then what happened a couple of years ago, when Feb. 22, the true Washington's Birthday, did fall on a Monday?

Was the holiday celebrated that day? No, indeed. By law, it was celebrated that year a week earlier — on Feb. 15.

If George Washington's Birthday is legally the third Monday in February, as mandated by federal (and state) law, and if George Washington were receiving Social Security benefits, as are other senior citizens, he might well be receiving the following letter from federal officials:

"Dear Mr. Washington: "It is with deep regret we must inform you that you must return all Social Security payments sent you since your retirement from active employment. Please call our Washington, D.C. office, so we may make an audit of your account — including recent supplemental payments."

"In a routine check of your application for Social Security benefits, we note you listed your birth date as Feb. 22, 1732. We note also federal and state laws pinpoint your birthday this year as Feb. 18.

"We hate to use that word but, in listing your birth date other than what federal and state laws declare it to be, you have, in effect, perpetrated a fraud.

"As a consequence, you must forfeit all benefits paid you. We regret, because of the statute of limitations, we can't prosecute you for falsifying your date of birth.

"We regret also that this country's millions of school children, at least until new text books can be printed, will continue to read you were born on Feb. 22, 1732.

"Shame on you for the sham, Mr. Washington."

Arab Oil Embargo Causing Trouble In Peace Effort

United Press International The U.S. peace initiative in the Middle East appeared today to be running into trouble because of Arab refusal to lift the oil embargo.

The well-informed Israeli newspaper Davar, which often reflects the views of the government, quoted diplomatic sources in Jerusalem as saying Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger was formulating a "package deal" to get troop disengagement talks started between Israel and Syria.

But Arab Middle East sources in London told UPI diplomatic correspondent K.C. Thaler their governments have been given to understand that the Kissinger peace initiative may be put temporarily on ice unless the oil embargo is eased soon.

Kissinger was meeting in Washington again today with Saudi Arabian Foreign Minister Omar Sakkaf and Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy. U.S. officials said they believed the Arab nations will not end their embargo until Kissinger helps solve the Syrian-Israeli dispute.

Saudi Arabia has shown indications of lifting the oil embargo but the chief opposition came from Kuwait, Algeria and Syria despite Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's urgings they ease up.

Complicating the situation was Russia's failure to get Syria to ease its stand on troop disengagement talks with Israel and its apparent reluctance to bring pressure on Syria to do so.

The Beirut newspaper An-Nahar reported another snag today. It said a crisis has developed in relations between Jordan and the United States involving the handling of King Hussein's scheduled meeting with President Nixon on Feb. 8 and Jordanian belief that U.S. intelligence knew in advance of a Jordanian army mutiny that broke out at that time. The Hussein-Nixon visit was postponed until later.

The Israeli newspaper said the basic Kissinger proposal involved linking a time table for the release of Israeli prisoners in Syria with specific proposals for the disengagement of their armies on the Golan Heights front.

Israel has said it will not negotiate disengagement terms with Syria, either directly or indirectly, until it gets a list of its prisoners of war in Syria and the Red Cross is allowed to visit them.

With the U.S. initiative stalled for the moment, Israel pushed ahead with dismantling its ground and air links to the west bank of the Suez Canal, rushing to meet this week's deadline for abandoning all territory seized from Egypt in October.

Israeli army sappers laid detonating charges today at a freshly abandoned Egyptian airfield in advance of Israeli withdrawal Thursday from the west bank of the Suez Canal, military sources said.

The dynamiting operation at Fayid began, they said, shortly after the last U.S. built Hercules C130 transport plane took off on an eastward course.

Thieu Picks A 19-Man Cabinet

SAIGON (UPI) — President Nguyen Van Thieu named a new 19-member cabinet today, with all its members friendly to the government and only five new faces.

An expected drastic government shakeup to combat inflation and government corruption failed to materialize.

On the battlefield, Communist forces stepped up attacks in one of the most intense days of fighting in a year, the Saigon military command said.

A Thieu spokesman, Information Minister Hoang Duc Nha, said there had been a slight internal shuffle in the cabinet. Last Saturday, Thieu temporarily ousted the entire cabinet for what was believed to be a major overhaul.

New ministers for justice, health, education and the planning directorate were picked by Thieu, and a new position of vice prime minister for inspection was created for retired Army Maj. Gen. Tran Van Don, Nha said.

The Connecticut state weather forecast:

Mostly sunny this afternoon with highs in the upper 30s. Clear tonight, lows ranging from the mid 20s north to around 30 along the coast. Increasing cloudiness Tuesday with a chance of occasional rain late in the day. High in the mid 40s.

Donwell Firm To Construct New Facility

A Manchester manufacturer, now renting space in the old Cheney Mills complex, is planning a new plant on Sheldon Rd. (the Parker-Oakland connector) at an estimated cost of about $240,000 for the building and land.

The Donwell Co., which does custom plastic coating of industrial materials, is being issued $214,581 in industrial revenue bonds by the Connecticut Development Authority. It is for a 14,400-square-foot plant on about two acres on Sheldon Rd. The land was purchased last fall by Donwell from Charles Burr.

