

Early Senate Vote Requested by Dodd

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd said today he would "like a vote as soon as possible" on the resolution of the Senate ethics committee to censure him for financial misconduct.

The Connecticut Democrat talked briefly with newsmen before the Senate began a fifth day of debate on the resolution.

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., said he hoped to confer during the day with Dodd and with Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., the ethics committee chairman, about reaching a vote.

Mansfield said he didn't know how much longer Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., Dodd's self-appointed defender, intended to speak.

"I had anticipated he might have finished on last Friday, but that anticipation didn't come to pass," Mansfield said.

Earlier Mansfield had said he hoped for a vote on Tuesday or Wednesday.

In the Senate today, Sen. A. B. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., said that if the Senate did not censure Dodd for personal expenditure of testimonial dinner funds, it would invite "contamination... of the well of democracy."

Monroney, a member of the ethics committee, told his colleagues that if the theory was established that a senator could use such funds as gifts in any manner he chose, the road to major scandal would be opened.

"What is to prevent these modest donations of the party faithful from growing into outright attempts to use vast sums of money to influence votes in other legislative bodies by staging 'testimonials', the income from which, as 'gifts', would be outside the reach of present statutes?" he asked.

"What would the ante be and how rapidly would it grow into a major scandal if attempted vote buying in legislative bodies?"

Monroney said the lack of any Senate rule against the personal use of funds raised at political dinners did not justify or excuse such practices.

"As senators," he said, "we must meet the standards of conduct expected of a senator by the public and we have the duty to punish those who do not."

Sen. Long said in New Orleans Saturday he was gaining votes for Dodd but was far short of the majority needed to defeat a censure resolution.

Long declined to say how many of the potential 100 votes are lined up for Dodd.

Long was to resume today his speech in defense of Dodd, 60, accused of converting $116,083 in political funds to his own use and knowingly double-billing the Senate and private organizations for travel expenses on seven trips.

The Senate will vote separately on the two counts.

Dodd spent the weekend preparing his final plea. He contends he has never profited from holding public office.

The possibility of a filibuster had loomed as the Senate concluded the first week of debate when Long called for a vote Friday on the double-billing charge. This was blocked by Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, vice chairman of the ethics committee.

Bennett said there was some feeling that if the double-billing count should be voted down, a filibuster might be mounted against bringing the other count to a vote. It is regarded as the more serious.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said the ethics committee, after spending 14 months investigating Dodd, was entitled to decide which count should be voted on first.

"After all," he said, "it is not just Sen. Dodd who is on trial. The committee is on trial, too."

Dirksen said that when the investigation began there was "a lot of cynical comment around the country about a whitewash."

Under Senate rules the charge involving political funds would be voted on first unless unanimous consent were obtained to reverse the voting order.

"Since the parliamentary advantage is with us, why should we throw it away?" Bennett asked. But he added the committee might go along with voting first on the double-billing count if agreement could be reached fixing a time for voting on the other charge.

Regardless of the outcome, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield believes the Senate must enact a code of ethics this year.

LBJ Links Withdrawal To Other Negotiations

Outlines Five Point Peace Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson declared today that "certainly troops must be withdrawn" from conquered territory in the war-torn Middle East but firmly linked the pull-back to negotiations of a general Arab-Israeli peace settlement.

In a major statement of U.S. policy, the President dealt with the withdrawal of Israeli forces from captured Arab territory as a matter for negotiation along with the problem of Arab refugees, freedom of passage, through international waterways, Arab recognition of Israel's right to exist, and a limitation on the Middle East arms race.

"Certainly troops must be withdrawn, but there must also be recognized rights of national life—progress in solving the refugee problem, freedom of innocent maritime passage, limitation of the arms race, and respect for political independence and territorial integrity," Johnson said.

The President added that a simple withdrawal of Israeli forces would "not be a prescription for peace but for renewed hostilities," unless accompanied by negotiations for a general peace settlement in the area.

Johnson, laying down "five great principles of peace" for the Middle East, appealed to the nations there to shun another arms race, abandon "a diet of hate," and strive for a settlement.

"The world is watching," he said, "for the peace of the world is at stake."

The five principles are:

- "First, the recognized right of national life.
- "Second, justice for the refugees.
- "Third, innocent maritime passage.

Kosygin Asks Assembly To Condemn Israelis

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin asked the United Nations General Assembly today to condemn Israel as an aggressor against the Arabs and order the Israelis to withdraw all their forces immediately from Arab territory.

The Soviet leader, addressing an emergency U.N. session, accused the United States of encouraging Israel to war on the Arabs, promised Soviet support for the Arab cause, and warned members of the United Nations that the world was watching to see if it was "able" to rebuff aggression.

Kosygin spoke only an hour after President Johnson in Washington had delivered a major policy statement urging international cooperation in the search for Middle East peace. The day thus brought indirect confrontation of the leaders of the world's two most powerful nations.

The Soviet leader warned that conflict in the Middle East could lead to nuclear war. He presented a resolution seeking condemnation of Israel, its withdrawal from Arab territories, and restitution by Israel to the Arabs "in the shortest possible period of time all the damage inflicted by its aggression upon the U.A.R. (Egypt), Syria and Jordan and their nationals."

Kosygin's resolution appealed to the assembly "to undertake on its part immediate effective measures in order to eliminate all the consequences of the aggression committed by Israel."

Israel retorted promptly and directly after a minute of applause for Kosygin had died away. Taking the rostrum, Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban said all Israel's troubles were aggravated "by the unbalanced policy of the Soviet Union."

"The Soviet Union has for 15 years been unfaithful" to the responsibilities it has as a great power, he said. He added: "The burden lies heavily upon her. It

Heavy Air Raids Continue

U.S. Cavalry Foils VC Guerrilla Force

SAIGON (AP) — A hard-core battalion of some 800 guerrillas left 45 dead on a blackened battlefield today after failing to storm the bivouac of a U.S. armored cavalry force.

Attempting to smash into American positions just after midnight, the guerrillas were met by the heaviest guns in the U.S. arsenal—175mm cannon raining 200-pound shells on the attackers.

Military headquarters said eight men of the U.S. 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment were killed and 31 wounded in the savage one-hour battle about 40 miles east of Saigon.

It was the only significant ground action reported in the day's communique although there was scattered and occasionally sharp fighting elsewhere. U.S. warplanes kept up their heavy raids on North Vietnam with 130 missions Sunday, including strikes on Hanoi's rail supply lines, the showpiece Thai Nguyen steel plant north of the capital and a surface-to-air missile site.

The American cavalrymen got a brief warning of impending attack when a small night patrol ran into a Communist recollis rifle team. The U.S. patrol was evidently the surrounded by guerrillas heading for the main cavalry bivouac.

While the guerrillas of the hard-core 274th Regiment smashed at the U.S. line with recoilless rifles, 50 caliber machine guns and infantry assaults, the cavalry commander called for air and artillery support.

An American fleetship lit the battlefield, a helicopter gunship strafed the Communists surrounding the isolated patrol. The 175mm cannon began to lay down a fire curtain barely 50 yards from the main American camp.

Within an hour the Viet Cong battalion pulled back into the darkness. The cavalry unit reported at daylight that 45 bodies were found and more had evidently been carried off in the darkness.

In the air war, American pilots continued to concentrate on Hanoi's rail connections with Red China.

The Air Force communique noted that Hanoi's main north-east rail line has been heavily pounded on 12 of the past 18 days.

Although the weather was cloudy over much of North Vietnam Sunday, Air Force pilots from Thailand and Navy fliers from three aircraft carriers hit rail, road and river supply lines from north of Hanoi down to the border of South Vietnam.

Although one MIG21 was sighted, it made no effort to interfere with the U.S. raiders.

