Unity Appeal Expected Ford to Address Nation On Administration Goals

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Ford goes before a joint session of Congress tonight with a nationally televised appeal for unity and a renewed spirit of cooperation between legislators and the White House.

There were abundant indications Ford would receive a warm welcome in his first appearance as President in the chambers where he served for 25 years as a Michigan congressman. His speech was scheduled to start at 9 p.m. EDT.

Ford got an early start on his long day, beating most of his staff to the White House at 7:30 a.m. He scheduled morning meetings with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger to discuss the Cyprus situation and with other aides to work on shaping his new administration

Veep List

Another task facing Ford was consideration of his growing list of proposed vice presidential candidates. Congressional and political leaders who met with him for 30 minutes Sunday said Ford had a list of about 15 possibilities and asked for more suggestions

Administration officials said Ford's speech to Congress, which was expected to run about 30 minutes, would present a general overview of what he considers to be urgent domestic and foreign problems. Ford spent much of the weekend working on it.

Members of Congress, meanwhile, anticipated having much better relations with Ford than they did with the Nixon administration.

"We do have a better climate, no question about it, and we'll have more cooperation between President Ford and the Congress," Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said today.

Honeymoon Will Last

"I think that the honeymoon will last up to and through the election, because we want to cooperate and work in partnership with President Ford and the administration," he said.

Appearing on NBC-TV's "Today Show," Mansfield said fighting inflation should be Ford's top priority. "Whatever he thinks is necessary to decrease inflation from the present rate of 12 per cent, we would give consideration to," Mansfield said. "And we would eagerly await any initiative he would show.

Ford emerged from his suburban Alexandria, Va. hme early today after fixing his own breakfast and taking a dip in his backyard swimming pool. He waved to a small crowd of bystandars and press. When asked what he would do without a swimming pool at the White House he grinned and said: "I'm going to miss it."

Governors Optimistic

CHICAGO (UPI) - With Richard Nixon out of the White House, the nation's Republican governors are hoping to put more Republicans in governors' mansions across the country.

"We're determined to make this year a start toward eroding that Democratic adthe governors' races can be carried out on current issues, such as inflation, employment and educational opportunities, for instance." he said.

Funds Small Dunn said campaign contributions to the GOP coffers were small at this point, but indicated there would be plenty of financial backing for the party's campaigns. "It's in the hundreds and low thousands now, but it convinces me the Republican party still has good financial support," Dunn said. Dunn, Missouri Gov. Christopher Bond and North Carolina Gov. James E. Holshouser Jr. told newsmen they would frown on any efforts by President Ford to solicit-a Democratic vice president.

That relaxed style was also apparent in the way Ford has run the White House since he took office Thursday. There are no restrictions on the movements of reporters and the staff, taking its cue from Ford, was much more open and friendly than former President Nixon's staff had

The main domestic problem facing the Ford administration is the economy.

His aides said the speech would not provide specific programs, although Ford might announce plans to start high-level discussions soon about the economy before coming up with any new programs.

Internationally, they said, Ford will stress continuity of Nixon administration foreign policy and the need for stability and world peace.

The address itself will be "newsy" but will contain "no blockbusters," one aide said

The most immediate problem, however, is selection of a vice president. Ford met for six hours at the White house Sunday with GOP leaders, speaking with each for 30 minutes alone.

'Helpful Advice'

Ford said he got "constructive and very helpful advice." Congressmen emerging from the one-on-one sessions said that Democrats, blacks and women were among the possibilities. When asked directly about a woman vice president, Ford said, "We don't rule out anybody." Ford was said to have a personal list of about 15 names he showed the advisers. Among the most prominently mentioned for the job were former New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and GOP national chairman George Bush. Other names discussed were Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass,; Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz.; former Attorney General Elliot Richardson, and former Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird. Ford has promised to submit a name to Congress by early next week.

vantage and increasing the number of Republican governors," Tennessee Gov. Winfield Dunn, chairman of the Republican Governors' Association, told a news conference Sunday. In 1967, Dunn noted, there were 32 GOP governors and 18 Democratic governors. Now, he says, the figure is identical but reversed.

Hopeful

With Nixon out of the way, the GOP governors are hoping that Watergate will take a back seat in the upcoming campaigns and that the Republicans will be able to turn the tables.

Sixteen GOP governors or gubernatorial nominees were on hand Sunday for the strategy session. Dunn told newmen he felt Watergate would remain an issue in the upcoming elections, but said he was glad Nixon resigned.

"I hope his action cleared the air so that

All agreed that former New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller would make an acceptable candidate. Dunn said Rockefeller was at the top of the list of prospective vice presidents he submitted to Ford, Bond called Rockefeller an excellent choice and Holshouser said he also would approve.

