'Acid Mist' Leak Forces Thousands from Homes

CHICAGO (UPI)—A leak in a huge South Side chemical plant sent a cloud of potentially dangerous "acid mist" over a five-mile long area Friday, forcing authorities to order at least 16,000 persons removed from their homes. The blue cloud, 12,000 feet high, sprang from a leak in a 1.2 million gallon tank at the Bulk Terminal Co. It hung over the area for hours, lifting in some sections and falling in others. Early today, however, authorities told residents they were "free to return to their homes," but they were cautioned the police department could not guarantee their safety. Most went home. At least 29 persons were treated at two local hospitals, and scores of others were treated at evacuation headquarters, which were first set up at Washington Carver High School but later moved to Fenger High School when the fumes seeped into Carver and people began to collapse.

Meskill Signs Budget

HARTFORD (UPI)—Gov. Thomas J. Meskill, stating he could "live with it" Friday approved a $1.38 billion state budget and enacted an election year reduction of the state sales tax. Meskill's action lowered the sales tax from 6.5 per cent to 6 per cent and he also approved a measure reducing the capital gains tax from the sale of real estate by persons over 65. The governor said the sales tax cut was the second in two years. "I can live with this budget until the end of my term," Meskill said. "And the governor's budget will be expected to be much better than I was four years ago when we were in such a desperate situation." The Republican governor took office in January 1971, he was faced with a $244 million deficit from the Democratic administration of Gov. John D. Dempsey. On the question of campaign reform, the governor praised a package of bills before the legislature but said he expected some changes will be made in a proposed Election Commission. Earlier in the day, Secretary of the State Gloria Schaffer said that the House had emancipated the proposed commission, removing its law enforcement powers. The governor said he did not seek elective office this year and ruled out running for the GOP nomination to oppose Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn. "More than one GOP candidate for governor could win the election this fall but he declined to name them."

New Shock Waves Ripple Economy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—William E. Simon moved closer to Senate confirmation Friday as secretary of the Treasury, amid another series of economic shock waves. Simon's nomination was given swift, unanimous approval by the Senate Finance Committee and sent to the full Senate for passage expected early next week. "The prime interest rate for 90-day Treasury bills soared to a record 11 per cent." "The Commerce Department reported the balance of trade was in deficit for the first time in nine months because of record high prices for diminishing supplies." "The Federal Home Loan Bank Board said a rapid outflow of savings would make mortgage money scarce in April."

He said students involved in the demonstrations will receive letters shortly advising them of the opportunity for "preliminary discussions of these matters relating to the situation on an individual basis."

Support United Farm Workers

As a prelude to area church participation in Farm Workers Sunday when many Catholic and Protestant churches will urge parishioners to boycott the purchase of lettuce and grapes from California growers who are locked in a dispute with the United Farm Workers, AFL-CIO, an informational picket line was set up Friday in Vernon. From left assistant pastor of St. Bernard's Church in Rockville; and The Rev. William Schneider, St. Margaret Mary's Church in South Windsor. (Herald photo by Dunn)

Churchmen Urge Boycott Support

HARTFORD (UPI)—Five Roman Catholic bishops and the Connecticut Council of Churches have called upon church members to support the United Farm Workers and their grape and lettuce boycott. The Catholic bishops and the Council, a Protestant organization, cited "the contribution of farm workers to our general welfare and their need for justice." In a statement for Sunday parish bulletins, the Catholic bishops said the National Conference of Bishops supports farm workers' right to free, secret-ballot elections to decide which union, if any, should represent them. The bishops said the boycott should be supported until the elections are held. The governing board of the National Council of Churches decided to observe "Farm Worker Sunday" to coincide approximately with the California grape harvest, a spokesman said. Some growers have recognized the Teamsters Union rather than the UFW, which is an AFL-CIO affiliate. The UFW has accused the Teamsters of making "sweetheart" contracts with growers against the interests of farm workers. George Sheridan, a Hartford representative for the union, said St. Joseph's Cathedral and Christ Church Cathedral in Hartford and other churches plan to distribute leaflets supporting the boycott. The UFW is also boycotting Gallo wine.