A spokesman noted that the cloudy weather of the past five days has been poor for aerial dogfights. The ceiling usually has been only about 3,000 feet and American warplanes are seldom below that level for very long.

The cloud cover has also hampered assessment of damage in recent raids, the spokesman said.

NASSER MAKES CHANGE

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt announced sweeping changes in the government today and named himself premier of a new Cabinet, Cairo Radio said.

The Cabinet shuffle came 10 days after Nasser had offered to resign in the wake of the Arab-Israeli war. His resignation was withdrawn when the National Assembly refused to accept it. Cairo Radio said Nasser had appointed four vice presidents, one of them Zakaria Mohieddin, whom he had named as his successor when he resigned.

Radcliffe Grad Wed

Girl's Ad for Hubby Gets Indirect Result

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Last year a Radcliffe girl got 250 replies to her advertisement in the Harvard Crimson saying she wanted to get married for one year to escape dormitory life.

"What happened?"

"I got married," says Beth Lusey.

As a result of the ad?

"Not really, not directly," Mrs. Lusey says. "But it did get me out of the dorm."

Beth, 21, and a native of Pittsburgh, Pa., married Michael Lusey, 23, of Syosset, N.Y., last January. She was graduated from Radcliffe a few days ago and will go to graduate work in Russian studies next semester while her husband finishes his last year at Harvard Law School.

Beth says she and Michael knew each other before she ran the ad, which drew responses from as far as Vietnam and from a person who described himself as "a red-blooded Alaskan bartender."

At the time of the ad, Beth declined public use of her name to avoid calls from "kooks," but agreed to be identified now when interviewed. She declined to give her full maiden name.

"It all died down slowly," Beth says. "But I still have some of the answers. I'm saving them for my grandchildren at Harvard come this response: 'A marriage seems a much better solution than a mere roommate. I will be busy with papers until May 3, but I hope you will let me take you to dinner' after that, 'I have furniture.'"

But from Winfield, Kan., a girl from Southwestern College asked: "What about the meals you would have to prepare and the extra domestic duties you would have to perform? Perhaps what we need is not relaxed regulations but increased self-discipline."

Three soldiers in Vietnam wrote: "We have decided that as upstanding all-American men first, and soldiers second, it is our honorable duty to all womenfolk to help alleviate the problem which you are facing."

"We realize that to offer you shelter in our humble abode would present a small transportation problem, so if you are not adverse to the suggestion, we will have to temporarily maintain separate households until the small matter of a war is straightened out."

Beth's ad was a protest against Radcliffe rules prohibiting students from living off-campus. This spring 23 coeds held a five-day hunger strike with the same complaint. The rules are unchanged.

No Hurricane Discovered in Suspicious Area

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A hurricane hunter pilot flew today into a "suspicious area" in the Atlantic 500 miles northeast of Puerto Rico and found no signs of storm development.

"It's just a band of showery weather," said Gordon Dunn, head of the National Hurricane Center. "It's very doubtful that anything will come of it."

The suspicious area was the fifth during the 19-day-old hurricane season.

An aerial examination Sunday revealed a large area of clouds and a weak wind circulation, but there were few signs of intensification.

Since the Atlantic and Gulf storm season opened June 1, three tropical depressions and two other areas of suspicion have been reported.

One of the disturbances moved inland over North Carolina.

Police said a woman passenger shot four other passengers.

Construction Strike Showdown Delayed

HARTFORD (AP) — A confrontation between opposing elements of construction workers—led by a dispute that has halted millions of dollars worth of projects in the state—appeared today to be off for at least a few days.

No official comment came from spokesmen, but it was believed that concerned parties wanted to wait for talks between the Teamsters Union and contractors early this week.

Operating engineers had been set to cross Teamster picket lines today. It was reported that some engineers did show up for work at various projects but encountered no problems.

A steady rain, which normally kills construction, came down—also playing a role in delaying a confrontation.

Teamsters and contractors met for three hours last Friday at the State Labor Department in Wetherfield. Commissioner Renato Ricciuti said at the time that both sides agreed to try to set up a bargaining session early this week.

Elwood L. Metz, an official of the operating engineers' union, said during the weekend that the Teamsters "think they can bulldoze people, but not my men."

Metz was reacting to a report that Walter Dinkoski, an official of the Teamsters Union local based in Waterbury, threatened "head busting" if members of any other union tried to cross Teamsters picket lines.

Metz said Sunday that many of the Teamsters have found other jobs while the strike and lockout in the construction industry in Connecticut has put 3,000 of the operating engineers out of work. Not more than 1,200 Teamsters are actually on strike, he said.

The Teamsters, meanwhile, reportedly rejected over the weekend the latest contract proposal put forward by the management bargaining group, which is composed of 150 firms.

Dinkoski said Saturday at a meeting of his local that the proposal would have meant a wage boost of $1.42 an hour over five years.

Management negotiators "turned pale when we told them we were holding out for $1.50 over a three-year contract," he said.

Management, meanwhile,

Young GOP Convention Under Way

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Campaigning for the chairmanship of the Young Republican National Federation was in full cry today as the under-40 Republicans opened their first day of 1967 convention.

Only committee meetings and sessions of college Republicans were on the agenda for the first two days, leaving the campaigners plenty of time to seek support. The first general session of the convention will be Wednesday. Officers will be elected Friday.

Jack McDonald of Tennessee, James Betts of Ohio and Ray Cooper of Arkansas are the announced candidates for the chairmanship being vacated by State Sen. Tom Van Riekle of Kansas. McDonald, a conservative, is given a strong advantage in pre-convention speculation.

With Betts labored a moderate and Cooper called a Rockefeller-type because he is on the staff of Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller of Arkansas, McDonald is the favorite. He has a strong record in pre-convention speculation.

Also under consideration will be the Young Republican's relationship with the senior wing of the party. Young Chairman Ray Betts would like to exercise some degree of control over Young Republican policy and finances without eroding the younger group's autonomy, but proposed by this end have not been promised clear sailing.

Speakers at the convention will include Michigan Gov. George Romney and California Gov. Ronald Reagan, whose names are mentioned frequently as presidential possibilities in the future. Former Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, the party's 1964 nominee, also is on the program.

He waited seven years before producing another opera, "Frustrated" revived in 1950. "Salome" after the Oscar Wilde work let's talk about Richard Strauss. Born in 1864, he lived and composed until 1905, which brings him right down to our times. He still is controversial because of his harmonies but because of his melodies. He is generally followed in Wagner's footsteps, particularly in regard to orchestration. Early composers generally scored by two, that is, two flutes, two oboes, two bassoons, two trumpets, and so on. Some later composers got down by three. Wagner scored by four so he could have complete quartets in each tone color and despite the large number of men in his orchestra, his music is not generally extremely loud. Once in a while he gets noisy, particularly in depicting storms but in general he uses the orchestra with restraint.

Strauss not only scored by four, he quite frequently used eight French horns and other instruments in proportion. Very often he does this merely to make more noise, particularly in his early works. Later he turned down.

From Liszt had developed the musical form we know today as a "symphonic poem." We have found that music has been generally tried to paint pictures and tell stories, using the structure of the symphony, but Liszt joined the formal structure and evolved a much looser form which allowed him considerably more latitude in telling his stories.

Other composers followed suit and Richard Strauss was no exception. The first one was brought out when he was only 26, and he called it "Don Juan, ten-penny opera for orchestra." There are several versions of Don Juan and Strauss wanted it to be a play that he was following Liszt's treatment of the tale.

Here, Don Juan is not just a rake, his amorous new undertone is an pursuit of an ideal woman. This ideal woman idea comes up also in a later work, "Die Frau ohne Schatten," which is "Don Quixote," likewise with considerable frequency. It features solo color and solo viola.

