A bike-athon, sponsored by American Youth Hostels and the Connecticut Lung Association, will be held Saturday, June 2 at Keene State School from 9 a.m. to noon.

Sponsors will pledge money for each mile ridden by their bicyclist. Proceeds will go to American Youth Hostels and the Connecticut Lung Association.

Director Selected

MEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — Appointment of Clark Horton, former editor of The Reporter magazine, to be director of the Edward R. Murrow Center of Public Diplomacy has been announced by Tufts University.

The Murrow Center, named for the late broadcaster, is an arm of Tufts' Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy. A graduate of Princeton in 1934, Horton also studied at French and German universities and reported on German and Soviet youth movements for the North American Newspaper Alliance (NANA).

During World War II, he was in government intelligence and served in London, Paris and Germany. Afterward he became an associate editor of foreign affairs at Time magazine and later joined the founding group of The Reporter.

UConn To Stop Opening Intra-University Mail

STORRS (AP)—University of Connecticut officials will stop opening intra-university mail to determine if the delivery system is being misused, the university said.

The university's announcement followed a meeting between UConn Comptroller Edward Hanna and Sondra Stave, president of the Northeastern Chapter of the Connecticut Civil Liberties Union (CCLU).

A statement from the CCCLU said the civil liberties group "sympathized with the university's contention that a public mail service financed by the taxpayers should not be used for anyone's personal needs."

Book Gives Businessmen Tips On Conduct Codes In Communist China

WASHINGTON (AP) — American businessmen seeking trade with mainland China should avoid pornography and politics while in China, but should be prepared to listen to Chinese political harangues.

The report lays great stress on proper behavior by American businessmen, saying conservative, particularly where pornography is involved, traditionally place great emphasis on etiquette, and an American businessman is well-advised to conduct himself with quiet dignity and reserve.

they may have to listen to an exposition of the People's Republic of China's political views.

On the other hand, the report says, "U.S. businessmen should be aware that at some time during their stay in China

In Western Europe Nixon Seeks To Dispel Bully Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pressing Nixon to be a good communicator for the people of Europe, President Nixon today announced he would resign a presidential post-temperance of the state Senate to become lieutenant governor.

He will fill a vacancy created by the elevation of T. Clark Hull to the state Superior Court bench.

While Pompidou will be pressing for quick action on monetary problems, Nixon will emphasize a quest for a new "Atlantic charter" — a set of broad principles and goals free of the Atlantic community as it moves toward detailed negotiations in areas of economy, defense and foreign policy.

The two presidents, after Thursday's talks are to begin Tuesday that there is concern in France and other European capitals that the United States might try to blackmail its Atlantic partners by using its participation in the defense of Western Europe as a club to gain economic concessions.

Sen. Cashman Accepts Lieutenant Governorship

HARTFORD (AP) — Pressing to be a good communicator for the people of Connecticut, Peter L. Cashman today announced he would resign a presidential post-temperance of the state Senate to become lieutenant governor.

He will fill a vacancy created by the elevation of T. Clark Hull to the state Superior Court bench.

He said the duties of the office of lieutenant governor as a full time effort to listen to people from all over the state and to convey their thoughts to his administration," Cashman said at a morning news conference.

Disavowing any U.S. intent to play the bully, Kissinger told a news conference: "The United States does not maintain now that there should be one grand negotiation in which all subjects are discussed simultaneously. Obviously, it is more practical for individual subjects to be treated separately, but what the United States does maintain is that these subjects are organically interrelated, not because of an act of policy by the U.S. and not as an act of choice, but as a necessity."

Secret Spy Plan Reportedly Used

WASHINGTON (AP) — A secret White House plan to spy on domestic radicals, rejected once the insistence of former FBI director J. Edgar Hoover, later was put at least partially into practice, say sources close to the Watergate investigation.

Two sources, one of whom said he had seen the plan, described it as providing for an undercover team made up of representatives of various federal agencies who had access to "virtually all agencies of government."

There were additional Watergate developments Tuesday concerning the CIA's link to the case and on the subject of possible testimony by President Nixon on Watergate.

The Iceland summit is the last in a series of consultations aimed at paving the way for a presidential visit to Europe, probably sometime after mid-October. Nixon has met in Washington in recent months with the leaders of Britain, West Germany and Italy.

Senate Expected To Bar Funds For Cambodia Bombs

WASHINGTON (AP) — An overwhelming margin on a test vote indicates the Senate is ready to pass a sweeping amendment to bar all funds for continued U.S. bombing of Cambodia.

Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., said the amendment would not be unconstitutional "for the President to testify before the grand jury or Senate Watergate investigators."

Still to be answered is what will happen in the House, which voted 219 to 188 for a more limited amendment barring use of funds in the bill for bombing of Cambodia.

They said the Watergate affair still played a role in undermining confidence in the U.S. currency, but also pointed out that a number of other factors were affecting individual markets.

Dr. Babbidge Urges Harmony and Purpose

SOL R. COHEN (Herald Reporter) Issuing a call for domestic harmony for restoration of purpose, for a return to the ideals of the Declaration of Independence and a sense of world affairs, and establishing strong economic ties with the Soviet Union now, for the first time in many years, one dares to dream of a period of relative international stability.

