... put in the ground. The "lights" can be painted or decorated as you wish. We also use these cans for beverage holders.

Many among the mourners halted, as they were about to leave, when they saw a small white box in each one they can also serve as ash trays for the outdoors. It is now time to start serving these cans for petio use.

Tattoo for Dogs

Near the Tower of London Bridge, eight soldiers wearing military overcoats went through a rehearsal of carrying a coffin from a gun carriage to a motor cauch that will take Churchill's part of the way to his final resting place at Sidon.

In the light from old-fashioned gas lamps, one soldier slipped and fell. The others made frantic grasps at the coffin and it did not hit the key cobble stones.

Soldiers moved up to the people in the long line and began selling Churchill picture booklets.

Members of the Women's Voluntary Services examined World War II battle-scarred trucks, drove them to people in the queue and handed out free tea and bread.

The trucks had been used to bring food during the war to bombed-out London in the East End.

The men represented a cross section of the world.

There were school girls and school boys, nurses in caps and starched aprons, working men in overalls, a man in a high silk hat, sicks in turbans, and Orthodox Jews in black skull caps.

In the line was Capt. Lynn Boynton, U.S. Air Force officer on loan to the British, 20,000. "I was too young to have seen Churchill," said Boynton. "I had a picture of him in my home and I felt we had to see him."

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. delegation to the funeral of Sir Winston Churchill headed for London today to pay tribute to the great statesman.

Chief Justice Earl Warren, leading the American group, said: "It is a great honor to represent our country at this going over to pay our respects to this great man. I wish we were going in another capacity."

Warren, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Ambassador David Bruce, who is already in London, are the official representatives of the United States at the ceremonies.

Aboard the special U.S. plane with the official delegates were former President Dwight D. Eisenhower; Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman, a former ambassador to London; Mrs. Lewis Douglas, wife of a former ambassador to London, and her daughter, Elizabeth Douglas; and U.S. businessman Joyce Hall.

They were among guests invited privately.

Greenwich Gets Report Award

STORRS (AP)—The University of Connecticut Institute of Public Service has rated Greenwich's 1964 annual town report as the best in the state.

The announcement today said that Greenwich, winner in its 50,000-plus population class during 18 of the past 30 years, led a field of 77 municipalities entered in the annual town and city reports contest.

During the seven years that the Institute has selected at-large winners, Greenwich has captured the honor twice, including a 1958 tie with East Hartford.

In the other five population groupings, the 1964 winners included: East Hartford, 20,000-30,000; Windsor, 10,000-20,000; Avon, 5,000-10,000; Granby, 2,000-5,000; and Hebron, under 2,000.

Merit Award winners included Hartford, 20,000-30,000; Bristol, 20,000-30,000; Bloomfield, 10,000-20,000; Mansfield, most outstanding last year, 8,000-10,000.

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Patriots have traded veteran running back Jim Crawford to the Denver Broncos. The Patriots said Wednesday the American Football League transaction involved cash and possibly a player to be named at a later date.

Energy Rises 203%

WASHINGTON (AP)—Between 1959 and 1962 the total amount of energy from all fuels used for power and heat in United States factories increased 203 per cent, the Commerce Department reports.

Cadets' Parents Bitter Over Scandal at Academy

Boy athletic director of New Trier High School, said his son had resigned and will return home this weekend.

"He did not cheat," said the father. "The way I understand it, he was approached by another cadet, and although he refused to accept the bribe, information offered him, he was dropped without explanation from the squad."

They were Scott Emory of Wilmette, Ill., and Jerry Taylor of San Antonio, Tex., both junior guards.

Asked the reason for the action, academy information officer and athletic association officials said, "We can neither verify, confirm or reveal the status of any case."

"I understand that there were only from four to 10 boys directly involved in cheating. The rest were guilty of tolerance."

In Seattle, attorney Archie Williams, father of football and tennis player, said Fritz telephoned him a few nights ago and said he was resigning.

"It's like somebody crying the first shock," he said. "But it's over now. Sure I'm disappointed, but it hasn't caused me to change my mind about Fritz."

Greenlee said the academy code is "impeccable, unrealistic and a fantasy."

GAMING TRIAL SET

BRIDGEPORT (AP)—The trial of John G. Tuntunan of Bridgeport, one of 44 persons arrested in a federal crackdown on gambling last October, was scheduled to begin today in U. S. District Court. Tuntunan's trial follows one in which Felipino Milla of Bridgeport, also arrested in the raids, was found guilty Wednesday. A federal court jury convicted him of failure to purchase a 500 federal gambling tax stamp and failure to register as a person who receives bets. Judge William H. Timbers continued Milla to bond of $2,000 pending sentencing.

