The election results indicated a restoration of confidence in Moro's Vatican-backed Christian Democrats after losses in the last election five years ago.

The vote also continued the upward trend the Communist party—the largest in the Western world—has enjoyed in the 20 years since Italy became a republic after World War II.

The Christian Democrats took notable losses in western Sicily, the area devastated by earthquakes in January. Quake victims accused the government of not doing enough for them.

TENS AND NINES MUST BE VALUED

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

During the bidding you cannot count anything definite for such intermediate cards as tens and nines, but you should be aware of them. Bid a little more when you have them; a little less when you don't.

Opened hand South's invitational bid of three spades asks North: "Do you have good or poor values for what you have already bid? Go on to game if you have a better hand than I could reasonably expect."

In accepting the invitation, North is chiefly influenced by his two aces because an ace is worth slightly more than the 4 points you count for it when you value your hand according to the 4-3-2-1 point count. North is also influenced by the ace and nine of spades. Since North has no short suit, there is no real trump value in the North hand, but conceivably 10-8-3 of trumps is worth more than 4-3-2.

So it turns out in the play of this hand, South ruffs the third round of clubs with the ace and immediately plays a low diamond from both hands.

East returns a trump to declarer's queen, and South takes the ace of diamonds and ruffs a diamond with the king of trumps.

Entry To Dummy

The point of the high ruffs is that South can now lead the eight of trumps to dummy's nine, and this enables him to ruff dummy's last diamond with the king of trumps.

Partner bids one spade, you respond 1NT, and partner next bids two hearts. You hold: Spades, 7-4; Hearts, J-8-7-4; Diamonds, K-4-3; Clubs, Q-10-8-4.

What do you say?

Answer: Bid three hearts. This is an overbid, but is a poor idea to pass when you have 6-card trump support for partner's major suit. Your partner must be careful to pass three hearts if he has a minimum opening bid since you have jumped to four hearts if you had any real strength.

Jack Smith's Jog Decision Kicking Up Controversy

By JACK SMITH

The Los Angeles Times

The other day I noted here that I burn up so many calories writing, thinking and walking that I don't need to take up jogging, the new fitness fad for the sedentary.

It didn't occur to me that I had stumbled into one of those political controversies that so frequently stir emotions in California and set out citizens against each other.

Merely because I decline to put on a sweat suit and run down the sidewalk two or three days a week I have been accused not only of sloth but also of what amounts to treason.

It had slipped my mind that our state legislature is deadlocked over a bill that would let our schools give physical education only three days a week, instead of five.

The purpose of the bill is to permit more flexibility in the curriculum by eliminating some of the time lost in the shower and locker room. The three physical education sessions would be longer than the present five, so each pupil would still be subjected to the same amount of sweat and strain per week.

For any law that would of keep pupils out of the locker room and into the sunlight, but that probably isn't the main goal of the bill. I don't know if anybody has thought of this, but it would also save a lot of hot water, soap and towels.

Some readers have complained that in the defense of my prudent program of calorie consumption (thinking, writing and so on) I am playing into the hands of the nation's enemies.

A young woman who is working for a master's degree in physical education wrote me in some haste:

"I do not usually read your column it is difficult to write to a total stranger... It is, therefore, with emotion that I write this letter rather than friendship."

I feel that you are doing the public an injustice when you write about conditioning in such a way... you have greatly distorted the facts... I am very hurt by the way you have treated me. I am a physical education major and I am sure that it is not necessary to exercise. How misleading... After she graduates from college and marries, how long can she be taken so lightly? It's so awkward getting up two teams. But with a man's help she can put deuce all her life.

I would advise, though, that she learn to get a better grip on her emotions.

Before she writes a letter to a total stranger it might help to go 20 minutes with a punching bag or a pair of dumbbells. Maybe I have a prejudice against physical education in my hurry to dress in time for my next class. I used to get my socks wet in the locker room floor and break my shoelaces.

As for girls, I'd rather see them take ballet than physical education. How long can a woman go on playing basketball? It's so awkward getting up two teams. But with a man's help she can put deuce all her life.