He said, "It is that stability which, in turn, opens a broad avenue of opportunity for us at home."

"We now have the opportunity," he said, "to repair and restore neglected parts of our national, cultural, economic and social machinery and, just as importantly, to heal the wounds of divisiveness that have plagued us in recent years."

He insisted, "We have a chance to restore that inner strength we are capable of experiencing. No nation can presume to lead the world if it can't lead itself together at home."

He listed as the set of goals to be strived for: "Less misery among the poor, less ignorance in the schools, less bigotry in the temple, less suffering in the hospital, less fraud in business, less folly in politics."

"We aren't going to have a very happy bicentennial birthday celebration in 1976 if we can't show some discernible progress toward those ideals and aspirations," he said. "But, I believe that progressive leadership between now and 1976 will show the nation and the world that America is determined to be better—to be strong of heart and certain of purpose."

At the beginning of his talk, Babbidge recalled the many times he spoke in Manchester and the support he received while president of UConn.

"Thank you for 10 years," he said. "No one ever enjoyed a job more than I did in my 10 years as president. No one ever enjoyed more general support of the community, and no one left a job with a greater feeling of work well-done. I urge all of you to continue to give the University of Connecticut all the support you can."

He told an anecdote about the late Alfred Smith, former governor of New York and unsuccessful Democratic candidate for President.

Canada Withdraws

SAIGON (AP) — Mexico, France, Italy and the Scandinavian countries were among those mentioned today to replace Canada on the Vietnam cease-fire commission.

Canada's intention to withdraw from the commission by July 31 was announced in Ottawa Tuesday.

Michel Gavuin, chief of the Canadian delegation to the International Commission of Control and Supervision, said the peacekeeping force has been "observing a war, not a cease-fire since the trace went into effect four months ago."

Canada's intention to withdraw from the commission by July 31 was announced in Ottawa Tuesday.

Charles Conrad Jr. and Paul J. Wells planned to turn on a package of photoessays in the afternoon after a morning of continuing medical and solar observational experiments.

They are in the sixth of a scheduled 28 days in space.

Republican supporters of President Nixon, defeated 55 to 21 on Tuesday's test vote, sought to draft amendments to weaken Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton's anti-bombing amendment, which was attached to a $3.2 billion supplemental money bill.

The test came on a procedural matter and was approved despite arguments the Eagleton amendment could jeopardize renewed U.S.-North Vietnam peace efforts. The action was the strongest sign yet that Congress, and especially the Senate, wants a halt to U.S. military activity in Southeast Asia.

For the first time a majority of Republicans, including some conservatives who had been loyal to Nixon, joined with an overwhelming number of Democrats to vote against administration policy.

Though the issue was whether the Eagleton amendment was germane, because it affected funds in earlier money bills as well as this one, both sides conceded the tally was an accurate reflection of current Senate sentiment on the Cambodia bombing.

Consumer Protection Statute Praised

By GARY LUHR Associated Press Writer HARTFORD (AP) — With the passage of a tough new fair trade law Connecticut is going from (being) one of the states with the worst fraud bills to (being) one of the best.

Such language gives the consumer Protection Commission Barbara Dunn said Tuesday.

"If we could have had only one bill from the 1973 General Assembly) we would have chosen this one," she said in an interview. "It's like inheriting $40 million."

The bill, which would give Mrs. Dunn authority to actively prosecute unscrupulous merchants, still must be signed by Gov. Thomas J. Meskill.

"We're absolutely not able to help consumers with the fraud law we have now," she said.

Mrs. Dunn has termed the present law a "shopping list" of illegal practices that doesn't begin to cover all possible methods of consumer fraud.

One of the most important changes in the present law will allow courts to grant restitution to consumers who have suffered by rules, regulations or court decisions interpreting the federal trade commission act.

Such language gives Mrs. Dunn's department 60 years of federal court precedents from which to draw in implementing the new act.

Beginning July 1, the department plans to begin hearings on proposed regulations to implement the act. Mrs. Dunn said the regulations would come in stages.

The bill allows the commissioner to issue, following a hearing, a "cease and desist" order against anyone believed guilty of unfair practices. If that fails, the department may go to court for an injunction against the offending firm.

West opened a low spade and East continued the suit, forcing South to ruff. South thoughtlessly drew two rounds of trumps with the ace and king, dropping the queen.

Only then did declarer discover that he had already committed suicide. He led the ace of clubs, ruffed a club in dummy and ruffed another spade with his last trump. The clubs were not yet established, however, and South was in his hand for the last time. No matter how he squirmed, he could make only nine tricks.

Begin Side Suit

After ruffing the second round of spades, South should lead the ace of clubs and ruff a club in dummy. He then leads a low trump to his own ace, thus drawing one round of trumps and getting to his own hand at the same time.

Now South leads another club, ruffing in dummy again. This sets up the rest of declarer's clubs. He leads another trump, this time to the king, drawing a second trump and getting back to his own hand.

Strangely enough, South must still lose a trump trick, even though the queen and ten have dropped. West has the eight of trumps, and South has only the six. Nevertheless, South is sure to win 11 tricks.

Declarer proceeds to lead out his good clubs. Sooner or later, West will ruff. Then South will have the rest of the tricks with top diamonds, the last trump and good clubs.

