

Charlton Heston — Square With Secret of Happiness

By HAL BOYLE
 NEW YORK (AP) — "I have a theory that if anything is much fun it doesn't do you much good," said Charlton Heston. The 6 foot 2 actor, concerned in everything he does, at 46 still methodically runs two miles a day to keep in perfect physical condition. "I don't jog—I run," he emphasized.

For a man with his stature in film and record of public activity, Heston—who likes to be called Chuck—keeps a rare and unbreakable aura of privacy. He is never seen on the street. He is never seen on the radio. He is never seen on the television. He is never seen on the newspaper. He is never seen on the magazine. He is never seen on the radio. He is never seen on the television. He is never seen on the newspaper. He is never seen on the magazine.

Incumbents Upset In Waterbury

WATERBURY, Conn. (AP) — Democratic party convention districts that include Waterbury denied their incumbent senators renomination Tuesday.

The two senators—William J. Verrier and James E. Tansey—both apparently fell victim to an intraparty struggle between Waterbury's Democratic town chairman and his Democratic mayor.

Verrier, chairman of the influential Senate Finance Committee, has served six terms already. Tansey, a veteran of four terms in office, has just himself a reputation for bucking the party leadership and standing up—alone if necessary—on what he calls matters of principle.

For instance, in the 1966 session, Tansey was one of only a few state legislators to vote against pay raises for themselves.

Verrier had represented the 18th senatorial district, which includes part of Waterbury, and all of Plymouth. The new nominee, State Rep. Louis J. Cuttito, defeated the nomination from him in a 16-3 vote.

In the 19th senatorial district, which includes the rest of Waterbury and all of Prospect and Wallcut, William J. Sullivan took the nomination from Tansey in a 19-4 vote.

Both incumbents had been considered close to Mayor Ed Bergin, who was renominated as mayor Tuesday.

Both incumbents are considered Democrats. Both are considered close to Mayor Ed Bergin, who was renominated as mayor Tuesday.

Trucking Industry Joins Effort to Clear the Air

State trucking industry officials are voluntarily cooperating with the national effort of truckers to improve the environment.

"We want to make sure the trucking industry does every thing it can with means available to cut down on noise and waste, vehicle and terminal pollution," John E. Hasso said.

He is general manager of Motor Transport Association of Connecticut Inc. in East Hartford, the state affiliate of the American Trucking Association Inc. In many instances improved motor maintenance by operators of trucks can decrease the amount of air pollution, he said.

Rufus A. Ayers Jr., vice president of Lombardi Brothers Inc., a trucking company, said he is meeting this responsibility. I expect they will continue to provide leadership for us to catch up."

"This is not going to be a paper organization which has been created just to talk advantage of public interest in the broad subject of ecology," Ayers added. "As one of the industries, we're getting a late start in meeting this responsibility. I expect they will continue to provide leadership for us to catch up."

Charge Dropped Against Courant Photographer

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Charges against a Hartford Courant photographer who was arrested while taking pictures of a police radar trap were dropped Tuesday when the prosecutor agreed with the defense that there wasn't enough evidence to warrant court action.

The photographer, Philip Acquaviva, was charged on Feb. 12 with breaking the peace and recklessly using the highway while a pedestrian.

Acquaviva, the Courant's chief photographer, has been with the newspaper for more than 30 years.

According to Acquaviva, he was taking his pictures off one side of the Conard Highway — standing behind several parked police cars and a motor cycle — when a police car came up to him and asked him to leave.

Acquaviva said he identified himself as a newspaper photographer, but the policeman walked directly up to him, then told him he was under arrest for "striking an officer" — a charge Acquaviva complained that he was held in jail, and Acquaviva complained that he had to withstand abuse from several policemen while they searched his camera.

The move to dismiss the case was made by the defense, and prosecuting attorney Cornelius J. Shea agreed to go along.

Shea said he agreed to a motion that declared "there is not sufficient evidence or cause to justify the bringing or continuing of the charges against Acquaviva, or to justify the placing of the defendant in custody."

All records of the case were ordered "immediately and automatically erased."

Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market gave its early morning gains with prices now off fractionally, trading slowly and moderately active.

Advances continued to lead declining issues by a more than 2-1 margin.

Brokers noted the investor pullout was prior to President Nixon's noon speech on the economy.

Anticipation about the address has kept prices relatively flat, according to the rally that began Tuesday.

Volume is up from previous sessions, but the low number of block trades still indicates institutional traders are sitting on the sidelines, brokers said.

Steel, motors, mail order-retail, chemicals and airlines were mixed. Aircraft, electronics, utilities, metals, rails and oils were up. Only rubber issues were off.

At noon the Associated Press 60-stock index was unchanged at 238.8, with industrials up 0.3, rails off 0.3 and utilities up 0.1.

Big Board prices included: Dow Jones, 238.8; S&P 500, 130.0; Industrial Average, 238.8; Railroads, 130.0; Utilities, 130.0.

Coventry Town Master Plan Suggested; Architectural History Cited

A village area master plan is called for after a study aimed toward beautification in the town.

Urban student Roger Bugbee presented for immediate action in his recent report to the town's Beautification Committee.

"Only a coordinated effort between all concerned—private owners, businessmen, town and state officials—will produce results," Bugbee said.

In line with the master plan suggestion, Bugbee offered several suggestions for short-range improvements in the area, including the maintenance and removal of decaying buildings; curbing and sidewalks; unification and placement of signs; and area cleanup and placement of trash receptacles.

Other short-range improvements might be the revision of choice zoning ordinances and formation of orders; purchasing of vital land areas for future developments; obtaining state cooperation in areas of signs; circulation control; a circulation study to coordinate future development; and "promotion for the tasteful development and treatment of the landscape."