Kissinger Sees New Mission As Being More Complex

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger told a news conference Friday negotiations on a troop disengagement between Syria and Israel would be more complex than those which earlier led to a pullback of Israeli and Egyptian forces. Kissinger said the negotiations with the Soviets were underlining his peace efforts by continuing military aid to Syria. He said so far the Kremlin has played a constructive role in the Middle East. "The Soviet Union has expressed, in view of its history of close association with several Arab countries, an interest in participation in various steps of the peace negotiating process," he said. Kissinger sharply criticized Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., for accusing the administration of seeking a deal with the Syrians by arranging a SALT agreement in time for President Nixon to sign a nuclear arms control treaty with Moscow summit in June. "We are concerned with the evolution of the arms race, with peace in the world and with security. Our judgment may not be correct but that is what the debate should be and whether it is a 'quick fix' against a long-term agreement," Kissinger said.

Watergate Statement Anticipated Tuesday

CAMP DAVID, Md. (UPI)—The "end of Watergate" night will exonerate Nixon, Burch said. President Nixon is preparing a statement for the public early next week which will end the Watergate in its "public eye," Burch told the Republican National Committee Friday. Nixon must reply to the subpoena for 42 taped conversations (Aides said five conversations were not properly taped and that one never took place). The transcripts have been edited, but aides say the editing was done to remove profanity and off-color characterizations by Nixon. Nixon aides have strongly indicated that the President would not yield the actual recordings. Bolstered by the advice of his aides, Nixon was said to be preparing a tough line attitude — that he has already compromised enough of his presidential prerogatives in the Watergate inquiry. Committee Chairman Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J., has said the impeachment panel will accept nothing but the tapes themselves. If they are not produced, he indicated the committee might draw an "adverse inference" that the evidence withheld might contain indications of guilt, on the assumption Nixon would have provided the tapes if they could prove his innocence. Hundreds Attend Open House

Hundreds of Manchester area residents attended an open house at Allied Printing at 579 W. Middle Turnpike, to mark the opening of its expanded printing facility Friday. Temple's Nursery School Teaches Jewish Tradition

By ALICE EVANS

Take about 15 three- and four-year olds, and the usual toys and games, mix well with a generous portion of make-believe, and season with a new Hebrew vocabulary, crafts, parties and science projects, and you have the Temple Beth Shalom Nursery School.

The school, which emphasizes religious education, opened last fall. A few months earlier, Mrs. Meyer Chekin and Mrs. Arnold Dashefsky were chatting about a nursery school for their youngsters and wished they could find one which would teach the traditions of the Jewish faith.

The two women more than talked; they discovered other parents interested in such a nursery school, received permission to use the Temple Beth Shalom facilities, and found a teacher, Mrs. Judy Press, wife of Cantor Marshall Press of Temple B'nai Israel in Rockville.

"Each week the children have a mini-Sabbath celebration," Mrs. Press said. "The room is cleaned up neatly, the dolls are dressed in the best, and the children often wear their special holiday clothes. A parent joins us at each of these celebrations to represent the traditional 'Sabbath guest' and is treated to our warmest hospitality with songs, stories and ceremonies," she said.

She explained that the candles are blessed by a student "mother" and represent the peace, warmth and beauty of the occasion. "Father" signifies the wine - grape juice in this case, symbolizing our thanks to God for creating the fruit of the vines.

As a special integrated Sabbath-school activity, the children learned bread is made and participated in the kneading and braiding of the Challah, the traditional Sabbath loaf. The braiding of the Challah symbolizes the twisting route the Jews took in their 40 years of wandering when they left Egypt seeking the Promised Land, Mrs. Press said.

The children's Hebrew vocabulary is increasing rapidly and their favorite Hebrew word is Totah (thank you), according to Mrs. Press. At

After blessing the Sabbath Eve wine and candles, Mrs. Judy Press helps "Father" Danny Schwartz hold the goblet as "Mother" Michelle Chekin watches.

News for Senior Citizens

By Wally Fortin

Well, Wednesday's Herald hardly hits the street when it's time to get out the pen and the next new road that leads right to the club house.

