GANDHI MAKES SALT TO DEFY BRITISH RULE

Leader Not Molested But Authorities Arrest 60 of His Followers; Campaign of Protest is Launched.

Dandi, Punjab, India, April 7.—(AP)—Indian Nationalists, manufacturing crude, unpalatable salt from sea water to voice their defiance of British law, today rallied behind the movement of "civil disobedience" which they hope will bring their nation complete independence.

The British authorities made 60 arrests in answer to the inauguration of the move Sunday. Among them was Ram Das Gandhi, son of Mahatma Gandhi, secretary and leader of the campaign, and advocate of violence in dealing with the government. The Mahatma himself was not molested.

To Sell the Salt

Wading into the Gulf of Cambay here, he and his devotees who had followed him on a three weeks trek from Ahmedabad, dipped vessels into the water. The liquid was evaporated later and the crude salt thus obtained will be hawked over India as talismans in the bitter conflict always non-violent, which the Nationalists believe ahead.

How widespread was Sunday's inauguration of the violation of the British salt monopoly was not established today but there were not a few of participation throughout Gujarat and Bombay and in Bengal. Strikers at Thana section, Great Indian peninsula railroad, about 20 miles from Bombay, tried passive resistance by standing on the tracks and blocking trains. The policemen beat them off.

CONGRESS ASKS RAILROADS TO ANSWER QUERY

Interstate Commerce Commission Wishes to Find Out Who Really Owns the 173 Class One Systems.

Washington, April 7.—(AP)—A detailed questionnaire to ascertain ownership of all of the country's 173 Class One railroads was prepared today by the House Interstate Commerce Committee as a preliminary step in its investigation of railroad holding and investment trust companies.

The committee expects the railroads to file replies to the questionnaire within 60 days, placing before it all information with regard to the actual owners of the rail carriers.

Detailed Information

The railroads also are required to furnish in their answers detailed accounts of their holdings in all railroads and terminal companies as well as lists of subsidiaries and their holdings, and the voting power of all securities. Officers and directors, capital stocks, contractual rights and other holdings and rights are to be set out in the replies.

The investigation was authorized by the House after the committee found itself unable to formulate legislation designed to bring about consolidation of the 1,500 railroads into 21 great systems, when it was found that holding and investment trust companies were not under the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

First Hearing

The first hearing was held Saturday when Commissioner Joseph E. Eastman, of the commission, testified to interfering ownership of many of the larger railroad systems by holding companies controlling stocks for voting power and investment companies owning securities.

The Pennroad Corporation, headed by officers of the Pennsylvania railroad system, and the Allegheny Corporation, controlled by the Van Sweringen interests of Cleveland, were mentioned by Eastman.

Eastman said the stand again Wednesday when the hearings are resumed.

REBEL GANDHI'S MARCH OF PROTEST AGAINST BRITISH RULE IN INDIA

Through native villages and civilized towns, in torrid sunlight and drenching rain, doggedly marched India's "mighty little man," dauntless Mahatma Gandhi, in his latest demonstration of protest against British rule. You see him above (indicated by arrow) as, with head bowed, he trudged among his loyal followers on their "parade of freedom" from Ahmedabad to Jalapur. This is the first picture to reach this country of the event which may have great significance in India's new campaign of passive resistance against Great Britain.

OCEAN STORMS ARE DELAYING BIG STEAMERS

Nearly All Liners Will Be Late 24 Hours or Longer; Bremen Due Tomorrow Will Arrive on Wednesday

New York, April 7.—(AP)—The United States liner America docked today, two days late after battling at sea two terrific storms which, early radio reports indicated, would probably delay arrival of nearly all liners due here the first half of the week. Among those that radioed that they would be at least 24 hours late was the North German Lloyd Bremen, holder of the world's speed record for crossing the Atlantic until it was "taken from her" recently by her sister ship, the Europa, on her maiden voyage.

Bremen Delayed

The Bremen, due tomorrow, radioed that she would not dock until Wednesday. Among the other ships that were delayed are the French liner Paris, due tomorrow, but not to arrive until Wednesday; Cosulich liner Vulcanica due today but arriving tomorrow afternoon on the Homeric of the White Star line due Wednesday, but arriving Thursday.

Twice on the trip, it looked as though the America and Captain Fried might be called upon to make another of the rescues for which they are famous.

Fishing Boat in Danger

Off the English coast Captain Fried spotted a small fishing boat, with three men aboard, well out at sea and running before the storm. They declined his offer of help.

Later, while one of the storms was at its height, the America received an SOS from the Swedish freighter Belos. The American was too far away to be of any assistance, but sent out a general call to all ships to help the Belos.

Judge and Mrs. Raymond A. Johnson of this town are among the passengers on the French liner Paris.

SEE PARLEY'S END IF THREE POWERS SIGN THE TREATY

NOTED FINANCIER DIES IN BOSTON

William P. G. Harding Was Governor of Federal Reserve Bank System.

Boston, April 7.—(AP)—William P. G. Harding, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston and former governor of the Federal Reserve Board, died here at 4:30 a. m. today. He was 65 years old.

He had been in poor health for more than a year and had been confined to his bed for the past three weeks. He made his home at the Algonquin Club.

Bank Official

Death followed a critical illness from heart trouble.

Mr. Harding had been governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston since January, 1923. He was appointed a member of the Federal Reserve Board at its formation in 1914 by President Wilson and in 1916 was made governor of the board. He served until 1922.

He was managing director of the war finance corporation in 1918 and 1919.

Born in Green County, Ala., on March 5, 1864, he graduated from the University of Alabama in 1881, the youngest full graduate in the history of the university.

He began his banking career in a private bank at Tuscaloosa, Ala., later going to the Bernay National bank at Birmingham, Ala., after some years he was chosen president of the First National Bank of Birmingham.

Mr. Harding married Amanda Moore of Birmingham on October 22, 1886. She committed suicide in Birmingham in 1910.

The Hardings had three daughters. Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Harding married F. H. Prince, Jr., noted Boston sportsman and inventor of his famous "Princeton" shoes, subsequently marrying E. Van Rensselaer Thayer of this city.

Miss Margaret Elliot Harding, like her mother, shot herself to death in Paris in 1924. She was the youngest of his sisters. The third daughter, Alice Harding, married Robert Thompson Pell of New York City and Paris.

Stimson Prepares Accord; France and Italy May Sign Later If They Can Reach Agreement; Delegates Still Cling to Belief That Five Power Pact Can Be Arranged.

London, April 7.—(AP)—Secretary of State Stimson began assembling his material for a naval conference treaty today, thus signaling the approaching end of the historic parley.

The secretary was understood to be getting ideas marshalled for a three power pact—United States, Great Britain and Japan—which will be so construed that France and Italy can join later if they overcome the difficulties which thus far have blocked the progress of the conference.

The American secretary of state came to London from Stimson this morning to conduct his delegation, but expected to return to his country home during the afternoon to continue work on the intricacies of a naval pact. One of his tasks was to analyze the Washington treaty again and to study its relation to the proposed new agreement.

Bigger Pact Possible

No one among the various delegations has yet been willing to admit officially that a five power treaty is not still possible and work to that end is continuing. Nonetheless, however, there are expressions that there is small likelihood of the French and Italian problems being settled at this conference.

The conference in the main is marking time at the moment awaiting the French answer to Great Britain's latest suggestions regarding France's claim for a security pact. The answer will be the next big event for the conference since France's reply will depend whether there is any use continuing negotiations for a five power pact or whether the conference shall adjourn with a three power agreement.

Foreign Minister Briand is in Paris discussing the subject with Premier Tardieu and the French Cabinet and plans to return to London tomorrow. The general prediction in conference circles this morning was that it will be decided there is no use continuing discussions of the French security demand and the Franco-Italian parity dispute at this conference.

Senator Reed and Ambassador Matsudaira continued discussions of the Japanese reservation on October 2, 1928. The Japanese would like to be able to transfer 20,000 tons of destroyers to submarines, but it was said in well-informed quarters that the Americans and British had strongly intimated it would be unwise to raise such issues. It was stated that neither the British nor Americans agree on such a transfer.

Today's Meeting

The American delegation met this afternoon and Secretary Stimson laid before his colleagues a draft of a naval treaty as far as possible without knowing the French answer on the security question.

It is understood the Americans feel quite a number of general clauses of the Washington treaty can be incorporated verbatim in the new pact.

Tomorrow the first committee will meet at St. James's palace to consider among other things aircraft carriers and an agreement for humanization of submarine warfare.

FINAL WEEK

Paris, April 7.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Briand is going back to London tomorrow. He is regarded in French official circles as the final week of the naval conference.

The slight progress made toward an understanding between France and Great Britain as to the interpretation of the security clauses of the covenant of the League of Nations is considered by these same sources as sufficient to justify further efforts toward complete agreement of the five powers, but with the Franco-Italian parity dispute still deadlocked it is thought impossible to prolong the conference especially as the Easter holidays are approaching.

The French delegation, in accord with Premier Tardieu who went over the whole ground with Mr. Briand yesterday, will negotiate as long as there is hope, but with the situation and the Cabinet unanimously approved his program.

LESS UNEMPLOYMENT

New York, April 7.—(AP)—A definite increase in employment is reported by 1,350 business and industrial firms with headquarters here, the New York Board of Trade announced today.

NAB LORENZ IN CANADA; CONFESSES THE MURDER

Tells Detectives How He Lured Anderson to Lonely Spot to Shoot Him; To Arrive in Hartford Tonight.

Hartford, April 7.—(AP)—Henry O. Lorenz, 25, who confessed, according to police, to killing Miss Anderson, 28, mechanic, was expected to be returned here tonight from Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Fleeing from his Hartford boarding house last Wednesday, Lorenz was captured in Windsor, Ont., Sunday.

State Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn said that Lorenz had made a full confession of his crime to County Detective Edward Hickey, His case, Alcorn said, would be presented to a Grand Jury this week and an immediate trial will be asked.

Murder Monday

Anderson was shot in the back of the head last Monday night and his body was dumped in a field in Wethersfield where it was found Tuesday afternoon.

Lorenz, according to Alcorn, confessed during the trial to escape payment of a loan of $300 made by Anderson who had asked for the money.

Meets Anderson

He had an appointment to meet Anderson and drove to Wethersfield of the pretext of obtaining the money from a friend there. He stopped the car and both men got out. While they were at the car, Lorenz fired his revolver and shot the mechanic through the head. Then he placed the body in the rear seat of his car and drove on to a field where he left it.

Later he went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. August J. Benson, the latter being a sister of Anderson.

At their request J. I. Bartholomew of Edgartown, Mass., Jerome Greer of Gales Ferry, Conn., Wm. T. Carleton of Chatham, Mass., and Charles Smith of Uncasville, Conn., were granted the retired relation.

ASKS QUICK ACTION ON NEW DRY LAWS

Attorney General Mitchell Wants Units Transferred To Justice Department.

Washington, April 7.—(AP)—Early action on the prohibition enforcement transfer bill and on prison relief measures, was advocated before the Senate judiciary committee today by Attorney General Mitchell to help administration of the dry law.

The attorney general regarded unfavorably the resolution of Chairman Norris proposing a Senate investigation of prohibition enforcement and the author conceded after the meeting that he had little hope for the inquiry.

Asked about the charges of politics mixing in enforcement, made by Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, former assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition prosecutions, Mr. Mitchell said he had declined to comment on this before the Senate committee.

