

Council Rejects DevCo Plea For Sewer District Hearing

COVENTRY

In a resolution which was passed unanimously by the Town Council Monday night, the council refused to call a meeting to establish a sewer district that had been requested by DevCo.

reviewed said petition, and whereas the petition requests the Town Council to call a meeting to consider establishing a sewer district, now, therefore be it resolved that the Town Council notify the attorney for the petitioners that a meeting will not be called to establish a sewer district for the following reasons:

1. The town by ordinance adopted 4 December, 1972, effective January 1, 1973 created a sewer commission and designated the sewer commission as the sewer authority for the Town of Coventry under Chapter 103 of the Connecticut General Statutes.

2. Said sewer authority encompasses the geographical boundaries of the Town of Coventry by statute and therefore the sewer authority has pre-empted the jurisdiction of any district within the Town of Coventry. To allow a district to be formed would be to violate the ordinance involving the sewer authority, and the interest of existing state statutes.

3. The last time that DevCo had submitted their sewer petition Schwebel had advised the Town Council that it could vote on the petition of the sewer district rather than the signers of the petition.

4. The petition was subsequently withdrawn because of legal technicalities surrounding the posting of the notice for the meeting.

5. The Sewer Commission came into being on Jan. 1973 but since that time not one person has been appointed to that commission.

6. Notices have recently been sent to the two political parties in town with recommendations for possible appointments to the commission.

7. When the council passed the motion on the sewer petition three in the audience applauded the action.

8. Several residents expressed concern that Plains Rd. should not be closed to traffic during construction of the sewer line.

9. The council has directed the town manager to have the superintendent of streets install signs reducing the speed on Plains Rd. to 20 miles per hour and to paint two crosswalks at the area.

10. Cemeteries in town will be closed during the dark hours to cars by direction taken at the council meeting. This does not preclude residents from entering the cemeteries on foot if they so choose after dark.

Young Explains Problems With 'Summer Challenge'

VERNON
BARBARA RICHMOND
The proposed "Summer Challenge" program for the Tri-Town area of Vernon, Tolland, and Ellington, has run into some stumbling blocks, and James Young, director of the Tri-Town Youth Services Bureau, attempted to explain the reasons at a press conference Monday.

The program, which is federally funded, is intended to provide a low-budget camping program for boys in the three towns who are selected to participate.

Young said he had been assured that $11,222 in federal funds would be forthcoming. At the press conference, he provided copies of all the memos directed to Vernon Mayor Frank McCoy including one in which he asked the mayor to hire Keith Outworth, a local young man for the position of director of the program.

He said that memo was delivered June 4 and on June 12 he received a verbal denial of the request through the mayor's secretary. Young said memo was also upset by a statement he said the mayor made indicating that there had been a cut in the federal funding and that "Young may have been responsible for it."

Young termed the mayor's denial as an entirely unjustified one in which he said he had explained to the mayor in a memo in which he plainly explained that he would accept the position of director of the program if he was responsible for the cut in funding.

Young also expressed his frustration with the program, "I am totally unable to understand why the mayor would make such a statement, then refuse to retract it when told that he was in error. I have no desire to make this a political affair. I deal openly and honestly and when I have made an error I admit it," Young commented.

He also questioned a comment he said the mayor made concerning a re-evaluation of the youth bureau programs stating, "I do not see any way in which this has any bearing on the summer program."

VERNON
Dr. Francis H. Burke of Park St., Rockville, has resigned as an assistant medical examiner of Tolland County and Dr. Harold Shapiro, also of Rockville, has been appointed to fill the position.

Court Cases

CIRCUIT COURT 12
Manchester Superior
Paul M. Landolina, 20, of no certain address, pleaded not guilty to a charge of second-degree manslaughter Monday in connection with the accident June 20 on Spring St. fatal to Steven Durfield, 19, of 98 Harlan Rd., a passenger in one of the two cars involved.

Other charges against Landolina stemming from his actions on June 20 are within the jurisdiction of the circuit court. They are second-degree larceny, reckless driving, evading responsibility and operating a motor vehicle while license suspended.

Landolina has not been able to post $10,000 bond set at his arrest June 26 after he was discharged from Manchester Memorial Hospital due to injuries in the June 20 crash. He is being held in the state Correctional Center in Hartford.