Rockefeller, who addressed the meeting, refused to discuss the vice presidency, saying it would be unfair to Ford

David and Julie Eisenhower, the only members of former President Nixon's family still in Washington, have been invited to sit with the Ford family in the House gallery along with Mamie Eisenhower.

Homecoming

Tonight's speech brings Ford back to the House, where he cultivated deep friendships on both sides of the aisle during his 25 years as representative of Michigan's Fifth District.

Though there is no doubt his old friends don't need to be asked, Ford will request cooperation from Congress and pledge a smooth relationship in return.

So cordial are the relationships between Ford and almost every member, says Rep. Barber Conable, R-N.Y., his former colleagues may have trouble calling him 'Mr. President.'

"One of the bright things about him," Conable said, "is that we still want to call him Jerry. I think that is what America is looking for at this time.'

Tolland Woman Faces Charges

Mrs. Aulithia Jacobs, 43, of Hurlburt Rd., Tolland was waiting for presentment today in Circuit Court 12 in Manchester on charges stemming from the shooting death of her husband over the weekend.

Datry Jacobs, 40, of the same address died Sunday at 3:25 p.m. at Hartford Hospital from one shot in the head with a .32 caliber pistol, according to State Police of the Stafford Springs Barracks.

The shooting reportedly ended a domestic disturbance at the Jacobs home Saturday at 9:30 p.m. Neighbors called police who arrested Mrs. Jacobs and charged her with first-degree assault. Tolland Volunteer Ambulance took Jacobs to Rockville General Hospital. He was then transported to Hartford Hospital.

Mrs. Jacobs was taken to the state correction center in Niantic over the weekend. Her bond was set at $5,000. She was brought to the Manchester court this morning where she spoke with attorneys while waiting for presentment. An autopsy was to be performed today. State Trooper Alphonse Maynard was the investigating officer.

The Greek-led Cypriot National Guard freed the first 13 Turkish war prisoners Sunday night in "a unilateral act of good will" and promised more releases today after giving the Red Cross a list of 3,200 Turkish POWs.

British Foreign Secretary James Callaghan said the national guard also pulled out of some Turkish Cypriot villages and handed the areas over to U.N. peacekeeping forces. Callaghan, mediator at the Turkish-Greek peace talks in Geneva, called the twin moves by the Greek-led national guard "a step in the right direction."

Leave Villages A U.N. spokesman in Nicosia said today national guard troops had left four Turkish villages in LimassolProvince, adding that they would evacuate Turkish areas in the cities of Larnaca and Paphos later today. But a UPI newsman said national guard units were still in Limassol's Turkish sector and some 1,700 Turkish prisoners still were being held in two of the port's elementary schools.

Leaders of the island's Turkish minority have called for dividing Cyprus into two autonomous regions, but Greek Cypriot officials have come out strongly against par-tors in Nicosia, the island's capital. The prisoners, many of them unshaven, looked fatigued, trudging along in shoes or boots without laces. A national guard spokesman said some had been picked up in civilain clothes, but "were not treated as spies but as prisoners of war.

Senate Sentiment Against Prosecution

WASHINGTON (UPI) - While there appears to be strong sentiment in the Senate that Richard Nixon should not be prosecuted for any crimes, there seems to be little support for passing a resolution to that effect.

The proposed resolution, sponsored by Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., would not be binding and only would request that local, state and federal prosecutors refrain from bringing charges against Nixon.

"In my judgment Dick Nixon could not get a fair trial," Senate GOP leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania said Sunday in a broadcast interview (CBS""Face the Nation"). "Hanging is enough without drawing and quartering." The House Judiciary Committee, which will hold hearings on President Ford's eventual vice presidential nominee, this week prepares to dispose of its impeachment business.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J., who is firmly against continuing with impeachment, says he is most concerned about getting out a final report to serve as a precedent for future impeachments and to make it clear Nixon had good reason to leave office.

"The facts as we have shown them will forever be spread on the record," Rodino said.

One possibility is to present the House with a resolution formally ending the proceedings. Another alternative is merely a formal presentation of the committee report to the House. Rodino has asked House Parliamentarian William Brown to recommend a way of ending the process.

Committee counsel John M. Doar gave Rodino the final draft of the report during the weekend, and Rodino planned to make some changes before giving it back to the 38-member panel today or Tuesday.

Nixon Remains in Seclusion

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) -Former President Nixon, after spending a quiet weekend with his family and friends, was expected to remain secluded at his oceanside villa today.

