

Innovative Education Projects Stress Evaluation and Research

Evaluation and research are on the rise in projects that have been approved for funding with federal money marked for educational innovation.

Seven of 16 new projects in the state funded under Title III of the U.S. Elementary and Secondary Education Act are concerned with evaluation, research, or dissemination of information.

Projects include an educational data bank, follow-up study of women's opportunities in the Hartford area, a training program for school administrators, and a leadership program for gifted students.

One program — Project TIPS sponsored by the Capitol Region Education Council — is a cooperative program between public and nonpublic secondary schools.

Another 33 ESSEA Title III projects are in their second or third year.

Some highlights of other new projects: Educational Resources Center at the Area Cooperative Educational Services (ACES) in New Haven will expand the capability of its state and national computerized education data bank.

Diagnose Pre-School, also at ACES, is a special education and identification service for area preschoolers.

The City Semester, in Hartford, will conduct a study to determine the feasibility of a residential program for independent school students from outlying suburbs.

A Little Love, also in Hartford, will help evaluate and improve special education services to Spanish speaking pupils.

Career Awareness, another Hartford project, is designed to help middle school students explore career areas.

A follow-up study of recent female graduates of Hartford high schools will cover career and educational opportunities for women.

Parent Education, sponsored by the Capitol Region Education Council, will provide workshops and other programs for the parents of handicapped children.

Project PLUS, in Regional District No. 13 (Durham, Middletown), will continue developing individualized instruction by setting up curriculum centers.

Leadership Colloquia, sponsored by Project LEARN in Madison, is a program for gifted and talented students which will use political problems to develop creative thinking.

Project USE is an intensive training program for administrative personnel in the West Haven school.

THE CANDIDATES ARE SAYING

Muriel Yacovone

State Rep. Muriel Yacovone, Dem., Ninth Assembly District, today expressed concern over the "increasing number of bicycle accidents in the past year-and-a-half," and said "it's time for an examination of the state's statutes pertaining to the use of bikes."

She said she has asked the General Assembly's transportation committee's chairman to place bicycle safety on the committee's agenda for its September meeting.

"Discussion of possible changes in the laws and the possibility of new legislation," she said.

Mrs. Yacovone, "should be taken up now, in preparation for the January session of the legislature."

She said, "In the next session of the legislature, I will support mandatory registration of all bicycles and a mandatory program of bicycle safety education for all elementary school children. At a time when bicycle use is rapidly increasing as a healthful pastime and as a means for cutting down on the use of cars, we must take action to prevent loss of life and serious injury to bicycle riders."

Road Deaths Down in July

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The highway death toll for July — a month of heavy vacation driving — dropped 16 per cent, according to government figures.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration said Wednesday it was the ninth monthly decline in a row and "represents an estimated 800 lives saved during July, and a total of some 6,800 lives saved since the beginning of the year."

The decline in traffic fatalities — there were 56,000 in 1973 — coincided with the energy crisis. Some highway experts credit less driving by motorists and the 55-mile-an-hour nationwide speed limit for the drop.

No-Growth Economy Seen Despite Federal Acts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A respected economist says the United States is in for at least another year and a half of recession, inflation and unemployment — no matter what the government tries to do about it.

Testifying before the new Senate Budget Committee Thursday, F. Gerald Adams of the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School of Finance and Commerce forecast a no-growth U.S. economy whether or not Congress took President Ford's advice and cut federal spending by $10 billion.

The spending cut might reduce the projected 1975 inflation rate from 8.2 per cent to 7.7 per cent, Adams said. But it also would produce an unemployment rate of 6.7 per cent instead of 6.3 per cent.

Currently unemployment is running at about 6.3 per cent of the civilian work force. Ad Adams foresees a 1974 inflation rate averaging out at about 10 per cent. His gloomy forecast came against a gloomy background of economic developments.

GNP Declines • The Commerce Department reported the Gross National Product dropped during the second quarter of this year by 0.8 per cent.

This was far less severe than the 7 per cent drop of the first quarter, caused partially by the energy shortage. Two straight quarterly GNP declines is the classical definition of a recession.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average continued its descent, closing Thursday at 704.79, down 6.80 points. It fell below the 700 level for the first time in more than four years.

Gasoline Tax • The White House said the Ford administration had under study "along with many, many other things" a 10-cent-a-gallon increase in federal gasoline taxes with the revenue — perhaps $10 billion — used to offset a cut in personal income taxes for the poor.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average continued its descent, closing Thursday at 704.79, down 6.80 points. It fell below the 700 level for the first time in more than four years.

Oil • Kuwait and Venezuela announced they were cutting back oil production because they said overcapacity was pushing prices down. Kuwait, currently producing 2.55 million barrels a day, already has cut back but will lower production even more to keep prices high, the Arab country's oil minister said.

Pension Bill Signed • Congress completed action and sent to the president the bill to cut federal spending by $10 billion.

Other Suggestions • He also apparently intends to go along with the suggestion of his transition that advisers on national security, budget, domestic policy, the economy, personnel and his legal counsel have equal status and access to the President.

Ford also is expected to reduce the White House staff substantially.

Ford Helping GOP Candidates

TerHorst has said Ford would like to run for a full term this time and Democrats, like Senate majority leader Mike Mansfield, think he will be a difficult man to beat.

"He is, by far, the best man they have," Mansfield said Thursday.

Manfield still had a series of presidential appointments today in what has become typical in the Ford White House. Others will include Syrian Foreign Minister Abdel Halim Khaddam, Farm Family of the Year and representatives of senior citizens' organizations among others.

While Congress is away, Ford was expected to begin restructuring his administration.

Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton has said that Ford has agreed to curtail the authority of the Office of Management and Budget over the policies of federal departments and agencies — a Nixon innovation — as part of his transformed operation.

Bank Bandits End Up Empty-Handed

NEEDHAM, Mass. (UPI) — Two masked bandits held the wife and baby of a bank manager as hostages while they emptied the safe of money, but they were foiled when a workman came across the suitcase containing the loot before they could reach the scene, the FBI said.

All of the money was recovered.

FBI special agent James Neveler said two men broke into the home of Stephen R. George, manager of the Needham National Bank, shortly before 8 a.m. They bound his wife and 1 1/2-year-old baby girl and ordered George to go to the bank, remove all the money and leave it in a suitcase on a grassy slope near Rt. 128 on the outskirts of town.

"George drove himself with instructions from them to take the money and put it in a particular location," Neveler said.

"The two men, who were armed, remained with the wife and child until they were sure George had taken the money from the bank. He then returned to his house."

"The 'economic package' includes teacher salaries, wage increments based on length of service, and fringe benefits.

"The arbitrator's award will be merely an 'advisory' report, Deakin said, and the decision is not binding on either party. He added, however, that arbitration awards have generally been acceptable to both parties in the past, especially when the arbitrator's decisions have been unanimous.

High school teacher Peter Diflora, chief contract negotiator for the MEA, has said it's likely teachers will return to school next month even if they don't have a contract.

MEA President Arthur Glaeser wouldn't confirm that decision today, though. He said the MEA membership will meet next Tuesday to discuss the overall matter of contracts.

If either the Board of Education or the MEA rejects the arbitration award, negotiations will have to be reopened.

Negotiations for a new teacher contract started last January and ended unsuccessfully in May. The dispute went before state mediators, who decided that arbitration was necessary.

Other Issues • Among non-economic issues to be decided by the arbitrators are the teacher layoff procedure, teacher participation in decision-making, and policies dealing with leaves of absence, extracurricular activities, teaching facilities, and negotiating procedures.

The panel of arbitrators consists of an MEA appointee, a school board appointee, and a neutral arbitrator agreed to by both parties. They are, respectively, Atty. Michael Boyle, a member of the Hartford law firm of Gould, Killian & Krechevsky; Neil Macy, administrator of employee-employer relations for the Hartford Board of Education; and Peter Adomet, associate professor of law at the University of Connecticut, Hartford branch.

Preparing Entry Forms for Tolland Fair

JoAnn Gerber, left, and Kathy Diamond, both of Vernon, are busy filling out health forms for their Holstein (relaxing in the background). The girls are preparing for the Tolland County 4-H Fair which officially opens this afternoon for some activities. The fair will continue Saturday and Sunday at the Tolland County Agricultural Center, Rt. 30, Vernon.

Exhibits are set up in the main building along with a food booth. Saturday's events will include dairy stewardship, baking contest, sheep showmanship and a watermelon eating contest. Sunday's main event will be the horse show. There will also be a dog show, turtle race and frog-jumping contest. (Herald photo by Richmond.)

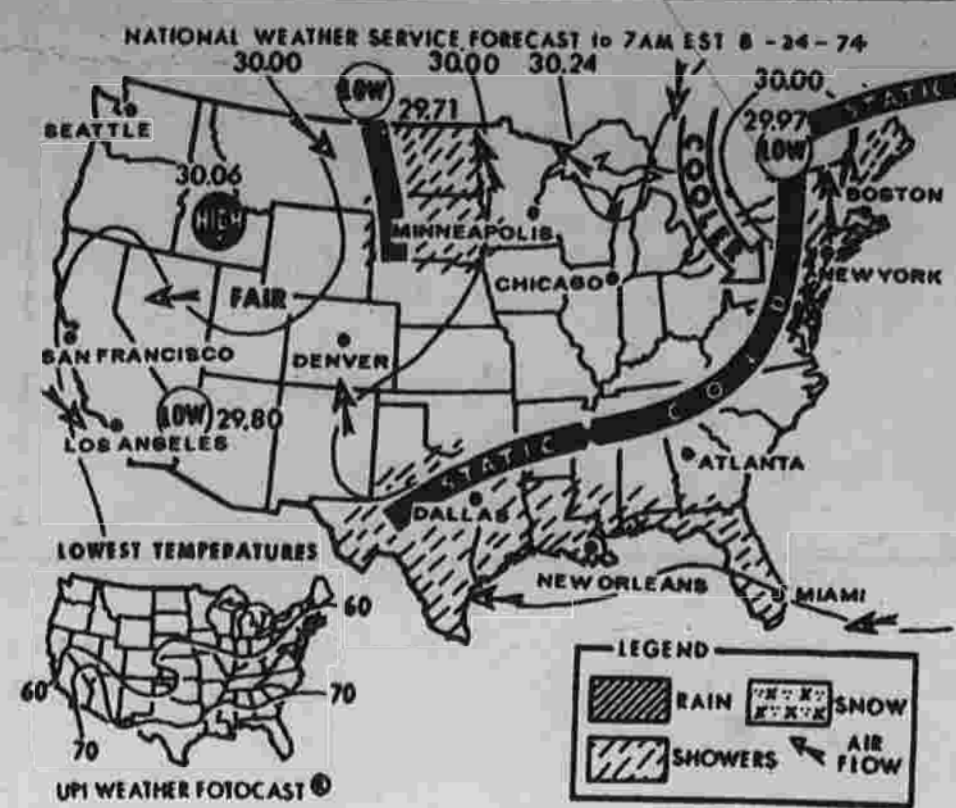

On Manchester Teaching Contracts Arbitration Board Decision Expected Early Next Week

By DOUG BEVINS An arbitration decision on the contract dispute between the Manchester Education Association (MEA) and the Board of Education is expected to be released early next week, Asst. School Superintendent Wilson E. Deakin Jr. said today.