A U.S. Air Force official said a resignation of... would include deactivation of a tanker squadron at Yokota Air Base, Ill., and... The Kadema unit will consist of 15 KC135's.

PARIS (AP)—The Italian secretary-general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Wednesday night criticized President Charles de Gaulle's concept of a "European Empire" free of American influence.

Ennio Brolet told French Association for the Community: "It is not at all certain at the present moment that, even when it should be unfied, Europe could really come to realize such a balance of force without the help of the United States."

MOSCOW (AP)—Four Soviet collaborators with the Nazis during the World War II... of Smolensk have been sentenced to death by firing squad, the Soviet news agency said today.

That said more than 200 persons testified against the men, who were charged with killing more than 1,000 persons on orders of the Nazis. Two other defendants were given 15 year sentences in work camps.

TOKYO (AP)—Prime Minister Eisaku Sato said today he does not believe it is necessary to extend the U.S.-Japan Security Treaty formally until 1980 to match the expiration date of the Soviet-Communist Chinese friendship pact.

The U.S.-Japan treaty is effective until June, 1970, and after that may be terminated by either government on one year's notice. Otherwise it continues in effect.

Sato told Parliament that the U.S.-Japan pact "was not concluded to counter the Chinese. It was concluded to counter the Soviet Union. I see no reason to extend the treaty to 1980 simply because that is when the Chinese-Soviet pact expires."

ARTIST'S RITES SET

OLD LYME (AP)—Funeral services will be held here for Will Howe Fook, 80-year-old Old Lyme artist who died Wednesday while visiting in Sarasota, Fla. Fook, a native of Grand Rapids, Mich., studied at Art Students League in New York and the Julian Academy in Paris. Some of his early work was exhibited at the Buffalo Exposition in 1901. Survivors include a son, Freeman Fook of Williamstown, Mass., and a daughter, Mrs. Roland Thompson of Stamford.

Ruth Judd Still Missing After 1962 Escape

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—He Los Angeles area about the last anniversary of her escape. Ruth Judd must be on extremely good behavior during her latest unauthorized leave from the Arizona State Mental Institution.

Mrs. Judd, mutilation killer of two women in 1961, walked away from the hospital almost 2 1/2 years ago. Some discarded clothing was found nearby. There has been no further trace of her.

She was 37 when she vanished from a dormitory on Oct. 1, 1962, after 29 years in the institution.

Since her escape, police and hospital authorities have received tips that Mrs. Judd had been seen in various parts of the country.

She was convicted of murdering Phoenix, because she was well known in the area.

Mrs. Judd bears hysterical in death row. However, and was declared insane. On April 24, 1963—the day she had been sentenced to die—she was taken to the hospital in Phoenix.

Six years later she made her first escape, staying away for six weeks. She took off from the institution on five other occasions before making her latest escape.

One of her brief escapes caused attention on her case and as a result Gov. Howard Pyle commuted her death sentence to life imprisonment in 1962.

Law enforcement officers are convinced she must be far from Phoenix.

RAPS TRANSPORT LAW

NEW YORK (AP)—A thorough-going review, updating and simplification of laws dealing with economic realities was proposed Wednesday by Dean Eugene V. Rowan of the Yale Law School.

The vast and cumbersome law governing the transportation industry should be reformed, as the President said the other day, in the interest of allowing more competition.

Rowan said at the annual meeting of the Anti-Trust Law Section of the New York State Bar Association. He proposed formation of a presidential commission or other quasi-independent group to carry out the review.

Polly's Pointers

Help for the Aching Back
By POLLY CRAMER,
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR POLLY—It is very hard for anyone to rub liniment on his own back between the shoulder blades. I place an old sock or mitt over the bath brush, pour the liniment on the sock and can easily reach the aching spot. Rinse the bath brush well after using. — MRS. B. H.

DEAR POLLY—I am sure the children of school age will appreciate my hint. There was a time that when supper was ready the children would often say, "That is just what we had for lunch at school." Now I always cut out of the paper the school lunch menu for each week, tack it up on the kitchen bulletin board and plan my meals so there is no chance of a repetition on the same day. — MRS. G. S.