So it's not surprising to find that Strauss married, although he would call it was 29 for the opera, although he was married by a few months. They had celebrated their golden wedding 37 years before.

"Sinfonia Domestica," one of his later tone-poems features solo violin, and my wife and I were Warren Story Smith once reviewed it as "A busy day in the Strauss household, in which Frau Strauss assumes her customary role as first fiddler."

"The Erlangen" is still commonly heard, and to some extent, "Zambluska." The rest of his symphonic poems have more or less fallen by the wayside. Some weren't too hot to begin with, and others definitely show their age.

Strauss also wrote operas. His first was "Guntram," in which his wife sang the female lead while he conducted. This was in May of 1894 and they were married the following September.

PLAY HAND WELL IF IT IS STOLEN

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

When you marry a girl, you promise to love, cherish and support, but you don't understand let her play many bridge hands. There is a limit to everything. Still, if you steal a hand from her, don't miff her over it. You'll never hear the end of it.

Opening lead—king of clubs. When today's hand was played in a household match, declarer ruffed the opening club lead in dummy and drew three rounds of trumps. That was three years ago, and he still bears about this hand now and then.

South switched to diamonds when the trump was failed to break and West ruffed the third diamond. Declarer cashed a club to defeat the hand.

The correct line of play, as the wife in the case has pointed out many times, was simply to lead with a diamond to claim the rest of the tricks.

A shrewd husband must know when to yield if he wants to live a peaceful life.

Daily Question Partner play with one diamond, and the next play partner passes. You hold: Spades, 19; Hearts, 10-8-3; Diamonds, 5-2; Clubs, K-Q-4-5.

What do you say? Answer: Bid one heart. The hand is not strong enough for a response of two clubs, but you can afford to show your hearts at the level of one.

Manchester Evening Herald Andover correspondent Mrs. Harry Hammer, 88th district State Senator, candidate for the State Senate last fall and Mr. and Mrs. John McCallister, who were at the dinner, were the guests of honor.

Other guests from Manchester included Mrs. John McCallister, who was at the dinner, were the guests of honor.

Fanatics Killed
MANILA (AP) — Seven members of an independent Philippine Catholic sect were killed today by a band of 200 anti-Christian fanatics who attacked their headquarters in the central Philippine village of Sta. Viata, the Philippine Constabulary reported.

A spokesman said the anti-Christian band fled after the battle and were being hunted by troops.

The spokesman said the dead were members of the "National Catholic Church." Earlier the constabulary reported that the fanatics, armed with assorted firearms, explosives, machetes and spears, had burned down several houses near Sta. Viata. Enmity between the two groups was given as the cause of the flareup.

'Corpsmen Go Home'
DAR ES SALAAM, Tanzania (AP) — A study group organized by mainland Tanzania's only political party says U.S. Peace Corps teachers and all other foreign teachers should be sent home and the government should control all schools.

The group urged that the schools teach socialism to overcome "English" reactionary ideas. Tanzania was formed by Tanganyika and the island of Zanzibar, both formerly ruled by Britain.

The report also urged abolition of religious instruction in the schools.

Navy to Rent Boat
LONDON (AP) — Britain's Royal Navy, once the world's biggest, is renting a boat for the next three weeks to keep its fleet of two fast patrol boats up to strength.

One of the navy's 88-foot patrol boats, Grave Swarman, is going in for an overhaul. To keep the fleet from being slashed in half, the navy hired a 7-year-old patrol boat from a shipbuilder.

A navy crew boarded her, read a warrant of commission, hoisted the white ensign, and the rented boat became Her Majesty's Perosity—for the next three weeks.

21 Vessels Waiting
CAPE TOWN, SOUTH AFRICA (AP) — With the Suez Canal closed since the Middle East war, 21 ships waited in line Sunday to enter Cape Town harbor to fuel on the voyage from Asia and East Africa to Europe.

It was the port's busiest Sunday in more than 10 years. Port Capt. A. C. Matson said shipping agents had advised him of more than 100 other vessels which had been diverted from Suez around southern Africa.

Port lookout officials went on

The Planning and Traffic Committee of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce will hold a meeting tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 at the Chamber office. The purpose is to discuss the new highway signs for the relocated Rt. 6. Walter Coughlin of the State Highway Department and Police Chief James Reardon are expected to attend the meeting.

Reardon Warren Howland, chairman of the Planning and Traffic Committee, said: "Since the Chamber spearheaded the drive for the $32,000,000 appropriation for the relocation of Rt. 6, we want to make sure that there is an adequate sign program for this new super-highway."

Father's Day 'Unproductive' For the Nugents

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Father's Day came and went and Luet Nugent said he saw no signs he baby's birth was imminent.

Counting on having the baby by Sunday, though, Luet had provided an oval picture frame as a Father's Day gift for President Johnson.

His grandchild's photo was supposed to go in it. Instead, Luet said she provided a poem, explaining about the empty frame. The felt lining of the picture frame was half in pink and half in blue, with question marks in pink on the blue and in blue on the pink.

Luet provided this information for reporters after she and her husband, Patrick J. Nugent, attended 11:15 a.m. Mass Sunday at St. Mary's Catholic church, St. Mary's Cathedral.

Nearby, at St. David's Episcopal church, Luet's mother, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, was attending the service. The first lady had been staying overnight with the Nugents at their fashionable Austin home to be with them when the baby comes.

In the first break, thieves netted more than $200 in cash. In the car crash, Charles E. Lyman, 21, of Wilmette, escaped injury Friday night when his car was driving toward the intersection of Main St. and South St.

Kosygin Tours Manhattan, Terms Visit 'Wonderful'

NEW YORK (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin took in the typical tourist sight of Manhattan Sunday, but let his limousine only twice to take a walk — along Wall Street and a Fifth Avenue area of expensive shops.

Following his 2 1/2-hour, 35-mile trip, Kosygin summed it up through an interpreter as "wonderful."

With Kosygin in the air-conditioned car equipped with bullet-proof glass were his daughter, Ludmila Cyrilovna, Soviet Ambassador to the United States Anastas G. Dobrynin, and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

They were surrounded by a large crowd of photographers and newsmen were kept at least 50 feet from the party.

Among the sights shown Kosygin were Central Park, Greenwich Village, Chinatown, the Empire State Building, Harlem, the Bowery, the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, Brooklyn Bridge, Union Square, Trinity Church, Grand Central Terminal, and the East Village, the hippest neighborhood in New York.

People crumbled "like bowling pins" being knocked down, he said, as he walked through the city.

Kosygin became the first Soviet premier to set foot in the Wall Street financial district.

On the debris field of Glampole, he had two broken legs.

"I'm okay, father," he told the Rev. Manuel de Santos, assistant pastor of Our Lady Queen of Angels Catholic church. "You better look at someone else."

On Fifth Avenue the premier walked from 38th Street to 23rd Street.

The few passersby showed only mild curiosity. One woman crashed against a column supporting the porch roof of a restaurant. The tile roof collapsed.

Trucker-Author Will See Fruits Of Book's Sales

WALTHAM, Mass. (AP) — James J. Fahy, the Waltham garbage-truck driver who wrote the best seller "Pacific War Diary" and gave all proceeds away, is going to India for the dedication of a church built with his money.

Waltham community leaders are raising funds to underwrite an eight-day trip to the village of Mettupatti, in south India. He'll fly from Boston July 19 for ceremonies July 22.

Fahy's church, Our Lady, Queen of the Missions, seats 2,200 and is distinguished by 7 pillars. Its pastor, the Rev. S.K. Michael, was befriended by Fahy before the Waltham author wrote his book.