A private citizen for four days now, Nixon has ventured outside of his guarded compound only once-when he went to the Camp Pendleton Marine Base at Oceanside for a swim and a walk along the

During the weekend, Nixon conferred several times with his closest friends and financial confidants, Charles "Bebe" Rebozo and Robert Abplanalp.

Rebozo Along Nixon was accompanied by Rebozo, an unidentified passenger, two cars of Secret Service agents and some 10 cars of following newsmen when he went to Camp Pendleton.

Pat Nixon, daughter Tricia Cox and her husband, Ed, already were waiting for Nixon at the beach and returned with him when the motorcade left to return to the villa, La Casa Pacifica.

An aide, who asked not to be identified, said, "His spirits are good, he is not downcast. The decision he announced the other night is a decision he is very comfortable with, and he is satisfied that in the national interest, it was the right step for him to take."

Rebozo, a Florida banker, and Abplanalp, a wealthy industrialist, conferred with Nixon Saturday and Sunday.

'Here as Friends'

"We're here as friends to do what we can -that's all," said Abplanalp. "Anything more than we said now would not be appropriate."

They did not indicate how long they intended to stay. Both men are partners in B & C investment Co., formed to buy most of Nixon's estate here. In 1970 the company bought 23 of the estate's 29 acres from Nixon for $1.25 million, leaving Nixon the owner of the main house and other buildings.

Mortgage

Nixon, Rebozo and Abplanalp all are responsible for the estate's mortgage. They were unable to meet a $226,000 "balloon payment" on the mortgage when it fell due last month and have secured an extension until January.

Nixon also was said to be anticipating potential legal acton against him in connection with alleged misconduct during his presidency.

Last month he was named as an unindicted coconspirator in the Watergate cover-up, Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski now is free to take steps against Nixon as a private citizen, possibly on grounds of obstruction of justice.

May Get A New Lawyer

An aide said Nixon was discussing such matters with associates and might retain a new lawyer to replace James D. St. Clair, the Boston trial attorney who headed Nixon's White House legal defense team.

There will be little information about Nixon's activities in the coming days, an aide said. "The president looks at this as a private time-he will be spending the time with his family.

The aide said Nixon had not spoken to President Ford since the transfer of power, but that he expected to do so in the near future

A NEW NAME FOR AN OLD FRIEND

Manchester Savings & Loan Assn. is now called Heritage Savings & Loan Assn.

The name Manchester Savings and Loan Association has been changed to Heritage Savings and Loan Association effective July 22, 1974 with the prior approval of the membership, the Board of Directors and the State Banking Department. We believe our new name more accurately describes our identity.

Since 1891, this institution has been an important part of the local heritage. Back then, there was no bank where a family could save and borrow for a home. A group of our forebearers got together and founded the Manchester Building and Loan Association (later called the Manchester Savings and Loan Association) for this purpose. These men of vision pioneered the concept of local people getting together to encourage thrift and home ownership. As the first and oldest savings institution in Manchester and Coventry, we have played a significant role in our local heritage since our founding in 1891.

Today, we are very enthusiastic about plans for expanded usefulness through broadened services in the future. Our new branch office is now open in K-Mart Plaza on Spencer Street in Manchester. There are several new and exciting services now in the planning stage at Heritage Savings. We enjoy serving you and we look forward with enthusiasm to a continuously expanding role in the financial heritage of our communities during the years ahead.

ONLY OUR NAME HAS CHANGED Ownership and management remain unchanged. As a mutua

institution, we continue to be owned by you, our customers. Our board of directors, officers and staff remain unchanged

Paying More For Health Care

One thing for certain, Americans are going to be paying more for health care. Just how much more they will be paying will depend on which proposal is adopted by Congress after it gets around to disposing of other issues.

The U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare just completed new cost estimates for all eight national health insurance proposals now before Congress.

The projections show that total health expenditures under our present system, with no new law on the books, will increase from $94.1 billion in 1973 to $116.4 billion in 1975, or by 24 per Spending for personal health care services, hospital and medical care, health insurance, is expected to jump 23 per cent from $84 billion in 1973 to $103 billion in 1975.

Under our present system, about 62 per cent of personal health expenditures in 1975 will come from private sources, including health insurance and out-of-pocket payments. The remaining 38 per cent will be funded by government-federal, state and

Any new national health insurance proposal enacted by Congress will cause spending to rise even more. The cost of the various proposals range from $107 billion to as high as $116 billion. Five of the eight major health proposals would require employers to provide their employes with comprehensive health insurance benefits marketed by private enterprise. Financing would be provided through employer-employe premium payments

One of the proposals would fund 71 per cent of the personal health care outlay from government sources.

