U.S. Boosts MIG Score
SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP)—U.S. Air Force pilots downed two more Communist MIGs over North Vietnam today, raising their score of MIG kills for the week to nine, the Air Force announced. The week's effort wiped out about half of North Vietnam's estimated fleet of 15 to 20 of the late-model MIGs, the fastest Communist plane in Asia, which can travel 1,500 miles an hour. U.S. officials said no American planes were hit by MIGs with MIGs, but they said one Phantom jet went down today 100 miles west of Hanoi from "unknown cause." The ground war in South Vietnam continued at a slow pace, as it has since the start of the year. The U.S. military command reported only minor skirmishes. In other developments: Premier Nguyen Cao Ky said "we are getting closer to the negotiations every day" of the war. He said peace talks were nearer because North Vietnam is suffering "and we are stronger every day." Foreign Minister Tran Van Do said, however, he saw no softening of peace terms so far from the Hanoi regime. And in Washington the State Department said it did not regard as a positive sign a statement by the head of the North Vietnamese mission in Paris, Mai Van Bo, that he believed his government would "examine and study" a U.S. proposal for peace talks if the United States first stopped bombing his country. A state department spokesman said the United States was still prepared to stop the bombing if the North Vietnamese agreed to stop the bombing privately or otherwise, that North Vietnam would respond to the U.S. proposal for peace talks in a few days. U.S. officials disclosed plans to send a peace team to Hanoi within a few days of fishermen who have been in American hands since early December. The fishermen, picked up by U.S. warships in a storm, were taken to a U.S. ship and repatriated by the British Red Cross. U.S. officials said no American planes were hit by MIGs with MIGs, but they said one Phantom jet went down today 100 miles west of Hanoi from "unknown cause." The ground war in South Vietnam continued at a slow pace, as it has since the start of the year. The U.S. military command reported only minor skirmishes. In other developments: Premier Nguyen Cao Ky said "we are getting closer to the negotiations every day" of the war. He said peace talks were nearer because North Vietnam is suffering "and we are stronger every day." Foreign Minister Tran Van Do said, however, he saw no softening of peace terms so far from the Hanoi regime. And in Washington the State Department said it did not regard as a positive sign a statement by the head of the North Vietnamese mission in Paris, Mai Van Bo, that he believed his government would "examine and study" a U.S. proposal for peace talks if the United States first stopped bombing his country. A state department spokesman said the United States was still prepared to stop the bombing if the North Vietnamese agreed to stop the bombing privately or otherwise, that North Vietnam would respond to the U.S. proposal for peace talks in a few days. U.S. officials disclosed plans to send a peace team to Hanoi within a few days of fishermen who have been in American hands since early December. The fishermen, picked up by U.S. warships in a storm, were taken to a U.S. ship and repatriated by the British Red Cross.

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP)—U.S. Air Force pilots downed two more Communist MIGs over North Vietnam today, raising their score of MIG kills for the week to nine, the Air Force announced. The week's effort wiped out about half of North Vietnam's estimated fleet of 15 to 20 of the late-model MIGs, the fastest Communist plane in Asia, which can travel 1,500 miles an hour. ## LA Residents Upset RFK Renews Charges Against Sam Yorty

WASHINGTON (AP) — In these areas, he is still the elected leader of the city, and I believe he will do a good job of it. Robert Kennedy has renewed the charges that Mayor Samuel Yorty is not providing the leadership Los Angeles needs. Kennedy's letter was one of his city's most recent releases. The debate began face to face at an explosive Senate hearing on Aug. 23 when Kennedy and Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., complained about Yorty's style of city leadership. Their harsh words touched off a deluge of letters. Kennedy's office reported he got about 900, and said they ran 4-to-1 in Yorty's defense. A spokesman said he answered all but about 100, which were considered abusive and were discarded. Ribicoff and the Senate subcommittee on executive reorganization, which he heads, read a 3,000-letter harvest. Those letters were not answered. Almost all of them criticized Ribicoff and the subcommittee and defended the Los Angeles mayor.

