

By Acclamation Barry Renominated For Seat in Senate

State Sen. David M. Barry, Democrat of Manchester, renominated by acclamation last night for re-election, pledged today to take his upcoming campaign to the people, not just to seek their support, but to seek direction and to crystallize my views in the light of public opinion.

Barry was nominated by the 4th Senatorial District Democrats at a convention at the Buckle Board Restaurant, Glastonbury, on June 12 at Pt. Boats, Va. His name was placed in nomination by Matt Moriarty, Manchester civic leader and businessman. Seconding speeches were by John Tabak, Democratic town chairman of Glastonbury; and by Murray Chase of Marlborough.

Class Graduates At Assumptions

A class of 61 eighth graders was graduated from Assumption Junior High School during 7:30 p.m. ceremonies Sunday. Diplomats were distributed by Rev. Francis J. Mahalik, pastor of St. Lawrence Church in West Haven. He presided at the graduation address.

The Rev. Russell L. Bolivar, principal of Notre Dame High School, West Haven, delivered the graduation address. He said, "I am not embarrassed by one single vote I cast in the Senate Chamber," he said, adding, "I will defend that record publicly and as frequently as possible in the coming months. I do not run from my record."

Commenting on current issues in the state and nation, Barry pledged, "If re-elected, I will do all that I can to address those programs designed to cure the causes of the social unrest in our urban areas."

He pledged further: "I will support new and tighter gun-control laws, not as a cure-all for murder, but as a step in the right direction. I will again press for incentives for policemen and those who support the law."

Barry said that, in his campaign, he will visit homes, schools, shopping centers and factories. He said that he looks forward to a meaningful dialogue with his Republican opponent. His opponent will be Manchester Mayor Nathan Aponte, who is assured nomination next Tuesday, when the GOP delegates of the 4th Senatorial Dis-

Army, NASA View Tests Of Volplane

The first live demonstration of the Volplane, a new gliding device being developed by Pioneer Parachute Co., was made on June 12 at Pt. Boats, Va. Edwin D. Vickery, test engineer for Pioneer, demonstrated the capabilities of the Volplane for officials from the Army and NASA.

Two members of the Golden Knights, the U.S. Army's parachute team, participated in the demonstration with Vickery. To obtain a visual yardstick of the Volplane's glide characteristics, the Golden Knights used two parawings, with known rates of glide and vertical descent, in a nearly simultaneous comparison jump with Vickery and the Volplane.

The parawing is a modified version of the Rogallo-wing (named after its creator), a triangular shaped device once considered as a possible chute for the Gemini spacecraft. The Rogallo-wing had right edges and ribs within the material of the chute. The concept never worked out, and the parawing is a limp version of the Rogallo-wing.

The object of the test was to show the superior gliding ability of the Volplane over the parawing. The Volplane was a simulated jump. One of the parawings was 14 feet and one was 22 feet. One carried a heavier load and one a lighter load than the Volplane. Both landed before the Volplane. The Volplane was second out of the drop aircraft, which maintained an altitude of 3,500 ft.

Spoken for by Pioneer include a great potential for this new device in the recovery and delivery of cargo, space craft and ordnance. Particularly of interest are possible applications to new systems to recover pilots forced to jump in unfriendly areas. Such devices would assist a pilot, ejecting from an altitude of 10,000 ft. to reach safe territory as far as ten miles away.

One of the most important areas in which officials believe the Volplane may prove to be a valuable benefit is that of cargo delivery. Formerly, cargo could not be delivered at night or over terrain that didn't have a large open area. With the advent of the Volplane, it will be possible to eliminate both these deficiencies in cargo delivery by placing a homing device at the desired landing site which guides the Volplane (equipped with a receiver) to the exact spot, say officials. This concept has been considered for a number of years now but has never been successfully developed. All previous gliding devices were unable to come back once they had drifted downwind. The Volplane, however, is capable of penetrating a thirty-knot wind and returning to the transmitter, Pioneer officials said.

Cheney Tech Will Graduate Class of 44 Seniors Today

A class of 44 seniors will be graduated from Howell Cheney Technical School tonight at 8 p.m. in ceremonies in the auditorium. Richard C. Berry, vice president of research and development for Rogers Corp., will deliver the commencement address.

Employed at the plant in Rogers, Conn., Berry joined the firm as a development engineer in 1949. He is a Salem, Mass., native, and holds bachelor's and master's degrees in chemical engineering from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He holds numerous U.S. and foreign patents for developments in the plastics field, and was co-founder and the first chairman of the Eastern Connecticut Chemical Engineers Club. Joseph F. Murphy, director of the Division of Vocational Education for Connecticut, will present the diploma.

Dr. Fred D. Manganelli, Howell Cheney director, will bring greetings, and Eugene LeDuc, Student Council president, will speak on "Reflections."

Music will be provided by an ensemble from the Manchester Salvation Army Band, under the direction of Maj. Kenneth Lance.

