

Book Review

THE TRIALS OF DR. COPPOLINO, by Paul Holmes. New American Library. A paperback, 304 pages, $1.95.

Within a four-month period, little more than a year ago, Dr. Carl Coppolino was tried for the murders of two widely separated courtrooms. Paul Holmes has woven the twin dramas into a book of absorbing interest for the reader who enjoys second guessing a jury. And who doesn't?

The author, educated as a lawyer, spent the career of a newspaper reporter. Out of one courtroom assignment grew his belief that Dr. Samuel Sheppard was unjustly convicted in 1954 of the murder of his wife. Holmes took on that case as a challenge in part with inspiring its reopening and in a 1964 retrial Sheppard was acquitted.

Again Holmes finds it difficult to accept a verdict, this one by a Florida jury which convicted Coppolino of the second-degree murder of his first wife, for which he is serving a life sentence. The author writes: "I personally think it is unlikely that Carl is guilty."

But this is an epilogue to the book. Holmes' treatment of the trials themselves reflects his reportorial training.

Coppolino previously was acquitted in New Jersey of murdering a retired army officer, whose widow, Marjorie Farber, appeared for the state. The use of Coppolino's mistress at the time of her husband's death and Holmes calls her testimony "the prime spectacle of the first trial."

A feature in both trials was defense attorney F. Lee Bailey's cross examination of the state's scientific witness, Dr. Arthur Edwards. Holmes sees these confrontations as "classic of their kind."

But one conclusion Holmes draws in his epilogue is that "it is a perversion of the adversary system for medical and scientific experts to work in the dark against each other, developing into little surprise parties in court when it is too late for refutation."

BLUOCHING TOWARD BETHLEHEM, by Joan Didion. Farrar, Straus, $4.50.

In this collection of articles and essays, Miss Didion is using her talent as a writer in two ways.

She is a first-class reporter, and she is a personal essayist.

Her reporting is a well-organized combination of pertinent, significant facts and the intuitive—intuitively subjective—interpretations which make the essential facts meaningful.

The reporting is from the West Coast. It includes a study of a flamboyant murder case; a piece about actor John Wayne's visit to the school for nonviolent protest, operated by King or Joan Bauer; the wedding rally at Las Vegas; a necessarily superficial glance at the enigmatic Howard Hughes and his operations; and the title piece, written last year, an illuminating, impressionistic study of the hipsters of the Haight-Ashbury district of San Francisco.

The personal essays display much concern with modern alienation and disorientation. Essentially Miss Didion seems to be an articulate sociologist with a worried concern for our present state of being. But whatever she turns her hand to, she is an intimate writer.

ROBY IS MY RELATIVE, by Gerald Durrell. Viking, $4.50.

In this quaint, first novel the humor seems to be a bit of P.G. Wodehouse crossed with Lewis Carroll, plus a little of the British film antics of recent years. It's an odd blend of nonsense, with a flavor all its own. The period is 1900. Our hero is

Dutch bridges are the basic theme of the new set of summer stamps issued by the Netherlands. This will be the 29th in the series of semipostals and consists of five values.

The 12 cents plus a green sheet design is a key bearing stamps from the Belgian and German borders. The 15 plus 10 red brown features a bridge in Amsterdam. The 20 plus 10 red and blue depicts a bridge near Rotterdam. The 45 plus 20 gray illustrates a bridge in the province of Zeeland.

THE FILBY CONSPIRACY, by Bruce Fago, David Leitch and Phillip Knightley. Doubleday, $5.95.

Over the years the public has become generally acquainted with the case of Kim Philby, a key figure in the British secret service who was a Soviet spy—a man who should have been caught years ago when defectors Burgess and Maclean escaped to Russia.

This is a very detailed history of the case, prepared by three British journalists. They establish facts but the devious and slippery enterprises, their deductions usually have to be based on circumstantial evidence, sometimes they descend into conjecture. YOUNGER GENERATION IN RECKLESS HURRY

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

"The trouble with the younger generation is that you're in too much of a hurry," I told a young man recently. "You'd get more in the end if you put off some of your pleasures. It felt odd to be brooding the phrases that my elders had once preached at me, but somebody has to teach the youngsters how to play a certain kind of bridge hand."

Opening lead — eight of spades.

West opened the eight of spades, and a youthful South won with the jack. He then drew two more rounds of trumps, took the top diamonds and ruffed a diamond.

As you can tell from my lecture, South did something or other in too much of a hurry. Have you spotted just where he went wrong? See if you can work it out for yourself before you read on.

An Important Duck South played the trumpets and the top diamond too quickly. At the second trick South should play a low diamond from his own hand and also from the dummy.

East's best defense is to win with the jack of diamonds and switch to the jack of hearts. South wins with the king of hearts and cut now afford to draw two more rounds of trumps (if South had drawn trumps before ducking a diamond, the defenders would have taken three tricks).

After drawing trumps South takes the ace and king of diamonds. Then he leads the ace of spades, thus setting up dummy's last diamond. Declarer gets

Negro Leaders in Gary Call Off School Boycott

GARY, Ind. (AP) — Negro leaders in Gary have called off a seven-day school boycott in the face of a court injunction and a planned march on City Hall by whites.

James S. Morris, 25, who did not attend the demonstration against alleged school segregation, said, "We object to children being used as pawns, as a solution to what has begun is continued."

The boycott cost Gary an estimated $100,000 in state aid, based on loss of 70 cents a day for each pupil.

The boycott, which began Monday, was called off by the 20,000 pupils out of Gary's 25 public schools, was called off Tuesday after Judge A. J. Scola of Lake County Superior that he has been pressured to on "The Call of Desires."

PUC Approval Sought George Negro to Buy Silver Lane Bus Co.

