Independence Day

Tomorrow is the Fourth of July. This 198th anniversary of the American Declaration of Independence will be observed in a quiet and sober manner by most of us for those 198 years have placed a burden on our nation which the drafters of the Declaration of Independence could hardly foresee.

Where the Declaration came about as the ultimate act against the oppression of freedom by a distant and indifferent king, there is now, an historic confrontation being staged in the courts which could affect some of the concepts embodied in the U.S. Constitution which was drafted following the American Revolution that started with the Declaration of Independence.

But those who fear for America forget those words in our Constitution which stated the purpose of our founding fathers was the creation of a "more perfect union."

This phrase implies their humble knowledge that the United States of America was not born perfect; that the precepts upon which it is based were not inviolate; and that each generation in the context of its own experience and needs must face up to the responsibilities of self-government.

The many problems that face us, the possible impeachment and others, are not products of our Revolutionary concepts but our failure to live up to the opportunities gained for us by the Declaration of Independence and formalized in our Constitution.

It could be said with some logic the American Revolution was a struggle between the rights of free men to remain free and the rights of the state. The basic issues in the judicial, legislative and executive struggles of today are but a continuation of that conflict.

The House Judiciary Committee is conducting an inquiry which could lead to the second attempt to impeach a president in our history.

In the courts also are suits which touch on the lives of all of us as these actions seek to limit or broaden governmental powers over our lives.

There are those who fear the country cannot endure an impeachment proceeding. There are those who fear the courts are assuming powers in areas alien to it. There are those who fear the system of checks and balances has outlived its usefulness.

Humphrey, Mills, Watergate

What are the campaign managers for Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey and Rep. Wilbur D. Mills doing in the Watergate investigation? Aides of both have invoked the Fifth Amendment and declined to testify about the receipts of thousands of dollars in corporate contributions in the 1972 primary campaign.

Jack Chestnut, who headed Humphrey's unsuccessful race for the Democratic presidential nomination, and Joseph Johnson, former chairman of the Mills for President organizations, invoked the privilege against self-incrimination when asked to testify under oath.

Notables' Tax Shelter

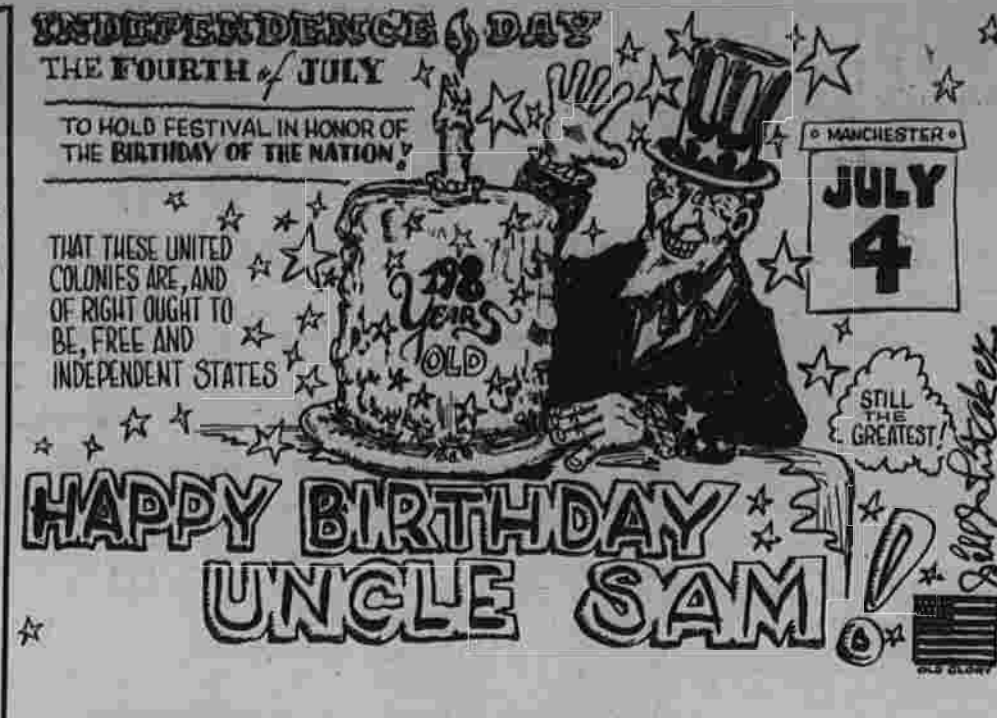

Movie and television stars, and other well-known personalities, invested in an oil-drilling tax shelter that is under criminal investigation by the Securities and Exchange Commission. The Home-Stake Production Co. of Tulsa, Okla., had taken in $100 million or more, before it went into bankruptcy proceedings last September, a lawyer for the trustee revealed.