A three-member arbitration panel, which heard arguments from both sides in two lengthy sessions a month ago, has reportedly reached agreement on all issues except the July 1975 contracted economic package, Deakin said.

"The arbitrators are still trying to get a unanimous award," Deakin said, explaining that he understands the MEA will have to accept the arbitration award.

"If either the Board of Education or the

OPINION
Refining Campaign Reform

Secretary of State Gloria Schaffer is urging that the state's new campaign reform laws be refined for the philosophy is right, the legislature's "poor draftsmanship" will cause problems.

Perhaps Mrs. Schaffer is being politically polite in laying the blame to "poor draftsmanship." But it is really "poor draftsmanship" or another case of attempting to cover too many bases with a complicated law open to varied interpretation when a simple straightforward solution would accomplish the same goal?

Anything that is interjected beyond that leads to problems like those Mrs. Schaffer cites. You see the trouble with campaign money isn't the money. Money, campaign or otherwise, isn't good or bad in itself. It is the conditions under which it is given and more important the conditions under which it is accepted by a politician or political organization.

A Better Formula

WASHINGTON — No comment is intended, for or against, President Ford's nomination of Nelson Rockefeller as his Vice President, but it does seem about time Congress and the people came up with a better formula for the selection process.

Whether a Vice Presidential nominee is chosen under the 25th Amendment or at a national convention, he remains in effect the President's man. He is not a representative of the national electorate but only of the man in the White House.

This is crazy and sometimes dangerous, as George McGovern's abortive choice of Sen. Thomas Eagleton and the sordid fall of Spiro Agnew reminded us.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Author Joe McGinnis, currently writing a book about American heroes, tells the story of a woman horse fan attending last year's Belmont Stakes.

The tale, supposedly true, is more than just a snicker. It's a commentary on a people so starved for something to believe in, even a horse will do. I'm reminded of that now that the new president has replaced Secretary of State Gerald R. Ford.

Lady To Perform At Final Concert

"Lady" will be entertaining you at the last SAM concert of the season. A rock group composed mostly of Hartford musicians, "Lady" takes its name from its minority member, Patti Graham.

Patti Graham takes her place as the band's vocalist. She also plays percussion. Before joining "Lady," she had a great undiscovered talent.

Drummer, percussionist, and vocalist, Michael Karpak has been playing for ten years. He formerly drummed with the original rock band "Poison" for two years. He has also played with many other local bands, before the formation of "Lady" six months ago.

John Kumnick contributes to the band's music on bass guitar and double bass. Before becoming "Lady" member, John was with "Plastic Sam" and other area bands. He has been playing for seven years and his background has included playing with the Connecticut String Orchestra, and studying the double bass under the principal bassist from the Hartford Symphony.

Carl Sturken, a music major at Hartford's Trinity College, has his roots in New Jersey. He has done much studio and concert work with groups in the Princeton, N.J. area. Having been playing music for eight years, Carl is "at home" with almost any instrument. For "Lady" he plays lead guitar, saxophone, percussion and also does vocals.

Thirteen years of guitar have paved the way for Mick Bolduc's performance as "Lady's" lead guitarist. He is also a vocalist. Before becoming a member of "Lady," he was with "Plastic Sam."

Larry Bolduc, Mick's brother, is a student at the Hartford Conservatory. For "Lady," he plays piano and the moog synthesizer. He has been making music for the last eight years, and was formerly a member of the local band "Charlotte Spring."

"Lady" has brought their music to such places as "The Other Horse," "Rusty Nail," "Rocking Horse," UConn, Trinity College, and St. Joseph's college for women. They have also done a lot of gigging in Massachusetts, and in the local high schools, such as M.H.S., Conard, and Hall High. "Lady" has also played at Manchester's Teen Center.

A "Lady" spokesman described the band's music as "funky rock and roll." He said the band plays music by such artists as Janis Joplin, Bonnie Raitt, Double Bros., Cold Blood, Fleetwood Mac, and Carole King.

With a female member, "Lady" has a different kind of sound than many of the predominantly all-male rock groups. The band feels they are different in many other ways, too. Come to the final SAM concert Saturday night, and hear the difference.

"What's Everybody Looking At?"

Concentration on Ceramics

This young lady seems to be hard at work on a ceramic project. She is one of the many people taking part in the Ceramics classes offered this summer at the West Side Rec. Instructor Bea Sheffel also conducts many other craft classes.

Going Down Into History

Archaeology student, Mary Raum stands in the "site" she and other class members dug in order to study the past. Instructor, Dr. Douglas Jordan (shown sitting) confers with his student. The University of Connecticut team spent the summer at the South Windsor located site, going down into history.

In the Spotlight

The band "Odyssey" seemed to shine in a recent performance at a Mt. Nebo Concert. "Odyssey," as did all the bands who performed at the concert, donated their time and talents in bringing music to Manchester. SAM sponsored a total of 5 rock concerts this summer. Each one featured two bands, most of which are area groups. (SAM photo by Tierney)

'A Bird in Flight'

"The world's most amazing cockatoo," Herpie, played by SAM dramatist Gloria Tripp, seems to have had her feathers ruffled by her trainer, played by Barbara Senna. Ms. Senna as "Madame Icaris" tried unsuccessfully to make Harpie speak. She could get hardly a peep out of Harpie until the bird condescended to teach her mere homo-sapien trainer how to fly. This skit was one of the many humorous ones in "Uncle SAM's Vaudeville Hour Or So." Under the direction of Lee Hay, the talent collection performed at Manchester Memorial Hospital, Crexfield Convalescent Home, Mt. Nebo, Center Park and Center Springs.