We doubt if Congress gets around to acting on health care in this session. There is also the thinking we are likely to have a more liberal Congress in 1975 and health care will probably be shelved until that session.

Our Gasoline Supply

The regulatory effects of the market may be seen in the surplus of gasoline which now exists in the United States.

In response to higher prices, the major oil companies have produced so much gasoline that they are now finding it difficult to store.

Indeed the majors are urging their retail outlets to keep longer hours and open on Sunday to try to sell more of the large stocks on hand.

In some states lower prices have already appeared, even though the prices are still much higher than a year ago. One factor which may result in lower prices and even a "gas war" is the plentiful supply to independent dealers, who traditionally are in the forefront of competitive gasoline pricing.

Concurrent with the great production of the motor fuel has been a decrease in usuage. Higher prices, plus the 55-per hour speed limit, have combined to make motorists use less gasoline than they were prior to the Arab oil boycott.

With the shadow of an Arab cutoff, or control, we cannot be said to be operating entirely in a free market situation. Yet for the time being the weight of supply and demand are being seep.

What effect this will have on oil exporting countries is to be seen. There may well be a curtailment of production in order to maintain the present high prices for crude petroleum. Or a price cut is possible.

In retrospect it can be seen that the President was sensible in resisting the exhortations of some Congressional liberals who were vociferous in their pleas for gas rationing. Seems a little ridiculous today, doesn't it?

will be those charged by the U.S.-flag vessels.

There is nothing in this legislation that is good for consumers, taxpayers or the nation as a whole. But those who should be complaining loudest about it, the Naderites and Common Cause, do not wish to irritate the AFL-CIO and thereby lose labor support for their Consumer Protection Agency, which is also before the Congress. The homebuilders and mortgage bankers haven't complained either. They're too busy pleading for direct relief themselves. Yet here is a measure that will take $4 billion from the capital market in three years and at least $20 billion from consumer spending in ten. Doesn't anyone realize the pork barrel is empty?

Perhaps they do, and are simply counting on the new President to veto the bill if it passes. The administration, at least, opposes the bill, which may be why so many members of Congress can vote for such a boondoggle and still live with their consciences. What alarms us most, though, is that a bill so worthless and inflationary can command so much support in Congress at a time when the United States is going through one of the worst inflations in its history. gallon by 1985. With U.S. consumption now at 100 billion gallons a year, that alone is $1 billion a year in increased cargo costs, rising to more than $2 billion a year by 1985.

And that calculation assumes that the rest of the world is going to happily permit the United States to violate existing treaties that prohibit preferences for commercial cargoes. It would be hard to reason with Saudi Arabia or Venezuela if they propounded laws requiring that 30 per cent of the crude they ship to the United States must be carried in Saudi or Venezuela bottoms at the highest commercial rates, which of course free-spending maritime unions. The bill requires 30 per cent of all oil imports be carried on U.S.-flag vessels, compared to almost none today; it would add at least $20 billion and perhaps $60 billion to U.S. energy costs over the next decade. Why are the consumer advocates so quiet? What is really ironic is that the maritime unions have been pushing cargo-preference legislation for years, scattering campaign contributions and sky-high lecture fees all over Capitol Hill to insure an attentive audience. They've always been rebuffed. Yet now, with Congress supposedly on a higher moral plain inspired by the Watergate revelations, great merit is suddenly discovered in the idea. The House has passed the measure by a 266 to 136 vote and the Senate is poised to adopt it.

The argument that has been winning the day with the labor liberals in Congress is "national security." That is, in order to secure delivery of imported oil, the United States must build up its own fleet of tankers, manned with U.S. seamen. The Commerce Department estimates this will require the construction of 40 tankers at a cost of $4 billion by 1977 If in that year the Arabs cut off our oil, we won't get any more oil, but Americans can rest easy that what does get here will be carried in U.S. vessels. Somewhere else in the world there will be 40 empty tankers; some national security.

The cost of building and manning American tankers is so much higher than the competition that even the House Merchant Marine Subcommittee shamelessly admits it might add "a penny a gallon at most" to the price of gasoline; the Maritime Administration projects two cents a

I started walking with crutches at age 2, and when I was 7 was fitted with my first elevated shoe. While I was growing the shoe was ele-vated regularly. By the time I was 18 my left shoe was built up about 10 inches I was up about 10 inches. It was