At the hearing on the problems facing big cities, Yorty testified that many major Los Angeles problems were not in his domain, that they were within the province of independent agencies or committees. Ribicoff said Yorty had violated jurisdiction in education, welfare, transportation, employment, health and housing. Then Ribicoff declared: "Los Angeles brags all over the country about how big and rich you are, what you stand for, and I would say that the city of Los Angeles right now, from what you've said, doesn't stand for a damn thing."

Yorty, home in Los Angeles, charged the criticism was all part of a plot designed to help propel Kennedy to the White House. Soon the letters began pouring in to the Capitol. Kennedy's reply to critical letters said he would lead the city of Los Angeles or to California was intended, and none should be inferred.

He said much the same thing in a second letter, which went to people who wrote supporting his critical questioning. But, his letter to critics also said: "Mayor Yorty seemed to have neither the necessary information on the crucial factors involved in running a city — education, welfare, health, employment — nor any imaginative proposals to deal with these vital issues."

"While it is true that the mayor of Los Angeles, as in many other cities, lacks direct control or responsibility in many of these areas, he is still the elected leader of the city, and I believe he will do a good job of it. He should provide leadership and stimulate public awareness of the problems."

The Kennedy letters went out in November. On Oct. 20, Yorty's office issued a press release quoting Mrs. James J. O'Connor as complaining that she received four copies of the letter, one addressed only to "occupant."

A Kennedy spokesman said that might have been due to a mistake, or the woman might have been listed in more than one complaint sent to the senator. Yorty's release quoted Mrs. O'Connor as accusing Kennedy of "overuse and misuse" of the frank, or free mail, privilege accorded senators.

Simpler Return For Income Tax May Be Devised

WASHINGTON (AP) — Regardless of whether U.S. taxpayers are hit with an income tax increase this year, there is a chance they will get some relief from the actual labor of figuring the tax to pay in future years. The House Ways and Means Committee, it was learned today, has agreed to a Treasury request to consider later this year legislation for a simplified tax return that would abate some of the arithmetical agonies of mid-April.

The Treasury is experimenting this year in the southeastern part of the country with an optional return form that would to some extent combine the actual return with the instructions for preparing it, so that a taxpayer by answering a series of questions, would arrive at his tax liability.

Barney Stone Owner Injured In Castle Fall

BLARNEY, Ireland (AP) — The owner of the Barney Stone Inn is recovering from a fall at Blarney Castle. "I was getting out of bed when I stepped on one of our dogs," says Mary Feeney, 64, who plunged forward and struck my head very sharply against the doorpost. The doctor found she had a concussion.

For a while her temperature jumped to 104," said her husband, Mr. Jack Hillary, 64. Mrs. Hillary, in 1922 inherited the castle, and new Blarney Castle. The will of her uncle, Sir George Colthurst, stipulated that the Barney Stone must never leave Ireland and Blarney Castle. The new castle, actually over 100 years old, is about a quarter-mile from the original, 13th century building.

Over the years, thousands of persons have climbed the battlements to plant a kiss on the stone. That's supposed to endow the kisser with eloquence of speech.

Sheinwold on Bridge Training Plans Take 3,000 Off Welfare Rolls

HARTFORD (AP) — The State Welfare Department's Community Work and Training Programs are "having a dynamic and significant impact" on the welfare caseload, said State Welfare Commissioner Bernard Shapiro. In his report on the first full year of the federally financed projects, Shapiro said they have taken 2,800 persons off the welfare rolls and saved the state $3 million.

The programs are being conducted in Hartford, Bridgeport, New Haven, Stamford, Norwalk and Waterbury. Training is given in such skills as clerking, typing and hair dressing to women, and in highway maintenance, landscape gardening and off-set printing to men.

Seen Viet Mediation Bid Discuss Peace with Vatican, Pope Urges China Leaders

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI headed today for the leaders of Red China to "talk peace" with the Roman Catholic Church. Vatican sources said his appeal amounted to an offer of mediation in the Vietnam war.

The Pope spoke during Mass he celebrated in St. Peter's Basilica to call attention to the plight of Christians in China whose priests and bishops have been expelled and jailed.