Bugbee also offered a detailed explanation of the village area and in the process of this explanation came up with a master plan including architectural history of the town.

above ground utilities, and re-orientation of commercial establishments.

Bugbee also suggested the establishment of an open spaces system incorporated into the master plan which would include a walkway system, pedestrian malls, public facilities, commercial activities, and a river development.

Finally, in his report Bugbee suggested formation of an Historical District by state legislation. "Its headquarters could be located in the old town hall. Within the old town hall could be a map of Coventry locating its architecture, monuments and its boundaries."

Happy Birthday Mr. Beethoven

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Music Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Music lovers are busy celebrating the 200th birthday of Ludwig van Beethoven, the most popular of classical composers of all, and even rock musicians are getting into the act.

Billie Laurie is putting out a new variation of Chuck Berry's hit "Roll over Beethoven," and Spanish pop singer Miguel Rios' "A Song of Joy" is a self-proclaimed steal from the "Ode to Joy" of Beethoven's Ninth Symphony.

The composer was born Dec. 17, 1770 in Bonn, Germany, but some celebrants jumped the gun in having his bicentennial.

The U.S. Beethoven celebration got its start in Union Square, San Francisco, last December with a party dreamed up by Charles Schultz, creator of the comic strip, "Peanuts." The party's characters, Schroeder, spends much of his time at a tiny piano playing Beethoven works.

So eight weeks spent three days having a piano-shaped foot high, 2.50-pound cake, which was eaten in two hours. Then invited guests to play the piano. The party was held at the San Francisco Symphony.

The San Francisco Symphony opened the party early to call attention to the all-Beethoven concert on May 3 with the Ninth Symphony; the Pro Arte Symphony at Hofstra University, Hempstead, N.Y., closed its season with all-Beethoven.

Beethoven's only opera, "Fidelio," will be given a new production next season at the Metropolitan Opera, with the first performance set for Dec. 16, in Diana University will present "Fidelio" in late July and early August.

Hunter College in New York has a series of offerings all the Beethoven string quartets, playing by the Juillard, Hungarian, Amadeus, Guarneri and Italian string quartets. Hunter also has a series with all the piano trios and all the violin sonatas.

Soloists are busy too. Rudolf Serkin will play all 32 of the piano sonatas at Carnegie Hall in eight concerts from next Oct. 4 to April 24, with the fourth on Dec. 16. Daniel Barenboim will do the same feat in eight concerts at Alice Tully Hall in New York. Then he'll join his wife, Jacqueline du Pre, for two recitals at Philharmonic Hall in New York of the complete Beethoven works for piano and cello.

Australian-born pianist Bruce Hunsberger played five of the sonatas in March and a week later filmed an all-Beethoven program for the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. Russian violinist David Oistrakh played three sonatas in February at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York. Claudio Arrau of Chile, who has specialized in

Space Suit Defect

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—A defect in a space suit circuit has delayed a practice maneuver by Apollo 14 crew members in their lunar module, the space agency reported.

Officials said Wednesday the failure was in the space suit circuit into which the astronauts would plug their suit systems if the cabin did not maintain the proper pressure.

Navy Capt. Alan B. Shepherd and Navy Cmdr. Eugene A. Mitchell were scheduled to spend today in the module during altitude chamber tests. The suit circuit did not maintain the proper pressure at altitudes of 60,000 feet.

Shepherd, Mitchell and Maj. Stuart Ross are slated to lift off in December for America's fourth moon landing attempt.

Tolland County Houley Renominated By Acclamation Vote

Incumbent State Sen. Robert Houley of Vernon received the Democratic nomination for the post by acclamation last night in the Stafford Town Hall.

He was nominated by Stafford First Selectman Benjamin Musio, with several second inclusions Milton Stearns of Mansfield, Walter Blebeck of Tolland and Seymour Lavitt of Vernon.

Accepting the nomination, Houley cited the need to find alternative ways to meet the state's expenses, explaining the two main problems facing the state today are the tax burden at all levels and the need for economy and efficiency in state government.

Robert Houley

Houley, who has a 100 per cent attendance record at State Senate sessions, issued an appeal for the "honest, sincere" support of all county Democrats.

Admitting that he has been approached with the thought of running for the Congressional seat of the late Congressman William St. Onge, Houley stressed he feels it is in the best interest of Tolland County to serve in the State Senate where "where I understand the problems and concerns of the people."

The convention took on a festive air, with campaign hats, pins and bumper stickers circulated to the 43 delegates and to guests attending. Balloons and flags also contributed to the atmosphere.

The Stafford Crusaders performed at the start of the convention, lending color to the goings on, even though the accounts at the Town Hall did not lend themselves very well to the band music.

In his nominating speech, Musio described Houley as having "a rare breed of politician who is willing to change his mind... one who is open minded."

Blebeck appealed for the support of the whole county, while Lavitt stated Houley has proven "he's his own man." He has served our communities fearlessly and his political affiliations."

State Central Committeewoman Mrs. Naomi Hammer of Vernon served as chairman of the convention and Mrs. Laura DeCarli of Stafford as secretary.

Following the convention the delegates attended a reception hosted by Houley at Tito's.

Houley is seeking election to a second term in the state legislature. He has promised not to be a lobbyist and to continue to be available to evaluate the ideas, and the decision-making experience national leadership requires.

Bill Cotter shares your concerns.

Inflation... Crises in the cities... Employment... Business opportunities... The war... Preparation for a peacetime economy... The need of the elderly... These are the major issues that concern Bill Cotter, just as they concern you. Send the man to Congress who has the ability to evaluate the ideas, and the decision-making experience national leadership requires.

Send Bill Cotter to Congress. Vote Democratic.

Stamps In the News

This year marks the 25th anniversary of the death of Franklin Delano Roosevelt. A new generation of stamp collectors now is involved in the hobby to give the four-time president a collector but as a designer.