GIRLS—Mrs. G. S. certainly has a point. Spaghetti and meat balls are very good once a day but the second appearance can be a bit too much. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY—I have a unique and quick way to make a bird feeder that does not cost a cent. Cut two corners (round or square) on opposite sides of an ordinary plastic bleach bottle. The plastic is easily cut with a hot knife. For the perch, punch a hole underneath each opening and insert a small stick completely through the bottle, allowing each end to stick out about three inches from the bottle. Punch two holes in the bottle cap to secure the string for hanging. Place some seeds in the bottom, hang on a tree limb and the birds will love you. — BILLYNN

DEAR POLLY—When your broom wears down to a stubble do not throw it away. Push the handle off about half way up, dig a small hole in the ground near the back door and push the broom handle into the ground. Fill the hole around the metal part of the broom so that just the stubble sticks out. This makes a dandy scraper for muddy shoes. — MRS. P. H.

DEAR POLLY—Our emergency lights are made with tuna fish cans and a three-inch electric and a standard lamp globe. They are easy to make. These lamps are also used for the patio when mounted on an old broom or any handle. Push three holes in the can so the light burns evenly and always use the end of the broom handle so it is easier

Short Run Bus Experiment: A few weeks ago, we ventured, hopefully, on a relatively small local test.

What made news for it in Manchester was its decision to experiment with more frequent bus service for new and old customers.

This new convenience was announced and put into operation during the Christmas shopping season, and scheduled to continue, as an experiment, until Feb. 14.

Now the company reports that its experiment has to be judged a failure, financially and practically speaking.

What this amounts to, in cold terms, is that the policy which was something of a bold new daring and positive venture into the end, as just one more proposition for some kind of artificial subsidy.

Meanwhile, however, we don't like to have to retract our praise and our hope for the new ownership of the Connecticut.

to get any conclusive verdict in a matter of weeks, or even months. The service has to be there long enough for awareness of it to be in people's minds.

By the same token, any possibility of restoration of health to railroad commuter services is going to have to be based on the provision of clean, efficient, regular, frequent, and economical trains which will be able to run that way long enough to attract back the passengers our modern highways are now beginning to repel.

The North-South bus run in Manchester is not a route of major importance. But it is a symbol of the modern people-transportation problem as it exists everywhere, and it will be a disappointment if the experiment has to be abandoned before it has really been tried.

Former Vice President Richard Nixon who might have become our President in 1960, who would have liked to have been his party's candidate in 1964, and who even now obviously aspires to consolidate a position as leader of his party and therefore make himself prospective candidate in 1968—his Mr. Nixon made a speech in New York the other day he could never have made if he were President, or if he were even an ordinary assistant with the office as having been a candidate for it last November.

Mr. Nixon pronounced that he was leaving the war in Vietnam. "If our strategy is not changed," he said, "we will be thrown out in a matter of months—certainly within the year."

Our own national security, he said, requires the United States to "end the war in Vietnam by winning it."

The Nixon formula for doing this, which he offered first to the man who is President, would be to order the United States Navy and Air Force to do a real and complete job of "guaranteeing" the southern coast of North Vietnam.

But he, Richard Milhaux Nixon, added this reassurance: "I do not think the Chinese will come in."

What if the Chinese should come in? Then Mr. Nixon thinks that maybe, after all, this is the time for it.

Now if this same Richard Milhaux Nixon had got to be President in 1960, he would have found that he had to make a decision in 1964, there would be much to be thankful for. In such cases, he would not be making a speech like this or repeating a slogan.

Such an experiment as this, with three weeks of frequent and cheap fare shuttle buses between the North and South End here in Manchester is an experiment in seeing whether people can be drawn into changing their habits back again.

But scheduling such an experiment for a few weeks only, in the expectation that if people are ever going to change their habits, it will do it within such a time period, is not much better than making an experiment at all.

To try and discuss the possibilities specifically, a person who may be a candidate for going back to use of a bus downtown and back is not going to rush into any rearrangement of his life the first moment of the first week, a new habit automobile and fare is broken him.

It has taken the increased availability of the automobile and the decreased quality and increasing cost for public transportation services a good 20 years to shrink the ranks of commuters down to their present small number.

Any serious effort to revive, again, that public transportation can be more convenient and economical than private transportation could certainly not be expected to plan to take 20 years for its experiment. But neither can any such attempt which is truly serious expect

Nixon's first Cabinet appointment, Commerce Secretary John F. Connor, has an impeccable standing with business men, but the liberal trade policy he is deeply suspicious of his record of protectionism.