South Windsor

General Government To Cost $2,271,146

The Town Council last night passed unanimously a general government budget for the coming fiscal year amounting to $2,271,146. This figure represents an increase of $66,854 over the $2,204,292 budget appropriated for the present fiscal year.

Mayor Howard B. Fitts gave a "very rough estimate" of the new mill rate at 47 to 47 1/4 mills. The present mill rate is an even 40 mills. Fitts emphasized that the mill rate of 47 to 47 1/4 is merely a guess.

The mill rate could possibly be reduced by several mills when the council figures into the financial picture the surplus present in this year's budget. The surplus present will be applicable to the money needed to run the town in the new fiscal year.

The Council will meet Monday at 8 p.m. in the high school library to vote on necessary tax rate. All figures are now known, which must be considered in computing the tax rate exceeding the amount of surplus funds.

The total budget for the town for fiscal 1968-69 comes to $2,271,146. This includes both the amount voted for the school budget and the figure arrived at last night for the general government budget.

The initial request sent to the Council by Town Manager Terry Sprekel asked for $2,269,688 for the general government budget. The Council then made cuts totaling $23,212, thus bringing the budget down to $2,246,476.

After the public hearing held on May 6, the Council further deliberated on the money requested. The Council further deliberated on the money requested. The Council further deliberated on the money requested.

Deputy Mayor Warren Westbrook said that he wanted to commend the PBC on the good job they had done on the school financing. He said that the people of South Windsor had certainly received their money's worth and that "there has not been another school built in the state at the cost per square foot of the Timothy Edwards School."

Money amounting to more than $50,000 is needed by the Public Building Commission to pay bills due on the construction and equipping of the new Timothy Edwards Middle School.

Ground Broken for New Kingfisher Plant

"This is an amazing town. The amount of co-operation a company gets here is very unusual," Emil DeSimone, executive vice president of Garcia Corp. of New Jersey told local officials following groundbreaking ceremonies for a new plant yesterday.

DeSimone and officials from Kingfisher Corp. participated in the official groundbreaking for the $5,000,000 Kingfisher plant, way to do business for the industry," DeSimone explained.

Attending yesterday's ceremonies were DeSimone, Frank Gregory, president of Kingfisher Corp., and Frederick W. Wachsler, vice president of Kingfisher.

The Mayor and Council then agreed to study the ordinance further before taking action and consider the points raised by Anderson.

Consensus Reached On School Design

The Town Building Committee and school officials last night reached a consensus on a plan design for the proposed new Lincoln School in Center Springs.

The TBC took no vote at the informal session at Bennett Junior High School, but directed Arnold Lawrence, architect for the project, to begin drawing and making more detailed drawings of the schematic selected.

Lawrence agreed to have a refined version ready for the committee's next formal meeting June 3.

Upon recommendations by Truman Crandall, committee chairman, and Donald Knobb, secretary, members also agreed to investigate the possibility of chonding electric heat for the school.

Crandall said he will request that a Hartford Electric Light Co. official attend the June 4 session to make a presentation.

Crandall noted that Monday last week had held preliminary discussions with officials of the power company but were not far enough advanced in planning at that time to seriously consider the possibility of heating the school electrically.

Plan A-2, chosen last night after several months of study, of six or seven alternatives proposed by the architect, is a two-level L-shaped design much like Lawrence's original, but smaller by 7,700 square feet.

The original called for a facility of 68,250 square feet, while the revised version requires 60,550 square feet.

The TBC earlier this month had directed Lawrence to attempt further space saving by trying to eliminate a large covered play area envisioned at the south end of the lower level.

The architect reported that he had made several more studies but that "we kept coming back to the original and to Plan A-1 as the most desirable for this site."

The spot picked by the TBC for the school is a sloping site on the north side of Center Springs Pond, east of Lodge Dr. and south of Hemlock St.

It has presented a planning problem because the terrain has building four feet lower into the slope than the original, and drops the gymnasium an additional four feet.

Applications and specifications may be obtained in the Personnel Office in the Municipal Building and must be returned no later than July 3.

No determination has been made whether examinations will be conducted by the town or by the State Personnel Office.