Lutz Announces Summer Classes

The Lutz Junior Museum is once again offering its popular Outdoor Lore program during July and August at the Natural Science Center, 269 Oak Grove St.

Outdoor Lore is a summer program designed to develop in a child a sensitivity and respect for nature. Sensitizing children to the natural environment was the aim of last year's classes as well, but the content of this summer's classes has been sufficiently changed so that children who attended last year will want to participate again.

Classes are offered for two age groups. For children who have completed Grades 1 and 2, the classes focus on searching out, observing and naming the natural things in the world around them. Children in the third through sixth grades examine natural communities and how everything within a community interacts.

Activities for the two groups include nature crafts, stream walks, pond herps, bird watching, plaster casting of leaves and animal tracks, collecting insects, plant identification and many more. Each group will also participate in a day-long field trip. Dress wear for all programs should be comfortable and wearing sneakers is advised, as there will be daily outdoor activities.

Juan Sanchez has been named summer program coordinator for a second year. Sanchez, who has been active with the Boy Scouts, received a B.S. in biology at Central Connecticut State College in 1969. After teaching three years at Bennett Junior High School, he was appointed director of the Center for Environmental Education in September 1972.

Bruce McCabrey, the other member of the summer staff, received his B.S. from the University of Maine and his M.A. from the University of Connecticut. He currently teaches science at Bennett Junior High School.

There will be eight sessions with each session meeting for either three hours in the morning or three hours in the afternoon, Tuesday through Friday for a two-week period. The sessions are as follows:

Session I: July 3-13, 9 a.m. to noon.

Session II: July 3-13, 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Session III: July 17-27, 9 a.m. to noon.

Session IV: July 17-27, 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Session V: July 31-Aug. 10, 9 a.m. to noon.

Session VI: July 31-Aug. 10, 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Session VII: Aug. 14-Aug. 24, 9 a.m. to noon.

Session VIII: Aug. 14-Aug. 24, 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Make-up classes for July 4th will be held on July 7th.

There are only 24 available spaces in each session, so children should be enrolled immediately. This can be done by contacting the Museum, 126 Cedar St., 643-9046. The fee for each session is $20 and should be paid to the museum on or before June 15. Membership is required and enrollment is on a first-come, first-served basis.

Study Reveals Boston Property Tax Inequities

BOSTON (AP) — The rising costs of living in America are putting the squeeze on Bostonians in a special way, and the poor are getting the worst of it.

Boston relies on property taxes for up to 70 per cent of its revenue — more than any city its size, according to a study by the Jacobs Co. of Chicago.

Because city assessors don't keep up with changing real-estate values, the tax burden is shared unequally, with slum dwellers paying the highest rates in what the founding fathers meant to be a tax on wealth, the Jacobs study and several other studies show.

Other cities, such as Detroit and Portland, Ore., have found ways to keep their assessments up to date. R. Hadi Madjid of the Arthur D. Little Co. said after making a study for the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

But in Boston, "caught in a web of local laws and traditions," the Jacobs reports says, inequities continue. Some people pay more taxes in 10 years than their homes cost.

During the 1960s, two Harvard professors published the results of a study in which they showed how people living in slums paid double the taxes of those living in the new, more attractive suburban sections.

The professors — Oliver Oldman and Henry Aaron — worked with their students to compare the price of every piece of property sold in the city with its assessment — what the city said it was worth.

The average home in West Roxbury, a suburban section, was assessed for 28 per cent of its true value, but the average home in the Roxbury black ghetto was listed at 53 per cent.

The Harvard Legal Aid Bureau, in its latest update of the study, said one Roxbury house listed at $5,100 sold for only $2,500, meaning it was assessed at 204 per cent of its value.

There are other problems peculiar to Boston. Over half the land in the city is tax exempt because it is owned by schools, churches, hospitals, government agencies and non-profit organizations.

Economists recommend relying on the property tax for only 40 per cent of a city's revenue — about half Boston's rate.

Other sources of revenue could be local sales, utility or income taxes. The Jordan report says Boston, Milwaukee and Indianapolis are alone among the nation's 43 biggest cities not using the other taxes.

It would take new state legislation to make such taxes possible for Boston, but the Massachusetts lawmakers have been slow to respond to the city's financial plight.

A 10-taxpayers' suit is the only likely way to bring equality to Boston assessments. It's possible Harvard Legal Aid will resurrect its case.

Otherwise, the only source for a suit would be businessmen, who tend to be taxes higher than homeowners, since businesses don't vote.

In West Roxbury, the bureau said, a house that sold for $22,000 was assessed for only $1,700. If you were to buy a $32,000 house in West Roxbury, your annual taxes would be $1,700, according to the study, but if you bought a house for the same amount in the slum, your tax bill would be $3,504 — twice as much.

Figuring that 30 per cent of rent is property tax passed on by the landlord, Anita Bromberg, director of a local employment center, says many young working people pay over 13 per cent of their $60-a-week income in property tax—and they don't even own any real estate.

Young people often pay monthly rents of $165 for one-bedroom apartments, she said. There are many cases of elderly persons living on Social Security, receiving $190 a month and paying at least $135-a-month rent, she said.

