MORE TESTIMONY IN ELECTION PROBE

Naugatuck, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Testimony that a Republican worker in the Third voting district of Waterbury interfered with a voter who was trying to vote for Martin Gormley for Congressman in the Fifth Congressional district was a feature of the testimony today in the hearing in the contest by which Mr. Gormley of Naugatuck hopes to unseat Congressman E. MARKSMAN-KILLER GETS 3 VICTIMS

Shoots Down Two Women, Wounds Another, Kills a Policeman and Flees.

Philadelphia, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Blazing pistols in the hands of a marksman-killer claimed the lives of two women and a policeman in what authorities said today might have been the outbreak of a vice war.

In a darkened house on North Ninth street, near the center of the city, Mrs. Yetta Cooper, alias Cohen, alleged proprietress of a disorderly establishment, was shot through the face with a .45 caliber pistol and a young woman tentatively identified as Patsy Miller of Camden, N. J., was shot between the eyes. Both were killed.

A third woman, also an alleged inmate of the house, was wounded in the leg by the slayer. She was taken to a hospital where she refused to reveal her identity or tell what led up to the shootings.

Policeman Slain In a pistol battle with the slayer as he fled through yards at the rear of the house, Patrolman Frederick J. Dolan fell with a bullet in his abdomen and died before he reached a hospital.

The slayer escaped amid a fusillade of shots from police who raced to the scene. A city-wide hunt for him was immediately started.

More than a score of persons were rounded up for questioning soon after the slayings, but no arrests were made. Among those detained was Ben Cooper, alias Cohen, husband of one of the dead women.

Find Two Pistols Outside the house, police found two heavy automatic pistols believed to have been thrown away by the killer, but they were unable to locate Patrolman Dolan's weapon. Officials expressed the opinion the killer took the officer's pistol with him when he fled.

Addie Davis, negro maid in the house, told police the man appeared at the door shortly before midnight and rang the bell. He was admitted and Quaranine to meet them. Since I had to come to New York to confer with Commissioner Corsi on Ellis Island, I thought I would like to see whether New York or Boston superior in methods of handling passengers. I found that they are about on a par. The inspectors here are splendid, capable men, and so are the officers in Boston."

Mrs. Tillinghast said that she has about 100 persons working under her direction. She has seven offices in her jurisdiction, which includes all of the New England states except Maine.

"There is no suggestion I have to make about how the handling of passengers can be improved," Mrs. Tillinghast said. "Inspectors in New York have one advantage—they have about an hour and a half to work from the time the ship leaves Quarantine until it docks, while we have only about an hour in Boston."

Mrs. Tillinghast headed the Republican women's organization in Massachusetts for eight years. She was appointed by President Coolidge six years ago, and re-appointed by President Hoover.

THINK FARMER SLAIN

Middletown, Mass., Jan. 27.—(AP)—Posses headed by Chief of Police William H. Young dragged the Ipswich river and searched its banks today for E. Stinson Hutchinson, wealthy Middletown farmer who has been missing since Wednesday.

Chief Young said he felt certain Hutchinson had been attacked and killed and many members of the volunteer posse agreed with his theory.

Hutchinson left his home about 9 o'clock Wednesday night to walk three-quarters of a mile to his farm buildings. He carried a lantern with him.

Last night Basil Hill, one of the volunteer searchers, found the smashed globe of the lantern on the Ipswich river bridge and the frame near a stone wall 75 yards away. A close search of the vicinity in which the lantern was found was ordered for today.

MRS. TILLINGHAST VISITS N. Y. PORT

Boston Official Looks Over Methods Used By Immigration Officers There.

New York, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Mrs. Anna C. M. Tillinghast, commissioner of immigration for New England, the only woman ever to hold such a post, journeyed down the bay at dawn today to board the incoming French liner Lafayette, to observe the procedure of immigration officers in the only American port that exceeds Boston, her headquarters, in importance.

Mrs. Tillinghast said she had been warned that she would have a hot climb up a rope ladder, explored forward to a thrilling experience. She was disappointed because the Lafayette is easier to board than most ships, and she merely had to step across a level plank.

"Although I have been meeting ships in Boston and other ports," Mrs. Tillinghast said, "I had never gone out to Quarantine to meet them. Since I had to come to New York to confer with Commissioner Corsi on Ellis Island, I thought I would like to see whether New York or Boston superior in methods of handling passengers. I found that they are about on a par. The inspectors here are splendid, capable men, and so are the officers in Boston."

What You Can Deduct From Your 1932 Tax

A good part of the figuring on income tax blanks comes in detailing your deductions. . . be sure you do it right.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth of six articles on the new income tax law that upwards of three million new taxpayers must become acquainted with before March 15.

By ROBERT TALLEY NEA Service Writer.