Many Winners In Tennis Tourney

Many thrilling matches were waged between competitors at last week's Student Tennis Tournament. The tournament, co-sponsored by SAM and the Manchester Board of Realtors, ran for three days: Aug. 14, 15, and 16.

At the end of the competitions, trophies were awarded in each division. The winners are as follows:

Grades 4-6: Boys' Singles: Steve Cassalino; Girls' Singles: Susan Roth; Boys' Doubles: Curt and Carl Fenton; Girls' Doubles: Beth Tobin and Debbie Baud; Mixed Doubles: Alex Britnell and Beth Tobin.

Grades 7-9: Boys' Singles: Rick Marshall; Girls' Singles: Cherrie Dow; Boys' Doubles: Mike and Todd Carter; Girls' Doubles: Annette Duke and Cherrie Dow; Mixed Doubles: Dan Fox and Annette Duke.

Grades 10-college: Men's Singles: Russ Sink; Women's Doubles: Annette Duke and Cherrie Dow; Mixed Doubles: Chris Saunders and Nancy Donovan.

This is the second year the Student Tennis Tournament has been held. SAM Coordinator, Rick Gowen, says that there were many more entrants this year. Due to the large response, he is certain that there will be more tournaments such as the one held last week. The matches were held at the Manchester Memorial Courts at Manchester High School.

Statue of Victory

Here's Cake in Your Face

Now, this one's for real. SAM Coordinator Rick Gowen wasn't rehearsing for a show, as is pictured at left. Neither was the SAM employee who threw it at him, during the Arts and Crafts Fair, held in July. Everything turned out well, however. Rick was a good sport about it: the cake was his favorite kind. RHS Expansion Plans Given Final Approval

VERNON
 BARBARA RICHMOND
 After approving some changes asked by the Board of Education the Vernon Municipal Planning Board has given final approval to plans for the Rockville High School expansion program Thursday night and set Oct. 10 for the opening of bids.

The Board of Education approved the plans earlier this month, contingent on the building committee's approval of some changes "requested for educational purposes."

The major change involved the switching of plans for the boys' and girls' rest rooms so the doors to both would face the administrative offices for better security of the areas which the board said has been a problem.

The building committee agreed to the change after hearing David Eveleth of McHugh Associates, the architectural firm handling the project, explain what the change would involve.

Eveleth said it would mean substantial changes on all of the drawings involving the sprinkler, plumbing, ventilation, light and power. He said it would also mean moving the elevator shaft about 30 feet but would not require changes in duct work as thought at first.

The building committee also agreed to eliminate the rest rooms near the library and to instead use the space for storage of books and such.

Another change concerned the installation of "islands" in the student parking lot in an attempt to keep down speeding.

Eveleth said he met with the town engineer on this and it was agreed that a cut could be made through the islands to make room for snow plows to turn and get through. He said, however, all of the islands will remain.

After all of the changes were agreed upon, Maurice Miller, chairman of the Board of Education, said the board's approval could be considered final.

In discussing putting the project out to bid, Eveleth said the electrical, plumbing, heating, and ventilating subcontractors will be asked to submit bids earlier than the general contractor.

He explained that the general contractor has to include these mechanical bids in his base bid and any mechanical bid received, but not chosen by the low-bid general contractor, won't be opened.

The subcontractor can choose the general contractor to whom he will submit his bid, and the general contractor has the prerogative as to whom he chooses for the job.

Eveleth said he intends to meet with all interested bidders at least a week before the bids are due so they can ask questions.

"This is an enormously complex job and I want to answer any questions the bidders might have," he said.

The general contractor will be asked, as part of the bid, to include a preliminary schedule of dates he would try to complete various portions of the building.

The schedule set by the architects is:

Council Accepts Recommendation Of Charter Revision Committee

COVENTRY
 Monica Shea

 Tel. 743-9495

The Town Council this week accepted the recommendations of the Charter Revision Committee which will revise the charter to conform with State Statutes 8-19 concerning the expiration of terms of Planning and Zoning Commission members.

When the charter was revised last November it read that all the terms would be two years, which would mean three members' terms would expire in the same year. Under the state Statutes only the terms of two members may expire in any given year.

The Charter Revision Commission recommended that two members of the PZC should serve for three years, two members for two years, and one member for one year. Thereafter all terms would be for three years.

PZC alternate terms would also be staggered. One alternate would serve for two years, one for three years and one for four years. Thereafter the terms for alternates would be for three years.

The recommendations will now be published and sent to the Secretary of State's office by Sept. 1, which is the deadline for questions to be placed on a November ballot.

The Charter Revision Commission had made a similar recommendation last spring but they were not published and so became invalid.

The council ratified the contract with police dispatchers, Local 531, Service Employees

Whitin-Macomber

Nancy Reed Macomber of Manchester became the bride of James Taylor Whitin of Rye, N.Y., June 29 at the Old Stone Church in Adamsville, Mass.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger F. Macomber of 146 Elizabeth Dr., the bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whitin of Rye.

The Rev. Brynden of Adamsville performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, wore a white gown fashioned with high neckline, Empire bodice and long sleeves of English net appliqued with Venice lace and a controlled skirt and chapel train edged with matching lace. Her headpiece was a tiara of daisies, and she carried a bouquet of daisies, baby's breath and ivy.

Mrs. James Leland of Dixbury, Mass., cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Anne Whitin of Rye, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Sandra Levitz of Belmont, Mass.

