

THE BARGAIN HOUND

Have you heard tell of the perennials with the new croquinoile ends? They're the most flattering of waves and so utterly feminine—just what you'll want for your new spring dresses.

Lelong finds a certain similitude in profile between the old romantic figures that adorned the bows of ships and his new silhouette. It is true that his new models give one the impression of a movement floating ahead of the wearer in place of the old clinging lines.

A photograph of you on Mother's Day—what could please mother more? Call the Fallot Studio and make your appointment in time. Dial 5808.

If you're planning to build a rock garden select stones that are large and place them firmly in the ground so that any one of them will hold the weight of an adult without toppling over.

A royal bargain—and a delicious one! Horned chicken is a king 29 cents a can, four cans for 99 cents at Pinehurst.

Sylvia Sydney wears thirty-six gowns in "Thirty Day Princess," slightly over one a day, and it is of interest to note that practically all of her apparel is a combination of three colors—red, black and white.

Here's how the calendar reads daily for Travis Banton, Paramount's gown designer, since "It Ain't No Sin" went into production—Mae West in black lace and tulle with velvet hat and muff trimmed with black bird-of-paradise.

A separate fur cape is a welcome addition to any wardrobe. You can wear it over your untrimmed spring coat, with silk suits and, if it's one of the longer types, as a summer evening wrap.

They are of various lengths from exaggerated collars to elbow length models. One style is made on a satin background ending in flatter-satin bows that tie under the chin.

Again let me tell you about those 59 cent first quality chiffon and semi-service weight stockings at Norton's. See 'em yourself and you'll know what all the talk's about.

BELIEVE NUN KILLED IN CONVENT BLAZE

St. Gregoire, Quebec, April 13 — (AP)—Firemen today searched the smoking ruins of the convent of the Sisters of St. Joseph de St. Valier for the body of Sister Saint Charles, believed to have perished in the fire which swept the convent shortly after midnight.

The fire, brought under control after more than six hours destroyed the convent, the nun's residence and three other buildings. Damage was estimated at $50,000.

Sister Saint Charles, a cook at the convent, was reported missing when a checkup was made during the height of the fire which started in the furnace room of the three-story brick convent.

OPEN FORUM

THE LEGION'S STAND

Editor of The Herald:

The American Legion having been taken to task quite severely since the Congress saw fit to over-ride the President's veto of the Independent Offices Bill, it behooves me as a local post officer and also a member of the state department executive committee to give to the people of these parts which are served by your most valuable paper, the Legion's side of the story, and we are sure that it is the true side.

First of all, the "Bonus" so called. The propaganda used far and wide by the National Economy League has no connection with this matter whatsoever. The bonus was not even mentioned in the bill that was finally adopted. And furthermore the Legion in its last convention in Chicago voted down all resolutions that would have called for the present payment of the bonus or to be more explicit, the Adjusted Service Certificates.

Next, this bill did not restore any of those numerous disabilities, classified as not connected with the service, which were cut off by the Economy Act last year nor did the Legion ask to have them restored. Therefore, that large saving remains exactly where it stood.

As to "raising the Treasury," or "unbalancing the budget" the bill provides less than $50,000,000 in payments to disabled World War veterans, of which a small percentage we are forced to admit are members of the American Legion.

And most of this sum mentioned above the President himself had already approved. David Lawrence, an impartial observer, puts the difference between Congress and the President, as to World War veterans, at only $20,000,000. The largest part of the appropriation was to restore pay cuts to Federal employees and Spanish War veterans, but even there the total difference between Congress and the President was comparatively small.

Just what did the bill provide for World War veterans? First, it restored to concededly "service-connected" cases the cuts which had been made in their compensation as a temporary measure of economy last year. The President himself had favored their restoration as soon as practicable. Therefore the difference was not one of principle nor of amount but simply of time. With wages and costs increasing, the disabled veteran had to pay the same for his living as you and I, so the Congress thought the time had arrived. But evidently the National Economy League thought different.

Discussion has chiefly centered about the second class, namely that especially pathetic group known as "presumptives." There are but 29,000 of them and the number is fast shrinking by death. "Presumptives" are in fact service-connected as it is vitally important to note three things about them. First, they must have been broken down before 1925. Next, the breakdown must have been a very grave one, such as in mind, lungs, or heart. Finally, up to 1933 they were rated as actually service-connected, albeit by presumption, and most had held that honorable status for ten years. Then, when their lives had become adjusted on that basis, they were deprived of it by a stroke of the pen. In the opinion of the Legion this was most unjust and therefore they sought to have these claims restored as a matter of national obligation.

The Legion also felt that the burden of proof in this presumptive group should be on the government, and this also was approved by the passage of this bill. In fact, all the "presumptives" are sure of going back on the pension rolls. If the government can prove that their disabilities are not service-connected they are "out."

And again, all the propaganda notwithstanding, this bill does not provide a pension for non-service-connected disabilities.

So you see Mr. Average Citizen the American Legion is not the "Wolf at the White House door," but an organization living up to its preamble which is in part: "To make right the master's might," and to protect the interest of our disabled comrades.

And in conclusion might I say in answer to N. B. L. that the American Legion does and will as long as it is found necessary to maintain a paid representative in Washington to combat the untruths and unfair propaganda of our critics. We believe this to be honest and fair procedure, and we will not resort to the use of the House of God, especially on Easter Sunday morning to release a broadside of unfair criticism from St. Peter to the City of New York by men who are supposed to preach the word of God, especially in this most sacred church day when the subject of the "American Legion lobby in Washington" was given preference over the timely subject of "The Resurrection of Our Savior."

Yours truly,
VICTOR W. BRONKKE,
Department Executive Committee-man, The American Legion,

4,000 EMPLOYEES STRIKE OVER A LUNCH PERIOD
Lawistown, Pa., April 13.—(AP)—Pickets turned back day workers at the Viscose Company today as the "lunch period" strike spread through the entire force of more than 4,000 employees.

Less than 400 office and laboratory workers were reported on duty.

A crowd estimated at 1,500 milled about the plant entrances.

The dispute, centering on the length of the lunch period, started yesterday as 88 soda department employees refused to go to work. The department's functions, first step in the manufacture of artificial silk, forced the employees to take 30-minute lunch period in sequence, they said, other workers sharing the duties of the absentees. Extension of the working period for the department from three to five and one-quarter hours was given as the cause of the walkout.

Windows of a bus bringing employees to work were broken as the driver attempted to pass through picket lines.

Approximately 40 per cent of the day workers are women and girls and most of these did not know of the strike until they reported for work today.

Neither company nor union officials could be reached immediately for a statement.

TO VOTE TUESDAY ON SILVER BILL

Speaker Rainey to Hold Conference With Silver Advocates Later in Day.

Washington, April 13.—(AP)—The House banking committee agreed today to take a final vote Tuesday on the Goldborough Federal monetary authority bill with its silver remonetization amendment.

Earlier Speaker Rainey told reporters he thought silver legislation would get through. He planned a statement later.

He did not elaborate on his forecast, but arranged for a conference with two leading House advocates of silver legislation—Representative Dies (D., Tex.), and Fleisinger (D., Ohio)—before approving his statement.

Dies was the author of the silver bill passed by the House under which the Treasury would pay a premium above the world price for silver shipped into this country in payment for exported agricultural surpluses.

Would Restore Prices. Fleisinger advocated treasury purchases of as much as 1,500,000 ounces of silver in an effort to restore commodity prices to the 1928 levels.

A House move has been under way for some time to combine both the Dies and Fleisinger plans into one measure.