The Rev. Ernest J. Coppia of the Church of the Assumption will give the invocation and benediction.

for employment in his new trade and will continue to live in Manchester.

Cheney Tech officials say he has been a "most industrious" student and well-liked by his classmates and the faculty.

Representatives and delegates from the Manchester Auxiliary to the convention are Mrs. Florence Birch, past Department president and past national council member; Mrs. Charles Hirth, past Department president; Mrs. June Fortin, Department secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Kenneth Aseltine, Department publicity chairman.

Also, Mrs. Mary Rowe, Auxiliary president; Mrs. Theresa Varney, Mrs. Harry Mahoney, Mrs. Harriet Olavson, Mrs. Thomas Hovey and Mrs. Rose Crane.

Alternates are Mrs. Florence Pitt, Mrs. John Vince, Miss Helen Gustafson, Mrs. Joy Lovell, Mrs. Eleanor Dwygal and Mrs. Ben Huck.

Wells said that the state will pay the $2,400 before the end of this month. He said that, in the event the college decides to retain the Keeney St. quarters next year, a 1968-69 lease will be executed, based on the same $200 per month rental. The college will continue to use the offices of the old school for use.

Placed in error on last night's board agenda, and then removed, was an item calling for Wells to execute a lease for college use of Manchester High School. The state's five-year lease for those quarters has two years to run.

Girl Scout News

Brownie Troop 608 of Bentley School held a fly-up ceremony recently.

The troop recently visited Mystic Resport where they viewed a film, visited the planetarium, and toured the village.

The final meeting of the year was held at Grey Lodge, where Mrs. Norman Comollo, where they enjoyed a picnic and swimming.

Mrs. Leonard Wassmer, Junior Scout leader, presented Girl Scout plans to Ingrid Anthony, Tommy Blue, Glenda Bonner, Alison Combs, Patricia Daniels, Margaret DiPietro, Pamela Fairbanks, Holly Maxwell, Kathy McCabe, Constance Migliore, Shirley Seavey, Deborah Thal, Jane Squires, Victoria Tait, Linda Volland and Donna White.

The Brownsies ended the year with a cookout at Camp Merritt. Junior Troop 621 presented a flag ceremony for the Brownsies and the program also included singing, nature plays, and playing in the brook. Sixteen girls took part in the outing.

Mariner Ship 4 sponsored several money-making projects this year under the leadership of their skipper, Mrs. Harold J. Porcheron.

As a group, the troop held a griddle sale, coolie sale, and car wash. Many of the girls worked individually to collect money from bottle drives and paper drives.

In addition to money-making ventures, the girls went caroling, sang Christmas time at a local convalescent home and brought gifts to the patients.

Other activities included a work-day at Mystic Resport, a tour of several New England colleges, and working on Senior Planning Board functions.

Girls receiving services and aid bars this year were Joan Lawson, program and hospital; Debby Porcheron, house and teacher; Jackie Treschuk, I and teacher; Linda Ruggles, hospital and teacher.

Carolyn Whiting, Linda Ruggles, Sue Moorhouse, Jean Leslie, and Laurie Heard took Red Cross Senior Afternoon Course in preparation for a cruise on the Brilliant next spring.

Sue Moorhouse, Senior Planning Board representative, and Debby Porcheron, alternate to Senior Planning Board, Linda Ruggles recently was elected treasurer of Senior Planning Board.

Junior Troop 639 held a Court of Awards recently at the Community Room at Bentley School. The flag ceremony was performed by four Grade 8 scouts who were patrol leaders for the past year. They were Heidi Bauliak, Lynn Lessard, Andrea Seader and Leslie Silverstein.

Welfare Residency Limits Snag for Supreme Court

A bare announcement said that cases from Connecticut, Illinois, Wisconsin and Delaware, filed in the Supreme Court today to rule on sharp divisions among the Justices.

The Gun Law Panic

One can be really sure of only one thing with any assumption that control. It is that Senator McCarthy happens to be right, once again, when he dares to say that gun control legislation should not be passed under panic conditions.

There are some other conditions under which gun control legislation should not be passed, either.

It should not be passed under any assumption that, by passing it, anybody has done anything conclusively effective toward halting the prevalence of violence in American life, or making it really difficult for anybody who wishes to obtain a gun to do so.

Nor should it be passed under any assumption that, by such an action, the legislative process is making some kind of atonement for the murder which has been accomplished by guns.

Gun legislation should not be passed, either, with any assumption that legislative gentlemen who happen to have made a persistent specialty of advocating such legislation have ever done anything but a disservice to the people of this democracy and the American way of life.

When gun legislation can be purged of panic, and of such other impurities, and when it can be passed and accompanied by some of the other prerequisites of a more civilized way of life, at home and abroad, there will be really no sensible American who objects to reasonable supervision of the sale, and even universal registration of the particular potential instrument of violence which is a gun.