Chairman Norris called his attention to Mrs. Willebrandt's series of newspaper articles dealing with prohibition. The attorney general excused himself from comment on the ground that her charges dealt with a period prior to his administration.

Reporting that Federal prisons were greatly overcrowded, Mr. Mitchell attributed this principally to increased prosecutions under the dry law. However, he said the Dry automobile theft law, the Mann Act and the narcotic act also had contributed to the increase in number of prisoners.

SWITZERLAND VOTES HEAVY LIQUOR TAX

Effort is Made to Compel Swiss to Cut Down Drinking of Schnapps.

Berne, Switzerland, April 7.—(AP)—Switzerland, voting in yesterday's referendum for revision of its alcoholic legislation, has undertaken heavy taxation of strong liquors with the avowed object of social reform.

All political party organs, except those of the Communists, favored the revision on the theory that the Swiss were drinking too many schnapps, which are highly alcoholic drinks distilled from fruits, and occupy a position in Switzerland analogous to whiskey in America.

Heretofore only alcohol made from potatoes has been taxed. The new law will tax from one gold franc a liter upwards, all alcohol, brandies, and similar high-proof liquors, with the exception made that the people have a right to brew their own liquor solely for their own consumption without taxation.

Stops Heavy Drinking

This provision is intended to eliminate much heavy drinking by the peasants, who if they did not themselves distill their beverages could buy schnapps cheaply at any farmhouse, this sale being made now illegal.

There will be no government monopoly either of manufacture or sale under the new scheme, but simply an enlargement of a taxation scheme. The expected large revenue played an important part in the campaign, although the money angle possibly was considered secondary to the social aspect.

Neither light wines nor beer, of which there is extensive manufacture, are taxed.

The bill was voted by about 482,000 to 317,000. Seventeen cantons were favorable to the revision. Fifteen were against it.

CHICAGO EXCITED OVER ITS PRIMARY

Illinois Republicans to Pick Either Mrs. McCormick or Senator Deneen.

Chicago, April 7.—(AP)—United States Senator Charles S. Deneen and Ruth Hanna McCormick tossed their hats into the ring Monday night. Tomorrow, Illinois Republicans in thousands of primary election booths, will iron it out.

Neither the senior Senator nor the Congressman allowed the usual Congressional balloting strength in Chicago with noon-day meetings and both planned final state-wide radio appeals tonight.

For the first time, a woman opposed a man for a Senate seat; again as in 1926, the late voters will be the first to approve or refute an attack upon a World Court Senator; again as in 1924 a Deneen, a McCormick and a Newton Jenkins meet in a Republican Senatorial primary; for the first time, the daughter and widow of a United States Senator seeks to sit in the capitol wing where they sat.

Senator's Widow

Mrs. McCormick's daughter of Mark Hanna, is the widow of the late Senator Medill McCormick. It was in 1924 that Deneen gave McCormick's seat by a plurality of less than 6,000 votes. In that race, Jenkins polled 115,000 votes and political observers believed his unlooked-for activity made for McCormick's defeat.

In 1926, Illinois saw the first defeat of a Senator who voted for the World Court, the late William McKinley. Frank L. Smith, who was thrice denied his Senate seat and who seeks the Republican nomination as Congressman at large in tomorrow's primary, opposed the World Court in that primary campaign and won with more than 100,000 votes to spare.

World Court An Issue

Again the World Court is an issue, made so by Mrs. McCormick in an onslaught that carried her into every county in the state. Deneen accepted the challenge and in an offensive no less widespread he defended his vote for American enervations, saying it was because of party regularity. He charged Mrs. McCormick with shifting her stand on the issue and declared her opposition was "out of harmony" with Republican administration.

The campaign reached a high point last night when Mrs. McCormick, at a rally of negro voters, de-

CONNECTICUT GETS FUNDS FOR ROADS

Federal Aid for Highway Construction Announced; Bay State Gets $726,682.

Washington, April 7.—(AP)—Secretary Hyde today apportioned among the 48 states and Hawaii $48,750,000 of the additional $50,000,000 authorized by Congress as Federal aid for highway construction in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1930.

This supplementary appropriation was authorized by a bill signed by President Hoover on April 4 which also provided for the appropriation of $125,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 1931, 1932 and 1933, an addition of $150,000,000 yearly over the present appropriation.

Congress provided $75,000,000 by a previous act and Secretary Hyde apportioned this among the states and Hawaii on December 2, 1929.

Apportionment of the states of the additional $50,000,000 for the fiscal year of 1931 included Connecticut, $318,596; Maine, $450,674; Massachusetts, $726,682; New Hampshire, Rhode Island, $243,750; and Vermont, $243,750.

AUTO FIRM LOSES ITS SUIT AND CAR

Auto Owned by Company Was Used to Carry Liquor and Was Confiscated.

Washington, April 7.—(AP)—The claim of Secretary Mellon to the right of determining the existence of mitigating circumstances in the matter of a seizure and condemnation of an automobile taken for violating the revenue laws, was upheld today by the District of Columbia Court of Appeals.

The decision was made by Chief Justice George E. Martin, and concerned a case in which a car owned by the company was seized at Detroit, on which a conditional sales contract was held by Walter E. Heller and Company.

Petition Denied

The company presented a petition to Secretary Mellon asking the return of the vehicle on the ground that it had no suspicion the car would be used illegally. The petition was denied and the suit was instituted.

The Treasury secretary set up the claim that his decision under the law was conclusive and need not be controlled by the courts. The lower court agreed with him, as did the District Court of Appeals today.

The court pointed out in its decision that under the law relating to seizure and forfeiture for a revenue violation, the innocence and good faith of the owner of a seized vehicle furnish no defense.

Dean of Panama Pilots Dies in Zone Hospital

Balboa, Panama Canal Zone, April 7.—(AP)—The death of Captain John Constantine in Gorgas hospital on Sunday marks the passing of the dean of the Panama Canal pilots and one who took the first ship through the canal on its official opening. The captain left his native Greece when but a boy to sail the seas. After working as a rigger on Brooklyn bridge he came to Panama where he was employed by the French Canal Company.

Captain Constantine knew the passageway of the canal like a book. Pilot charts never were scanned by him for it was generally known that the captain had no particular knowledge of the printed word. Such was his keen knowledge of the hand on the chart covering not only the canal, but part of the Gulf of Panama as well, and said: "Right here, right here."

LATVIAN OUTLINES COUNTRY'S MARCH

Tells Kiwanians About 700 Years Struggle His Country Had for Freedom.

Belizar Radzin, young student of Riga, Latvia, situated near the Baltic Sea, between Russia and Sweden, was the speaker at the Kiwanis luncheon at the Hotel Sheridan this afternoon.

Going into the seventh week of the attendance contest, the Paper-hangers increased their lead today with 24 members present while the Body Builders had 22. This makes the totals 168 and 161, respectively.

Now Has Freedom In his talk the speaker said that Latvia consists of 25,000 square miles and has a population of two million, a half million less than before the war.

Latvia, Mr. Radzin said, has the largest number of folk songs of any nation, with two hundred and twenty thousand people.

Russia has always been a thorn in the side of the Latvians, and attempted to force the people to become Russians.

Time and again Russia made promises and offers, suggestions which always turned out disastrously for Latvia.

"Russia is a bad neighbor," said the speaker, and is always trying to make trouble. It is Russian politics to build bad neighbors.

At first Latvia imported more than it exported but this is now balanced. Most of the exports are agricultural as Latvia has 700 dairies, selling butter to all parts of the world.

"In Latvia," said Mr. Radzin, in conclusion, "you will find the speed and organization of the west and the pondering and thinking of the east. The country is a blend, but it is the hard life that makes for progress and Latvia is progressing."

ONE DEAD, 12 HURT IN ODD ACCIDENT

Speeding Auto Crashes Into Crowd Gathered About a Previous Collision.

New York, April 7.—(AP)—One person was killed and twelve others were injured early today by an automobile which police said was driven 50 miles an hour through a crowd gathered around two automobiles which a short time before had crashed at Dongan Hills, Staten Island.

The driver of the speeding car did not stop. The dead man was Theodore Windzig, 22, of Staten Island. A short time before the crash an automobile occupied by Mrs. Burke, 19, and her sister, Sarah Burke, 25, of West Freshold, N. J., collided with a car driven by Henry Graham, 23, of Staten Island.

The burks were attended by an ambulance surgeon for minor injuries, but in this crash Graham escaped unhurt. A crowd of 30 or 40 persons gathered in the street about the damaged cars and a policeman was taking notes for a report when the crowd saw an automobile approach at what they said was a terrific speed.

Crashes Into Crowd A warning was shouted, but before all had gained the sidewalks the speeding car crashed into the crowd, hurtling men and women in all directions. No one was able to say how many were in the speeding car.

Calls were sent to three hospitals and ambulances and surgeons worked more than an hour in attending the injured.

The most seriously injured were Graham, whose automobile figured in the first accident, and Amrie McKittrick, 23, of Dongan Hills.

RAPS LONG HOURS IN TEXTILE MILLS

Official Tells Southerners That Overproduction Will Act as Boomerang.

Augusta, Ga., April 7.—(AP)—Henry Kendall, of Boston, Mass., head of five textile mills in North and South Carolina, told the Atlantic Cotton Association today that unless the textile industry takes care of its own problems in a satisfactory manner, "public opinion will step in and do the job for us."

"The textile industry," Kendall said, "is in a position to control its own position. Our small percentage of export, only seven per cent, means that we can, if we will, balance more nearly our supply with demand."

He described the industry as "dismayed," saying it was following policies which have been discarded in other industries.

Labor Conditions. Discussing labor conditions in the mills, Kendall said that "mill-owners here in the south have regarded long hours as advantageous. Long hours are actually an economy boomerang. They have meant that for certain periods goods are turned out in such volume that an over-production periodically recurs."

"Over-production means curtailed employment and reduced wages. The latter means lessened purchasing powers. The new and sound practice of otherwise advanced industries is to maintain purchasing power first."

"It is more than a coincidence that the companies which are growing are doing so by merchandising jobs. More attention to research, in every department, is essential," Kendall said.

The speaker is head of mills at Newberry, Edgefield and Camden, S. C., and at Fort Mill, South Carolina.

The constitution of the association opened today with several hundred cotton merchants from various parts of the south-east in attendance.

D. A. R. MEMBERS HEAR REPORTS ON STATE WORK

Meet in South Methodist Church Saturday Afternoon. Accept New Member.

Orford Parish Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held an interesting meeting Saturday afternoon at the South Methodist church parlors. Reports were given by the delegates who attended the state convention in Bridgeport recently, dealing with various phases of state work, such as patriotic education, national defense, girl homemakers, and other lines of effort some of which have not as yet been taken up by the local chapter.

Mrs. J. N. Nichols of Highland Park whose papers have been accepted at Washington, was received into membership Saturday.

Miss Etta Otto, of the South Methodist church choir, a promising young contralto, sang two groups of songs and both the selection of numbers and the way they were rendered pleased all, and Miss Otto who was accompanied by Organist Archibald Sessions, was obliged to respond to encores.

Miss Alice Dexter, past regent, Hutchinson, Miss Ed. Holbrook and Mrs. Lucius Foster will leave on Friday for Washington, D. C., to attend the thirty-ninth continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution which will convene in the new constitution hall.

This will be the first time the national conference will be held in the new hall dedicated last year.

Mrs. Lucius Foster, regent, invited the members and their friends to a card party to be held at her home, 37 Academy street, May 10.

