McLaughlin Statements Disclaimed

BOSTON (UPI) - The New England provincial of the Jesuit fathers Wednesday disclaimed any connection between the church and statements made by a Jesuit priest, serving as a special assistant to the President, in support of President Nixon and on various aspects of life and morality in the U.S.

On May 8, Fr. McLaughlin said in a briefing for White House reporters that he was an "active Jesuit priest" and said his duties at the White House included "political fact-finding and presidential spokespersonship."

"As his religious superior, I would like to state that Fr. McLaughlin does not speak officially in any way whatsoever for the church, the Jesuit fathers or myself," said Fr. Cleary in a statement.

"When he speaks, he does so for himself alone, his opinions, interpretations of the moral law, and points of view are entirely his own, and they should be taken and evaluated as such."

Fr. Cleary added, "I do not personally subscribe to or approve them, although I do recognize his legal right to make such statements as a private citizen."

"There is, however, a more fundamental moral issue. Since Fr. McLaughlin has freely made a religious commitment with clear and specific obligations, I am indeed puzzled by his publicly stated interpretation of his vows of poverty and obedience, as well as his understanding of his status as a Jesuit priest."

"I am in the process of clarifying these matters with Fr. McLaughlin."

SELF-SUPPORTING HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (UPI) - Agricultural operations, industries and construction projects combine to make the Texas prison system virtually support itself. The Texas Department of Corrections said in its latest statistics that the taxpayer cost per inmate was $3.61, one of the lowest such figures in the nation.

Bank the free way?

You're kidding me, right?

American Plan May Break Israeli-Syrian Deadlock

JERUSALEM (UPI) - Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said today he had made good progress in three hours of talks with Prime Minister Golda Meir on an American middle-of-the-road compromise plan to break the deadlock over a troop disengagement agreement with Syria.

Irish Protestants Shun Confrontation With Army

BELFAST (UPI) - The nine-day-old strike by 350,000 workers has virtually halted normal life in Northern Ireland. The UWC called the action to press demands for new elections in the province and to make concessions saving Northern Ireland from the "brink of disaster."

Prime Minister Harold Wilson called a meeting in London today with leaders of the province's moderate, Roman Catholic-Protestant coalition government.

Deficit Grows, Exports Rise

Americans are selling more farm and manufactured goods abroad than ever, while its trade deficit grows. This contraction is due to the cost of foreign oil and our huge imports of it.
Soaring farm exports may give a net $10 billion to U.S. trade figures this year. But it will not be enough to offset the importation of oil. The value of oil imports increased over 65 per cent in the first quarter, despite a 20 per cent drop in volume. The drip was due to conservation during the oil embargo.

The International Monetary Fund reports that industrial nations may experience a collective $35 billion balance-of-payments deficit this year due to high oil prices. Poor countries may suffer an additional $20 billion shortfall.

Domestic oil production stands roughly static at 11 million barrels a day. Daily consumption is more than 16 million barrels. About 35 per cent of U.S. consumption comes from overseas. The price of foreign oil has quadrupled in the past year.

William D. Eberle, President Nixon's trade adviser, expects a U.S. trade deficit this year of from $2 billion to $5 billion.

But sizable capital inflows may create equilibrium in the overall balance of payments. In other words, trade will be in deficit but greater investment by foreigners in the United States should balance overall payments.

To keep as small as possible the oil-induced trade gap, now running about $1 billion after he left office if he Secretary Frederick B. Dent urges continuing energy conservation and a reworking of our export promotion effort. Taken together, U. S. overall payments may stay roughly in balance, though trade itself may plunge into deficit.

Hughes Offered LJB Million

Howard Hughes, whose contribution of $100,000 to the Nixon 1972 campaign was returned, in 1968 asked his agent, Robert A. Maheu, to offer Lyndon B. Johnson a million dollars. This was the sworn testimony Maheu gave in Federal Court in Los Angeles recently.

Maheu said he was not told of the message he was to give Mr. Johnson until just before he was to leave Dallas for the LBJ ranch to keep his appointment. First, he was to "feel out" Mr. Johnson about his attitude about ending the war in Vietnam. Secondly he was to suggest to Mr. Johnson that Hughes would give him $1 billion a month, Commerce would stop nuclear tests in Nevada. The tests disturbed Hughes when he was living at the Desert Inn in Las Vegas.

Maheu testified that President Johnson told him he had received a note from Hughes about the tests, that he would not include it in his official papers "because of the embarrassment it might create for Hughes." Maheu told the President Hughes was interested in Johnson's future and wanted to know what he could do. Johnson said his chief interest was the LBJ Library and he would hope for small contribution for it. Thus he never knew he could have had a million and apparently cared less.

I would like to note an outstanding case of service rendered by one of your Manchester businesses.

While passing through Manchester during the lunch hour, en route to Hartford Hospital to visit a very ill member of my family, my car radiator sprang a major leak. The service manager at Moriarty Brothers arranged to have the radiator replaced, a job which I have since learned most garages demand two days for, advised me on bus

Strength for Peace

NEW YORK — If nations could swap lives, as an ingenious writer in New York magazine to do—making a book out of it: "The Life Swap," by Nancy Weber—what nation would Israel choose to swap lives with? America? Britain? France? Canada? Each has its own troubles these days, and Israel would have no bargain moving into the life of any of them. Yet it would be hard to think of a rougher, tougher life than the one the Israelis are living at a time when every settlement is in danger of the terrorist attack and even the children are no longer safe.

Children's lives are precious, and their deaths are tragic everywhere in the human family, not only in Maalot and Safed but wherever in the world little bands of terrorists decide that only the most morally numbing event can dramatize the morality of their cause. And when reprisals come, as they do inevitably, the bombs dropped on refugee settlements in Lebanon by Israeli planes cannot unerringly seek out their terrorist targets, but visit death on innocent and guilty alike.

One of the victims of the Maalot tragedy was the current Israeli government. It has suffered a number of defeats in popular opinion since the start of the fighting in the Yom Kippur war. The rough treatment accorded President Ephraim Katzir and Deputy Premier Yigal Alon by a crowd of infuriated demonstrators at the Safed funerals of the children was only the most recent of the blows the government leaders have had to endure.
It isn't easy to lead a people who are surrounded, outnumbered and in a constant state of siege, and who see on the horizon only a bitter choice between an insecure peace and an unending succession of wars. The Golda Meir cabinet, which is at the receiving end of the people's anger, is a caretaker (in American, read "lame duck") government. There was a time, in the years immediately after the 1967 war, when everything the government touched came out right. More recently, it has begun to come out wrong. In the crisis hours of Maalot, there was a failure of communications and a confusion about code words that belong in suspense fiction rather than in the everyday world. But the margin between the two seems to be disappearing.