Power, Black Or White

The latest thing being proposed for the public schools of New York and pushed in the Legislature at Albany is a program which calls itself "decentralization" and which seems to equate this with the same kind of sentiment which, in other sections of the country, chooses to call itself "loyalty" to the "neighborhood school" concept of school.

his answer to the question concentrated first on his desire to "get the nomination," a process in which the California Governor, if he could sidestep some of the party's right wing strength away from Nixon, might be able to help.

Meanwhile, the California Governor went out on tour as if he were becoming an open non-declared candidate himself. In this status, he exhibited none of that supposed softening of position which some observers had recently attributed to him. He wanted to set North Vietnam a time deadline in the negotiations at Paris, and if they didn't make agreements with us within that time limit, proceed to "kick the devil" out of them.

Governor Reagan warned that "civilization cannot afford politicians who demand that Social Security be taken away from a national day in Vietnam be discarded to provide huge make-work programs in the city slums with the money diverted from Vietnam. That no youth need honor the draft; that Negroes need not obey the law; that there will be pie in the sky once the country gets moving again."

And the California Governor paid no respect to this spring's campus rioters by calling them "rabblers and hatemongers, members of the New Left who are really unwashed members of the old right, practicing student troop tactics" in demonstrations which "have nothing to do with civil rights or equal treatment. They know and we know it."

Nature Study By Sylvia O'Hara

Anything That Grew Was Legal

"Plants in the Development of Modern Medicine" was the title of a fascinating study presented at Harvard the other day, and participants in the discussions had the extraordinary pleasure and privilege of sipping themselves into a state of consciousness.

Members of the symposium heard about plants which induce forgetfulness of different kinds, about an herb which, if held in the mouth, prevents drunkenness no matter how much alcohol is consumed, and about other plants which are good for damaged hearts, or for making one seem to remember events that took place before one was born, or for making one see the state of objects in the surrounding world, making them seem big if that is what one's hubris needs, or small, if one's need is for more self assurance.

Formula For Peace?

If the Vietnam talks ever need a bizarre push forwards (a fresh outside influence) consider the Demilitarized Zone between the two Koreas: 151 miles long, 4.74 yards wide, and the finest game reserve in Asia. Since no one (soldier or naturalist) has been allowed to trespass there for fifteen years, it's a lot of time to have been used for a great deal of good.

We cannot claim to penetrate to the inner motivations of nice people who find themselves trapped in the political game. It may be, then, that we are mistaken in feeling a little sorry for former Senate Senator and former Senate Minority Leader Peter Mariani of Groton when we see him apparently trapped into what may well be a successful run for Congress from the second Connecticut District.

It may be that this idea of running for Congress is something that occurred to the learned Senator himself, and that it appeals to him because it seems the only way of keeping himself in a political game he has let get into his blood.

That great peace pact accepted of the continuance of Howard Hauman of New Britain as state chairman, had John Aldop of the Hartford County Republican U.S. Senate is highly voluntary, but that both candidates are from that different angle, results of the great peace pact recently signed with one another by the Hartford County rivals for Republican power and performance.

The Mariani candidacy, which seeks to persuade that gentleman to run for Congress, seems primarily an effort on the part of the peace pact leadership to improve the window dressing for that pact, the Sibal candidacy is open and deliberate challenge to the peace pact itself, and seeks to accentuate and underline on the same fact that Mariani candidacy is supposed to soften.

Not too many people asked that question when these young men filled the ivy covered halls. College was for the few who could afford it.

Actually, the question today is really can you afford not to send your children to college. That degree is all-important. So nearly everybody goes to college today... and often to graduate schools for specialized training.

There are many ways to get money for an advanced education today. Scholarships, grants, loans, fellowships... they all help. But the cost of tuition, books, lodging and other necessary expenses goes up each year. Smart parents plan ahead. And they consider their own continuing expenses that will have to be cared for at the same time.

Sure it's complicated, but a banker at Hartford National can help. He can show you how to save, when to borrow and how to manage your money most effectively. Go see him. After all, that's what he's there for.