The Development Authority, financing arm of the state Department of Commerce, is authorized to issue industrial revenue bonds for a variety of business and industrial development projects. The bonds to Donwell will be for 25 years at an estimated interest rate of 6 1/2 per cent.

The Donwell Co. operation is at 15-27 Pleasant St. where it originated about 16 years ago. It occupies about 11,000 square feet at present and estimates its expansion will result in a 25 per cent increase in its employment force, now at 16. Its offices on Pleasant St. are in Cheney's old public bathhouse.

The Donwell officers are Donald R. Sherman, president; William R. Burnham, vice president; and Mrs. Betty J. Sherman, secretary-treasurer. All reside in South Windsor. Sherman is on the board of directors of the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce.

Sherman said plans call for construction of the new plant in early spring with occupancy planned for the summer.

The company doesn't manufacture any products of its own. Its custom plastic coating is for such items as housewares, hardware, tools and industrial moulds.

Sherman said he doesn't foresee any immediate shortage of plastic — feared by some companies because of the oil shortage. He said his company uses small quantities of expensive and unique plastic, primarily Teflon, manufactured by Dupont.

Mitchell, Stans Trial Scheduled To Begin Tuesday

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former Nixon cabinet officers John N. Mitchell and Maurice H. Stans go on trial in federal court Tuesday, accused of trying to get favorable treatment for a millionaire in return for a campaign contribution.

Mitchell, former attorney general, and Stans, former commerce secretary, are charged with obstructing justice, conspiracy and perjury. They are the first cabinet officers indicted in 50 years.

The indictment filed last May alleges the defendants attempted to get favorable treatment for millionaire financier Robert L. Vesco, by the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), in exchange for a secret $200,000 cash contribution to President Nixon's re-election campaign.

Vesco was a co-defendant in the case, but left the United States and has been living in Costa Rica and the Bahamas. He has successfully overcome extradition attempts.

A prominent New Jersey Republican, Harry L. Sears, from Mountain Lake, N.J., is the fourth defendant and will be tried later. Sears, who headed the President's re-election campaign in New Jersey, is expected to testify for the government against Mitchell and Stans.

John W. Dean III, former White House counsel, will be a crucial prosecution witness. The defense has tried unsuccessfully to have his testimony barred.

Other figures in the case include: Edward C. Nixon, F. Donald Nixon and Donald Nixon, the President's older brother, younger brother and nephew respectively; Under Secretary of State for Economic Affairs William J. Casey, who was then chairman of the SEC, and former general counsel and later chairman of the SEC, G. Bradford Cook, who resigned after the Mitchell-Stans indictment was filed.

The trial is expected to last at least a month. Jury selection will take at least two days.