TROUT FISHING BEGINS SUNDAY Two New Streams Leased by State—Pond Fishing Also Starts Sunday.

Hartford, April 13.—Connecticut's trout fishing season opens next Sunday with the largest number of State-leased streams available since the State launched its program to provide not only the fish but places where its citizens could angle for them.

In addition to the State-leased streams, the Board estimates approximately 350 other streams will be open to anglers. These are streams not under lease but which have been stocked with a portion of the more than 500,000 trout annually propagated at the State Fish Hatcheries.

The State laws limit catches to 15 trout or not more than 10 pounds per day. All trout under six inches in length must be returned to the water.

The trout fishing season continues from April 15 until July 14 inclusive but the season on black and calico bass remains closed until July first.

BILL TO PAY OFF BANK DEPOSITORS REPORTED

Enough Signatures to Petition to Force House Action on McLeod Measure. Washington, April 13.—(AP)—The list of signatures on a petition to force House action on the McLeod bill to pay off depositors in closed banks reached the required 145 today when Representative Slovich, (D., N. Y.) signed the request.

A Parliamentary question immediately arose over the effect of the development, since the House Banking Committee reported a bill yesterday which bore McLeod's name, but the text had been stricken out and the provisions of the measure introduced by Representative Brown, (D., Mich.) substituted.

Parliamentarians expressed the opinion yesterday the committee action had the effect of nullifying the petition. Representative McLeod, (R., Mich.) author of the bill, and other advocates, however, contended the committee did not report the bill asked for in the petition.

Speaker Rainey has expressed the opinion that if the bill reported bears the same number as that called for in the petition the 145 signatures have no effect.

McLeod was undetermined whether he would ask for a ruling on the status of his bill immediately.

FIFTY U. S. FLIERS OFF FOR COLOMBIA

Deny They Will Fight if War Is Declared—To Get $500 a Month.

New York, April 13.—(AP)—A group of fifty American aviators—pilots and mechanics—sailed for Colombia today to enter the Colombian Air Service.

They said they had signed contracts with the Colombian government to remain in service for six months to $500 a month, the contracts to be voided in the event Colombia becomes engaged in any war.

One of the aviators, L. L. ("Sammy") Trunk, a commercial pilot, explained the matter of contracts. "We are going down merely to teach the Colombians how to fly," he said. "We are not going to participate in any war."

He scoffed at widely circulated reports that the contracts called for a bonus for each "enemy" plane brought to earth.

Balchen Not Found

The name of Bert Balchen, hero of the Byrd South Pole flight, appeared on the passenger list but he could not be located aboard the vessel, the liner Colombia of the Colombian line.

There was considerable conflict over Balchen's place in the group, and even his identity.

Several of the men declared Balchen was leader of the fliers. A mechanic, who wished his name withheld, said that the Balchen on the passenger list was another Balchen and was coming along as a mechanic.

Although he could not be found for questioning, officials of the line said his passage had not been cancelled. Questioning of the pilots brought replies that he had gone on board.

In Recent Crash

Another of the contract aviators was Joseph H. Rothrock, who was one of the three army fliers who crashed off rocky beach in the dead of last winter with the loss of one of the men.

Seeing Rothrock off was his companion and the other survivor of the crash, Lieutenant William S. Pock, who is still in the Army Air Corps, and Captain Charles A. Fursley, commanding officer of the 92d Observation Squadron at Mitchell Field.

The rescue of Rothrock and Pock from the icy waters of the ocean, after five hours drifting in sight of rescuers, was one of the dramatic incidents of the start of the Army air mail flights. The three men were enroute to report for air mail duty.

Rothrock resigned his commission to go to Colombia, as did a score or so of other former Army fliers who were in the group.

Most of the men were extremely reticent about their plans. Several merely shrugged when advised of the State Department's announcement today voicing disapproval of American citizens "taking service in the armed forces of any foreign government."

"That's too bad," remarked another former officer when advised that their action would result in a fine.

Many of the men were accompanied by their wives, although a majority appeared to be traveling alone.

The scene at the dock had a resemblance, on a minor scale, to war sailings of troop ships, with tears and farewells mingling with cheerful shouts.

Overnight A. P. News

Boston—Ice patrol doubled as unusual number of bergs drift down on steamship lanes. Coast Guard orders shipping lanes moved sixty miles southward as bergs near the Grand Banks.

OUTLOOK BRIGHTER FOR OSSIFIED BOY

Neighbors Report Seeing Him Playing Near Home After Leaving Hospital.

New York, April 13.—(AP)—Life looked brighter today for three of four children suffering from rare diseases, but for one of them, at least, the respite was only temporary.

Seven year old Benny Hendrick, whose muscles are slowly turning to stone, was back home near Wilkesbarre, Pa., and neighbors said they saw him playing yesterday in the rain.

Benny spent six weeks in a hospital. Of three little four year old girls suffering from leukemia, a condition that results in elimination of the red corpuscles from the blood stream, Roma Garrett at an East View, N. Y., hospital had a fine day yesterday.

If she hoped she would get well, however, she was doomed to disappointment, physicians said. The lethargy which results from the disease was very akin to death Monday when a blood transfusion was given. Roma rallied.

Hope Abandoned

The blood transfusion was not given as a treatment physicians said. It was given when hope had been abandoned and only to keep the child alive a little longer. She will tire a little earlier today, even earlier tomorrow, the doctors said. And there will come the time when even blood transfusions will not rouse her.

There was not much change in the condition of the other two little girls.

Willie Mae Miller at her home in Tennessee, still plays with her dolls.

TROUT ANGLERS URGED TO PROTECT STREAMS

Water Company Officials Say Trespassing On Watersheds Will Not Be Tolerated.

With the trout fishing season well under way and with the more ardent pursuers of the finny species seeking new streams to conquer, there comes the annual temptation to invade the forbidden areas of reservoir watersheds of the water supply utilities. To try their fishermen's luck in the many streams which empty into the supply basin, water company officials state, however, that invasion of the watersheds by fishermen or any other trespassers, cannot and will not be tolerated.

This attitude on the part of the companies is by no means an indication that they desire to deprive the sportsman of his pleasure. Were it possible, the companies would be glad to open up all of their streams and brooks for the benefit of all anglers. Sanitary reasons, however, make it impossible to do this. Any and all possible chances of water pollution must be avoided in order to protect the public health and this would not be possible were trout fishers or others permitted to roam at will on the watersheds.

Company officials further point out that many streams, although many miles distant from a reservoir, after winding their courses eventually empty into a public water supply. For this reason, they urge that fishermen, picnickers and motoring parties avoid dumping refuse into any stream or any other action which might tend toward pollution. Filtration or chlorination are used to protect most of the reservoir water before it is distributed for consumption, but, if pollution of contributory streams can be avoided, it serves to increase the safety of the supply.

ANOTHER RARE DISEASE

Chicago, April 13.—(AP)—Physicians at the Cook county children's hospital are fighting to save 14-year-old Genevieve Lisa from a rare disease which is causing her skin to mummify.

Already the tissue beneath the skin of her face has virtually disappeared and the skin is drawn taut across the bones.

Scientists call the ailment from which Genevieve has been suffering since she was a year old, scleroderma with calcinosis.

G O P SECRETARY DIES

New Haven, April 13.—(AP)—William C. von der Brake, financial secretary of the New Haven Republican club died from pneumonia today in St. Raphael's hospital. He was 53 years old.

For the last ten years he had been Republican deputy registrar of voters in the 22nd ward.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Charles van der Brake, two children and his mother.