Washington, Jan. 26.—If you lost money in the depression year 1932 as the result of the stock market decline, bad debts, depreciation, fire, flood or even burglary, you can get some deduction for these in your income tax report March 15.

But the law has not been liberalized in this respect—in the case of stock market losses it has even been tightened.

An important 1933 change is the new limitation placed on deductions for losses incurred in the sale or exchange of stocks and bonds that the taxpayer has held for less than two years, and which, therefore, are not classified as "capital assets."

Briefly, this means: If, by the sale or exchange of such securities in 1932, you incurred losses, you can deduct such losses from your taxable income only to the extent that you made taxable gains from similar sources in the same year. If the 1932 losses exceed the gains, the excess, in an amount not greater than the 1932 net income, may be carried forward and taken as a deduction against similar gains next year.

"Must Be Real Losses" As to losses on securities held by the taxpayer for more than two years prior to the date of sale or exchange—and which are classified as "capital assets"—there is no change in the law. Such losses are still deductible, subject to the limitation that the tax may not be reduced by more than 12 1/2 per cent of the loss sustained.

In order to claim any loss at all, though, you must have actually taken a loss in the sale or exchange of such securities. Mere depreciation or shrinkage in value contributions made directly to financially disinterested relatives or friends are not deductible. Contributions to churches, scientific, religious and educational organizations are deductible in an amount equal to 10 per cent of the taxpayer's net income.

Lesses Deductible Generally speaking, all losses are deductible if incurred in the taxpayer's business, trade or profession or in any transaction entered into for profit.

As for the new taxes enacted by Congress last summer in its sweeping effort to balance the federal budget, the law varies. Those that are levied on the manufacturer are not deductible; those that are levied on the public directly are deductible.

For example, an individual cannot deduct for the new 1-cent-a-gallon federal gasoline tax because the law looks to the manufacturer for the collection of this tax—though the consumer is permitted to pay it. Nor can he deduct for federal excise taxes paid on jewelry, new automobiles, tires, toilet preparations, etc., since the law levies these on the manufacturer.

But an individual can deduct the tax he pays in 1932 on bank checks, on the rent of a safety deposit vault, on his electric light bill, club dues, telegrams, telephone conversations, etc., since the law levies these on him directly.

Admission taxes to theaters, movies, ball games, etc., are deductible, but the taxpayer must be able to show that he has kept an account of the amount paid.

State automobile licenses are taxes and therefore deductible, as are license fees exacted by a state or city upon certain business.

Interest, derived from federal, state, county and municipal bonds is exempt from taxation, as is interest on securities issued under the Federal Farm Loan Act. However, the interest on 4 and 4 1/2 per cent Liberty Bonds and Treasury Bonds, if owned in excess of 5,000, is subject to surtax if the net income is over $6,000.

As corporations are not subject to surtax, the interest on Liberty 4 and 4 1/2 per cent bonds and Treasury Bonds is exempt from federal income tax if these obligations are held by a corporation.

Dividends paid by domestic corporations to individuals are not subject to the normal tax but are subject to the surtax if the net income of the taxpayer exceeds $6,000.

BANDITS ARE FOILED

Salem, Mass., Jan. 27.—(AP)—A pair of bold bandits, masked and armed, fled precipitately from a 73 year old storekeeper when he produced a toy pistol and shouted for help to an imaginary companion in a back room.

"Pay up or we'll drill a hole in you," one of the two youthful thugs who confronted Edward J. Dolan in his little general store late last night told him. Instead Dolan reached under the counter, grabbed a cap pistol and yelled: "Come out and help me Tom."

Without waiting for more the robbers sped from the door. Dolan told police, and raced down the street.

At any rate, revival of script and bartering should silence those wisecracks who have a habit of slapping you on the back and saying: "Don't take any wooden nickels!"

POLICE THREATENED IN SOLOMON CASE

Captain Flaherty, of Boston, Told in Note He Would Be "Put On Spot."

Boston, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Charles "King" Solomon, sovereign of the racketeers, was in his grave today but the sinister ramifications of his slaying threatened the lives of a score of men.

Captain Stephen J. Flaherty, prominent in the attempts of police to track the killers, came to his station this morning with a guard of brother officers. Last night he returned home to find a note under his door, which said: "Lay off the case you are looking for in the Solomon case. Unless you do, you will be put on the spot."

At the bottom of the message was written "8:45 a. m.," the time he generally leaves his home for the station.

Witnesses Hidden—In a secret hideaway police guarded four witnesses, Arthur Evans, diminutive, negro, who identified Michael "Spike" Hennessey, as one of those present when Solomon crumpled before the fire of assassins at the Cotton Club early Tuesday morning, told police he saw four men in an automobile act suspiciously outside his home. He said he feared for his life and Superintendent of Police Michael Crowley, agreeing with him that his life was in danger, had him taken to a hiding place where three other witnesses awaited him. Hennessey was held in $10,000 in connection with the affair.