Wednesday came rolling in with 40 players for pinocchle Monday through Friday, 9:30 to 4:30 registering for the Connecticut River boat race.

Monday, 10:00 to noon, kitchen social bingo with one can of canned fruit needed. Noon to 12:30 lunch is served. 1:00 to 4:00 pinocchle games.

The afternoon ended with card playing and horse racing games.

We sort of closed our meeting a little early because we were having our annual National night. You will have to wait until Wednesday's column to hear how it turned out.

Time is sure rolling along, and already April is going by the boards, and with it I hope the warm weather will come and stay with us, because with it comes lots of day trips.

The menu for the week are as follows: Monday, homemade chicken noodle soup, steamed frankfurter in a roll, chocolate pudding w/whipped topping, and a beverage. Wednesday, New England corn chowder, sliced tender ham sandwich, chilled fruit, and a beverage. Thursday, Baked tender chicken leg with sauce, buttered beans, creamy

We're getting quite a bit of play regarding the fire we sent out. So far, everyone is talking about it, and so I guess we'll have no trouble in getting our quota of 250. The thing, though, registration isn't until Monday, May 6; however, we have received a number of applications in the mail. We had our usual large turnout for our beginners ceramic class.

In the afternoon it was our Senior Bowling League's knocking down the hardwood with the following scores: In the ladies class A group, Bertha Duhring took the high triple with 451, and for high single of 168 she tied with Blanche Millet. In the Class B group, the high triple of 312, and the high single of 144 were won by Eva Lutz.

In the men's class A group, Andy Lamoureux took both hours of high triple with 506, and the high single of 211. In the class B group, James Gleason, took the high triple with 414, and Edward Strauss, the high single with a 168.

A word to our golf league players. This Monday the games will be played at the Tallwood Country Club, where this past week they have moved into their new clubhouse. So, in

Party Responsibility

Campaign reforms appear to be hitting various and sundry snags, not because there is disagreement as to the need for attempting to eliminate campaign abuses but the extent to which reforms should be carried.

In Connecticut, organized labor is reportedly incensed by a bill which would virtually eliminate the methods of campaign assistance used by labor groups in the past.

The commission, which would oversee campaign contributions and expenditures, may be a paper tiger if amendments to curtail its powers to investigate and prosecute are enacted.

It seems that almost every proposal has some objector in some form.

Perhaps the time is ripe for us to suggest again that it isn't the money nor the source of money that is the real evil but the secrecy around it.

We still believe it is worth a try to make the political parties solely responsible for fund raising and for fund-raising efforts conducted on behalf of every party candidate.

We believe that if each party is held accountable for the ways and means it raises money it will impose its own guidelines which will do more to clean up the mess than state or federal laws.

Candidates come and go but the parties are continuing institutions. Each scrutinizes the activities of the other closely for any hanky-panky. With each party being solely accountable for all the campaign actions conducted under its banner, it cannot divorce itself from such scandals as the Watergate affair or the almost traditional Chicago vote-manipulations.

We believe there should be laws postponing the industry from scratch, in order to continue our reliance on coal, will be enormous.

Seiberling's opponents, who include major electric utility, oil and railroad companies controlling western coal reserves, warn that his amendment would cripple efforts to make the nation self-sufficient in energy. The Nixon administration agrees with them.

Former Federal Energy Office chief William E. Simon, now Treasury Secretary, has expressed "great alarm" at the amendment. It would, he charges, result in a 50 per cent increase in price of clean-burning, low-sulfur western coal that is desperately needed to replace the high-sulfur eastern coal, which would have severe impact in the economy and would undermine efforts to offset oil shortages by greater use of coal.

"This is unthinkable," says Simon, "given our present energy crisis."
Oddly, the near 100 per cent increase in the price of petroleum that Americans have experienced in recent months has not only been unthinkable to Simon but in his view has been eminently beneficial.

fixing penalties for illegal campaign practices. But laws alone, as is evidenced by the widespread lack of enforcement of existing laws, cannot be effective until responsibility for obeying them is pinpointed.