He suggested the subject and design of many stamps than any other U.S. president. Roosevelt ordered the 50th anniversary stamp for the Pan American Union and specified that the three figures of the Bolshoi painting be used. He designed the National Defense series and was instrumental in the Army and Navy stamp, Famous Americans, Presidential, Overrun Countries and Corridor stamps.

Few people know that FDR made the original sketch of the famous 1934 Mother's Day stamp which depicted the portrait of Whittier's Mother and carried the inscription "In Memory of the Mothers of America."

A highlight to this issuance was the fact that Roosevelt's mother sent him six of the three-centers on an album page with the message "Presented to General Allen two years ago."

Ceylon has issued a new set of stamps dedicated to wildlife in that country. Each stamp shows a different animal in his habitat and is printed in a color offset printing.

The 5 cents illustrates wild buffalo. The 15 cents depicts the slender loris. The 50 cents portrays a herd of spotted deer. The highest value, the 1 rupee, features a leopard in reclining position. The stamps are available at your local dealer.

Zambia has announced the issuance of three new stamps to celebrate that nation's determination to provide all inhabitants with preventive health services. The new adhesives show a child being weighed, water being drawn from a well and a child being immunized.

This is the first set of stamps from Zambia in which preventive health services have been chosen as a theme.

Since by its very nature, stamps of the 19th century are more valuable than the present 20th century issues, collectors are anxious to find out more about them.

In 1947, Lester Brookman compiled a two-volume set of books on United States 19th century stamps. It was greeted by collectors and dealers as the most comprehensive work on the subject. Although the book is out of print it has brought offers as high as $85.

Now Brookman has revised and enlarged his original work on the subject, containing some 900 pages and over 1,000 illustrations. Every stamp from the first U.S. issue in 1847 to the final one in 1898 is illustrated and described in detail.

Office Jobs On Increase In the '70s

NEW YORK (AP) — True or false: The proliferation of labor-saving office machines will greatly diminish the need for all types of office workers during the 1970s?

One glance at the array of bookkeeping machines, copiers, duplicators, automatic typewriters, electronic computers and other office furnishings might convince you that the 1970s will be the ages of the machine.

The answer, however, is false. It quite likely will be a decade of increasing demand for office workers.

Studies by the Labor Department indicate that whereas there are 23 million clerical workers in 1968, there might well be 30 million at work in 1973. Jobs might be eliminated, but new ones are expected to be created.

Jobs for secretaries and stenographers, the largest group of office workers—they number more than 23 million—are expected to grow very rapidly through the middle of the present decade, according to Herbert Beinstock, the department's New York director.

The duties of workers of this type, Beinstock explains, require initiative, judgement and contact with the public, skills that no machine has demonstrated to anyone's satisfaction. As a result, they will be little affected by technology.

Bookkeepers, the second largest category of office worker, continue growing. There are more than 1.2 million now. Employment for typists, the department's figures indicate, is expected to rise rapidly through 1970. Some junior typing jobs may be turned over to the automatic machines, but there is expected to be a much greater need for typists able to perform more difficult assignments.

Direct dialing and other technological changes are expected to slow the growth of jobs for telephone operators in telephone company exchanges, but the number of operators in other businesses is expected to rise steadily.

Here are some other projections, based on Labor Department figures:

Shipping clerks: Expected to grow moderately through 1975, the result of increases in the quantity goods distributed, population growth and continued business expansion.

Office machine operators: You might have guessed it; they'll be plenty of opportunities to operate the machines that will be taking over many of the routine office chores. Expect a rapid increase in job opportunities.

Bank clerks: A moderate increase. Big additions to the volume of mail are expected to provide many jobs, but employment is expected to grow at a rate slower than the volume increases, the result of new machinery.

Receptionists: Expected to grow as rapidly as in the 1960s, mainly because of an expected continuation of business expansion. No machine yet devised can replace even the slightest amount of social appeal.

LONDON (AP) — One out of two Frenchmen believes that U.S. foreign policy is likely to provoke World War III, according to a recent poll.

The poll, published by the Magazine Paris Match, adds that one in three Frenchmen believes Soviet foreign policy is likely to lead to a global conflagration.

Of the 1,000 Frenchmen and women over 21 questioned in May, 43 per cent thought that the Soviet Union was working more for peace than for war, while 26 per cent thought that of the United States.

The pollsters said the pessimism about U.S. foreign policy was stronger among men 21 to 34 and among white collar and factory workers and, strongest among those with left-wing leanings.

The poll showed that 70 per cent of Frenchmen and women who normally vote for centrist parties also had qualms about America's role in the world.

Looking at American reaction to President Nixon's moves in Indochina, Alister Cooke of the British Broadcasting Corp. observed: "It is strange but true that in spite of all you hear about the American people being in a paroxysm of rage against the war, but it creates a feeling that the American people are doing a good job."

"This is as high a percentage of public backing as Kennedy or Eisenhower had in all their early honeymoon days in the presidency," the veteran British observer of America said.

"So when the President decided he had to go into Cambodia he knew what you would never gather from the radical and liberal press—that most people were prepared to trust him."

"However, it was a bold risk, because he didn't ask the people to trust him in perpetuity. He set a deadline, something no president has done in the whole war was greeted by Dr. Frank-lyn D. Toder, director of the III. Illinois of a vaccine for German measles or rubella.

Cutting a colorful, framed certificate decorated with a car, most local governments, record a $3.2 billion collection, an increase of 9.5 per cent. Motor fuel taxes brought in $5.9 billion, up 8.8 per cent and motor vehicle and operators' license fees for the West German weekly mark in the state's immunization program.