An application to allow Edward Royce to sell all the stock of the Silver Lane Bus Corp. to George Negro has been filed with the State Public Utilities Commission.

A public hearing will be held by the PUC before it makes its decision on the sale, according to a PUC official this morning. The date of the hearing will be announced in several days, he said.

Royce and Negro, both Manchester men, have been negotiating the details of the sale for several weeks, filling their application only a few days ago. Neither man will release any details they have agreed upon until the PUC hearing. The PUC has filed suit on both the sale and the price.

Royce said today he wanted to address the fact "there will be no change as far as service goes. The PUC licenses are owned by the corporation, not me, and contracts and everything will continue."

Royce bought the small bus company in 1962 and he has been in charge of it since with the help of his wife, Barbara. It has never been a "goldmine" for Royce as the PUC granted the bus fare increases in 1961 and 1963 in order to allow a profit of, at most, about $5,000.

The bus line runs half-hourly trips on week days from the bus terminal in Manchester to Hartford, the Constitution Plaza via alternate Hartford Rd. and W. Center St. routes through East Hartford on Silver Lane.

More runs are put on to handle morning and evening commuter traffic to and from Hartford and Pratt & Whitney in East Hartford to make a total of 44 daily round trips.

Saturday, the 44-trip schedule is set at 20-minute intervals for shoppers.

There are about eight buses on the different runs at peak periods with several more in reserve at the firm's garage at 49 Brainerd St.

Silver Lane also holds school bus contracts to serve several bus schools including East Catholic High School.

The company payroll includes 12 full-time drivers, three full-time mechanics and about 20 part-time school bus drivers. All are members of the Amalgamated Transit Workers Union (ATWU).

Silver Lane also offers a charter bus service.

George Negro, the prospective owner of the Silver Lane Bus Co., owns and operates a fleet of 112 school buses serving the public schools of Bolton, Mansfield, Billington and Somers, and the public and parochial schools of Groton and New London. He also has a charter coach.

Negro began his school bus operations in 1959 with the Bolton school system. He lost in a bid for the Bolton contract this year, and Bolton buses will be operated by James Rutini after June.

The Negro Brothers ran a dairy farm on Rt. 85 in Bolton with their father for many years. The dairy cattle were sold some years ago, and the retail and wholesale routes were sold to Dart's Dairy last year.

Beef cattle now roam the Negro fields, but the dairy barn is still open and is a popular refreshment stop in the summer.

"George's Garage," built a few years ago, is now headquarters for the school bus operation, as well as a gas station on Rt. 85.

In addition to these interests, George is partner with his brothers Ray and Gilbert in the ownership and operation of the Bolton Lake Hotel on Rt. 44A. Since the brothers purchased the old landmark, it has burned down and been completely rebuilt.

None of the accidents that have occurred in the last four year period have been due to equipment failure," the letter continues. "This fact speaks for itself and is quite remarkable."

The letter points out that "it is extremely unusual that a letter of this kind can be written, as engineers in the engineer and loss control department" of the insurance company "are most confident experts, and when they give a glowing report on an insured, especially one" with such a diverse operation, it is a sign of an "excellent program."

Negro and his wife and four children live on Vernon St. in Manchester.

Tolland Town Engineer Review Set In Gravel Bank Application

The Planning and Zoning Commission agreed last night to refer the gravel bank application submitted by Mrs. Eleanor Wright of South River Rd. to the town's consulting engineers, Black and Black.

The PZCO will further inspect the bank and survey the other gravel stripping operations along the Williams River in Tolland and submit a report and recommendations to the PZCO.

About eight residents of the area attended last night's regular meeting and told the PZCO of the problems they are experiencing as a result of the recent operations.

They complained one of the present operators, Felix Diastilo, has opened a new operation across the road from the area he was working, without coming to the PZCO approval under the zoning regulations.

A member of the PZCO and Zoning Enforcement Officer Charles Schatz will investigate the complaint.

"If we continue to ravage the land along the river, we will lose any future benefit from the bank which could be suitable for industrial purposes eventually," Mrs. EBETH Knight stated, calling for a moratorium on further gravel bank operations in the area until the present situation is straightened out.

William Summers of Dunn Hill Rd. has been promoted to the post of assistant treasurer with Connecticut Bank and Trust Co. He joined the bank following graduation from the University of Connecticut in 1962 and was assigned to the Rockville office in 1966, where he has served as an officer's assistant.

Summers is chairman of the Tolland Industrial Development Commission.

The new Kingfisher plant has been valued at $500,000, not $500,000 as reported in yesterday's Herald.

Diplomats Report Reds Want to Keep Mideast Just Below 'Boiling Point'

By ALFRED FRIENDLY
The Washington Post

JERUSALEM, Israel — "The Russians want to keep the situation in the Middle East just below the boiling point. It's a damn dangerous game."

The judgment is that of an American diplomat in the area but it precisely summarizes a remarkably uniform consensus of informed American diplomats in Lebanon, the United Arab Republic and Jordan as well, and that of Israeli government officials concerned with foreign affairs.

The almost unanimous opinion is that the Soviet Union has infinite gains to make in conditions of "controlled chaos" in the Arab world, and infinite risks if the chaos gets out of control.

These observers are less certain about whether the USSR had yet reached a final policy. Most think the Soviets are still stewing over it, trying to reach a fixed decision and meantime playing for time by counseling Egypt and the dead key nation in the Amalgam, a paradoxical but not contradictory course of action.

Do not provoke another military confrontation, another war, but do not enter into negotiations for a political settlement.