Federal Reserve Needs Flexibility

A keystone in the federal government's role as a regulator of the nation's economy is the Federal Reserve System which through its control over the banking industry can be likened to a brakeman on a train.

Through its powers it can increase or decrease the flow of currency in the economy and it tightens or loosens the money supply in attempts to stabilize business cycles of slumps and booms. Traditionally, it is prone to increase the money supply when the economy begins to show signs of slowing down to a point where a recession appears in the offing and tightens the supply, through its discount rate, when the economy appears to be on verge of becoming over heated.

The effectiveness of these actions hinges on the evaluation of the various economic indicators of several other agencies dealing with gross national product, consumer price indexes, unemployment, etc.

This is further compounded by the various possible interpretations those in the decision-making seats of power can and do make.

The point is that in assessing the current inflation picture, Federal Reserve seems to be a focal point and its actions can determine to a large degree the economy in the coming months. Right now, it is sticking to a tight money course but pressures are mounting to have it switch to a loose-money course.

If Federal Reserve were the only influence on the economy this strategy would be more effective than it is now.

But Federal Reserve deals primarily in the area of economic considerations. The Congress and the Administration are confronted with political realities. This is reflected in the push for a tax cut for individual taxpayers, various programs to "pump prime" the economy, and other actions over which Federal Reserve has no direct control.

Federal Reserve itself cannot do it alone and if it were left to do the task alone it is questionable whether its actions could be more effective because of its present structure.

We think the Congress, the Federal Reserve Board, and the Administration should review Federal Reserve's present structure toward the end of making it more effective and responsible to the economic changes of the nation as a whole and more particularly the economic differences within and among the 12 districts.

A high priority should be given to studying the present alignment of districts along geographic lines and revising the district boundaries to represent economic entities.

Ways should be considered to make Federal Reserve more flexible. Today, its actions have national overall impact which means that an increase or decrease in the amount of money supply, for example, is measured nationally but may not be dispersed throughout the nation where it will have the most benefit. The result is that even if national statistics reflect a healthy economy there remain pockets of economic hardship and area recessions.

Perhaps some formula could be devised to decrease money in districts where there seems to be surplus and an increase in districts where credit funds are in short supply.

Too much economic growth today is concentrated in too few areas. We believe a key to controlling inflation is not only controlling the money supply but in providing incentives to direct investments where they will reflect the most increased productivity.

Federal Reserve, we think, could be modernized to shape such a program. Many of the problems facing urbanized areas today are directly related to the practice of bringing people to the jobs rather than jobs to the people.

This growth can be a burden to communities because the local tax base does not keep pace with the demand for streets, housing, schools, and other services.

While we do not advocate zero economic growth for any state or community, we think it would be prudent to bring some order to it and slow it down to manageable proportions.

A system under which investment money would be more attracted to areas of economic decline or very slow growth and less attracted to mature economic areas seems worth considering.

What we are concerned with is that the federal government, in attempting to regulate the overall economy can succeed in national terms under the present structure, but it does little, if any, to correct perennial economic soft spots in our economy. It is these soft spots which are too often the last to share in the fruits of national economic prosperity and the first to feel the pinch of recession.

By making Federal Reserve districts geographic units rather than geographic ones, flexible district discount rates and other investment incentives or disincentives, the Federal Reserve Board could become an important tool in strengthening the economy by being able to cope with its components more selectively in a broader confines of regional as well as national goals.

The flow of money is basic to our economy but where it flows is even more important if we are to make economic opportunities for our people, wherever they live, more equitable. Until this equity is attained the problems we now have, which have economic roots, will be more difficult to resolve.

Today's Thought

Woman behold thy Son, Son behold thy mother. John 19:27
It wasn't easy for Jesus to command His mother and John to each other's care. Even when it is necessary and desirable, it is not easy to hand those whom you love to the care of others because it is hard to see others do what you desperately want to do yourself. It is difficult to commend our loved ones fully to God's care, yet only in His care can fallness of life come.

The Nuclear Debate

NEW YORK — There is a time when pessimistic prophecies are better than optimistic. Thus it is with Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's press briefings, ruling out an arms limitation agreement at the Moscow summit as virtually "impossible."