'Frostbitters' Ignore Pumps

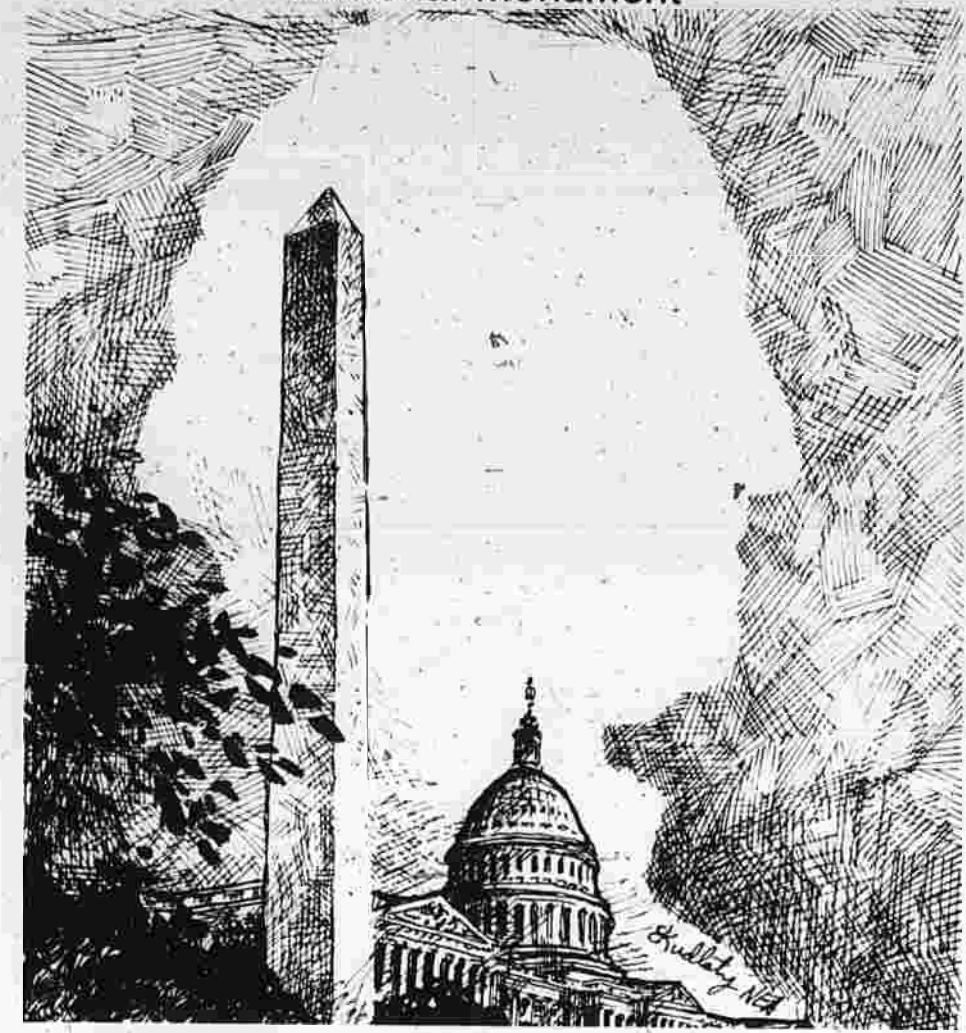

A sailing group at Marblehead, Mass., called the "Frostbitters" don't have to worry about the gasoline shortage as they enjoy a holiday weekend sail past idle gasoline pumps. The sailors are members of the Boston Yacht Club.

Washington's Faith

If one wished to draw a parallel today as we passively recognize the birthday of George Washington—not on his birthday but a Monday so some of us could have a long weekend—it wouldn't be too difficult.

Immediately, we can see a comparison between the indecisive and wishy-washy actions of the Continental Congress while Washington and his troops fought starvation at Valley Forge, and the Congress of today which recesses while chaos increases in the energy crisis.

We could also perhaps see some comparison between those Tories who opposed the revolution and tried to undercut the men who pledged "their lives, their fortune and sacred honor," for freedom and those today who would surrender more and more of our personal liberties to the state.

But there is a comparison that is on the positive side also. The American Revolution, as it is embodied in the character of George Washington, was won more by faith in the idea that man had a right to be and ought to be free, than by well-armed soldiers, powerful allies, and grand military strategy. Today we need such a faith more than ever before.

We need the faith of Washington that enabled him to rally himself and his men even in the darkest hours. We need his faith renewed in us to look, not at the immediate problem in itself, but in the perspective that free men can and will ultimately triumph.

We can blame others all we want for the problems facing us but until we conceive of an American as Washington did, we will continue to have those problems. Washington's faith was not so much a form of government, a constitutionalized leadership, or a divine destiny, but one of free men having the opportunity to govern themselves and doing so wisely.

It is for each of us to renew our faith in ourselves as the foundation for restoring and maintaining credibility in our society.

As Washington epitomizes the ideal of individual responsibility in a free society, so should each of us strive to follow his footsteps.

New Rules Needed

The independent truckers "strike" which dealt a blow to the nation's economy, was not a strike at all in the previously accepted meaning of the word but was instead a demonstration, as other so-called strikes have been recently.

Historically a strike has taken place when a group of workers refused to work for their employer in order to air a grievance, or gain some goal, such as more money, conditions of work, pensions, etc.

The strike was aimed at the employer and if the public suffered it was an indirect and unintended result.

These demonstrations are not against an employer. They are rather against the public, with the hope that the public will be so injured that its outcry will persuade government to grant the wishes of the demonstrators.

Shortage in groceries, gasoline, meat, produce and the whole spectrum of public supply resulted from the truckers demonstration.

They were demonstrating against the rising price of diesel fuel for their big freight rigs. They were not looking for gain anything from an employer. Most of them are independent businessmen.

They gave little thought to the fact that the same public which would be hurt by their demonstrations were also being plagued by higher gasoline prices and higher home heating oil costs, and all the myriad of other rising costs traceable to the petroleum shortage.

They were demonstrating against the public welfare and they have won a concession in the freeze on diesel oil price as well as promise of legislative remedy.

Shameful violence accompanied the demonstration as drivers who wanted to work were pressured to get off the roads. Deaths, injuries and destroyed vehicles resulted.

We were very pleased to hear Attorney General Saxbe speak out forcefully against violence and other illegalities. Those guilty should be punished and Saxbe has promised they will be.