About a year ago my mother found a great orthopedic shoe specialist. He made a special shoe for me and may I say, Doctor, I was just about ready to cry when he put the shoe on my toeless foot My right shoe was a foot. My right shoe was a black patent oxford, laced type with a half-inch heel. My new left shoe was also all-black patent. It had an ankle strap and laced onto my foot with 12 eyelets. The heel was a full 10 inches and made of aluminum. The platform was a full 10 inches and made of aluminum. The platform was solid cork. My foot fitted into a lot of cotton padding. I was surprised how well I could walk with it. Doctor, I am really happy with my unusual shoe. I almost always wear slacks so my ches is not poticoche My my shoe is not noticeable. My boyfriend has taught me to dance, and I even go on long hikes with him. Now, the real question must ask you. Three months ago my girl friend, who is the same age as I am, was in a very bad automobile acci-dent. She had to have her right leg amputated above the knee, leaving her with a six-inch stump. She now wears an artificial limb. She walks with hardly a limp. After seeing how well my girl friend gets along, I won-dered if I would be better off

Day Care Center Now Registering

The Manchester Community College (MCC) Child Care and Creative Learning Center will register children for the fall semester on week days, Aug. 12-30, from 9 a.m. to noon, and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., in room 204 of the faculty west building on the main campus of the college on Bidwell St.

The center provides care and a creative, educational nursery school program primarily for the children of MCC students and staff members. Children two to five years of age may be enrolled. Openings that remain after MCC children have been registered will be made available to children from families in the community. Daily activities are geared to the interest and level of development of each child. Students in the early childhood education program at the college work in the center and earn credits toward the associate degree.

For further information, call Mrs. Susan Vater, director, at college extensions 251 or 259.

Killebrew Stars On Special Day

NEW YORK (UPI) - Harmon Killebrew, who often finds it difficult o express his feelings publicly with words, showed his thanks the way he knew best Sunday-with his bat.

The 38-year-old slugger of the Minnesota Twins was honored with a special day at Bloomington Stadium and was almost moved to tears by the 27,363 fans who turned out to salute him. Then, Harmon repaid all the kind words and charity donations heaped upon him for various causes by stroking a pair of run-scoring singles to lead the Twins to a 5-4 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

Killebrew, who throughout his career has often shunned publicity, was center stage in the pre-game ceremonies as he, his wife and five children were driven around the infield in an open convertible. As the car drove by the Oriole dugout, all the Orioles lined up and doffed their cap to the veteran first baseman.

"I was especially moved by that gesture," Killebrew said, "but I would sooner have been almost anywhere during the pre-game ceremony. I would rather have been taking batting practice.

"Winning made it the end of a perfect day. Boy, don't think I wasn't worried about going 0-for-4 out there.

Royals 5, Brewers 2 Fran Healy's two-run bloop double sparked a five-run first inning which enabled the Royals to defeat the Brewers. The Royals knocked out Clyde Wright in the first with a six-hit barrage and sent the Brewers' lefthander down to his 17th loss in 25 decisions. Paul Splittorff worked eight innings to register his 12th victory against 12 losses. The Royals who have won eight of their last nine, closed to within 51/2 games of Oakland in the AL West while the Brewers dropped their 11th game in their last 13 starts.

Yankees 5, Angels 4 Thurman Munson singled home what proved to be the winning run in the eighth inning as the Yankees edged the Angels. Munson's hit gave the Yankees a 5-3 lead and reliever Cecil Upshaw bailed New York out of a jam in the bottom of the inning to preserve the victory for Dick Tidrow (9-9). Lou Piniella had a homer for the ankees Rangers 9, Tigers 0 Jim Bibby tossed a four-hitter for his fifth shutout and Dave Nelson drove in four runs to spark the Rangers to victory over the Tigers. Nelson hit a three-run homer in the fifth and also singled home a run during a three-run sixth in helping Bibby to his 16th win against 14 losses.

and is on a seven-game hitting streak. Bench has knocked in 38 runs in his last 33 games and has four homers in his last five games.

Bench and Stargell are the kind of hitters who can carry a team in a pennant race and they both could make the difference this year.

Bench brushed off his hot streak. "The good pitches have just been coming," he said. He said he's also being a more patient hitter this year. "I know I'm an RBI man," he said. In typical fashion, Stargell gave the credit to his teammates for his hitting. "They can't pitch around me because Richie Zisk has been doing a tremendous job. That means they're going to pitch to me and give me a lot to hit. Then you've got Al Oliver who's always been consistent ahead of

McNamara's Job Not in Jeopardy

SAN DIEGO (UPI) - John McNamara is the San Dieo Padres' manager and he's going to stay in that job-for a while, at least.

Club President Buzzy Bavasi, commenting on a report that Hall of Famer Roy Campanella had been offered the manager's job with the Padres, said Sunday night, "John McNamara is our manager now, was in February and we are satisfied with his performance."