For the moment, however, what stands as all too obvious is that some of our politicians are choosing the easiest, cheapest, and probably the least important way of pretending to be ready to deal dramatically with the violence crisis of our time.

If we have any heart, if we have any conscience, if we have any resolve to try to make this a country in which free men can pursue free politics in dignity and in safety we will not allow ourselves to pretend, for an instant, that the great lesson from the murders we have suffered is that something must be done about guns. The hands that hold them are the hands that think them, the hearts that can trigger them—these are true priorities, not to be reached by anything as simple as the panic enactment of a prohibitory law.

"Hot Pursuit" Fatalities
A report from an organization calling physicians for Automotive Safety estimated that "hot pursuit" by the police produces some 5000 automotive fatalities a year in this country. It has happened to someone in the news with several recent fatalities of just that character.

There is never much public disposition to blame the police or weep for the dead in such instances. The young hoodlums usually involved would still be alive, the reasoning often goes, if they had been obeying the law, or if they had pulled over when the officer told them to.

The physicians still have a point or two, however. In only about 1 per cent of such fatalities, according to their investigation, is there any serious crime involved—the theft of an automobile, which is involved in about 20 per cent of the cases, apparently not being considered serious enough to involve the risk of death. In half the cases, the reasons for pursuit, as given by the police, were speeding, traffic offenses, and suspicion.

If the punishment, of incidental death, does not quite fit the crime, neither is it meted out just to the criminals. A tabulation of 118 deaths during one three month period showed that 52 were drivers of pursued cars, 32 were passengers in cars being pursued, 23 were passengers in other vehicles in no way involved except through their unhappy presence on the same road, 5 were pedestrians, and 5 were policemen.

In other words, less than half of the fatalities caused by the "hot pursuit" of the police were actually the drivers responsible for the attempted escape from the police.

One statistic the survey by these physicians does not pretend to report. That would be a statistic showing how many "hot pursuits" are undertaken and completed without fatality or injury to anybody. It might be found, on such a basis, that the police do spectacularly well in avoiding the wrong kind of ending to most of their pursuits.

Still, the most significant statistic the physicians do produce—that over half the fatalities are innocent people—is enough to suggest reexamination of the hot pursuit option by police departments everywhere.

Houley Nominated For State Senate

Robert Houley of Vernon won the unanimous support of 80th District Democrats at last night's senatorial convention in Stafford.

He will oppose Republican Andrew Rapko of Willington who is seeking his second term as state senator from the 80th District (Tolland County). Rapko is expected to be unanimously elected at next Tuesday's convention in Rockville.

Promising to wage a vigorous campaign, Houley stressed the importance of "working together, as a strong Democratic team, as a responsible Democratic organization." He is currently on the Vernon Board of Representatives.

He pointed to the "iniquities of Tolland County, whose population is growing at a rate of two times greater than the state average."

"Tolland County desperately needs leadership in the senate to revive the tradition that government is the servant of the people," he said.

"We cannot allow any further silence on the Senate floor if we are to resolve the many problems created by our rapid population growth," he added.

"Tolland County can no longer sit back and observe this silence," Houley stated, while the more vocal and aggressive senators from metropolitan areas obtain passage of the favored legislation.

"The senator from Tolland County must devote full attention and energy to the representation of all people, not merely those favored few who seek preferential treatment," Houley told the convention.

"Old issues will have to be faced," Houley declared, "the personal income tax, increased aid to education and legislation affecting the elderly."

New issues of importance cited by Houley included open space legislation, conservation and recreation.

He proposed the altering of the Community Development Act of 1967 to "enable the small towns with little or no professional staffing to participate in federal and state grants."

He vowed to support "enthusiastically gun control legislation."

Terminating the county town "commuter communities," he stressed the need for an examination of the University of Connecticut at Storford with residential to industrial. Journal of the total amount, about one million are pain killers.

To the Editor,
With the overcrowded traffic conditions especially during rush hours, along Center St. and at the Green, it is obvious that the construction of the new highway, Route 4, through the South end of Manchester is needed.

However, with the population increase in this area, this town and other towns can ill afford to lose any water from their water supply. Now there is a danger of water shortages in many areas where water has been plentiful enough to be taken for granted.

Thus every effort must be made to have the construction of that superhighway avoid making the Howard Reservoir smaller. Preserving water supplies is as important as building highways to relieve traffic conditions.

Yours truly,
J. W. Cheney

Inside Report

Rowland Evans Jr. and Robert D. Novak
WASHINGTON — President Johnson's appointment of Myron H. Bright as new U.S. court appeals judge for the eighth circuit concealed a tangled web of Presidential politics, patronage, and revenge.

When Chief Justice Charles E. Vogeltz, a native of North Dakota, announced his intention to retire early this year, Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, one of Robert F. Kennedy's closest political friends, strongly recommended a South Dakota state judge as Vogeltz's replacement.