Stephen Osella Struck by Car

Five-year-old Stephen Osella of 22 Hemlock St. is in a satisfactory condition at Manchester Memorial Hospital today after being struck by an automobile on Main St. at 2:30 p.m. yesterday.

Faust M. Bayer of Vernon was the driver of the car that struck the boy who darted out into the street near Main and Hemlock Sts. during yesterday's drizzle.

Witnesses to the accident said the boy, wearing a yellow rain slicker and hat, was called by a friend on the west side of the street, and he ran into the path of the oncoming car and was struck in the left side.

Both the driver and witness told police that the car was slowing when Bayer observed the boy slipping down the sidewalk. Bayer swerved left when the boy jumped into the street, at the same time applying the brakes, but not in time to prevent the car from striking the boy, who was immediately taken to the hospital by ambulance.

Bolton Committee Reviews Details For New Elementary School

Architect Robert Lenhard R. Bruce, graphologist, will be met with the Public Building Commission last night to go over details for the final plans of the new elementary school.

The commission discussed the materials for the interior walls and lists of what will be included as fixed equipment and what will be classified as moveable equipment.

Copies of these lists have been sent to the superintendent of schools.

Asked whether he would advise having a "clerk of the works" to oversee the building of the school, Lenhard said it would be all right with him, but that such a person would have to be as qualified as the superintendent of the building, and that such a person may be hard to find.

He said that the architects will give close supervision, coming out, not every day but at least two times a week, and the engineer will also be checking. Lenhard told the commission that the site engineer would be out at the site today making additional seepage tests.

The Ladies Benevolent Society of Bolton Congregational Church will meet tonight at 8, Frederick St. at Center Street in 1:30 p.m., while traveling in different lanes in the same direction. The drivers blamed each other for the accident.

Mrs. Nancy O. Klock of 63 Henry St., assistant professor of engineering at the University of Hartford, was honored as "Professor of the Year" by Kappa Kappa Gamma at its annual convocations held in Greer Lecture Hall of Science on the UofH campus this past week.

Mrs. Klock holds a Bachelor of Science degree from Massachusetts Institute of Technology, 1957, and is a registered professional engineer in Connecticut. Until 1962 she was employed by Hamilton Standard Division of United Aircraft Corp. primarily in the analysis of propeller fatigue strength properties.

For the third year, professor Klock gave a $500 scholarship of her own in memory of her late grandson Stanley W. Klock, Jr. The recipient, for the second time, is Joseph E. Kowles, 187 Main St., South Glastonbury. From 1962 to 1963 Mrs. Klock taught mathematics as an adjunct instructor. She assumed a full-time teaching post in 1963 and taught a schedule that included courses in engineering materials, electrical engineering fundamentals, and instrumentation laboratory course.

Professor Klock's eldest son, Stanley, is a 1962 graduate of the University of Hartford and is an engineer with the Bristol Company of Waterbury.

McMoroney, a senior at Manchester High School, has chosen Texas A&M University in College Station, Texas. His scholarship will provide tuition, textbooks and laboratory fees and pay a subsistence allowance of $50 per month.

Selection to the program is based on academic excellence and college board exams, extra-curricular activities, physical standards, and evaluation of motivation and leadership potential.

Upon completion of the ROTC program and graduation from college, scholarship recipients are appointed as Army second lieutenants and serve four years of active duty.

Reports of a nominating committee will be given. Election of officers will be held at a June picnic. Plans for the picnic will be completed at the meeting.

The Board of Trustees will select a president, vice president, and a secretary. Appointments for treasurer, administrator and controller will also be made. A report of gifts and bequests will precede the appointment.

The Board of Incorporators will appoint a chairman and a secretary. The President will deliver his annual report before the election of incorporators, trustees and holders of the stock is held. The Board will vote on the auditors' report for the year ended Sept. 30, 1967.

Pompidou Set To Talk with Labor Heads

PARIS (AP) — President Georges Pompidou told the National Assembly today he is ready to start discussions with French labor leaders on legitimate demands they may have. But he said he would refuse to talk with them about anything of a political nature.