The attendants were dressed alike in sleeveless Empire gowns of powder blue lines, designed with scooped necklines trimmed with lace. They wore circlets of yellow daisies in their hair and carried bouquets of similar flowers.

Marc Eichen of Worcester, Mass. served as best man. Ushers were Harry Whitin of Westboro, Mass., and John Whitin of Medford, Mass., brothers of the bridegroom.

After a reception at the Acocet Club in Westport Harbor, Mass., the couple left on a wedding trip to Bermuda.

For traveling, Mrs. Whitin wore a two-piece suit of blue French cotton. They will live in Norway where Mr. Whitin is vice president of Harry T. Whitin, Inc., which deals in textiles.

Mrs. Whitin is a graduate of Manchester High School and Simmons College, Boston. Mr. Whitin is a graduate of Dartmouth College, Hanover, N.H., and Clark University, Worcester, Mass.

Major span of her supposedly productive years is behind them. Our society isn't very helpful here because the retirement system often makes people quit being useful members of society.

In fact, many people in their 60s and older have the best years of their lives before them, if they use them properly. I pointed out in my book that the Abkhazians are working in the fields from age 90 to 100. And, they keep a vigorous interest in community affairs and family affairs in short, they continue to feel needed.

It is important to increase social contacts. Get into organizations that will give you active and involved. Each person has to choose his area of interest, but the point is to choose something that may be a garden club-type activity and learning to raise your own food. That might come in very handy after retirement or if you are going, even sooner.

Suffrage Then and NOW

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)— All right, quick now, why do American women celebrate Aug. 26?

Answer: It marks the day when 54 years ago the 19th Amendment giving women the right to vote was proclaimed part of the Constitution.

That was one liberation milestone. But actually the women's lib movement in America began formally 128 years ago when Lucey Mat and Elizabeth Cady Stanton, fighting for the rights of women as well as against slavery, called a women's rights convention in Seneca Falls, N.Y.

The movement went through its trials and tribulations down through the years culminating in suffrage in 1920. But that was not the final chapter by any means.

Along came Betty Friedan with her celebrated "The Feminine Mystique," "The Feminine Mystique" and then in 1968 formation of the National Organization for Women.

GARDENING

By FRANK ATWOOD

A bluejay was inspecting the fruit on the topmost branches of the mountain ash when he arrived to get a picture of the tree behind the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Wysomierski at Liberty St. The jay seemed to find the berries were not quite ripe enough for his taste and flew away.

He and his relatives will be back, however, and the birds will find enough fruit for many meals. This is a big tree and Mr. Wysomierski called The Herald about it because he has never seen a tree so heavily loaded with berries. From his observation, it will be the bluejays, starlings and blackbirds that harvest the crop. They'll strip the tree, perhaps in a surprisingly short time, once they start.

In the meantime, the mountain ash is fulfilling the other function for which it was planted 23 years ago in a face-namental tree. The closely set bunches of fruit hang at the tip of every limb and on many of the small side branches. These weight pulls the smaller branches down until they almost touch the ground.

The garden encyclopedia lists a dozen kinds of mountain ash, but only two that are commonly grown in this area, the American mountain ash, a wild tree, and the European mountain ash, usually stocked by nurseries.

Since Mr. Wysomierski bought this tree as a small transplant from a local nursery when he moved to his present home, the tree is most likely of the European species.

Unpleasant Taste

The first mountain ash I knew about was probably of the American species since it grew among the rocks of a stone wall in my Vermont cow pasture. The berries had a horrid taste, which I might now call strawberry, but we then called it "puckery."

Just from curiosity, I tasted one of the berries on the mountain ash in our yard, which I am sure is of the European species. I missed the flavor of the berry I knew as a child, but I was "awful," but it was distinctly acid. The berry was surprisingly juicy, filled with yellow pulp in which there were a few small, soft seeds. They are not recommended as human food.

Why was there such a fine crop of mountain ash berries this year? I took no special notice of the weather at the time the trees were blooming and back in June, but my husband had some bright, sunny days when he could do their work of collecting pollen for themselves and pollinating the flowers while they worked.

Trees for Birds

The State Department of Environmental Protection published, in 1972, a fine booklet on "Birdsaking Your Yard," listing trees, shrubs and flowers that are attractive to birds and provide either food or shelter for nesting.

Among those that many people plant as ornamentals, or have on their lots growing wild, are the black and red wild cherries, barberry, bitternut, dogwood, cotoneaster, hawthorn, holly, black alder, sumach, viburnum and highbush cranberry. Flowering crabapples seem

Ahearn Reports on Revenue Sharing

The $46,000 appropriation needed to support the library was rejected by a vote by the Board of Finance. The townpeople did not have the opportunity to accept or reject it.

However, in a time when Bolton spends approximately 90 percent of its tax dollars on education it has a choice: Higher taxes and possibly higher revenue sharing awards or stable taxes and lower revenue sharing awards.

Ahearn said that revenue sharing is aimed at keeping increased school expenditures down while encouraging towns to spend more for local services. It encourages increasing local taxes to pay for increased community services.

In Ahearn's report he said that Bolton in recent years has kept its mill rate fairly constant due to tight control on expenditures, greater accuracy in estimating revenues and the use of past surpluses.

The report said if Bolton were to increase town government expenditures, it would be exclusive of school related expenditures - said by the community itself through the current tax levy) compared to the relative "tax efforts" of other towns, other counties and other states.

In relation to the library, Ahearn said that additional funds for the library were desired by the citizens they could come from the capital and non-recurring budget (balance approximately $100,000) or a cash surplus (balance approximately $46,000), or bonding.