Obituary

George S. Shaw, 66, of 290 Main St., former proprietor of the George S. Shaw and Sons Fish and Poultry Market, N. Main St., died yesterday at the Newtonville Veterans Home after a long illness.

Mr. Shaw was born in Bangor, Maine, and lived in Manchester 16 years, coming to this town from Billerica, Mass. He was assistant superintendent of the Boston and Maine Railroad shops in Lowell, Mass., where he was employed for 29 years.

He was a World War I Army Veteran, a former member of the American Legion in Lowell, and of the Fourth Degree K of C of Boston.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Helen Daniels Shaw; three sons, James S. Shaw of Manchester, Charles S. Shaw of Alexandria, Va., and George H. Shaw of Warwick, R. I.; three daughters, Mrs. Guy Curcione of Niagara Falls, N. Y., Robert Davis of Falmouth, Maine, and Mrs. Virginia Ranson of Manchester, and 15 grandchildren.

The funeral will be held Saturday at 9:30 a.m. from the Walter N. Lecker, Funeral Home, 35 Main St., with a Mass of Requiem at St. Bridget's Church at 9. Burial will be in St. Bridget's Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight from 7 to 9 and tomorrow from 7 to 9 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Mrs. Michael Strzycharz, 60, of 14 Reson St., died this morning at her home. She was the wife of Michael Strzycharz.

Mrs. Strzycharz was born in Poland April 12, 1895. She was a member of St. Joseph's Church and the Holy Family Society.

Survivors, besides her husband, are two brothers, Bernard Strzycharz and Stanley Strzycharz, both of Rockville; two sisters, Mrs. Clara Grawley of Rockville and Mrs. Raymond Zimmerman of Broad Brook, and eight grandchildren.

The funeral will be held Tuesday at 8:15 a.m. from the Burke Funeral Home, 76 Prospect St., with a Mass of Requiem at St. Joseph's Church. Burial will be in St. Bernard's Cemetery.

Wickham Park Statue Stolen

Some time during the night of Jan. 26, a bronze statue was torn from its base and stolen from Wickham Park.

The park's custodian, Samuel Folham, discovered the loss yesterday morning and notified the police. Its resting place had been near the driveway next to the garage.

The statue, one of the prized items on the estate since its establishment as a park, had been commissioned by Evelyn Batcher, a prominent local artist, and dedicated in 1929. Its right arm is upraised and its left hand holds a tortoise shell with ram's horns.

Churchill Called 'Incomparable' By Stevenson

WASHINGTON (AP) — Under great, vaulted arches of Washington Cathedral, Adlai Stevenson delivered a eulogy today calling Sir Winston Churchill "incomparable man" whose career rested on a simple faith in God.

Stevenson repeated the Latin words of the examination of the Bishop-elect and the Litany of the Saints. Music was also provided by the combined choir of St. Thomas Seminary and the choir of the cathedral.

The Bishop-elect prostrated himself on the steps before the altar and recited the prayer of the Roman Catholic Church. The Bishop-elect also recited the prayer of the Roman Catholic Church.

Man Hurt in Head-on Crash

The driver of this car was admitted to Manchester Memorial Hospital this morning after colliding head-on with a truck (background) on Rt. 88, Hebron. The motorist, Michael H. Reed, 35, of Willow St. in Manchester, is listed in satisfactory condition with cuts and bruises. (Photo by Burkamp.)

First Consecration Held At St. Joseph Cathedral

WHAT AND HOW OF THE DIAPHRAGMATIC HERNIA. By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D., Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I have a diaphragmatic hernia and an operation was recommended two years ago. It is dangerous to delay the operation? What is meant by strangulation?

Usually, when the victim is standing or sitting, the protrusion is not noticeable. It is only when the victim is lying down that the protrusion is noticeable.

Somehow I can't feel too sorry for the husband whose wife reports which could be submitted for approval by the full board of directors.

Q—For the past seven years my arms and hands go numb during the night while I'm sleeping. What could cause this?

A—Numbness may be caused by severe anemia or by disease of the nerves.

Q—What are the possible side effects from the use of a diaphragmatic hernia?

The Doctor Says

WHAT AND HOW OF THE DIAPHRAGMATIC HERNIA. By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D., Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I have a diaphragmatic hernia and an operation was recommended two years ago. It is dangerous to delay the operation? What is meant by strangulation?

Usually, when the victim is standing or sitting, the protrusion is not noticeable. It is only when the victim is lying down that the protrusion is noticeable.