The Wall Street Journal gave a lengthy list of investors, among them Sen. Jacob J. Javits, Republican liberal of New York; Ernest F. Hollings, South Carolina Democrat; Lisa Minelli, Tony Curtis, Mia Farrow, stage and screen stars; and other notables, which included some big bankers. Hollings called the group

"the best" he has ever been listed with. Javits said it was an ordinary business investment to be written off on his 1974 tax return.

Tax shelters of this kind involve an extremely high degree of risk. They attract wealthy investors who have little to lose and much to gain if the adventure succeeds because they must pay high taxes anyway.

For each tax shelter that returns large rewards, dozens are unsuccessful, particularly in oil and gas. They appear to offer participants an opportunity to pool their funds in an oil venture managed by an experienced oil company. Only this time the venture flopped, as so many do, and the bankruptcy court is left to untangle the mess.

Capital Fare

WASHINGTON — Barbara Ward, the economist, and Dr. Jean Mayer, the nutritionist, were not kidding the other day when they tried to put the world food shortage in terms of the average individual would understand.

Miss Ward wants the well-to-do to pass up just one hamburger a week. Dr. Mayer urges worldwide campaigns for popular breast feeding. What both are saying is that the shortage of food around the globe is a problem that some day will be felt in every American home unless everybody gets together to help conserve what is available.

Here in America we all tend to see the food shortage as something afflicting various poverty-stricken foreign countries, such as those of black Africa. But the report of the Senate Select Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs was a shocker. It concluded bluntly that even in affluent America the needy are now hungrier and poorer than they were four years ago.

The report was not partisan production. A "food action" program proposed by Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., already had attracted support on both sides of the (Congressional) aisle and it was put together with the consultation assistance of Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. Basically, the program urges a substantial increase in assistance to needy countries, and when both Democrats and Republicans agree on legislation that would increase the cost of foreign aid that is news.

Agriculture Department experts are optimistic about U.S. food supplies this year. They have estimated a harvest of 2.1 billion bushels of wheat, but would be ample for domestic needs of 700 million bushels and for the sale of a billion bushels abroad, leaving a carryover of 350 million bushels for emergency aid abroad.

But the experts' prophecies are not Gospel. They are dependent on bountiful American harvests, which could be devastated by the weather, and by the absence of any major crop failures in other grain-producing countries. Moreover, it is not comforting to reflect that world food stocks have fallen to their lowest level in 20 years while the world's population continues to grow at a rate of 2 per cent a year.

Consider the report of the Food and Agriculture Organization, a United Nations division which would be ample for domestic needs of 700 million bushels and for the sale of a billion bushels abroad, leaving a carryover of 350 million bushels for emergency aid abroad.

Why Does Jane Complain?

By Lee Roderick (Special to the Herald)

WASHINGTON — A woman's place is in the home. Education is wasted upon women. Working women don't need as much money as working men. There are no "qualified" women for most executive and academic jobs. Just ask any man.

That's why Jane complains. Because for too long men, armed with such stereotyped arguments, have denied what Jane needs. And since almost every institution in American society is male dominated, it is easy to understand why that Jane "needs" is not necessarily what Jane wants.

One giant institution, however, has been shaken to its foundations by Jane with the announcement that federal funds will be withheld from schools which practice sex discrimination in their admission, student treatment and employment policies. At stake is the nearly $10 billion dollar federal share of the $96 billion dollars the nation will spend on education this year.

The proposed regulation would affect, among others, virtually all public school systems in the country, as well as almost 2,500 institutions of post-secondary education, currently receiving federal funds," said Secretary Caspar Weinberger of the Department of Health, Education & Welfare in announcing the decision.

"Congress was decreed that sex discrimination in education cannot be allowed to persist where federal funds are involved," he added. "Exempted, however, are all military schools and many religious schools."

One of the driving forces behind the women's movement in academia is the Washington, D.C. based Project on the Status and Education of Women, sponsored by the Association of Colleges and headed by Dr. Bernice "Bunny" Sandler. In a paper prepared for the association, she challenged some of those "myths" about women and education.