STATE BARBERS WARNED

Hartford, April 13.—(AP)—When barber shops are closed on holidays because of the provisions of the state law, barbers may no longer spend the supposed holidays in beauty parlors, cutting hair and otherwise learning the fine points of the business. The state commissioners of hairdressers and cosmeticians today decreed that such practices must cease as a result of many complaints received of late.

The ROMANTIC RUNAWAY

by KATHARINE HAVILAND-TAYLOR

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JABLITO, a handsome youth, becomes a fugitive when he flees from Key West to Havana with BEAU and LOTTIE, two thieves. Jablito has been accused of a murder he did not commit. MABELA TREADWAY who could prove him innocent fears scandal and remains silent.

Jablito is in love with ESTELLE FIELD, daughter of rich JIM FIELD, in Havana, under the name "Juanito." He becomes celebrated as a boxer and he and Beau open a gymnasium.

NSIR AUBREY, a titled Englishman and Jablito's father, begins a search for his son, employing BILLINGS, New York detective. Billings, convinced Jablito is Sir Aubrey's son and the cause of the charge against him, sets to work to prove this.

Three years pass and Jablito sees Estelle again. They meet secretly until her father takes her away on a yacht cruise. Among the guests on the cruise is ALEC DAVIDS, who wants to marry Estelle for her money.

Months later Jablito reads an unfounded report that Estelle is engaged to David. He leaves Cuba without saying where he is going.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXVIII

Two years later the engagement of Estelle Field and Alec Davids was announced. "I suppose we might as well try it, Alec," Estelle had finally conceded.

Alec said ironically and with a glint in his eyes that would have told her much had she been wise enough to read it, "I am very eager to try it."

"This last fare of father's has ended the possibility of my staying with him," Estelle confided in an undertone. Alec drewled, "I don't blame you. Dancers are such an old story. It's really ungrateful of him to show such taste."

She was hurt by that, but she was accustomed now to being hurt. Probably, Estelle had decided, no one would ever quite understand her well enough to say the right thing at the right time. And no doubt, as her father said, she was very demanding. "Demand a little more of yourself," Jim Field had advised her again and again, "and less of other people. You'll find the results more satisfactory."

Without doubt, she decided, she was a square peg in a round hole and destined to remain one. She had found no pleasure in her new friends or in sharing their activities. She had only found a little of the forgetfulness she was constantly seeking in a rather feverish and youthful way.

"Everyone in the regiment is out of step but you, Estelle," her father often said and the chant had told. She was "odd," she decided. A misfit. In such a case the only thing to do was to pretend to be like the others.

So Estelle played a little too hard, spoke the new language that she had learned, and scolded herself soundly for the moments of hopelessness that swept her when she was alone or for an instant quiet.

"I'm going to try to make you happy, Alec," she promised the day she agreed to marry him. He kissed her then with a fervor too ardent for her comfort. Alec was determined now to "show her who was master."

"You'd better!" he assured her. She did not like that either.

"What's the matter now?" he asked a little roughly, attempting to find the reason for the sudden change in her eyes.

"Something's always the matter with me," she answered honestly. "You should know that by now, Alec. I think I was born on a cloudy night when my star could be seen only dimly and through a haze. I'm always groping, never sure and never quite warm or happy."

"Oh, rot!" he broke out, wearied. "I believe you enjoy these Russian moods. Sometimes — to speak frankly, Estelle — I've felt a good deal of sympathy for your father. You haven't made his life very easy."

Tears brimmed in her eyes at that, although she was now far beyond the stage where tears come easily and can wash away a hurt. She had tried to forget all her father's cruelties, had resolved that as long as she stayed with him it was better to maintain some sort of peace. Her efforts, however, had not accomplished much except to provide an open gate through which her father could shout his disapproval. Trying never seemed to get one much except more hurt, Estelle reflected. Life was far from the simple thing she had supposed it to be in the old days when she wandered about the garden of the convent school in Paris. There she had dreamed mistily of growing up and falling in love with some fine man, of marrying him and living happily — as in the fairy tales — forever after.

Now she was sure about very little. Especially was she uncertain about marrying Alec, yet she knew that she must get away from her father who of late months seemed to be clutching with desperate, blunt fingers such joys as he could comprehend.

"Don't take everything so seriously," Marcia advised Estelle when they met one morning at a musicale. Estelle was looking white, strained and rather nervous. "Really not worth it, you know. Men are men and we can't change them. We can only pretend to be sweetly unaware. But then you've always been an incorrigible idealist just as your mother was. You know what I'd like to be!"

Estelle agreed to that.

"Play hard, expect nothing and take everything! I've told you that before but you wouldn't listen to me," Marcia went on. "You'll have to do it some day. We all have to — unless we die young!"

"I'm beginning to believe you," Estelle responded. "If that is any satisfaction to you."

"Rather bitter mood you're in today, isn't it?" Marcia drawled. "But never mind! Some day you'll grow up and when you do you'll realize nothing is really important but your own comfort and your bank balance. Then you won't be bitter any longer. You'll find it all rather amusing."

She left Estelle soon afterward, smiling faintly and nodding goodby. Marcia thought, "Poor Jim! In spite of the fact that he's a rotter he has his troubles. Imagine having someone around who expects you to be a Sir Galahad — even at breakfast!"

Marcia returned to her home for the privilege of eating her lunch on in solitude. It was a little more than three years since her departure from Cuba on the Fields' yacht cruise. Music always stirred her more than she cared to admit and today she wanted a chance to recover her usual aloof composure before meeting any of her acquaintances.

Music made her dream of so much that could never be for her. Sometimes for weeks she kept away from any spot where she would hear good music. Then her hunger for it would assert itself and she would succumb — to be rewarded with enchanting, misty pictures that never failed to bring with them an ache of melancholy and unrest.

That morning throughout the program she had thought constantly of Jablito, the boy who had disappeared. She had almost preferred herself recently that finding Jablito was an impossibility and that she might as well give up the search. This morning, through the music, the memory of Jablito had gripped her once more, renewing her feeling of responsibility for him.

"Oh, damn!" Marcia said sharply as she rode homeward.

In the small sitting room that adjoined her bedroom she settled and spoke impatiently to her maid. She ordered luncheon in a pettily sharp voice and then glanced through the letters on her desk. None of them were of consequence. Marcia picked up a newspaper next. A headline on the first page made her eyes narrow.

"Rather dramatic!" she murmured. Then she smiled, reflecting that here was another dreamy idealist who would be a match for Estelle Field — this man who for years had shouldered his wife's guilt.

The headline read: "Death Bed Confession of Norris Noyes' Wife Resurrects Old Case."

Marcia red the words in smaller type and then the long column that followed. Afterward she read it all over again more carefully. When she had finished the second reading she sprang up and hurried to the telephone.

She jerked open the carved door of the cabinet so viciously that a hinge loosened.

"Damn it!" Marcia exclaimed. Then she said, "Rhinelander!"

She was breathless from impatience and haste by this time. She had to repeat the number and then there was a wait that seemed like hours instead of seconds. Marcia fumed about the "incompetent service" as she waited.

At last she heard a cool, artificially modulated voice saying, "The Hume Detective Agency."

"This is Miss Treadway speaking — Miss Treadway," she began, still a little breathlessly.

A BOOK A DAY

BY BRUCE CATTON

A WANDERER COMES HOME

"Saunders Oak" is Tale of a Rover's Love for the Soil

By BRUCE CATTON

A rather murky mysticism and a very real and deep feeling for the living earth give "Saunders Oak," the latest in the "Hume Detective Agency" series, a distinctive atmosphere — a blend of ecstasy and eerie dread that makes the book, for all its faults, one that you are likely to remember.