In pressing his case on Attorney General Ramsey Clark for the appointment of state Circuit Judge Francis Dunn, McGovern pointed out an obvious fact: South Dakota was the only state among the seven states judge as Vogeltz's replacement.

I say this out of a firm conviction that the "over 20 crowd" really does care that it still subscribes to the American Dream. But the younger generation apparently does not believe it. And the reason they don't, is that we adults present ourselves to them as a kind of "drag" — a force that tends to stifle and slow down the pace and tempo of progress.

Now, at this point, let me be entirely candid. Adults are, inevitably, I think, just such a force in society. Not, however, just because they have become rich or rich or lazy or captives of an establishment, not because they are "middle class" (a favorite charge of our critics).

Adults are a drag on youthful enthusiasm because they believe that order is the second law of nature. They believe that optimum human fulfillment is possible only in a society governed by laws. They believe that halting human progress is dependent upon the status quo. They believe that a structured society is necessary to reconcile the constructive and destructive forces of good and the evil that exist in all men. They believe that in a society so ordered and structured, reason will win out over unreason.

And since these are profound convictions among adults, they are not going to disappear. Not, in my judgment, should they. They constitute the very foundations of civilization, as we have known it.

But young people misread these convictions, and not entirely without justification. I am afraid it is true that these important convictions are used by some adults to justify and defend the status quo, and to enforce an unwarranted conformity.

The adult who works actively to bring our laws more closely into harmony with true justice will be trusted when he says he believes in a government of laws, and he will have taken a long step in demonstrating the validity of that belief. And that is what we need to make this institution more responsive and relevant to the needs of today's learners, will have made a convincing case that institutions should survive as a mechanism for the achievement of cultural and social goals.

Boy Scout Troop Qualifies For National Camper Award

Boy Scout Troop 65 is qualified for a National Campers Award, having completed a program of overnight camping totaling 10 days and 10 nights under the leadership of David Sennels, scoutmaster.

The most recent overnight camping trip was made at the Burlington State Park in Cheshire, N.H., last week.

Scouts taking part were William Busby, Michael Post, Randy Meador, Steve Montpetit, Eugene Noblet, Dennis Sullivan, William Pratt, Albert Brown, James Tilley, Peter Tilley, William Trieman and Willard Stone.

The final meeting will be held the evening of June 24 at the Green-Cloutier Richardson Park, American Legion home on Wall St.

Parking permits for Lincoln Park are available at the office of Town Clerk Elizabeth Rydholm and from the office of the selectmen.

Residents are reminded that dog licenses must be obtained for every dog six months old or older during the month of June from the town clerk's office.

Church Schedule Starting Sunday, the worship services at the First Congregational Church will be on a summer schedule of 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Whirlways Square Dance Club has a level program from 8 p.m. to 11 p.m. Saturday at Coventry High School.

Francis A. Murphy of the Coventry Scouting Board announces that the recent fund drive was below the goal set if wishes to thank all residents who supported the drive.

The local Pony League (Western Division) plays a home game at 2 p.m. Saturday against the Christie Hills team.

Cobentry CHS Awards Include $900 Scholarship

Annual awards to students at Cobentry High School were given at a special assembly this week. The awards for all fields of endeavor were presented with the exception of athletic achievements, these having been distributed at another social assembly last week.

At the Monday assembly, special announcement was made of a $900 scholarship to Dye Knowles, a top graduate this year, from the Standard Screw Co. While this is not an annual award to a Cobentry student, it happened that Miss Knowles was this year's winner, and the special announcement was made since Miss Knowles' father is employed at the company.

The Harvard Book Award to the outstanding junior boy went to Thomas Bissett, and the award to the outstanding junior girl, from the Connecticut Association of Women Deans and Counselors, went to Sandra Roberts.

Students chosen for Nutmeg Boys State and Laurel Girls State were Stephen Madine and Cathleen Carpenter. Janette Bolwert and Peter Cunningham won the D.A.R. Good Citizenship certificate and medal, respectively.

A $10 check went to Randall Olney, awarded by American Legion Post 52 for good citizenship. The Cobentry Grammar School FFA Award to the senior pursuing the teaching field went to Joan Munko, in the form of a check for $25.

English awards, for the greatest improvement in written communication and presented by the Lions Club, went to Alice Smith and Stanley Alexander. Bob received checks of $10.

Women's Club Award: The North Cobentry Women's Club award, a $25 bond, to the best homemaker of the year, went to Janette Bolwert. Linda Bissett received a pin, as a winner of a competitive examination for the Betty Crocker award.

Another $25 bond went to Ronny Bigelow for meritorious performance in the field of mechanics, awarded by Beare Machine Shop, Inc. Library Club pins for 600 credits of superior service to the library during the school year went to Joanne Bolward and Susan Haun. Miss Bouchard was also chosen Most Outstanding Library Aide.