A woman's place is in the home. "If women's place is in the home, then why are women, in rapidly increasing numbers, leaving the home to work? Women are nearly half of the work force and half the mothers of school age children now work."

Education is wasted on women. "Another myth... (a) Study indicates that 91 per cent of women with doctorates were working. The more education a woman has, the more likely she is to work."

Working women don't need as much money. "Is anyone seriously suggesting that we stop paying people on the basis of merit but begin to pay them on the basis of need?... Study after study confirms that most women work for the same compelling economic reasons that men do."

There are no "qualified" women around to hire. "Somehow women are qualified enough to obtain doctorates but not qualified enough to be hired. Studies suggest that some women doctorates are somewhat better qualified than men doctorates — not because women are smarter but, as a result of the greater difficulty they encounter, generally only the exceptionally well qualified women have been able to earn the degree."

Another indication of why Jane — and Bunny Sandler — complain is that during the 1968-69 school year, 19 per cent of faculty members in four year institutions of higher learning were women. A full decade in academia is the Washington, D.C. based Project on the Status and Education of Women, sponsored by the Association of

The Stamp Collector

By Russ MacKendrick

There will be a big wing-ding at New York City this coming weekend — the IN-JUN-PEX. Don't look for war whoops or rain dances; it just means International All-Jun Stamp and Literature Exhibition. The first in history, it is being put on by young folks from U.S., Canada, Italy, Germany, Switzerland, and Mexico. Everyone is welcome to attend, but participation is limited to the age of 9 to 18. So Dad can come along if he doesn't butt into the conversation too much.

This is the season for visitors and businesses and their employees should keep it in mind.

The other day we received this testimonial from a fellow who spends the winters in Florida and summers at the Cape:

"We went to Ma Ma Mia's Cuisine for dinner. The food and service were excellent. We shall return."

A merchant asked the other day if it is illegal to make a U-turn on Main Street.

He perhaps tried to answer his own question when he commented there aren't any posted signs to that effect.

However, a check with the police department reveals that a Main Street U-turn is illegal.

Good news for parents who have done a better job than they seem to be getting credit for these days:

A survey submitted to 5,000 teenagers reveals that two-thirds of the young people say they are able to communicate openly with their parents on nearly every subject, and are accepted for what they are, not what parents want them to be.

Vice President Gerald Ford has seen a lot of the country this year.

There are reports some members of the Republican National Committee are disturbed about the expense of Ford's travels. Since Jan. 1, the bill for plane fares amounts to more than $400,000.

While Ford speaks at many fund-raising affairs, the national committee generally only goes 10 per cent of such proceeds.

From Congressional Action:

"As the Ways and Means Committee continues drafting a tax reform bill, it hears a lot of strange proposals. Rep. Burke (D-Mass.) proposes giving individuals a seven per cent investment tax credit for the purchase of shovels, hoes and other equipment used to work home vegetable gardens. What with food prices being what they are, the congressman figures people ought to be encouraged to start gardens in their own back yards."

"Now, this is okay if you have a back yard or even a front yard, but you could feel discriminated against if you are an apartment or a city dweller that doesn't have either."

"Like we say, the committee hears some strange proposals. Stranger still, the committee approved this one."

On the telephone, a resident gave us this comment:

"We hope that one of these days the ordinance prohibiting drinking of alcoholic beverages on town property will be enforced."

That seems like a reasonable request.

The free press scored a victory last week when the Supreme Court struck down the so-called "Right of Reply" law as an infringement of the First Amendment.

The ruling pertains to a Florida statute which required newspapers to give equal space to public officials who criticize editorially.

The High Court held that the law would muzzle newspapers by subjecting them to endless demands for reply space every time they were to comment on public affairs.

"Faced with such a penalty, editors might well conclude that the safe course is to avoid controversy," commented Chief Justice Warren Berger.

The public would then be the loser.

Designers and manufacturers are spending a lot of time and money these days in a determined effort to put a hat on every woman's head in trying to bring back the olden days. But as long as women pay what they pay for hairdos, the hat effort is totally lost. And when it comes to hats, men resist even harder than women.

Alaska is booming like it hasn't boomed since the gold rush a century ago.

Liability Insurance Purchased

SOUTH WINDSOR
Judy Kuehnel
Correspondent
Tel. 644-1264

In an effort to protect its members and administrators, the South Windsor Board of Education has taken out a $1 million liability insurance policy, with no deductible cost to the board, at a cost of $1,800 annually.