If Mr. Nixon and Communist Party Chairman Leonid Brezhnev tried to push it through, given the Watergate climate, the results would be suspect. It is the case of no news being better than good news when there is a canker in all news.

The problem with the summit trip lies in the fact that the American-Russian detente at the moment has nowhere to go substantially. This would be true anyway, Watergate or no Watergate.

The Russians tied the trade and credit agreements in knots by their excesses on their dissenters and on Jewish emigration. They cast a shadow over the second round of SALT talks by their haste in interpreting the first SALT agreement as allowing them to improve their nuclear flexibility and power with multiple re-entry warheads (MIRV), to the surprise of many Americans and the dismay of Congress.

Given the circumstances, the best that the detente can probably do is to survive. But in order to have it survive, the summit is important. It is another classic case of having to run fast in order to stand still.

This would sound pretty disheartening except for the fact that we have finally got a

Nurses Submit Dispute Data

TO THE EDITOR:
The Manchester Public Health nurses frequently have been confronted by many concerned individuals and groups in the community regarding the existing dispute between the agency and staff and the Board of Directors. Respectful of the public's right to know, we submit the following data:

Mrs. Jean Bates, agency director left her position June 30. The agency staff members have not been informed of any plan by the board to fill this void. At present, we intend to remain in our positions in acknowledgment of the need and the right of our patients, friends and other professionals who home care services. In order to fulfill this goal, the staff is in the process of establishing itself as an organized bargaining unit of the Connecticut Nurses Association. This action was imperative to protect our jobs which we felt were in jeopardy during negotiations, based on statements by board members that the nurses could be easily replaced. The issues remain unresolved to date, with no apparent solution in sight.

The lay Board of Directors still feel that their responsibility is to control and direct nursing practice. The professional nurse is responsible to the consumer for upholding standards of practice for the protection of the health and well being of the community but the public must have the development of those standards to the professionals. The only responsibility of the lay board is funding of the agency as well as approving programs and determining policy with the guidance of the Professional Advisory Committee and the director of nurses. Yet they have forced the resignation of a qualified director of nurses and rejected outside consultation or assistance of the Professional Advisory Committee and National League for Nursing. The reason for the employment of professionals is to, through their expert knowledge and skills, carry out the practice of nursing and delivery of patient care. For these reasons, it is critical that qualified professionals are employed in all areas of a public health agency.

Through lack of action and failure to face these issues, the community is being deprived of the best of nursing care.

News Leaks?
If we weren't convinced they're well-orchestrated tries at whitewash and brainwash, we'd call them hogwash. We're talking about the administration's campaign against the media — spreading the implication that the words "news leak" are dirty four-letter words and shouldn't be spoken in mixed company. Mixed company, in this instance, includes those who created Watergate and its coverup, the "plumbers," the "dirty tricks" and what have you on one side, and the press, TV and radio, who reported them, on the other.

They'd have you forget the alternative — secrecy. And, they'd have you forget that it was secrecy that started it all in the first place. "Secrecy" — a sinister word if there ever was one.

And how is the administration spreading its charge of "news leak"? How else? Through the very same people (the press, TV and radio) who have become the whipping boys. "The Free Press," it's called. And that's what it is to those who are criticizing it, dating back to Spiro Agnew and 1969.

It's columns, as well as the air waves, are circulating those "news leak" charges objectively, and just as objectively as they circulated the confirmed reports of Watergate and its coverup; the "plumbers," the "dirty tricks," and what have you.

It's as if the administration is saying, "Sure the American press is free. Thank goodness it's at our beck and call — and free, yet."

It seems, the administration wants the press to print, and TV and radio to broad-

Sincere Thanks
TO THE EDITOR:
May I contribute a few words of appreciation and commendation for the work of the nursing staff of the Manchester Public Health Agency. The staff did so much for me and my late husband in our time of need that their very presence offered courage and hope. In time of emergency or stress the association gives to the people of this area much more than can be equated in dollars and cents.

To the entire staff, including Mrs. Jean Bates and Mrs. Phyllis Seich, may I offer a most sincere thank you for its unselfish service to the community.

TO THE PHANTOM CALLER:
Tuesday, June 25, I was elected co-chairman of the Manchester Youth Commission. I felt it was a great honor to be nominated and elected by the other members of this fine commission.