Israeli foreign office specialists insist that the USSR long term policy envisions the manipulation of the Middle East to provide the way to reach its basic goal, a powerful presence, and ultimately control, in the Indian Ocean. One of the instruments to promote it is its own: The Russian Navy. The fleet, when the Arabs may rest are its proxies, the "progresst" or "revolutionary" Arab states.

One key Israeli official speculates:

"For the present, the Russians are in a crisis with their proxies, because they have no confidence in them. While they are assets to the Soviet Union, they are also liabilities, because they are unpredictable."

"The Russians would like to pursue their policy with caution, without having it used by factors beyond their control, as for instance crazy initiatives by Syria or Egypt."

"Thus, they are telling the Arabs, as near as we can see, 'look, we're helping you with free weapons and training, we are instantly demanding your real withdrawal from the occupied territories, and we are supporting you in every way. But your problem must be solved by political means.'"

"The trouble with this policy is that it is the same one that the Soviets pursued in 1956 and 1967, which led to war. You cannot keep giving military aid and be certain that your proxies will get the desired message. They might get a different one. They might think they can force the Russian hand."

"Yet the Soviets cannot admit a final settlement once there is an accommodation between Israel and the Arab states—once the problem of Palestine disappears and there is no issue between us and the Arabs—there will be no place for Israel in the Middle East."

"The USSR looks to be stalling, perhaps waiting for an opportunity, for Israel to make a mistake and play into its hands, or for a chance to win a big diplomatic victory, or for a cavity in the United States' position of support."

"The Russians must know that, despite the retooling of Egypt's military forces with new equipment, it cannot fight against two or three years. And even then, the Russians still have a dilemma. They know that the Arabs are not good militarily and that in the case of war they could save their proxies from defeat only by fighting themselves, and on a large scale, by sending in several divisions. Yet they realize that would risk starting World War III."

Another Israeli diplomat, who agrees in general with his colleague's thesis, dissents on the matter of Russian military involvement. The Soviets, he points out, always leave themselves open doors and the way to pull back.

He cites the example of Yemen when, after the U.S. pulled out, the Republicans' capital was threatened with capture by the Royalists. The Soviets sent in their own planes and pilots. But when the first one was shot down and the dead flyer was identified as Russian, the entire contingent was pulled out.

"The Russians are pushing as hard as possible," this official concludes, "but are always willing to withdraw when the stakes get too high."

He is convinced that the Arabs appreciate this fact as well, and are chiding their great ally with the charge that "you are our friend only as long as it suits you."

Israelis, as well as foreign diplomatic observers, see the danger point in two to three years, when the Arabs may believe they can fight against and may involve themselves in another war, however the Soviet Union may feel about it.

Gen. Moshe Dayan, Israel's Minister of Defense, is known to feel certain that another war will come. Other Israelis, less positive, nevertheless agree that because prospects for a peaceful settlement appears so dim, the problem is to make certain that it will win such a war and its hope is to make sure that the Arabs know it too—and therefore will not put the matter to a test.

Mahan Sees Busing Only Hope in Ghetto

By JUNE LANTON

Dr. Thomas W. Mahan Jr., director of Project Concern sees the busing of all ghetto children as the only answer to breaking the pattern of substandard education. He spoke Monday night to the Vernon Elementary P.T.O., the first speaker in Vernon on the subject of Project Concern.

Last night marked another first for Project Concern in Vernon when a group of three parents asked the Board of Education to set aside time next fall to consider participating in Project Concern.

In both instances the reception of the ideas presented was met with an attitude of looking for answers and encouragement. About 75 persons attended the P.T.O. meeting, simply a good average P.T.O. attendance and nothing to indicate emotional turmoil over the issue.

Dr. Mahan described the problem of educating a school population which is 86 per cent non-white. He discussed the need for new buildings, improved curriculums and better teachers.

Dr. Mahan described the natural habitat and childhood of the ghetto child. He said that this was that which children are not aware of and that they must adapt to most any situation.

Why these things do not work according to Dr. Mahan is the motivation in missing a culture which is homogeneous, a child learns by watching others and measures his achievement by their's.

Youngsters in inner city schools do not usually expect a year's growth academically in a year. Project Concern children have been tested and found to achieve such growth in 48 per cent of the students compared to 15 per cent of a control group.

Project Concern briefly described here is set up under a sponsor which has children from inner city schools to all white schools in the suburbs, and starting next September to Hartford schools.

For every 25 children sent another school a teacher and aide is added by Hartford. All associated costs such as transportation is paid for by Hartford. Tuition is paid for each pupil.

Dr. Mahan said that people used other arguments that have found no substance in fact. One was that these children would be drop-outs of the program.

Dr. Mahan said that people used other arguments that have found no substance in fact. One was that these children would be drop-outs of the program.

An argument frequently heard by those who oppose the busing of all ghetto children is that the parents have been intensely involved to the extent that they have chalked up a record of 80 per cent of parents of these children who have participated in at least one P.T.A. meeting and these are meetings in schools some distance from their homes, not particularly easy for them to get to.

Dr. Mahan described a meeting in Farmington of Project Concern parents with the Farmington Board of Education to discuss whether or not the program should be continued.

Party to Mark Vasa Birthday

Scandia Lodge, Vasa Order of America, will mark its 68th anniversary Friday with a dinner-dance at Flano's Restaurant, Bolton. A cocktail hour will start at 6:30 p.m. and dinner will be served at 7:30.

One student added it motivation might not be fostered by reading participation in Project Concern compulatives, to requirements to qualify for it.

He brought out the fact that inter-school busing would be beginning in Hartford in September, that 150 youngsters were being sent to 4 all-white Hartford schools.

He was asked if it wouldn't be better to try harder to benefit all children in the inner city with better teachers and new schools instead of a few in Project Concern.