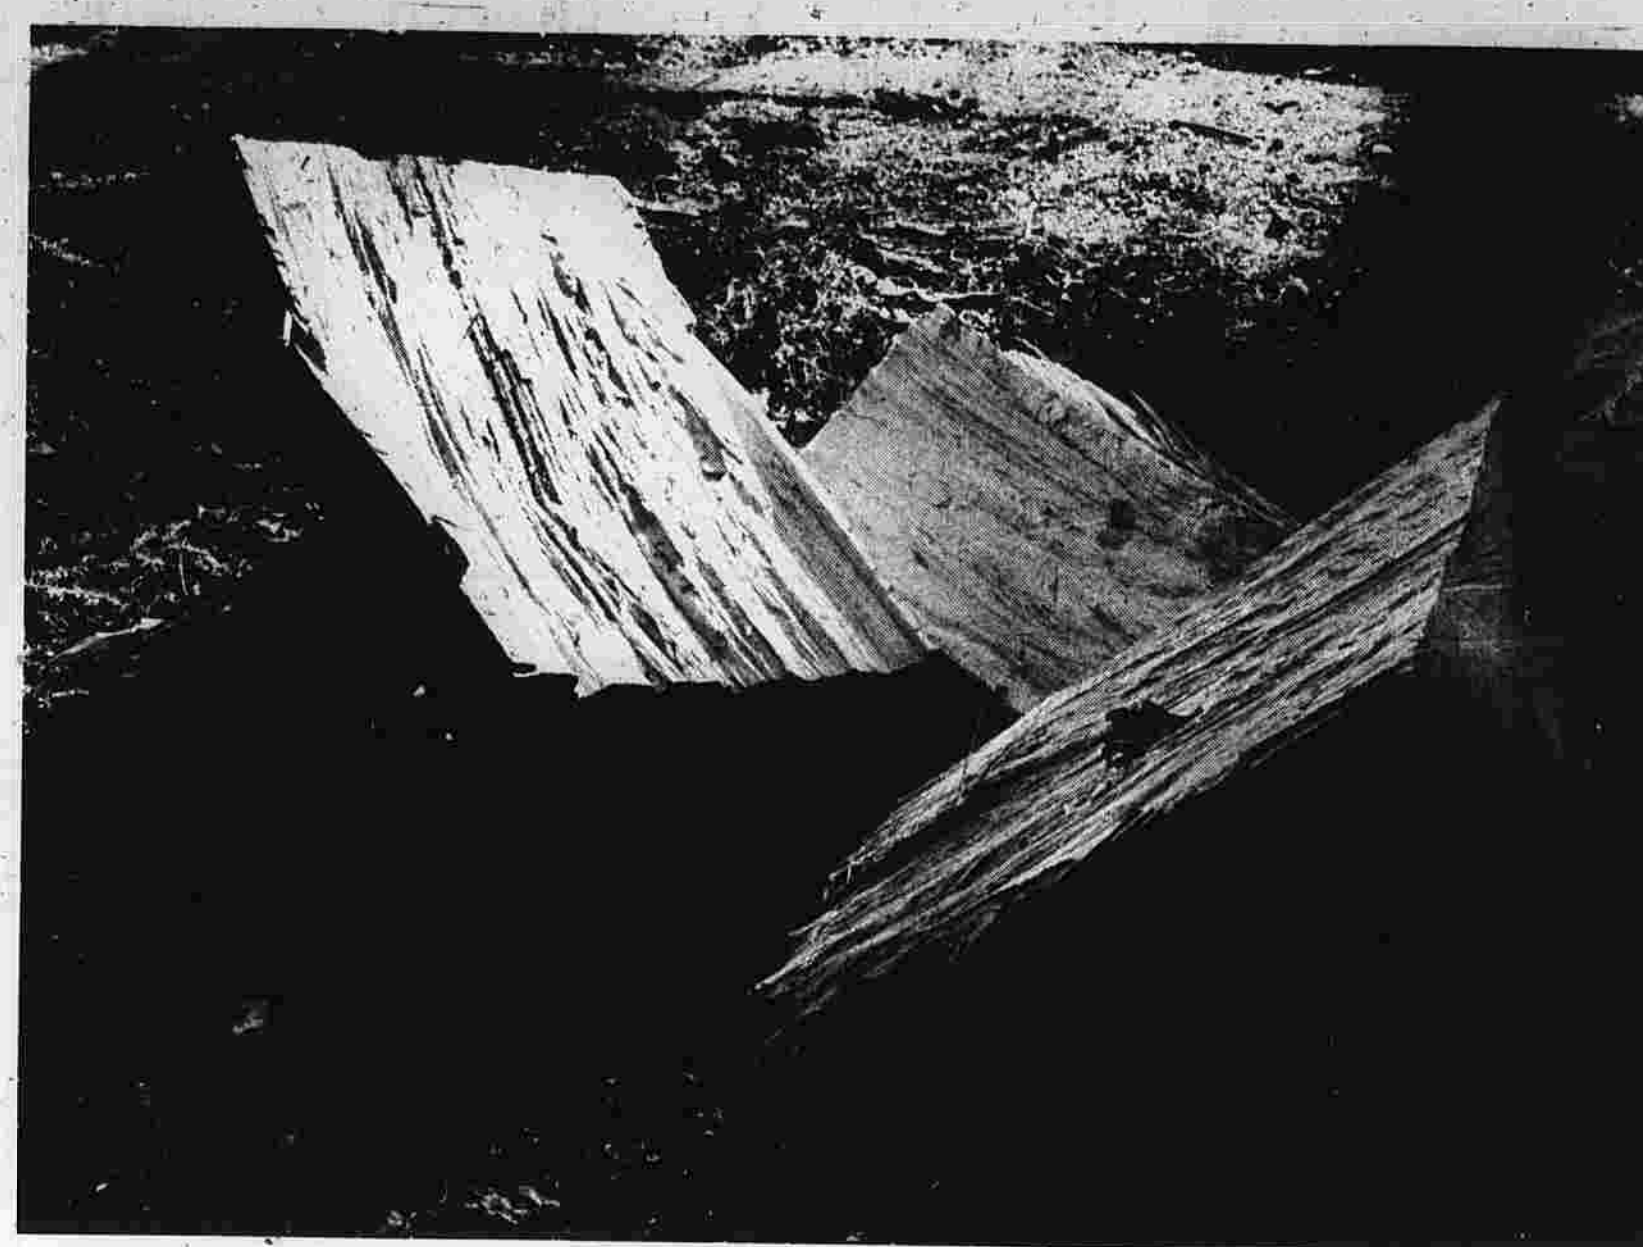

No one, of course, will be able to repay the people who saw prices skyrocket and merchandise in short supply because of the truckers deeds.