The hostesses, Mrs. J. Howard Keith, Mrs. Arthur J. Stewart, Miss Flora Stanley served dainty refreshments following the business session.

COULDN'T TELL A LIE. "You seem to have plenty of intelligence for a man in your position," sneered a barrister, cross-examining a witness. "If I wasn't on oath I'd respond the compliment," replied the witness.—Tit-Bits.

COPIOUS TEARS SHED AT WEDDING COMEDY

Bride's Mother in Person of Allen Dexter Weeps All Over the Bridal Ceremony.

The country may be dry but it is going to be moist in a few spots Thursday and Friday night of this week when the curtain rolls up on "The Womanless Wedding" at High school hall. She, in the person of Allen Dexter, will be ably comforted for the loss of her little daughter (Walter Joyner) by Eldred McCabe, who is taking the role of none other than the bride's comforting father.

All the bride's relatives will be there; the "deaf aunt and uncle from the country," Sidney Wheaton and Robert Hodge, need no coaching for their parts. The bride's bad-little brothers, Elbert Shelton and Ray Pillsbury, will deserve many scoldings for the mischief they make at big sister's wedding.

George Wilcox and Harold Currier, clad in rompers and will long curlicled as the twin sisters, will bring their dolls to play with.

James Irvine will change in nationality for a time and take the part of Ikey Rosenstein, the peddler with an eye to business even during the serious part of the wedding.

Guests at the wedding will be introduced by a stately English butler, John McLoughlin. Many of the national celebrities will be there. Galli Curci, (Sam Nelson) will render an Italian aria. Harry Lauder in kilts and with the famous crooked stick will be impersonated by Elmore Watkins.

The Flapper of 1930, (Glen Richards) will make all the authentic flappers in the audience sit up and take notice with his—her latest conception of the Charleston.

These are only a few who will shine in startling roles. A cast of eighty men will make up the ensemble. A number of flower girls, bridesmaids, maids of honor, a ring bearer and trainbearer will attend the bridal party. Al Jolson, Charis Chaplin and Mary Pickford will be there, all represented by local men.

Nothing has been said about the bridegroom who will be provided as a life partner for the blushing bride, Walter Joyner. The bridegroom, of course, is usually the least important of any bridal party, but in this case, an old world custom is being revived and the handsome chap will remain incognito until the happy pair meet before the bishop Sam Gordon who will tie the fatal knot.

Other guests at the wedding are busy adding finishing touches to costumes, rushing from fittings for their gowns to appointments with hairdressers. All these guests will be men, mind you, transformed by magic touch of lip-stick, rouge and eyebrow pencil into dashing dandies and enchanting flappers.

"The motto of the production is, 'If you can't laugh, don't come,'" and judging from the reports of the various rehearsals the play will bid fair to live up to its motto.

deflation of currency and prices. President Wilson appointed him to membership in the Reserve board in 1921, when it was first organized, in view of Harding's extensive and practical banking experience in Birmingham, Ala., and he was two years later advanced to board membership to governorship.

The crucial period in Governor Harding's Federal career was presented by the postwar period of declining prices, when the Reserve board concluded that to keep America had to install high and selective discount rates at all regional banks and sharply advance money interest rates at all money centers. In the early months of 1923, banks were forced to pay ten per cent and more for advances from the Reserve system. The policy, though defended by Governor Harding and other banking leaders as being absolutely necessary to maintain the gold standard behind the American dollar, drew intense criticism in political circles.

Farmers Complained. Senators representing agricultural communities were particularly persistent in attributing agricultural distress to what they termed the "board's deflation policies." One former board member, the late John Skelton Williams, comptroller of the currency under the Wilson administration, joined the ranks of the board critics, and the incident led to a personal fistic encounter between Harding and Williams before a Congressional commission inquiring into the subject.

Governor Harding later retired from the Reserve board, and for a time took charge of banking and currency reorganization in some of the European states. Returning to the United States, he became governor of the Boston regional bank of the Reserve system in which position he was occupied at death.

Italy and France in Deadlock Over Parity; The Conditions in Ireland, India.

(By Associated Press.) Last week saw the London Naval conference apparently approaching the end.

Italy and France were still in a deadlock over parity; the British and French had not found a security formula which would assure France safety in the Mediterranean without increasing Great Britain's military commitments; the American delegation had engaged tentative reservations on the steamer Levathan for the homeward journey April 22, and even Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain seemed no longer confident that the parity would emerge with a five-power concord.

The others were inclined to believe that a three-power treaty was the most that could be hoped for, but considered that was considerable accomplishment. Early in the week the Japanese government approved the proposals made by the United States and Great Britain, thus opening the way to a tri-partite agreement.

BattleShip Holiday. As discussed by conference experts, the treaty might have certain sections that France and Italy might sign. Its main provisions probably will include the principles of a battleship holiday, with the scrapping of five capital ships by Great Britain, three by the United States and one by Japan; adoption of a large cruiser ratio containing the figures worked out last summer by President Hoover and Mr. MacDonald on the Espadon, and the cruiser compromise reached by Senator Reed and Ambassador Matsudaira; an agreement on submarines, light cruisers and destroyers, and a new definition of aircraft carrier tonnage.

If such points as the humanization of submarine warfare and other technical questions solved at London are included, France and Italy will have the option to sign those clauses without obligating themselves to the treaty as a whole.

In India. The situation in India reached a climax as Mahatma Gandhi and his group reached the Gulf of Cambay and produced sea salt in opposition to the government's salt monopoly. The British made no attempt to arrest Gandhi thus inaugurating his campaign for civil disobedience, but did arrest sixty others, among them the country was troubled by strikes, six persons were killed and 100 injured in Calcutta as rioters developed against an edict that carter must not work the day after a Bombay, 30 persons were injured in a clash between police and striking railwaymen.

Two European governments straightened their affairs during the week. William T. Cosgrave was re-elected president of the council of ministers of the Irish Free State by the Dail Eireann and chose the ministry that had fallen with the week before. Dr. Heinrich Brüning, German chancellor, took his ministry before the Reichstag and defeated a non-confidence motion.

The Chinese Nationalist government of Chiang Kai-Shek moved to combat the latest rebellion, the northern alliance of Generals Yen Hsi-Shan and Feng Yu-Hsiang. The Manchurian chieftain, Chang Hsueh-Liang, is aiding Chiang, and the Nationalist government has appointed a mandate for "the arrest and subjugation" of Yen. Chinese bandits continued to menace missionaries, particularly in the province of Kiangsi. Miss Nina E. Gemmill of Girard, Kansas, and Mrs. R. W. Fortes, British missionaries, were captured at Yuanchow and held for ransom. Reports to the State Department indicated that the sixteen American Catholic missionaries held at Kanchow were safe, but dispatches from China said the danger was not over.

The Communist Party in Soviet Russia made sweeping concessions to peasants—lightening of tax burdens and on—in efforts to popularize its collective farm movement. As to the Russian religious situation, the British government through Lord Parmoor, announced it would not interfere in Russian anti-religious activities. Lord Parmoor gave the official view after the Archbishop of Canterbury, in the House of Lords, had presented figures which he said would prove persistent oppression of religion in the U. S. S. R.

MISSIONARY RELEASED

Shanghai, April 7.—(AP)—Although three missionaries were captured the bandits recently by fleeing into the mountains made their way to safety, and Miss Nina E. Gemmill, an American missionary, formerly of Tacoma, Washington, and Girard Kansas was reported to have been released by brigands today.

A band of 500 brigands was reported to have captured, looted and burned numerous villages near Sunkiang, Kiangsu province, 25 miles southwest of Shanghai. Fifty school children were kidnaped and held for ransom and a magistrate was reported killed by the lawless band. Miss Gemmill was reported to have been freed by the bandits who held her for ransom of $20,000 Mexican when the Rev. H. Glazier, an American missionary and two British women missionaries made their way to Changha, Hunan, after fleeing the bandit attack at Yuanchow.

HEBRON

The Rex and Mrs. John W. Deeter entertained the members of the class taught by Mr. Deeter, in Bible study, at the parsonage in Gilead Thursday evening, the occasion marking the close of the series of lessons. The classes have extended over a period of more than a year, and have been attended by Hebron center people for the most part. Several members of St. Peter's Episcopal church have also been among those enrolled. The evening was pleasantly passed in playing games. One game was a Bible game arranged by Mr. Deeter, those who were considered most proficient in Bible study taking part. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Merton W. Hills, Miss C. E. Kellogg, Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Hilding, Miss Marion Gott, the Misses Pendleton, Mrs. Mary E. Cummings, Arthur R. Gillette, Mr. Allan L. Carr, Mr. Donald Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Loren M. Lord, Mrs. Clarence Hamilton, besides Mr. and Mrs. Deeter. Delicious refreshments of sandwiches, cake and coffee were served.

Boy Scouts, working under the leadership of Scout Master Allen L. Carr, did some good work on Thursday in assisting to put out a fire in the brush on Godfrey Hill. The fire had escaped from control of the owners of the land who were dwelling over the fields, and dwellings were in Clarissa Lord is spending the week end in Herkimer, N. Y., being one of the members of a house party given by Miss Marion Will, at her home in that place.

A special meeting of the members of the Center Congregational church was held Wednesday evening to talk over matters concerning the resignation of the Rev. John W. Deeter as pastor of the Hebron and Gilead Congregational churches. No definite action was taken, but it is understood that a plan is being carried out to offer an increase in salary to Mr. Deeter if he will remain, and an effort is being made to secure pledges to raise the amount. When Frank Connell, aged 62, an employe of H. Clinton Porter, entered the stall of a horse in the barn on the Porter place, he was suddenly kicked, the halter, he was furiously kicked, but was not supposed to be vicious but was startled at the man's approach. It is said that Connell did not speak to the horse before entering its stall. Far from being frightened, the horse against being frightened. The man was reported to be injured about the head, and to have the left leg broken by the kick. Dr. Pendleton and advised hospital treatment. He was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, Williamatic, but as there was no room for him there he was taken to the Manchester Memorial hospital, where he is being cared for. Horace Porter and Albert Schatz carried the patient. Young Schatz who is also a farm hand, was very seriously injured about fifteen years ago when a small boy, by being kicked in the head by a horse. His skull was fractured and the brain was seriously injured. He was treated in the Hartford hospital.

A full house greeted the East Hampton Players Friday evening in the presentation of their three act play, "Anne-What-Her-Name" at the town hall, Hebron Center. The parts were taken by a pleasing cast. The play was absorbing and amusing, and kept the audience guessing from start to finish. Music was furnished by a five piece orchestra from East Hampton, accompanying the cast. Gate proceeds amounted to over $35.00, to be divided between the players and the boys' Congregational school class of the town. It was announced that a minstrel show will be given by talent from Yantic Friday evening, April 11, at the hall, under the auspices of the local Y. P. S. C. E. with a half and half share in proceeds.

Harold Holcombe of Hartford was a recent caller on friends in the vicinity of the Holcombe summer home, "The Stone House," located near the Marlborough line. Mrs. Holcombe hopes to occupy the place soon for the season. Spring flowers seem slow in putting in their appearance. About the first to be reported, with the exception of pussy willows and some of the cultigates, are early garden flowers, such as the pansies which have been seen in the open fields in the vicinity of Burroughs Hill.

F. Elton Post has received the appointment of census enumerator and has begun his work about the town. Mrs. Louise Blume is spending a week or two as guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Lyyles in Canaan. Hart E. Buell visited Alick White at St. Joseph's hospital recently. The doctor had hoped to have Mr. White's thumb, in which blood poisoning had developed following an injury received while sawing wood.