Thursday, June 27, there was an article published in The Herald and in a Hartford paper about my appointment. However, Friday, June 28, I received a letter from you, a very immature person in their late 40's, began calling me late. She didn't even bother to leave her name. I would gladly meet with anyone who requested a meeting. I think this is a more reasonable and mature approach.

Slater St. Zone Change Meets Area Opposition

By DOUG BEVINS
A dozen Tolland Tpk. residents claimed traffic aggravation, drainage problems, and "spot zoning" in opposing an industrial zone change of Slater St. at Monday night public hearings before the Manchester Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC).

Thomas Landers of 501 1/2 Tolland Tpk., also opposing the zone change, submitted a protest petition with about 50 signatures.

The only favorable comment in Monday night's hearing came in a letter from Town Manager Robert Weiss, who strongly recommended rezoning approval to keep Multi-Circuits in Manchester.

A new obstacle has developed in the proposed Howard Johnson Campground on the former KD Camp property off Rt. 74. Surveyor Everett Gardner, representing Ken Parsons of Howard Johnson's of Vernon, was told Monday that Town Counsel Harold Garity has ruled N. Patton Rd., the entrance to the proposed campground, a legally discontinued road. Garity said the action took place at a town meeting in 1925, but no selection records are available dating back far to prove that the action was ratified.

Furthermore, town counsel does not explain exactly where this ruling leaves Parsons, or adjoining landowners. PZC members were in agreement, however, that it can't landlock anyone.

Garity told the commission that Parsons was aware of the situation since the beginning of the project, and only planned to improve the town property.

The commission members met with Parsons Tuesday hours last week and reportedly told him they would have no new questions on all the information requested at that time was furnished.

Besides the technicality of the entrance road, questions were raised last night concerning parts of the property which may fall into the wetlands act. The commission will ask Parsons for another extension, and possibly another meeting. It plans to act on July 15.

BETTER MILEAGE SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —

There's a lot of truth in the report that radial tires provide better gas mileage, according to experts.

A Treasury Department staff study found that radials can improve gas mileage by 10 per cent. Fuel consumption rates were measured in cars with and without radials at 30, 50 and 70 miles per hour. Savings overall were 10 per cent greater on cars with radials.

Women's Editor

The Gramercy Suite of the New York Hilton Hotel was the scene of a fashion breakfast hosted by the Home Products Division of Union Carbide Corp. as part of the New York Couture Business Council's 53rd Press Week. The highlight of the event was a fashion show presenting "Glad" Trash Fashions, clever cover-ups created from the company's Trash Bag. Attractive models paraded the latest styles of what one editor called the "Fad of the Future" — stadium cover-up with hood, man's raincoat, and bicycle safety vests designed especially to provide visibility for children who must be out during the early morning or late evening.

Fashions were decorated attractively with shiny vinyl patches and were suitable for reflecting, sailing, golfers, sailors, etc. Many had tape that adds light — great for rainy days. To protect those expensive ski parkas, the bags (green in color) were slit at the head and arm openings making instant waterproof ponchos.

The directions will be featured on the "Glad" Trash Bag box in the fall, but for those of you in a hurry, here is a copy of the directions which you may like to look at. Many of the editors thought it would be a good project for fall fairs, very useful, and also inexpensive.

Landscape Your Living Space
Apartment dwellers are learning that living close to nature need not be just a fantasy. Even in a large city, where the nearest tree is probably enclosed by a park fence, there's a lot you can do to encourage a green state of mind.

If you feel that your horticultural talents are limited, try a decor emphasizing floral fabrics and art. The natural textures of stone, bamboo, grass cloth, clay, and woven accessories are perfect foils for indoor landscaping.

Having decided on your plant style, and adopting it to your lifestyle, consider how best to display it. One suggestion made in a recent Glamour Magazine survey was to turn a wire rack on its side and use the bottle spaces for clear or colored plastic pots. Put an inch and a half of pebbles in the pots for proper drainage, then add the soil.

Another possible method is using one or more ladders, painted interesting colors, as decorative stands for plants. Some can sit on the rugs, others can hang. If necessary, widen the rungs with wooden slats to accommodate larger-size pots.

At last, but not least, if you're still up in the air about where to show off your greenery, try a floating platform. Set wooden slatting in a frame and suspend it from the ceiling. Visibility of the foliage through the slats gives an open airy feeling to your room.