Other Massachusetts towns and cities have been forced to bring in private firms for a complete revaluation of all property after at least 10 taxpayers in each community brought suit, saying they were taxed unfairly.

So far, Boston has been able to settle similar suits out of court.

Tax assessor Theodore V. Anzalone says he got Harvard Legal Aid to drop a suit for 10 Roxbury taxpayers by agreeing to grant abatements to anyone who protested.

The response to the questionnaire sent by the Assessing Department to Roxbury residents was minimal. Anzalone says people didn't understand and thought the city might raise their taxes instead of lowering them.

That's another reason poor taxpayers tend to take it on the chin, Anzalone says. They have neither the knowledge nor money for legal fees to go after the tax abatements wealthier people and businesses get.

But Lawrence T. Perera, former head of the watchdog Boston Finance Commission, says abatements, or reducing individual tax bills, is no way to end inequities caused by haphazard assessing procedures and exemptions.

There are other problems peculiar to Boston. Over half the land in the city is tax exempt because it is owned by schools, churches, hospitals, government agencies and non-profit organizations.

Economists recommend relying on the property tax for only 40 per cent of a city's revenue — about half Boston's rate.

Other sources of revenue could be local sales, utility or income taxes. The Jordan report says Boston, Milwaukee and Indianapolis are alone among the nation's 43 biggest cities not using the other taxes.

It would take new state legislation to make such taxes possible for Boston, but the Massachusetts lawmakers have been slow to respond to the city's financial plight.

A 10-taxpayers' suit is the only likely way to bring equality to Boston assessments. It's possible Harvard Legal Aid will resurrect its case.

Otherwise, the only source for a suit would be businessmen, who tend to be taxes higher than homeowners, since businesses don't vote.

But businesses get abatements in addition, the city makes tax agreements with developers so new structures will be built. At least 60 buildings, including low-income housing, are covered by the agreements, through which developers pay at least 10 per cent of their gross income from rent instead of being taxed at the going property-tax rate.

These agreements, too, would go out the window under revaluation, since they aren't provided for by state law. Residents of the suburbs and subsidized housing would be hardest hit by revaluation. Few politicians want it. Mayor Kevin H. White sums up their opposition with, "I'll go to jail before I'll allow revaluation."

President's Daughter To Speak

WEST HARTFORD (AP) — The American School for the Deaf announced Tuesday that Mrs. Julie Nixon Eisenhower, President Nixon's daughter, will speak at graduation ceremonies June 14.

Gov. Thomas J. Meskill will also be there.

Mrs. Eisenhower will represent her father, who was asked to speak at the school three years ago. During a tour through the state the President agreed to stop and shake hands with the deaf students, but he left the car early and security men cleared the route. The deaf children never got to see Mr. Nixon.

David Hayes, director of the National Theatre of the Deaf, will also speak.

About one third of the American school graduates will go onto higher education.

President Nixon is on the board of directors of the Gallaudet College, the only liberal arts college for the deaf. He signs the diplomas.

There is now a way to remove unwanted hair from face, arms, thighs and legs, and keep it off longer. You use a gentle, odorless, organic compound, called D&L, and the results are simply great.

D&L actually lifts out the whole hair from the follicle... leaves your skin beautifully smooth and free from hair for weeks.

The little extra time D&L may take at first won't matter once you find you can really forget about hair removal... yes, for weeks.

There are no blunt ends. No prickly stubble, no nicks or cuts. And there's no quick grow back as there is using razors or creamy or foamy depilatories. When hair eventually comes in, it seems sparser and baby soft.

D&L™ Natural Organic Hair Remover. Ideal for teenagers, too. $5.95 at our cosmetic counter.

Coventry Little League Race Close

HOLLY GANTNER Correspondent Tel. 742-8795

Coventry Little League officials in Coventry say that play for the first half of the baseball season is shaping up as "the closest pennant race in years."

Three teams in the boys' program National League are tied for first place and the remaining four teams in this league are no more than one victory and one loss away from overtaking the leaders.

At the close of the Memorial Day weekend, Nathan Hale Gas, Manchester Savings and Loan, and Bray's Jewelers shared first place with four wins and three losses each.

Coventry Police and Allen's Market share last place with identical 4-3 records. Right in the middle is Zolo's Market with an even 3-3 record.

Recovering from a poor season start, Nathan Hale Gas has won three of its last four games, accumulating an awesome total of 49 runs in its three victories.

Manchester Savings has also looked impressive in recent outings. The team's recent 4-0 shutout over the Coventry Police team, a one-hitter pitched by Keith Lane, could qualify as the best defensive performance to date.

In American League play, Guido's Market holds down first place alone with a 5-1 record. Three teams, Tomari's and 10, Tucker's Texaco and Zuccardy-Benjamin Insurance, are bunched up in second place with three wins and three losses each.

Coventry Rotary and Pask Realty trail the pack with losing records of 2 and 3 and 2 and 5 respectively.

But the race in this league may be closer than it looks.

Today in History

By The Associated Press Today is Wednesday, May 30, the 150th day of 1973. There are 215 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1481, Joan of Arc was burned at the stake in Rouen, France.

On this date in 1492, Christopher Columbus sailed from Spain on his third voyage to the New World.

In 1539, the Spanish explorer, Hernando De Soto, landed in Florida.