We operate under a political party system and therefore it is logical that the party should bear this responsibility of complying with laws governing elections.

Such action may be more necessary as we move closer to public financing of campaigns. If we do subsidize politics, it only follows there has to be someone or some institution fully accountable for the manner in which tax dollars are expended.

If private contributions to parties have been misappropriated by individuals skirting the law there is no assurance that other individuals thinking the same way cannot misappropriate public campaign funds also.

We do not know what form the present campaign reform measures before the assembly will take. We can only hope that if and when they become law, there will be provision for specific party responsibility from top to bottom for compliance.

It will be much easier for the state to keep an eye on a few political parties who are to be held accountable than it would be to oversee the operations of hundreds of special committees that flourish in every election.

What we need more than limits on spending and limits on contributions is a clear definition of who is going to be ultimately responsible for campaign conduct.

Until this is done, we fear there will continue to be temptations to evade the spirit and intent, as well as the letter of the law.

Later Than You Think

Enjoy yourself, it's later than you think.

Remember this song? It may be fitting today as most of us have forgotten how things were last winter when the lines were long at the gasoline stations and there was debate about whether to shutdown schools, restrict store hours, etc., to save energy.

Our highways are becoming more clogged each day and many aren't heading the 55 miles per hour limit. It would appear the crisis is over the way most of us are acting.

But is it?
Reports indicate that despite the lifting of the embargo we are not meeting our needs and even more disturbing is the fact that if imports do reach our needs, we still do not have refinery capacity to handle it.

The crisis is not over. Come summer and the air conditioners start working; the vacation you almost postponed becomes a reality; and joyriding becomes more prevalent, you may find there just isn't enough energy to go around again.

Experts feel that unless we, individually and collectively, conserve our energy supplies we could well have electrical brownouts and spot shortages of gasoline before the summer is out. And we all know that if there is a spot shortage of gasoline, New England and Connecticut will be at the head of the list.

The American people proved last winter that substantial quantities of energy could be conserved without undue hardship. Thus the tragedy of a summer shortage, should it come, would possibly be one of our own doing, not some money-grubbing oil company in league with some Arab chieftain.

So as you drive above 60, alone, and for no real purpose, whistle a tune. We suggest it be "Enjoy yourself, it's later than you think."

Congressional Resolution Proclaiming April 30, 1974 A National Day of Humiliation, Fasting and Prayer

Whereas, it is the duty of nations, as well as of men to owe their dependence upon the overruling power of God, to confess their sins and transgressions, in humble sorrow, yet with assured hope that genuine repentance will lead to mercy and pardon, and to recognize the sublime truth, announced in the Holy Scriptures and proven by all history, that those nations are blessed whose God is Lord; and

Whereas, we know that we have been the recipients of the choicest bounties of Heaven; we have been preserved these many years in peace and prosperity; we have grown in numbers, wealth and power as no other nation has ever grown; but we have forgotten God; and

Whereas, we have forgotten the gracious hand which preserved us in peace, and multiplied and enriched us; and we have vainly imagined, in the deceitfulness of our hearts, that all these blessings were produced by some superior wisdom and virtue of our own; and

Whereas, intoxicated with unbroken success, we have become too self-sufficient to feel the necessity of redeeming and preserving grace, too proud to pray to the God that made us; and

Whereas, we have made such an idol out of our pursuit of "national security" that we have forgotten that only God can be the ultimate guarantor of our true livelihood and safety; and

Whereas, we have failed to respond, personally and collectively, with sacrifice and uncompromising commitment to the utmost righteousness for this society; and

Whereas, it therefore behooves us to humble ourselves before Almighty God, to confess our national sins, and to pray for clemency and forgiveness; Now, therefore be it

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress Assembled, that the Congress hereby proclaims that April 30, 1974 be a National Day of Humiliation, Fasting and Prayer; and calls upon the people of our nation to humble ourselves as we see fit, before our Creator to acknowledge our final dependence upon Him and to repent of our national sins.

Remember to Pray April 30, 1974

Coast To Coast Coal Mines No Doon

One of the most intense legislative battles currently being waged in Congress is centered on an amendment to an omnibus land reclamation bill sponsored by Democratic Rep. John F. Seiberling of Ohio.