Long ago the injurious nature of a railroad strike to the welfare of the nation was realized. And legal impediments were set up to make a railroad strike almost impossible. And these were real strikes against an employer, not demonstrations aimed directly at the people to gain an end.

We think this incident has made it imperative that the trucking industry be made subject to a set of rules similar to those which govern railroad labor disputes.

Their rash action deserves strong measures. Truckers are in a particularly vulnerable position. Unlike railroads they do not run on their own roads, but upon public highways built and maintained by the same people who have been hurt by their insubordination.

Without Interstate Commerce Commission licensing a trucker is out of business since he cannot use the nation's highways. The time is here that truck licenses should be so regulated that this action against the public cannot be repeated.

The Wisdom of Washington

By Lee Roderick (Special To The Herald)

WASHINGTON—After nearly a half century of service to the country, George Washington, at 84, summoned his creative resources for a "Farewell Address" to the nation. The famous political testament, never delivered publicly, was printed in the Philadelphia Daily American on Sept. 19, 1796.

"In offering to you, my countrymen, this last and affectionate farewell, I dare not hope they will make the strong and lasting impression I could wish," Washington wrote modestly.

Some of his passages do indeed appear strangely anachronistic in 1974—such as Washington's warning to "steer clear of permanent alliances" with foreign powers. However, what he said also contains nuggets of wisdom that are relevant to America and its political climate today.

"For all his foresight, Washington failed to predict the rise of the two-party political system and, in fact, remained distrustful of parties throughout his life. The common and continual mischiefs of the spirit of party are sufficient to make it the interest and duty of a wise people to discourage and restrain it," he wrote.

Washington's disdain of political parties did little to prevent their subsequent formation. It is interesting to note, however, that, according to a recent Louis Harris poll, membership in both the Republican and Democratic parties declined steadily during the past five years, by 7 percent and 4 percent respectively, while voters who classified themselves as independents increased by 11 percent. In recent years at least, a fair number of Americans apparently have come to agree with Washington's view of political parties.

Washington's closing declaration contains refreshing candor. "Though in reviewing the incidents of my administration, I am unconscious of intentional error, I am nevertheless too sensible of my defects to think myself exempt from censure."

We Don't Need Cuba

WASHINGTON—Privately, a White House staffer despises that President Nixon's attitude toward talk of pursuing detente with Fidel Castro's Cuba is best described in Nixon's remark to a meeting of the National Security Council: "I don't see anything in it for us."

Admittedly, revelations by officials who demand anonymity are suspect. But the Nixon-Kissinger team does not see detente in terms of doing either Moscow or Peking any favors.

Both Red China and the Soviet Union have the power to launch World War III, and since we have to live with that knowledge we seek accommodations with them. On the other hand, whether or not we recognize Cuba makes no difference to world peace.

Moreover, there is no evidence that Castro has changed. Although Eaton said he returned from Havana with a "positive feeling" that Cuba wants to regularize its relations with this country, Foreign Minister Raul Roa saying it was all right with him if Nixon wanted to move toward "relaxation of tensions." Cyrus Eaton, the multimillionaire industrialist, also visited Cuba and came back with news that Castro wants accommodation with the U.S.

A lot of people around here are demanding that the U.S. "recognize realities" by ending its economic boycott of Cuba, and then go on to talk about diplomatic recognition of the Cubans' reigning claim. After all, they say, Nixon made overtures to the Soviet Union and Communist China; why split hairs over doing the same business with Havana?

Why? Well, because—a big because. Cuba is not Russia or Red China. It's an international willingness to extend long-term credits. In 15 years, such Soviet support of the Cuban economy has cost at least $5-billion. No

Ha! Not unless we made them a virtual gift. Cuba doesn't really buy stuff from the Russians. Such sales depend on the Soviet Union's willingness to extend long-term credits. In 15 years, such Soviet support of the Cuban economy has cost at least $5-billion. No

Try these other energy-saving tips, too: Plan your shopping trip during hours when traffic is lightest. If you have other errands in the vicinity of Stop & Shop, do them when you do food shopping. Plan more family shopping-trips with everyone piling into the car to do their errands. It saves extra fuel... and it can be more fun!

More families spending more time at home... doing more things together—that can save a lot of energy! And what a heart-warming thought!

New Learning Method Wins Wide Applause

MONICA SHEA
Correspondent
742-9495

Phase II of the Sequential Learning Program has been in operation since the opening of school in September and response from the teachers and parents as well as the children indicate that this phase, as well as Phase I is an overwhelming success.

Phase II includes all of the first grade students in both grammar schools.

Robertson Grammar School has 77 children in the program with four teachers and five full-time teachers aides.

Robertson School has the walls between the four grades removed to provide one large traffic flow area.

The children have two structured blocks in the morning. One of these is reading and the other is math.

The afternoon is devoted to science, social studies and language arts.

Each pupil has one formal period of art, music, library and gym each week.

There are no play centers in this phase as there are in Phase I but there are many activity centers where the children go to work in various activities.

When the children come to school in the morning they report to one area in the open room which is called their homeroom.