The United Aircraft Corp. Renesmee First Year Algebra Prize and Four Year Math Prize went to Donald Paletier and Eve Knowles respectively. The former award is for $50, the latter for $100.

Stuart Griffin received a $50 check as his award for excellence in the field of physics, given by the Alkin Engineering Co. For conspicuous achievement in the study of science, Eve Knowles won the Sausch and Lomb Science Award Medal.

Maurice Isersman was awarded a $25 bond as the senior who excelled in American History in the junior year, a $15 award given by the Women's Auxiliary of American Legion Post No. 52.

A check for $100 was awarded to Carol Leach as the senior showing the greatest improvement in the Modern Problems Course, given by the Cobentry Republican Women's Club.

The Annual Year Book Award, a check for $25, went to Shirley Kitchy as the most valuable assistant in putting the yearbook together.

Fluoridation Prize: Carolyn Crane was the recipient of a $10 check from the Mother's Club of Cobentry as the senior planning to continue her education at an institution of higher learning. The Cobentry Garden Club award to the senior pursuing the field of horticulture went to Roberta Pierce in the form of a check for $100.

The Education Association of Cobentry award of $100 went to Linda Bissett as the student pursuing a teaching career. Joan Gillon received a $25 check from the Cobentry Junior Women's Club. This award is presented to the senior girl maintaining a high average in the junior and senior year, active in school activities and accepted at an institution of higher learning.

The Rotary Club Award to the outstanding business student, $20, went to Darlene Palmer. Best all-around business student award, $25 from James Zucardy Insurance Agency, went to Kathleen Moriarty.

The Coventry Federation of Teachers awarded $100 to William Morgan as the student pursuing a vocational education. The John Philip Sousa award to the outstanding band member went to Maurice Isersman. Paul Peterson received a band service award, and the choral award went to Alice Jacquemin.

Scholastic Art Award certificates, presented by The Hartford Courant Parade of Young Artists, were given to Anne Delano and Susan Hillman. Art materials, presented by the Republican Women's Club, went to Candace

Mills Sees Surtax Need Beyond Proposed Year
WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. William D. Mills, D-Ark., says the proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge, scheduled for a House vote Thursday, might have to be extended if the nation does not set its fiscal house in order.

The House Ways and Means Committee chairman said Tuesday he anticipates the fiscal situation will improve next year. But the proposed surcharge now scheduled to expire June 30, 1969, and Mills said consideration must be given to deficits the following year.

"Whether we can get our fiscal house in shape by then, I can't say," he said. "It is possible we might have to extend it."

Mills commented before the House Rules Committee which learned the administration proposal for House action Thursday.

He said the tax increase could shrink the deficit for the fiscal year beginning next July 1—now estimated at $24 billion to $21 billion to "below $10 billion, possibly even below $5 billion."

GOP Document Hits Current Foreign Policy
WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican House members have accused Democratic Presidents Johnson and John F. Kennedy of letting U.S. arms superiority slip away with the "wishful thinking" they could improve relations with the Soviet Union.

Holiday Shifted
BOSTON—The third Monday in February will be celebrated as Washington's Day, beginning next year, in Massachusetts.

The change makes Washington's Birthday part of a three-day weekend every year. Massachusetts is the first state to enact a law for Monday holidays.

Columbia Beckish Closing Pharmacy, Cites Zoning Restrictions

The pharmacy department of The Landmark will close on June 18, according to the owner, Peter Beckish, because of what he claims is "biased and prejudicial treatment on the part of the local Zoning and Planning Commission."

There has been much controversy between Beckish and the board, with the town taking sides over the fact that the board does not feel Beckish is adhering to zoning regulations as set up by a town vote.

Beckish's statement reads: "I am sorry to announce that as of June 18 the pharmacy department at the Landmark will be closed. One of the major reasons for this decision is because the zoning board has placed so many conditions on the expansion of the Landmark that it has become necessary to appeal to the courts for an impartial decision. (The case has not come up as yet). In the meantime I cannot afford to run the pharmacy at a loss, therefore, it must go."

Beckish continued, "In my opinion the board is biased and prejudicial in its dealings with the Landmark. They made me wait seven months before replying to my request for a hearing and I had to wait four months before the hearing was held. I cannot afford to be unreasonable."

"They have ordered me to plant a five foot hedge around the Landmark. Can they name any other business in town that received the same order? They have prohibited me from crossing the Town Green to get to my carport. I would like the name of just one other person who was also prohibited. When I look around and see the liberties enjoyed by other businesses in town I wonder what type of justice the board considers fair to me to be?"

"The zoning board and I have long been at odds over the administration of its regulations. I have felt the board in many instances has closed its eyes or ignored many flagrant violations of zoning while at the same time

Vernon RHS Junior Who Died June 8 Recipient of Math Award

The Rensselaer Math and Science medal has been awarded posthumously to Ronald Stanton of Tolland who drowned June 8 at Crystal Lake.