Bavasi, who would neither deny nor confirm a published report quoting Campanella that he had been offered the manager's job in February and again two weeks ago, would only say he had met with the former star catcher of the Brooklyn Dodgers late last month at an oldtimers' game in San Diego where Campanella served as manager of the oldtime National Leaguers.

Campanella, 52, has been a paraplegic since 1957 when he was involved in an automobile crash. He is in Cooperstown, N.Y., for today's Hall of Fame induction ceremonies honoring Whitey Ford, Mickey Mantle, James 'Cool Papa'' Bell, Jim Bottomley, Sam Thompson and Jocko Conlon.

The Padres, who have finished last every year since their inception in 1969, are again in the NL West Division basement, 29 1/2 games behind first place Los Angeles.

Marichal, who hated to leave the Bay area because of his many friends here, said he felt he had to pitch well against the A's because of some remarks relayed to him by a friend a couple of years back. "I faced them in spring training a few years ago," recalled Marichal, "and they hit me pretty good. A friend both were with the Giants, put it best of all. "He's the same old Juan," Alou said in admiration. "Sure, he doesn't have as good a fastball as he used to, but he still knows how to pitch. You never get a ball from him you can hit solid."

reliever Gene Garber. Tom House, the guy who caught Hank Aaron's 715th homer, got the win with a three-inning relief stint to boost his record to 5-2.

Gary Matthews led off the seventh inning with a homer MacPhail Elected that snapped a 3-3 deadlock and led San Francisco to its The Pirates, in third place in the Eastern Division, first game victory over Chicago. In the second game, Tito Fuentes' two-out, two-run pinch single gave the Giants the sweep. The Giants were trailing 4-2 entering the ninth before Garry Maddox' homer and Fuentes' hit pulled the game out for San Francisco.

Petty Credits Luck, Baker for Victory

TALLADEGA, Ala. (UPI) -Richard Petty credited luck and Buddy Baker for his 162nd career victory Sunday in the sixth annual Talladega 500 stock car race at Alabama International Motor Speedway.

"Buddy won it for me," a similing Petty told reporters after edging David Pearson by inches at the finish line, "His (Baker's) car was the quickest on the track. I was able to draft him for most of the race and 'David wasn't Baker led most of the race with Pet ty riding his rear bumper but pitted on the 160th lap and six laps later fell off the pace, reporting engine trouble. He finished sixth in the 188-lap race. "Because of my draft with Buddy, didn't have to race until the final six or seven laps," said Petty, who gained his first ever win at the speedway. "I was just riding along behind him."

Going into the final straightaway Petty was riding Pearson's rear oumper but he got around Pearson by cutting first to Pearson's right and then to his left

"When he saw what was happening he tried to turn left, but I was already beside him," Petty said. "We bumped and it caused his car to get a little crossways. He shut down for a second and I went ahead. If there had been another 100 feet to the line, he probably would have pulled ahead of

"My pit crew did a tremendous job and we had a lucky break." Petty, a Randleman, N. C. millionaire, won $21,365 in first prize and lap money, boosting his NASCARleading total to $201,170. He also stretched his lead over Cale Yarborough in the Winston Cup Point standings. Petty has 2,751 points and Yarborough 2,261.

Bobby Allison finished third in the race, followed by Yarborough, Benny Parsons, Baker, Ramo Scott, Bobby Isaac, Marty Robbins and Earl Ross. Retty's 1974 Dodge was one of 10 cars damaged Saturday night by a saboteur who slipped into the garage area despite the presence of two security guards.

"The toe-in on my car had been messed up but we corrected it pretty quick," Petty said. "We checked everything else, drained the gas tank and tightened all the bolts we could get to.

Damage to the cars ranged from readjusted front tie-rods to slashed tires and oil lines and "an unknown substance poured into the gas tanks,' authorities said. Most of the damaged cars belonged to top drivers.

Only two drivers, Neil Castles and Joe Frasson, attributed their racing problems to the vandals. Both said oil lines were cut and not discovered until after the race began.

CLEMMONS, N.C. (UPI) - Almos exactly a month after he said he was over-golfed and in need of a two-year rest from the tour, Lee Trevino Sun day won his first PGA championship and looked for new horizons to con-

His game in tatters and his morale at a low ebb after an opening round 79 in last month's British Open, Trevino said he needed a long rest.

But, instead, he returned to the tour and Sunday shot a one-under-par 6 for a 72-hole total of 276 and a one stroke victory over defending PGA champion Jack Nicklaus. South African Bobby Cole, who shared the lead after 62 holes, ran into rouble on the back nine, shot a 71 for 279 to be tied by Sam Snead, 68; Dave Hill 69, and Hubie Green, 70.