Paris Hemlines Soaring As Thermometer Climbs

PARIS (AP) — The dictators of French fashion may be grinding their teeth, but there is no denying that the girls of Paris are still showing most of their legs.

The thermometer has been in the upper 80s the past few days, and any girl who is not wearing shorts is bound to be counted as a fashion misfit.

The great Paris fashion houses never liked the girl, virtually all the designers saw political significance in the invention in England. Last winter, they were all too ready to drop hemlines well below the knee. But the great mass of women refused to follow the dictate of the couturiers.

"The mind has won a battle," he said. "It remains to be seen whether it has won the war."

"About five per cent of my clients wear maxi skirts," said taxi driver Armand Thibault. "They are usually women with ugly legs."

Language Change
JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Government policy is that the two official languages, English and Afrikaans, are equal and must be used equally. Among the latest targets for bilingualism are whiskey, but long standing Afrikaans names like Queen Anne whiskey is now labeled "The Anna" or Aunt Anna. If other distillers follow, the bilingual line, Johnny Walker or may become a Looper. Teachers may be Underwey and Highland Cream may become Hoevel Tannie.

High Taxes
CHICAGO (AP) — State and local tax collections soared to a record high of $57.7 billion in 1969, says Commerce Clearing House. The tax law authority said the rise was fueled by a $9.6 billion, sales taxes, which comprise a third of all state tax collections, increased 14.4 per cent to $15.1 billion, up from $13.5 billion.

Property taxes, levied by most local governments, recorded a $3.2 billion collection, an increase of 9.5 per cent. Motor fuel taxes brought in $5.9 billion, up 8.8 per cent and motor vehicle and operators' license fees for the West German weekly mark in the state's immunization program.

Democrats Pick Vice Candidate In Delaware

DOVER, Del. (AP)—John D. Daniloff has won the Democratic nomination for Delaware's state congressional seat in the state's first statewide primary contest.

Daniloff, a New Castle County councilman who advocates immediate U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam, led by a runoff vote of 10,717 to 9,417 Tuesday over Samuel L. Shipley, a Wilmington public relations man who supported President Nixon's overall policy in Southeast Asia but opposed the move into Cambodia.

The statewide primary resulted in a new provision of Delaware election law. Daniloff had won the backing of a majority of delegates at the state Democratic Convention, but under the new provision Shipley was entitled to a runoff at the polls because 35 per cent of the delegates supported him.

Daniloff will face Republican State Rep. Pierre S. DuPont in November for the congressional seat being vacated by Republican William V. Roth in running for the Senate seat of Republican John J. Williams, who is retiring.

Two Pastors Vie To Head Synod

BEVERLY, Mass. (AP)—Two Connecticut clergymen are in the running for the presidency of the New England Synod of the Lutheran Church in America.

They are the Rev. Roger A. Rotvig of Hartford and the Rev. Thornton A. Gustafson of Southbury.

The first ballot taken Tuesday by the synod was inconclusive, although the incumbent pastor, the Rev. O. Karl Olander, received a considerably more votes than any other candidate. However, it takes a three-fourths majority to elect a president, and another vote will have to be taken.

GOP Candidate Addresses Pupils

Palmer McGee of Farmington, a candidate for the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate, has told a group of 5th grade junior high students at Bennett State Junior High school about the nature of a primary election and his particular reasons for running.

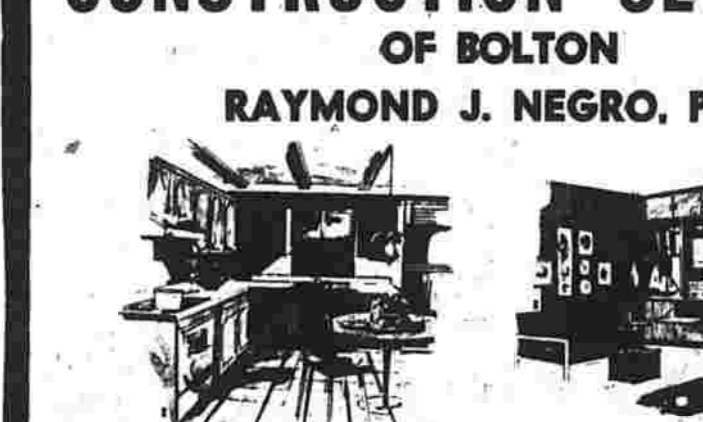

The program, held Monday, was the second of two. The first featured representatives of two Democratic candidates, Joseph Duffey and Alphonso Donahue.

In citing his reasons for running, McGee said he believed he should try to make a personal contribution to solving the problems confronting America. He answered questions posed by the students after his short talk.

The two programs were arranged by Mrs. Joan Lambert and Mrs. Elizabeth Intaglietta of Bennett. Paul Mack, a representative for Republican Edwin (Doc) Edgington, was scheduled to attend but was prevented from coming by unexpected business. John LaPorte and Lowell P. Welcker, two other Republican candidates, were also invited, but were unable to attend.

McGee is a graduate of West Point and Yale Law School and is a member of the Hartford law firm of Day, Berry and Howard.

DAYS OF LIFE AND DEATH AND ESCAPE TO THE MOON. By William Saroyan. Dial Press, $5.95.

For these many years now, Saroyan has been writing novel, stories, memoirs and plays. Many readers will remember his stamboul, egocentric, gypsy prose of the earlier days.

Those earlier writings brought him a fortune, which he gambled away, getting himself into trouble with the tax authorities. So for a long time he kept writing to pay off his taxes and finally made it. The process seems to have mellowed him a bit as he gets past the 60-year mark.

What he offers here is a personal journal. It is in three sections—the month of August, 1967, in Paris, for many years his home, and the months of November and December of 1967 in Fresno, Calif., his old home town. It consists of short entries on dozens of themes.