Stanton was a junior at Rockville High School and a high honor student. The medal is given to the student with the highest combined average in math and science. Ronald received a perfect score of 800 on the math section of the college board scholastic aptitude tests.

Four other students at the high school were also the recipients of special awards. James Anselmi, a junior, was presented the Yale Club of Hartford Book award for a student taking the college preparatory course, standing in the top ten to 15 per cent of his class.

Anselmi also carried sufficient extra curricular activities to have demonstrated scholastic leadership, effective team work and organization ability.

Kathie Leonard was given the Connecticut Association of Women Deans and Counselors award for conscientiousness, positive, unselfish service, sympathetic understanding and positive and constructive influence upon others now and in the future.

The DAR good citizen award went to Martha Farris and the certificate of merit for outstanding achievement in the field of secondary journalism to Karen Dugan.

Graduation exercises will be held today at 7 p.m. at the high school with nearly 315 graduates to receive diplomas. Principal Martin Pagan will present 26 special awards with two new ones being added this year.

The new awards will include the Carol Prunder choral music award given by members of want ads, as well as cartoons, the class of 1947 in memory news and features.

Doctor Warns Hypnosis May Hurt Smokers

By RALPH DIGHTON AP Science Writer SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Using hypnosis to stop smoking may hurt more people than it helps, a psychiatrist warned today.

Dr. Sheldon B. Cohen of Atlanta told the annual convention of the American Medical Association, "longtime smokers often run into psychiatric trouble when they stop smoking."

He cited the case of a man who gave up smoking under hypnosis and a few weeks later got drunk at a party and beat up his wife and his best friend.

"I had to suggest that he resume smoking while undergoing intensive psychiatric treatment," Cohen said.

The psychiatrist said a study of available scientific literature and 10 cases in his own practice had persuaded him "no one has yet demonstrated that hypnosis is generally indicated to help people stop smoking."

Of the 10 cases, Cohen said, four stopped smoking for as long as a few weeks but all eventually resumed smoking.

"There may be some cases in which hypnosis is helpful," he said, "but nobody knows enough about smoking yet to say that this or any other technique is a sure way to help the longtime smoker."

"Unless you have something better to give people as a tension-relieving device, perhaps it is better to leave them alone," Cohen said all 10 of his cases were strongly motivated—they had serious illnesses, aggravated by smoking. But taking cigarettes from them he said, appeared to present hazards greater than the obvious risk in continuation of smoking.

In another talk a doctor reported a new hormonal contraceptive given by injection once every three months.

The substance, commercially available but approved only for therapy, is medroxyprogesterone acetate—MDA, said Dr. Edward Tyler of the Family Planning Center of Los Angeles.

Tyler said there were no pregnancies among 216 women whom he gave the drug over the past three years.

He said monthly injection of other hormonal drugs—progesterone and estrogen—was effective with 514 women.

Many women were willing to continue with the drugs despite such side effects as nervousness, bleeding irregularity and nausea, he said.

Tyler said neither method is likely to become readily available before considerable testing by the Food and Drug Administration.

New School of Italian Food In New York

By WILLIAM HEATH NEW YORK, N.Y. (AP) — New York City, with an Italian population larger than many cities in Italy, finally has its own exclusive Italian cooking school. But anyone who wants to learn from chef Andrea Piccinetti-Dodi will have to get in line.

The first session of the Scuola Italiana di Cucina is almost over and the next, scheduled to begin in the fall, already has a waiting list with 80 names on it.

Once a week, for six weeks, 20 people—15 women and 5 men—spend two hours in a test kitchen on the 12th floor of a midtown Manhattan building learning how to prepare dishes ranging from spaghetti to Gnocchi alla Fiorentina.

"Not one has ever missed a class," says Mrs. Hedy Giusti-Lanham, a member of the Italy-America Society and originator of the school idea.

"I couldn't sleep one night," says Mrs. Lanham, an Italian who has lived in the United States for almost 20 years. "I thought to myself, 'This is part of civilization. Why not have a cooking school?'"

She told wealthy financier Giorgio Uzzelli, an Italian and president of the Italy-America Society, about her idea and suggested that his chef, Dodi, should teach the class. Dodi, who has cooked for the late President John F. Kennedy, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Francis Cardinal Spellman, agreed.

"The class was filled as hours after it was announced," Mrs. Lanham says.

"Dodi's students are mostly upper middle class professional people except for two or three ladies of leisure," says Mrs. Lanham. "They pay $30 for six lessons if they are members of the Italy-America society and $40 if they are not. And believe me, we're losing our shirts," adds Mrs. Lanham.

The Society supplies all the ingredients used in the classes from anchovies to zucchero (sugar).

Mrs. Lanham, herself an expert on the art of cooking, is the 1958 delegate of the Accademia Italiana della Cucina, which she describes as the only Italian gourmet society with a U.S. branch.