Time to Prepare For Retirement

DEAR DR. LAMB - My husband has just celebrated his 52nd birthday, and since he's turned 50, I notice he has become depressed. He is in good health with a good head of black hair, no gray yet. He doesn't see the need for a doctor's advice.

It seems to me he is going through the weather. I try to cheer him up, but feel helpless when he is so depressed and won't even take aspirin.

I think he also worries about retirement in about eight years time. He is a conscientious and in recent years quite a few of his colleagues colleagues and died shortly after retirement. I reckon one cannot run away from retirement, but rather prepare for it. Could you please recommend literature on 101 ways to occupy one's self in retirement?

DEAR READER - You are very wise. Most people go to great lengths preparing for death. They have insurance for death, estate tax planning for their heirs and even plan where they are going to be buried, but all too few plan for living. You are absolutely right, the best way to survive and enjoy retirement is to plan for it properly.

You may be interested in my book, "Stay Youthful and Rich," (Harper and Row). It provides a complete guide to what changes occur as you get older, and what we know about how to prevent such problems. That most definitely includes plans for keeping occupied.

Your husband is probably having a true middle-aged depression. If it is any worse, he may need some professional counseling or even some medicine to perk him up. Men do get depressed when they realize that the

THE HERALD ANGLE By Earl Yost Sports Editor

Waged Courageous Battle
Despite knowing for a long time that his days were numbered, Jimmy Horvath fought a courageous battle against heavy odds before succumbing to cancer yesterday.

The likable, ever-smiling one-time Manchester High and University of Vermont athlete turned to officiating baseball, basketball and football after his playing days and was regarded as one of the best in each sport.
Our acquaintance spanned better than 30 years, as opponents and teammates, and later as brother officials on the basketball tour.

Nicknames are not as common today as years ago but Jimmy picked up one during his high school days that stayed with him all his remaining years, Bozo. Where it originated, I never learned.
For a quarter century, Jimmy officiated high school and college basketball and football games. He was a Johnny-come-lately to the baseball umpiring trail but officiating came naturally and he was rewarded with choice assignments after just one year as a man in blue.

Jimmy was first stricken several years ago but made a great recovery and was able to officiate until last spring. Never once did he give up hope to getting back with the zebra-stripe shirt this fall and walk out onto a football field with whistle in hand.

Next to his line family, officiating was his second love. He worked basketball the year around, including summer play in the Rec League at Charter Oak.

Jimmy was a natural in all sports and when he took up golf, he found he was right at home and wound up with a low handicap.
Three times Jimmy wound up in a championship bracket. He captured the Men's Seniors' crown in 1969 and repeated the following year. In 1971 he teamed with his son, Leonard, to garner the Father and Son golf championship at the Manchester Country Club.

When Leonard copied the coveted Club Championship at Manchester this summer, Jimmy was proud as a peacock although his condition was weakening daily and he wasn't able to be on hand.
His other son, Jim, is now a radio sportscaster on Cape Cod in Hyannis.

Many a night we traveled together throughout the state to handle basketball assignments and in the spring we teamed to handle baseball games.
There was a lot of class in Jimmy Horvath as a man, as an official and as a husband and father.
Fellow fans and friends like Jimmy Horvath don't come down the pike every day.

Unseeded Foreigner Nets Tennis Upset

BROOKLINE, Mass. (UPI) — For the second day in a row, an unheralded foreigner has emerged from the pack to strike down a top-seeded player in the $100,000 U.S. Professional Tennis Championships at the Longwood Cricket Club.

The story Wednesday was the upset of first-seeded Stan Smith by Jun Kamiwawami of Japan, a 5-foot-6 former third baseman, and Thursday a towering self-exiled Czechoslovakian, Milan Holecck, knocked off 12th-seeded Harold Solomon of Fla. Lauderdale, Fla., a highly regarded clay court performer, 4-6, 6-3, 7-5, in a second round match.

Thursday's Dutchman Tom Okker (2), Swede Bjorn Borg (4), Marty Riessen of Amelia Island, Fla. (8), Czech Jan Kodes (9), and Eddie Dibbs of Miami Beach, Fla., (10) — had little trouble advancing into the third round.

The 6-3 Holecck took everything that Solomon could throw at him Thursday and in the end pressured the fiery Washington, D.C., native into a double fault at deuce in the final game, then literally jumped for joy when Solomon's desperation crosscourt forehand missed the sideline.

Afterward Holecck revealed a life story that has had more drama than his cliff-hanging tennis victory. The son of a high-ranking Communist Party attorney and a former women's tennis champion, Holecck left Czechoslovakia when his parents deviated from the party line and were banished to the coal mines.

He took up residence in West Germany and waited more than a year until his finances also could free him to join him. "It was like meeting all over again," said the 31-year-old Holecck.

They were married more than a year ago, have an infant child, and hope to become American citizens.
Holecck preferred to withdraw certain details such as the mood and timing of his escape and his current residence, somewhere in the United States — since his parents, now both in their late 60s, are still living in Czechoslovakia.
On Longwood's green, clay courts

this week, Holecck has been surviving on sheer determination.
In his opening round match, he lost the first set to France's Georges Goven and was trailing 5-2 in the second set and facing elimination. But he rallied to take the second set, 7-5, then won the deciding set, 6-4, and the match.

Thursday night against Solomon, the 13th leading moneywinner on the pro tour with a record on clay that made him a likely quarter or semifinalist, Holecck again lost the first set, 6-4.
Again he rallied in the second set, charging the net and zooming ground strokes past the lunging Solomon to even the match, 6-3.