He said that this has been tried without success. He described a new school in Hartford that was started with all kinds of special services and personnel.

Students there showed no improvement. He cited small classes and new schools in New York City which have been tried without success in spite of the fact that the parents and children were very happy with the program.

Dr. Mahan talked about what happened in Manchester when 81 per cent of residents voted in favor of recommending the continuation of Project Concern in that city.

Now the question put forth by Dr. Mahan as he ended the first part of his talk was will we be able to make of this a really meaningful experiment in informal social mixing.

Dr. Mahan said that people used other arguments that have found no substance in fact. One was that these children would be drop-outs of the program.

UN Council Is Defied By Israel

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) - Israel defied the Security Council Tuesday night, saying it would not comply with the demand of the Arab section of the council.

The demand, proposed by Pakistan and Senegal, was adopted by a 13-0 vote in the 15-nation council earlier in the night. The United States and Canada abstained.

It was the first time since the outbreak of the Arab-Israeli war of last June that the council had failed to be unanimous in a decision on the Middle East.

The U.N. General Assembly in 1947 declared Jerusalem to be international. But the 1948 Arab-Israeli war left the city divided between Israel and Jordan.

Israel annexed the Jordanian sector last June 29. The General Assembly adopted resolutions last July calling upon Israel to reunite that sector.

The new resolution deplores Israel's failure to comply with the previous resolutions and says all its measures tending to change the legal status of Jerusalem are invalid.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg said the United States could not vote for the resolution because it would not be binding on the Jerusalem question.

Soviet Ambassador Jacob A. Malik said his delegation favored the resolution even though it wished to see "more decisive condemnation of the illegal expansionist actions of Israel."

Jordanian Ambassador Muhammad H. El-Farra praised the resolution, which would open debate on a complaint he filed April 23 against Israeli actions in Jerusalem.

Garden Club Meeting The Andover Garden Club holds its May meeting this evening at 8 in the Elementary school. Highlight of the program will be "Aloha," a talk with color slides by Mrs. Lawrence Jillson which will depict the holiday in Hawaii which she and Mr. Jillson enjoyed some months ago.

The business part of the meeting will include the question of dues, installation of new officers, planning for the club's annual dinner and a report on plantings at the Town Office building.

Democrats Pick Slate Tonight

The Manchester Democratic Town Committee, meeting tonight to organize its forces for the next two years, is expected to re-elect all of its incumbent officers. The meeting is at 8 in the Municipal Building Hearing Room.

No opposition has developed to the re-election of Ted Cummings, chairman; Miss Barbara Coleman, vice chairman; Mrs. Pat O'Neil, secretary; and Roger Negro, treasurer.

His Republican opponent for the state senator post is expected to be Manchester Mayor Negro, treasurer.

Agostinelli may not announce his formal candidacy. He may be content to get the endorsement of the four GOP town committees, preparatory to getting Lake, which climbs to 12,183 feet above sea level.

Barry, who has announced his candidacy for re-nomination, is the nomination on June 25, 1968.

The Columbia Civil Defense Advisory Council met tonight at 7:30 p.m. in Yeomans Hall to discuss disaster plans for the town. The principal subjects will be public information, welfare, medical aid and fire protection. John Sullivan, civil defense director, says the fire department has been invited to send a representative to the council. Other organizations will be invited to future meetings. Sullivan added there will not be another meeting until October as this scheduled meeting will provide enough work to keep the staff busy until then. Sullivan announced the appointment of Howard Bates of Lakewood Lane to the Advisory Council as a deputy director of Civil Defense for Operations.

Bates will be responsible for the administration of his disaster plans and will be in charge of the emergency operations center during his duty shift. Another operations officer is Leonard Poplin, and the council hopes to have five operations officers shortly to provide around the clock service during an emergency. Rham District Board Criticized For Play Shown Mourning Day

The board took action Monday on a letter received from Guy Outlaw of Andover protesting the presentation of "Brigadoon" on April 7, the day declared a day of national mourning for Dr. Martin Luther King.

The board will be in charge of the emergency operations center during his duty shift. Another operations officer is Leonard Poplin, and the council hopes to have five operations officers shortly to provide around the clock service during an emergency.

Meeting with Architects Superintendent Aron Damjanjan reported having met with representatives of Butterfield and Associates, architects for the addition at Rham. The educational specifications presented to them will fit into the specified footage as voted on at the referendum.

There will be some changes within the plan. The engineer has pointed out that a fan room is needed in the music area, thus cutting down on the square footage for the new music room. The proposed faculty room has been deleted so that the audio-visual department will have a door to the hallway without going through the library.

The board authorized the superintendent to prepare bids for transportation for vocational Agricultural students, school field trips and scholastic sports. The board expressed its thanks and will send a letter to the Memorial Field committee on the fine program presented Saturday.

Columbia Boy Scouts Win First Place In Annual Camporee Sunday

Boy Scout Troop 62 was awarded first place in the annual camporee "Project O-Rice" held Sunday in Lebanon.

The local scouts, under the leadership of Scoutmaster Lucius Robinson, competed against 23 troops in the Natchaug District.

The boys were divided into two troops, the owl patrol, which had a winning game, and the buffalo patrol which constructed a sandcastle bridge, made of inter-locked logs.

The owl patrol included Jerome Berkowitz, Mark Bates, Mark Antonello, Mike Nuber, Jay Hammenstein, Wes Burnham and Charles Bailey.

The buffalo patrol included Dan Tuggari, Jerry James, Paul Phillimore, Steven Wilson, Jeff Conroy, Craig Lohr and Scott Bates.

The boys racked up an impressive 146 points out of a possible 150.

Local scout leaders attending the camporee included Robinson, Paul Gama, William Burnham and James Neumeier.