The basic intent of the amendment, which is now before the House Interior Committee, is to equalize the costs of deep coal mining and strip mining. This would be achieved by levying a fee of $2.50 on each ton of coal mined by either method. The fund would be set aside for reclamation.

Companies could earn a credit of up to 90 per cent against the fee for costs incurred by their own reclamation efforts but by the nature of their operations, strip-miners would be harder hit than deep-miners.

Without some equalization, however, Seiberling contends, there will be a massive shift of the industry from the east, where most deep mines are located, to the West, where cheaply recoverable coal lies close to the surface.

Not only would this further disrupt the coal industry, but it would lead to the ravaging of vast areas of the West. It would mean, quick, huge profits for the western miners, says Seiberling, but at the cost of the collapse of the deep-mining industry. Deep mines will be needed again as early as the end of the century after the western resources are depleted, he predicts.

For The Third Century

LOS ANGELES — Was it not the candidate in 1972, I have never doubted since that he wants the 1976 nomination badly.

Kennedy's problem is that, in a post-Watergate era, many voters will doubt his maturity of judgment where vast issues of world power and survival are involved. The uproar he evoked at the Moscow State University over the start of that third century, that is how it is likely to happen. And whoever is chosen for the White House in the 1976 election will preside over the start of that third century. We shall have to measure his stature against the immensity of his issues.

The Democrats feel rejoicing that it is bound to be one of their party. Who can doubt that they will sweep the 1974 congressional elections?

The one specter at the feast of the Democratic governors in Chicago was that they might fall victims of overconfidence and that a big victory in 1974 might make them vulnerable to whatever sorrows will befall the nation by 1976.

Yet all the constellations are in the ascendant for the Democrats in 1976. Sen. Edward Kennedy is clearly their leading candidate. He still has much of the family glow, and he has a strong national constituency. He had the luck

Upholds Rule Federal Workers May Be Fired

WASHINGTON — Some of my best friends are government employees, but I hope they will not take it ill if I agree with a Supreme Court ruling that Federal Civil Service workers may be fired for beating their guns in a federal government agency. The case involves that of an Office of Economic Opportunity worker in Chicago who charged publicly that his boss had taken a bribe, but presented no proof. He was given the sack "for cause under the public abuses of power and the misconduct of their superiors, must be self-evident in these items."

I suppose Marshall was talking about Watergate and connected scandals. If it is that there is a way for a federal employee to bring scandal into the open. All he has to do is establish a confidential contact with a newspaper, radio or TV reporter, and the reporter will diligently do the rest. The employee need not "inform" the public of abuses of power.

Ask Richard Nixon.

Strike Up the Band! Here Come the Mini Majorettes!

Majorettes
strutting rules:

- arch your back
- stand erect
- knees high
- toes pointed
- chin up
- keep time with the music!

DEBNAM

This majorette really knows how to strut!

A majorette does a lunge.

Most little girls, at some time or other, dream of putting on a drum majorette's uniform, twirling a baton and strutting down the street in a parade.

Why do girls enjoy it so? It's fun to entertain people. It's like being on stage with all your friends sitting on the curb. There's the thrill of wearing a uniform and marching to music.

Some girls not only march in parades, but also take part in baton twirling contests. One champion twirler can throw up a baton, turn around 11 times, and catch it on the way down. Good twirlers can twirl with both hands easily. Twirling, like any skill, takes practice. Some twirlers start taking lessons when they are as young as six years old.

Learning to twirl a baton is just one part of being a majorette. Footwork, posture and keeping time with the music are also important.

Girls carrying pompons also march in parades. These girls strut and move their pompons in time to the music, but they don't twirl batons. They usually march after the band.