One of the better recent suspense novels, Alfred Coppel's "Thirty-Four East" (Harcourt), features an Arab terrorist band in a hair-raising kidnapping of an American Vice President on a visit to the Sinai Desert. The aim is to break up an American-Russian agreement on the Middle East, and the fallout comes very close to a nuclear war between the two superpowers.

The book is racy, skillful and always a little too pat for its own good. But what makes it interesting is its combination of two themes—that of an Arab terrorist attack and that of an attempted takeover of the government in Washington. Each occupies a big role in political intrigue fiction, as it does in the imagination of our time—and in the political reality as well. When you put the two together, you get an overkill effect, a fiction as in fact.
Yet in one sense there is a thread of reality in it. The effort that Secretary of State Henry Kissinger is making to bring about a Middle East disengagement as a prelude to a peace agreement depend on the key government being reasonably stable and reasonably strong. Weakened governments can't negotiate well because they have always to be turning their heads to look homeward, toward their base of support.
The Israeli-Egyptian troop disengagement was possible because both governments felt strong enough to risk it. But President Hafez Assad of Syria, himself on the left, feels less sure with his more extreme left-wing critics than President Anwar Sadat did. As for Israel, there are bound to be fewer doves in it after the Maalot massacre than before, and the hand of the government is bound to be less confident than it was. A government under Yitzhak Rabin, the prime minister-designate, may carry with it a fresh sense of authority which the current government has begun to lose. As for the continued weakening of the government in Washington behind Kissinger, that is a story all its own.
In the end there will have to be a Middle East peace agreement because there is no viable alternative. But there will be more time to wait, more intervening death and anguish because Maalot happened.

Pass-Fail System Of Grading

Today's Thought

What Do You Want?
James Baldwin in "Nobody Knows My Name" tells about some advice he once received. "Be careful what you set your heart upon," someone said to him, "for it will surely be yours." It is uncertain how often we get what we want. Therefore, we should be doubly sure we want what we get, before we get it.
Pascal says that it is "part of the irony of our human existence that we readily know the ends which we know to be worthless." In our sober moments we know that what we are killing ourselves for is not worth it.
Finally, let's listen to the Bible. Paul writes to Christians: "Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth." (Colossians 3:2). Our objective is to love and glorify the One who is above. "Things on the earth" are good and proper and real when they contribute to that end. As ends, they become unreal shadows or, what is worse, real gods. What do you really want?

WASHINGTON — As the school year passes into history, we the poor people seem to have survived one of the nuttier educational trends foisted on parental bread-winners by the student and faculty rebels of the 1960s. The pass-fail system of grading seems to be satisfactorily fading away.
You remember that one of course. A loud-mouthed minority of students and mostly youthful (and maybe lazy?) teachers managed to persuade a handful of postulant schools and colleges to eliminate specific grading and "fail" system. The theory was that the old A, B, C and F system was "demeaning" to the human beings, that it set up an elite composed of the brightest scholars.
Well, a batch of surveys has shown that this lunatic led never really caught on and that a vast majority of schools across the country either never adopted it or have returned to the old-fashioned grading system.
Indeed, a study made for the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers reported that in 1971 at the peak of the pass-fail boom—only 2 per cent of 1,301 schools were using pass-fail exclusively. Of the 61 per cent which had adopted some form of optional grading, half limited the option to electives and 86 per cent required that at least three-quarters of the courses required for a degree be graded on a letter or number basis.

Moreover, a majority of the schools surveyed reported that fewer than 10 per cent of the students were electing non-traditional grading. And the options offered by many schools were meaningless in that the "New Look" grades were labeled "honors, high pass, pass, no credit." How's that for an exercise in semantics?
The much publicized "revolution" failed, it seems to me, because students are much smarter and more practical than their rebel peers—and trendy faculty members—believed. Few students have daddies named Aristotle Onassis and therefore realize that after a certain amount of horsing around on campus they eventually will have to take a job. Many probably a majority, even look forward to working, either to make a million bucks, or to save the economy from perdition.
After all, what does the notation, "pass," mean to a potential employer? It means, simply, that the applicant didn't fail. His question, then, would be "What in tarleton does that mean?" How close did you come to flunking?
The employer, of course, can check with college authorities to determine the applicant's actual educational qualifications,

When the Hartford, Manchester and Rockville Tramway (H.M. & R.T. Co.) was built the tracks on Main St., south of the center, were only separated from the west sidewalk by a cobblestone gutter. The south terminus was at Hartford Rd.

North of the center the tracks were at the east side of the road and ended at Woodbridge St. without crossing the railroad tracks. From the center the tracks for Hartford followed the north side of Center Street to Olcott St. then crossed over to the south side and remained there until it connected with the line from Hartford at Burside.

Later the tracks on Main St. and Center St. were moved to the middle of the roadways when they were paved.

The improvement was so evident that a new road was built along the north side of the tracks and was known as Chapman Rd. It is now a part of Center St.

When first used the soft deep sand prevented horses pulling heavy loads so they used the old route until the new one was heavily gravelled and compacted a few years later.

The Rockville branch took off at the fork of Center and Middle Tpk., and proceeded via Hillsideville, Buckland, North Manchester (Depot Square), Oakland, Tolcottville, Dobsonville to Rockville. Transfer tickets were given for making connections between the lines north and south of the railroad at Depot Square.

Fares within the town were five cents and from there on the Hartford Co. charged another five.

Each car had a two-man crew. The motorman stood on the front and with a small hand lever for reversing power or turning it on and off.

Another hand crank revolving horizontally controlled the power and so the speed. Another crank wound up a chain that forced cast-iron brake shoes against the wheel rims. It was locked or released by a pawl and ratchet controlled with the motorman's toes at the floor.

He also had a T shaped lever standing up from the floor which could be pushed by his knee to cause the cow-catcher to drop onto the tracks to scoop up any animal or drunken man without injury. There also was a warning going under the floor that was rung by stamping his foot.

Columbia School Board Approves Student Teacher Plan

VIRGINIA CARLSON
 Correspondent
 Tel. 228-9224

The school board has approved Porter School participation in a student teaching program from Eastern Connecticut State College (ECS).

The goal of the program is to provide an integrated program of academic course work and classroom experiences for student teachers.

ECS initiated some innovative programs in Ledyard and Vernon schools.