In 1883, a report that the new Brooklyn Bridge in New York was about to collapse created panic. Six persons on the bridge were trampled to death.

In 1961, the dictator of the Dominican Republic, Rafael Trujillo, was assassinated.

In 1965 the official death toll was put at 10,000 in a windstorm which struck East Pakistan.

In 1967, Nigeria mobilized its army after the West African country's eastern region declared itself an independent state, Biafra.

Ten years ago: The United States and Britain were trying to revive talks with the Soviet Union on a nuclear test ban.

Five years ago: France's President Charles de Gaulle spurred demands that he step down, dissolved Parliament and called for new elections.

One year ago: President Nixon made a stopover in Tehran, Iran on his way home from the Soviet Union.

Today's birthdays: Band leader Benny Goodman is 64. Former Postmaster General James A. Farley is 85.

Four Coventry Area Juniors Selected For Nutmeg Boys State

HOLLY GANTNER Correspondent

Four local area high school juniors have been nominated to attend American Legion Boys State, under the sponsorship of local Post 52, this year.

The program is sponsored jointly by the American Legion, Lions Club, and Rotary Club.

From Coventry High School, the nominees are Donald Carlson and Timothy Zuzel. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Carlson and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Zuzel.

From E.O. Smith High School in Mansfield, the nominees are William Gerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gerson, and Sherwin Tucker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Tucker.

Boys State will be held this year at the U.S. Naval Coast Guard Academy in New London from June 17 through June 23.

The program has been developed to offer youth a better perspective of the practical operations of government by providing selected high school juniors a laboratory of practical political science in which to generate their own functional citizenship program, and portray democracy in action.

From the Boys State session, two outstanding citizens are chosen as counselors to attend Boys Nation as Connecticut Senators later in the summer.

The Ms. Issue Resurges

These are perilous times for newspapermen. Not only are reporters and publishers under pressure to reveal their sources or suppress information they believe the public is entitled to, they are feeling the impact of changes which society as a whole is experiencing.

This is particularly true in the field of women's liberation, and the attack is coming as much from within the ranks of journalism as without.

Several female staffers of the Boston Globe, for instance, recently wrote a letter to their editor charging the paper with denigrating women in both its editorial and advertising coverage.

They referred, among other things, to "the irrelevant use of the women's movement for a laugh grabber," "the use of women in photos for sex interest," "the extraneous insults accorded women either generally or as wives, mothers-in-law, etc.," "the use of 'girl' for 'woman,'" and "advertisements in the paper that clearly exploit women as sex objects."

Writing in Editor & Publisher, the newspapers' news magazine, Gene Corea noted a recent wire service story which described the president-elect of the American Association of Women Dentists as "petite and perky, blonde and beautiful, fragile and feminine."

To male reporters, a woman's marital status is considered relevant, though a man's is not, she charges. Thus one reporter wrote of Dita

Beard, the lobbyist in the ITT affair, as "the 53-year-old divorcee."
"I have yet to read," Henry Kissinger, the 48-year-old divorcee who advises President Nixon . . .," says Miss Corea.

Women are not only underrepresented on newspaper staffs but in their columns as well.

Citing a study made last summer of the frequency with which women's accomplishments are reported, she says, "When only seven per cent of newsmakers are women, we can conclude either that men do the important things in the world and/or that it is men who decide what the important things are."

To all of which charges, male newspapermen can only plead no contest and throw themselves on the mercy of the court of public opinion.

The women are right, of course. A woman's looks, marital status, number of children or relationship with her husband should have no place in a story in which none of these things is a relevant factor.

And because they are right, their cause will eventually triumph. Eventually "male chauvinist" reporters will learn to look at women simply as persons, and if they note a curve or tress or flashing eye, they will keep such information to themselves.

Whether the male population at large can ever be trained to look at women simply as persons, or whether many women themselves desire such an eventuality, is something else.

Connally-Rinfret vs. Shultz & Stein

WASHINGTON — A scathing indictment of President Nixon's disastrous Phase III anti-inflation program, his economic advisers and his detachment from his own economic programs has been lying inside the President's Oval Office like a ticking time bomb for six weeks, bearing the signature of Mr. Nixon's chief economic spokesman during last year's presidential campaign.

The author is Canadian-born Dr. Pierre Rinfret, the noted New York-based private consulting economist who has intimate ties to both Mr. Nixon and his newest White House aide, John B. Connally. The April 13 attack on the "currently disastrous rate of inflation" was the result of a specific request from one-time chief domestic presidential aide John Ehrlichman.

In making the request, Ehrlichman spoke for Mr. Nixon himself. In answering it, Rinfret proposed a return to mandatory controls, sharp limits on profits and a temporary 15 per cent income tax boost for both corporations and individuals.

Rinfret, regarded by some establishment economists as an irrepressible Peck's bad boy of the highly praised Phase II, which Shultz abruptly terminated last January, Rinfret refused to discuss his secret report with us beyond admitting his proposals, summing up in pungent language what many other economists are now starting to say, were made available to us by sources close to the White House.

By coincidence, the disclosure of Rinfret's tough new anti-inflation proposals — essential, he said, to avoid other dollar crises, a probable recession and a loss of so much "credibility" that the economy could become "almost unmanageable" paralleled the re-emergence of Connally as a temporary White House aide in the Watergate disaster.