Leave the suburbanites to tend their dandelions and ragweed, while you busy yourself landscaping your living space.

We Didn't Know That

A letter from the Mayonaisse and Salad Dressings Institute in Atlanta, Ga. has presented a few facts that we felt would be beneficial to pass along.
The letter deals with the reports of food poisoning at public functions and states that when this does happen "The finger is frequently pointed at mayonaisse as the cause."
Robert H. Kellen, the institute president, writes "You should know that there is no record in any technical or scientific journal of any case of food poisoning associating the consumption of commercially-prepared mayonaisse or salad dressings with the cause. The reason (well known among micro-biologists) is because of the vinegar medium of dressings. In fact, the organisms normally associated with the food poisonings are completely destroyed by the acid medium of dressing products."

While he stresses the need for proper sanitation procedures in the preparation of foods using mayonaisse, he says people can become ill if food poisoning bacteria is present in potatoes, eggs, or macaroni, whether or not dressings are added.

"We recommend that salads which commercially-prepared dressings have been added, be refrigerated. However, the dressing itself need not be. The words 'Refrigerate After Opening,' which frequently appear on the label or closure of dressings are simply a suggestion to help the homemaker preserve the fresh taste of the product. It is completely safe stored at room temperature." Kellen states.

An Evening In The Islands
Everyone thinks the U.S. Virgin Islands are located at a latitude of 18 degrees North and a longitude of 66 degrees West, but the 'Islands' appeared in mid-Manhattan recently, complete with calypso sounds, favorite foods, and even the First Lady.
Mrs. Melvin H. Evans, wife of U.S. Virgin Islands governor, presided at an "Evening In The Islands," at New York's new indoor-outdoor restaurant, Pot au Feu, in the Rockefeller Center area. The restaurant, offering a soup and stew menu, re-created Mrs. Evans' favorite spot, Island Black Bean.
Also joining the festivities were Earlene Phipps, "Miss St. Thomas," and Seveta Ott Steinmann, "Miss St. Croix."
What fashion news does Mrs. Evans have for the nation's fashion press? "I'll tell them what to wear," she said, "but I can tell them where to wear it. I know some lovely islands!"

An Old Chinese Proverb
There is a delightful Chinese proverb that may help some of us float through at least part of the day:
"The birds of worry and care fly above your head, this you cannot change. But if they build nests in your hair, this you can prevent."

Williams-Jones

Gloria Diane Jones of Vernon and Gary Warner Williams of Rockville, exchanged wedding vows June 22 at Sacred Heart Church, Vernon.
The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland C. Jones of 88 Brent Dr., Vernon. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Alice Williams of Rockville and Carlton Williams of East Hartford.
The Rev. Edward Konopka of Sacred Heart Church officiated at the double-ring ceremony.
The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown fashioned of imported organza and Abnoco lace, styled with fitted lace bodice, mandarin collar accented with petite yellow satin bows, full Bishop sleeves with lace cuffs, also accented with bows, and a full skirt edged with lace. She wore a full chapel veil attached to a Camello cap edged with lace and accented with bows. She carried a cascade of pink and turquoise carnations and purple statice.
Mrs. Barbara Patten of Manchester was matron of honor. She wore a blue gown accented with white and red. She wore a white satin ribbon in her hair and carried a colonial bouquet of blue, white and red carnations, daisies, roses and baby's breath with blue streamers.
Miss Kathryn J. White of Tolland, was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a lavender crepe gown with chintilly lace trim fashioned with fitted bodice, neckline with wide white ruffles, white silk collar and short puffed sleeves, A-line skirt belted with self streamers. She wore a matching chintilly lace with matching eyelet streamers. She carried lavender daisies with lavender miniature carnations accented with baby's breath and lavender streamers.
Bridesmaids were Marie Rookie and Margaret M. White of Rockville, the bride's sister; and Mrs. Edmund Piel of 7 Deerfield Lane, South Windsor.
The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown designed with Empire waist and short sleeves. Her veil of imported silk illusion was edged with matching lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses.
Miss Denise Baldega of South