After his peace appeals at the start of 1966, Pope Paul sent letters to Washington, Moscow, Peking, Hanoi and Saigon. The Washington, Moscow and Saigon letters were reported to have been received, but the Hanoi and Saigon letters were not made public.

Today the Pope said he was taking into his hands the mediation of the Pope urging China's help in bringing about peace negotiations for Vietnam.

Riots Claim 9 Lives; India Closes Schools

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The Indian government closed all schools and colleges in the eastern state of Bihar today for an indefinite period after three days of riots that took at least nine lives.

Agitation reached a peak Thursday when several thousand students paralyzed Patna, the state capital, with three hours of looting, arson and attacks on police.

Police finally opened fire, killing at least nine persons and wounding 64. More than 100 policemen and local officials also were injured by the looting.

Press reports from Patna, 50 miles east of New Delhi, said the army was patrolling parts of the city and that a dusk-to-dawn curfew had been imposed.

More Giants Than One

Even to gossip intelligently about the government final selection of designs for the supersonic transport, the future one would need considerable expertise to be gained only in the aircraft industry itself.

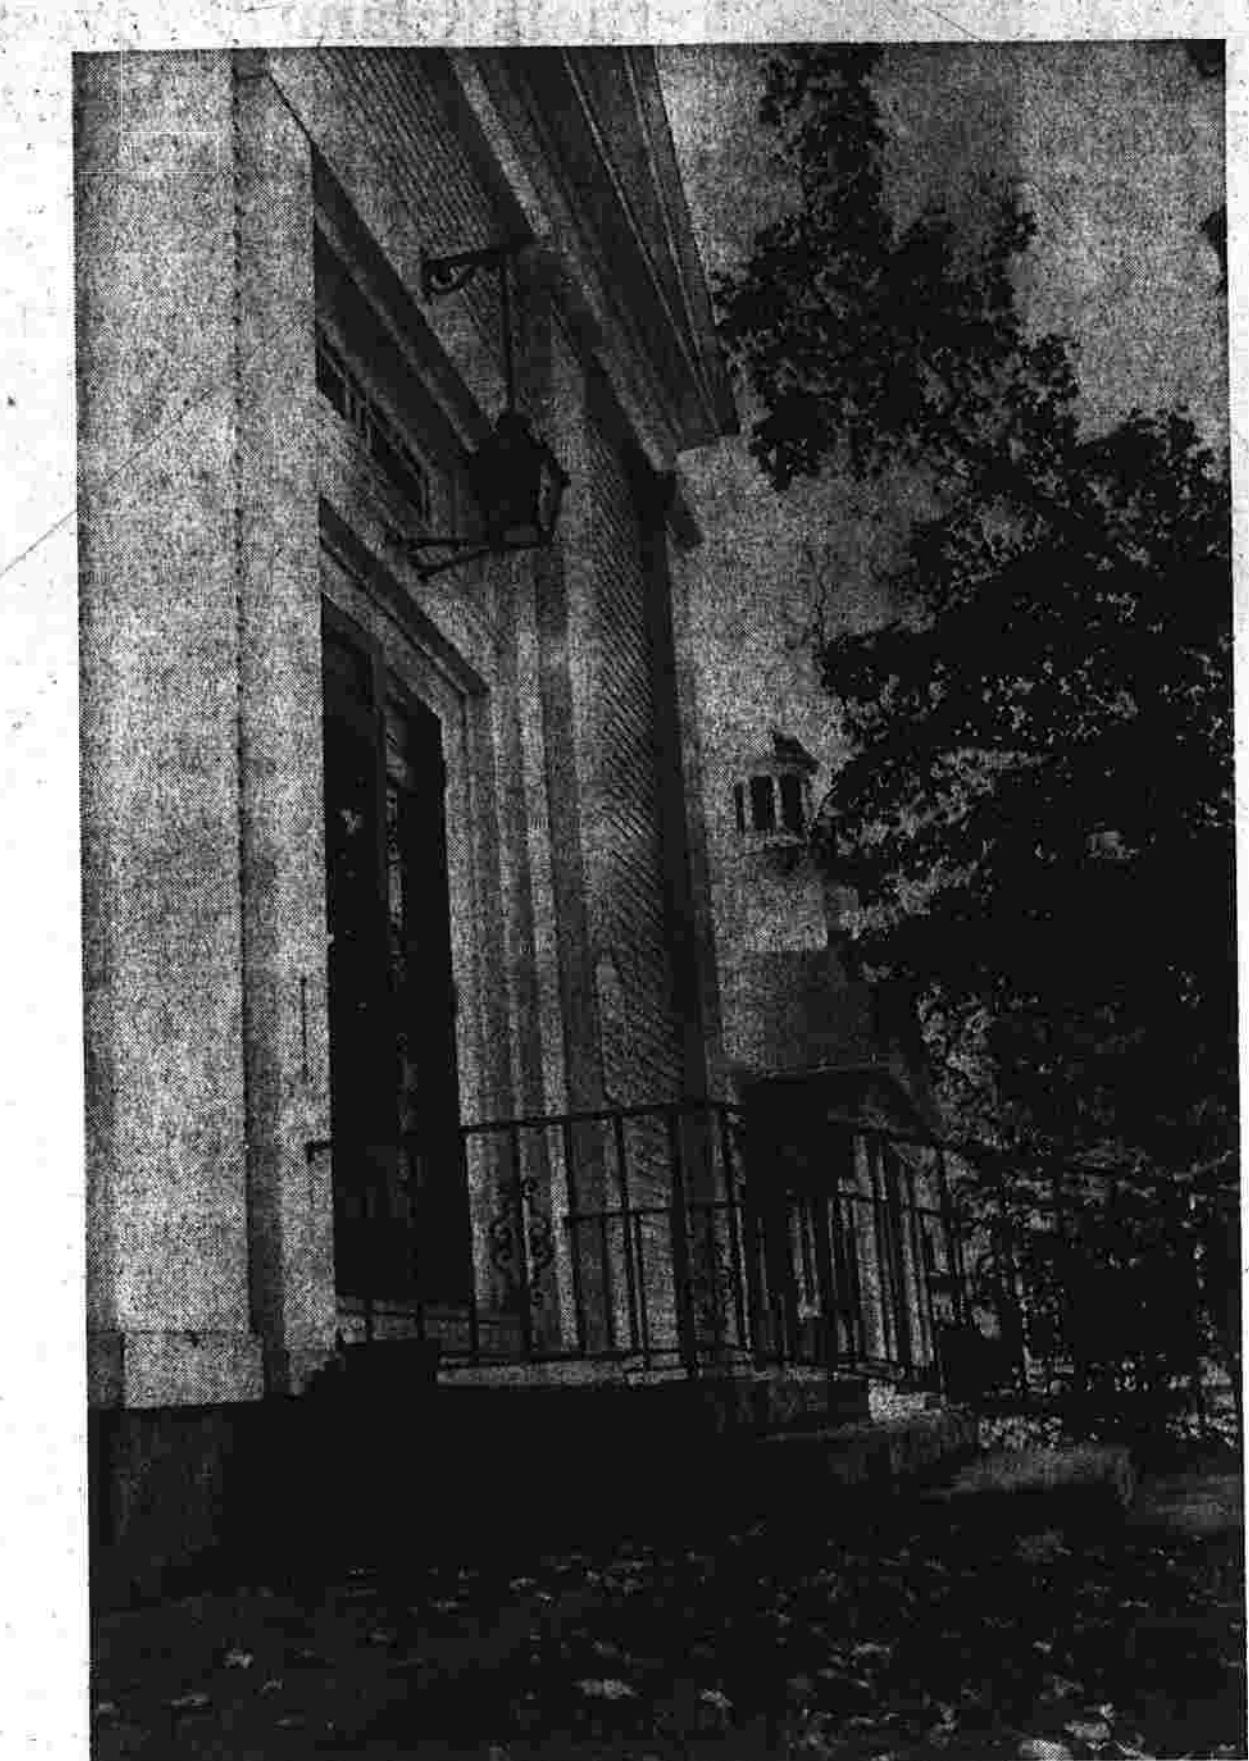

Still, one ironic comment which seems legitimate for the layman is that which observes that if the Pratt & Whitney Division of United Aircraft had been a little less busy it might have had better luck with the supersonic contract.