The move to insure the board for liability comes after more and more suits have been filed against individual officials, nationwide, rather than entire boards of education or town councils.

In Connecticut, total immunity for municipalities and boards and their agents no longer exists. Thus, it is properly legal to sue towns, board members and administrators.

Representatives from the insurance firm of Burgess Sheridan Co. Inc., of South Windsor told the school board, "Litigation personally involving members of school boards and employees of school boards or school districts is increasing daily. Legal doctrines which once provided for governmental immunity have been overturned by the courts in practically every state. "In any event, immunity to a school board or school board member would not apply, if an interpretation of school policy led to a violation of an individual's rights as provided by the 14th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and subsequent U.S. Supreme Court decision stemming from this and other civil rights amendments," said the representatives.

As an example of exposure which developed as a result of claims filed against school boards and school district employees are busing plans, desegregation, labor negotiations, challenges to school financing plans, decentralization programs, dismissal of non-tenure teachers, dress code violations, favoritism to contractors, participation in athletic events, school curriculum, teachers' salary and contract disputes, underground newspapers.

School Superintendent Robert Goldman told the school board,

"All board members and administrators should be protected in this age of litigation against the possible loss of their private property and assets. In particular, federal suits covering the 14th Amendment are specifically made against individuals and not corporate bodies such as boards of education."

The policy adopted by the school board covers damages identified as personal injury, libel or slander, violation of right of privacy, wrongful entry or eviction, invasion of the right of private occupancy.

The school board initially considered a policy which would include a $1,000 deductible clause, which would have had to be paid by the board each time a suit was filed and won by an individual.

In the end, the board opted for the policy, minus the deductible clause, and thus had to pay approximately $130 more for this privilege.

The policy covers all school board members and administrators, but not teachers. Dr. Goldman said that the question of teacher-coverage is something that would be taken up with the teachers bargaining agency at a later date.

Teacher Contract Approved

TOLLAND

Vivian Kenneson

The Board of Selectmen Tuesday approved an 8 1/2 percent contract negotiated between the Board of Education and Teachers Education Association last week.

The motion to adopt the contract, made by Selectman Stewart Joslin, originally was defeated when it failed to receive four positive votes. However, upon a move to reconsider the motion it passed five to one.

In the original vote chairman John Burakas, vice chairman Kevin Cavanaugh, and Joslin voted in favor. Selectwoman Helen Wanat and Edward Moskey voted against, and Joslin cautioned fellow board members to be careful not to try to govern the Board of Education.

TEA negotiator Daniel Shea said, "We feel we can never negotiate with the Board of Education again. It's absurd; we should negotiate with the Board of Selectmen."

The selectmen rejected a contract early this year which called for nearly a ten percent increase. In negotiation since December, this was the second proposal to come before the selectmen.

The selectmen approved a resolution establishing a deferred compensation plan for board members.

The Windham Regional Planning Agency Tuesday night adopted a policy on agency interaction with developers.

The policy was adopted over the objections of Dan Manley who is the Coventry Town Council's representative to the agency.

Manley was basically in favor of the policy but he wished chance to take back to the council the proposed policy so that the council would have some input into the policy.

The policy states that the agency staff is to assist any member of the public who requests information from the agency that is believed to be in the public interest.

The staff may refrain from offering public or private opinions regarding agency approval or disapproval of proposed projects until such time as the agency has formally adopted a position on such project.

The policy further states that the agency will assist primarily a developer who approaches the agency with a proposal that will cause significant impact in the region may have the proposed project considered by the agency.

The policy also states that the agency may establish contacts with a developer and that these contacts will consist primarily for the purpose of exchanging information.

From Your Neighbor's Kitchen

By Vivian F. Ferguson

The housewife has a big responsibility with the family and with the food. So says Trudy Wood, a young mother of Dutch origin.

"The native foods of Holland are simple, inexpensive and nutritious. We make many one-dish meals which are complete in themselves, often with a vegetable and a meat. Here, vegetables are used as a side dish."

"For example, we might take a little raw bacon, cook it with chopped onion and chowry cut into small pieces and have it with mashed potatoes."

As a matter of fact, I met Trudy in front of a vegetable counter. I had turned to my husband to ask what a certain dark green vegetable might be. A young shopper with a slight accent responded, "That is kale."