This way it is possible for the children to develop a strong relationship with one particular teacher while enjoying the possibility of working with many people.

With this type of team teaching the children have the chance to work with adults of different talents and consequently are better able to develop to their full capacities.

Each day a pupil is given a "color tag" which shows what interest center that pupil may work in that day.

An effort is made to see that a child gets to work in each of these centers at least once a week.

The teachers at Robertson School have made an effort to bring into the school residents from the community with special skills to demonstrate these skills to the children.

Then the teachers make an effort to use these skills in the classroom instruction.

MACC News

The Manchester Area Conference of Churches was conceived as a facilitator in the cooperative efforts of the Christian churches "for service to the people of God." Means of effecting this cooperation are many and varied and have been the subject of much planning and a few projects during the past year. The board of directors of the conference are all too conscious of the dimensions of the task.

However, most recent in this area of development was a meeting of some members of the Town Board of Directors with members of the MACC board. At 8 a.m. last Wednesday, members from each board gathered for breakfast and discussion at the Howard Johnson Restaurant on Tolland Pike.

Andrews' Remarks Shake Up Aides To President

By HELEN THOMAS WASHINGTON (UPI)—John K. Andrews, a former speechwriter for President Nixon, has spoken out strongly or the need to restore faith in the President's "integrity" by baring the whole Watergate story.

Andrews, who left his job late last year, is joining the National Christian Youth Organization in Denver. His parting shots in interviews and articles have shaken some White House aides, while others at a high level dismiss his criticism with a few words of profanity.

Andrews says there is a severe moral problem in the White House, and said in an interview, "I hope many others will come forward and tell the fragments of the story so that the people and the Congress can know the whole truth and take appropriate action."

Flunked Pilot Lands Chopper At White House

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A soldier who flunked out of flying school stole a helicopter and flew it straight at the White House, crash-landing in a hall of Secret Service bunkers early Sunday morning.

The soldier, identified as Pfc. Robert K. Preston, 20, of Panama City, Fla., got a compliment from Dan L. Sewell, combat-decorated Maryland state policeman who followed his two-hour aerial joyride and watched helplessly as the Huey helicopter roared in just above the 12-foot-high steel fence and came to rest 100 yards from the White House.

He headed for Washington at 12:30 a.m. EDT Sunday at speeds ranging between 80 and 120 miles an hour, buzzing traffic along the highways and at one point clipping the radio aerial of a police car.

Two Maryland state troopers in helicopters followed as the chopper, at heights ranging from hundreds of feet of car-top levels, zigzagged along the Baltimore-Washington Parkway. He ditched one of the helicopters in what Sewell called "an old dog-fight tactic" and buzzed into Washington without running lights and below radar scanner levels.

The chopper wound up at the Ellipse park across the street from the White House. "He then turned on all his lights and hovered five minutes at the Washington Monument grounds seven feet from the ground," said state trooper William Clark.

Sewell said the chopper then started moving toward the White House. "From my in-flight observation, the pilot appeared to land on his own."

As he approached the first third of the White House lawn the floodlights came on and figures appeared surrounding the yard itself. The aircraft's forward flight was halted.

The chopper was brought up short but both Sewell and Secret Service spokesman Jack Warner said the craft "appeared to land on its own."

Sewell landed between the plane and the White House "as an extra precaution" and saw bullet holes the size of half-dollars that were punched by the shotgun pellets.

Coventry GOP Praises Nixon

MONICA SHEA
The Republican Town Committee has passed a resolution commending President Richard Nixon for his handling of the Mid-East crisis.

The resolution went on to state that due to the fact that Coventry is in the midst of a serious energy crisis affecting every man, woman and child, and the country has many other pressing needs which should be receiving the undivided attention of our elected officials; and that these elected officials in Washington are deliberating on other matters less vital to the country's well being.

The town committee urged their congressional officials either to bring impeachment proceedings to a vote in 90 days or turn their attention to more important legislative matters.

Woman's View

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—Regina Hayes wields the gavel with the best of auctioneers.

But she refrains from the staccato delivery usually associated with auctions.

"I work a lower key," said the widowed grandmother who's one of the few women auctioneers in the country and listed as the sole woman among 800 of them licensed in New York City.

"I don't like to work up too much excitement in the crowd. I expect the merchandise to speak for itself."

She's also an appraiser specializing in estates usually working through lawyers who need appraisals for "tax purposes and closing the books on a family's financial and personal effects in case of a death."

We met up with the energetic Mrs. Hayes at the 30th annual National Antiques Show at Madison Square Garden. It runs through February 24.

Who'll offer $20,000 for this item? asks auctioneer Mark Blaise as he holds a package for high bidding at a sixth-grade auction at Keeney St. School. Items for auction are piled on a table at the left. The students use play money in thousand-dollar denominations for bidding. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Remember that prices on collectibles, like prices on almost everything else, are inflated. "I know people who use to make the country auctions," she said. "What they bought for a song now is worth that many times over."

Or, if you haven't the time for auctions, find an expert you can trust and tell him. "This is what I want. Now keep an eye out."

Going Once, Going Twice

It could have been an auction at the Bernal Galleries in New York. Bidding was up in the thousands of dollars.