WIVES TAKE STINGY SPOUSES TO THE CLEANERS

Somehow I can't feel too sorry for the husband whose wife reports which could be submitted for approval by the full board of directors.

Q—For the past seven years my arms and hands go numb during the night while I'm sleeping. What could cause this?

A—Numbness may be caused by severe anemia or by disease of the nerves.

Q—What are the possible side effects from the use of a diaphragmatic hernia?

Clear Goal and Organization Held Key to Economic Growth

Dr. Jack C. Myles, University of Hartford economist, told a town planning forum audience of 25 last night that the latest trend in economic development was toward research and development firms.

But the questions and comments afterward revealed that some thought Manchester had not yet even decided it wanted industry, let alone decided what kind; indeed, Manchester was presently struggling toward a definition of itself.

Under questioning, Dr. James Brown, panel moderator and program coordinator, attempted, as an outsider looking in, to frame a definition. He said that Manchester looked like a "mixed community," with some small industry but with most of its population earning its living outside—a bedroom community.

He, in turn, posed a question to the two panelists, Leonard Seader, vice president of the Green Manor Construction Co., and Robert Brook, executive vice president of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce.

If Manchester accepts a role as an industrial community, how would it be related to the development of the Capital Region? I think a close relation makes sense, he said. What does the Chamber of Commerce think, he asked Brook.

Brook answered that it would be difficult to sell any community on regional development until there existed some sort of regional government on a tax sharing basis. No town today would turn away a new industry just for the sake of a mass regional plan. Not many towns can afford to ignore the opportunity to widen the tax base.

From the floor, Joseph Tamny, town planning director, agreed with a previous comment of Seader's. The failure of the community and most others is not only a failure to establish a new industry, but also a failure to establish an organization that is able to work toward its goals, he said.

A Ballantines has happened in the past, Tamny said. A whole host of individually oriented commissions and committees have sprung up— zoning commission, planning commission, development commission, etc.

The have never acted as a team, he said; consequently the word has happened. We are sitting around in a circle afraid to take the first step. All we want for the next committee is to set. So it has been in Manchester.

He, Brown pointed the town to take a giant step. If Manchester really thought about it, he really could not help itself. The first step was to take the town and discover what the audience seemed to be looking for. He said that the town would have to form a regional relationship, even the town announced an awareness of this intent, would not be a definite step in the direction of regional goals.

Check to Help Rebuild a Church

The Rev. John C. Lacey, pastor of the Vernon Congregational Church which was destroyed by fire Saturday, accepted a check for $100 from Peter Duricko, representing the Consolidation Dance Committee. The check will be added to a fund to rebuild the 138-year-old church. The money was from profits of the dance held Saturday to celebrate the passage of the consolidation charter. (Herald photo by Frinto.)

The two-hour forum was the third of a series of six public sponsored forums on town planning. Its topic last night was "Economic Development and Capital." Like its predecessor, it was held in the Chamber of Commerce.

A coffee break separated the lecture from the discussion. During it, one lady commented on the small turn out, said that the audience seemed to be getting smaller as the forums became more interesting.

Funds for Development Unit Before Directors on Tuesday

The allocation of $50,000 to the Manchester Community Development Foundation to assist in developing a site for the Pioneer Parachute Co. is on the agenda for the board of directors meeting Tuesday.

Officers of the foundation have called a special meeting for 4 p.m. tomorrow at the Chamber of Commerce office to explain to the directors the intended role of the foundation in helping Pioneer relocate in the town.

The foundation, inactive since 1960, has been reorganized to assist in the construction of an access road and installing water mains to the Wilbur Cross Highway site. The parachute firm is apparently planning to build a new plant.

The town can not appropriate funds directly for private use. To assist in the relocation of the firm, a special fund, profit, quasi-public foundation, has been set up.

To save this much a plan is feasible, the town has also asked Rep. Atty. Paul Groover and Steve Cavagnaro to file a bill with the General Assembly specifically authorizing such an allocation.

The directors are also scheduled to discuss a resolution approving submission of the bill to the House of Representatives at the forthcoming Assembly session.