One of Mr. Nixon's first assignments for Connally was to stop the current 10 per cent inflation rate on an annual, compounded basis. Connally's own proposals, building on his glittering success as author of the August 1971 wage-price freeze, are also expected to clash head-on with Secretary of the Treasury George Shultz's free-market bias against tough inflation controls.

Thus, Rinfret's appeal for an immediate return to what he calls the "mandatory program" of Phase II is one more heady signal that the White House may be ready to dump Shultz's largely voluntary program.

The heart of Rinfret's plan is his novel 15 per cent income tax scheme. Dubbed an "anti-inflation tax" it would be collected and immediately sequestered — not to be spent until inflation ended. Receipts from this tax would funnel into a special "escrow account," patterned after West Germany's anti-inflation tax system. Rinfret wrote the President: "The funds could be refunded . . . when adequate restraint on the economy had

President Has No Choice

WASHINGTON — On the inflation front, President Nixon has no choice but to bite the bullet and admit he was wrong. If the economy is to survive the threat of a recession on top of galloping inflation, he must reimpose strict mandatory controls on prices and wages and temporarily ban the export of commodities in short supply.

Some vital gear was out of whack in the shrewd Nixon mind when he deferred to the free-market arguments of Treasury Secretary George Shultz last January and decreed an end to Phase II. The controls of Phase II were not perfect, but they had worked better than expected and indeed had been praised by both business and labor. More important, they had begun to slow the rate of inflation when Nixon foolishly tossed them in the ashcan.

At this writing, John Connally is expected to be the hero of a Nixon switch back to across-the-board controls. The Texas may even have turned the trick by the time this piece is read, because he returned to Washington recently with a second installment of Phase II in his pocket. In effect, Connally's "consultant" status places him in command of the battle against inflation.

That makes sense. It was Connally, as Treasury Secretary, who conceived the wage-price freeze of August 1971, and when the refund would help expand economic activity.

In addition, Rinfret advised the President:

1. To grab the administration's economic reins in his own hands and not let anyone else get control (an obvious slap at Shultz). "The people need to know that the President cares about their economic welfare," Rinfret advised. "He has to remain visibly involved."

2. To end the mishmash of phony forecasting which has come from Shultz, Herbert Stein, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, and Roy Ash, head of the Office of Management and Budget, whose apparent ignorance about the true force of today's roaring inflation has become a bad Washington joke.

3. To embargo the export of short-supply commodities, such as meat and chicken, logs and grains. Foreign buying, he told the President, is intolerably to the inflation spiral.
3. More conventionally, Rinfret wants even deeper spending cuts and a more interventionist policy by the Federal Reserve system to slow the supply of new money. He would limit price increases to 1.5 per cent and wage hikes to 5.5 per cent a year.

Now that the President is reeling from the hammer blows of Watergate and has Connally pressing from inside and Rinfret from outside for a return to serious inflation controls, he may at last order Shultz to abandon Phase III — or decide to abandon Shultz.

Hi Neighbor

Burl Lyons, Publisher

As we get ready to draw the curtain on the month of May, we look forward to a hectic, exciting June spotlighted by Manchester's Sesquicentennial June 23-30. Needless to say the big event will climax months of planning by many individuals and we salute them for their tireless efforts.

We hope all the folks of Manchester resolve to put their best foot forward, wear a smile, and we heartily encourage spruce-up, clean-up, campaigns prior to that gigantic week so that we can make the best impression possible on our great number of visitors.

Here at The Herald, we are putting the final touches on the special birthday anniversary edition which will appear in our regular edition of June 23. Some folks are ordering special copies of the edition to be mailed to friends and relatives in other states. These orders can be placed through our circulation department.

There is no better way that a businessman can display his wares, or tell the story of his firm, than with a booth at the Manchester Rotary Club's Home Products Show June 28-30 in the Clarke Arena at Manchester High School.

Ken Ostrowsky and Al Ward, co-chairmen, are doing a bang-up job in arranging. Exhibitors are urged to follow the birthday anniversary theme of the "Old and the New."

You can arrange for booth space by contacting either chairman or writing Manchester Rotary Club, P.O. Box 1.

If any club or organization is in need of a program in keeping with the Sesquicentennial this month, we suggest contacting Edson Bailey, retired Manchester High School principal.

We hope Ed don't mind but he has compiled an excellent history on Manchester and it ought to be exposed to more of our citizenry.

Possibly overlooked, but in the background of Watergate, is the fact that the press was made a whipping boy during the last presidential campaign and thereafter by critics, mostly Republican stalwarts, who charged the newspapers with sensationalism and other various and sundry crimes.

The remark is prompted by a comment a fellow made to us the other evening that there have been other political scandals of perhaps more far-reaching significance but never before has the press unleashed such coverage as is currently being done on Watergate.

He has a point, that's for sure. It's a bit difficult to convince us that the press is doing a greater job than say even in the 1960 campaign when there were a number of "lost and destroyed ballots" in Illinois, Texas and Missouri.

At any rate, an office side kick says don't worry about missing television coverage of the Watergate hearings. There will be reruns in 1976 when we elect another president.