Two uncertainties fringe the situation. The supersonic design has been selected, but the day for really going ahead with it has not been set. This takes some time of the exhilaration of success away from the victors in the race.

The second loose end is the possibility that government brass may eventually decide it is sound policy not to have a plane which can fly over America in one hop, but also to have some kind of future transport, still large and swift, not as large and swift as the presently selected design, which would be able to serve passenger and cities within the continent without violating the noise and vibration in its wake.

I wonder if we ever really stop to think what a hero is. Our fantasy is that he is one who does something that nobody else would do because of some endowment with an special courage that no other person has.

Board Now Favors 115 Acres for MCC

A majority of the Board of Directors informally agreed last night at the close of a 2 1/2-hour negotiating session with officials of the Manchester Community College to offer the college 115 acres of Globe Hollow for expansion of its campus.

Their compromise position was announced by the directors and the college would sell the college for a minimum of $7.50 an acre.

Five of the seven directors present at the session in the Municipal Building coffee room indicated they would favor giving the college added water to the 115 acres up to the 115 acres. The amount is only 35 acres less than the 150 which had been requested by college officials.

Directors who said they would support the compromise included Republicans Nathan Agostinelli, Wayne Mantz and William Schaller; Democrats Raymond Ellis and William Fitzgerald.

Opposed to selling the 115 acres were David O'Leary and John Gairdine, both Republicans.

Former Mayor Francis Mahoney, Democrat, who has supported the sale of additional land and veteran Republican Harold A. Turkington — the only director voting on the original 150-acre plan — did not attend last night's session.

Thus, another vote on the projected land sale would result in a 6-3 position in favor of the move when the directors take action to amend their original vote.

General Manager Robert Weiss indicated at the end of the negotiating session that he would make next Tuesday's scheduling of the meeting official and that action on their intent can be taken.

The compromise was moved out after a long discussion of the minimum land college officials felt they could accept still in line with the long-range development plan for the college.

However, Gilbert Barnes, chairman of the site selection committee, and college President Frederick W. Love both agreed at the close of the session that 115 acres — added to the site containing the college — would provide "minimal" adequate for its projected expansion; and they said they would "promote" the site in their recommendations to the state.

The site selection committee, which Barnes heads, since December has been conducting a search for possible alternate locations for the college in order to comply with a ruling made last fall by the State Board of Community Colleges.

Until the directors' vote last night, the college's advisory council had ignored the state board's ruling, directed at all the 44-relating two-year institutions.

"The council had taken the stand that it already had the campus — the Nike site — which was the site which was expanded to make its operation feasible."

But after the directors' vote, Love said he felt the state would not agree to buy only 75 acres.

He maintained the amount would be insufficient because educational facilities would be inadequate for the college up to 3,000 students.

Thereupon, the site committee was directed by the college's advisory council to begin looking for three alternate locations which it could recommend to the state board.

One meeting of the committee has been held to date, but according to Barnes who heads it, it was only "preliminary" and resulted in no official recommendations.

"In answer to questioning by directors last night, Barnes said the committee had agreed to look at several possible campus locations both in and outside of Manchester. But he did not specify where they are."

In answer to another question, Love said the sites committee would probably be required by the state regional board to come up with three alternatives to compromise goes through as indicated during the negotiations.

Even if the college officials were to drop the search, the state probably would look for additional sites because of public use of the land issue, Love said.

But Barnes said (and Love agreed) that the state would probably be influenced by the compromise offer and that he would back it.

The two told The Herald after the meeting they intended to use the same line of reasoning with the board as they did at the college. They said they had selected sites campus previous to the ruling and (2) that steps would be taken to expand the campus, but the state regional board, at the outset of the negotiating session, told directors they would have to compromise on the 115-acre site.