Each weekly lesson consists of instruction and demonstration by Dodi on how to prepare two Italian dishes. These include vitello tonnato (roast veal), tortino al crescione (a thick omelette), and cotolate de pollo (ground chicken cooked in the shape of a cutlet). "I love it," says Dodi, a 46-year-old Italian who has been in the United States for 18 years.

Dodi, born in Florence, learned to cook as a youth in the Italian army and added to his skill after coming to the United States. He also excels in French cooking.

"I explain slowly what to do," says Dodi, adding that many of the dishes are his own specialities.

But the biggest moment of each class comes at the end of the lesson when the students sample the teacher's work—topped off with several bottles of wine.

Vacation Trips We Never Make

By SOL B. COHEN

My vacation comes around the middle of next month and my wife and I already are wondering where we won't go this year.

It's not that we don't intend to go somewhere, for we do. It's just that, almost every year, for one reason or another, our plans fall through.

It may be that I'm not a planner when it comes to vacations.

Like last year, when I announced that we would visit Escop in Montreal, I even had reservations in one of those "only a few minutes from the exposition grounds" motels.

Well, we didn't go and, to tell the truth, I don't even remember what we did instead.

One of the reasons for not going is because my wife, a non-driver, started worrying about the long ride in all that heat, about the fact that her friends told her there was nothing to do, except to walk, about her lack of suitable clothes, and about the astronomically priced souvenir shops.

Our string of not going places on my vacation started many years ago when, at last minute, I canceled my reservations in Atlantic City.

But we finally did get to Atlantic City, two years ago, and we enjoyed everything, especially the long ride in all that heat and the souvenir shops.

Once, a few years ago, we were invited to visit my wife's aunt called a "luxury vacation resort" in New Hampshire.

The only "luxury" thing we bumped into was the rain. The mattresses were old, the air-conditioning was new (and useless), the waitresses were friskier than the food, and the prices for souvenirs were from heaven.

So, after only a day and a half we left for home. We got mail twice a year from the management, reminding us what a good time we had there and asking us to "hurry back."

I could go on and on with the places we didn't go to on my vacation, and the reasons for not going.

The other day I wrote down all those reasons and computerized them. They all led to the same conclusion.

We're lazy vacationers, who don't like to rough it, who want comfort and good food, and who look for available and inexpensive souvenir shops.

Someday we'll find just the right place, one we can afford, and we'll go back to it, summer after summer.

Tolland Archery Group Will Open Field Course at State Park

A public archery facility at the Nye Hotman State Forest on Rt. 74 will be formally opened by the Black Knight Archers of Tolland Sunday at 2 p.m.

Included in the festivities will be a display of the penetrating power of an arrow versus a bullet fired by a state trooper, and exhibitions of hunting techniques by accomplished archers.

The 28-target field course was developed by the Black Knights with the co-operation of the State Parks and Forest Commission. It will be available to help state residents develop archery proficiency for hunting, target shooting, or for fun.

Many officials will be attending the opening ceremonies including Donald Mathews, director of the State Parks and Forest Commission, and Theodore Dampton, director of the State Board of Fisheries and Game.

Others are Tolland First Selectman Ernest Viki; John E. Latta, regional director of the National Field Archery Association; Francis V. Chesney, president of the Connecticut Archery Association; and Francis Papa, National Field Archery Association, Housatonic director.

The Planning and Zoning Commission met briefly on Monday, discussing several aspects of future town development which are not covered in the present zoning regulations.

The PZC will consider the items suggested by a local developer, as whether they should be incorporated in the regular zoning regulations or be considered an special case.

The gravel bank operations being conducted in the South River Hill area near the Williams River were also discussed by the PZC. It agreed to send a letter to one of the operators, Felix DeStato of Willington, regarding him to meet the town zoning regulations, which require an annual permit and bonding of the operations.

A delegation of residents of the area attended a recent meeting of the commission to complain about the gravel removal operations.

Baton Contest Winners. Cindy Elmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Elmer of Mile Hill Rd., captured first place in the statewide baton-twirling contest held last Saturday at Ocean Beach Park in New London. Miss Elmer competed in the Novice Solo, age 9 category, winning the first place trophy.

The six-member team from the Board of Recreation-sportsmen, Mrs. William Rudy of Reed Rd., has been elected president of the Tolland Co-operative Nursery School. Other officers of the co-op are Mrs. Bruce Stewart, vice president; Mrs. George Nunyeh, secretary; Mrs. Harold Jensen, treasurer and Mrs. Woodruff Driggs, nominating and membership chairman.

An additional registration session for the Nursery School will be held Saturday from 10 a.m. until noon at the United Congregational Church. Registration is open to four-year-old youngsters, or those who will become four by Dec. 31.

Registrations will also be accepted by telephone. Calls may be placed to Mrs. Stewart, Glen Dr., or to Mrs. Driggs, Sunnyside Dr., Vernon.

we care

Who cares if the blueberries in our blueberry pie are wild?