Scouts' activities included archery and target shooting, and James received the Order of the Arrow.

Capt. Laramy cited Capt. Robert Laramy, U.S. Marine Corps, husband of the former Mrs. Virginia Laramy.

Capt. Laramy is also the son of Mrs. Robert Laramy, who was hospitalized in Vietnam last February.

Capt. Laramy was seriously injured in the crash and sustained severe burns. While he was hospitalized in Vietnam, he was presented the Purple Heart.

He is now an ambulatory patient at Chelsea Naval Base and hopes to be released soon.

Capt. Laramy's citation reads, in part, "For conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity in action while serving as an Aerial Observer with the 6th Aviation, Headquarters, First Marine Division in connection with operations against the enemy in Vietnam."

The citation notes that when enemy fire struck the plane he was on "and wounded the pilot, Captain Laramy seized the controls. Although the engine stopped, Captain Laramy managed to crash land the aircraft, which exploded on impact."

The citation added, "Captain Laramy returned to the aircraft, although he was painfully injured, and attempted to save the plane. He was severely burned before the engine had been forced to shut down. He displayed devotion to duty in the face of extreme danger, Captain Laramy exhibited the highest traditions of the Marine Corps."

PTA gives $100 gift. Members of the local PTA voted to give Porter School principal George Palros $100 to be used at his discretion, for a gift to the school. They also, traditionally, voted to underwrite the cost of the graduation party, not to exceed $80.

PTA president Milton Anthony said it should be understood that the PTA does not assume any responsibility for the party other than this amount.

Comment Session Tomorrow Night

The Manchester Board of Directors will conduct a 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. comment session tomorrow in the town council's office in the Municipal Building.

Tomorrow's session was scheduled for last Thursday but was rescheduled, due to previous commitments by board members.

Membership stands at 183 paid up members to date.

The PTA sponsors seven Girl Scout Troops, including three Brownies, three Juniors and one Cadette.

Mrs. Nancy Landolph of Columbia will teach the classes for the remainder of the school year.

Invitations to the awards program have been sent to town and school officials, the Board of Directors and Board of Education, each of contributing organizations and individual contributors, and Manchester Community College's advisory council.

The board was unable to complete its agenda at that meeting because it devoted more than two hours to a public hearing before taking its vote on the project concern for another year.

Among several reports to be heard by the board will be one by School Superintendent William Curtis on the status of the proposed new lease for Manchester Community College's use of Manchester High School.

Curtis will report on a May 13 meeting with state and college officials, which he and Town Councilman John Shea attended.

The matter of reacting a solution on a lease was placed on the agenda several months ago after school boards and college officials could not agree on terms.

Reports of the personnel finance and building and sites committee are also scheduled.

Plans Ceremony

Mrs. Lawrence I. Decker Jr. of 189 Laurel St., Wapping, has been appointed chairman of the Manchester Scholarship Foundation's third annual scholarship awards ceremony, to be held at 3 p.m. Sunday, June 9, at the East Catholic High School auditorium.

Last year, more than 30 graduating high school seniors were awarded scholarships totaling $12,000. The total of awards to be given this year has yet to be announced but should be larger because several additional scholarships have been established during the year.

The foundation was formed in May 1965 under the sponsorship of the Chamber of Commerce, to coordinate the various scholarship efforts in Manchester.

The foundation's second general fund drive was conducted during April.

Mrs. Decker succeeds Mrs. Raymond B. Goss as the organization's president; as awards chairman. She is chairman of the public information committee, and last fall was elected to a three-year term on the board of directors. She has been affiliated with the foundation since its inception.

Invitations to the awards program have been sent to town and school officials, the Board of Directors and Board of Education, each of contributing organizations and individual contributors, and Manchester Community College's advisory council.

Creosol Killed, Fourteen Hurt In Fire 'Set' at Ohio Dorm

Girls occupy from the 4th to 14th floors exclusively, and men students the upper floors. The men students tried to get down the stairways but were forced to the unoccupied 2nd floor when smoke blocked the fire exit.

Under emergency procedures, the building's three automatic elevators are switched to manual operators. Student counselors manned these elevators and took many men and women from the building.

Firemen had the blaze, which broke out in a living room of one 11th floor suite, under control shortly after arrival.

Two of the 14 hurt, most of them suffering from severe smoke inhalation, were listed in critical condition. These are Diane Pollitt, Elyria, a member of the lower staff, and student Reta Foster, Colorado Springs, Colo.

hundreds milled about, and used a bullhorn to make what he termed "a regretful and unhappy announcement" that police were preparing to enter the campus again.

"They are going to occupy the Academic buildings," Platt said. "The crowd booted."

Platt urged demonstrators to return to their dormitory rooms or leave the campus. One young man jumped atop the sundial and set his bullhorn. Others in the crowd soon returned to him, but Platt left without further statement.

"To the barricades!" the students shouted.

Students had set up wooden police barriers at one campus gate at American Avenue and 110th Street. The students surged toward the barricades.

Estimated police were lined up opposite it, stretching across the entire width of the block. They were members of the elite, riot-trained Tactical Patrol Force.

Hundreds of students began running toward the barricades and into the face of police.

The police charged, swinging their clubs at anyone who did not turn back, anyone who did not turn and run.

Jacques Nevard, deputy police commissioner for press relations, explained later: "The kind of situation dictates a tactical. The police response is pretty well determined by the kind of disturbance it meets."

One reporter told Nevard that several newsmen had observed policemen kicking and clubbing students already knocked down.

"It is not justifiable under the circumstances," Nevard replied. But he said later, referring to clubbing, "The officers in charge issued what orders they thought were appropriate to the occasion."