But the event was a long-anticipated affair held Friday in the cafeteria at Keeney Street School where sixth grade students used school-manufactured money in thousand dollar denominations to bid on gift-wrapped items.

The auction was planned by the sixth grade teachers at Keeney School as an antidote for the mid-winter doldrums. The money was "earned" by the students for good behavior, completing homework assignments, and courtesy. The boys earned money by wearing their shirts tucked in and, on occasion, ties. Occasionally a bonus was awarded to a student wearing a certain color, or a different hair style.

The average amount earned was about $25,000. One student earned as much as $45,000.

The gifts were bought with the income from a grinder sale held earlier in the year and were selected from lists the students had made. Included were hockey pucks, dried flowers in a braided smifter, and records.

The big advantage to the students was that it was all tax free!

Culinary arts is painting pictures with food, and food preparations. Foods are prepared in a manner that few people have the opportunity to see anywhere but at this type of presentation.

The chefs in this exhibit compete for prizes and awards that the Allied Industries make available for the winners. These works of art are evaluated by a team of judges, and the prize ribbons are properly placed so that the public can see how the professionals award the prizes.

The exhibit will be open to the public from 2 to 10 p.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 26 and from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Wednesday, Feb. 27. Anthony Senio, director of the school lunch program of East Haven is chairman of the trade show which consists of more than 40 food service suppliers.

Budget Trimming Starts

NANCY DRINKUTH
Correspondent
228-3976

Board of Education members received figures for an estimated budget of $682,969 for the 1974-75 school year Thursday. Some of the figures in this second draft of the budget are only estimates at this time.

Last year the board budgeted $746,000.

Board members said that there must be some drastic cuts made now because the town cannot face so large an increase. Superintendent David Cattinich and Assistant Superintendent Richard Zanni will make initial cuts this week and the board will meet again Thursday to work further on the budget revision.

Resignation

The board accepted with regret, the resignation of Evelyn Rowley, effective July 1. Mrs. Rowley is completing her 26th year of teaching in Hebron.

In a letter to Chairman Bill Heneghan, Mrs. Rowley said: "Teaching the children of Hebron for so many years has been gratifying and rewarding in many ways. I have seen great changes take place in the educational system in Hebron, from the small one-room schools to the present modern buildings with their subsequent additions."

"Over the years I have felt the administration and the school boards have worked within the framework of the town's financial resources to provide the best possible education for the children of Hebron."

ADM

The Hebron Board of Education went on record as supporting the efforts of CAGE (Connecticut Association of Boards of Education) and other groups seeking in increase in the ADM. This state grant is presently $215 per student and an increase to $230 is being sought.

Policy

The members approved updated board policy in the No. 2000 section. These policies were revised, as were those in Andover and Marlborough, so that the three towns would have similar procedures for dealing with matters concerning superintendents and principals.

At the next regular meeting the board members will consider policy changes in the No. 100 section.

Buses

Clark Transportation Co. bus contractor for Hebron, notified the board that 13 gallons of gas per day is being saved as a result of changes in the bus schedule. In the average 18-day month, over 230 gallons of gasoline will be saved.

Some of the consolidated bus stops have been very unpopular with parents.

Maintenance

Principal Paul White reported that $261 was spent on patching the roof at the Hebron Elementary School. This work is considered as a temporary measure and $12,135 has been requested in the 1974-75 budget for a permanent solution to this problem.

Principal Ralph Succoco reported that the broken water pipe at the Gilead Hill School in January resulted in over $2,000 worth of damage. The school's insurance company are now looking over the cost figures.

Halliten Board

The following meetings and activities are planned for this week:

Tuesday: Democratic Town Committee, 8 p.m., Town Office Building.

Thursday: Board of Selectmen meeting 5 p.m., Town Office Building; Board of Education, 7:30 p.m., Gilead Hill School; Republican Town Committee, 8 p.m., Town Office Building.

Sphinxes Guarded Grave Cairo — In the fifth century B.C., aristocratic Egyptian families adopted the sphinx as part of their grave monuments. Placed on a slender column of stone, a crouching sphinx with wings unfurled kept watch over the family dead.

One legend said sphinxes carried off the dead to the nether world, after which they took over the duty of guarding the grave.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) - What goals remain for a 36-year-old stock racing millionaire who has five Daytona 500 race victories and four Grand National championships under his belt? "How about six Daytona 500s?" answers Richard Lee Petty, the boyish-looking pride of Randleman, N.C.

House GOP Members Organize

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In an effort to make sure President Nixon's last three years in office do not result in the White House "littering" leftovers, House Republicans have joined forces as an organization known as the Steering Committee. The group will meet Tuesday to formally elect officers and map plans for the rest of this session of Congress. But the group has already been operating for a year with nine paid research staffers from a cramped third-floor office near the Capitol.

"We are moderate and conservative Republicans interested in helping the administration," said Rep. Edward J. Derwinski, R-Ill., the group's acting chairman. "And in keeping it from tilting leftward," he added.

"We are not a rival or faction within the House Republican Conference," he said. "We're not a bunch of mavericks. We're team players."

"Eventually," he added, "we hope to become a legitimate Republican answer to the Democratic Study Group" (DSG), a lobbying-research group run by liberal House Democrats.