This novel tells how lusty Ed Saunders, the last of his line, returns after two decades of wild and fruitless wandering to the New England farm of his ancestors.

His farm is to be a haven for him. Having roamed afar, he wants, now, a home, wants to take root in the friendly soil and claim his heritage among the green hills. But life is so complicated that the task isn't easy.

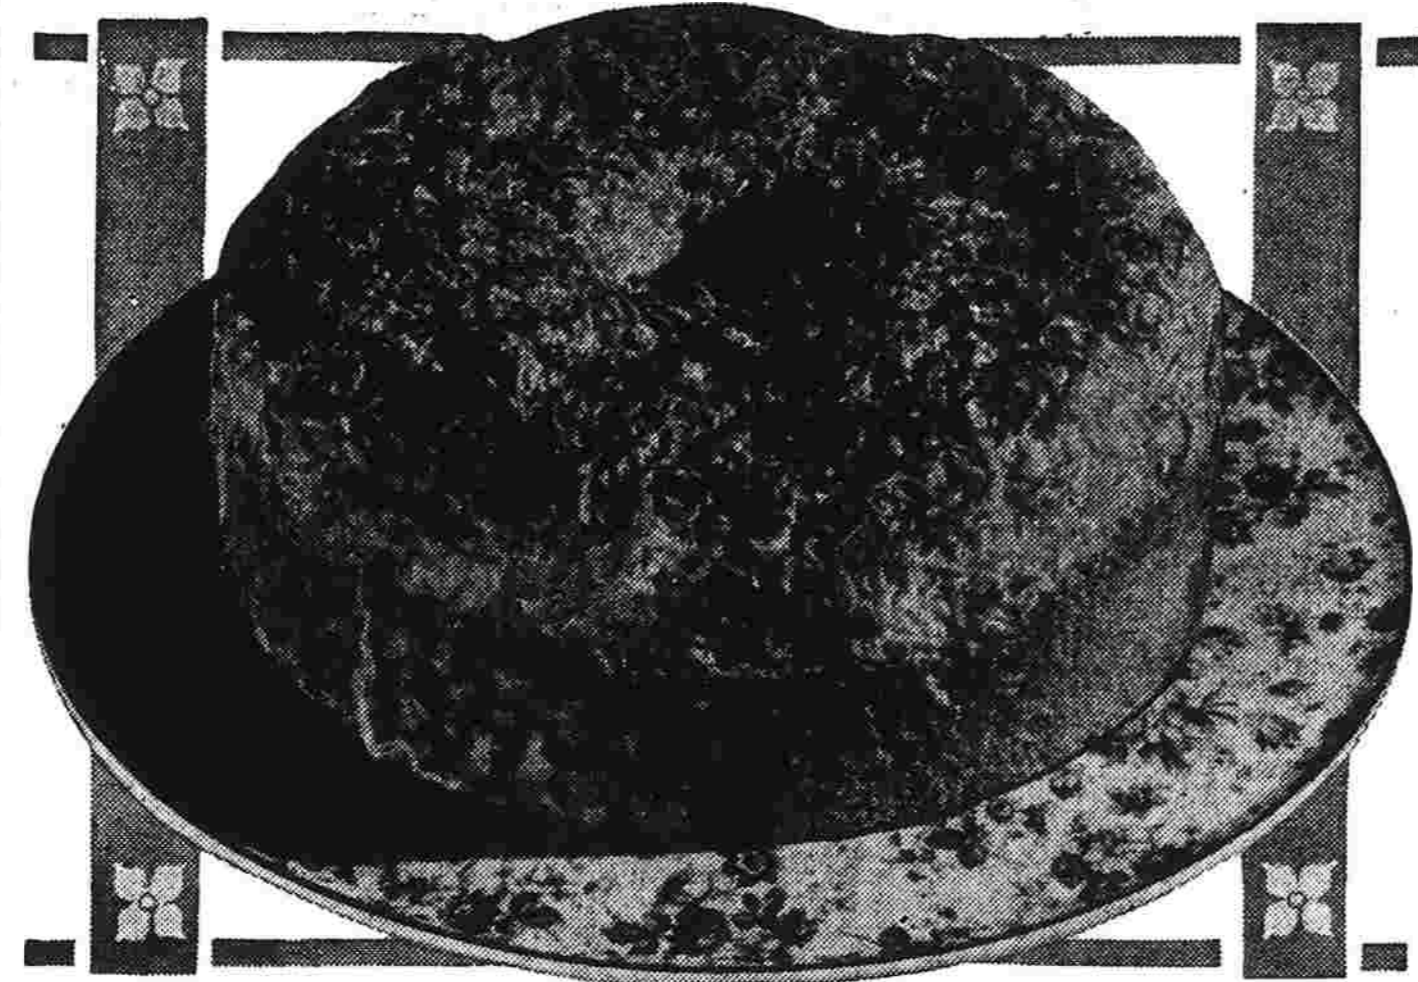

Adjusting his land is the farm home of Levinia, the sweetheart of his youth, now an aging, frustrated and embittered housewife. And to Ed Saunders' farm comes Opal, the outcast woman who would not let him bury his wild past. For a third complication there is Edith, Levinia's daughter, who tramps the hills at night, writes impassioned verse and sleeps herself in a vague and shadowy mysticism.

With these three women the man's life is now entwined; and to the working out of his plot Mr. Raynolds brings a certain dark power — a feeling of dread, a sense of mystery, an awareness of beauty, ably interpreted.

The one trouble is that the feeling of reality is missing. You never quite feel that you are reading about flesh-and-blood people.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

Children want to like their teacher. Some one must take mother's place during the day and they naturally look to her.

How greedily they drink in every word of personal kindness. A pat on the shoulder is remembered for days—perhaps forever. They are hungry for her approbation and praise and except in very few cases, try to please her.

Yet taking the teaching profession by and large—any cross section I have seen—there are as many different types of personalities as there are in any other business, trade or profession in the world—and there will be some who are not temperamentally fitted for teaching, regardless of how many degrees they have.

I have seen teachers removed from positions who were more than qualified to hold them, to make room for younger women with more letters behind their names. Women who not only loved children, but who were born to understand the individual characteristics of each little struggler under their hands. They were married and this was the reason for removal. In some cases these married women were supporting jobless husbands or whole families. And single girls with no particular reason except that of a career have been put in their places.

Now it makes no difference to me personally about this state of affairs. In many cases the teacher removed should have been, and the young energetic girl who took her place is indeed more perfectly fitted for the work.

What I believe needs emphasizing, however, is the selection of teachers who are akin to childhood and who have an understanding and sympathy (in its true sense) for the child. In such a case it is best, I think, not to make matters worse by siding with the child when he calls her "Old This or That." Your heart may ache for him and you feel like adding a few choice adjectives of your own.

If there is any injustice too drastic, a little quiet conversation with the teacher herself may help. If there is no real trouble, but just a feeling of irritation and dislike on the child's part, it might be advisable to say, "I understand, dear, and I am sorry. But that is the way it is sometimes. Daddy works for a man who doesn't quite understand how hard he works and how he tries to please. I used to be in a store (or wherever it was) where the head was hard to please. We all get discouraged. Try to do your best and be patient. Some day it will change and you will be in another room."

Sometimes it is good for children to have the experience of people not "understanding" or liking them. There is home to balance it. And besides it is typical of life.

The child may be to blame. Do not judge any teacher too harshly. Teaching is hard work, very. Don't jump to conclusions. A little investigating, a little oil on the waters will do wonders in most cases.