Trevino, whose only previous 1974 victory was in the New Orleans Open in March, swelled his 1974 winnings to 166,886 with the PGA's $45,000. Nicklaus earned $25,700, while the four-way tie for third was worth $10, 956 to each man.

"I'll be back at Augusta next year if they'll have me," quipped the 35-year-old Texan from El Paso. "Now that I've won three of the big ones, I mus give myself a chance at the fourth.' Trevino has an intense dislike for the Augusta National course which, he insists, does not suit his game, but Nicklaus said, "he can play any course in the world." Merry Mex, as Trevino is when he's on his game, said he'd also show up at Akron Ohio, for the World Series of Golf. "I'll collect my $5,000 (last place) and leave," he said amid roars

The World Series brings together the Big Four winners of the year but Trevino never has performed well at Akron because Firestone is another of the courses he dislikes

Sunday Trevino withstood Nicklaus challenge by driving down the middle and getting inside his rival most times they arrived at the green. "I played attacking golf," said

Trevino although he posted only two birdies against a single bogey. "I went for the flag and if I'd putted reasonably it would have been over on the front nine." Trevino dropped putts of eight and 20 feet for birds at the first and ninth holes, but he three-putted the 17th

He kept his nerves under control, however, arrived safely at the 72nd hole and left himself a putt of 18 inches for his par.

"I know I should have waited, but I asked Jack and Hubie (Green) if I could putt out. There was no way I could stand around and wait for them to finish.

"Then I was nervous."

Trevino credited Nicklaus for lifting his game. "Being paired with him raised my game, but I did hit the ball the best I've done this year."

Ironically, it was Trevino who stopped Nicklaus' victory march in the 1971 U.S. Open, which he won in a playoff, and in the British Open the following year when he won to stop Nicklaus' bid for a Grand Slam of the big four titles in one year.

Trevino said he will still cut down on his 1975 schedule, but his PGA victory -- to go with two wins in the U.S. and British Opens -means he'll have to play another two tournaments this year-the World Series and the World Cup in Venezuela where he'll represent the United States with Hale

Irwin. Nicklaus paid tribute to Trevino and said he had played better on the day, "but I was pleased with the way] played. It was the best I've done all

His failure to win a major championship for only the fourth time in 13 years means Nicklaus will miss the World Series and he's not too happy about that.

"I can't say I'll be too happy to be home that weekend," said Nicklaus, "But life will go on."

Nicklaus did not make any putts of any consequence and that was why he failed to catch Trevino. He had two 15footers at the third and fourth and a 10-footer at the 13th, but he had threeputt greens at the third and 13th.

Although Cole challenged during an up-and-down round in which he made only five pars, it was really a straight fight between Trevino and Nicklaus. Cole lost a chance of finishing alone in third place when he finished bogeydouble bogey-par. At the 17th he whiffed when under a tree and that amateurish shot cost him over $6,000 in prize money.

Gary Player, who won the Masters and British Open earlier in the year. shot an even par 70 for 280, while Al Geiberger had the low round of the day, a 66, for 281.

Temporary Truce In Player Strike

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The sixweek-old pro football players' strike ended in a temporary truce today, but it wasn't completely over yet. Members of the striking NFL Players Association agreed Sunday to report to their training camps Wednesday for the duration of a 14day "cooling off" period, but reserved the right to walk out if no contract settlement is achieved with the owners in the meantime.

W. J. Usery Jr., the government's chief labor mediator who proposed the ceasefire, termed the players' decision a "tremendous breakthrough" and arranged for bargainers from both sides to resume negotiations on Thursday.

Wellington Mara, the president of the New York Giants and a member of the Management Council who is generally the leader of the hard-line faction of owners, said, "if it's good enough for William Usery, it's good enough for me.'

He said he expected no major problems with the return of the vets. "They are professional. There will be no trouble.'

From a fan standpoint, it means that beginning next weekend preseason game lineups will consist of regulars and stars rather than the untried rookies and unknown free agents who have played before skimpy crowds in the first two weeks of NFL exhibition games.

For the striking players, it means they will begin drawing on a weekly basis 10 per cent of their annual salary up to $10,000 for their pre-season play. It also ends a growing erosion of veterans who gave up on the strike and turned up at the training camps.

Generally, striking veterans indicated they would be ready to perform in the coming weekend preseason games, because they have been working out intensively on a team basis during the 42-day-old

But they also signalled plainly they would renew the walkout if there is no quid pro quo coming from the owners

NEW YORK (UPI) - There could

-National Football Roundup-

at the bargaining table during the cooling off period.