On the same agenda the directors will consider:

1. Adopting a capital improvement program for the town sewer main and general fund. The program was discussed earlier this week.
2. Allocating $4,000 for engineering improvements to two existing plants—those on the waterways, and rely on face-to-face contacts.
2. A rise in incomes has changed tastes: People are moving into the town or more cars, seeking open living space. Industry has followed. This has led to the growth of cities also. The physical aspect of this plan is to improve the town's appearance and to attract new business.
3. The city itself has become an undesirable location because of traffic congestion and the resulting transportation costs to firms. Another factor — the internationalization of the economy — has also increased costs for firms staying in the town. Witness what happened in Pittsburgh where the steel industry was forced to control the smoke and soot its factories were spewing over the area. Witness the fact that many cities factories can no longer dump their waste in rivers; they must pay for a cleaner type of disposal.
- There have been two responses to this phenomenon. The cities have tried to improve their living and working conditions and the region has been looked to as the answer to the economic future.
- There are two regions in New England that have made substantial growth since the war—Boston and Hartford. The Agency is evidence of the trend toward regional planning. The town is not with any one single community, but with a whole region.
- Another trend, existing before the war, is the loss of manufacturing operations in the field of research and development. This has led to the loss of jobs and the loss of the town's economic base.
- This is what such a firm looks for in a town: A high level of trained personnel whose tastes and ambitions differ from those of industrial workers, proximity to cultural and recreational facilities, and professional class housing, good educational facilities, and most important, a research — oriented community where staff workers can keep abreast of the latest developments.
- The recent past has shown that cities have vied hotly for R & D activities and that at least one major city has become a matter of public policy.
- Any community in the game of industrial promotion must provide the basic services to attract and retain the staff workers. These services include: a high level of education, a high level of health care, and a high level of cultural and recreational facilities.
- Robert Brook closed the forum with the statement that so many of our cities are losing their jobs and their economic base. He said that it would be best to keep what industry is left and to try to expand it.

More Shop in Town, But Reason Unclear

Manchester merchants agreed with Dr. Charles E. Lee last night that town businessmen are doing better today than they were 10 years ago.

But they could not get together on the significance of the market survey that Dr. Lee, an associate professor of marketing at the University of Connecticut, and one of his classes had prepared.

The survey results were passed around last night during the annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce's retail division.

While they indicated that a substantially larger percentage of the population is shopping in Manchester today than did in 1950, they seemed to be reluctant to doubt whether the apparent improvement was real.

In 1960, about 174 households reported that they had purchased more than one item during the survey period. Dr. Lee pointed out that there was an increase of about eight percent in the number of items purchased last year.

In the 1964 survey, about 190 households reported that they had purchased more than one item during the survey period. Dr. Lee pointed out that there was an increase of about eight percent in the number of items purchased last year.

BOY SCOUT Notes and News

Club Pack 148

Black Boy in the Pack received a gift of Cub Scout equipment in recognition of his efforts in the recent Christmas sales campaign. Cubmaster Ted Kutz announced that the annual Blue and Gold Banquet will be held on Monday, Feb. 15, at Center Congregational Church. The pack has also decided to decorate the window at Blish Hardware Store during Boy Scout Week.

March was designated the month for the annual Pine-wood Derby Race. The racers were issued Pinewood Derby kits to be completed with their father's help for the March date.

Robert Muldoon showed movie of space flights, and Den 4 won the inspection trophy. Dens 1, 4 and 5 received gold attendance banners for perfect boy and girl attendance. Dens 2 and 3 received blue banners for perfect boy attendance.

Poster Work Not Needed Aboard Sub

BOSTON (AP) — The Sheraton Corporation of America wrote Navy Lt. R. R. Figure of Bostonfield, Conn., informed him their contract was settled. They'd send him an "attractive lobby poster plus brochures for your guest rooms" and reservation director.

Figure wrote back, "I not only did not sign any agreement, but participated in your Reservation Network, but I do not have a lobby and my guest room has no need for brochures."

Figure said he said, "I am stationed on a FBM submarine that goes on patrol for three months out of every six" and he indicated there was no need for lobby posters and brochures aboard the submarine either.

The Sheraton said later they sent the Navy lieutenant the contract notice by mistake. They said it should have gone to one of a group of hotels and motels sponsored by the Navy.

People In the News

GLORIA VANDERBILT COOPER

NEW YORK (AP) — Helene Gloria Vanderbilt, now Mrs. Wyatt Cooper, gave birth to a 7-pound boy Wednesday night at Doctors Hospital.

Mrs. Cooper's attorney, Arnold Kraus, announced the birth. He said Mrs. Cooper, 40, and her husband, also 40, had not selected a name.

The child is the first for the Coopers, who were married on Christmas Eve in 1963.

Mrs. Cooper has two children by her marriage to conductor Leopold Stokowski.