The committee's staff, paid by members' clerk-hire allowances, provides a number of services for the Congressmen, including a weekly legislative digest, white papers on pending bills, and "Dear Colleague" letters urging support for or amendments.

Rep. Philip Crane, R-Ill., a group founder, said members will seek to influence the outcome of several controversial administration proposals this session, including White House plans for national health insurance, mass transit aid, and welfare reform, as well as the pending energy and legal services measures.

Today's Thought

George Washington
A Man of Prayer

The father of our country, George Washington, was a man of prayer. It is common knowledge how he went to the thick mat times to pray during the winter his army was at Valley Forge. Those were extremely difficult and trying times for the general and all of his countrymen.

Humility and communion with Almighty God marked Washington's leadership. It was George Washington who stated, "It is impossible rightly to govern the world without God and the Bible."

Chairman of the Billy Graham warned that America is facing the most dangerous crisis of its history — "disintegration from within."

That nation which loses its sense of values and sets its focus on gold, silver, stocks, bonds, houses, lands, property and pleasure needs prayer. That nation in which laws are flagrantly broken, crime is rampant, broken, crime is rampant, at justice is scorned, pornography, drug and immorality are tolerated needs prayer.

There is plenty of evidence in the Bible that God responds to the earnest prayers of His people with regard to national interests. As the Sovereign God heard the prayers of Abraham, Daniel, and Nehemiah of the Old Testament. He is no less ready to hear our prayers for America.

Nation To Tap Gas Stockpiles

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The government is prepared to tap the nation's gasoline stockpiles to ease the auto fuel shortages that are very close now, a razor thin edge at this time. It could go either way. Other senators predicted, during floor debate Monday, that Americans would be rationing and acting like animals soon if Congress doesn't act quickly on a solution to the current gasoline shortage. According to the Federal Energy Office's Petroleum Energy chief William E. Simon is expected to order oil firms to draw down on their gasoline inventories rather than, as some have urged, shift gasoline from states with an excess to states with shortages. Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., meanwhile, predicted today's vote on the much-

State Buying Non-Embargoed Foreign Gasoline

HARTFORD (UPI) - Connecticut will be able to purchase eight million gallons of foreign petroleum on a one-time basis under an emergency agreement. Connecticut Energy Administrator Eckardt C. Beck said Monday the Connecticut Energy Emergency Agency worked with the independent Connecticut Petroleum Association to arrange for importation of the petroleum. It would be available for distribution in March, Beck said. "Connecticut will become the first state to arrange such a spot-market purchase for independent dealers," Beck said. "This gasoline is not being purchased on either the grey or black markets," Beck said, "it was processed by a European refinery and is a non-embargoed product." It will be a one-time shipment, but the CEAA is working on other deals for future cargoes. Beck said the gas will be sold by independent stations in the hardest pressed areas in the state. The energy chief added that a price per gallon has not yet been established for the spot-market gas. "Governor Thomas Meskill has petitioned the federal energy office for a redistribution of the prices of gasoline sold by independents," he said. "If the petition is successful, the price at the pump of this gasoline will be competitive with prices at the pumps of major oil company service stations."

'Good News' Hinted On Mideast Peace And Oil Embargo

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Two high-ranking Arab diplomats called on President Nixon today to bring him a "good news" message from last week's Big Four Arab summit meeting. The President met in the Oval Office with Egyptian Foreign Minister Omar Sakab, sitting in on the session were Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and Maj. Gen. Brent Scowcroft, duty assistant for international security affairs at the White House. Some observers said that they expected the President to be told there might be a partial, gradual lifting of the Middle East oil embargo against Israel and Syrian troops since Kissinger helped arrange Israeli-Egyptian engagement. Syria has made clear it wants to keep Israel off balance by the military incidents. There have been numerous clashes along the Golan Heights area between Israeli and Syrian troops since Kissinger helped arrange Israeli-Egyptian engagement. Washington's Birthday Sales Reports Mixed

Washington's Birthday Sale yesterday was generally considered by most businessmen to be just another good average business day. Most stores did not have the great "one-shot" business on Monday because the special sale was carried over from last year. "Friday and Saturday were our busiest," said David Anderson, manager of World's He did not have a particularly good day for business, but Monday was only average. He said he thought much business was affected by the five-cent special buy here to Hartford which was attractive to many. He said people were lined up at some of the bus stops waiting to go to Hartford shopping. He said he was disappointed that the Washington's Birthday Sale tabloid didn't come out at day shop manager, Mrs. Jean Gaboury, said sales there were "really high." MCC Council Urges Funds For Community College System

By FLOYD LARSON The future of the state's community college system was very much on the minds of the executive board of the Manchester Community College Regional Council at a meeting Monday night. The trustees had requested $2.4 million for operation of the 12 colleges but Gov. Thomas Meskill's budget presented to the legislature calls for $20.5 million. In reviewing the state's overall community college budget request, James Nakos, chairman of East Hartford, noted the governor had also recommended only $5 million in capital funding for the system as compared to $19.6 million requested. The operations budget, Nakos reported, compares with $17.7 million in the current fiscal year for 1973-74; but "these figures are not all that they seem" since the governor's increase of $2.5 million is largely com-