- "I'm ready to play this weekend in our game against Buffalo," Billy Kilmer, the Washington Redskin quarterback, commented. "But I'm ready to walk out again for what we're bargaining for." Ed Garvey, executive director of the NFL Players Association, told a news conference he hoped the union move "would bring the owners to their senses" in the coming bargaining talks. He and union president Bill Curry said the players' executive committee had decided to agree to Usery's request for the best interests of pro football, the country and the players. But Garvey grimly warned that the union would not give in on the "freedom issue" principles involved in the prolonged dispute or throw away the sacrifices made by union members who remained out on strike.

For at least the next two weeks, the owners seem to be spared the loss of gate receipts brought on by low attendance at pre-season games. But the development probably has put them in the position of having to make a counter gesture when bargaining resumes.

The position of the rookies and free agents who have been in camp was up in the air. With the return of the striking regulars, many of them were facing the possibility of being cut. "The decision does, of course, have ramifications for the rookies and veterans who have been in our camps," John Thompson, executive director of the NFL Management Council, said in New York Sunday "and that's something we will have to review with our committee and our clubs as quickly as possible, before making further comment."

Thompson said the clubs had tabled the regular cutdown dates during the strike and now will have to decide what action to take. The owners aren't anxious to make the normal rookie cuts until a contract is signed so they'll still have some players if the vets walk out again.

Coventry Speed Demon Senate Page

WASHINGTON - The U.S. Senate has a new speed demon - a 15-year-old Senate page who may someday become as famous as a motorcycle daredevil Evel Knievel. Who is this page recently appointed by Sen. Lowell Weicker to serve a term in the Senate from July 1 to Oct. 31? The young racing enthusiast who would love to leap over 10 dirt bikes in a single bound is Lisa Holloran of Coventry, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce H. Halloran, North School Rd. On May 18, Lisa received a call from Weicker's office telling her that out of 400 applications, she had been one of the three chosen to serve in the Senate this year under Weicker's patronage. "After I was notified. I was so excited I couldn't talk. I had always dreamed about being a page but I never thought I'd have the chance. I did the first 2-minute mile when I ran down to my grandmother's house to tell

After her appointment, Lisa bought her "dream" motorcycle - a Honda XL 125 dirt bike which she hopes to race next year. She is not the only cycle connoisseur in her family - her parents and her younger brother are all avid riders.

Before moving to Washington in July for her job, Lisa had been to the Nation's Capital only once before when she was here with her town's fife and drum corps. She has found that Washington is "mainly the way I thought it would be. I was confused when I first came - but I'm learning and I always ask questions." Lisa, the third girl page appointed by Weicker in three years, is one of the three female pages on the Senate's Republican "bench". (There are nine guys.)

A model-slim 5'10" tall and 115 pounds, Lisa bubbles with excitement as she recounts her duties as a page.

As part of her daily duties, Lisa gets bills and amendments on the calendar for that day from the document room and puts them on the desks of the Republican Senators. She also distributes the Congressional Record, the record of business from the day before, and the daily calendar, a schedule of upcoming legislation.

As for her own boss, Sen. Weicker, Lisa declares: "I think he's fantastic - he's the best senator. He acts like a person; he can come down to anyone's level - down to earth is the best way to describe him. Ford's Son Talks to Newsmen

Michael Ford, 24, eldest son of President Gerald Ford, talks with newsmen outside the house in which he and his wife, Gayle, live in Essex, Mass. He is a student at Gordon-Conwell Theological Seminary in nearby Hamilton. (UPI photo)

Michael Ford Sees Need For Truth of Nixon Role

ESSEX, Mass. (UPI) - Michael Ford, eldest son of President Gerald R. Ford, says he believes that what is needed from former President Nixon is "a confession, or an admission of any guilt involved," in connection with Watergate. He said Nixon eventually may be vindicated by full disclosure.

"I don't pass judgement at all on the man or anything," Ford, 24, a student at the Gordon-Cornwell Theological Seminary, said in an interview (with radio station WEEI, Boston). "Whatever may have happened he could be completely vindicated, or not involved in anyway. But I think truth, like my father said, is the glue that binds the world and nation together, and I just really hope that we can live by that standard, in the presidency and on down the line.

Emphasizing President Ford had a "great feeling of sadness and sorrow" because of what had happened to Nixon, Michael Ford said "there are many accomplishments on h i s (Nixon's) record. I just think he as well as anyone else is responsible for all the actions he has done. "I would say the same for myself, an expression on his part of exactly his knowledge and understanding of what transpired in the whole Watergate affair, and I think what is needed is a confession, or an admission of any guilt involved." Asked if he thought his father would agree with him, Ford said "I would imagine, hypothetically, just trying to guess, maybe he would hope to see from the president or anyone a coming forth with all the evidence, facts, data that transpired.