Kale is a leafy vegetable. The Europeans use it far more than we do. It is an excellent source of calcium plus several vitamins as Trudy well knows. The stalks should be discarded as they are too fibrous. Trudy washes the kale, then, holding a stalk in one hand she easily strips the leafy portion away with the other hand.

Kale is found in Holland during the winter months and into spring. It should not be overcooked. Trudy feeds the same way about all other vegetables. "Why leave all the vitamins in the water?" she comments. In the following recipe, boerenkool means cabbage. The word stampout is best translated as hedgepodge.

Stampout Boerenkool Met Worst (Dutch Cabbage Hedgepodge with Worst) 1 1/2 lbs. kale 2 1/2 lbs. potatoes 1 lb. kielbasa 1/2 cup milk dash salt 2 oz. butter

Strip kale leaves from stalks. Wash. Bring to quick boil in small amount of lightly salted water. When kale has boiled down, add peeled, halved potatoes. Then, put whole kielbasa on top of everything and bring to boil; then let simmer 30 minutes.

When potatoes are done, remove kielbasa. Drain off liquid into a bowl. Mash potatoes and kale together thoroughly. Add milk and as much drained liquid as is necessary to get a tasty mixture. Finally, season with butter and salt. Serve with kielbasa. You may also include small onions if desired.

Since meat is so costly, Trudy suggests lentils as a healthy family meal. Cook the dried lentils first. Then, in a frying pan, saute onions in butter, add the cooked lentils, season with curry powder to taste.

The Dutch make rice pudding in a most simple manner. Cook the rice until dry, add milk. Season with cinnamon, butter mixed fruit cup, cookie, milk or coffee. Wednesday: Sliced corned beef, boiled potatoes in jacket, steamed tomatoes, hamburger bun, butter or margarine, tapioca pudding, milk or coffee.

Thursday: Stuffed cabbage with tomato sauce, buttered asparagus, buttered corn, jungle juice, roll, butter or margarine, fruited jello, milk or coffee.

Friday: Baked filled of sole with tartar sauce, lemon wedge, baked potato, tossed salad, enriched bread, butter or margarine, apple Betty, milk or coffee.

Menus For The Elderly The following menus will be served July 8-12 at Mayfair Gardens and West Hill Gardens for all Manchester residents over 60. Reservations are taken in person only at the Gardens on Monday prior to the week of the luncheons. Menus are subject to change.

Monday: Braised beef over enriched noodles, tossed salad, buttered carrots, rye bread, butter or margarine, orange sherbet, milk or coffee.

Tuesday: Broiled chicken with gravy, oven browned potatoes, buttered zucchini squash, enriched white bread, butter or margarine, coffee.

Wednesday: French onion soup, turkey club sandwich, creamy cole slaw, chilled jello, iced tea or coffee.

Thursday: Chilled orange juice, pastrami on homemade roll, potato salad, apple turnover, iced tea or coffee.

Friday: Corn chowder, golden fried clams with tartar sauce, French fried potatoes, fresh homemade dinner rolls, jello with whipped topping, iced tea or coffee.

Luncheon next week are $1.50 on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday, and $1.75 on Wednesday and Friday. Tickets may be purchased through the College Bookstore. Luncheons are served promptly at noon in the Food Service Dining Room at Manchester Community College, Student Center, 60 Bidwell St.

Battle of Leaders Won by Moriarty's

By Len Auster

Back-to-back doubles by Mike McDonald and Bill Crowley in the fourth inning provided the winning margin as Moriarty Brothers ripped the East Hartford Merchants, 3-2, last night in Greater Hartford Twilight League action at Mt. Nebo.

The Comets, now 7-3, held a half game edge over New Britain in the American Division while the setback dropped 5-3 East Hartford into a second place tie in the National Division with Bristol behind Hartford Insurance.

Legion Nine Bows, Plays Home Tonight

Dropping an exhibition tilt in Simsbury last night was the Manchester American Legion baseball team, 4-3, in extra innings. Manchester is now 7-6 overall while leading Zone Eight with a 5-1 ledger.

The Post 102 enter entertainers Windsor tonight at 8 at East Catholic in the zone area before traveling to East Hartford Friday night for another zone engagement.

Manchester jumped to a quick 2-0 lead over Simsbury with single runs in the first two frames. Paul Groves led off the first with a walk and advanced to third on a sacrifice and fielder's choice. Groves scored as Dave Bidwell's pop-up to shallow right was dropped by the second baseman.