After police had been given the order to clear the campus, they told students to go to their dormitories at once or face arrest.

Vernon School Board Hit For Cut in Sports

An impromptu, lengthy and heated discussion took place at a special meeting of the Board of Education Monday night when a group of 15 men appeared to object to action taken by the board several weeks ago.

The men who appeared unexpectedly at the meeting were objecting to a cut made in the education budget which would, in effect, eliminate competitive sports in the seventh and eighth grades. Given as one of the reasons for the cut was the fact that the two grades would be in different buildings next year because of a space problem.

Donald Berger, director of recreation for the town, was one of the objectors attending Monday's meeting. He explained the group was there because they had seen a notice in the paper that the school was going to be at the meeting to discuss intramural and competitive sports. They were going to be at the meeting to discuss intramural and competitive sports.

Suspension Proposed

But instead of being there to speak about the physical education program in general, David Parker, principal of the middle school, had asked the board to suspend the competitive sports for one year. He explained that the building will be crowded and it would be impossible to schedule both competitive and intramural sports.

Parker also explained there would be a problem of heating the students. Berger said last night that there was no reason why basketball could not be played at Sykes School and he pointed out in the meeting that the school use Henry Park field for baseball.

He said he will send a letter to board members with this suggestion. He commented he did not think the program should be eliminated for a few problems.

A year ago the townpeople approved a $2.1 million bond issue to set in motion the installation of sewer lines in the Box Mountain area. This is phase three of a proposed town-wide installation plan.

On completion of the next phase of the project, the town will be reimbursed by state and federal grants to about 50 per cent of the cost.

On recommendation of A. Richard Lombardi, former town engineer, the board voted to put out to bid just the Box Mountain phase of the proposed program.

The board wants to make it clear to property owners that the obtaining of the easements will not harm the property and it will be left in as good or better condition by the contractor. It is hoped that the easement rights will be obtained prior to the time the contracts actually go out to bid so there will be no delay for the town.

Town Will Seek Easements for Sewer Lines

The town will institute procedures to obtain easements from property owners in preparation for the installation of sewer lines which will eventually service the entire town.

Following an executive session of the Board of Representatives Monday night it was voted to have Mayor John Grant and director of administration Richard Borden resolve the method of obtaining the easements.

Bombers Make Big Strikes

Tuesday while the talks were in recess, the North Vietnamese held out the promise that larger questions would be taken up if the United States stopped bombing the North. Spokesman Nguyen Thanh Le said his delegation would be willing to begin "conversations on questions relative to a political settlement of the Vietnam problem on the basis of the 1954 Geneva accords" should the United States stop the bombing.

William J. Jordan, the spokesman for the American delegation, said he didn't remember Hanoi's "ever having said that before" but added that he didn't see in it "a new formulation" of the North Vietnamese position.

Jordan pointed out that when the North Vietnamese agreed to the Paris Talks, they said that once the bombing question was settled—presumably in their favor—the two sides could discuss "other matters of common interest."

"A political settlement would be one of these other matters,"

Hanoi Says U.S. Must Bear Failure of Peace Talks

Jordan led a news conference. He hastily added that "if and when a political settlement is reached, the United States will not insist on limiting the topics only to the issue of ending the bombing of North Vietnam, an issue which it has demanded at each meeting."

They, according to the North Vietnamese spokesman, turned down Harriman's proposal to go into unpublished discussions because he said "the whole world is following us with attention" at a time when the United States had "projected the demand to end the bombing. They said, 'We will take up this question (of secrecy) again when it appears necessary.'"

In his statement, "They said to Harriman: 'Because of the obstinacy and lack of seriousness on the American side, these talks have not progressed in more than a week. Only three days ago nearly 20,000 Americans during a meeting organized in New York demanded a change in the attitude of the representatives of the United States government in Paris.'"

"Progressive opinion in the world demands this also. In the event these official conversations do not achieve results the American side must bear the full and entire responsibility."

Harriman issued his statement at his U.S. Embassy quarters after the Vietnamese released them.

"We hope we continue to hope—that these talks can become a frank and candid exchange of views," Harriman said. "For our part we would like to see the talks freed from political constraints."

"The DRV (Democratic Republic of Vietnam, meaning North Vietnam) should understand, for example, that it is difficult for us to have candid discussions of the question of military restraint in any detail while you deny having major elements of your armed forces in South Vietnam. Surely the time has come to begin discussing these problems on the basis of reality."

Vernon Board Votes to Ask $44,000 From State for CDAP Role

A resolution approving the about 22 months to process and state after it is approved it goes into effect for $44,188 to prepare a Com. the capitol funds project.

The purpose of the program is to investigate the problems of the community and to establish objectives, McAlmont explained. He said the initiation of the program is a prerequisite for the CDAP.

The planner further pointed out the program is one in which the community does work for the community. He said the CDAP will develop a series of projects based on zoning requirements plus make a study of the impact on apartment complexes on the town.

Elderly Housing Study

Investigating the future needs of the elderly will be another project to be undertaken, along with a study of the need for social services and the possible development of a multi-use community center.

Among other possible projects to be considered are the evaluation of existing facilities in terms of the town's plan of development; the evaluation of services performed by the local government, the need for cultural facilities and the fire departments.

Taking a good, hard look at the charter and seeing out the areas where it is not beneficial to the growth of the town will be another major project to be covered by the program, McAlmont said.

UConn Student Chied

Raymond E. Kramer of 205 Henry La. Rockville, was one of 25 students recently inducted into the University of Connecticut's Beta Sigma Gamma honor fraternity. He is a graduate student in the School of Business Administration.

Think about it. It makes sense.

All of us from the President on down work for you.

Frankly, where would we be without you and the many people like you?