Holecck and Solomon traded four service breaks early in the deciding set and when Solomon finally won his serve, the set was even at 3-3. Both players held service until Holecck led 6-5 and then the big Czech thought he saw the match roll away from him.

Having already lost one match point, Holecck had Solomon at another and was at the baseline hammering away with groundstrokes when Solomon hit a return that slapped into the tape then, due to topspin, climbed to the top of the net and rolled around a foot or so — and fell over to bring the game back to deuce.

The crowd of Solomon breathed a sigh of relief.
"I thought I was beaten," said Holecck. "My heart dropped, but something inside told me to go on," which was fortunate since the thoroughly unseeded Solomon double-faulted and lost the match with a cross-court forehand that fell wide.

Otherwise, Okker ousted Swede Over Bengtson, 6-3, 1-6, 6-2; Bory whipped Mexico's Marcelo Lara, 6-2, 6-0; Riessen beat Californian Jeff Borowiak, 6-3, 6-2; Kodes beat Australian Bob Rheinberger, 7-6, (in a tie breaker, 7-3 in points), 6-0; and Philip-Morrie won his countryman Paul Kronk, 6-2, 6-3.

for the second straight season. More important, of course, is that he helped keep alive the Royals' hopes of overtaking the A's and winning the Western title.
Splitterff carried a 3-0 lead into the bottom of the ninth inning before losing his shutout on Joe Lis' third homer of the season. Arno Ots hit a two-run homer and the fourth inning and Hal McRae loomed in the top of the ninth to provide the Royals with all their runs.

The Texas Rangers routed Jim Palmer, the AL's Cy Young Award winner in 1973, and beat the Baltimore Orioles 6-2 in the only other major league game played Thursday. No National League games were scheduled.
"It wouldn't be right if I didn't leave Cleveland without giving up a run," laughed Splitterff. "It seems I always give up homers here. You've got to be conscious of those runners on the bases when you're pitching in a small park like this one."

Red Sox Fly High

BOSTON (UPI) — The Boston Red Sox and Oakland A's, the leaders in the American League's East and West Divisions respectively, are scheduled to start a three-game series here tonight in what observers are saying is beginning to look more and more like a preview of the American League playoffs.

The Red Sox lead the East by 6½ games, while the A's are 4½ games ahead of their competition.
The A's have been frequent pennant contenders since moving to Oakland from Kansas City. For the Red Sox, however, their place atop the division is an unusual perch.
Not since the Red Sox won the pennant in 1967 has the team been in such a position. Actually, statistics show this year's team is sitting in a much better spot than they were seven years ago.

At a comparable time in the season, the Red Sox were one percentage point out of first place, in a virtual tie with the Chicago White Sox.

Fatality on Ball Field
Pirates' Prospect, Teammate Collide

SALEM, Va. (UPI) — Eighteen-year-old Alfredo Edmead, one of the leading prospects on the Pittsburgh Pirates Salem farm club, was killed Thursday night when he collided with a teammate chasing a pop fly during a Carolina League baseball game.

Edmead, from Santo Domingo in the Dominican Republic and in his first year of pro ball, collided with second baseman Pablo Cruz in the sixth inning of a game between Salem and Rocky Mount, N.C., as he came in, head down, from right field.
A club spokesman said Cruz's knee struck the youngster in the head and he died about an hour later at a local hospital of massive brain injuries. Cruz was not seriously hurt but was hospitalized.
In his brief career, the 5-foot-10 left-hander had stolen 61 bases, hit seven home runs and was batting around .300 for the Pirates.

It journeyed to this Western Virginia town early in the year for his first taste of organized baseball with his best friend, centerfielder Miguel Dilone. The two roomed together and Edmead was second in the league in stolen bases, trailing only Dilone, who had 81.
He was described as one of the club's most promising recruits in recent years and was given an excellent chance of moving up to a Triple-A team next season.

Edmead and Dilone were the leadoff batters for Salem, which is in first place in the six-team league.
Brian Hoffman, a sports writer with the Salem Times-Register, said the 154-pound outfielder was so intent on catching the pop fly hit by Rocky Mount's Murray Gage Cole that he never saw Cruz go after the ball.
"Alfredo was running with his head down and they never stopped. The ball went flying out and they both went down. Pablo got up but a couple of players ran out and saw Alfredo and called for an ambulance right away," he said.

The youngster stopped breathing on the field but was revived by the team trainer.
In Pittsburgh, Harding Peterson, director of farm clubs for the Pirates, said, "I was just shocked. I never heard anything like this before. We lost not only one of the best young prospects in our organization, we lost a fine young gentleman. It's truly hard to believe."

Benefit Softball Twinbill Tonight

Confident of their ability to repeat as Connecticut and Region Nine champions in 1974, members of Groman's Sport Shop's women's softball team launched a money saving campaign last fall.
The women have crossed the first two bridges, by winning the State and Regionals and have now set their sights on the National Amateur Softball Assn. Tournament in Elk Grove, Calif., Labor Day weekend.

To help raise money for the journey, a doubleheader softball attraction is listed tonight at Fitzgerald Field.
Groman's men will engage Gartenhaus in the opener at 7 with the Groman's girls entertaining the Gartenhaus girls of New Britain at 8:30. All proceeds are earmarked for the California Fund.
As a special added attraction, a Honda, compliments of Manchester Honda, will be raffled off following the end of the season game.
Last year Groman's gained the right to play in the Nationals staged in Chattanooga, Tenn., and wound up 23rd in the country.
Tickets for both the games and the Honda are now on sale from members of both squads and will also be available at the gate.