Architect Philip diCorcia displayed preliminary plans for expansion of the 115-acre site originally requested of the

Most Seek Explanations Over New Property Values

"A very quiet, orderly and polite session," is how Harold Maddocks, program supervisor for the United Appraisal Co., described the six-hour review of new property assessments held from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. yesterday in the Municipal Building Hearing Room.

Yesterday's session was the first of nine to be for those property owners whose last names start with the letters "A" and "B" today. It is for those whose last names start with the letters "C" and "D."

Maddocks reported that 145 persons appeared yesterday, about 10 percent of the 1,500 in the A and B category.

He said that about 75 percent of them came for information and explanations of their new property values, and that the other 25 percent questioned the basis for the revaluation.

Maddocks said that "surprisingly few mistakes were discovered — only two." One of the errors was in the property owner's name. The other was in the value of the property.

Turn Assessor Joseph Murphy said that the assessment of the property owner's name was a clerical error. He said that the value of the property was correct.

South Windsor Bond Issues of $5.5 Million Prove Town Slogan in '66

By ANN LYONS
South Windsor proved true to its slogan, "The Town Will Grow Power," during 1966 with the approval of three referendum bond issues totaling $5.5 million.
Town voters approved a bond issue of $2.2 million for the construction of the town's first middle school on Feb. 5 by a margin of nearly 2 to 1. The $2.2-million school is now being constructed on town-owned land adjacent to the Orchard Hill Elementary School.
A Contemporary Town Hall project is now under consideration. The new town hall, which will replace the facility located on Main St. circa 1914, will be constructed on the new post office site adjacent to the new town hall.
Additional action has been taken by the Wapping Post Office and plans now call for construction of the new post office adjacent to the new town hall.

Cheaper in the long run.

Gas will never cost you much. You'll get about 27 miles to the gallon.
And the amount of oil you use is like a drop in the bucket. It only takes 27 quarts and almost never needs more between fill-ups.
And the engine is air-cooled, so you don't have to spend a cent for antifreeze or rust inhibitors.
And you get more for your money's worth out of the car.
But don't think buying a new Volkswagen is just another get-rich-quick scheme.
You have to wait until the second set of tires wear out.

Columbia New School Addition Leads Firsts for '66

By VIRGINIA M. CARLSON
The Orange Camps, a youth group, ran into traffic difficulties although it might be more accurate to call them "At Last," or "Finally."
After three years of birth pangs, the 12-room addition to the Porter School was completed on an open house was held at the school last night.
It boasts its first kindergarten, its first full physical education program, and a well-equipped science lab. Long-devised lab equipment arrived during an open house was held at the school Dec. 31.
Science teachers don't have to fetch water in the hall anymore. It's piped right into the lab.
But the school is forming its first band. About 40 students have indicated interest. Presumably, the music supervisor will drum out those who don't qualify.

Town Issues Annual Report For the Past Fiscal Year

The annual report of the Town of Bolton for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1966 is not of the press and available in the selection's office.

It has been done this year free of charge, except for the cost of printing. The report is available to students at the high school.

The zoning board in its report lists the results of its two public hearings and notes that "building activity is down by $52,910 from last year." The total value of requests for permits from Sept. 15, 1965 to June 30, 1966 was $338,665.

The zoning board of appeals notes that "the town is apparently becoming adjusted to the requirements of zoning in as much as there were no requests for variances."

The report of the resident state policeman, covering July 1, 1965 through June 30, 1966 says that 64 criminal complaints were investigated, a reduction from the 75 complaints investigated the previous year.

"We believe this reflects very favorably," it continues, "on the added police service Bolton has instituted in view of the fact that the national average has shown a marked increase in criminal offenses in suburbia."

On the other hand, 76 accidents were investigated, compared to 54 the previous year, and 209 motor vehicle arrests were made compared to 141 motor vehicle and 27 criminal arrests the previous year.

The selection note a few of the many actions taken by the town during the year:

The chapter has been making an effort to celebrate each holiday with a donation to the center for pre-school mentally retarded children. They also supported the final piled ice cream for the school's Christmas party.

Mrs. Gordon Metevier, service committee chairman, is in charge of the project.