The Basic Baton Twirls

by Minnie Page
(a real news hound)

DEBNAM

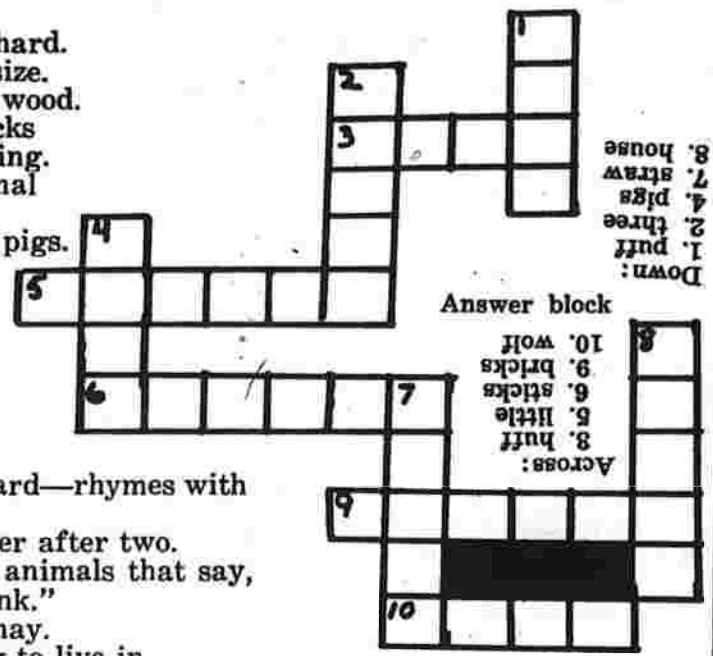

To hold a baton, you start as if you are going to shake hands. Your thumb should be pointing to the larger end. For beginners, most of the action is in the wrist.

1. Flips and flashes—You toss the baton up in the air.
2. Rolls—You roll the baton off different parts of your body, such as your arms, fingers, and legs.
3. Horizontal twirls—The baton is held parallel to the ground.
4. Vertical twirls—The baton is held straight up and down.

The Drum Major

The drum major has been called the student director of the band. Although he carries a baton, he usually does not twirl it very much. It is his job to strut in front of the band and give the signals. He usually marches just behind the drum majorettes. A drum major must know music and probably has served as a member of the band.

Entertainment:

Hello, David Cassidy

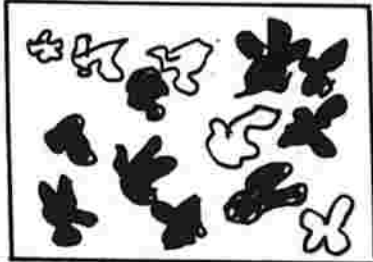

David Cassidy is the singing star of the TV series, "The Partridge Family." He comes from an acting family, and since the age of four he has wanted to be an actor. His father is an actor and singer, too. Shirley Jones, who plays his mother in the series, is his step-mother in real life. When he was growing up, he played baseball and basketball. He has been singing since he was three and now plays the electric guitar and drums.

Mini Do:™ Blow Your Designs

What you'll need:

- 4 different colors tempera paint
- a straw
- white construction paper, size-12" x 18"