A portion of the church's more than $60,000 cost was donated by others inspired by the author's philanthropy.

The trip will be Fahy's first outside the United States since his World War II Navy duty ended in 1954.

All but a few months of his last three-year hitch were in the Pacific aboard the light cruiser USS Montpelier, which participated in 25 battles.

Notes Fahy kept aboard the Montpelier were compiled and published in June, 1963. The diary has had six hard-cover printings and more than 200,000 copies.

Fahy still drives his garbage truck for eight hours daily. His net gross income is about $100 a week.

Tolland County Tax Relief for the Elderly Goes in Effect Next Year

The recently passed Tax Relief for the Elderly Act, according to State Rep. Robert D. King, R-Tolland, will be available for most claimants on the tax payment due July 1968, according to King.

King listed several questions relating to the benefits of the act which he had been unable to first answer. Many of these questions may have to be clarified by the 1968 session of the legislature, he stated.

He questioned whether other exemptions such as veterans, birth services and disability, and other exemptions would be permitted in addition to the elderly exemption.

"If the tax rate goes down (perhaps an untidy event) does the freeze continue to apply?"

"If upon re-evaluation or improvement of the property, which increases the assessed valuation, does the tax to be paid remain the same?"

King noted he had received a considerable number of inquiries relating to the tax relief for the elderly legislation.

The 1967 session of the legislature passed 90 per cent of the act submitted by Rep. King, despite the Democratic opposition of both houses. King noted.

Included in those were the plan of the Tolland Town Clerk on a salary basis rather than on a fee basis, and as at present; a bill extending the time limit before a town has to raise bonds; and a bill which prevents the state to turn over to local towns all facilities to be provided in which they are located.

Manchester And The Ghetto

There is a racial issue involved in any and all planning for future public housing in Manchester, and we all know it.

The racial issue is involved because of the time, and because of our situation. This is the time when a Negro has just been appointed to the Supreme Court of the United States, to be one among nine Justices.

Manchester is a place which, although it is geographically close to a huge center of concentrated Negro population, in the North End of Hartford, has relatively few Negro residents, perhaps only one Negro in several hundreds of population.

One thing is certain. There has already begun to be, and there will be, from now on, a continuing increase in the number of Negro families looking in Manchester.

There is really only one question which is open for decision in the realm of the unofficial and the official policy which is going to have something or anything to say about this future change toward a greater absorption by Manchester of Negro residents.

This is the question of how it shall be accomplished, and what kind of picture it will present, as it makes its inevitable progress.

Small it continue along the slow but certain, very excellent line it has been following in the past few years—with the quiet addition of individual Negro families to various neighborhoods?

Or shall it become more of a concerted movement, into greater concentrations in a series of special areas?

If there is one principle we think Manchester should follow as it extends, as it should and must, a welcome to new residents, it is this: that we should not tolerate, above all we should not follow any formula which might lead into any new concentration of racial groupings here in Manchester which would wind up merely duplicating, in momentary different surroundings, the same ghetto from which the movement outward has to take place.

This is how the racial issue does enter, and legitimately so, and without any connotation of prejudice or backwardness on the part of those who think this way, into any consideration of any public housing proposal from this time forward. We shall serve nobody and serve no good if we merely attempt to deal with the ghetto in Hartford by transferring lumps of ghetto to Hartford's suburbs, thereby establishing new segregation in new surroundings. The cure is integration, the goal is integration. A community's door should be open, but it should not funnel new entrants toward any special location.

His Tarnished Usefulness At End

Modern Israel dates from 1949, and has, demonstrably, been able to accomplish miraculous wonders in this short period of existence as a nation.

Modern Egypt is slightly younger, and has much less to show for its modern freedom as a nation. It was in 1952 that the revolution of the colonels led to the ousting of King Farouk, and an end to the obvious corruption, and slovenly leadership into which Egypt had collapsed shortly after it finally obtained its freedom from virtual rule by Britain in the 1930's.

Israel had the advantage of starting with something of a clean slate in its new modern existence, with fresh, resourceful talent drawn from all classes and societies all over the world.

Modern Egypt began with a backward mess. It had over-population where Israel had under-population; it had entrenched powers and privileges whereas Israel was able to obtain an instant new order, so to speak; and it almost totally lacked, except for some vague yearning for it among some Egyptians who had managed to rise out of the squalid villages, that feeling of unity of aspiration and that feeling of nationalization which came so easily to Israel.

In Egypt, as in some other Arab states, backwardness has not been the result of contented indifference or corruption. It has been the result of the relationship between tremendous difficulty, for one thing, relative poverty of middle class talent, for another, and less than glorious top leadership, for something else. And there has been one other factor which has not helped Egypt and the other Arab states. Outside powers have preferred to play spheres of influence games with them, with arms as the bait, rather than to help them realize their own free destinies. The big powers of the world have been a corrupting, not a stabilizing influence in the Near East.

These are some of the reasons, aside from whatever his personal characteristics may be judged to be, President Nasser of Egypt has become something of a desperado. Confronted with enormous social and economic difficulties at home, treated to shallow maneuvering from the great powers abroad, he has, like many a dictator before him, tried to substitute bombast and foreign bribes for domestic achievement and progress. Some of his more striking acts, like the nationalization of the Suez Canal, have been provoked and at least partially justified by the way outside great powers were trying to box him around for their own purposes.

But he himself has to bear prime responsibility for the disaster to which he has just exposed his country, by in one breath, no matter how often we deny it with our tongues or our official pronouncements of policy.

For all his terrible failure, for all his wrong gambles, for all his weakness in succumbing to violent dreams beyond his own leadership or the capacity of his people, Nasser remains, unfortunately, the nearest thing to a national leader the people of Egypt have. But he is not good enough. He should step down. He should be persuaded to go.

He should yield the scene, not so much because he personally is a villain as because he has been too much the helpless creature of unparalleled difficulties. No one can lead Egypt quickly into the twentieth century. No one can lead in that direction at all who thinks the door lies somewhere outside Egypt's own boundaries. Nasser loves his country; he has aspirations for his people; there has never been any doubt of that, even in the midst of his admiration of Nasser, too. But if his love of country were great enough, his aspirations high enough, he himself would go to find an exit into which he once helped chase the fat and corrupt King Farouk, and find the Egyptian revolution, which was long overdue, a chance to set itself more clearly, and more exclusively, into paths of domestic accomplishment. He has himself actually accomplished something in this field. His 14 years have been years of unparalleled domestic progress for Egypt. But it has not begun to be enough. It has been spoiled by his jingoistic adventurism. His tarnished usefulness seems at an end.

Devil's Workshop

Work has always been central to mankind's existence. It is so much a part of most cultures that its virtue has been written into the religious scriptures, extolled in the folklore, and become a psychological necessity as well as a physical one. Civilization is based on alter this—perhaps slowly at first but eventually drastically.

Our ideas on leisure will also change. Most people today do not recognize the true value of leisure. Some of them are so conditioned to their daily work routines that they refer to their free time as "time to kill." But leisure can and should be a treasured commodity, and throughout history there are many examples of it as a highly creative force. Many of our greatest inventions and scientific concepts were arrived at during moments of leisure, some springing actually from playthings. A little leisure has always been treasured and there have been societies in which certain men and women lived in almost complete leisure, though at the expense of others' labor. But the idea of almost an entire civilization living in even relative leisure is beyond the comprehension of many of us, and still frowned upon by most others.

"Idle hands are the devil's workshop" we are told by those who see only disaster in mass leisure. That is because they see leisure only as idleness, unemployment, vegetative loafing or a prelude to restlessness leading in turn to a venting of energies in aggression and destruction. I do not doubt that if today we were to have sudden massive leisure—let's still call it "unemployment"—that all the horrors these people envision would come true. But it is a failure of imagination to believe that a transition to the Cybernetic Age cannot be made in which leisure can become central to man's existence and his greatest blessing. And we are going to have to prepare, eventually, and perhaps sooner than we think, for a new, perhaps meaningful, creative way, the growing leisure that is bound to exist.