The locals second run crossed as Dan Smith singled, was sacrificed to second and scored as Simsbury's pitcher uncorked two wild pitches. Simsbury went into a 3-2 lead in the third. After a single and a walk, Skip Wright topped a slow roller to the right of Manchester hurler Ken Irish, who threw wildly past third allowing two runs to score and Wright to reach third. Wright scored on a wild pitch.

The Silk Towners knotted it in the fourth as three consecutive walks and a wild pitch produced the run.

The Zone One entry won it in the eighth as relief hurler John Varca's attempted pickoff at first went astray and the runner reached third. Bud Savage's soft liner over a drawn-in infield produced the winner.

Smachetti paced the locals offensively with three hits including a long double. Bruce Peck also doubled for Manchester.

National Bantam Duckpin Bowling Champs

Teams competed from Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Maryland, Virginia and Washington, D.C.

Players' Demands Unrealistic

No Curfews, Fines, Less Work Sought

NEW YORK (UPI) — More and more the success of the National Football League appears to be linked to the world champion Miami Dolphins.

And the Dolphins — who are scheduled to open the exhibition season against the College All-Stars on July 25 — are anything but unanimous in their support of the Players Association list of demands.

"I think (Players Director Ed) Garvey and his pals running the union are too far out," said Dolphins' center Jim Langer Tuesday. "Most of them are over-the-hill players who aren't concerned about the needs of other players."

By going along with the union's demands to boycott the college game, the Dolphins players stand to lose an average of $5,000 per man — a regular season's game paycheck.

"I don't think we're going to come out smelling like roses, making ridiculous demands for twice as much money with less work and discipline," Langer continued. "And especially if we don't play the All-Star game."

Langer also called the players' demands for no curfews, no fines and limited practice hours "just not realistic."

On Monday, Dolphins player representative linebacker Doug Swift, expressed apprehension that the team would agree to boycott the game at their scheduled meeting on Friday night. "If we don't hold the line," Swift said, "it could weaken the

Newcombe Upset Loser

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Ken Rosewall, playing with the zip and fire of a man 10 years younger than his 39 years, provided the upset of the Wimbledon tennis championships today when he eliminated top seed and title favorite John Newcombe in four thrilling sets.

The 38-year-old Rosewall, three times a loser here in the finals, defeated Newcombe, the reigning U.S. and WCT champion, 6-1, 6-0, 7-5 to move into the semifinals of the tournament, the only major championship which has eluded him in over 20 years on the circuit.

Rosewall reached his first final here exactly 20 years ago when he was defeated by Jaroslav Drobny. Two years later he lost to Lew Hoad, then he turned pro and had to wait until the arrival of open tennis for his next chance. That came in 1970 and Newcombe defeated him in five sets for the second of his three championship victories.

Rosewall's brilliant return of service and his patented backhand were the undoing of his 31-year-old opponent, the even money favorite and the players' choice to win the most coveted crown in tennis.

The match lasted just about two hours and kept the center court crowd rooted to their seats. Newcombe did not play badly, but that was nothing he could do today against his Davis Cup teammate.

Chris Evert powered her way into the semifinals of the women's singles today as Wimbledon reached the point where championship tennis calibre tests.

Miss Evert, her long blonde pigtail tied with a floppy pink ribbon, swept Mrs. Helga Mastoff of West Germany off a smudgy No. 3 court with an easy 6-4, 6-2, win. It was cloudy when Miss Evert and Mrs. Mastoff began what looked like an evenly-matched baseline duel, but the sun came out with the score at 4-4 in the first set. The Florida girl blossomed in it.

She broke Mrs. Mastoff at love, ran out the set and won the next four games to boot. Chris changed nothing in her game, but she lost only six points in six games.

Mrs. Mastoff came to life trailing 1-4 in the second set. She took the American to 15-4 times on Miss Evert's service before putting the game away for a series break.

But Miss Evert, starting from 15-4 down, broke back on the German's next service, and then served a love game to sew up a semifinal place.

Four Remain In World Cup

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — There's West Germany, the long-standing favorite; Holland, the new favorite; Brazil, coming around after an inauspicious start; and Poland, the surprise team and still the outsider despite five victories.

Tuesday's teams exchanged compliments. "I consider them (Holland) the best team in the world," said Brazilian manager Mario Zagalo. But he said Brazil would meet West Germany in the final.

West German Manager Helmut Schoen said, "I'm glad we are not meeting the Brazilians. To me, they are like the Sphinx."