Yes—Ellen's problem is right. And your gay little wool crepe frock is right also — the pink sleeves, collar, and pockets are adorable.

This number's the right answer for the school girl's everyday frock problem, and you may choose plaid suiting, velveteen or gingham to make it. The design is in five sizes: 8, 10, 12, 14 and 16. Size 12 requires 3 1/2 yards of 36 inch material plus 1 1/2 yard contrast for the collar, belt and sleeves. With long sleeves, the dress requires 2 7/8 yards.

OLD TIME RECIPES USE WINE SAUCES

"The proof of the pudding" may lie in the eating as we've been told these hundred years, but there's no gainsaying that a "spiced" sauce adds much to the life of the party.

Wine sauces are many and numerous, hot and cold, elaborate and simple. You can always add as many tablespoonsful of sherry or brandy or rum or what-have-you to a plain liquid sauce and have something else again if you want just a plain sauce for a rich steamed pudding. Or you may want to use some of the best recipes that our mothers and grandmothers worked out and found good.

White Wine Sauce
This sauce can be served hot or cold.

Two eggs, 1 teaspoon flour, 2 slices lemon, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 cup white wine.

Mix sugar, butter and boiling water and cook over hot water until thoroughly dissolved. When ready to serve add wine and whites of eggs beaten to a stiff froth.

Foamy Wine Sauce
One cup sugar, 2 tablespoons butter, 1-2 cup boiling water, 4 tablespoons wine, whites 2 eggs.

Any wine you prefer can be used in this sauce.

Mix sugar, butter and boiling water and cook over hot water until thoroughly dissolved. When ready to serve add wine and whites of eggs beaten to a stiff froth.

Wine Custard Sauce
One and three-fourths cups sugar, 3-4 cup butter, 2 eggs, 3-4 cup wine.

Cream butter and sugar and beat in eggs well beaten. Stir in wine and cook over hot water until perfectly smooth. Be careful not to let the sauce boil.

Wine Sauce
One-fourth cup butter, 3-4 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons milk, 2 tablespoons sherry.

Cream butter and sugar. Slowly beat in milk and wine. Do not let this sauce chill before serving. Keep it at room temperature.

Brandy Sauce
One cup sugar, 1-4 cup butter, 2 tablespoons brandy, 2 eggs, 1-2 cup cream.

Cream butter and sugar and slowly add brandy. Add yolks of eggs well beaten and cream. Cook over hot water until thickened, like custard. Pour on whites of eggs beaten until stiff.

Lemon Sauce
One cup water, 1-2 cup sherry, 1 lemon, yolks 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 3 tablespoons sugar.

Grate yellow rind from lemon, being very careful not to get a bit of the white. Squeeze and strain juice. Melt butter, stir in flour and cook until bubbling without browning. Add water and stir until it boils. Add sugar and lemon juice. Mix yolks of eggs with sherry. Let sauce cool slightly, then add sherry mixture and stir until the sauce thickens and serves.

Marmalade Sauce
This sauce is so quickly and easily made and so good with a rice pudding that I'm sure you will use it often.

One cup water, 3-4 cup sherry, 2 tablespoons marmalade, 1 dessertspoon sugar or sugar to taste, 1 teaspoon lemon juice.

Put water and marmalade into a sauce pan and stir over a low fire until it boils. Add sugar, lemon juice and sherry and stir until sugar is dissolved. Serve warm.

Apricot Sauce
This is another economical and easily made and is so good with a dried apricot if apricot jam is not at hand. Stew dried apricots as usual and rub through a colander. Sweeten 1-2 cup of the puree with 1-3 cup sugar.

One-half cup apricot jam, 2 cups water, 1-3 cup sherry, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon cornstarch.

Put water, sugar and jam into a sauce pan and bring to the boiling point. Mix sherry and cornstarch to a smooth paste and pour into first mixture. Cook and stir until it thickens and serves.

Chocolate Sauce
One and one-half cups milk, 1-2 cup sugar, 3 squares bitter chocolate, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, 2 tablespoons brandy, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Grate chocolate. Put milk, sugar and chocolate in sauce pan and cook and stir until chocolate is melted and mixture boils. Mix cornstarch to a smooth paste with a little cold milk and add to chocolate mixture. Cook and stir for five minutes. Strain if not perfectly smooth, add brandy and vanilla and serve.

New summer dance dresses and short sleeved daytime frocks won't flatter a girl unless she has soft white arms and elbows that are as smooth as rose petals. Any woman who wishes to achieve arm and elbow perfection should devote at least fifteen minutes each day to them.

First, use a brush and plenty of soap on your arms, particularly the elbows, when you take your daily bath. If discolorations persist, resort to a piece of pumice for the elbows. Don't rub too hard or long enough to injure the skin and be sure to apply a soothing body or hand lotion directly afterward.

As a matter of fact, rubbing lotion on the wrists on up to the shoulders each time you put it on

RIPTIDE "WHEN A WOMAN LOVES"

ADAPTED BY LUCY HUFFAKER FROM THE SCREEN PLAY BY LEONARD GREENBERG A M-L-T-O-GOLDWYN-MAVER PICTURE

CHAPTER XI FOREWORD

Tommy is not his usual reckless self at the house party. One night he comes on Mary and recognizes her despair. He is so gentle that scarcely realizing it, she is in his arms. The Hall catches fire and when the alarm is given, Tommy is discovered in her room. Lord Rexford sends Mary a penitential wire, asking her to join him in St. Moritz and she goes at once.

Mary had meant it when she had told Tommy she was going to put a definite finish to everything between her and Philip. She was going to tell him the truth — that what he had believed when it was not so, was now a fact. She cared for him too much to deceive him. It would hurt him—but it was better to have the wound now, a quick, decisive one, than later.

She scarcely spoke to Celeste on the long trip. All her thought, all her being was intent on what she must say to Philip. There would be no hesitation. As soon as they were alone, before he could weaken her resolution, she would tell him everything. Then they would separate—this time, it would be forever.

Her heart faltered when she saw him standing on the station, eyes fixed, when her train pulled in. He looked so expectant, so happy. But she steeled herself against that look. She wished they could have met somewhere else. The first vacation they had ever had together had been in St. Moritz. They had laughingly called it their second honeymoon. He had engaged the same suite at the hotel. He kept recalling tender and amusing things which had happened as they drove away from the station.

"I came at once," Mary said, "because I have something to say to you that I couldn't write—that because it can become agonizing — and then the moment when it is really leaving you, you die inside. I know, Mary, because I felt myself dying. I can't go on without you."

"Philip," she said, "you are making it so difficult for me. I am not worthy—"

"You are. It is I who am unworthy. You have been truthful, honest in every way. I doubted you. But I do so so more. I trust you, as I love you, and that is world without end. Please, oh please, my beloved, forgive me."

There was a noise in the adjoining room. It was welcome interruption to Mary. She went swiftly to the door. Celeste, almost in hysterics stood there. She said she was looking for some aspirin in Lady Rexford's bag. The altitude always affected her badly—she had not been able to sleep. Mary went into the room with her, to soothe her. Celeste closed the door and was instantly herself.

"Get to the telephone," she said in a deep whisper. "I'm all right—I had to do something to get you in here without Lord Rexford's suspecting anything. It is Lady Riversleigh — she is so excited she can scarcely speak. She said she had to speak to you."

It was horrifying news that Aunt Fletty had for Mary. Tommy had been drinking since she left. It was in one of his half-insane moods. He insisted he was going to charter a plane and fly to St. Moritz. Neither she nor Erskine knew where he was. They would make every effort to keep him in London, but she felt Mary should be warned.