With these programs now more perfected, there was a need for classrooms, children and good teachers, according to Dr. Joseph Narotsky, coordinator of student teachers at ECS and a local school board member.

According to a summary of the program, student teachers in many institutions are provided with methods courses and student-teaching experience as separate entities.

The long range goal of the program is to provide beginning teachers with improved competencies in relevant subject matters, knowledge and greater skill in working with children.

Edmondson said having student teachers is a morale booster for the staff.

To what extent the proposed gifted program and curricular activities will take part in the total curriculum hinges on how the budget works out when review starts out in June.

Board members expressed interest in such a program, all believed the budget figures would determine the outcome.

GRADUATION DATE
 Graduation date for Grade 8 is scheduled for June 25 at 6:30 p.m. on the school grounds. Rain date will be June 26.

Edmondson has board approval to have early closing the last three days of the school year, and also to have early closing should there be a heat wave such as there was last year in early June.

Alcohol Abuse Said No. 1 Drug Problem

By CROSSROADS STAFF

Alcohol abuse is the No. 1 drug problem in the United States today. Estimates of the number of alcoholics in our country vary but the figure of 100,000 is now the most commonly accepted total.

What is an alcoholic? What is alcoholism? What are some of the causes of alcoholism?

One of the saddest failings of social research and social concern has been the lack of attention paid to alcohol and the problems surrounding it. Alcohol abuse dates far back into history but only recently have we been willing to spend the effort and money necessary to understand these problems and help those individuals suffering from the effects of drinking.

The National Council of Alcoholism defined an alcoholic as "a person who is powerless to stop drinking and whose drinking seriously alters his living patterns."

Alcoholism is a disease. It is a disease of the body, a disease of the mind, a disease of the life style. It is a complicated disease which can be described as one part physical, one part psychological, one part sociological, and one part alcohol.

Alcohol does not cause alcoholism. If it did then everybody who drinks would eventually develop alcoholism.

People drink for a variety of reasons. Some drink to relax, others to escape. People drink as a means to gain acceptance and people drink to overcome inhibitions.

The largest number of individuals drink, however, because they enjoy the pleasant effects of alcohol.

Who, then, will become an alcoholic? Certainly not everyone who drinks. But it is important to realize and be willing to admit that only those persons who do drink can become alcoholics. Only the non-drinker is immune.

If a person makes a decision to include alcohol in his life then that individual should be aware of the trends and patterns that can often be measured.

Does the individual lose time from work due to alcohol? Does alcohol fuel family arguments or serve as the central topic of the disputes? Are drinking or its effects taking a financial toll?

If the answer to any of the questions is yes or "I don't

Gardening

with

Hanging baskets are increasingly popular as people move into apartments and condominiums with little space for plants. Louis Albani looks here at hanging baskets in bloom at one of his greenhouses on Birch Mt. All around him are flats of annual flowers ready to go out to garden centers and to be picked up at the greenhouse by home gardeners. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Louis Albani and his brother, Edwin, started growing vegetables for the wholesale market when they were both barely out of high school. The farm on Birch Mt., where the family owns 220 acres of land, has expanded to add cauliflower and cabbage to the list. The brothers had started raising cucumbers with their tomatoes. There also are some chickens and some family cows.

Mrs. Grasso Wins Hartford Primary

HARTFORD (UPI) — Rep. Ella T. Grasso moved a step closer to becoming Connecticut's first woman governor with a slim victory over Attorney General Robert K. Killian in a pre-convention primary contest in the capital city.

Unofficial returns gave Mrs. Grasso a margin of about 2,900 votes over Killian, who fought an uphill battle in his own home town against both Grasso and Hartford Democratic Chairman Nicholas Carbone, who placed organizational strength behind Grasso.

The victory gave Grasso 70 delegate votes, the largest single bloc among a total of 1,213 delegates to the nominating convention July 19 and 20 in Hartford.

She already has delegate commitments from New Haven and Waterbury, Connecticut's other large cities, but not from Bridgeport, which has remained neutral.

Grasso, 55, a two-term congresswoman, defeated Killian 9,481 to 7,562 in unofficial returns on a rainy day that experts said reduced the 2-1 margin predicted for her.

State Democratic Chairman John M. Bailey, who remained publicly neutral throughout the hard-fought campaign, said he would meet with Killian within the next few days to discuss Killian's future plans.

"Well, I know Mr. Killian pretty well," Bailey said. "We'll get together for a talk in the next few days."

"Mrs. Grasso won the contest and Attorney General Killian made a battle of it. Now that the heat of this battle is over we'll have to take a good hard look at the whole situation to make sure that we win in November and not expend ourselves in preliminary contests."

Bailey said it was "gratifying" to him that nearly 50 per cent of Hartford's 36,000 members of the new hospital which was adopted a few weeks ago.

"In founding the club, Mason said, 'Since its beginning, Rockville General Hospital has depended entirely on the goodwill of private individuals for its development money. The 100 Club carries this tradition forward while it promotes and expands the opportunities and privileges of community service.'" my farthest hope," she said. "It's been a pretty good day."

South Windsor Glassman, Grasso Win Primary

Mrs. Decker, vying for her second attempt to an assembly seat, lost her seven-delegate votes to Glassman at the April caucus by only 30 votes.

Grasso defeated Killian by a two-one margin at the caucus, as she did last night.

is the first time it has gone to the public for funding as the many monetary gifts bequeathed to the hospital over the years are now about depleted due to the increase in size of the facility and the population it now serves.

Grasso delegates include the following: Louis L. Anello, Louis J. Dube, Charles N. Eves, Beverly F. Glassman, Thomas F. Griffin, Mary E. Nicholson, Mary G. Sedlock.

Coventry New Town Opponents Hit Release of Data

MONICA SHEA Correspondent
The coalition of groups opposed to the new community that Greater Hartford Process - DevCo is proposing to build in the northwest corner of Coventry have issued a statement opposing what they term the propaganda approach of releasing the plan before submitting it to the Planning and Zoning Commission.

"We would like to know how DevCo is going to be able to induce ten or more full-time qualified physicians and dentists for the new community's health center when both Windham and Manchester Hospitals have difficulty recruiting one."

Local Woman Will Tour South Africa

Miss Nancy Secor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Secor of 770 Sycamore Lane, will leave J.F. Kennedy Airport in New York June 6 for South Africa.

She will have stopovers in London, Paris, Johannesburg, and Gaborone in South Africa. Her final destination is Serowe, Botswana, where she will be a guest of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Steven Derby of West Hartford, who are serving with the Peace Corps.