John Cruyff of Holland said, "The Brazilians frighten me a little. They are improving all the time."

Poland Manager Kazimierz Gorski was less talkative. He would only say, "We will go out to win. We need the goals."

According to the bookmakers, Holland has the best chance of capturing the World Cup. West Germany is the second choice, with Brazil quoted at 11-2 and Poland a 7-1 outsider.

Zagalo said, "We will beat the Dutch even though I consider them the best side in the world. After a 30-30 start we have found our rhythm and I believe the final will be between us and the West Germans."

Some experts were skeptical. Holland has played superbly, logging itself as number two scoring team in the competition despite the fact it has never met the World Cup's most porous defenses — Zaire, Australia and Haiti.

Poland remains a dangerous dark-horse, still thoroughly overlooked despite being the only side to win all its games.

of Consumer Concern

Connecticut Department of Consumer Protection
P.O. Box 1103, Hartford, Conn. 06113

The increasing demand for lumber and wood products and the resulting competition for standing timber among timber buyers has promoted requests for information from Connecticut landowners who are receiving offers for their timber from several New York and New England firms. Department of Environmental Protection State Forester E. J. Vandermillen said, "Higher lumber prices are being reflected in higher prices paid for trees on the stump. This can provide an opportunity for the landowner to practice sound forestry on his property and to recover part of his ownership cost if judicious cutting is used."

The landowner must be sure he is dealing with a reputable buyer, and he should insist on a company that is unknown to him unless he first consults a forester. One out-of-state firm recently mailed letters to Connecticut landowners saying their professional foresters would mark mature trees for the owner, inferring this would be a guarantee of satisfaction to the landowner. Vandermillen pointed out that although a company may claim to hire "professional foresters" this could be misleading, since the first obligation of such a person is to his employer.

Landowners wishing to begin management on their woodlands should begin by consulting foresters to assist them in making their management decisions. Three important procedures to guide the landowners are:

1. Determine how much wood is marketable.
 2. Solicit bids from all local reputable commercial loggers.
 3. When a suitable bid has been received, draft a written contract covering the terms of sale and standards to be observed by the logger. Include method of payment and establish a time limit for completion.
- DEP foresters can give individual guidance and refer landowners to a number of private foresters.

WIN AT BRIDGE, Play of king more deceptive

NORTH: ♠ 8 6 4 3, ♥ A K 8 5 3, ♦ Q 10 8 2, ♣ 10 7. WEST EAST: ♠ 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2, ♥ A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2, ♦ A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2, ♣ A K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2

South player who is on his toes wins the first trick with the king of spades. Now when East gets in he may still shift to a heart but the chances are that he will return a spade in the hope that his partner led from a five card suit headed by ace-10.

There is an even more important principle of play in connection with South's play of the first one. West opens the four of spades and East plays the jack. South should win a trick since there is no reason to duck. The ordinary unthinking player wins with the ace. He thinks he is making a clever false-card play.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

There is an important bidding principle involved in North's three notrump response to South's opening notrump. North knows that his partner holds 16-18 high card points and a balanced spade lead.

Shriners Visit Hospital Sunday

Omar Shrine Club will make its annual visit to the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children at Springfield, Mass., Sunday. The club arranges for entertainment, and then has a cookout for the children. Nobles John Rieg and Harold Barnaby are co-chairmen and Noble Fred Gani is in charge of the entertainment. Fire Activity Drops in June

Fire activity in town cooled off a bit in June compared to May according to the monthly report of Chief John C. Rivola of the Manchester, Town Fire Department. There were 29 fires reported in June and 33 in May; there were only 21 fires reported in June, 1973. Rescuers by firemen dropped to one compared to six in May. None of the fires were major and there were no fatalities. Total fire calls this year are 352 compared to 309 for the same period in 1973.

Camp Kennedy Runs Smooth, Says Director

Manchester Grange will meet tonight at 8 at Grange Hall. There will be a baked-goods table. Members are reminded to bring knitted articles for a veterans hospital to this meeting.

About Town

"We have a good group of volunteers and things are progressing smoothly," he said. "Revisions in the morning program schedule have provided campers with varied and interesting activities that keep them happy and active."

The eight recent volunteers are: Donna Fabrizio, Holly Slevic, Mark Toomey, Mike Toomey, Cathy Toomey, Diane White and Cheri Talley, all from Manchester; and Joan Dwyer from East Hartford.