Mary leaned against the wall a moment for support. She must brace herself to face Philip, to make him listen to her. Then she must leave at once. If Tommy carried out his mad threat, she was nothing so terrible it might not happen. She must get Philip to leave, on some pretext. If those two men met now, there might be murder.

"Philip" he said sternly when she returned to him, "the last time we saw each other you said I'd failed you, our marriage. I hadn't—I swear by the love I have had for you—I hadn't, but—"

"Mary, I know it. I have told you that. Why must you torture us both by going back to that? Why I've been here alone, I've stood out on that balcony, I've spoken to you into the night—love telling me you'd hear it, wherever you were, and come to me. It is not only me to talk of my feelings—but last night, when I could not sleep, the hours seeming endless until you would be here, I wrote out all my heart. Here are words that haven't been able to say. Will you read it, Mary my own?"

He handed her some papers he had taken from his pocket. Then humbly, but also with a rare dignity, he turned away from her and walked to the balcony, looking out on the beautiful white landscape. She held the papers for a moment in shaking hands. Then slowly, as if it were written in some only half-known language, she read what Philip had written from his heart. When she had finished, she rose and went toward him. He turned and they faced each other.

"I didn't know!" she said. "Didn't know what?" "That you loved me like this. Oh what pity that things got so dark."

"We are leaving the darkness behind, Mary. We will be out in the radiant light if you say one thing, just one thing, to me. Tell me—do you love me?"

"Before God, I do," she said and her voice was that of one taking a vow before the high altar.

She had, indeed, made a vow. She would be a cowardly, a wicked thing to tell Philip the truth. They loved each other. They belonged to each other. She would do anything in the world for him — she would lie if necessary. The one thing she would not do—would never do—was to kill the ecstasy in his heart.

The East Sides came back last night to snatch a breath-taking victory from the Collegians in the second encounter of the junior championship of the Recreation Centers.

Both teams missed many shots in anxiety to score and with Harburda playing the best game of his career to spur his teammates.

The final period saw both teams fighting tooth and nail and with the East Sides leading 22-18 at the end of the game.

In the preliminary game the Colts tangled with the All-Hartfords in a rough game, winning 20-25.

GETZEWICH ON MAT CARD AT ELM CITY

Wrestles Blackstock at New Haven; Usher in New Era in Grappling Game.

New Haven, April 13.—A new era in clean, scientific wrestling will be ushered in when Promoter Sam Siegel presents his next card at the Arena on Tuesday night, April 17.

Siegel, confident that the public is about fed up on so-called "bad men" of the mat, is determined to purge his shows of this calibre of matting.

Coleman and Dusek are bound to oblige with a fast, thrilling contest mostly free from rough-and-tumble carnal grappling.

In one of the time limit matches, Al Getzewich of Manchester, Conn., former mill hand who has found fame on the wrestling mat, will clash with Marshall "Bulldog" Blackstock, Southern star.

Local Sport Chatter

The Manchester Rec soccer team will travel to Waterbury Sunday to play a league game there.

The West Side Boys Club will hold an important meeting at the West Side Rec this evening at 6:30 o'clock.

Contrary to reports, Prosper DesLauris, manager of the Bluefields, states that the Blues will play the same lineup this year as last.

A soccer game scheduled between the Olympic Juniors and the Colts of the High school is being called off, due to the High school's inability to muster a starting lineup as several players are on the sick list.

Besides seeking records in the three events mentioned in a story on this page today, Joe McCluskey will attempt to set new standards for three miles and 5,000 meters it was announced today by the A. A. T. He has asked the times to be clocked at 900 meters, 2 1/2, 2 1/2, and three miles and 5,000 meters in that order.

The Olympics soccer team, winners of the state league junior title for last season, will meet the Portuguese Juniors at Victory Field in Hartford at 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Chicago, April 13.—(AP)—Chicago hockey fans, in the midst of a celebration over the victory of their blackhawks in the Stanley Cup battle, today read reports that Tommy Gorman, manager of the team for the last two years, would and would not be back at the helm next season.

Gorman, who departs for Ottawa, today to confer about his approaching duties as Secretary of the Quebec Racing Association, said his plans for next year were unsettled. He denied rumors that he would be replaced as manager, but in the same breath pointed out that his affairs were contingent upon the racing association, which gave him a two years absence to teach hockey to the Hawks.

JOE MCCLUSKEY TO MAKE A BID FOR THREE WORLD STANDARDS

Thinks Ross Has Bitten Off More'n He Can Chew

Fuller. Then there was a long lay-off before anyone could get him near a ring.

Ross is to be commended for his enterprise. The lightweight champion has been one of the most active men in the ring since he won his title, although he has preferred to defend his synthetic junior lightweight honors more often than his light crown.

But we think he's stepping way out of bounds in taking on Shamus. The baby-faced one does not little Jimmy. McLarin will probably come in at 147, the class weight limit, as against Barney's 140.

They figure six weeks will be too short a time for the Irishman to round into shape after a layoff of a year.

But take a look at the records: Jimmy had only three fights in 1932, one of which he lost to Lou Brouillard, and two knockouts wins over Benny Leonard and Sammy Ross.

CREW OUTLOOK AT PENN MAKES COACH MOURNFUL

Four Factors Contribute to Gloom of Mentor; 200 Candidates Turn Out for First Practice; To Open Season With Regatta May 5.

Philadelphia, April 13.—(AP)—Unseasonable weather, poor practice facilities, lack of weight and loss of potential varsity material has Coach Rusty Callow confiding mournfully in his battered megaphone these days that Pennsylvania's crew outlook for 1934 isn't exactly what he'd like it to be.

Perhaps the toughest break was in learning that James Magee powerful 1933 freshman had left school to prepare for West Point entrance this fall. In addition there is the temporary loss of Bob Sewell, who was rowing number three in the varsity boatload until he pulled a stomach muscle a few days ago.

On the other hand 200 candidates turned out in answer to the coach's call this morning, and that group Callow shouldn't have a lot of difficulty making up his eight. Ice and high water on the Schuylkill kept the squad confined on the indoor machines five weeks longer than they anticipated this spring.

The Blackwell Cup regatta May 5 on the Harlem, a three cornered affair Columbia and Yale opens the season. A week later on Lake Carnegie, Princeton is host to Pennsylvania. A week after that Rutgers and Manhattan invade the schuylkill for another triangular meet.

BRITISH GOLF CROWN IS GOAL OF DUNLAP

New York, April 13.—(AP)—George T. Dunlap Jr., is not given to making predictions, but the U. S. Amateur golf champion said today he feels "especially keen about the British Amateur crown, a title that has been won by only two Americans—Jess Sweetser in 1926 and Bobby Jones in 1930.

"I never forecast my chances before a tournament," the sandy-haired champion said. "There are some tournaments I know I should win, for instance the North and South Amateur at Pinehurst. Usually, however, I play the best I know how and let fate decide the rest."

Pointing out that William H. Canine, New Jersey sportsman and promoter of the $40,000 Hambletonian Stake at Goshen, N. Y., had enlisted the support of trotting officials and fans throughout the country in his capacity as "Czar," Mr. Harriman declared that proof of the work accomplished was the prospect of one-half months of racing and three additional cities on the 1934 schedule.

The Grand Circuit official schedule, as compiled by Mr. Harriman and Mr. Canine is as follows: Cleveland, June 23-July 7; Toledo, July 9-13; August 1-11; Goshen, N. Y., August 1-11; Springfield, Ill., August 20-22; Syracuse, N. Y., August 27-Sept. 7; Indianapolis, Sept. 3-7; Chicago, Sept. 10-15; Flint, Mich., Sept. 17-22; and Lexington, Ky., Sept. 24-29.