CHIEF ALBERT LUTHELI JOHANNESBURG, SOUTH AFRICA

Luthele, 67, suffered a recurrence of a heart ailment.

PRINCE CHARLES

LONDON (AP) — Prince Charles, 16, heir to the British throne, has scored well in his most important school examination.

Charles, eldest son of Queen Elizabeth II, passed English, history, Latin and French in the General Certificate of Education examination, considered turning point in the lives of British pupils.

Charles was one of 140 boys at Gordonstoun private school who passed the examination. His name was about in the middle of the list.

JOHN K. GALBRAITH

NEW YORK (AP) — John Kenneth Galbraith, Harvard University economist and former U.S. ambassador to India, says a mood of "chronic contentment" prevails in U.S. foreign policy.

Galbraith, writing in the Atlantic Monthly, said the American people are in a mood to continue present policies, whether right, wrong or potentially disastrous.

"It seeks continuity in our Canadian and Mexican relationships, which work well. Equally, it accepts continuity in policies toward Southeast Asia, China, the arms race, which aren't working at all or are certain to be a source of further deep trouble."

JANE WYMAN

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Jane Wyman has been picked for divorce by her husband, Fred Karger, who claimed desertion.

Miss Wyman and Karger, each 41, were married in 1962, divorced in 1964 and remarried in 1961.

Discrimination Case Continues

HARTFORD (AP) — A likely site—the Yale Law School—has been picked for the continued hearing into Connecticut's first case involving a charge of job discrimination because of race.

Thomas F. Henry, executive director of the State Commission on Civil Rights, said Wednesday that the second hearing in the case will be held at the law school Feb. 17.

Steves claims he was refused the job of supervisor of adult education at the school because he was older than the man who was picked for the job.

The first hearing was held by the civil rights commission in Hartford Dec. 20. The second hearing was scheduled for Jan. 6, but the death of a West Haven school official forced a postponement.

SHARPE 501 MILLION

HARTFORD (AP) — Connecticut would receive $51 million under Title I of President Johnson's proposed education measure, the U. S. Office of Education estimated Wednesday.

The portion of the bill would be the largest of federal aid to education for 1965 through 1970, an income for 1965 through 1970 of $117 million when it was $100 million when passed in 1964. The bill was passed by the House Feb. 28 in U. S. District Court to answer the charges.

Police Arrests

Stefan S. Pallardi, 24, of Andover, was charged with speeding and summoned to appear in Circuit Court 12 in Manchester on Feb. 15.

Patrolman John Hughes made the arrest about 6 1/2 miles south of Center St. and W. Middle Tpke.

TAX FRAUD CHARGED

HARTFORD (AP) — Connecticut charged two businessmen Wednesday with filing fraudulent income tax returns.

John A. Kowalczyk, 53, owner of Garret Printing of Bristol and a member of the board of the Bristol Savings Bank, filed suit yesterday with his wife, Helene, to prevent her from filing his income from 1964 to 1968 as 1970 when it actually totaled $4,760, the indictment said. James Damelio, 46, of Eastford, was charged with filing a fraudulent income tax return for 1964 through 1968 as 1970 when it was $100,000 when it was $20,000 when passed in 1964. The bill was passed by the House Feb. 28 in U. S. District Court to answer the charges.

From Your Neighbor's Kitchen

MRS. BERT OOMS

By DOBIE BELDING
Exotic Indonesian dishes are served often by Mrs. Bert Ooms of 301 Birch St. Rd. for family dinners and when entertaining guests. One of her favorites is Nasi Goreng, a savory version of Javanese style fried rice.

- 1 cup medium sliced thin
- 2 1/2 cups diced pork, uncooked
- 1/2 lb ground cooked fresh shrimp or
- 1 can small shrimp
- 1 cup scallions, chopped fine
- 1 teaspoon sambal ulek (chili paste)
- 1 teaspoon sweet uduk (processed shrimp)
- 1 teaspoon ketumbar (coriander powder)
- 2 teaspoons laos (Java root powder)
- 1 teaspoon cumint powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- pepper and minced garlic to taste

Fry onions in bacon drippings until soft and golden. Add pork and fry until light brown. Add spices and mix well with meat and onions, add a small amount of water and cook until meat is thoroughly cooked. When pork is cooked, add rice, scallions and shrimp and mix. Mrs. Ooms serves a fried egg on each portion. This recipe will serve six.