Police pressed their search for four men they believed were implicated in the slaying while in other quarters inquiries were heard that friends of the slain man would even matters themselves.

They said that Solomon loved flowers in life. They were showered on him in profusion in death. His body was lowered yesterday between mounds of blossoms.

OLD KID RECALLS "GOAT"

To the Editor of The Herald: To you Mr. Editor, this may be Thursday, January 26th, but to me and a lot of the kids when we called the principal of the school "Zig"; and when sweet, Caporal was the only kind of a cigarette that could be had for two for a cent, and when the Police Gazette was a big thing, well to them this is the last trip of Charles's train in the passing of one of our greatest fri... What that old friend didn't do for us kids! Why, it brought Uncle Tom, Little Eva, and Topsy, the dogs we used to lead in the parade, the minstrel car that had the troupe that gave a street parade and played music when they marched; and it brought the box of soap and our premium—maybe a washing machine for our mothers. In '38 when the soldiers had to go to war, it carried them away, and when they were over it brought them home again; and when the excursions that went to Boston and New York stopped Over North, it went over there and brought the people home. When the Military Ball was the big event it brought all the generals, colonels and majors to town. Do some of us kids remember the sales of waste paper, where we could find rings, pictures of fighters, when we used to poke through them on Sunday—why we could not forget!

It brought fireworks for Madden Bros, who sold them for fifty dollars, more, maybe less, to the fellows who kept them in racks at the mills; where us kids could ride to the army on Wells street; and get a job holding a dog in a parade that went down through the mills, and by the train that carried them to town and would take them away in the morning.

So, January 26 means good-bye to an old and good friend. I thank you.

ONE OF THEM "KIDS." NOTE: Received too late for publication on indicated date.—Ed.

Mr. McKenna declared that the expansive monetary policy in Great Britain has been in fact no more than half a policy insofar as its effect upon trade is concerned.

SENSE AND NONSENSE

A Toast
Here's to the man who plans things
Builds things—makes things;
Who prates not of wonders of old,
Nor gloats over ancestral gold,
But takes off his coat and takes hold And does things!

No matter how seriously a man is injured, on the way to the hospital he has the satisfaction of knowing he soon will be getting along as well as can be expected.

Visitor—I suppose that your home town is one of those where every one goes down to meet the train?
Village Wag—What train?

Cynical Cynthia thinks it's too bad so many people give up dancing after they're married, that's about the only time they ever put their arms around each other.

THE DEPRESSION: "I've got to close out all my stock at auction," complained a Brushville merchant the other day. "Otherwise I may be compelled to stay in business."

Here are some answers from examination papers of school children:

A man who marries twice commits bigamy.
In Christianity a man may have only one wife; that is called monotony.

A spinster is a bachelor's wife.
A skeleton is a man with his inside out, and outside off.

He was an ardent lover but a poor speller. He thought it safe to write the girl's father for her hand. His note read: "I want your daughter, the four of the family." Replied the father: "Are you sure it isn't my dough you're after?"

Wonder why alienated affections bring such a high price in court when actually they are worth so little.

A writer says that golfers are rarely moved by scenery.
But how those golfers can move the scenery.

Some girls wouldn't mind having a wedding ring on their finger—it's the thought of having a man on their hands.

Teacher—Who can name an important thing we have now that we did not have 100 years ago?
Student—Me.

ANOTHER NICE THING
ABOUT THIS DEPRESSION—SO LONG AS IT LASTS MOST OF US WILL ESCAPE BEING KID-NAPED FOR OUR MONEY.

Mr. Newlywed—Is the steak ready now, dear?
Mrs. Newlywed—I'm sorry I'm so long, George dear, but it looked hopeless grilled, and it doesn't look much better fried, but if you'll be patient a little longer, I'll see what boiling does to it.

ENCORES—The fellows who start out like a house afire usually end up like amouldering ruins. . . .
No battle ever looks as hopeless as from the rear. . . . Things don't seem half as expensive when you can charge them. . . . The ability to save makes the difference between poverty and wealth. . . .
Adversity made our ancestors great,
but the greatness developed in process of licking it. It was when a man's too neatly dressed he looks "queer". . . . Time may be the "great healer," but it's certainly no great shakes as a beauty specialist.

SLIGHTLY MISTAKEN

"Why is it that you never see that boy Alfred with the same girl twice?"
"Well, the minister preached a sermon once that made a great impression on him. It was on the text 'Love one another'—but Alfred thought it was 'Loves one and then another'."—Pathfinder.

PARTLY LOCATED

OLD GENTLEMAN (in crowded bus): Has anyone lost a pair of bills with an elastic around them?
CHORUS OF VOICES: Yes, I have!
OLD GENTLEMAN: Well, I just found the elastic! — Michigan Motor News.