Pompidou pleaded for a show of confidence from the assembly to maintain the government's authority as some eight million Frenchmen were on strike and the economic paralysis gripping the nation was lightning. He spoke in debate on a motion of censure against the government.

More than 2 million workers joined the strike Tuesday, bringing the number in revolt against the government to more than 8 million—about half the nation's work force. The strike even hit Les Halles, the capital's central food market, where fruit and vegetable workers went on a 24-hour warning walkout.

President Charles de Gaulle's regime appeared certain to defeat the censure motion, due to come up for vote tonight. But the strike crisis, smothering activity in city after city, showed no sign of abating.

Most of France's major industries, transport and public services were idle. But electricity and gas were still being supplied, and telephones and telegraph were working.

For the Parisian, the strike meant no banks open, huge piles of garbage in the streets, no public transportation, no mail, little commercial entertainment, and lines for food and gasoline.

The situation was similar in Bordeaux, Nantes, Marseille, Poitiers, Rennes and Toulouse. Meanwhile, deputies in the National Assembly bogged down in a discussion of technicalities of the French electoral system and which party has the most to advance it.

The debate continued today on the opposition motion accusing the government of refusing to demand amnesty from demonstrators and of not taking disciplinary measures.

Work on the gym was suspended. The students then demanded amnesty from disciplinary procedures, refusing to budge from the five buildings they held—until the previous hours of April 30-city policemen routed them in a violent confrontation that left 150 injured.

Student strike committees were organized, demands grew for an entire restructuring of the university, with greater student-faculty participation in decisions.

Mark Rudd, the revolutionary campus leader of SDS, and three of his associates had been cited for disciplinary action for the earlier demonstrations, and several lawyers, about 20 parents and 200 students went into Hamilton Hall Tuesday to protest the hearing.

Rudd, 20, of Maplewood, N.J., was suspended. Tension mounted, inside the building where SDS refused to budge, and on the grassy campus outside where perhaps 500 to 800 supporters and opponents of the demonstrators milled about.

The fire in Morrill Tower caused about $1,000 damage, no injuries. "I don't know what was used to set the fire but it was obviously something to get it going fast," Carson said.

Decision Awaited On Darwin

By ANTHONY CHERIASI State's Atty. Joel H. Reed II is not expected to decide until next week if Roy F. Darwin of Andover will be retried.

Darwin, who is serving life imprisonment in the murder of Hope Rothwell of Bolton in 1963, had his conviction reversed Monday by the U.S. Supreme Court.

The court, in a 7-2 decision, ruled that a confession and re-employment used in the trial were not voluntary. Reed, who prosecuted the case in Tolland County Superior Court four years ago, must decide if the state still has a case against Darwin without the confession and re-employment.

Reed said he would not prosecute Darwin unless he decides that it doesn't. Darwin, a 51-year-old father of four, was arrested in the case in 1963. The prosecutor said today he was awaiting the state's official decision from the Supreme Court. When he receives it, he will make a review of the case and decide if he wants to prosecute again.

No time limit is set when the state must reach a decision. The only specification is that it be within six months of the date the prosecutor puts off a decision. Darwin's attorney could seek a writ of habeas corpus to release Darwin from the state prison.

Atty. Blalo G. Guntz of State, said he would not prosecute Darwin unless he decides that it doesn't. Darwin, a 51-year-old father of four, was arrested in the case in 1963. The prosecutor said today he was awaiting the state's official decision from the Supreme Court.

The South Windsor Board of Education voted unanimously tonight to continue the town's participation in Project Concern for two more years.

The number of children to be taken will be increased to a maximum of 37. At present the school board has contracted to enroll 25 students from Hartford's North End.

School board member W. Lindsey Booth presented the motion that the project be extended for two years, with the number of children to participate to be negotiated by May 31 of each year. All nine members of the Board of Education were present at this vote.

A second motion, also presented by Booth, authorized chairman Harry Anderson to negotiate with the Hartford Board of Education for a maximum of 37 children to be bused to South Windsor for the coming school year.

This motion stirred discussion among board members Roger Myrick and Ronald Primavera operating Monday morning. Anderson, speaking for the South Windsor League of Women Voters, issued a statement supporting continuing participation and stating that the project is an effective method of achieving equality in education.