Some people may not care...but we care. Your grandmother's classic blueberry pies were baked with juicy, wild berries.

We think they're the best for pies. So, we're stubborn.

Only wild berries get into our Jane Parker Blueberry pies. In fact, we care so much about such things, we've made just one big change in the classic recipe: We bake only wild berries that are U.S. Grade A!

We're that fussy about all our baking. No matter what it is, if it's baked by our Jane Parker Bakers, it's baked with quality ingredients.

It's baked with pride and care. If you want proof that caring this much counts, try a Jane Parker Blueberry Pie this week.

The price? It's as wild as the blueberries.

Gay Caballero of US Open Weeps Upon Arriving Home

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Lee Trevino is home for a rest.

The U.S. Open golf champion returned to this border city of 350,000 persons and a routine, after he stepped off his airplane at the El Paso airport and embraced his wife he pulled a long, unsteady hand striking his green handkerchief from his jet-black sport coat and wiped sweat from his eyes.

"Oh, it feels great to be home. I wish I could stay. . .," he said as his wife and children swarmed around him handing him four straight sub-par rounds and provided 125 wisecracks about his golf.

After the excitement had died down, the 28-year-old Mexican-American, who only two years ago worked for $20 a week and lesson fees at nearby Horizon Hills Country Club, once again started his hand striking his green handkerchief from his jet-black sport coat and wiped sweat from his eyes.

But the crowd of 600, including a maniacal band straining to hear Trevino's every word, was not there to see him. It was there to see the U.S. Open record and the $30,000 first prize money.

After he won the $30,000 first prize money, Trevino was going to buy a new house and a new car. He was going to buy a new house and a new car. He was going to buy a new house and a new car.

Play Begins Mystery in Canada

TREVINO TO REJOIN TOUR AT CLEVELAND

TORONTO (AP)—An aura of mystery surrounded the disappearance of Lee Trevino from the scene of the Canadian Open Golf Championship Tuesday morning and became more bewildering later in the day.

Trevino, of El Paso, Tex., was reported to have withdrawn from the 72-hole tournament because of the serious illness of his daughter. It was later learned, however, the child had only a slight cold and Trevino wanted time to review a series of financial offers received following his US Open victory.

His name has been withdrawn from the list of 147 professional and three amateurs in the Open, which carries total prize money of $125,000 and a first-place purse of $30,000.

Three other withdrawals were also announced before the starting draw was completed Tuesday. U.S. professionals Bob Goaly and Guy Brewer decided to skip the tournament because of a shoulder injury and a back injury respectively.

Also here are three-time winners Sam Snead, two-time winner Doug Ford and Jim Ferrier, Gary Player of South Africa and Tony Jacklin of England.

Annual American Football Coaches Game Has Talent

Beban, Stabler to Be Featured in Passing Duel

NEW YORK (AP)—Alabama's No. 1 quarterback is called the Coaches All-American. When the American Football Coaches Association presents its annual game at Atlanta on Friday night, June 28, both the East and West squads will be loaded with All-American talent.

In the stands of Atlanta Stadium will be many National Football League scouts and coaches seeking a better look at the freshman talent coming up this fall. Many of the players have yet to sign their pro contracts.

The game figures to feature a duel between UCLA's Billy Beban, winner of the 280-pound center Bob Johnson of Tennessee, and Kenny Stabler, Georgia Tech's star receiver.

Not only will this game bring together the best college seniors of 1967 football but it features coaches who were voted top in their section.

Coach of the Year Johnny Pont of Indiana heads the East Staff. His aides are Doug Dickson of Tennessee and Joe Paterno of Penn State. Dee Andros of Oregon State, who dresses in the traditional orange and black of Halloween, heads the West staff. He will be assisted by Wyoming's Lloyd Eaton and Oklahoma's Chuck Fairbanks.

SHAVING STROKES

Other Words

Written For Newspaper Enterprise Assoc.

A pro is restricted in tournament play to carrying only 15 clubs in his bag. That limits my own case, as I've pointed out. I use an extra-soft, a three-wood and a four-wood.

That gives me plenty of variety off the tee. You don't usually need to stretch length. On the long George Archer is one of our tallest guys. You'd think he'd hit the ball a country mile.

I'm no expert on physics, but I do know that the distance you hit a golf ball is in direct proportion to the length of the shaft; the longer the radius of the rotated circle which is the arc of a swing follows, the more club head speed is built up.

Put a driver head on a shaft a foot long and you couldn't get any speed up; put it on a shaft 36 inches long and you've got it.

That's why, when the situation dictates a drive of 220 or 240 yards, I'll switch to a three-wood or a four-wood off the tee.

In the Masters, when Bob Goaly was finishing up his great last round, he used three-woods at the final two holes. I've seen a club head hit in spring training a drive in the opening hole of the 1968 season. Yas soaked two home runs.