Mrs. Gary W. Williams

A reception was held at Sacred Heart Parish Center, Vernon, immediately following the ceremony. A second reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.
Mrs. Williams is employed at LaPointe Industries, Inc. of Rockville. Mr. Williams is employed by Pandy Manufacturing Co. of Manchester.
The male members of the family took charge of the freer. My husband was in his glory as he explained to all who were invited to the church.
A renovation work night is scheduled for tonight from 7 to 9:30 at Emanuel Lutheran Church. Men of the church are invited to volunteer their services for projects relating to the renovation of the church.
Jehovah's Witnesses will have a group discussion tonight at 7:30 at Kingdom Hall.
A service of Holy Communion will be Wednesday at 10 a.m. at St. Mary's Episcopal Church.
The scholarship committee of Emanuel Lutheran Church will meet tonight at 7:30 at the church.
Winning scores in the Senior Citizens Pinochle Club final game of the season on Thursday at the Army and Navy Club are: Paul Scheutz, 688; Mabel Wilson, 593; Felix Jesanis, 592; and Gladys Seelert, 583.
"Are we good ice cream makers or are we good ice cream makers?" asked my husband giving the kids a conspiratorial wink.
"We're good ice cream makers," agreed John holding out his bowl for more. "I mean for homemade stuff it's really good — almost as good as what you buy in the store."

Costanzo-White

Union Congregational Church, Rockville, was the scene June 29 of the marriage of Karen Sue White of Tolland and Victor Joseph Costanzo of Bolton.
The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Joyce Meloy of Cervens Rd., Tolland, and the late John F. White Jr. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Costanzo of 145 Hebron Rd., Bolton.
The Rev. Lyman Reed of Rockville performed the double-ring ceremony. The church was decorated with flowers. David Rojewski of Abington was organist and soloist.
The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown accented with white and pink, fitted lace bodice with Victorian sleeves, a redingote effect with A-line skirt front with lace appliques, and an attached chapel-length train. Her silk illusion chapel-length veil with wide chintilly lace border was attached to a Camello cap of lace and seed pearls. She carried White roses, miniature carnations accented with lavender baby's breath and her great-grandmother's Czechoslovakian prayer book.
Miss Kathryn J. White of Tolland, was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a lavender crepe gown with chintilly lace trim fashioned with fitted bodice, neckline with wide white ruffles, white silk collar and short puffed sleeves, A-line skirt belted with self streamers. She wore a matching chintilly lace with matching eyelet streamers. She carried lavender daisies with lavender miniature carnations accented with baby's breath and lavender streamers.
Bridesmaids were Marie Rookie and Margaret M. White of Rockville, the bride's sister; and Mrs. Edmund Piel of 7 Deerfield Lane, South Windsor.
The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown designed with Empire waist and short sleeves. Her veil of imported silk illusion was edged with matching lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

Piela-Green

Edna June Green of Manchester and David Francis Edmund Piela of Bolton, exchanged wedding vows June 7 at St. Margaret Mary Church, South Windsor.
The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Green of 17 Trumbull St. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Piel of 7 Deerfield Lane, South Windsor.
The Rev. William McGrath officiated.
The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown designed with Empire waist and short sleeves. Her veil of imported silk illusion was edged with matching lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses.
Miss Denise Baldega of South

Mr. and Mrs. David F. Piela

Windor was maid of honor. She wore a pink lace gown fashioned with short sleeves. She carried pink carnations.
Miss Virginia Lee Green of Manchester, the bride's sister, and Daria Tedford of Manchester, were bridesmaids. Their gowns were similar to that worn by the bride, accented with Empire waist and short sleeves. They carried blue carnations.
Daniel Piel of South Windsor, was his brother's best man. Users were Michael Piel of South Windsor, the bridegroom's brother; and Steven Dubé of East Hartford.
A reception was held at the Bolton Lake House, after which the couple left on a two-week trip to the Berkshire Mountains in Otis, Mass. They will reside in Bolton.
Three couples of Emanuel Lutheran Church were recognized and presented with commemorative plaques on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversaries.
They are: Mr. and Mrs. Albert Harrison, 33 Myrtle St.; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Peterson, 76 Westminister Rd.; and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zimmerman, 152 Bolton Ave. They were presented with gifts by Pastor Ronald J. Fournier during a recent worship service.
Other couples celebrating anniversaries were honored and all husbands and wives had an opportunity to renew their marriage vows as part of the service.