PARIS (AP) — In a sharp exchange of arguments, North Vietnam's envoy raised the possibility today that the Paris peace talks might fail and told U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman the United States would bear "the full and entire responsibility."

Harriman, in talking with reporters after the formal meeting, accused North Vietnam of using the talks to "make a propaganda impression on the working class."

A lot of people are getting disgusted with these allegations (about the war in Vietnam) which have no basis in fact whatsoever," he said.

Hanoi Says U.S. to Bear Talk Failure

A North Vietnamese spokesman said that during the fourth session, which lasted about three hours, Xuan Thuy told Harriman "in the event these official conversations do not conclude with result, the American side must bear full and entire responsibility."

The spokesman also quoted Thuy as telling Harriman that thousands of Americans and "progressive opinion" around the world, demand that he change his attitude. Thuy denounced what he called "the obstinacies and the lack of seriousness of the American negotiators on the Tonkin side."

The meeting was the fourth in the series which began 10 days of Vinh amid reports that Hanoi was hurriedly beefing up its air defenses in the southern part of the country.

Harriman told reporters he had suggested that "we abandon the practice of going out with public statements so that we can make some progress. We can discuss some progress with discussions across the table."

But he said he thought the North Vietnamese would not go along, and if they did, the United States delegation would report publicly what Harriman said.

Within a few minutes the North Vietnamese spokesman began reporting Thuy's comments and the press office gave out his 2,500-word statement in French text.

Harriman was asked by reporters whether any question had been raised about the presence of U.S. troops in Vietnam. He said the matter had not come up today and declared: "We have no intention of getting into a political settlement on South Vietnam without the presence of the government of South Vietnam."

Upon first emerging from the conference center Harriman told reporters he and Thuy had discussed a number of issues. Other issues discussed at a number of sessions were:

When it came, at 2:34 a.m., with a swift penetration of Hamilton by police breaking through a barricaded tunnel and entering main doors, it was like a great release.

Rudd was arrested first, and led through a tunnel to a waiting police van. Eighty other male demonstrators, and 50 young women, moved out by the same route without incident.

In 20 minutes it was over, but a rash of minor fires broke out on the upper floors of Hamilton and several nearby buildings.

Outside, hundreds of students continued to mill about. A little after 4 a.m., Kirk requested police to "clear all campus academic buildings" and to empty the campus of all non-dormitory students.

His message was read over the university radio station, WKCR. Associate Dean Alexander Platt climbed atop the sundial in the center of campus, where the demonstrators milled about.

131 Arrested at Columbia

Associated Press Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Police cleared a barricaded building and arrested 131 demonstrators Monday in the Parkville area of Columbia, S.C., in the first of a series of arrests in a student protest against the university's expansion into the surrounding community.

The arrests early today brought to 972 the number of arrests since the initial demonstration. Last weekend, 117 including Rudd—protesting Columbia's expansion into the surrounding community were arrested in a sit-in at an apartment house owned by Columbia, S.C., in the first of a series of arrests in a student protest against the university's expansion into the surrounding community.

No Accord Seen On Trinity Penalty

HARTFORD (AP)—Students and trustees of Trinity College seem today farther from a confrontation over the punishment of 168 student demonstrators in the light of the outcome of two Tuesday meetings.

Early Tuesday night, about 400 students gathered to hear a statement from the trustees. It affirmed their ruling of "disciplinary probation" against each of the demonstrators. Each however, could petition to have it removed from his record Jan. 15, 1969, when the spring term begins.

The 168 students had been found responsible for seizing and holding the Trinity administration building for 32 hours and blocking trustees inside for 3 hours, were placed on probation despite a different faculty-backed recommendation.

April 22-23 the demonstration was organized to force trustees to set up more scholarships for Negro students. The trustees later met the demand and the students left the building.

The faculty of the 1,100-man college strongly supported a disciplinary committee's plan to require each of the demonstrators to pay their punishment in social action in Hartford. The trustees, however, overruled the suggestion, saying that social action should be a privilege, not a penalty.