A civilization equipped and educated to live in an era of relative leisure can be a new Golden Age—one without a war, or a base, other than those mechanical and cybernetic slaves produced by the ingenuity of a higher level of man. Such an age does not have to be, as a few predict, a civilization of drugged, purposeless people controlled by a small elite. But it does tragically become that if we do nothing but let ourselves be swept along by some of the forces in motion today. —GLENN T. DEARBORN, CHAIRMAN OF THE U.S. ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION, IN THE KEY REPORTER. A PUBLICATION OF PHI BETA KAPPA

MOTIF NO. 1: ROCKPORT

Inside Report

By Rowland Evans Jr. Robert D. Novak

WASHINGTON — Although precise details are held secret, General William Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Vietnam, wants to bring nearly 140,000 new U.S. troops into the fighting—making a total of 600,000-plus.

Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara's trip to Saigon to confer with Westmoreland, however, won't produce official confirmation. In a Presidential confirmation, McNamara has approved a ground-troop escalation approaching anything like that.

The far more likely prospect is that Mr. Johnson will approve the reinforcement only in staggered amounts. Thus, if the McNamara-Westmoreland conference produces any announcement at all, it will be something less than 80,000 reinforcements.

The budget for fiscal year 1968, which starts July 1, is based on a troop level of 500,000 Americans in South Vietnam. There is reason to believe, however, that this estimate underestimates the war cost by as much as $5 billion. Further reinforcements anything close to Westmoreland's request would, of course, swell the budget deficit, which the Administration now very conservatively estimates at $14 billion.

Thus the President's decision on Westmoreland's request for more troops is highly dependent on fiscal, as opposed to military, criteria.

If the war cost creates a 1968 deficit of even close to the $20 billion figure now being estimated by Congressional pessimists, President Johnson will face an economic crisis fully as difficult as his military headache in Vietnam.

The death of President Johnson's plan to merge the Department of Labor and Commerce was directly due to AFL-CIO President George Meany's inability to deliver his AFL-CIO executive council as promised.

The story of how this well-laid plan went awry starts with the President's penchant for super-secrecy. Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz did not know about Mr. Johnson's plan to merge the two departments until the Sunday before the State of the Union message was delivered to Congress on Tuesday, January 10.

Anticipating an angry reaction from bureaucrats in both Labor and Commerce, Mr. Johnson kept the merger secret until the White House until the last minute. The proposal was inserted in the State of the Union message on Sunday only after the President had cleared it with Meany. Mr. Big of U.S. labor, with Meany's assent, thought Mr. Johnson's plan would have clear sailing in Congress no matter what bureaucrats thought.

But when the proposal was unveiled, on Jan. 10, powerful members of the AFL-CIO executive council screamed. When Meany presided over a routine meeting of the council in February, criticism of the merger overwhelmed him. Caught between his own angry colleagues and his earlier consent to President Johnson, Meany took the obvious out: He went back to the President, explained that the merger had pleased a hornet's nest, and withdrew his approval. That explains the President's own decision to back away.

A fortuity. Administration chiefs claim the plan is still

Rep. King on '67 Assembly: 'Success in Spite of Itself'

The 1967 session of the legislature was a success in spite of itself, according to State Rep. Robert D. King, R-Tolland.

The General Assembly passed into history on Wednesday June 7 at 12:02 p.m. In the chaotic climax, an important number of bills were left on the books, according to King.

"The usual procedure was the order of the day, and the Secretary of State, 'as in her custom' but perhaps a few weeks late, 'did move the State of Connecticut,' he said.

"Orderly it was not," he said. "For a demonstration of raw, unbridled emotion in the House, the session probably has no equal in the annals of recent history. The session these men pushed through measures that were clearly in violation of the statute and the Connecticut constitution."

"Many of these will be challenged in the courts and one, the compensation increase for judges, has already been declared unconstitutional by the Second Circuit Federal District Court."

"The session failed to assume the responsibility imposed upon it by its history; it failed to do the things which it ought to have done, and it failed to do the things which it ought to have done."

"Called by any procedural standard the session must be judged an 'abject' failure," according to King. "The legislative accomplishments were numerous, however, and historic. A dozen major programs were passed, and other were long needed to bring the state up to date or to put the state in the leadership of the field, he said.

"Many of these programs could have been improved by amendments from the minority, but all were treated in violation when coming to the floor of either house."

"Most of these bills had bipartisan support in principle, and some were further refinements of minority ideas of the past. The shortcomings of the enactment of these measures are far outweighed by the character of the legislation itself. They will form a lasting monument to the 1967 General Assembly, the Republican representative emphasized.

He added the "session opened and the session pictured a dramatic shift in the degree of direct participation by the Administration in the origin of legislation. Many of the major acts were drafted and polished by Department Commissioners, sometimes through public hearings. Instructions were given to push them through."

The closest co-operation between the two branches of government was seen in the passage of the bill to create the State of Connecticut. The bill was introduced in the House by the Governor and passed by the Senate by a vote of 19-18.

Hearing Set on Regulating Local Collection of Refuse

The town council will hold a public hearing Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the high school building to consider a proposed ordinance regulating local refuse collection and hauling and the licensing of collectors and their vehicles.

The hearing will also concern a proposed amendment to the existing ordinance of the town covering operation of the town dump.

The proposed new ordinance calls for the licensing of all vehicles used for the collection of refuse with the licenses to be issued annually by the town manager. The requirement, however, excludes "an occupant of a dwelling or a member of his family who collects or hauls trash, rubbish or garbage which is incidental to the maintenance of the dwelling."

Persons engaged in hauling rubbish for profit, directly or indirectly, are to pay the town a fee of $200 per year for each vehicle used in the service within the limits of the town.

Persons, except occupants of dwellings, who use their own vehicles in lieu of the services of a refuse collector shall pay the town a fee of $5 for each vehicle used within the limits of the town.

The ordinance also stipulates that a temporary hauling license is to be required of any person engaged in the process of a demolition or construction of buildings or structures, and construction through the town for disposal within the limits of the town.

The licenses vehicles must meet construction requirements as to lighting, loading and safety as set by the town manager. Other items covered by the ordinance include schedules of fees for temporary hauling, vehicle inspection and the filing of routes for refuse collectors.

Violations of the ordinance could result in revocation of licenses and fines up to $200 or imprisonment for not more than 30 days or both.

The proposed amendment to the existing ordinance on the town dump operations provides for prohibiting the deposit in the town dump of radioactive, explosive, poisonous or similar hazardous materials.

The amendment also stipulates that no metal articles of other inorganic substance more than six feet in length are to be left at the dump and that where articles are left in the open, they are to be covered in the assigned area.

A regular meeting of the council will follow the public hearing. Items of unfinished business to come before the council will include an appointment of a member to the park and recreation commission; appointment of an elected constable and the appointment of a member to the public building commission.

Under passage of ordinances, the ordinance regarding the collection and hauling of refuse and revisions to the dump ordinance will be considered. Items of new business listed on the agenda include: Appointment of a full time constable; authorization and approval of inter-departmental appropriation transfers; and consideration of the report of the Historic District study committee as submitted to the town council.

Also, the transfer of uncollected refuse to the town dump.

Bolton Democrats Back Candidates For October Town Election

The Democratic Town Committee has announced its slate of candidates for the October town election. A party caucus will be held Thursday, July 6, in the Community Hall. The caucus can accept any or all of the district candidates or nominate from the floor.