We know. We'd still be in that little store on Vesey Street where we started more than 100 years ago.

That's why you're important. That's why we care so much about how we serve you...

about being fair, honest and dependable.

Is this kind of attitude a good reason for shopping A&P? It's one of many.

Orchestra Head

Dr. Pierre J. Marteny of 218 Hackmatack St. Monday night was elected president of the Manchester Civic Orchestra and Chorus at an annual meeting in the Band Room at Manchester High School.

He succeeds Mrs. Richard Embury, who served three years as president of the organization. Other officers are Mrs. Robert O'Brien of Gloucester, first vice president; Mrs. Walter Bradley of Manchester, recording secretary; Mrs. Gordon Stevens of Manchester, corresponding secretary; and Charles Skyles of Gloucester, treasurer.

The newly elected president is a physicist at the Research Laboratory of the United Aircraft Corp., East Hartford. He has been a member of the Manchester Civic Orchestra since its inception.

Researcher Tells of Drug For Learning

Los Angeles Times Washington Post News Service NEW YORK — A drug which has strikingly increased the learning ability of mice will be studied this summer on a group of mentally retarded children in Southern California, a University of California at Irvine researcher said here Friday.

The studies will be conducted jointly with Dr. Louis Gottschalk of the UCI department of psychiatry with children from Fairview State Hospital in Costa Mesa, Calif., and Dr. L. McCaughy, professor of psychology at UCI.

Dr. McCaughy is a leading authority on the use of certain drugs to enhance learning ability. Studies done on animals have not yet revealed how the drugs work, but it is believed they make learning easier by improving the animal's memory.

Dr. McCaughy's mice work, which he presented here at the third international conference on the future of the brain sciences, indicates that he drug doubles or quadruples the animal's rate of learning.

"We have no idea whether it will have the same effect on humans, but I feel compelled to try," he said in an interview. "We don't want to raise any false hopes. It's possible the drug will have no effect on humans."

The drug is pentylenetetrazol (metrazol), a compound which in the past has been used to put patients into convulsive shock as a treatment for mental disorders. The dosage used for learning enhancement is much smaller, however.

Dr. McCaughy speculated that some individuals may be classified as retarded simply because of a severe memory impairment. It stands to reason, he said, that improving their memories should improve their learning ability.

In the animal experiments, the mice were first trained to perform a certain task in a maze box. Some of the mice were given injections of the drug and some were given salt solution, which is known to have no effect.

The animals were again tested the next day and for several days. It was found that the control animals, the ones given the salt solution, made about 20 errors before they finally learned the task. The drug-treated group learned after making only five to 10 errors, he said.

REAL ESTATE PROJECT
JOHANNESBURG (AP)
 About 14,000 acres of gold mining property on the southern edge of Johannesburg is to be converted into a vast industrial, commercial and residential complex.

An estimated $140 million will be absorbed in the first 10 years to launch the project, Rand Mines Properties announced. Six gold mines which have either stopped production or are running down are included in what is described as the largest real estate project in South African history.

The complex includes 13 per cent of the Johannesburg municipal area. Factories, warehouses, shopping centers and high rise apartment buildings are planned. Recreational areas are envisaged where the ground is too undetermined by mine tunnels to permit building.

MCC 10-Year Plan Adopted by Council

The Regional Council of Manchester Community College accepted a 10-year plan for the school's growth at the council's annual meeting Monday night at the school's temporary campus on Hartford Rd.

A shade grown tobacco museum to preserve the unique traditions of the farming region will be encouraged, although the council expects the funds and Dr. Frederick W. Lowe, who last fall left the first few years of the college's existence were concerned mainly with survival. "But now that we are relative-ly established, we ought to at-tempt to do what we are go-ing and how we are going to do it," said Dr. Lowe.

No definite design plans are about 3,800 students, a teaching staff of about 226, and a campus of 144 acres with all new build-ings on land between Hillstown Rd. and relocated Rt. 6 in southwest Manchester.

The college, five-years old this year has about 1,200 stu-dents, a faculty of 100 and a campus of a renovated building on Hartford Rd., labs at the high school, and 14 acres of open land.

The Regional Council of 26 people from the Capital Region east of the Connecticut River and the college staff prepared the plan, which will be adopted by the present school year. They will now present it to the State Board of Trustees.

Courses at the school will be put together on the basis of a need and demand, the book ex-plains. The college will multi-ply its curricular programs in areas of clusters or groups of courses.

There will be an arts and science cluster with world programs in Brazilian studies; a business cluster with courses in accounting, hotel-restaur-ant management and secret-arial studies; and a health care cluster with courses on lab assistants and nursing.

A fourth cluster just beginning to form will concern public ad-ministration, and the first course now offered is law en-forcement. Other courses may include social worker aide, conservation assistant, and poli-tion control assistant.

A fifth cluster not yet begun will be in the area of communi-cation media technique. Courses will include journalism, film, photography and broadcasting.

The long, tempting menu gives everyone a selection of courses, but a few are particularly inter-esting. The college will continue its "open house" policy of accept-ing everyone. This means students aged 18 to 75 and from a wide variety of backgrounds are en-rolled at the school. Students with a high school diploma or its equivalent are admitted on a first-come basis.

Every student who has de-monstrated legitimate need in applying for financial aid has so far been helped by the school. The school plans to continue and expand this aid program, many of the students must in-crease the school's programs need.

The center is planned to include courses in film show-ings, a film club, collection, and film production.

THE Herald Angle

EARL YOST Sports Editor

Unusual Putout at Home Plate

Talk about unusual plays in baseball, try this one on for size.