Church Notes Couples' 50th Anniversaries

"In an age when the family is being weakened, there are some important steps that can be taken to strengthen it," the Rev. Fournier said in his sermon.
Kenneth Bensen played trumpet prelude and Ronald Erickson was soloist for the special anniversary celebration.
You don't have to be rich to make a big splash this summer! It's a full-sized, 11-foot sailboat with 85 square feet of sail and a roomy, air-filled cockpit. It's a sturdy, lightweight vessel made of unbreakable, un-sinkable Corin. A material that's more tougher than fiberglass... give your family a Sunflower for summer. It's easy to buy. Easy to sail. Easy to live. In fact, you can fit it in the top of your car... and take it anywhere. And make a big splash wherever you go. Sunflower. $249.00

Earns Degree

George F. Bradlau of Ithaca, N.Y., formerly of Manchester, received a Doctor of Law degree at commencement exercises at Cornell University on June 3.
He has been appointed a special assistant, attorney general for the State of New York, and will join the office of the special prosecutor in New York City. This commission was set up by former Governor Nelson Rockefeller to investigate and prosecute corruption in the New York City criminal justice system.
Dr. Bradlau received his undergraduate education at Colgate University where he was a member of Sigma Chi Delta and Phi Beta Kappa.
He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Bradlau of Woodbury and is married to the former Miss Susan Magowan of Newburyport, Mass.

Bellware-Taggart

Assumption Church, Manchester, was the scene June 22 of the marriage of Lynn M. Taggart of Manchester and Raymond E. Bellware Jr. of East Hartford.
The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David A. Towers of 590 W. Middle Tpk., East Hartford. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Bellware Sr. of East Hartford.
The Rev. Paul Trique celebrated the nuptial Mass and performed the double-ring ceremony. The church was decorated with carnations.
The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown designed with Empire waist, short sleeves and attached train. She wore a chapel-length mantilla veil and carried a cascade of white roses.
Mrs. Joyce Arnini of Elmwood was maid of honor. She wore a white and blue flowered gown designed with Empire waist, puffed short sleeves, and square neckline. She wore a blue picture hat and carried a cascade of yellow roses and blue carnations.
Bridesmaids were Miss Cheryl Taggart of Manchester, the bride's sister; Mrs. Kathleen Varriale of Windsor, the bridegroom's sister; and Miss Francis Carisio of Meriden. They wore gowns similar to that worn by the bride, accented with Empire waist and short sleeves. They wore yellow picture hats and carried cascades of yellow roses and white carnations.
Miss Brenda Towers of East Bridgewater, Mass., the bride's niece, was flower girl. Her gown was similar to that worn by the bride, accented with Empire waist and short sleeves. She carried a basket of blue daisies and white carnations.
Paul J. Arnini of Elmwood was best man. Users were Kenneth Varriale of Windsor, the bridegroom's brother-in-law; James Garey of Hartford; and Gilbert Soucy of Andover. Craig Johnson of Hartford was ring bearer.

Mrs. Raymond E. Bellware Jr.

We All Scream For Ice Cream

According to my husband, when he was a boy, the best thing about the 4th of July was the homemade, hand-churned strawberry ice cream. It was better than the hamburgers, or the volleyball game, or even the fire crackers.
To hear my husband tell it (and we HAVE heard him tell it many times) making the ice cream was more fun than eating it.
The women prepared the custard of strawberries, sugar and cream. The men packed the freezer with layers of chipped ice and rock salt. Everywhere down to the smallest child, had a chance to turn the crank. The big decision was "Who licks the dasher?" and that was determined by drawing lots.
Last year, in an effort to prove that I was as good a woman as grandma, I decided to surprise my husband with some hand-churned strawberry ice cream of my own.
I went to the hardware store and explained to the salesman that I was looking for an old-fashioned ice cream freezer. The kind my husband had had when he was a boy.
The salesman pulled his ear thoughtfully. Then he led me past a display of shiny electric ice cream freezers to the store room, where high on a shelf he had an old crank type freezer. He blew some dust off the box and handed it to me proudly.
"It's almost an antique," he said, "we don't get much call for these anymore."
On the morning of the 4th of July I got up very early to prepare the strawberry custard mixture. I used the same recipe my husband's grandmother used and like every recipe that comes from a grandmother it was a complicated labor of love.