In the Paris episode he portrays himself as a lone living a simple life. He takes long walks every day; he prowls through old bookstores where he picks up odd volumes of a couple of francs; he makes notes on the news events of the day.

At Fresno he makes nostalgic notes on his early life and ruminates on the craft of writing. Significantly he keeps turning to again and again to the obituaries in the news; he is looking backward.

There is a twilight air about Saroyan's journal.

DOWN ALL THE DAYS. By Christy Brown. Stein and Day, 6.95.

Get one thing straight. Don't read this novel out of sympathy for the author. Brown, one of 2 children, was born with a severe form of cerebral palsy. "needs help to perform most functions, never went to school, and has the full use of his left foot. His left foot. He typed this novel over a 12-year period using the little toe of his left foot.

Naturally this gives the work an automatic curiosity value. But it doesn't need it. Not at all. This would be a very good novel even if the author were completely unknown. Centered in Dublin, Brown's birthplace 37 years ago, the book is not a novel in the strict constructionist sense. Rather it is a tightly knit series of fictional autobiographical vignettes that stand firmly alone but also as an integral part of the greater whole.

Its scope, naturally, is somewhat limited. But while Brown could not move around with ease he could see, he could hear and he could think. And what emerges is almost a wall-to-wall mouth-filling, lip-smacking, rich Irish prose. The Irish have a charming way of speaking and Brown speaks better than most.

On the hands of his father: "The large, loose, knuckle-jointed, work-roughened hands of his father bring for a rare moment passive on damaged knees or lap filled him with terror and yet a strange burning unnameable longing; he tingled those hands alert and agile with the bric-a-brac of his towel and child, heading in the weak, mocking winter sunshine on scaffolding high above the city."

It is masterfully moulding a patchwork pyramid of cemented paragraphs to enclose the lives, loves, labours, passions, despair of unnumbered strangers.

On food: "Back to cold ham sandwich-

DOWN ALL THE DAYS

DOWN ALL THE DAYS. By Christy Brown. Stein and Day, 6.95.

Get one thing straight. Don't read this novel out of sympathy for the author. Brown, one of 2 children, was born with a severe form of cerebral palsy. "needs help to perform most functions, never went to school, and has the full use of his left foot. His left foot. He typed this novel over a 12-year period using the little toe of his left foot.

Naturally this gives the work an automatic curiosity value. But it doesn't need it. Not at all. This would be a very good novel even if the author were completely unknown. Centered in Dublin, Brown's birthplace 37 years ago, the book is not a novel in the strict constructionist sense. Rather it is a tightly knit series of fictional autobiographical vignettes that stand firmly alone but also as an integral part of the greater whole.

Its scope, naturally, is somewhat limited. But while Brown could not move around with ease he could see, he could hear and he could think. And what emerges is almost a wall-to-wall mouth-filling, lip-smacking, rich Irish prose. The Irish have a charming way of speaking and Brown speaks better than most.

On the hands of his father: "The large, loose, knuckle-jointed, work-roughened hands of his father bring for a rare moment passive on damaged knees or lap filled him with terror and yet a strange burning unnameable longing; he tingled those hands alert and agile with the bric-a-brac of his towel and child, heading in the weak, mocking winter sunshine on scaffolding high above the city."

It is masterfully moulding a patchwork pyramid of cemented paragraphs to enclose the lives, loves, labours, passions, despair of unnumbered strangers.

Folk Feeling Returns In Some Pop Music

By MARY CAMPBELL AP Newfeatures Writer

Folk feeling is back in some pop music and Gordon Lightfoot has a new album, "Sit Down Young Stranger," which is best oriented.

It might be one of those with "and friends" added to the title. John B. Sebastian plays along on three and Van Dyke Parks on one. Two were arranged by Randy Newman.

"Your Love's Return" and "The Pony Man," the latter for children, are strongly folk. The title song is contemporary, a discussion of whether there should be wars.

Lightfoot, who is 30, was born in Orillia, Canada, north of Toronto. He got into folk singing in the 1960s. Ian and Sylvia sing his "Early Morning Rain" and "For Lovin' Me." After five albums on MCA, he is now on Warner Bros. Records.

Lightfoot says he now is trying to write more commercially, for Reprise. He liked his songs before, likes them now, too.

"Through the Eyes of Terry Ber," on World Pacific, is an excellent album, to be greeted as a "discovery." Miss Ber writes real poetry, with melo-album is "ballad soul," more restrained than Aretha. "Six White Horses" on Epic is sung by Tommy Cash. You can hear the sound of Johnny in his voice but it's all clearer, without that rough edge of living that's every Johnny Cash applicable and that people respond to so strongly.

This is a good, standard country album including "Long Black Veil," "Green Grass of Home," "Ode from Muskogee." The title song is about the Kennedy and Martin Luther King. The LP ends with a strongly worded patriotic song, "So You're Tired of America."

"Entrance" by Edgar Winter, 25, is on Epic. He wrote eight of the songs on the album with Johnny, who plays harmonica and guitar on the album. Music is said to draw on jazz and classical music, but side one is nearly finished before we hear something that sounds like jazz, from a saxophone.

We aren't overwhelmed by this album, though Winter's falsetto is acceptable and "Back in the Blues" is a good song.

With the Beatles recording separately, we have "McCartney" by Apple, "Man We Was Lonely" and "Maybe I'm Amazed" are good songs. But this album just makes a tie or loses fan sign. Remember the better old days when John and Paul wrote songs together and the two men and jazz. Mostly the

Safety Rules Important In Workshop

By ANDY LANG AP Newfeatures

It has often been said the easiest way to turn a mild, reckless man into a snarling, reckless man is to place him behind the wheel of an automobile.

A somewhat similar transformation takes place in many men when they get within the shadow of their home workshop.