TRIES FOR MIDDLE DISTANCE RECORDS IN MEET TOMORROW

Noted Local Runner to Attempt to Lower Marks Set by Nurmi and Ritola; His 10th Start This Year.

Joe McCluskey, one of the leading middle distance runners in the United States, who has met only partial success in his gallant comeback attempt this year, is scheduled to return to action tomorrow night in the Women's National Indoor Track and Field championships at the 2nd Naval Battalion Army in Brooklyn. It will be his first start since March 17, when he placed second to Raymond Sears in the two-mile event in which Sears set a new American record for the distance and McCluskey turned in the fastest two miles of his career.

McCluskey has set himself a most difficult assignment, the former "Iron Duke" planning to assault the world records for 2 1/4 miles, 4,000 meters and 3 1/2 miles, held by that famous Finlander, Paavo Nurmi, and his almost equally famous running mate, Willie Ritola.

The Record Times Nurmi's mark for the 2 1/4 miles is 10:19 and his 4,000 meter standard is 11:30.8. The two mile record of Ritola is 11:45.8. Despite the fact that he has gained victory in only four of his nine starts this season, McCluskey has been traveling at a faster rate than ever before in his meteoric and brilliant career. In retaining his 3,000 meter steepchase title for the fifth consecutive year, he smashed the old mark to 9:20.0. He was deprived of a new record in the 5,000 meters distance when an error was made in measuring the laps but nevertheless his time was remarkably fast. In his last start, he went the two miles in close to 9:00.0. He has enough competition, the chances look bright that the Manchester luminary will succeed in his attempt or come mighty close to it.

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., April 13.—(AP)—Another round of upsets today had left Robert Lester of West Orange, N. J., and Daniel R. Topping of Greenwich, Conn., to fight it out for the Mason and Dixon golf championship today.

Lester attained his final bracket by conquering Robert A. Stranahan of Toledo, 5 and 4. Topping scored an easy triumph, eliminating Arthur Lynch of Mamaroneck, N. Y., 6 and 3.

LORD CURED ME
DECLARES NEGRO

Helpless With Paralysis He Steps from His Bed at Hospital and Walks

Memphis, Tenn., April 13.—(AP)—"I felt a tremblin' in my chest... I felt the power coming in. I got up out of bed. It is the work of the Lord... He raised me up."

This does Homer Moore, 20-year-old negro, describe the "miracle" that came to pass at Marine hospital a few days ago when he, apparently a hopeless victim of paralysis, stepped from his bed and walked.

Nurses and doctors pointed him out. They accept his case as one of the accidental phenomena in the symphony of science. Moore just says a "miracle" came to pass.

Since last I know he was still while working on the government street near Helena, Ark., Homer has been in bed, in the hospital here, or at Helena. Unable to move hands, feet or head, scarcely able to whisper, he was given water through a tube, fed mush and other soft foods with a spoon.

Begins To Fast
Praying constantly, he had other negroes pray for him a few days ago, he began fasting. Nurses could not force him to take nourishment.

Sunday, he sat up, placed his feet on the floor and walked. He talked plainly, asking for food and ate it. Now, he walks most of the time, waiting on other patients at the hospital.

"I read in the Bible that in the olden days God helped those Hebrew boys and I know He was powerful to help me, too," he said, simply. "He delivered them out of the fiery furnace and delivered Daniel from the lion's den. So I prayed. The Lord raised me up."

THINK BARROW'S GANG IS CAUGHT IN RAID

Hot Springs, Ark., April 13.—(AP)—Six men and four women were seized by police today in a raid on an apartment house and subsequent automobile chase.

Police were checking on the possibility one of the prisoners was Clyde Barrow, Texas desperado.

The apartment house raid resulted, police said, from a tip that Barrow and members of his gang were in hiding there.

Two men and a woman speeded away from the place as officers arrived. Four men and three women were arrested and other officers were called to give chase to the fleeing auto.

Later police arrested two men and a woman in the car on the Hot Springs-Malvern highway. The men gave their names as B. H. Thorne and Cliff Kell. The woman, believed by police to be the wife of the man who gave the name of Thorne, had a six months old baby.

Thorne had $300 in large bills and Kell had $100.

The names of the other prisoners were not given out immediately. A Federal agent was assisting police in the investigation.

OVER 3,000 STRIKE IN DETROIT PLANTS

the tool and die shops affected by the strike were 50 members of the Manufacturers' Association. Twelve members of the association and a number not affiliated with it had reached individual agreements and were not affected.

The survey also showed that no disorder had developed at any of the plants.

Reports Progress
Despite the strike talk at Flint over the re-instatement of discharged employees, the labor board reported progress today in working out the basis of collective bargaining in the different shops.

The board already has received membership lists from 11 union locals, and in the case of the Hudson Motor Car Company conferences already have been held between union committees and company executives.

"We are now working on a wage scale," said Arthur E. Greer, head of the A. F. of L. local in the Hudson plant. "So far we have a satisfactory understanding with the company officials."

Hartford, April 13.—(AP)—The condition of the Most Rev. Dr. John J. Nilan, bishop of the diocese of Hartford, was reported to be much weaker this afternoon, and authorities at St. Francis hospital expressed the fear that death was near.

Bishop Nilan was admitted to the hospital February 22, with arthritis, and remained in serious or critical condition until early this week, when pneumonia set in. Hope for his recovery was virtually abandoned Wednesday and priests have been in constant attendance.

Early this morning, he was said to be about the same as yesterday, but this afternoon, he was weakening rapidly.

FRENCH MINISTER MAY RESIGN POST

Rumor Causes Drop in Prices on Stock Market; Fear Riots in Paris.

Paris, April 13.—(AP)—Rumors that a Cabinet minister might resign, falling prices on the Stock Market, a demonstration by government employees, and a breach with war veterans today inaugurated scheduled protests against the French government's economy measures.

Police guards watched while 1,800 employees swarmed the courtyard and stairways of the Main Telegraph Bureau at the noon hour. Demonstrators among them shouted their hostility to the government and chanted the Internationale.

Andre Mallarme, minister of communications, said the leaders would be punished.

A stormy session between Premier Doumergue and representatives of war veterans failed to close the wide breach between his suggestion that their pensions be slashed and their steadfast stand against a cut.

Veterans Firm
The veterans stood firmly on their ultimatum that the government must clean up France before cutting their pensions and that they would do the clean up work themselves if the government did not.

Many Rumors
This distinct breach caused rumors that Louis Germain-Martin, minister of finance, might resign. The minister demanded that the economy program, which includes pay cuts for government employees as well as pension cuts, should be fully effective.

Meetings of the war veterans were interrupted to allow representatives of themselves and the government to compromise before the Cabinet meets on the subject.

The veterans reform ultimatum was accounted a serious influence on the bourse which turned heavier.

To Make Appeal
Premier Doumergue considered a plan to make a direct appeal to merchants to trim prices.

French economists are advocating lower tariffs as a more effective deflationary tool in the new economic recovery campaign by making mer-

LOCAL CHINAMAN ARRESTED IN RAID

Ung Tong, Manchester Laundryman, Caught by Federal Men in Opium Joint.

Hartford, April 13.—(AP)—Opium, smoking layouts and a large number of opium containers valued at $2,000 were seized in a raid in a Front street house early this morning, which has precipitated a dispute between Federal narcotic agents and the Hartford police.