GUSHER UNDER CONTROL. Oklahoma City, April 7.—(AP)—Outsmarted by the ingenuity of man, the crafty No. 1 Mary Sudik gusher of the South Oklahoma City oil field fumed today and pulled against cables.

The well was placed under control yesterday. With the petroleum geyser halted, operators in the field drew sighs of relief. Because of the danger that the spraying gas and oil would catch fire, all other activities in the district have been halted. A stray spark from two clanging pieces of steel and the territory might have become a raging inferno. A double die nipple, secured above a series of fittings that included two master gates, was the mechanism that finally halted the towering column of oil which was backed by a daily flow of some 200,000,000 cubic feet of gas. Twice precious the "wild Mary" has circumscribed less than a dozen stoppers fitted to the top of the giant's casing.

SUNDAY SERVICES AT CONFERENCE

Record Breaking Crowd Hears Bishop F. D. Lee Preach in New London.

New London, April 7.—(AP)—Bishop Frederick D. Lee preached to a record breaking crowd yesterday in the Methodist church. District Superintendent M. E. Genter, a former pastor of the church, estimated that not less than 1200 packed auditorium, galleries and the large room adjacent. One of the very beautiful features of the service was the choir of fifty girls and young women, arrayed in white suzettes, who, led by standard bearers with the church flag and stars and stripes, sang both a processional and recessional and an anthem, as well as leading the Congregation in hymns.

Bishop Lee's text was, "I am the light of the world." Only Jesus could say that. For an ordinary man to say it would prove him an impostor. As there has been progress in our material world concerning light, from tallow candle to the brilliant electric lamp. So there has been progress in the intellectual world through the light of science. Yet neither material nor intellectual light is all man needs. We need moral and spiritual light. Only Christ can give this. Take Him out of art and music and literature, and it would be, indeed a dark world. Yet His supremacy is especially in ethical and moral realms. An audience of 1,100 also attended the afternoon consecration services, when the bishop ordained nine young men to deacon's orders, and five young men to elders' orders.

The evening speaker was Dr. L. O. Hartman, editor of Zion's Herald, who spoke some months ago in the Center Congregational church of Manchester. Several of the local churches of New London had their pulpits supplied yesterday by members of the conference. Rev. Joseph Cooper of Norwich, supplied the pulpit of the First Congregational church and Rev. R. S. Raines of Providence, that of the Second Congregational church.

"SARAH AND SON" IS ATTRACTION AT STATE. Ruth Chatterton Gives Vivid Portrayal of Young Wife Striving to Regain Stolen Son.

Cretics everywhere have acclaimed Ruth Chatterton in "Sarah and Son," the great attraction at the State today and Tuesday. "Sarah and Son" is a great theme. It tells the courageous rise to fame of a poor and obscure young woman, Miss Chatterton, as Sarah, is disclosed as a young nobody who married a scoundrel. Because of his squandering habits they are reduced to penury. One day Sarah chides him for his laziness. In revenge he spirits the child away and turns him over to a wealthy man whose wife is childless and who had been planning to adopt an orphan. She began her vocal career with a sensational debut at the Opera House in Moscow, twelve years ago, and remained in Russia, a great favorite of the public and press, until conditions after the Revolution became such that she left for Paris. America was the next step. Her first transcontinental tour created a furor, established her at once as an artist of the first rank. In the four years since Mrs. Kurenko has been in this country she has sung 120 concerts, has appeared as guest soprano with the Chicago Civic Opera Company, has been reengaged every winter for such well known radio hours as General Motors, Atwater Kent, and Vitaphone, and has made several movie-tone records for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

All members of the club are working hard to make it a banner concert for Manchester. Associate memberships can be secured from any member of the club. There are nearly 500 tickets sold already, this including one order for a block of thirty seats from the Mendelssohn Glee Club of Worcester, Mass.

A SURE SYSTEM. "Now," said the woman who was going abroad, "Fido is very fussy about his food." "That's all right, mum," said the owner of the dog's home. "We don't feed 'em for three days after they come in, and then they ain't so fussy."—Tit-Bits.

TRAIN DERAILED NO ONE INJURED

Morgan City, La., April 7.—(AP)—Southern Pacific passenger train Number 103, west bound from New Orleans to California, was derailed at Lake Bridge, La., about 12 miles east of here early today.

Although a complete check of the passengers has not been made, persons returning from the scene of the wreck said only a few received minor bruises. The accident occurred about 1:30 a. m., a rail gave way after the locomotive and two cars had passed. Five pullmans, one chair car and one lounge car left the track, two of the Pullmans overturning, although there were 77 passengers in the Pullmans only four received minor bruises, reports here said. Railroad officials, however, are making a complete check of the passengers to determine if any were hurt under the overturned cars. Traffic east and west of the scene of the wreck will be delayed about 12 hours.

Three extra Pullmans were brought up from Lafayette, La., and the passengers on the wrecked train were taken to Houston, Tex., where they will be given accommodations to their destinations. HAWKS FINISHES TRIP

New York, April 7.—(AP)—Captain Frank M. Hawks, holder of the east and west transcontinental speed records, enjoyed the added distinction today of being the first aviator to pilot a glider from coast to coast. set his small red, motorless plane "Eagle" down in Van Cortlandt Park at 4 p. m., yesterday to complete a flight from San Diego, Calif. Towed at the end of a 500 foot cable behind a power plane, he made the transcontinental trip in six and one half days with 36 hours of actual flying time.

A crowd of 15,000 stood in the rain to see finish of 3,000 mile trip. A fleet of army planes circled in formation above the park as an aerial reception committee.

17 KILLED BY BLAST

Tokyo, April 7.—(AP)—The railway ministry today announced that 17 persons had been killed and seven seriously injured in an explosion on a train near Oita, Kyushu prefecture. The explosion was officially attributed to dynamite, but some believed something to have become mixed in the coal used by the engine. The explosion occurred shortly after noon yesterday but earlier reports indicated it was of a minor affair. All the dead were passengers. A majority of the 17 apparently lived for several hours after the explosion. The blast started a forest fire which burned throughout the night.

SLOW IN SECURING LICENSES FOR DOGS

At Present Rate There Will Be Lineup at the Last Minute At Town Clerk's Office.

Applications for dog licenses have fallen far below the average of previous years at the office of the town clerk. Of 1,421 dogs to be licensed this year only 74 have been issued to date. Taxpayers may avail themselves of the privilege of obtaining their dog license at the time that they pay personal and property taxes as the two offices observe the same hours during the week and also until 9 o'clock on Thursday evening. With only 25 days of April left in which to secure dog licenses an increase in applicants will be needed to eliminate a last minute lineup at the town clerk's office.

FORESTALL GRAPERS

The late Benjamin F. Butler, whose name for many years was always associated with spoons, once told an opposing attorney in open court that he was "too damned suspicious to be honest."

At the risk of incurring the same criticism we would suggest that there may be one particular reason why it would be better to hold a special session of the Connecticut Legislature to consider the issuance of a franchise to the proposed New York-New Haven-Boston motorway corporation than to delay that business until the regular session next winter.

This motorway project is a very big one. Two hundred million dollars is mentioned as suggesting its magnitude. No Connecticut franchise has been sought in a great many years, if ever before, on which hung the fate of so huge a sum.

The present membership of the Connecticut Legislature is, if no more than ordinarily brilliant, at least ordinarily honest. There have been no great "pickings" in the Legislature for a good many years to tempt unscrupulous persons to jam their way into that body. In both House and Senate the members are a decent lot.

But with a two hundred million dollar project in the works, and with the Legislature holding the enterprise in the hollow of its hand, so to speak, a potential "strike" situation would be created which might very well bring into the primaries of both parties a lot of hungry underclassmen eager to get into the General Assembly and bludgeon out of the motorway people some fat graft as the price of the franchise.

Any such suggestion as this will, of course, shock those optimists who imagine that Connecticut is too clean a state for that sort of thing. No state, regrettably, is too clean for the intrusion of the mercenary politician into its affairs if special opportunity for pecuniary gain presents itself. Eternal vigilance is the price of political respectability in such eventualities.

That is one reason, possibly, why it might be a good idea to think twice before deciding that the suggested special session is not needed. Another reason is that if the proposed tollway is to be built at all, the sooner the better for the relief of a Post Road congestion that is already dangerous and growing worse with each season. There should be good reason indeed for any delay of eight or nine months in deciding the question of the franchise.

TEAR GAS

We must confess to not knowing much about this tear gas thing. But that does not prevent our being quite interested in the idea, which seems to be pretty well advanced, of substituting tear gas bombs for firearms as weapons of protection for banks against holdups.

The Ansonia Sentinel seems to be particularly impressed by the discovery that some thirty Connecticut banks have installed tear gas apparatus, and is delighted with the prospect of bandits rendered helpless and easy to capture, instead of having to be shot, by this tricky invention which puts thieves out of business but is not needlessly cruel about it.

cause less desperate criminals to think several times before attempting a holdup, but on the other hand it might prompt the more ruthless sort to adopt the system of the Chinese burglar, which is to kill the folks first and look for the spoils afterward. The indicated strategy for such people, in a place suspected of having gas defense, might be to enter a shooting and keep shooting till the potential gas welders were all out of action before putting the gas to work.

Perhaps the most effective of all protective devices for banks would be that adopted by a notorious big gambling house on the outskirts of Detroit, where the technique against hi-jackers consists of "pill boxes" set in a gallery, from which every foot of the floor is commanded by machine guns which are themselves almost absolutely protected by armor plate.

To be sure, if you could lick bank bandits with tear gas it would be an excellent joke on the robbers. But somehow this trade of sticking up financial institutions and walking off with fortunes seems to us to lack most of the elements of comedy.

LORENZ

From all appearances the killing of Nils E. Anderson by Henry O. Lorenz in Wethersfield was a fool murder—causeless, profitless, lacking any adequate motivation, even from the ordinary slayer's point of view; committed in a fool way and followed by a fool's actions. Perhaps the utter folly of the perpetrator will be employed in his defense. Better planned and more logical crimes have been condoned, before this, on the ground of insanity.

But almost all murders are fool murders. Once in a long while such a crime is committed by a person of real intellect, one capable of accurately anticipating the reactions of the police to evidence and of taking advantage of such anticipation; but only once in a while. Murder is the recourse, in the vast majority of cases, of poor mentalities in conjunction with lack of moral sense.

When society established extreme penalties for murder it was as well aware of the qualities of the ordinary murderer as we are now. It never intended that because a man proved to be a fool he was to be forgiven the crime of homicide. It knew very well that fools would be in very large majority among those called to pay the penalties—that murder, by and large, is a fool's game. To the defense, "This man must not be held responsible because he is a fool," society should reply: "What of it? Of course he's a fool. His crime proves that. The law is created to overawe such fools. Normal people need no law to keep them from killing their fellows."

Whatever the mental status of this man Lorenz he is exactly the kind of person against whom the law of murder was directed. Let that be borne in mind in case attempt is made to get him off on the ground that he is not as other and normal men are.