Careful, methodical types throw caution and intelligence to the wind, violating all the rules of safety they have read and heard about dozens of times.

Surveys show that a large percentage of workshop accidents occur because of fatigue, just as they do on the highway. Rule number one, therefore, is to stay out of the workshop when you are tired, most especially when your intention is to use power tools.

Here are some of the other Don'ts that can keep you off the accident list: Don't wear a tie or other loose fitting that can get caught in machinery. Don't carry on a conversation and work with tools at the same time. If someone interrupts you, stop what you are doing and complete your talk before resuming. Don't forget to use goggles when there's any danger of flying splinters, especially when grinding. Don't neglect to use the safety guards with which power tools are equipped. Example: the blade guard on a table saw. Don't forget to place in covered metal containers any rags which have been used for grease, oil, solvents or other flammable materials. Don't wear gloves when using power tools, but do wear them when handling acids or rough, abrasive products. Don't place tools in a drawer in helter-skelter fashion, since finger ends are often suffered when looking for something in such a drawer.

Don't reach toward the cutting edges of a machine until the power has been turned off and the blades have stopped turning. This may seem like a somewhat unnecessary precaution, but the accident records prove otherwise.

Don't take your eyes off the cutting edge when hammering a cold chisel. Don't, after spilling liquid on the workshop floor, tell yourself that you'll clean it up later, since you're likely to become absorbed in what you're doing and eventually find yourself flat on your back. Don't fail to follow the manufacturer's directions about using his product "in a well-ventilated area," even if you've used the same material 20 times previously without trouble.

"Secret" Marriage Out HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Lorraine Stephens, 25-year-old co-star of the "Bracken's World" television series, is honeymooning in Ireland with producer David Gerber.

They were married secretly Friday at the University of the Pacific in Stockton, Calif., where Gerber once was a star athlete, a spokesman for 20th Century Fox said Tuesday.

It was Miss Stephens' first marriage and Gerber's second. Gerber, 41, produces the "Nanny and the Professor" TV series.

Kim Kabrik on sculpture UConn gave to Hebron Elementary. Children titled it, "Heaven and Earth."

Hebron

Children Name 600-Lb. Pop Sculpture

By ANN EMIT (Herald Reporter) submitted an entry and each teacher chose the best in her class. The winning title, "Heaven and Earth," was given to a sculpture by Kim Kabrik, a 600-pound pop sculpture, is situated on the front lawn of the Hebron Elementary School. When the school buses arrive at the school last Thursday morning, the children were greeted by the sculpture and class. Mrs. Johansson said that her sculpture represents the traditional concept of Creation—the curved pieces are the allays of the school from the free forms, heaven; the globe and the rest of the figures look like a graduate class at the School of Fine Arts at the University of Connecticut. 68-Mill Tax Rate Approved; Voters Pass Education Budget

By BARBARA RICHMOND (Herald Reporter) Part II of the annual meeting last night approved an education budget of $6,173,800. In executive session after the meeting, the Board of Representatives set the mill rate at 68, a rise of six mills.

With all the board present except Democrat Thomas Wolff, the vote was 7-3 to go into executive session and 14 to exclude the press from listening in on the session. Republican Stuart Neff who made the motion said, "The mill rate is the news, how we arrive at it is none of your business."

The town meeting was recessed from June 9 when the voters approved the general government portion of the budget and rejected the education portion. The voters had three avenues of action open to them, moderate the budget, or reject it.

The first to get the floor was Joseph Powers, Board of Education member, who made the motion, eventually passed, to approve the $6,173,800 figure. He then yielded the floor to Superintendent of schools, Raymond Ramsdell.

Commenting on a flyer distributed by the "Concerned Taxpayers' Board," Dr. Ramsdell charged the group with "scurrilous tactics" and urged the group to support Power's motion. He said the flyer referred that the tax rate would be up to 100 mills by 1974.

The question of what the budget would mean in mills was not asked for the first time Neff said some figures were drawn from the 68, 69, and 70 figures.

Dr. Ramsdell yielded the floor to Mrs. Marie Herbat, chairman of the education budget committee. Speaking in a voice charged with emotion, Mrs. Herbat told the voters, "For the first time we stand on a threshold of being able to provide to every child entering our schools a choice for equal educational opportunities."

"The problem of marshaling forces of financing to relieve the local taxpayer cannot be placed on nine people (Board of Education) alone... the responsibility must be assumed by the mayor, representatives and the 12,000 electors in this community," she said.

Turning to the some 44 meetings her budget committee has had since last October, Mrs. Herbat said, "These meetings dealt with one subject... relief for the local taxpayer."

Manchester High Aims At Outdoor Graduation

The elements willing, 556 Manchester High School seniors will hold commencement exercises on the school's Memorial Field tomorrow, starting at 6:45 p.m.

If rain makes this impossible, the exercises will be conducted in the school's Clarke Arena, with admission by ticket only.

Thomas F. Kelley will address the graduates. Kelley is director of MCHS from 1958 until his retirement on Nov. 30, 1967.

His football teams won 109, lost 27, tied 11, won the CCHL title four times, and posted two undefeated seasons. In baseball, he had a 229-223 record.

After 30 years as high school coach and college football official, Kelley, in 1958, received a Gold Lifetime Pass from the Eastern Athletic Interscholastic Football Officials and was named honor.

Books Mark Passing Time Of Summer

Summer will arrive officially Sunday, and seasonal activities for children at Mary Cheney Library will begin the next day.

On Monday, as part of the summer reading program, a child may sign up for the Clock Club, and receive a clock folder with his name on it.

When he has read and returned his first book, any time after the first day, he may draw a "1" on the folder, and the librarian will write his name on the library clock on the bulletin board.