Mrs. Ooms serves side dishes of fried, spiced coconut, fresh cucumbers cut in strips and fried krupuk (prawn crackers) with the Goreng and it is customary to eat some of each with the main dish.

Westchester To Hear New R.R. Aid Plan

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. (AP)—A revised plan under which Westchester County would provide $400,000 a year to aid the New Haven Railroad will be presented Monday to the County Board of Supervisors.

The plan was developed at a special meeting Wednesday night called by the county board's Public Services Committee. County Executive Edwin G. Michaelian called it a "short range plan."

"I do think that time is running out," he said. "The long range plan would be to merge the New Haven with the Pennsylvania and the New York Central."

The county board rejected a previous $400,000 railroad subsidy plan, but the new proposal would have the towns actually served by the bankrupt New Haven furnish it.

County Executive Edwin G. Michaelian called it a "short range plan."

Set Swim Mark for High School

Team Effort Factor In 12th for UConns

By EARL YOST Show me a team, in any sport, with balance, and the chances of it having a winning season are more than good. Take the case of the University of Connecticut's basketball team. Balance has been a big factor all season. Last night the UConns, en route to one of their most cherished wins of the 1964-65 campaign, a 71-60 duke over Temple, displayed plenty of balance. While hiking their record to a steady 15-2, the UConns at the 18 minute mark in the first half, in which they took complete command of the situation before a crowd of 6,190, had four starters, each with four field goals in their credit in erecting a 20-0 lead. The quartet consisted of Toby Kimball, Wes Ralston, Dan Hester and Tom Fenders, the Frank Ramsey and Ken Morgan, yet managed to grab 20. Coach Fred Shabel's talented crew never trailed in its first half in 11 days. How the UConns would like to play the games over with Corbett and Holy Cross, the only other team to have defeated Ralston and Bialosuznia, easily the most exciting offensive performer at the Storrs campus in any time, said at the meeting with the Crusaders. A few more wins over New York, New Jersey, Philadelphia and Wake Forest, and the Huskies would get a 10-0 record, and then they would get another shot at Holy Cross, this time at Worcester, Feb. 11. While Kimball and Bialosuznia grab most of the headlines, and rightfully so, Mr. Fenders, the smallest man on the squad at 5-11, has clearly demonstrated his status as a versatile performer. The first baseball play, tipped in 13, after coming off the bench, and his ball handling and ball handling were big factors in the 12th victory. Surprisingly, Temple, now a 7-15 team, did not show any outside individual scoring honors, two more than Kimball. The latter, however, had a big night off the boards, against a pair of rug-

Choice Easy Now As Bill Russell Paces Celt Win

BOSTON (AP)—When Philadelphia snapped its 13 Boston Celtics 16 game attack Saturday night, it was Bill Russell who figured the backboard-vaulting duel between Bill Russell and Wilt Chamberlain was a stand-off. "It had to say," remarked the then-jubilant Schayes, "that it was hard chugging." But Schayes would have no such problem today. Russell, after being out-bounded and held without a field goal Saturday night, returned with a vengeance Wednesday night to dominate a 71-60 Boston victory over the peppy 76ers. Russell scored 14 points, hogged the rebounds and held Chamberlain to 28 in a hot second half. Chamberlain's 21 points in the first 20 minutes of the game, and rightfully so, Mr. Fenders, the smallest man on the squad at 5-11, has clearly demonstrated his status as a versatile performer. The first baseball play, tipped in 13, after coming off the bench, and his ball handling and ball handling were big factors in the 12th victory. Surprisingly, Temple, now a 7-15 team, did not show any outside individual scoring honors, two more than Kimball. The latter, however, had a big night off the boards, against a pair of rug-

Coach Visits Alma Mater, Leaves with Surprise Win

Jim Holstein paid a visit to his alma mater, the University of Cincinnati, Wednesday night. The Bearcats probably wished he had stayed in Cincinnati. Holstein brought his St. Joseph's College of Indiana team with him and the unranked small-college Pumas upset the Missouri Valley Conference No. 14 ranked Bearcats in a big surprise of the college basketball season. Little 5-foot Tom Crowley won the game for the Pumas with a layup in the last two seconds after Cincinnati had tied the score at 68-68 on Ken Cunningham's free throw with 10 seconds on the clock. It was a most satisfying victory for Holstein, who played for the Bearcats 12 years ago and is in his sixth year as coach of the Pumas. Holstein's unexpected triumph overshadowed the 127-90 romp of the St. Joseph's Knights Hawks of Philadelphia over touring Centenary.