Yank Swimmers Sharp in AAU's

CONCORD, Calif. (UPI) — East Germany beware, the Yanks are cranking up.
If performances on the opening program of the fourday national AAU long course swimming championships are an indication, next weekend's unprecedented meet against East Germany here at the Concord Community Pool may wind up as the greatest event in swimming short of the Olympics.
Young Southern Californians Tim Shaw of Long Beach and Shirley Babashoff of Mission Viejo set the kind of pace American coaches hope will wind up in a record shattering national championships.
Twice the 16-year-old Shaw, who attends Woodrow Wilson High School in Long Beach, broke the world record in the men's 400 meter freestyle Thursday while Miss Babashoff, a 17-year-old who enters Golden West Junior College in Huntington Beach, Calif., next month, shattered the women's 400 meter freestyle.
Shaw, who said he didn't particularly pay attention to split calls made by the public address announcer while a crowd of 3,300 cheerers rim on, won his race in 3:54.89, beating the listed world mark of 3:58.18 by Rick Demont of San Rafael, Calif., by nearly four seconds.
Miss Babashoff had to come from behind to win her event and in the process of taking the world record to 4:15.77, she also beat the mark holder—Heather Greenwood of Fremo, Calif., who set most of the pace.
Little Jenny Turrall of Australia was second while Miss Greenwood finished third and thus won a spot with Miss Babashoff as a medalist in the women's 400 meter freestyle.
Miss Babashoff said the noise of the crowd cheering made a difference.
"It was a big help to me," she said. "It didn't bother my concentration at all. I felt good all evening and thought I had a chance to win but we never are sure as long as Jenny is in the race. I always watch for her."

Five of the six other events on the opening program of the four-day show produced record performances, too. John Haber of Menlo Park, Calif., and Decara Desardourf of Cincinnati set American records while John Fencken of Santa Clara, Calif., Marcia Morey of Decatur, Ill., and Mike Bottom of Santa Clara, Calif., set meet marks.
Naber twice lowered the American record in the 200 meter backstroke, going 2:05.11 in his final performance, and may yet prove a worthy rival to world record holder Roland Matthes of East Germany next week.
Miss Desardourf went 1:02.77 in the women's 100 meter butterfly. That's not too far behind the world mark of 1:01.89 set by East Germany's Rosemaria Kother in the European championships earlier in the week.
Hencken, who holds the world record in the event, won the 100 meter breaststroke in 1:04.38. Miss Morey took the women's 100 meter breaststroke in 1:14.19 and Pottion won the 100 meter butterfly in 55.5.
The opening program's eighth event was back won by Canada's Wendy Cook. She took the 200 meter backstroke in 2:21.81, which set a meet record and also beat the listed American mark of 2:19.19 held by Melissa Belote, who missed the championships because of illness.
There were six events today's program—the men's and women's 200 meter freestyle, the men's and women's 400 meter individual medley and the men's and women's 400 meter medley relay.

Aaron in Golf Lead

HARRISON, N.Y. (UPI) — After I won the Masters," Tommy Aaron wailed a long time to win his first major golf championship—and then he found out things weren't the way he thought they would be.
Aaron's trip has been all four-way tie for the first round of the Westchester Classic. "It was something I had always dreamed about doing and then when I did it, I thought about relaxing and enjoying it. I figured I had worked at it pretty hard all these years and now could relax."
He hasn't won another tournament since then.
In fact, Aaron finished 1973 in one of his worst slumps—and he's doing even more poorly in 1974.

Losing 11½ last night, Fogarty's bowed out of the East Windsor Softball Tournament. The loss was administered by Brown's Restaurant. Al Rodonis and Rick Marsh homered and Bob Goehring and Jim Flaherty each banged out two base hits.

Another passenger, Delos Hill also of Chicago, was reported in serious condition in Newport Hospital.

Dejected France Crew Members
Sore Away Gear After Loss to Australia

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — Southern Cross, Australia's fast new 12-meter yacht, was favored to trounce France again today in their second race of the America's Cup Challenge trials, while Intrepid and Courageous will break their tie in the U.S. trials.
While the two American yachts took off Wednesday, the foreigners began their best-of-seven series, and it was no contest.
Southern Cross, skippered by Jim Hardy, who was a helmsman for the losing Greta II against Intrepid in 1970, got his boat across the starting line well ahead of Baron Marcell Bieh's France, with Jean-Marie le Guillaou at the helm, and the Australian aluminum-hull to just run away from France, a wooden-hull which lost to Greta II in four straight races in 1970.
"They should not have beaten us by seven minutes—we are faster than that—but they did murder us on the downwind legs," said Bruno Bich, son of the baron and the spokesman for the French.
"We were lucky in the wind shifts, and won by seven minutes, but I don't say we will annihilate France," said Alan Bond, head of the Aussie syndicate.
"When they got the lead, the wind was too light for a tacking duel, which is the usual tactic," le Guillaou said.
"We will hope for stronger wind—or that we get the quick lead in light air."

Southern Cross Favored Again

'Copter Crash Claims Life

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — A helicopter carrying a television crew filming the initial day of foreign trials for America's Cup contenders fell from the sky "like a rock" into the Atlantic Thursday, killing one person and injuring two others.
The plane was a Sikorsky HO4S, an electric for CBS. A CBS spokesman in New York said Jim was from the Chicago area.
A newsmen at the scene said the craft had been flying at about 200 feet when it just turned over and dropped like a rock.
The pilot of the craft, John Wallace of Warwick, was in fair condition Thursday night at Rhode Island Hospital in Providence. He was in the intensive care unit with multiple injuries and fractures.
Another passenger, Delos Hill also of Chicago, was reported in serious condition in Newport Hospital.