Derby is working as a surveyor and his wife, a registered nurse, is head of a clinic in the area. Her responsibilities are similar to those of our local doctors.

Miss Secor's tour will include visits to several game reserves and the Bush Country. She returns to the United States on July 20.

A 1971 graduate of Penney High School, East Hartford, she has been employed at the Travelers Insurance Co. in Hartford. She has enrolled at Manchester Community College for the fall semester.

40th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Victor A. Plagge of 128 Summer St. observed their 40th wedding anniversary at a surprise party May 19. Hosting the party were their children, Mr. and Mrs. Victor R. Plagge, son and daughter-in-law; and Mrs. Jane Brainard, their daughter.

About 50 friends and relatives attended including Mrs. Plagge's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford F. Rice of Clearwater, Fla., who were the couple's wedding attendants.

Guest Artists Visit Local Dance School

The Scholarship and Ballet Workshop students of the Priscilla Gibson School of Dance Arts, had Marguerite de Anguera, chairman of the Ballet Department of the Hartford Conservatory as guest teacher recently.

Miss de Anguera, who is also the artistic director of the Connecticut Valley Regional Ballet Company, taught two hours of the advanced intermediate level, based on the Conservatory syllabus.

This is the second year teacher Miss Gibson has had for the benefit of her students, the first being Don Farworth, director of the Farworth and Hauer School of Dance in New York City.

He is the American Ballet Theatre's artistic director at the Batavia Dance Company of Ithaca, the Netherlands Dance Theatre, and the Scapino Ballet in Amsterdam.

He has also choreographed several ballets for Miss Gibson.

Explained local regulations on bicycles. He advised the girls of their responsibilities as cyclists and the importance of recording their serial numbers.

The scouts held a bicycle rodeo at the school with the assistance of fathers from the three troops. Forty-two girls had their bicycles inspected and rode over a course which tested their ability to maneuver their bicycles under various circumstances.

Participating fathers were Reginald Christensen, Andrew Gibson, Philip Giannino, Daniel Miller, Pierre Marteney, Peter Burgess and Donald Mackenzie.

Previous to the trip the scouts and their parents had learned about kinds of bikes, accessories, local clubs and repairs from Jack McVeigh of The Bike Shop.

The troop has 29 members and is under the leadership of Mrs. Pat Felletter, Mrs. Joan Byron and Mrs. Barbara Reuben.

Troop 606 of Trinity Covenant Church sponsored a bicycle safety program for Brownie troops 617 and 618 of Keeney Street School. The girls had a poster contest on "What Bicycle Safety Means to Me."

Niagara Becomes Convention City

NIAGARA FALLS—Visitors to Niagara Falls now have another wonder — this one man-made — to oohh and aaahh over. Earlybirds in the 1974 tourist season have already pronounced the $30 million Niagara Falls International Convention Center a huge success.

The gigantic, rainbow-shaped facility, which sits just a few hundred yards from the famous cataract on the USA side of the river, is both multi-purpose and truly international. The convention center, in planning since 1963, opened last month as the keystone of an 82-acre urban renewal project in downtown Niagara Falls, N.Y.

The physical dimensions alone are impressive: Huge lobbies, 90-foot ceiling, a 300-foot promenade deck, four snackbars, a Sky Lounge, a nightclub, an old English pub, speech interpretation console in 7 languages, almost 12,000 capacity for concerts and 9,000 for sporting events, a 418-seat Greek amphitheater in one corner, an outdoor 1,500-seat amphitheater in the $6 million plaza in front, a miniature version of the city's waterfall along one end of the plaza, a 1,700-capacity ballroom, drapes and carpeting (even on the walls) throughout.

Authorities on the Canadian side of the Falls, ready to provide the initial hotel space, and officials on the American side, ready to offer the nation's newest convention hall, figure they now have a sparkling man-made wonder worthy of rivaling the majestic natural phenomenon on their front doorstep.

Sweden's hotels, tour operators, shipping lines and railroads are enticing the American tourist this year with special bargains and packages designed for both group and independent travel.

Baltic cruises, North Cape tours, hotel discounts, physical fitness vacations are among the choices for special holidays.

The Inter S group of 22 hotels in all parts of Sweden, for example, offers a bonus coupon book which allows, on the average, a 20 per cent discount on room rates.

Stockholm, the center of Scandinavia, offers enticing bargains for both independent vacationers and group travelers.

Newfoundland A Fun Place This Summer

Newfoundland comes alive this summer — in fact, for a six-month period from the 1st of April to the end of October — as Newfoundlanders celebrate their heritage, their future, while marking the 25th Anniversary of Confederation with Canada.

It's the fun place to be this summer, but, at the outset, you should be warned that accommodation is limited. Advance reservations are a must! The celebrations begin when bonfires burst forth from the highest peak among each community, while local residents gather to tell the story of themselves in song and story.

Province-wide State Banquets are being held, honoring the other Provinces and Territories of Canada, and surrounding the banquet will be a week of fun and activity in each community.

Two exciting traveling shows will be touring the Province — a MUST to see. Both are the most technically complex shows to ever be taken on a touring basis anywhere in the world and rival the film, slide and audio technique seen at Expo '67 or Osaka.

Through August, there is a Festival of Folk arts, and over the Labour Day weekend, there is probably one of the most interesting events — a Festival of Skills.

From September 16th to 20th, there will be an International Fisheries Exhibition in St. John's. This worldwide event will be of great interest to anyone interested in the sea and fish.

October 6th to 12th will be Canada Week with a jam-packed program every day. So...come and join in the celebrations, but be sure to have advance bookings.

Special Details Issued KINGSTON (UPI) — To insure a continued healthy flow of tourism, the Jamaica government is issuing special decals to rental cars used by tourists and to taximeters involved in the tourist industry.

In addition, designated gas stations at airports in Montego Bay, Kingston, Ocho Rios, Port Antonio and Runaway Bay have been given additional gasoline quotas to meet the needs of vehicles with tourist decals.

Tourism to Jamaica during 1973 brought in $127 million and is considered vital to the island nation.

Sail Aboard S.S. Rotterdam

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Rogers of 19 Clyde Rd. relax aboard the S.S. Rotterdam of Holland America Cruises just after sailing recently from New York for Nassau and Bermuda.

A summerlong series of recreational and cultural programs, highlighted by the first-ever New England Open Golf Championships, will get underway today when the Mount Snow Resort near Wilmington, Vt. opens for the summer season.