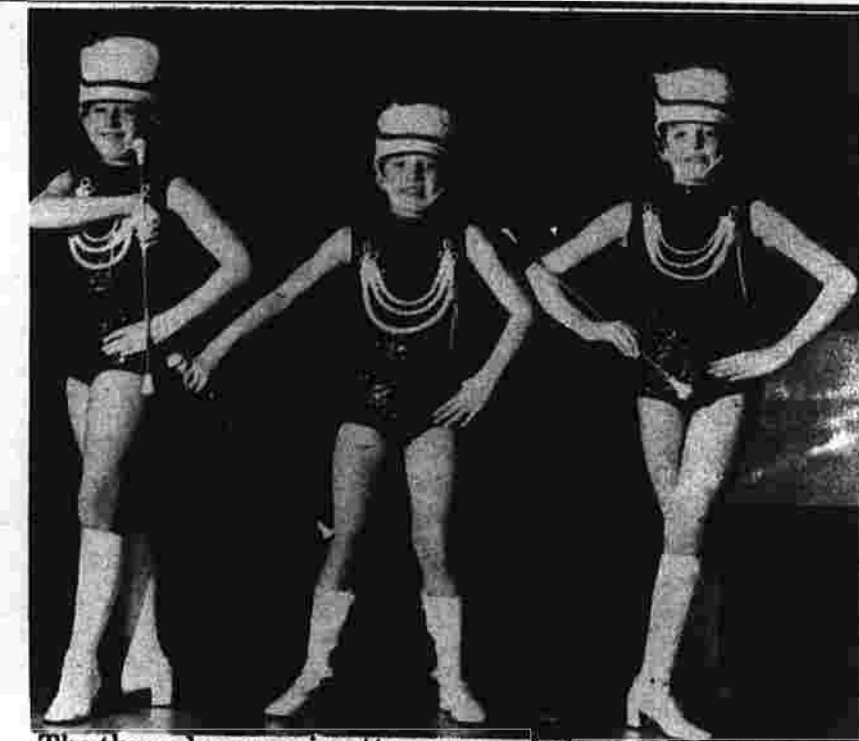

1. Drop one of your colors in several places on your construction paper. Use a brush to do this.

2. With a straw, blow your design. Let this color dry and then drop your next color and blow. Repeat until you have used all four colors.

Super Sport: Darrell Evans

Darrell Evans has developed into one of baseball's top sluggers. Last season, the Atlanta Braves' third baseman hit 41 home runs. Darrell, who stands six-feet, two-inches tall and weighs 200 pounds, is 26 years old. Before turning professional, Darrell was an All-California baseball and basketball player at Pasadena City Junior College. His mother and aunt were professional softball players there. He is married and has one child.

History

Meet Thomas Paine

Thomas Paine was an English newspaperman who came to this country in 1774. He was a friend of Benjamin Franklin. He wrote a very popular pamphlet called "Common Sense," calling for the colonies to declare independence from England and unite into one country. He wrote other pamphlets that inspired our leaders and soldiers. Because of his writings he made many friends, but also enemies. He died in 1809, a very poor and lonely man.

Journals Are A Good Idea

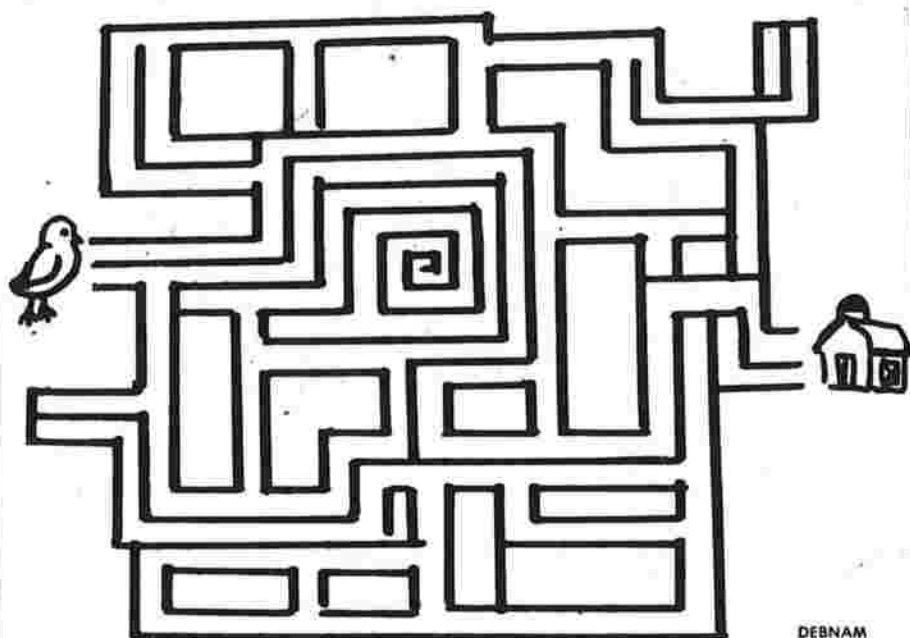

Student journals are a good idea to help teach how to communicate by writing. Students write down their experiences, their feelings or anything they have in mind. The teacher reads this journal. She doesn't make any corrections. She just wants to know what they are thinking. She writes back, telling her ideas.