The bases were loaded with two outs. The batter walked, forcing each base runner to advance. The runner coming in from third base, for some unexplained reason, failed to immediately touch the plate. He stepped over it. The catcher seeing this, tagged the runner before he could get back and the plate umpire called him out. A protest was lodged. The runner who was on third then walked to the bench and still hasn't touched plate.

Official interpretation was sought from a higher level and it was found that the runner was out. The runner who was on third then walked to the bench and still hasn't touched plate.

Rams Back on Beam, Knights Extend Skein

Success came yesterday for area scholastic baseball teams. Rockville High got back to winning ways, defeating Plainville High, 7-3, at home. The Rams are now 8-2 in CVC play while Plainville is in second place behind 10-1 Southington High.

Manchester in Days Gone By

The old Greek Revival church, built 1828. Later used as the Town Hall. Here a portion of heavy, fluted Doric columns extends across the front of the building...

The East Academy, formerly located on Parker St. This structure is typical of the smaller public buildings in the Greek Revival style. It has a pillared front, with a low, square tower with pillars at the corners.

This church was built after 1820, when the Greek revival was in vogue. However, it has a lovely, wide portico of fluted Doric columns at the front and the tower, (removed a few years ago) had the columns and pediments of the Greek revival church.

The North Methodist Church as it now appears, the First Church of Christ.

Many excellent books have been written in the last fifty years about the architecture of the colonial and early federal periods in the United States. In which had been for many years a part of the Turkish Empire...

and a square tower substituted, often in two or three stages or sections with the Greek columns of the sections and the colonnade of the sections...

Some writers on American architecture consider that the Greek revival began in the United States and spread from here across western Europe, particularly England. Hence the Greek revival style is often spoken of as the first original contribution to the building art made by American designers.

U.S. Losing More Planes Than Ever

SAIGON (AP)—American pilots are flying more missions against North Vietnam and losing more planes than they did before President Johnson put the major part of the country off limits to them, statistics from the U.S. Command showed today.

The command announced today that North Vietnamese anti-aircraft fire brought down two more planes Wednesday, and the three crewmen are all missing.

over the North. In March the number went to 11. During April, the first month Johnson's curfew order was in effect, 16 U.S. planes were reported down.

The increase in losses was matched by an increase in the number of missions flown. During March, while the northeast monsoons were still producing heavy cloud cover and rain, 2,648 missions were flown over the whole of North Vietnam.

The monsoons began to lift in April, and although pilots then were limited to bombing North Vietnam's narrow southern panhandle below the 19th parallel, 2,412 missions were logged. So far in May pilots have flown 2,645 missions, and the final figure may top April's total.

A U.S. Command spokesman attributed the increased U.S. losses to the weather. He said that North Vietnamese gunners better chances, to a built-up defense below the 19th parallel and to the increase in the number of aircraft.

The percentage of aircraft downed is slightly higher than in the past, the spokesman said. "But we are flying more missions and the number of planes downed goes up. The planes downed go up. The planes downed go up. The planes downed go up."

On Capitol Hill Mass Arrests Halted In 'Poor' Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP)—Police broke a mass arrest of demonstrators in the Four People's Campaign today but called it off after filling two patrol wagons with protesters who agreed to leave Capitol Hill.

The process of making the arrests in the annual Four People's Campaign was well under way when it was interrupted, apparently by the intervention of a Justice Department official and Rep. William F. Ryan, D-N.Y.

After a hurried consultation between the police officials and Ryan, the leading of the demonstrators stopped.

The group arrested was the overflow of a crowd of about 200 that had gone to Capitol Hill to protest a new welfare law.

Protesting on the Capitol grounds is against the law. The delegation sought to demand public hearings from Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chair of the House Ways and Means Committee, seeking repeal of a new law limiting the number of dependent children eligible for benefits.

Milford Man Fatally Shot In Driveway

MILFORD (AP)—An assassin who police say apparently hit in wait behind a clump of bushes, fired two shotgun blasts that took the life of a 42-year-old auto sales executive Wednesday night.

Both blasts struck the victim, Charles McCoy, in the chest. McCoy had just stepped from his car in the driveway of his home at 50 Pomona Ave. when he was hit by the blast. Police said he was returning home from a visit and parked the car in the driveway while he went to his bicycle.

Police sought a man for questioning in connection with the slaying.

McCoy's two young children were at home at the time of the shooting, with a housekeeper identified as Isabel Rayner of Milford.

His wife, Patricia, was not at home. She reportedly has been a patient for the past three weeks at the Connecticut Valley Hospital in Middletown.

McCoy was vice president of McCoy Motors, Inc. in Milford. His business partner, Victor Kromar of Wallingford, said he could think of no reason why anyone might want to kill McCoy.

What authorities worked to identify E. C. Sanders of Milgro Junction, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. turning together to Columbus as the father of the child who was shot.

The twin-rotor craft broke apart 16 miles from Los Angeles International Airport.

The cause of the crash was listed as rotor failure.

Mrs. Gerner said one group of the crew moments before it plunged to earth, raising debris over a dairy farm.

Los Angeles Airways suggested that the crash may have been caused by a collision but William Byrley of the Federal Aviation Agency said investigators had no evidence of it.

The bodies of all 23 persons aboard were found in or near the wreckage, many of them still strapped in seats. Witnesses said they heard a loud pop before the helicopter crashed into two large sections and dozens of smaller pieces.

Paris (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle and his ministers, meeting today in an unusual holiday session, pondered ways out of the strangling nationwide work stoppages. But there was no announcement of any decisions in the session, which lasted nearly four hours.

Christian Fouchet had banned the return to France of one of the student demonstrators meeting in the Elysee Palace, put off questions by saying: "You understand that I am not in a position to answer."

The religious holiday shut down most of the small French reformers will take place and the students will be associated with them.