Soon after midnight five state policemen under direction of United States narcotic Agent Malcolm MacFayen entered 210 Front street in search of a fugitive from justice and found what they claimed were opium and opium pipes, and arrested four Chinese.

Those arrested on charges of violating the Harrison narcotic act were Lam Yng, 60, of 206 Front street, former chef and said by Federal agents to be an opium dealer; Ung Tong, 62, who runs a Manchester laundry; Yip Tong Jing, 45, proprietor of a laundry at 22 Maple avenue; George Lee, 53, proprietor of a laundry at 305 Front street.

The men were presented in police court this morning and their cases continued until Tuesday.

The raid was conducted without notifying the Hartford police department a fact which almost led to shooting as the Chinese, believing they were being robbed, called the Hartford police for help.

The state police on the raid were in plain clothes. Hartford police criticized the Federal agents for failure to inform them that a raid was being planned.

Man With Steel Hands Able to Make a Living

Meaford, Ont., April 13.—(AP)—A man who can lift more than 250 pounds dead in a little repair shop here a man who can snap steel wire in his hand with one "hand."

Gawley writes with a neat hand and can snap steel wire in his hand with one "hand."

He was born near Stokes Bay on Bruce peninsula and in his youth was a star of the Stokes Bay football team. He is 49 years old now, still earning his own living, handling tools with the skill of a master craftsman and making, among other things, artificial limbs for persons afflicted like himself.

He has worked with them for 30 years—ever since he and his blind father made them to replace hands and forearms he lost as a boy when he fell against the whirling blade of a buzz saw.

Andrew A. Gawley, "The Man With the Steel Hands," was only 17 when a momentary slip deprived him of his forearms. For months he lay in a hospital. When he came out he was determined to earn his own living. There was one man, he believed, more unfortunate than himself. His father had been blind for 50 years.

Father and son labored long designing and making new hands for the boy, filing and grinding the fingers and joints from the hard metal. When they were finished they had five grips of different sizes and different degrees of leverage. Two grips were made to open as Gawley draws his hands towards his body; the others open when the arms are extended.

They have no sense of touch, but Gawley can crush a stone between his "fingers," hold a tea cup with perfect control, shave himself, dress himself, tie the knots in rope, throw or catch a baseball. He can thread a needle, drive an automobile, ride a motorcycle. He has been known to Rioting broke out when the workers, mostly communists and socialists, forced their way last night into a hall, where it had been announced Leon Daudet, Royalist leader would speak.

Daudet did not appear.

TEXTILE STUDENTS GET CERTIFICATES

Taftville Course Concluded by 43; J. S. Echmalian Supervises Ceremonies.

Director John G. Echmalian of the State Trade school in Manchester acted as master of ceremonies at the graduation banquet of the textile class in Taftville, held last night in Fenemah hall, Taftville.

Forty-three persons received certificates indicating that they had satisfactorily completed the textile course which they started last October.

The idea behind these textile courses is to give additional training to improve the skill of the workers, increase their technical knowledge and develop a proper state of mind that will enable them to derive greater enjoyment from their work.

A representative of the Parks, Cramer Co., of Fitchburg, Mass., showed an industrial moving picture on humidity control in a textile mill, while another film depicting the processes by which rayon is made, was shown by an official of the Viscose company.

NOW EATS ANY KIND OF FOOD, AND NO CONSTIPATION

Mr. Durigan Finds Relief in Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Here is his enthusiastic letter: "Am 70 years of age, and for 40 of these years there never was a week but what I had to take a pill or some kind of cathartic."

"I took everything, but gained only temporary relief. Until last spring my daughter, who is a nurse in a hospital, brought me some Kellogg's ALL-BRAN."

"At the end of the week, I knew I had something that was it, and I kept on taking it. I haven't taken a cathartic since. I can eat meat any time, as often as I like, or any other kind of food, and no constipation." Mr. L. M. Durigan, 8811 Buffalo Ave., Jacksonville, Florida.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to help muscle tone. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes.

How much safer than patent medicines. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in serious cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Sold in the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

RICHARD P. ERNST, EX-SENATOR, DIES

Suffered a Stroke Aboard Steamer On the Way to New York.

Baltimore, April 18.—(AP)—Former United States Senator Richard P. Ernst of Kentucky died early today at the Johns Hopkins hospital where he had been a patient for the past two weeks. He was 78 years old.

The former Senator suffered a stroke aboard the liner California, enroute from Colon, Panama, and was rushed here immediately after the boat docked in New York.

After showing improvement at the hospital, Ernst took a turn for the worse late Tuesday and declined steadily. He suffered an attack of pneumonia in addition to the stroke.

At his father's bedside when he died at 3:30 o'clock this morning were his son, William Ernst of Asheville, N. C., and his daughter, Mrs. John O. Darnall of Cincinnati, and her husband.

SENSE and NONSENSE

Friday, April 18—watch your step. This is the first of two Friday the 13th that comes in 1936. The other is in July. Just remember, even if today is the 13th that it will be a mistake for you to think that it will be a mistake for you to do anything on the 13th. Remember, little men make big mistakes. Big men make little mistakes. Which kind do you make? Even if it is the 13th go to it. Be a big man.

Flow 'Em Under!
Oh let us have successes of these Who air their half-baked theories, Who rend their shirts and tear their hair.

And saw the circumambient air. We've now reduced the surplus crops Of cotton, pliggies, wheat and hops, We've cleaned the cattle from their stalls, Let's cut the crop of "know-it-alls!"

A resident in a street undergoing repairs protested about a pile of broken paving outside his front gate.

Resident (shouting to one of the men on the job)—Can't you take this away?
Good Natured Irishman—Where will I take it?
Resident (clearly and forcefully)—You can take it to Hades!

Irishman—Haden't I better take it to heaven. It would be more out of your way there.

PEOPLE AREN'T SO CRAZY ABOUT LIBERTY UNLESS ITS ABSENCE STANDS IN THE WAY OF THEIR PERSONAL PLEASURE OR THEIR PERSONAL GAIN.

College Boy Wit—Your school is not an education institution; it's a match factory.
Girl Student—Maybe you're right. We furnish the heads and get sticks from the men's colleges.

Every time you are late to work you make it easier to be late again. Tardiness costs the business money and is likely to cost you your job.

Jones had a serious complaint to make to his landlord.

Jones (storming)—It's the people in the apartment above me. They don't give me a minute's peace. They play the radio and dance all night. They upset me last night, and I had to stop working.

Landlord—Working? What were you working at?
Jones—I was practicing on my saxophone.

GUFFS OF APRIL WIND— You may be as good as pie—but lots of people don't like pie... The worse the medicine the better the doctor —so most women think... Lots of bad people are found in jail, and some worse ones are found out... The average man's word is considered as good as his bond—by a stranger... A woman likes to have someone coax her to do something she wants to do... A man can make a woman happy by telling her that that's the way she makes him... You'll do the right thing if you stop growling about the imaginary wrong... And the man who thinks he knows it all soon shows how little he really knows... The self-made man is always boasting of his handiwork, but it's different with a self-made woman.

Friend—What did you have for breakfast?
Boarder—We had scrambled eggs—two eggs on the table and we all scrambled for them.

NO MATTER HOW MUCH YOU DISAGREE WITH YOUR KIN, IF YOU ARE A THOROUGHBERED YOU WILL NOT DISCUSS THEIR SHORTCOMINGS WITH THE NEIGHBORS.

First Man (at the bar in the village inn)—Have you ever backed a horse?

Second—Yes, once.
First—Did you win or lose?
Second—Well, I lost $25. I backed him into a store window.