Included on the resort's warm-weather schedule, in addition to regular golf, tennis and horseback riding, are an English Horse show July 23-25, a crafts fair August 2, 3 and 4, several local golf and tennis tournaments, music festivals, fall foliage tours, antique auctions, plus the open golf tourney Sept. 8-11.

Mount Snow is located just nine miles north of Wilmington on Rt. 100, and is one of New England's four-season resort complexes. Facilities include Snow Lake Lodge, a first class hotel located right on Rt. 100, an 18-hole championship golf course and country club, clay tennis courts, an airport, heated indoor and outdoor swimming pools, riding stables, canoeing on Snow Lake, and miles of hiking trails.

At Snow Lake Lodge, accommodations will include a choice of European Plan or Modified American Plan for the first time. Rates will range from $18 to $44 per person per day. European Plan, and from $17 to $41 Modified American, which includes breakfast and dinner daily. Special rates are always in effect for children under 14, and the hotel grants discounts for multiple-day stays.

The Mount Snow Country Club is located adjacent to the airport just two miles from Snow Lake Lodge. Designed by

Golf Grand Slam Goal for Player

MEMPHIS (UPI) — "What's on my mind is the grand slam," said little Gary Player after his blistering 65 in the first round of the $175,000 Memphis Golf Classic Thursday.

"You've got to have good weather and luck of the draw," said the man who won his second Masters this year and plans to enter the PGA, British Open and U.S. Open later. "But it's very possible."

The South African was tied with Red Curt going into today's second round after both broke the course record over the 7,283-yard Colonial Country Club layout by a stroke Thursday.

Jim Colbert, Bob Wynn, Larry Ziegler and Hubert Green were bunched a stroke back at 66 as nearly half of the field of 140 golfers broke par on a sunny, muggy day along the Mississippi River.

Player and Curt, who won $50,000 in the Colonial at Fort Worth, Tex., only last week, each had seven birdies and not a single bogey. Curt birdied the last three holes after Player came in with the record.

"I started like a hot dog and finished like a pro," said the delighted Curt. "I'm playing just fine and I'm sure pleased after I scrambled early in the round."

The Memphis tournament is trapped between two designated tournaments on the PGA tour this year and such big names as Johnny Miller, Jack Nicklaus, Tom Weiskopf and Arnold Palmer are passing it up for next week's Kemper Open at Charlotte, N.C.

Second-year pro Bruce Ashworth of Las Vegas won't be around today despite a sparkling 68 on Thursday. He was disqualified when his playing partner, Robert Nichols, failed to sign his score card.

"It's my own fault," said Ashworth, 24, "he handed it to me and I just forgot to check it. I should have noticed it. I signed it."

NCAA, AAU War Has Some New Fuel

CHICAGO (UPI) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association Thursday filed an antitrust suit in U.S. District Court against the Amateur Athletic Union, charging the AAU with exercising a monopoly.

The suit stems from the AAU's refusal to sanction foreign athletes to participate in an NCAA track meet to be held in suburban Mount Prospect June 8.

The NCAA, in its suit, charged that the AAU has refused to sanction the meet because of the NCAA's recent decision to permit athletes to retain their amateur status in one sport though they participate professionally in another.

Foreign amateur athletes may not participate in sporting events in this country unless they are sanctioned to participate by the AAU.

The Northern Illinois Track Coaches Association and the U.S. Track and Field Federation joined the NCAA as plaintiffs in the suit.

Mount Prospect, for the past two years. But this year, the AAU said in a letter that it would not allow foreign athletes to participate.

The suit said the AAU refused to invite foreign athletes to the Mount Prospect meet because it did not want them to compete with "tainted athletes."

The term was apparently a reference to Larry Jones, a trackman who ran in a Texas meet despite having signed a contract to play with the New York Giants of the National Football League. He also was to participate in the Mount Prospect meet.

The NCAA suit charged the AAU with monopolizing non-professional athletics and with attempting to strengthen its monopoly. It also charged the AAU with unlawful restraint of trade and with unlawful and malicious interference in the Mount Prospect track meet.

An attorney for the NCAA said the co-plaintiffs were seeking triple damages from the AAU for its actions regarding the tournament. Damages were to be determined by the court.

Stafford Speedway
Stafford Speedway will be the capitol of NASCAR modified racing this weekend, Monday afternoon's Winston 100 National Championship event headlining a double barreled holiday offering.

A 30-lap modified battle tops the bill for Saturday night's "regular" show. The All-American Sportsman will also be part of both shows while the mini-midwest will be on hand Saturday night. Action begins at 8 o'clock.

Defending national champion Richie Evans and two-time champ Jerry Cook, currently running one-two in the national standings, lead the contingent of "outsiders" on Monday's entry list. Also included are Geoff Bodine, Dick Fowler, and Dan McNamara. Monday's racing begins at 2 o'clock.

Riverside Speedway
Charlie Glazier has reason for confidence Saturday night in the second 100-lap modified stock car spectacular of the season at Riverside, Park Speedway.

The West Haven whiz finally broke the ice last week by capturing the 50-lap main event. And his last big victory in the 73 season was over the 100-lap course.

Glazier, a 60-point leader in the standings, has to be considered one of the favorites, although no driver has been able to win more than one feature this spring.

First qualifying heat for the 100-lap main event, led the mound of the holiday weekend program will be the figure-eight race.

The first Demolition Derby of the season, with cars competing, is set for Saturday night at 8.

Plainville Stadium
Memorial Day weekend is a special time for auto racing all across the country. Starting with the Indy 500 race tracks everywhere plan special events. Plainville Stadium is no exception and Saturday night it will host the New England Championship 100-lap race.

This will be the first extra distance race of the season and it's sure to be a crowd-pleaser with a first prize prize of $500 and double points for grabs on the one quarter mile oval.

In addition to the modified show, a complete program of pleasure class racing will be staged. The qualifying races will be topped off by a 20-lap main event.

Racing gets under way Saturday at 8.

Connecticut Dragway
The traditional Memorial Day racing show at the Connecticut Dragway in East Haddam Sunday will mix many of the fastest racing machines in the nation into an explosive event.

The quarter mile straightaway will reverberate under the thundering wheels of funny cars, pro-tractors and wheel standers, including Bob Perry's "Hell on Wheels" high speed tank.

The holiday racing classic will get underway at 2:30. Practice runs and time trials, open for the public, will begin at noon.

Fly Williams Declared Out
CLARKSVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Austin Peay's James "Fly" Williams, the nation's third leading basketball scorer last season, was declared ineligible Thursday for intercollegiate competition.