When a child has read more than 12 books, thus finishing the hours of the day, he may start filling in the minutes. Sometimes a child will be asked to tell the librarian about the story he has read. He may also draw a picture or write a poem about the book, and some contributions will be posted in the Junior Room.

To complement the theme of this summer's program, Francis C. Knight has loaned some of his book collection to the story play in the Junior Room exhibit case.

This summer, the story hour for children four to eight years old is being expanded. Stories told during the period each Tuesday morning from 10:30 to 11:15 will be repeated Wednesday afternoons from 2:30 to 3:15.

Miss Marion Jesseman, children's librarian, assisted by other members of the staff.

In addition, children may view "Somme Street" on the library television set each afternoon at 4 o'clock.

118-Degree Egyptian Day Takes Toll of Marriages

CAIRO (AP) — When summer comes in Egypt a husband-wife divorce rate rises to a level that has caused the government to take steps to curb the practice.

The onset of every hot season means an upsurge in marital quarrels in the country. Recent heat waves have sent the divorce rate to a record for May 21. History says that the incidence of divorce will soon rise to an even higher level.

Stefan Nagor, director of the central bureau for marriage counseling, says doctors agree that heat's the culprit. Couples with five to eight children are entangled in endless domestic arguments which lead to an even more acute since the explosion.

Last year August showed 3,000 divorce cases. By December the total had risen to 4,000. Last year one million marriages were dissolved. The figure for that divorce soars highest, that month was 3,201.

When the heat coincides with a religious feast the effects on marital bliss are sharp. "Married life in the middle east is a struggle. It is a constant conversation stemming from the need for oriental cooking in the couple's private life," Mrs. Nagor observes.

She says that the divorce rate is higher in the middle east than in the west. "You know, dear, I need education for women, more money for looking handsome, women in jobs, educational facilities, more money for looking handsome, 10 stitutes, and greater feminine kilos of wheat, 12 kilos of sugar, independence—but many male decisions are still largely husband-made by the family."

But, dear, it's the traditional way of doing things. My other well enough to start a parents and yours did it and family," Mrs. Nagor says.

Rightists Stake Their Claim On Japanese Way of Life

By JOHN ROBERTS Associated Press Writer TOKYO (AP) — Leftists have taken most of the headlines in Japan's postwar violence. Now the rightists are beginning to stake a claim.

When the leftist Japan Teachers Union met the other day, its members were protected by an iron fist of 700 police. The aim was to keep rightists away from the meeting.

They said the teachers fostered left-wing extremism, particularly among the students of the national student organization, the Zengakuren.

The extreme rightists would scrap the postwar constitution, restore the powers of the emperor, abolish parliament and clamp down on Socialists and Communists.

Over the years the rightists have seen some of their goals accomplished. Kogon's National Foundation Day is re-established; it commemorates the accession 2,600 years ago of the first emperor, Jimmu.

The prewar rightists grew up in poverty in the rural areas. Many of the young officers of the old imperial army came from impoverished families and blamed the civilian government and the city-based industrial complex for their woes.

Today, with prosperity spilling over into the countryside, there are fewer grounds for discontent. The feathered leader, Ichiro Kono, leaves a note accusing the government of corruption.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Right To Attend Funeral

Within hours after her husband died, Grace received a long distance telephone call from his brother. "Please hold off the funeral until I get there," he said. But Grace made him no promises. In fact, the funeral was already over by the time the brother arrived. Shocked and angered, he filed a damage suit against Grace, demanding compensation for the mental anguish she had inflicted upon him. However, the court turned down the brother's claim. What ever his moral rights may be, said the court, he had no legal right to be present at the funeral. Generally speaking, the final "say" about a funeral belongs to the surviving spouse—or, in the death of a child, to the surviving parents. This includes not only choosing the place of burial, but also fixing the time for the proceedings. Further, it includes even the method of burial. In one case, a farmer buried his infant son in a crude wooden box which he had put together himself. Indignant relatives and neighbors had him arrested on a charge of failing to provide a decent burial. However, a court found no basis for the charge.

What would be regarded as entirely proper by one might be regarded as altogether unsuitable by another," said the judge. "No rule can well be formulated." It may be a different story, however, when someone takes on an affirmative obligation to handle the funeral in a particular manner. This is the kind of obligation an undertaker owes toward his customer. Thus: An undertaker went ahead with a burial before the family of the deceased had arrived at the cemetery. When the family later haled him into court, he pointed out that they had arrived after the appointed time. Nevertheless, he also conceded that the burial was not supposed to take place except in their presence. Under these circumstances, the court ordered the undertaker to pay damages. The judge said: "(He) was guilty of a callous assault upon the sensibilities and feelings of the bereaved." An American Bar Association public service feature by Will Bernard.

At Stratford: All's Well In 'All's Well'

STRATFORD, Conn. (AP) — Eva LeGallienne, no mean trouper, contributes senior grace to youthful verve in the American Shakespeare Festival's opening display of the summer season, "All's Well That Ends Well." The lighthearted production, which is Director Michael Kahn's first stint here with the festival, romances, foregoes innovative stunting of the past in favor of period flavor and discreet fervor. Public performances start tonight but reviewers attended a preview.

Ms LeGallienne comes on early and sets the tone as the amably understanding guardian of a lass determined to win a youthful man who only eyes her, although the role is less than central, the veteran star turns it into focus of attention whenever she is on stage. As the incurable wooer Helena Roberts Maxwell gives further evidence of becoming a future eminent. The young Canadian charmer finds character in the artificial character and even makes the inevitable identity mixup of this warmed-over Boccaccio tolerable. Peter Thompson, the obtuse swain, is somewhat overhanded by other members of the male contingent. Joseph Maher does a Falstaffian Parolles of robust bombast; Tom Tarpy, the clown, registers in less than trained jape, and Josef Sommer makes a regally make-believe king of France. "Vine-dressed settings by Marsha L. Beck and Jane Greenwood's courtly courtesies of make-up and ruffs round out credits for a divertingly affable 'All's Well.'"