JOE YANDLE

Old as it is in the matter of years, the esteemed Hartford Courant sometimes arouses our envy by the pristine freshness of its viewpoint. There is something delightfully ingenious, for example, in its little side excursion into the affairs of Joe Yandle of Charlotte, North Carolina. Joe, it appears, has had the habit of picking up stray bricks and carrying them home. He has carried home about ten thousand, altogether, and now has built himself a little three-room brick house. The Courant is impressed by the pickle in which Joe will now find himself. Having developed his brick carrying habit so intensively, how is he going to break himself of it, now that he has all the bricks he can use? "We can see no hope for this man; he must continue to gather bricks as long as he is able to walk about the streets."

Once in our youth we tried to collaborate with a budding Indiana author in the writing of a play. We lived for months in a beach cottage in the winter time. What time we were not disputing over the play we hunted fuel alongside the nearby railroad right-of-way. It was years after that before we were able to see a stray lump of coal without an almost irresistible prompting to grab it. We, therefore, can understand the Courant's analysis of the Yandle psychology.

But consider the circumstances. Yandle is an assistant to the city engineering department. He found his ten thousand bricks in eighteen months. That is close to twenty bricks a day. Charlotte is not such a big city, nor is it any marvel in the use of bricks. Being so much less youthfully naive than the centenarian Courant, the thing that intrigues us is, Where did Joe find those bricks? Just about a Fordload a day, going home at night. And this bird a city engineer. Man, man! If Joe were working in Hartford or Manchester it's our bet that the neighbors would know where he found those bricks—and they'd tell the cops.

DR. BUTTERFIELD

Dr. Ernest W. Butterfield, newly appointed commissioner of education and secretary of the State Board of Education of Connecticut, will tackle a hard job when he takes over his duties in this state, in succession to Dr. Albert B. Meredith.

Two courses lie open to the new commissioner, who comes here from New Hampshire, where he has held a similar position. He can follow the Meredith method of elaborating the common school system at an ever increasing cost to the people of the commonwealth or he can approach the task with the determination to be practical and economical.

The Connecticut school system, under the skippership of Dr. Meredith, has carried too much sail. It has been doped up with too many studdings and try's for its beam and draught. It has been ploughing under, steering badly and making a rough voyage and a slow one where plain sail and better steering would have accomplished more.

Dr. Butterfield comes to Connecticut highly spoken of. He comes from a state where, in most affairs, a dollar is a dollar. It is to be hoped that he will first of all realize that the Meredith regime failed because it was not sufficiently appreciative of the fundamentals and had absolutely the wrong slant on things when it assumed that there was no limit to the amount of money that the people of this state could and would spend on their public schools.

What Connecticut wants from Dr. Butterfield is sounder education and less overhead. If he will use his office to encourage those things he can stay in this state and be highly honored for a long time.

IN NEW YORK

New York, April 7.—Noted in passing: . . . Well, 21 out of 23 theaters facing Broadway now have completely surrendered to the cinema. Which leaves but the Hammerstein and the Empire. The first is already wired for sound, and the other is destined for extinction one of these days. The old Columbia burlesque is in the hands of the wreckers. And the Casino and Knickerbocker, two of the last of the old legitimate playhouses, have been torn down within the year.

And a final chapter to be written about the Spanish dancer, "gentle" with a happy ending. And typical it is of the quick turnover of fame on Broadway. For years a half-dozen producers bid for her; she came over at a tremendous salary for the International Revue only to be greeted by the jeers of impolite first-nighters. After an out-of-court settlement, she was quickly ousted from the cast. A flop! A big laugh! Wow what a bust! So said they all.

For a few weeks Argentinita disappeared. It is said she had returned in a rage to Spain. But she was determined to get a square deal; to show New Yorkers what she had. She arranged a Sunday night dance concert. The audience was spellbound. Within 20 minutes it was admitted that hers was one of the great personal triumphs of the season. The music and dance critics raved. Crowds were turned away and it became necessary for her to take a theater for an engagement for several weeks.

Just around the corner was the theater from which she had been dismissed. A few feet away the wise Broadway brigade had sneered. And now she is a triumph. A flop on one side of the street and a classic on the other! Figure it out if you can. But you can't figure out how and why things happen the way they do in this man's town.

Rudolph Friml, the very fine composer, brought to this land at a fabulous sum to write music for the talkie, turns, on his heel the other day and went sailing home in a first-class rags. . . . And every day who can perch on a piano is trying to give an imitation of Helen Morgan these days. . . . George M. Cohan is going to take one of his early plays, "The Tavern," which didn't do so well once upon a time, out of his trunk and give it again, feeling that times have changed. . . .

Moris Gest, who insisted on bringing over art groups from all lands, now admits that way too he made money on "The Miracle" or anything else, for that matter, and has surrendered to the bankruptcy court. . . . But how the dickens does a million manage to borrow half a million dollars? . . . Rudy Vallee and Maurice Chevalier may join up with Ziegfeld's next Follies. . . . Henrik Van Loon, whose stories of this and that were best sellers a few seasons ago, dines frequently in a "Village" dollar dinner resort with Gilbert Patten, the bird who invented Frank Merriwell. . . . And Harry Thaw is the "angel" behind a little theater group holding forth in one of those "Village" basements.

Over on the East Side, oldtime bars now carry the sign, "Noaloo," which, as you can see, is "Saloon" spelled backwards. And some of them operate that way too. . . . Just like a new "peep show" on Broadway, which flagrantly displays signs intimating that there are terribly naughty things to be seen inside and "men only" can attend. And do they get the dime? . . . Just like the old days over at the county fair.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

Washington, April 7.—Mrs. Guinn Williams, wife of the congressman from the eighth Texas district, has begun a one-woman campaign to pull the original Star-Spangled Banner out of its obscurity and enshrine it where everyone who comes to Washington can have a good look at it.

This flag is the one that Francis Scott Key saw waving over Fort Mifflin and which inspired him to write the song which many persons regard as the national anthem. It is now tucked away in the Smithsonian Institution, partially obscured by other objects which Mrs. Williams considers of much less interest. In fact, Mrs. Williams says that every time she goes down to the Smithsonian she has a hard time finding it.

The "Banner" now rests in a case eight or 10 feet high and is mostly rolled up, with only a small portion of it showing. Mrs. Williams insists that it ought to be unrolled to its full length of some 25 feet and displayed as conspicuously as possible in a large case. She is a forceful, influential congresswoman about an adequate appropriation for the purpose.

Heavy majorities against prohibition as returned in recent polls in some of the principal universities might have been much larger had it not been for the constant activity of the Intercollegiate Prohibition Association, sponsored by the older day organizations. The Anti-Saloon League's 1929 yearbook shows that the association's speakers and workers visited 412 universities and colleges in the year from one to four days, making speeches and leading group discussions, conferring with faculties and coaches, promoting prohibition as a debating club topic and supplying literature. They spoke to 61,000 students in 165 college chapels, engaged in discussion in 378 regular class sessions, conducted 460 special student forums to talk over the issue, visited 82 fraternities and made direct contacts with 110,000 students.

The Harvard Crimson's poll of 14 representative universities returned 11,006 votes for modification, 5589 for total repeal, $17 for strict enforcement and $35 for laws and enforcement "as it."

Decreased purchasing power is reflected in lower prices for food and other commodities and hence in an increased purchasing power for the dollar. The latest government figures show that retail food prices decreased 1 1/2 per cent between January 15 and February 15. Wholesale prices for February showed that farm products selling for 96.7 cents a year previously brought only 92.1 cents in the recent February, as compared with a dollar in 1926. Taking the purchasing power of the dollar as 100 cents in 1926, the statistics show that the average dollar spent on farm products for February was worth $1.086, for foods $1.047, hides and leather products .963, textile products $1.133, fuel $1.269, furniture and furnishings $1.031 and building materials $1.045.

Contemporaneous figures from the Women's Bureau showed average weekly earnings of $19.70 for women and $31.75 for men in industries in Illinois. The highest average wage for women was $30.23 in fur and fur goods manufacturing and for men $50.90 in lithographing and printing. The lowest wage averages for women were $6.02 in saw planing mills and $9.79 in cotton and woolen mills; for men $20.40 in shoe factories and canneries.

Discussing educational requirements for Washington policemen, Congress Holiday of Illinois told how the president of a college investigated after the standing of his institution had been criticized by the Carnegie Foundation in its study of professionalism in colleges. He found that the football coach was the college registrar and asked by what qualifications all the football players were in college. The coach said they had all passed a written examination.

"What kind of an examination did that man pass?" asked the president, pointing to a big fellow who played guard.

"Well," said the coach, "on the last examination when that man passed we asked him two questions and we required a percentage of 50 to pass. The first question he was asked was 'What is the color of blue litmus paper?' and he replied, 'Red.' That was wrong."

"The second question was, 'What is electricity?' and he replied, 'I don't know,' and that was correct."

RIGHTO!

"I'm sorry I spoke sharply to that boy. I must have cut him to the quick."

"Oh, it's all right, he has no quick."

"Has no quick?"

"No. He's a messenger boy." Nottingham News, England.

then he has what is called hardening of the arteries. It is an old saying and true that a man is as old as his arteries, for the person with brittle arteries is truly aged, while the one with supple, flexible arteries is youthful. There is no reason for having the arteries harden early in life, since by reasonable living their elasticity may be preserved throughout life. Remember that your arteries are a good deal like the inner tubes on your automobile. In fact, they might be called the inner tubes of your body, with the exception that the inner tubes on a car carry air and those in the human being carry blood. The best inner tube is made of springy, live rubber, and the best arteries are those which start out in life with plenty of flexibility.

HEALTH DIET ADVICE
By Dr. Frank McCoy
"The Best Way to Health"

QUESTIONS IN REGARD TO HEALTH DIET WILL BE ANSWERED BY DR. McCOY WHO CAN BE REACHED IN CASE OF THIS PAPER BY TELEPHONE AT 100-1000 SOUTH MANCHESTER, CONN.

DO YOU HAVE ELASTIC INNER TUBES? The little tubes which carry the blood from the heart to the tissues are called arteries. These have an elastic lining which expands and contracts in waves originating with the contraction of the heart. This is the pulse you can feel at various parts of the body. The arteries stretch and contract a good deal like rubber. When the patient grows older, the elastic in his arteries may lose its snap like old garter, and as the blood must be under a high pressure to pass through the narrowed vessels. The three vital organs which are most often affected by the hardening of the arteries are the heart, kidneys and the brain. The brain may be softened, the heart enlarged and the kidneys present an overgrowth of connective tissue. When the brain is affected, the first symptoms of the arteries are those which are due primarily to a lack of blood, such as dizziness, reeling, inability to see quickly, loss of power of memory. When the heart is affected, it becomes enlarged and there may be some pain through the heart or difficulty in breathing under the slightest exertion. The signs of derangement of the kidneys will be some phase of Bright's disease. (Continued in tomorrow's article)

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
(Eyes Click)

Question.—Mrs. A. writes: "Lately I have been bothered with a continual desire to move my eyes in all directions so as to cause them to make a clicking noise. Once I start it I have to keep it up to the extent of even pulling my eyelids down and up, and turning my eyes in and out. This trouble seems to bother me mostly in the morning and evening. Could you tell me the cause of this irritation, and the treatment? I wear glasses for astigmatism and near sightedness."

Answer: Your trouble must be due to nervousness and lack of control. You should have a complete physical diagnosis made, and if no definite ailment exists you should then consult some doctor who treats nervous disorders through suggestion or psychotherapy.

(Bladder Fistula)

Question.—Mrs. S. F. asks: "Is there any cure for fistula of the bladder?"

Answer: A bladder fistula can usually be removed through an operation or by cauterizing, but in most cases such radical methods are not necessary. Frequently a cure can be effected through regulating the diet so that the urine becomes less irritating and the fistula has a better chance to heal.