The Republican caucus will be held Tuesday, July 11. In the caucus, the Republican Party will be asked to endorse the Democratic party. Republican candidates must file their names in the caucus before the caucus. The caucus then chooses those who have filed. There are no nominations from the floor.

At its meeting Friday night the Democratic Town Committee endorsed Selectman Bernard Sheehan for first selectman; Joseph Licina for second selectman; Mrs. Claire Warfel for clerk; Mrs. Maureen James Tomer picked and hit a home run; Wayne Past picked for White Glax.

Harold Porcherson and Dana Hansen were endorsed for four-year terms on the board of education. Porcherson is finishing up his second term on the board, and Hansen is serving an unexpired term. Porcherson's endorsement was not unanimous. The vote was 10 to 13 members of the town committee at the meeting.

Aloyas also was endorsed for a two-year unexpired term on the board of education. This vacancy will be contested next year, with the Republicans also putting up a candidate.

Seats Uncontested

Four seats on the board of education will not be contested, beyond the caucus, however, unless there is a primary election. There is an even number of four-year vacancies, each party is allowed by law to put up half the number of candidates.

The respective caucuses are therefore assured of election on October 3. This is true of no other board, but minority representation must be maintained. Committee-endorsed candidates on the board of finance are incumbent Paul Brown and William Virginia Butterfield and William Houde.

William Lopez was endorsed for assessor; Fred Barcomb (incumbent) and David Mitchell for the board of tax review; Ronald Farris for the zoning board of appeals; Frank Delaney and Clarence Wadman for the planning commission; incumbent Charles Lathrop and Michael Spertini, and Fred Stank for fire commissioners; and John Garthold, Edward Melchoe, Willam Andrejevich and William Houde.

The town committee at its meeting passed a motion that "said elected town officials be put on some sort of sick leave plan to clarify any confusing situations that may arise in the future concerning sickness or disability of town officials." The plan provided for a maximum of 30 days of sick leave.

This proposal will be sent to the selectmen and in the event of the resignation of any of the elected officials by the necessity of hiring a deputy tax collector because of the illness of the tax collector, that there is no such policy procedure among the town officials.

GOP Vacancies the Same

Republican vacancies are as follows: Selectman, town clerk, town treasurer, tax collector, board of finance—two for four years, one for two years; assessor—two; board of tax review—two for four, and one for two; constables—four; fire commissioners—two for six years, one for two years; zoning board of appeals—two for 1967-72, one for 1968-73; public building commission—two for six years, one for two years; one for 1967-72, one for 1968-73.

Republican candidates for nomination must file their names with the secretary of the town committee no later than July 5 with the secretary of the town committee, Mrs. Hope Grunsko, Coventry Rd., or the chairman, Milton Jensen, Rt. 85.

Confirmed yesterday during services at Bolton Congregational Church were Ellen Con-

Detroit Police Begin Return to Normal Shifts

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit's 4,700-man police force, faced with a court order banning work stoppages and threatened with massive suspensions by Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh, began returning to normal work shifts today, but the end of a feud with the city administration over a pay raise was not in sight.

The fight for an average annual pay hike of $1,465, led by the Detroit Police Officers Association, goes before a state labor mediation board today.

The protest began eight days ago when officers on the Motor Traffic Patrol began writing fewer tickets than normal, and a running over the shoulder catch by Kim Elmore, which ended the ball game. The team plays Hebron again Wednesday.

However, Police Commissioner Ray Girardin said only 41 men called in sick on the morning of last Sunday, compared with 121 on the same shift Saturday. The sick call list had reached 449 by late Saturday.

Girardin ordered men back to normal eight-hour work shifts Sunday, ending non-duty, 15-hour shifts ordered after the strike calls began.

The response of the men has been highly gratifying," said Girardin, who promised Saturday to try and get more pay for his men through state or federal aid.

However, Winston Livingston, police association attorney, said, "I don't feel it's over. I feel it has just begun."

The board of finance and the public building commission will meet at 6:00 a.m. on Monday to discuss the request by Frank Delaney of Chider Mill Rd. for permission to build a garage on his property in a manner that a variance on the side lines will be required.

Bulldozed Board

The fire department auxiliary will meet at 6:00 a.m. on Monday to discuss the request by Frank Delaney of Chider Mill Rd. for permission to build a garage on his property in a manner that a variance on the side lines will be required.

ZZA to Meet

The zoning board of appeals will meet tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Community Hall to hear a request by Frank Delaney of Chider Mill Rd. for permission to build a garage on his property in a manner that a variance on the side lines will be required.

4 Seats Uncontested

Four seats on the board of education will not be contested, beyond the caucus, however, unless there is a primary election. There is an even number of four-year vacancies, each party is allowed by law to put up half the number of candidates.

Garrison Protest Ignored, NBC Show Goes On

NEW YORK (AP)—A spokesman for the National Broadcasting Co. in the face of objections by New Orleans District Atty. Jim Garrison—says the network definitely will telecast tonight a program criticizing aspects of Garrison's investigation of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

William R. McAndrew, president of NBC News, also said Sunday the network expected Garrison to demand equal time and the network was "prepared for it."

The program, entitled "The JFK Conspiracy—the Case of Jim Garrison," is scheduled for 8 to 9 p.m. Saturday.

Garrison has said the actions of NBC make him believe it has "calculated objectives" of destroying his case against Clay L. Shaw in Garrison's investigation of the assassination.

Garrison has obtained an injunction charging Shaw, a retired New Orleans businessman, with conspiracy to murder in the death of Kennedy in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963.

Construction Strike Showdown Delayed

The contractors said they didn't want the operators to try to cross picket lines if it meant violence. But Metz gave no indication he was changing his back-to-work instructions to his men.

The Teamsters on strike today were afraid that violence may be against 18 construction firms in the management bargaining group.

The following day, all the rest of the firms shut down what they called a "defensive lock-out."

Way West Marked ST. LOUIS—Within two years it may be possible to retrace by car a route parallel to that taken by Morriewether Lewis and William Clark in opening the West.

The Lewis and Clark Trail Commission is marking roads near the route the explorers took into the wild 183 years ago. Governors of states along the route have joined the commission's work, which may include a hiking and bridle path.

A downpour early yesterday afternoon caused a washout in downtown Rockville at the new project. A trench was opened from Middle Rd. south to E. Main St.

The Thomas De Luca Construction Co. of Willimantic is putting in drainage pipe for the renewal area. Digging has been going on for some time, but the trenches had been filled and the top surfacing applied.

An abandoned drain is suspected to have undermined to recent work. At least one car was caught in the cave-in, but no one was injured.

De Luca sent a crew yesterday to put the street back in commission. Police Chief George A. Trapp headed re-routing of traffic.

Shortly after the washout occurred at 3 p.m. fire alarm box 23 at the corner of Park St. and Middle Rd. rang. Police at the scene saw no one setting it off, but the whole Rockville Fire Department turned out. No fire.

Break Reported

The student at Rockville Cinema on Sat. reported Sunday morning a break at the theater, through the side door. The office door was smashed and two wallets found in the theater were taken. Officers Edward Monahan and Emory Hubert are investigating.

At 10:10 last night Delmar L. Newsum, 21 of 107 High St., was arrested and charged with breach of peace, police said today.

Gregory P. Stone, 24 of 9 Village St., was charged with driving an unregistered motor vehicle last night, police said. Court appearance is set for July 11.

At its meeting Friday night the Democratic Town Committee endorsed Selectman Bernard Sheehan for first selectman; Joseph Licina for second selectman; Mrs. Claire Warfel for clerk; Mrs. Maureen James Tomer picked and hit a home run; Wayne Past picked for White Glax.