Austin Gets Conductor AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Conductor Maurice Peress will become musical director of the Austin Symphony Orchestra beginning in October. Peress, also musical director of the Corpus Christi Symphony Orchestra and will divide his time between the two Texas organizations. The Austin Symphony, which was forced to cancel its last season because of a deficit, has raised money for the next season. Peress has been musical director of the Corpus Christi Symphony for the past six seasons. Before that, he was Leonard Bernstein's assistant conductor with the New York Philharmonic from 1960 to 1964. He was born in New York.

Committee Seeks Ways To Improve Budget Form

A citizens committee appointed by Town Manager Robert Weiss has undertaken to make the town budget easier to understand. The committee met for the first time Monday night and decided to attack the problem in two ways.

First, the budget could be simplified with mechanical changes in the format, the type of printing, and the size of paper used.

Secondly, the committee decided to study a new approach to the functional program budget. The new system would make far-reaching changes in the present item by item department budget.

The committee members suggested a number of ideas to improve the format so that the Board of Directors could find needed information quickly and easily. The committee was appointed last month to review budget changes after the Board repeatedly complained that the budget was confusing.

The group agreed that as much information as possible should be on one page, and most of the figures for town department budget should be in the same place.

The budget would be easier to understand also, the group decided, if lists of figures and explanations of the figures were on facing pages. The present budget uses only one side of a page.

Other suggestions were that two books be printed with cross references or that sections of the budget be printed in different colors. Some columns of figures could be left out also, the committee felt.

The changes would be designed to help town officials make comparisons more easily and allow them to see at a glance where expenditures more quickly.

The committee had 14 sample budgets from around the country to study. Two members, Robert Stone and Harold Turkington cited one from Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. The two former directors noted that one page of the sample had twice as many lines as the local document and that it was much clearer.

Keith Frederick, administrative assistant to the town manager, has studied the budget problem for some time and gave the sample budgets to the committee. He will organize the local budget to fit the ideas brought up at Monday's meeting.

Another member, Dr. John J. Sullivan proposed that the committee go beyond just changing the present format. He felt that a new system would be needed in the future as the town continues to grow.

The functional program budget suggested is based on nine major areas of concern in the town. Alternative programs are organized by a committee from different town departments which will be needed to solve problems in those areas.

The Board of Directors then decides which program to fund and how much to spend. The present budget is based on programs that each department proposed for itself. In the future, the board must decide on a program and set a budget.

Composing the program are laymen, parents and young people who have been meeting weekly for six weeks to learn about programs and how to write a budget proposal for itself. In the future, the board must decide on a program and set a budget.

About Town

Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Jones of 115 Main St. were guests of honor at a 40th wedding anniversary party Sunday at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Robinson of 4 Eleanor St. The party was given by Mrs. Robinson and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Lee of Troutville, Va., were among the guests.

The commission on membership, evangelism and missions of South United Methodist Church will meet tonight at 7:30 a.m. at the church.

The committee was entrusted with the idea and decided to get more information about it. The group agreed that the town could use both systems until the functional budget is better understood.

The committee members also felt that the Board of Education should not be included in needed information quickly and easily. The committee was appointed last month to review budget changes after the Board repeatedly complained that the budget was confusing.

Cong Cut Major Roads To Cambodian Capital

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Enemy troops severed two more major highways out of Phnom Penh today, cutting traffic between the threatened capital and Saigon and isolating a large Cambodian force at the military headquarters town of Kampong Cham.

Potentially more serious was the cutoff on a second highway near Bkum, 35 miles northeast of the capital. This is the only land route to the provincial and regional military headquarters at Kampong Chhnar, where two Cambodian regiments are based.

Meanwhile, hundreds of Vietnamese civilians have been evacuated from embattled Siem Reap, gateway to the ancient northwestern Cambodian city, 120 miles northwest of Phnom Penh. The Cambodian garrison in Siem Reap has been expected soon from enemy forces entrenched in the historic ruins of Angkor seven miles to the east.

Associated Press photographer Ghislain Bellenger who passed through Siem Reap Wednesday said the Viet Cong had stockpiled ammunition and supplies in the temples of Angkor.

In Phnom Penh, the population waited tensely to see if a threatened attack by the enemy would materialize. Several diplomats said the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong already had scored a propaganda victory by brightening the city's population. Meanwhile, Phnom Penh was quiet. A military spokesman reported enemy fighting in Kampong Thon, a provincial capital 60 miles north of Phnom Penh, and said South Vietnamese helicopters and gunships were flying in support of the ground troops.

He also reported scattered fighting around Kampong Chhnar, 50 miles northwest of the capital, where enemy troops were reported Wednesday to have taken partial control of the publican leadership would town and to have set up strong (See Page Four)

Troop Pullout Off Schedule

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although President Nixon has said "the great majority" of U.S. forces would be out of Cambodia by now, authoritative sources say half the number of American troops sent into that nation is still there.

The President also has promised to have all American troops out by June 30. He repeated the pledge Wednesday in his telephone address to the nation.

The Defense Department has said the U.S. troop level in Cambodia reached 20,000 men soon after the incursion started April 29.

The White House denied this week the President's words about the mid-June target constituted a pledge. A spokesman contended the President had merely voiced an expectation based on field reports from Saigon.

Since the Cambodian operation, Nixon said, the number of U.S. troops who had been in Cambodia since the start of the Cambodian incursion. This 31,000 figure, Friedman said, was Gen. Abrams' figure on how many U.S. troops had at any time participated in the Cambodian operation. Gen. Creighton Abrams is