(Pains in Back)

Question.—N. L. J. asks: "What is the cause of throbbing pains in the lower part of back, like hammer blows?"

Answer: Most pains in the lower back are caused from prolapsus of the abdominal organs or some inflammatory condition of these organs. Such pains are seldom caused by any trouble in the back, itself, but in some cases aches in the lower back may come from a faulty position of the lumbar vertebrae.

JRGES VETERANS TO JOIN LEGION

Only Way World War Service Man Can Identify Himself With Great Struggle.

Fred C. Lorch, past commander, and membership chairman of Dilworth-Cornell Post No. 102 American Legion, which is now conducting a membership campaign, today made the following statement concerning the appeal of the Legion to war veterans:

"Is there any veteran of the World War so poor in spirit and patriotism that he is not proud of the part he played in the greatest of all military struggles since history began? Have not our veterans a justified pride in our service? Have any man ever who did not go. He may have served, but no one knows it. And the world finds it easy and convenient to forget.

"The American Legion offers the best opportunity for you, Comrade, to testify to the world of your loyalty and service during the war. The lapel button of the Legion is a notice to all that you failed not when your country called, and you still subscribe to the patriotism and Americanism for which the Legion stands.

"Without the Legion button, the service man has no method of differentiating himself from the thousands who did not go. He may have served, but no one knows it. And the world finds it easy and convenient to forget.

"With the Legion button, you quietly and effectively identify yourself as one of America's veterans, and as an active participant in the work of a patriotic organization which is dedicated to the preservation of American principles. You place yourself as both a wartime patriot and a true American. Be proud and you can join the American Legion. Hundreds of thousands of young men would rejoice if their lives could so be made over that the Legion might be open to them.

"Those who did serve but who have not up to now come into the Legion, are invited to join our ranks, and be a part of this great organization. The Legion's great days are ahead. Its strength and influence grow daily. With each new success it becomes stronger. Its principles and its service commend it to all. It is far better to be in the Legion than to explain why you are not. So again the Legion invites you to comradeship. Be one of the active Legionnaires in this community. "JOIN UP."

ROCKVILLE

Seven Liquor Raids Saturday. A raid in which several local people were involved took place on Saturday night, when state policemen from Danialson, Hartford and Stafford Springs barracks led by Lieutenant Russell I. Harmon and Policeman Michael J. Smith raided seven places in this city at about 9 o'clock. Seven persons were arrested on charges of violating the liquor laws and in one place, that of Gaster Baron of 13 River street, they seized in addition to a large quantity of liquor, two alleged gambling devices. He was accused of violating the law at his place at Link's Hall.

Baron was held in $1,000 bonds for appearance in the Rockville City Court on Tuesday, as were also five other men and a woman each charged with selling intoxicating liquor. They are William Orlovski of 84 Village street, Joseph Novach of 76 Brooklyn street, Walter West, 118 Vernon avenue, Vincent Remkiewicz of 57 Village street, Steve Chopowicz of 95 Brooklyn street and Lulubelle Slappy of 50 Brooklyn street.

Several of these have been in court before on the same charge. Must Obey City Ordinance. The Rockville Fire Department was soon extinguished before damage was done to a shed nearby where the flames spread.

Following the fire, Chief George B. Milne notified the drivers and members of the Department to take the numbers of all motorists who failed to get out of the way for the fire apparatus when it is responding to an alarm. He intends to have all such motorists brought before the city court under a city ordinance passed a few years ago. Many motorists blocked the way of the chief and apparatus on Saturday despite the fact that the sirens were sounded.

A few years ago the department experienced considerable similar trouble and an ordinance was passed by the City Council requiring that all vehicles should pull to the side of the road and remain stationary when the alarm is being sounded and apparatus is on the way to a fire.

Court Case Continued. William Wolfenden, 22, who moved from Willimantic to Rockville on Monday, was before Judge John E. Fisk in the Police Court on Saturday morning on charges of theft and entering in the day time.

The case was continued for one week and in the meantime the young man's father will furnish money for his transportation and that of his wife and two children to Rhode Island, where they have relatives, and where they formerly resided.

They moved to one of the Rosenberg tenements on School street, living with the father of the accused. On Wednesday there seemed to be trouble with the water faucet and he went to the basement, which was formerly occupied by the late Mrs. Vinie Lewis. He knocked at the door, and getting no response he went in. Her furniture and other furnishings were still the flat, so he helped himself to a pocketbook which he found which contained $32. That night he gave his father $10 of the money, saying he found it. He spent some of the money, and finally told tales of entering a house, where he found money and other articles.

The Willimantic police notified the local and state police and upon his arrival in Rockville he was placed under arrest. At first the court seemed inclined to send him to jail, but as the father offered to pay the expenses of the family to Rhode Island, the case was continued one week and the young man was placed in the custody of Probation Officer Kenneth E. Sullivan.

To Preach Here. Rev. Percy E. Thomas, beloved former pastor of Union Congregational church, now pastor of the Lowell, Mass., Congregational church, will preach here on Sunday evening, April 7. He is sure to be greeted by a large congregation.

On Thursday night Rev. R. A. Colpitts, pastor of the Manchester Methodist church, will give the address at the Lenten service at Union church.

Stainer's "Crucifixion." Stainer's Crucifixion, an impressive interpretation of our Lord's Passion, will be rendered by a chorus of fifty voices at Union church next Sunday night at 7 o'clock. G. S. Brooks invites all who have no church home to this beautiful service.

Moose Public Whist. The Royal Order of Moose will hold a public whist in the Home Club rooms on Thursday evening, April 10 at 8 o'clock. Handsome prizes will be awarded the winners and delicious refreshments will be served.

To Hold Dollar Meeting. The "Woman's" Missionary Societies of the Methodist church are making preparations for the gathering of dollars. It is expected that this meeting will be held on April 15, and at this time each member will tell the story of how she earned her dollar.

D. A. R. Meeting April 9. The April meeting of Sabra Trumbull Chapter, D. A. R., will be held in Maxwell Memorial Library hall on Union street, Wednesday afternoon, April 9. The meeting will be called to order by the regent Mrs. Walter H. Skinner at 3 o'clock. Out of respect to the memory of the late Mrs. Ruth Talcott Britton, one of the most active and loved members of the society and a past regent, no program will be given. Only important business matters will be discussed.

The April meeting of Sabra Trumbull Chapter, was originally scheduled at Mrs. Britton's home, but had to be given up due to her serious illness. Her death is keenly felt by the members of the chapter. BIG ICEHOUSE BURNS. Arlington, Mass., April 7.—(AP)—Firemen from 11 cities and towns fought a spectacular blaze which destroyed the huge icehouse of the Metropolitan Ice Company here last night with $100,000 loss. Twenty-seven small fires were started over a two mile area.

The blaze was believed incendiary by Fire Chief Daniel P. Tierney. A densely populated residential district nearby was endangered by the small fires started by sparks carried on a stiff breeze. The fire was seen many miles and an estimated crowd of 30,000 people came to the vicinity.

By PROF. R. NIEBUHR. Union Theological Seminary, New York

"The son of man came not to be ministered unto but to minister and to give His life a ransom for many." We hear a great deal about the law of service in modern business. Sometimes it is suggested that this law is closely related to or the flower of the gospel principle of mutual service.

There is a real difference, however. The business law of service is in effect: "Be kind, courteous and serve the public because in this manner you will be able to build up good will, an item which you can usually list in your favor as an asset of monetary value."

There is nothing wrong in such a viewpoint, but it ought to be recognized for the prudent that which that it is. The service about which Jesus spoke was sacrificial rather than prudential. It did not envisage tangible rewards. Jesus warned against loving only those who love us and inviting only those who are able to invite us in return. In other words, there is an absolute tone in His ethical demands which is quite distinct from all prudential morality.

One might illustrate the difference between prudential morality and sacrificial morality in terms of a very urgent contemporary problem, that of unemployment. The prudential moral man will say: "I will do something for the unemployed if you can show me that it is good business to do so."

Now as a matter of fact, it will probably prove good business in the end to stabilize employment and offer the security of unemployment insurance to the workers. But it will be some time before such a step will prove itself good business. We cannot expect the prudent man to initiate it, therefore.

It will have to be initiated by those who have a passion for suffering men, and those who do not count the immediate cost of social conduct too carefully nor measure the returns of service in tangible rewards.

14 PRISONERS ESCAPE. Houston, Tex., April 7.—(AP)—Fire hose, which usually rots away on its reel on the side of the wall, spelled liberty today for 14 prisoners in the Harris county jail.

After subduing and tying up a watchman, the prisoners coupled together two 50-foot lengths of hose, and slid from a window to the ground, seven stories below.

A hasty check indicated none of the escaped men were dangerous characters.

RUNS DOWN THIEVES

Chicago, April 7.—(AP)—Like another count of Monte Cristo, Arthur W. Cutten, the financier, is running to earth his enemies, one by one.

If the man arrested in Cleveland, Ohio, yesterday is really Simon Rosenberg, another of the bandit hand that robbed the Cutten household March 17, 1922 has been found. He has been called the leader of the robbers though the man held at Cleveland denies that he is Rosenberg at all. He gave his name as Charles Davis.

"When a man comes into my house and robs me, and then locks me in a vault where I might have suffocated—well I'll get him," said Mr. Cutten last night. And he has pushed the prosecution; has sent them to prison. If the man in Cleveland is Rosenberg—and Cutten feels certain he is—only one member of the robber gang remains at large.

He is Casper Rosenberg brother of Simon. "When I get his brother, the job's done."

MEXICO TO TAKE CENSUS. Mexico City, April 7.—(AP)—When Mexico turns out May 15 to take what it is hoped will be the first complete and accurate census in its history, governors of the various states will contribute by personally enumerating the citizens in their home block.

A holiday will be declared so that public employees may devote their full time to the census taking.

F. T. BARNUM'S DEATH

On April 7, 1891, P. T. Barnum, famous American showman, died at Bridgeport, Conn.

His first real venture in showmanship occurred when he bought for $1000 Joyce Heth, aged negro woman, reputed to be the nurse of George Washington. Although he was only 25 years old, Barnum created his own ballyhoo and exhibited his freak for considerable profit.

After meeting several reverses, each of which reduced him to poverty, Barnum bought the American Museum in New York. One of the greatest curiosities he displayed there was his "Feje Mermaid." It had the head of a monkey and the body of a fish and was advertised as having been captured by Japanese fishermen.

In 1847 he introduced Jenny Lind, famous Swedish singer, to America, paying her $1000 a night for 150 nights. The demand for seats was so great that tickets were auctioned off, bringing exorbitant prices. When two of his museums were destroyed by fire, Barnum established his "Greatest Show on Earth," a traveling circus and menagerie.

Barnum was an unsuccessful candidate for Congress but was four times elected to the Connecticut legislature.

Night Hawks Coasting To Bowling Loop Title

Charter Oaks' Chances of Closing Gap Admittedly Slim; Only One More Session.

The Night Hawks are resting safely on a comfortable three point lead as the next to the last session of the Herald Bowling League looms ahead this evening. The Construction team is in their path but it will be something of an upset if the contractors are not tossed aside without much strenuous effort.