Harold Porcherson and Dana Hansen were endorsed for four-year terms on the board of education. Porcherson is finishing up his second term on the board, and Hansen is serving an unexpired term. Porcherson's endorsement was not unanimous. The vote was 10 to 13 members of the town committee at the meeting.

Aloyas also was endorsed for a two-year unexpired term on the board of education. This vacancy will be contested next year, with the Republicans also putting up a candidate.

Seats Uncontested

Four seats on the board of education will not be contested, beyond the caucus, however, unless there is a primary election. There is an even number of four-year vacancies, each party is allowed by law to put up half the number of candidates.

William Lopez was endorsed for assessor; Fred Barcomb (incumbent) and David Mitchell for the board of tax review; Ronald Farris for the zoning board of appeals; Frank Delaney and Clarence Wadman for the planning commission; incumbent Charles Lathrop and Michael Spertini, and Fred Stank for fire commissioners; and John Garthold, Edward Melchoe, Willam Andrejevich and William Houde.

The town committee at its meeting passed a motion that "said elected town officials be put on some sort of sick leave plan to clarify any confusing situations that may arise in the future concerning sickness or disability of town officials." The plan provided for a maximum of 30 days of sick leave.

This proposal will be sent to the selectmen and in the event of the resignation of any of the elected officials by the necessity of hiring a deputy tax collector because of the illness of the tax collector, that there is no such policy procedure among the town officials.

GOP Vacancies the Same

Republican vacancies are as follows: Selectman, town clerk, town treasurer, tax collector, board of finance—two for four years, one for two years; assessor—two; board of tax review—two for four, and one for two; constables—four; fire commissioners—two for six years, one for two years; zoning board of appeals—two for 1967-72, one for 1968-73; public building commission—two for six years, one for two years; one for 1967-72, one for 1968-73.

Four seats on the board of education will not be contested, beyond the caucus, however, unless there is a primary election. There is an even number of four-year vacancies, each party is allowed by law to put up half the number of candidates.

The respective caucuses are therefore assured of election on October 3. This is true of no other board, but minority representation must be maintained. Committee-endorsed candidates on the board of finance are incumbent Paul Brown and William Virginia Butterfield and William Houde.

William Lopez was endorsed for assessor; Fred Barcomb (incumbent) and David Mitchell for the board of tax review; Ronald Farris for the zoning board of appeals; Frank Delaney and Clarence Wadman for the planning commission; incumbent Charles Lathrop and Michael Spertini, and Fred Stank for fire commissioners; and John Garthold, Edward Melchoe, Willam Andrejevich and William Houde.

The town committee at its meeting passed a motion that "said elected town officials be put on some sort of sick leave plan to clarify any confusing situations that may arise in the future concerning sickness or disability of town officials." The plan provided for a maximum of 30 days of sick leave.

This proposal will be sent to the selectmen and in the event of the resignation of any of the elected officials by the necessity of hiring a deputy tax collector because of the illness of the tax collector, that there is no such policy procedure among the town officials.

GOP Vacancies the Same

Republican vacancies are as follows: Selectman, town clerk, town treasurer, tax collector, board of finance—two for four years, one for two years; assessor—two; board of tax review—two for four, and one for two; constables—four; fire commissioners—two

Don Wilson Won't Mind Passing Up Breakfast Again If It Means Champagne Before Dinner

NEW YORK (AP) — Don Wilson won't mind passing up another breakfast just as long as it means champagne before dinner.

The 22-year-old first baseman picked an overpowering 2-0 no-hitter in the National League since 1965 against the usually potent Atlanta Braves Sunday.

The 6-foot-3 right-hander walked three Braves, but struck out 15 — including five of the first six — in hurling the first no-hitter in the Astrodome. And he did it all in an empty stomach.

"I didn't change one thing today," he said between sips of the bubbly in the chaotic Astrodome clubhouse. "Oh, yes, there was one thing I didn't do. I didn't eat breakfast for me. She wasn't feeling good."

Wilson said he would be eating breakfast before his next start.

"I'll try it one more time and see what happens," he said.

Elsewhere in the NL, St. Louis trimmed San Francisco 4-1 to move past Cincinnati into first place while Los Angeles edged Philadelphia 5-3 and the Chicago Cubs split a doubleheader with the New York Mets, winning 4-3 after losing by the same score in 10 innings.

ASTROS-BRAVES — Wilson, who got a saving grace from third baseman Bob Aponte in the sixth inning, pitched to stymie the Braves, hitting Rico Carter, Charlie Lau and Clete Boyer.

In the ninth, Felipe Aouf fanned out to Aponte, Tito Francona fanned — and slugger Hank Aaron stood between Wilson and the champagne.

"I consider him one of the best pitchers in the game," Wilson said later.

Wilson, who came into the game with a 3-3 record, retiring the first 14 batters before walking Menke in the fifth.

The former Houston pitcher didn't want to eat, but he walked Menke in the eighth, then struck out pinch hitters Rico Carter, Charlie Lau and Clete Boyer.

Wilson said he would be eating breakfast before his next start.

"I'll try it one more time and see what happens," he said.

Mets Settle for Split Against Arouded Cubs

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Mets called on Tommy Reynolds and he saved the first game for them, but a later call on the Marines left the Mets with only a doubleheader split Sunday against the Chicago Cubs.

Jack Nicklaus Sets Record in Winning Golden Bear Takes Open And $30,000

SPRINGFIELD, N. J. (AP) — "I felt like a kid, standing there with a one-in-my-hand," Jack Nicklaus said, "But I knew what I had to do to win this golf tournament."

The bulky Golden Bear, at age 27 perhaps the best golfer the world has seen, was explaining the final moments of his record-setting triumph in the United States Open Golf Tournament Sunday. It won $30,000 for his efforts.

"I wasn't thinking about records," Nicklaus said over and over. "I was just trying to win. They're made to be broken. I just wanted to win this tournament."

He did. And he insists it was entirely accidental he broke Ken Hogan's 18-year-old Open scoring record of 276 by one stroke with a curling, 36-foot putt on the final hole.

It gave him a final round, five under par for the stately PGA Ballston-Course, and 18 holes total of 275, adding the Open scoring record to his Masters and PGA titles.

But he was more concerned with adding this second Open title to his first in 1962. He had won his first Open in 1962, and he had won his second Open in 1962. He had won his first Open in 1962, and he had won his second Open in 1962.

Clay's Biggest Fight On with Uncle Sam

HOUSTON (AP) — World heavyweight champion Cassius Clay headed into an important round against Uncle Sam today, the fighter's trial for standing still when other men called by the draft took one step forward into the Army.

Clay's 25-year-old fighter is convicted for violating the Universal Military Training and Service Act, he could be fined up to $10,000 and sentenced to five years in prison.

Clay's lawyer, John Edgar Hoover, said that Clay's court case is a test case for the government's attempt to force military service on those who are conscientious objectors.

3rd Night Of Strife In Atlanta

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Crowds of rock-throwing Negroes swarmed into the streets of a shopping center in a Negro neighborhood of Atlanta, Ga., Monday night despite advice from black power advocate Stokely Carmichael to "play it cool."
However, the group of about 300, mostly teen-agers, rushed into the shopping center area and began to throw rocks and bottles at store fronts and police cars.
It was the third straight night of violence in the area. Police finally restored order by firing shotguns and pistols into the air. Some climbed to the roofs of the stores to keep better watch on the demonstrators.
At least two persons were injured, including John Cassery, American Broadcasting Co. newsmen and eight were arrested.
Carmichael was not spotted in the demonstration after his speech at the church. He had been arrested Sunday night in a similar outbreak and is free on $50 bond pending a court hearing Thursday.
A group of 200 to 300 Negroes in Montgomery, Ala., also participated in rock and bottle throwing when a march on the state Capitol was halted by police.
City Attorney Ira DeMont estimated 12 were arrested before order was restored. One of those arrested was the Rev. Jesse Boone, a Southern Christian Leadership Conference staff worker who had led several marches in the past week. He was charged with interfering with an arrest.
The windows of a car belonging to a radio newsmen were smashed and the top smashed. Rocks were reported thrown at the residence of Police Commissioner L. E. Sullivan.
Officers were assigned to patrol the area.