Athletic Director George Fisher called the NCAA ruling the result of a misinterpretation by the Ohio Valley Conference office concerning the requirements for entrance as a student-athlete to OVC-member schools.

OVC Commissioner Art Gupe said he accepted the responsibility for the error. "Someone has to take the rap on this and it might as well be me," he said. Williams was admitted to Austin Peay through his scholastic aptitude test (SAT), converted to project his American college testing (ACT) score.

Three New Faces With MB Squad

By Earl Yost

Having been successful since he took over as playing manager 13 years ago with Moriarty Brothers' entry in the Hartford Twilight League, Gene Johnson will have another "good team in a well-balanced league" this summer.

The Gas Housers will show at least three new faces in the starting lineup. Mike McDonald, former University of Hartford catcher and a veteran of several campaigns in the loop, will move in to handle the pitchers. Either Len Krough or Bill Crowley will be at first base or the outfield.

Returnees include veterans Frank DiMauro at second base, Jim Baleano at shortstop, Johnson at third and Bob Carlson and Rich Riordan in the outfield.

The pitching corps appears to be in good hands with Gary Waslewski, Pete Sala, Lev Spencer, John Serafine and Jim McLaughlin. Waslewski, former major league, is slated to be the opening hurler Tuesday night, June 4 at Mt. Nebo when the MB's cross bats with the defending champion Hartford Stags.

Johnson, Carlson, Sala and Spencer are all one-time minor leaguers. Missing from the scene this season will be Mike Liappes and Bob Triakakis who will wear the colors of the East Hartford Jets. A knee injury has sidelined Bob McCusker for the season. He was injured in a recent practice.

Johnson has compiled an enviable record as a playing manager after a seven-year career in the pay-for-play ranks. He guided the MB's to six regular season and seven playoff championships, all coming in the last 10 years. A six-year consecutive streak of playoff crowns was terminated last summer. The playing skipper and Carlson are both former Twi League most-valuable-player winners, an honor Baleano copied last summer after being the No. 1 rookie in 1972.

It took Johnson two years building a team before he gave sponsor Matt Moriarty his first Twi crown. A mixture of veterans and youngsters has enabled the Gas Housers to dominate the scene for the past decade.

Johnson is still hopeful that his 13th year at the helm won't be unlucky. He's not superstitious, and that should help.

Moriarty's will be seen in action every Tuesday night at Mt. Nebo.

Indian Jayvee Nine Enjoyed Fine Year

By Len Auster

While its varsity counterparts have compiled an impressive record, the Manchester High jayvee baseball team unceremoniously logged a 10-4 standard. Included in the record is a nine-game winning streak which was snapped in the season finale by Windham, 3-2.

Sophomore Bruce Ballard and junior southpaw John Tasillo, both who've seen varsity action, led the mound corps. Ballard, a hard-throwing right-hander, totaled six wins against a lone setback. He struck out 73 batters in 50 innings worked. Tasillo was the winner of three games and lost just once. Allowing just four earned runs in 32 2/3 innings, Tasillo fanned 33 and walked seven.

Sophomore Scott Garman led the regulars with a .345 batting average (10 for 29) while sophomore Mike Quessel showed late season promise with a .316 average. Ballard led the young Tribesmen in extra base hits with two triples and two doubles. Sophomore Mark Demko slugged one roundtripper and two doubles.

Coach Don Race stated the key to the success of the team was its defense. "We made several doubleplays and that's not too common on the jayvee level. The outfield also played very well."

Junior shortstop Bob Healy and second baseman Rick Whyte turned out to be an excellent keystone combination. It turned over two doubleplays in at least two contests. Whyte also showed promise with the stick hitting at a .270 clip.

Garman, along with sophomore Craig Carpenter, topped the outfield contingent defensively. "The key to our record was not individual performances but fine team efforts that did it," Race said.

Manchester split series with Bristol Eastern, Windham and the two West Hartford schools — Conard and Hall. The Indians swept Penney, Wethersfield and Bristol Central.

Smith Named to Coach Buffalo Entry in NHL
BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — The Buffalo Sabres turned over the head coaching duties to Floyd Smith Thursday but it was the man behind the scenes — General Manager George "Punch" Imlach — who ran the show.

Smith, 39, was "officially" named coach of the National Hockey League club at a news conference. Smith, coach of the Sabres' Cincinnati farm club in the American Hockey League, succeeds Joe Crozier as the Buffalo bench boss.

But it was Imlach, the man who coached the Toronto Maple Leafs to the Stanley Cup championships in the early and mid 1960's, who stole the show from his new coach.

When Smith was asked about his feelings regarding seven Sabre players who are unsigned for next season, he hardly got a word out of his mouth when Imlach stepped in to say "Don't answer that, Smitty."

"It's not his (Smith's) area of operation," Imlach said. "Imlach doesn't even know we've met with the seven — some three or four times — and offered them contracts."

Crozier, a popular hockey figure in the Buffalo area, left the Sabres a few weeks ago to become general manager of the Michigan Stags of the World Hockey Association.

It was no secret that Crozier and Imlach had a falling out. Crozier disagreed with Imlach on several points, including a trade which sent defenseman Tracy Pratt to the Vancouver Canucks for Jerry Korab. Crozier reportedly didn't know

Suspended Sentence, Probation for Barnes

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — All-American center Marvin Barnes of Providence College has been given a one-year suspended sentence and put on probation for three years after pleading guilty to beating a former teammate with a tire iron.

Superior Court Judge Ronald R. Laguer passed sentence Thursday after Barnes pleaded guilty to assaulting Larry Kervirtis, 23, of Milton, Mass., outside a college dining hall.

Barnes, 22, a 6-foot-5 senior from Providence, entered the plea shortly after Kervirtis took the stand as the first witness in the trial.

Explaining his plea before sentencing, Barnes said "I still say that I am innocent." Barnes told the judge he pleaded guilty because he felt the evidence might go against him and because he was busy with college tests and with negotiations for a professional basketball career after graduation.

Barnes is expected to be one of the first three players taken in the National Basketball Association draft next week.

State Prosecutor Harold A. Joovelegian had asked the judge to impose a one-year prison term, to begin immediately. The prosecutor said the assault was an "unprovoked, premeditated action." He said the victim suffered a shattered cheekbone that required corrective surgery. Also, he told the judge, there was an attempt to keep the facts of the assault from becoming public.

"There is no question in my mind that this was covered up from the day one by personnel of Providence College; and because of the viciousness of this act and the consequences on the victim, the state recommends one year in jail," Joovelegian said.