The Charter Oaks in second place with only a slim chance of closing the gap between first and second, take on the Pirates and should win handily. The loss of even one game, however, would be fatal. The games for tonight and the latest averages follow:

United States Soccer Goes To Fall River

Cleveland, April 7.—Driven by a canny Scot, who learned his game of soccer across the sea in the land of kilts and bagpipes, a mighty Fall River eleven vanquished Cleveland's best, the Bruells, for the second straight time to annex the championship of the United States yesterday. The score was 2 to 1.

A crowd of 3,500 saw the game on Luna Park Field.
Facing a human barrier, formed by seven husky Bruells and behind them a grim, fighting goalie, and conscious of the fact that less than five minutes of play remained, old Alex McNab carefully booted an eighteen-yard penalty kick that struck the outside goal post and then bounded into the nets for the winning point.

It was this same McNab, rushing up and down, passing and kicking with marvelous accuracy, who made his silver black thatch familiar to all. Cool, steady and ever playing a clean game, it was easy to understand how he has earned the reputation of being one of the best players known to the game.

Bob Chambers, chairman of the tournament committee, is well pleased with the interest shown throughout the tournament and is completing the arrangements for the supper which will be held soon after the tournament closes, and all players that took part, thirty-one in all, will have a pleasant time. ## Using A Zone Defense Athens Retains Title

Defeats Jena, Louisiana Five, 22-16 In National School-boy Basketball Finals at Chicago.

Chicago, April 7.—(AP)—Amos Alonzo Stagg, "Grand Old Man" of the University of Chicago's athletic world, has donned his armor for a fight to the finish to retain his pet hobby—the annual Stagg national prep basketball championship tournament.

As the twelfth edition of the high school classic ended Saturday night with the lanky Hornets from Athens, Tex., champions for the second straight year, Stagg threw down the gauntlet to the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations, leader of the fight to stop the tournament.

hold another one or not, but if I have the say, we will still keep on holding them."

The chief worry in Coach Stagg's mind is the recent proposal by the Athletic Committee of the North Central Association that a rule be made that colleges and universities insisting on holding invitational prep athletic meets be subject to disbarment from its organization. Disbarment means failure of the association to recognize credits of the banned institutes at other universities and colleges.

Athens' triumph in the finals over Jena, La., 22 to 16, was considered not only a triumph for Texas basketball, but for the five-man zone defense. The big Texans employ that system rather than the more modern man-to-man scheme and breezed through the bracket of thirty-six teams from twenty-six States easily up until last night when Jena extended them to the limit.

It was the first time in the tournament's history that one team has won the title twice in succession.

Evansville, Ind., April 7.—(AP)—John McGraw manager of the New York Giants celebrated his 57th birthday today, in harness. McGraw's party, he hopes, will be at the expense of the Chicago White Sox who meet the Giants here today. The Giants are one up, so far in the spring series.

We Repeat Spit is a horrid word, but it is worse on the end of your cigar

... the war against Spitting is a crusade of decency... join it. Smoke CERTIFIED CREMO!

The man who spits in public places is no worse an offender against public decency than the workman who rolls cigars with dirty fingers and tips the ends with spit. And remember, more than half of all cigars made in this country are made by hand, and therefore subject to the risk of spit!

Try a Certified Cremo—see how wonderfully good it is! Made of the choicest, tenderest leaves that the crop affords, we claim Certified Cremo's quality is tastier than that of any other cigar. Don't let its 5c price stand in your way. Your physician has in mind a cigar like Certified Cremo when he recommends a mild smoke in place of heavy brands.

Take no chances... smoke Certified Cremo. Every tobacco leaf entering the clean, sunny Certified Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture. And its purity is safeguarded along every step of the way by amazing inventions that foil, wrap and tip the cigars without the possibility of spit!

Crush-proof... immaculate... foil-wrapped... Certified Cremo is the kind of cigar the late Vice-President Marshall undoubtedly was thinking of when he said, "What this country needs is a good 5c cigar!"

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Dorothy Matthews, lady's maid is murdered in a summerhouse on the Berkeley estate, by blow from heavy perfume flask, given Mrs. George Berkeley by Seymour Crosby, engaged to Clorinda Berkeley, whose secret she had discovered. Her body when it is taken from the lake by Detective Dundee.

Evidence involves Mrs. Berkeley, Clorinda, Dick Berkeley, Doris's fiancé, Eugene Arnold, chauffeur, Gigi Berkeley, 15, who unaccountably sprinkled perfume Friday evening with perfume from murder flask, and John Maxwell, former suitor of Clorinda, admittedly in the summerhouse after the crime.

But an undelivered letter of Doris to her sister in London turns Seymour Crosby into chief suspect. Dundee has been a guest here largely to observe Crosby, whose wife, Phyllis Crosby, then Doris's mistress, died in England. Doris's letter hints of murder and plans of vengeance, but names no suspect.

Dundee cables Scotland Yard, then grills Crosby, who admits having seen Doris after 11 Friday night and having given her perfume. But Dundee's dead wife, who violently denies having bribed or killed the girl; also protests entire innocence of his wife's death, officially pronounced suicide. When it is discovered that Harveyn Johnson, a temporary valet hired for Crosby, has robbed Crosby and Mrs. Berkeley, Captain Strawn is ready to consider the case solved, especially since another maid, Peggy Harper, says Doris had seemed to recognize Johnson. But Dundee stays on at the Berkeleys, not at all satisfied.

Now GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXI
For one uncomfortable minute Dundee was afraid his chief would turn nasty. But Captain Strawn contented himself with saying: "Remember me to your mother. And therefore a privileged character, eh? All right! Have a good time with your society friends."

"I shan't be entirely idle," Dundee assured him cheerfully. "I'll ask Mrs. Lamont to lend me her typewriter, and I'll transcribe this bunch of notes I've taken. . . . By the way, chief, since you're satisfied that Johnson solves everything, there won't be any need of airing the Berkeley family troubles in the newspapers, I suppose?"

"No—and you can bet that takes a load off my mind," Strawn grunted. "Lucky for me I soft-pedaled the whole thing when the reporters mobbed me a couple of hours ago! These multi-millionaires and their society swells are so grateful to Johnson for being the guy that croaked the girl instead of Clorinda or Dick Berkeley that I'd almost be willing to ask the grand jury to return a vote of thanks instead of an indictment. . . . So long as you know where to reach me if anything turns up, though it won't. I'm taking all the boys back with me. We'll need 'em all for tracking down that crook."

Five minutes after the chief's departure, Dundee, who was still frowning over his shorthand notes, was interrupted by a gay tattoo upon the library door.

"Come in, Gigi," he called confidentially. "Come in, Gigi," he called confidentially. "Come in, Gigi," he called confidentially. . . .

eagerly, relief lighting up his good-looking face. "They haven't caught him, Johnny, but they know who he is," Gigi answered before Dundee could speak. "Oh, things have been happening at jolly old Hillcrest, let me tell you! Abbie hires a valet, to swank before Mr. Crosby, and Johnson—that's the valet's name—turns out to be a burglar and a murderer."

"Good Lord!" John Maxwell ejaculated. "Of course I saw the extra—what point is, Mr. Maxwell?" Dundee cut in quietly, "did you see this man Johnson on the grounds when you were here last night?"

"Maxwell made no attempt to deny the truth which Dundee had guessed at. "No, I saw no one but the poor girl might be having a rocky time of it with the police, when I saw by the papers that she was being quizzed."

"Then why didn't you barge right over?" Gigi demanded indignantly. "Because I didn't see a paper until about 20 minutes ago," Maxwell answered. "After I left Clorinda last night I took the interurban to Mercurville, to see my uncle—"

"The old boy who struck off on farm?" Gigi demanded excitedly. "The same," Maxwell grinned. I put my hand in my pocket and asked him if he'd lend me enough money to set myself up in law practice, instead of taking a job as assistant district attorney at $300 a year. His answer was yes, about half past 11 this morning. When I stepped out of the downtown interurban station 20 minutes ago a cop told me I was wanted and showed me a paper with the news in it."

"And that's that!" Gigi cried. "So you can marry Clo and live happy ever after! I'll begin right now by giving the bride away. She has a rotten disposition before breakfast, is bearable by lunch, and an angel by dinner-time. She—"

"Shut up, Pest!" Dundee commanded. "Now, Mr. Maxwell, will you tell me exactly what happened last night, so far as you know?"

"Certainly!" Maxwell agreed. "But I must go back a bit. I've been away for more than a year, and before I left, Clorinda and I had a well-a-tiff. We had been secretly engaged, and while we didn't actually break it off, the coolness continued in her letters until the letters themselves stopped. . . .

"I see," said Dundee thoughtfully. Then, "You are positive you saw no one at all during your walk or were leaving the grounds alone?" "No one, until I was passing through the gates," Maxwell answered positively. "And I did not actually see anyone there. Just the Berkeley limousine. It was turning in toward the gates as I passed through them. I was running to make the interurban. I'd heard the whistle before I reached the gates, and thought I'd have time to get to the next station before the car did."

all the joy out of your life for a case to be solved?" "No," Dundee answered seriously, then he forced himself to smile. "There! That's my Bonnie!" Gigi praised him tenderly. "You are the handsomest thing, with your smiling Irish eyes and your crisp black hair. Believe I'll set the wave in it; Doris taught me how."

"Let my hair alone, Hellion!" he roared, then flushed as he looked up and saw Wickett's solemn face in the opening door. "Luncheon is served, Miss Gigi," Wickett called. "Attaboy, Wickett!" Gigi cried, springing from the arm of the chair and dragging at Dundee's hand. "I shouldn't admit it, but I'm starved."

In the hall they found Mrs. Lambert descending the stairs. At sight of the evident clumsiness of the child and the detective, a faint, whimsical smile lightened the somber melancholy which had made her delicate and still beautiful face seem years older. Then she made a sudden decision: "Mr. Dundee, may I speak with you after lunch—about—Doris?" (To Be Continued)

It is a mistake to let your laces for your oxfords get soiled and mused. They are so easily washed. To iron them stand the iron on end, hold a lace by each tip and slide it back and forth across the hot iron until it is smooth.

When spring comes, the all-green vegetable meal is attractive. Creamed pea soup, fresh beans, spinach and Brussels sprouts and a salad of asparagus and water-cress makes an appetizing dinner. A green dessert may be added.

Vionnet uses red suede for a young girl's spring coat, making it with fitted lines and an effective gray fox collar.

WHAT'S A DOGGIE TO DO?

Kitchen Cares Vanish As Cleanliness Comes

Women may differ on the soaps, colors will build up an atmosphere of cleanliness, charm, and most important of all to the mistress of the household—simplified housekeeping. When major matters have been attended to, the smaller, yet important touches may be given to the kitchen. The drain board and table top can blossom out in color if they are covered with oilcloth and then varnished. The varnish projects the oilcloth from the rings which pots and pans would otherwise leave on the surface. The refrigerator may turn colorful too, with the aid of enamel, while the old stove once again may become immaculately black with two coats of stove enamel. Even an old garbage can will look presentable if it is given two coats of enamel.

The modern kitchen is delightfully deluding. Color can make it appear cooler or warmer, larger or smaller, as demanded. Good paint, varnish or enamel gives the impression that the room is constant. The modern kitchen is constantly being redecorated, whereas work has been reduced to a minimum.

Hot and greasy vapors necessarily fill the kitchen at times, and when they come in contact with cold walls, they condense, leaving unsightly spots. As this cannot be forestalled, the walls should be given a glossy paint finish so that they can be washed without any injury to the finish; without so much, in fact, as removing any of the lustre and freshness from the walls.