U&R Will Build Branch For First Federal Bank

The U&R Construction Co. of Manchester has been awarded the contract for building a branch office in Manchester for the First Federal Loan Savings & Loan Association of East Hartford, Robert P. Lynch, its president, announced today. The branch will be at 344 W. Middle Tpk., adjacent to the Manchester Shopping Parkade, and will be the bank's seventh branch office. Groundbreaking is scheduled for this month, with a completion date targeted for early 1975.

Robert P. Lynch

The architect, Edmund Van Dyke Cox of Glastonbury, described the new building as a free-standing one, with over 5,000 square feet on two levels. All financial services will occupy the first floor, with a community room and employee facilities on the lower level. Lynch said the new offices will offer all financial services presently available at First Federal Savings, with five teller stations and both drive-in and walk-up windows. He said the community room will be available for use by any non-profit civic group.

Today's Thought

"Learn how to gain mastery over your body to hallow and honor it" 1 Thessalonians 4:4. Religious man has always been worried about the relationship of the natural and supernatural, the body and the soul. Due regard must be given the need of the body, it cannot be ignored or despised. At the same time it cannot be treated as an end in itself, to be pampered and indulged. It must be hallowed — made holy for the service which it is intended to give.

Rosewall Comeback Beats Smith Chris Evert Wins Wimbledon Singles

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Chris Evert of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. became the youngest girl in 22 years to win the women's singles of the Wimbledon tennis championships today when she overcame Olga Morozova of the Soviet Union, the first Russian to reach the final, 6-0, 6-4. The 18-year-old second seed and the well-built Russian physical education teacher are friends and doubles partners but no one could prove it by what went on in center court before the eyes of 15,000 spectators, including several members of the royal family, though they kissed when the match was over.

Road Toll 100 July 4

Less than 100 persons lost their lives on the nation's highways during the first 24 hours of this Fourth of July weekend, but the death rate climbed steadily as the holiday moved into its second day.

The council, which has estimated between 450 and 500 persons will be killed in traffic mishaps between 6 p.m. local time Wednesday and midnight Sunday, credited slower-driving motorists for the reduced estimate. The record traffic death toll for a four-day Fourth of July period was 700 in 1972, when the council had estimated an all-time high of 800 to 900 fatalities.

Britain Tells Ulster To Devise Peace Plan

LONDON (UPI) — Britain has told Northern Ireland to come up with its own plan for ending the province's political unrest and finding a solution to nearly five years of religious strife. In an official white paper, the government Thursday ordered elections for a new Northern Ireland constitutional convention. The paper said the 78-member convention should draw up a formula for governing the violence-torn province.

Lawyers for Kissinger Ask Lifting of Subpoena

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorneys for Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger today asked a U.S. District Court to quash a subpoena that he testify at the Ellsberg break-in conspiracy trial of John D. Ehrlichman. Attorneys John J. Chester and Gene A. Slaut said Kissinger could not appear because he is holding "critical meetings" in Europe with U.S. allies and NATO officials.

Mrs. Grasso said she would welcome him as her running mate.

Twister Hits Southern Maine

BRIDGTON, Maine (UPI) — High winds and rain packing "the force of a tornado" swept across southern Maine Thursday, injuring at least 18 persons as it toppled trees and tore down power lines in a four-county area. The state Civil Defense Office said many of the injured were vacationing at summer homes and camps in the popular Sebago Lake area, 10 miles southeast of here. "It's lucky more people weren't injured," Bridgton Town Manager Ervin Linncott said. "They're usually anywhere from 500 to 800 people in those camping areas."

The action by Kissinger's attorneys came before testimony began in the seventh day of the trial. The case against Ehrlichman may hinge on the meaning of such words as "operation," "effort," and "cover." Ehrlichman is expected to begin his testimony next week, and there were indications the prosecution nearly was finished presenting the case.

Train Derails, 15 Injured

MELVERN, Kan. (UPI) — The last six cars of an eastbound Amtrak train derailed east of Melvern early today and four of the cars slid down a 50-foot embankment, injuring 15 to 20 persons. Melvern Marshal Ron Logan said the injured were taken by ambulance to hospitals in Topeka, Ottawa and Emporia from the accident scene in eastern Kansas. Logan said there were no fatalities at the scene, but "serious injuries" included broken arms and legs and head injuries. "The cars just rolled down the embankment," Logan said. "The derailment occurred right where the railroad went over an overpass and the cars just slid down the bank to the road, laying on their side."