While still on the subject of politics, some inside the Democratic National Committee don't feel that Sen. Ted Kennedy will seek the 1976 nomination of his party.

Some Democrats feel that due to Watergate, the issue in 1976 is going to be morality. They have doubts that Kennedy can run on a morality platform after Chappaquiddick.

Perhaps of interest locally is that the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board has ruled that admitting the press to cover negotiations between the teachers union and the school board constitutes an unfair labor practice.

The Labor Board says freedom of the press means only to express opinions, not a right to information.

The Bethlehem, Pa. School Board says it intends to appeal the finding, including the narrow views of the freedom of the press.

The new regulation requiring all food service establishments to be graded "good, fair or poor" for health standards has its good and bad points.

True, it perhaps goes a long way toward protecting the customer.

On the other hand, we have lived in other states that have a similar regulation and observed certain pitfalls. We have seen conflicts between a restaurant operator and an inspector, where regardless of what the operator did it was seemingly impossible to achieve a high rating. We have also surmised that by grasping the inspector's palm, a restaurant could come in with a high rating.

The regulation would go into effect one year after it is published in the Connecticut Law Journal, whenever that is.

With Watergate, we doubt if Congress will get around to taking a look at the GI Bill of Rights but it should.

After World War II, millions of veterans financed their education under the GI Bill. Many, including this writer, couldn't have gone to college or technical school or into apprentice training without it. The bill was a tremendous success.

Today, considerably less than half of our Vietnam veterans have ever made use of the bill. The big part of the reason seems to be inadequacy of the GI benefits today. The present educational allowance of $220 a month is too low. It is so low that veterans cannot afford to use it.

Just as the United States took care of its World War II veterans under the GI Bill, so should it take care of its Vietnam veterans under a new GI Bill, which should be better and stronger than the present one.

According to a recent article in Connecticut Education, school officials throughout the state find themselves with a problem that really pains them. The problem is vandalism. The damage that vandals did during the past school year resulted in a dollar loss to Connecticut of nearly $3 million. Bridgeport led the list in 1971-72 with a total loss of $887,000 and set fires alone cost $800,000.

Window breakage cost the state's taxpayers over $677,000; burglary and theft cost the schools at least $326,575. Now a number of districts are installing electronic alarms and a number of other protective measures. The estimates to protect Connecticut schools is nearly $500,000. The magazine says that money to the dollar losses suffered from vandalism and theft, and you get enough money to build a splendid elementary school for 1,000 kids. And free hot lunches could be served to 6,340,000 children for an entire year.

What's the answer? A Fifth Circuit Court prosecutor says: "We need more action and punishment in the juvenile courts. Names aren't disclosed and everything is shrouded in secrecy. Payment for damages to school property should be made part of the court disposition."

Amen.

The Hebron Historical Society has changed its next meeting date to June 20 at 8 p.m. at Brink's Mill.

Alton P. Adrich of East Killingly, eminent lecturer and director of the Howard Ellis Technical School, will give an illustrated presentation on "Our American Heritage."

Softball
Women, aged 19 and up interested in playing softball are invited to attend workouts each Thursday evening at 7 at the Gilead Hill School.

Open House
Robert I. Popper, owner of the Village Professional Center, has announced that an open house for the public will be Saturday from 2 to 5 p.m. at the Center building next to the Citizens Bank on Main St.

All offices of the recently expanded facility will be open for viewing, along with the new quarters of the "Village Stripper" furniture refinishing establishment.

Besides the furniture building, the Center houses real estate, insurance, accountant, dental and legal offices.

Homemakers
The Happy Homemakers has canceled its meeting for next week and rescheduled it for June 13 at 7 p.m. at the Gilead Congregational Church.

This will be a potluck dinner for members and their husbands, and along with dinner, homemade ice cream and cookies will be served.

Those planning to attend should contact either Mrs. John Keegan, Jan Dr., or Mrs. John Tarbell, Millstream Rd.

Menu
The menu next week at the elementary schools will be:
Monday: Hot dog on roll, mashed potato, green peas, chocolate pudding.

Tuesday: Spaghetti with meat sauce, cole slaw, peas.

Wednesday: Salam grinder, orange juice, garden salad, potato chips, applesauce.

Thursday: Meatloaf, mashed potato, green beans, fruit gelatin with topping.

Friday: Tuna salad sandwich on rye, vegetable soup, carrot and celery sticks, peas.

Top Public Works Employee

Kenneth Irish of 85 Durant St. stands in the bucket of an aerial lift during ceremonies honoring him as Manchester's Outstanding Public Works Employee for 1973. He holds a $25 check, presented to him on behalf of the Contractor's Division of the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce by Leonard Pukinskis, right, its chairman. At left, presenting Irish with a $25 savings bond on behalf of the Manchester State Bank, is Richard R. Lanzier, bank vice president. Looking on is Mayor John Thompson. Irish, a tree maintainer in the park department, was nominated for the honor by Park Superintendent Ernest Turek. Said Turek of Irish, "A good crew leader and example of good work habits and procedures, his vast knowledge of trees," landscaping, ballfield maintenance, electricity and mechanics makes him one of our most valued employees." ## Northern I-84 Corridor Route Favored By Rhode Island Official PROVIDENCE (AP) — A northern corridor route for the proposed Interstate 84 highway was endorsed Tuesday by Robert J. Rahill, state director of transportation.