So much depends upon the kitchen woodwork. If it is properly finished in well chosen colors, it will make even the sunless kitchen gracious, a room into which a guest may be proudly ushered if the occasion arises. Enamel is a good finish because it is durable and easy to clean. Grease or food spilled on an enamel surface will not leave a mark if it is wiped off with a damp cloth.

If the old kitchen woodwork is in poor condition, it is not by any means in a hopeless state. When badly cracked, the old paint should be removed with a paint and varnish remover. This is brushed on and when the paint becomes soft, it is removed with a scraper or putty knife, and the surface washed with cotton waste or a cloth soaked in turpentine to remove the wax left by the paint remover.

The kitchen floor is one part of the room that often makes the housewife shudder, so closely is it bound in her thoughts with hard work. If she is looking for the type of floor that is most simply kept clean, she would do well to consider the importance of systematic varnishing. If the previous varnish coat has been neglected, the floor should of course be prepared for refinishing like any other woodwork. Printed linoleum, too, will be easier to clean if it is varnished—that is, unless it has been waxed. Wax, however, can always be removed with turpentine. appearance if the pattern is touched up with paint or the whole surface painted over.

YOUR CHILDREN

by OLIVE ROBERTS-BARTON
© 1930 by NEA SERVICE, INC.

Once a poor little city girl was taken by a kindly welfare worker to spend a month with her own family in their summer home in the country. Lolly, aged 6, was taken to a little pink chintz-hung bedroom which was to be her very own, shown perky little dresses like flowers hanging in her closet, and bureau drawers full of snowy white underwear that she put on fresh every morning after she had had her bath.

The door was open into the bathroom and her hostess emphasized the words: "With such a pretty bathroom and so much water, you can keep very clean. I expect you to be sure and bathe every morning and on very hot days or when you get very dirty playing, to take another bath when you get dressed before supper." The children pounced on her at once to show her around the place. The dogs, the tent, the swimming pool, the duck that walked in circles, the swing in the willow, the cot, everything! It was just like a circus.

She asked funny questions and the children laughed. "Well, she's from the city," declared Betty, the oldest. "How should she know? Stop laughing at her." Busy With Explanations After that they took great care not to laugh but to explain. That spirit of explaining kept right on. They explained games, and birds' nest, and fish bait.

In the house their mother and grandmother kept on explaining about quietness, and manners and what nice little girls did, and why she had to keep the table cloth clean, and why she mustn't finger-mark books, and why she mustn't touch the glass windows of the car with her fingers, and why she must fold her bedspread at night, and she went home fat and rosy, and with all the flower-dresses and soft white underwear packed in her little suitcase. And she went home with something else, too. "Tell me all about it, Lolly. What were the Burrows like? Were they kind?" asked her mother. Lolly thought for a minute. "The cats and dogs and the duck were kind. So was Dinah and Pete and Old Mike," she declared. But Mrs. Burrows and Grandma Burrows and Betty—no, not Betty—Hector and Luke and Martha and Kate all laughed at me and whipped me and told stories about me and I think they just wanted to see me die, they were so mean."

Expert Advice Sought She stuck to her story. Her mother, astonished and perplexed, told a friend. In turn it reached the Burrows. Mrs. Burrows called one day with a kindly man who turned out to be a child psychologist. He talked to Lolly a long time. She finally told the truth. "It's a clear case," he said to her mother later. "She felt the contrast. She felt the unimpaired patronage and attempt to teach her. Inferiority complex completely outraged sought escape in making out a dark case against those who felt painfully and cruelly to be her superiors."

The child who traduces others almost invariably does it for this reason. If she were to go again and all reference to her poverty and ignorance avoided even by kindly camouflage and her own clothes allowed to stay on her for at least a few days, she would not be so defensive. It might be worth trying."

Mrs. Burrows did try it again. It was a success. Strange how these personalities of ours work, isn't it?

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY NEA Service Writer
At this season of the year, the main source of vegetable supply lies in the canned variety. Only a few of the fresh green vegetables are coming into the spring market and they are apt to be too expensive for regular use by the average family. The winter stock is beginning to lose much of its original crispness and flavor and a change is wanted. Vegetables are such an important factor in maintaining the family health that they must be supplied. Mineral salts, roughage, vitamins—these are essential in keeping the blood pure and the complexion clear, in stimulating the appetite and producing growth.

Canned vegetables are not always adequately appreciated. Their nutritive value is in many respects equal to that of fresh vegetables. Unfortunately, lack of proper care and methods of preparation often make them sadly lacking in flavor and unattractive in appearance. Battering Canned Foods It is only by careful seasoning and treatment that canned vegetables can be given their utmost value. Certain definite rules must be followed. One of the first and most important of the rules is that canned vegetables should be properly aerated. Practically all the air which is expelled from the can during the process of canning. This naturally results in a "flat" taste not uncommon in canned goods. As soon as a can of vegetables is opened it should be turned into a shallow bowl and allowed to stand uncovered for fifteen minutes. In this way they come in contact with the air and regain what they lost during the canning.

The second rule is that vegetables should be heated in the water in which they were canned. This water contains valuable nutrition and flavor, or if the vegetables are drained before reheating, both of these properties are lost. An excellent plan is in the case of vegetables in shallow saucepan, keeping them uncovered and allowing the water to evaporate completely. In this way the flavor and nutritive value are retained.

Always season vegetables well and do not depend solely on salt and pepper and butter. Lemon juice, vinegar, and tomato juice improve the flavor of such vegetables as spinach, beets and corn or succotash. Grated cheese may be added to the white sauce for creamed or scalloped vegetables. Onion, celery and red and green peppers are vegetable-flavoring possibilities that add zest to canned vegetables. Butter and bacon fat add flavor to vegetables that probably no amount of other condiments can give. A more pronounced flavor is obtained if the butter is melted and slightly browned before the hot vegetable is added.

When vegetables are served simply dressed in butter, they must be dry before the butter is added. If the vegetable water has not been evaporated by cooking, it should be drained off.

Very quaint and charming is a sea-green tulle frock, with Empire highness to its waistline and long, straight fullness to its skirt, and a little matching green taffeta bolero jacket topped with trimmed with rosettes of the taffeta.

REVEALING HAIR You should let some of your hair show beneath your hat this spring. A little right in the middle of the forehead and a little down over the ears. But don't show too much. A little is plenty.

DINNER HATS Transparent horsehair braid and lace hats are to be had for dinner wear this spring. If your hair is golden, get one. Nothing could be prettier than gleaming hair showing through a transparent crown.

NEW OXFORDS Dressy two and three eyelet oxfords are very good with the new dressmaker suit. For the very elegant, classic pumps are good if you can wear them comfortably.

LACY WORSTED Pastel colored wools, in lacy weaves, make the very smartest of sports things for summer. Blouses are rather fancy, too, and they all tuck into the skirt.

True dyes are easiest to use! Dresses, drapes or lingerie look new when they're re-dyed with Diamond Dyes. No spotting or streaking; never a trace of that re-dyed look. Just rich, even, bright colors that hold amazingly through wear and washing. Diamond Dyes are the highest quality dyes you can buy because they're so rich in pure aniline. That's what makes them so easy to use. That's what they've been famous for 50 years. 15 cent packages—all drug stores.

11 CALLS FOR FIREMEN SATURDAY AND SUNDAY Grass and Woods Blaze Up At Over Town—One Gets Into Barn and Chicken Coops.

A total of eleven fires over the week-end kept both the Manchester and South Manchester Fire Departments on the jump. The Manchester Fire Department answered ten box alarms and five stills Saturday afternoon and Sunday at the following points: At 1 p. m. Saturday a grass fire on Hollister street and immediately following another grass fire on Woodland street. At 2 p. m. a grass fire on Middle Turnpike west, at 3:30 p. m. a grass fire at 433 Main street.

Following the grass fire on Main street, Box 46 was rung in for fire which destroyed a wagon shed and chicken coop in rear of 39 Oakland street, owned by Frank C. Coubra, opposite the Oakl'n filling station. Damage was estimated at $200.

At 7:30 a. m. yesterday Box 3 was pulled for a chimney fire at 6 North School street which was extinguished without damage. The north end firemen had barely returned from the School street chimney fire when a still alarm came in for a grass fire on Hillard street.

The South Manchester department was busy Saturday afternoon with Hose Co. No. 3 responding to a still alarm for a grass fire on Spring street at 12:15 p. m. Hose Co. No. 2 was called out shortly afterward for a grass fire on Middle Turnpike east. At 3 p. m. Hose and Ladder No. 1 was called on still alarm to Park street for grass fire and at 3:30 the same company was called to Middle Turnpike west for another. Chief Foy was recalled to the latter fire for a small outbreak at 6 p. m.

The South Manchester fire Department has answered thirty seven alarms since April 1. Box alarms and 10 stills which adds heavily to the already high season record. The rain of last night has once again helped the department in wetting down the woods and grass.

Many peace loving people would like to have been more scrapping at the London conference.

ERRORGRAMS

There are at least four mistakes in the above picture. They may pertain to grammar, history, etiquette, drawing or whatnot. See if you can find them. Then look at the scrambled word below and unscramble it, by switching the letters around. Grade yourself 20 for each of the mistakes you find, and 20 for the word if you unscramble it.

CORRECTIONS (1) "Council", in the judge's conversation, should be counsel. (2) "Breach" in the same conversation, should be breach. (3) There are 12 on a jury instead of 10. (4) The badge on the policeman is upside down. (5) The scrambled word is DISEASE.

SENSE and NONSENSE

Whoa! Back Up Backward, turn backward, oh time in your flight. Make me a girl again, just for to-night. Give me the long golden curls that were worn Back in the days before tresses were short. Give me the skirts that brought many a laugh When boisterous winds flipped them over the calf. Give me the roses our cheeks sported then Without touching up from the old Five and Ten. Give me the petticoats; give me the lace; Give me the modesty; give me the grace; Give me the power to blush when I'm kissed; Give me the things that I lately have missed. I have the gimmies. Oh time in your flight. Give me my girlhood, please—just for tonight.

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE) The Tynmites all gazed around. An elevator soon was found, that rose up in the Eiffel Tower until it reached the top. The Travel Man said, "Come with me. A very pretty sight we'll see. I'll take you so high up, it would be an awful drop." Into the elevator they all walked and it was on its way. Up, up they went, real slow, but sure. It was a thrilling ride. Soon Clowny shouted, "Me, oh my! I fear we'll bump into the sky." Then, Scouty broke in, "This is great. Just marvelous," he sighed. The elevator then stopped short and Carry shouted, "This is sport. We're right atop the Eiffel Tower. Come in, let's look around." At first the bunch was rather scared as out into the air they peered. The Paris buildings looked real small, away down on the ground. In half an hour the Travel Man said, "Well, lads, now I guess we can go down again. We've seen enough of Paris from up here. And down they went. When on the ground, they once more stood and looked around. "Let's go to Notre Dame," cried one. "It isn't far from here. "A man just told me where it was and I would like to see it 'cause they say the building's wonderful." "All right!" replied their friend. "I'll take you there and mighty quick. An omnibus will turn the trick." They rode and rode upon their trip until they reached the end. Each one was glad he was on hand to go through Notre Dame. "Twas grand. They went up to some balconies and walked around outside. The gargoyles there were quite a sight to each and every Tynmite. "We never seen such wondrous things," one of the travelers cried. (The Tynmites visit a famous garden in the next story.)

The factory repairmen will report today in an effort to get the big timepiece going again.