Earlier, before the plea was entered, attorneys for Barnes told the court he might plead guilty. The judge responded then that he was disposed to give "something less than jail."

IOH Day Awards Made

Sunday afternoon, May 19, was IOH Day at the Manchester High School. It was a sort of "open house" for the instructors of the Handicapped. The public was especially invited to come and see what IOH is all about. Unfortunately, IOH Day had very poor publicity ahead of time - which might explain why more people did not show up. However, many people did come, including Mayor John Thompson.

Quadrangle Put to Use By Development Class

In recent years Manchester High School has gone through a series of changes. The most impressive of these was the institution of the open campus. This may appear beneficial to all concerned, but a very small minority was forgotten. These are the pre-school children in the Child Development classes. In previous years, the children attending the classes were permitted to play in the area adjacent to the student parking lot. Now, because of the students' activities during free time, the area is no longer for little children to be playing.

The Vocational Education Department (a part of the state Department of Education) approved her proposal for a program, and agreed to fund the program. It was then decided that the quadrangle would be a perfect spot to put it. The quadrangle, being completely surrounded by the high school building, is away from the street and parking lot and other such potential accident sites. The play equipment (so far a swing set, a slide, and a jungle gym in the form of a geodesic dome) is being constructed by ninth-grade co-op students. The students are getting a chance to apply practical mathematics and reading abilities. They are also making a small amount of money.

On May 8, a group of MHS students went to the Shakespeare Theater in Stratford, Connecticut. The trip was chaperoned by Mr. Denton and was open to all interested students. The group went to view "Twelfth Night," which is a comedy by William Shakespeare, sometimes known as "The Bard". The play concerned a pair of twins who each thought the other had been lost at sea in a shipwreck.

The theater itself was built to resemble the Stratford, England. It is the only one of its kind in the country. After the play, the students had the opportunity to ask the director and two of the actors a few questions. On the whole, it was an enjoyable day.

Editor's Note: Many members of the faculty at MHS are advising clubs, participating in extra-curricular activities, or enriching the student body through special programs. Often, we take these people and their contributions for granted. During the coming High School World year I plan to let HSW readers take a closer look at these people through interviews revealing their backgrounds, current involvement, and insight into the future. I would appreciate any recommendations of outstanding members whom you feel provoke further interest.

For the past two weeks numerous students, faculty and townspeople have flocked to the high school for the outstanding presentation of "Tell Me That You Love Me, Junie Moon". The halls are still buzzing with interpretation and awe. This play presented by the MHS Stock & Buskin Club was an emotion-packed love story which deeply affected those who saw it.

By using thrust staging techniques, the audience was drawn into the play. Close observation and development of rapport with the characters through intimate involvement intensified the experience. Each member of the cast and staging crews, Mr. DiRosa and

High School World Picks New Editors

As is customary at the end of each school year, the High School World hierarchy, (i.e. editorial staff) has tearfully relinquished its stronghold to a fresh batch of new, talented editors. After conducting interviews with the twenty or more students interested in managing this paper, outgoing editors chose their successors for the 1974-75 school year.

New High School World editors are as follows: Editor-in-chief, George Sweetnam; chief, George Sweetnam; feature editor, Cheryl Hyde; sports editor, Hilary Cooper; art editor, Hilary Cooper; photo editor, Kirk Woolpert. All of the aforementioned students will be seniors next year. Of them, only David Jacobs will be devoting a second year to the tormented world of editing. Dave served as sports editor this past year and did such a fine job that he has agreed to continue under this title next year. George Sweetnam is well-known for his position of editor-in-chief. He has been a hardworking staff member of the High School World for two years and was also a "regular" at the Tuesday after school crash sessions, to meet the 5 o'clock deadline. He has learned the hardships of editing and has written several outstanding articles for the paper in the past. His column "Things, Eds" and numerous articles on Sock 'n Buskin doings are examples of the type of work he turns out. George will be Manchester's AFS summer abroad student this summer and is an honor student.

News editor Cheryl Hyde has written many articles for the High School World this past year. She is a member of the National Honor Society and is currently serving as a second term as an editor upon his recent appointment. The only other two students to accept this post were Diane Kelsey and Carol Larive, who just completed their second year of HSW command. David is widely known for his work in Student Assembly, and is currently vying for presidency of the group next year. He was a member of the Wrestling Squad and is presently on the Varsity Tennis Team. Kirk Woolpert rounds out the list of incoming editors as a photographer. He is a breast stroker on the varsity swimming team and is confident that he's going to "break" Jay Murphy's record next year. He is a teammate of Dave's on the tennis team and is a member of the National Honor Society. He enjoys a good joke, especially when it's on the other guy. He admits devotion to Pepper, who by the way, is the Godfather of his family. These six talented students will be putting out this paper and the next three you see see: Diane Kelsey, Carol Larive, Tom Latham, and Carl Turek will put out only more equal coverage for girls and boys athletic teams. She is presently vice president of the German Club and a member of the National Honor Society. Among her other claims to fame, Cheryl is the daughter of the one and only Philip Hyde, former Manchester High School mathematics prof. Her favorite saying, "Don't forget to mention, I'm in the band."

One Uncommitted Delegate Hears Zullo for Two Hours

By SOL R. COHEN
Ask any knowledgeable Democrat what chance Frank Zullo has been nominated for governor and the answer, invariably, will be "Very little - if any." Ask Frank Zullo and he'll say, "My chances aren't that bad at all, if people will only realize I'm the only candidate with the needed experience to govern."

The former Norwalk mayor is a listless third in the race for the nomination - almost out of sight of the leader, Congressman Ella Grasso, and almost beyond the touch of State Atty. Gen. Robert Killian. It is doubtful, at this point in time - eight weeks before the Democratic state convention - he will even get the required 20 per cent delegate votes to force a primary election.

But Frank Zullo keeps crisscrossing the state - picking up a delegate here and another there - confident he will win out in the end. Thursday night was a case in point. To do had a meeting scheduled in Manchester with this town's four uncommitted delegates to the state convention. He had in the forenoon three of the four couldn't make the meeting. If you think he called off the meeting and saved the round trip drive from Norwalk, you don't know Frank Zullo. Accompanied by four or five aides, he showed up at 7 p.m. in the Manchester Community College auditorium (the place reserved for his meetings) and met for two hours with the one uncommitted delegate sitting in on part of the two-hour session were town committee members Richard McConville and Lee Ann Gunderson. Neither is a delegate to the state convention.