State Capitol of Connecticut

This is what the State Capitol looked like when framed by the branches of a flowering crab tree in early spring, the cloudy blue sky behind it. Herald photographer Sylvian Ofiarski took the photo and it is reproduced here in color for our readers' pleasure. (A technical explanation of the color printing process can be found on page 8.)

Not Tradeable

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—There seemed to be something strange about the auto being towed from a parking lot in Salt Lake City. It was a 1965 Buick Wildcat, a car that had been reported stolen in the city of St. Louis, Mo., last week. The car was impounded.

Mansfield, Dirksen Agree Senate, Dodd Both on Trial

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen agreed today that the Senate itself was on trial in the case of Sen. Thomas Dodd, D-Conn., who was charged with the charge that Dodd converted to his personal use funds raised from campaign contributions and through a series of test-imonies for him.
Sen. James B. Pearson, R-Kan., a committee member, said it might yield on this point of timing if agreement could be reached to bring this charge to a vote after limited debate.
Under the rules, the vote on the double-billing charge would come second unless unanimous consent were obtained to reverse the order.
Long said he expects the Senate to reject the double-billing charge and contended it was unfair to leave it hanging over Dodd's head.

Combined U.S. Unit Kills 169 Viet Cong

SAIGON (AP)—An American Army-Navy task force in one night, and U.S. air attacks in coastal Binh Dinh Province today, have killed 169 Viet Cong in a three night battle only 19 miles south of Saigon.
Twenty-eight American infantrymen were killed in the battle, 120 soldiers and sailors were wounded, and four American helicopters were shot down, the U.S. Command said.
The battle erupted as the soldiers and Navy river assault forces pushed up a near-flooded sandy area along the Rach Hut River a few hours before dusk Monday. Heavy fighting raged until midnight, then fell off, but new skirmishes were reported today as the men of the U.S. Infantry Division continued the sweep.
The battle was one of several Monday. A Marine landing force in the northern 1st Corps area reported killing 51 Communists in one night, and U.S. air attacks in coastal Binh Dinh Province today, have killed 169 Viet Cong in a three night battle only 19 miles south of Saigon.

$3,200 Carpet Due in Pentagon

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon's information headquarters is getting a new carpet. The price: $3,200.
The carpet was ordered as part of a general refurbishing being given a suite of offices occupied by Paul G. Conroy, the new assistant secretary of defense, and his immediate staff.
Ben Russell B. Long, D-La., the assistant majority leader and Dodd's self-appointed defender, refused to say whether he was willing to vote before the end of the day on the double-billing charge against Dodd.
But the ethics committee is insisting the first vote come on standards.

Senate Prober Says: Paid for Repairs Not Done, Viet Equipment Is Decaying

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate investigator says broken-down construction equipment is rusting and rotting in Vietnam because repairs paid for by the United States were left undone.
The Senate subcommittee plans to open hearings July 27 on that and other allegedly unutilized equipment. Korea, Okinawa, Amater, The Netherlands, and Rota, Spain.
Much of more than $2.5 million in work on equipment designed for civilian programs in Vietnam has been unutilized, the investigator said.
At one camp in Saigon, Lippman said he saw some 300 pieces of construction equipment, most of them unusable. "It had been repaired, supposedly put into good operating condition," he said. "It's all inoperative. None of the stuff works."
Lippman said the repairs were needed to unload supplies for the Agency AID program in Vietnam, and the construction equipment is used on civil works projects.

Goldberg Offers New Peace Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk today offered a new peace plan for the Middle East, saying it was the most realistic and equitable solution he could propose.
The plan, which Rusk outlined in a speech before the House of Representatives, called for a cease-fire, withdrawal of Israeli forces from the West Bank and Gaza Strip, and a return to the 1948 armistice lines.
Rusk said the plan was based on the principle of "a just and equitable solution" and that it was the only way to achieve a durable peace in the area.
The plan also called for a "cessation of hostilities" and a "return to the 1948 armistice lines" as a condition for a permanent peace agreement.

Thant Rebuffs Eban Version Of Withdrawal

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary-General U Thant, in a highly unusual move, took the podium at the General Assembly today to attack Israel Foreign Minister Abba Eban's version of Thant's plan for a cease-fire in the Middle East.
Thant, usually silent on the subject, said Eban's version was "unrealistic" and "unworkable."
He charged the Israeli version had "no validity" and accused Israel of having "created provocation" during the past 18 months by violating the border in the Gaza Strip.

Hopes Dim for Parley Between LBJ, Kosygin

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Prospects for a U.S.-Soviet summit meeting were fading fast today after Premier Alexei N. Kosygin reportedly turned down an invitation from President Johnson to come to Washington, Administration officials in Washington said today.
Kosygin's message, sent through diplomatic channels, said the Soviet chief therefore was unable at this time to accept Johnson's offer to meet at the U.S. capital or a nearby place like Camp David, Md., that's slightly less than 20 miles from a moderate coast by retail standards.
An official said some parts of the 10-year-old carpet being replaced still have life in them. Johnson's invitation presumably will be used in other Pentagon offices—presumably for preferring not to journey to the officials with a less lofty status.

Over $1 Million Lost Daily Construction Strike Idles 30,000 Workers

NEW HAVEN (AP)—A construction industry estimated today that a dispute which has idled construction in the state is causing a loss of at least $1,125,000 a day in wages alone.
The U.S. ambassador to Moscow, Llewellyn Thompson, was scheduled to leave for Moscow today, but he was delayed by the strike.
Work on construction projects has been stalled since May 27, when some 100 contractors put into effect a "defensive lockout" in retaliation for selective strikes the previous day by the Teamsters against 12 contractors.
Some 2,000 Teamster members are involved, but the stoppage has affected thousands of other workers in various construction trades.
During the last weekend, a spokesman for the union of (See Page Fifteen)

Strike Is Over but Fishing Fleet Remains Idle

MUSKOGEE (AP)—Fishing boats returned to their jobs yesterday, but the fishing fleet remains idle because of a dispute over the nature of the fish.
The dispute was between the fishermen and the processors over the quality of the fish. The fishermen wanted to sell the fish as is, while the processors wanted to have the fish cleaned and packed.
The dispute was resolved today, but the fishing fleet remains idle because of a dispute over the nature of the fish.

NEW HAVEN (AP)—The New Haven Railroad needs continued government subsidies as it waits for clarification of its future in the proposed merger of the Pennsylvania and New York Central Railroads, a federal judge was told Monday.
Richard Joyce Smith, a trustee of the bankrupt New Haven, asked U.S. Circuit Court Judge Robert F. Anderson to approve the merger.

Watches Dog?

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Two German Shepherd watchdogs were returned to their jobs yesterday, their reputations tarnished.

Inform UN 'Third Party' Aid Needed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States today proposed a five-point program for peace in the Middle East to be achieved by Arab-Israeli negotiations with "appropriate third-party assistance."
U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, reacting to demands for condemnation and punishment of Israel for the results of its lightning victory over the Arabs, laid down the American position on the lines of President Johnson's policy speech Monday.
Goldberg told the 12-member General Assembly today in special session on the Middle East crisis, that the "birth of hostility" must be defined but that the explosion itself would have to be achieved.