Thompson said he left the meeting still uncommitted. "No commitment was made or requested." Zullo said Thursday night Mrs. Grasso is offering little in the way of positions on state issues and "continues to duck the tough issues and camouflage her non-positions with lofty statements."

He said her recent inventory of her stands on a number of subjects came months after she declared her candidacy and consists of issues with which few Democrats disagree.

Manchester's Camp Kennedy has its first volunteer nurse and its first nine volunteer counselors, Camp Director David Moyer announced today. The camp for retarded children, situated on a knoll overlooking Globe Hollow Swimming Pool, will open June 24 for its 11th consecutive summer operation. It will close Aug. 2.

The volunteer nurse is Mrs. Richard Coughlin of Coventry. The volunteer counselors, all from Manchester, are John Saling, Laura Nadeau, Alex Berger, Stuart Flavell, Janet Caron, Brad Aronson, Scott Aronson, Linda Herbit and Cindy Richter.

Moyer said a need exists for four additional volunteer nurses - to work a half hour, one day a week. Counselors must work at least two weeks and may get additional time for previous experience and promptness in applying, he said.

Grasso Credits Victory To Work Of 'Little People'

By Ed Butler HARTFORD (UPI) - The band struck up "Theme from the Godfather" after the victory announced that Ella Tamburassi Grasso had won the Hartford Democratic gubernatorial primary.

The jubilant crowd stood around all smiles, drinking beer and munching pizza slices, while awaiting the arrival of the winner.

Mrs. Grasso's hard-won victory Thursday night over At-torney General Robert Killian was a big step toward her becoming Connecticut's first woman governor.

The throng that squeezed into a vacant supermarket in the city's Italian South End section also saw in Mrs. Grasso a second chance for an Italian to become the chief executive.

Former Rep. Emilio G. Daddario, the first Italian ever to get the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, lost the 1970 election to Republican Thomas J. Meskill, a New Britain Irishman.

With the GOP divided with internal strife and the specter of Watergate looming over the November elections, Republicans are not expected to fare well this year. The present Republican governor, Meskill, has decided not to seek re-election.

The crowd reared approval when Mrs. Grasso finally arrived to share her victory with the "little people" who had worked hard to get her precinct level to make a Grasso victory possible in Killian's hometown. Ethnic rivalries between Irish Killian supporters and Italian Grasso supporters came to the fore during the hard-fought campaign.

Grasso 1st from Windsor Locks and has been elected to Connecticut the last three and a half years while serving as a representative in Washington.

"It's been a pretty good day," she said while standing near a neighborhood band called "Little Tony Jr. and The Vikings."

After opening with "Theme From the Godfather," the band played other Italian favorites while some of the crowd danced along during a celebration that resembled an Italian wedding, full of merriment and gusto.

"Now we can have a little time to celebrate because then it's on to the convention and on to victory in November," Grasso said.

"So God Bless you, and then we'll be working together on the campaign trail," she said. Carbone, who helped get other big city delegations to come out in support of Grasso, said, "Today I want to thank you for making it possible for Ella Grasso to become our Democratic candidate for governor."

A campaign volunteer, Joe Riddell, was asked whether he felt proud as an Italian that Grasso had won. "I'm proud," he said. "But of course I'm proud. You've got to have the ethnic pride."

Plant Sale Successful

A recent Plant Sale, sponsored by the MHS Science Department, was very successful. A total of 200 plants were sold, reaping an overwhelming profit of $30.

The money will be given to the school library for the purpose of building a film loop for the Biology Department's use.

The disappointment of many, there will not be another plant sale this year. Traditionally, the Science Department sponsors only two plant sales yearly, one at Christmas and one around Easter.

Generally these sales do well, but this last plant sale at an international school in Stockholm, Sweden, was a member of the yearbook staff. # Girls Softball Going Strong Recording one of their finest starts in recent campaigns, the Girls' Softball Team appears to be heading toward a promising season. Sporting a 4-2 record, Coach Mary Fogarty is hopeful for a winning season as well as a possible playoff berth. The girls need a 51 per cent win-loss record to qualify. To do this they must capture 2 out of their next 4 games.

The girls have only lost to Fernald 4-1 and a heartbreaker to East Hartford, 11-10. Fernald is perhaps the best team they will play. During that game, Donna Tesky of Fernald pitched a one-hitter. The wins were over East Hartford, 26-9; Enfield, 14-9; and Penney, 17-2. The Windham game was considered MHS's finest game to date, which included a 2 hit pitching performance by Gail Shimatis.

The comeback of the season was staged against Enfield. They came back from an 8-2 deficit in the sixth inning to win 14-9. Outstanding and consistent offensive has been Anne Gracynaly and Jeanie Halloran. Defensively, Jeanie Halloran, catcher, and Anne Gracynaly, first base, have all turned in fine performances. ### MCC Receives Aetna Grant For Work-Study Students

Highlighting the fifth annual awards banquet of the business careers division of Manchester Community College (MCC) Thursday night was the presentation of $1,500 in scholarship award money by the Aetna Life & Casualty Insurance Company.

Representing Aetna were Bruce T. Wright and John Russo. Dr. Robert H. Fern, dean of faculty at the college, accepted the donation on behalf of MCC President Frederick W. Lowe. The money will be used for students who go to Aetna for a period of practical work experience as part of their programs of study.

Fred A. Ranney, director of the business careers division, welcomed guests in the student center building at MCC, commenting that "this is the largest awards banquet our division has had."

Clayton Lyon of Willimantic received the Fred A. Ranney Award which is given to the outstanding student in the division according to vote of the faculty. Lyon, a high B grade average student, has been active in the Marketing-Distributive Education Clubs of America chapter of which he served as secretary. His award was presented by Richard Vizard, assistant director of the division.

As part of Manchester's Memorial Tree Program, Shadsmere local trees were planted this week across the back of Salter's Pond parking lot on Lydall St. and at Robertson Park on N. School St.

Chair Choo-Choo

(Editor's note: Stories like the following will appear in a special feature section in the Tuesday, May 28, issue of The Herald celebrating the 50th anniversary of the Kiwanis Club of Manchester. Pictures and stories will note their great civic accomplishments despite being handicapped by a high level of "tom-talk" and good fellowship.)

Land Records Computerized, Indexed

Town Clerk Edward J. Tomkiel is proud of Manchester's completely computerized and indexed land-records system—the first of its kind in the State of Connecticut.

No Herald Monday

The Manchester Evening Herald will not publish Monday, Memorial Day, to permit the newspaper's employees and carriers to observe the holiday with their families.