Rahill said he favored the route from Johnston to the Connecticut line on the basis of traffic needs, highway safety, community considerations and development. Ten different routes across western Rhode Island have been proposed in a series of studies.

Rahill said his purpose in announcing the route he favors is to allow opponents and supporters of the highway to "sharpen their focus" for the proposed freeway hearing scheduled June 5 at Scituate High School.

The route recommended by Rahill would start from the junction of state route 195 and Interstate 295 in Johnston and would meet the Connecticut line just north of Rt. 4 at the Foster border.

New Divorce Law Effective Oct. 1

HARTFORD (AP) — Two people who agree that their marriage has gone sour soon will be able to obtain a divorce in Connecticut without a lengthy and bitter court battle.

Under a new law, effective Oct. 1, a state Superior Court judge may dissolve without a hearing the marriage of two people who agree in writing to a settlement.

Gov. Thomas J. Meskill signed the bill Tuesday that changes Connecticut's divorce laws for the first time in more than 200 years.

Under the law a judge need not find either party guilty of any Connecticut's traditional grounds for divorce. He simply could declare the union "irrevocably broken."

In order to qualify for a divorce under the law at least one of the parties must have lived in Connecticut for a year. There also is a 90-day waiting period from the time a divorce petition is filed until the marriage is dissolved.

In cases involving children the court must appoint legal counsel to study settlement terms to see that the children's interests are protected.

Recrimination and condonation are abolished as defenses in any divorce or separation case.

The law also permits a judge to grant a divorce in cases where the parties have lived apart for 18 months and there is no reasonable prospect of reconciliation.

Traditional grounds for divorce are retained but a judge will have the option, upon entering a final decree, of stating the cause for which the marriage is dissolved or simply declaring it irrevocably broken.

The law weathered considerable opposition in the state legislature before emerging in its finished form. The final draft was the result of a joint house-senate conference committee.

Supporters of the bill sought to speed up divorces and remove some of the frequent accompanying bitterness by eliminating fault-finding from the process.

The final bill had the support of the Connecticut Bar Association.

IT DON'T JUST GROW MONTEGO BAY, Jamaica (AP) — Ever wonder how much it costs to maintain the grounds of a resort hotel?

The Half Moon Hotel here reports that it spends $45,000 a year and has 30 gardeners who tend its five-acre landscaped terrain. Grounds include 100 varieties of plants, flowers and trees.

Western White House Changes Ordered By Secret Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House says more than $100,000 in improvements made at President Nixon's San Clemente, Calif., estate during the past four years were requested by the Secret Service.

"For the protection of the President," the projects included a new electric heating system for the President's Spanish-style mansion, a $3,300-storage shed, more than $50,000 worth of brick or redwood fences and a $15,000 bullet-proof windscreen alongside the presidential swimming pool.

Building permits were issued by the city of San Clemente for more than $70,000 worth of government-financed improvements. The rest apparently was done without building permits.

The federally financed work was in addition to the $123,514 that the White House said last week the Nixon had purchased on their home and 3.8-acre homestead.

The transaction took place in December 1970-18 months after Nixon had purchased the ocean-side property with $25,000 loaned him by Abplanalp.

The loan was canceled in the subsequent transaction that left Nixon with a net investment of $74,514 for the house and 3.8 acres, and Abplanalp with an investment of $1.7 million for the remaining 23 acres.

The entire tract, including the portion now owned by the Secret Service, remains under Abplanalp, remains under Secret Service guard. It is immediately adjacent to a Coast Guard station, which serves as the site of the President's office and other buildings constituting the Western White House.

After the Associated Press reported Monday that the federal government had spent more than $100,000 for improvements on Nixon's estate, a White House spokesman issued a statement saying "All the work done at the Western White House as listed in The Associated Press story was requested by the Secret Service for protection of the President."

"If the Associated Press has recommendations to make to the Secret Service as to how the President and his family should be protected, The Associated Press should outline those suggestions at the same time it carries a story which implies the President has improved his property at the expense of the government," said the statement given by Deputy White House Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren.

Indicators Show Downward Trend

WASHINGTON (AP) — The country's economy showed a downward trend for the first time in 30 months in April, according to an important index of leading business indicators released by the Commerce Department Tuesday.

The index, based on eight categories of business performance, dropped six-tenths of one per cent in April to 161.5 per cent of the 1967 base of 100.

While economists will caution that it is too early to base trends on figures for one month, the figure nevertheless is seen to indicate the slowing of the economy that the administration predicted would occur about midyear.

The country's economy had been expanding at the rapid rate of about 8 per cent during the first quarter, which administration economists said was too high. They have been seeking to slow the economy to about a 4 per cent growth rate.

Of the eight business categories in the index of

Social Security

Q. I work at a department store and I have no plans to retire. My earnings have been averaging about $1,000 a year. Now that I am 62, can I get any benefits from Social Security?

A. You might be eligible for some retirement checks from Social Security. It will depend on the amount of your monthly benefits. Under the present law, you can earn $2,100 without losing any benefits. You lose one dollar in benefits for each $2 of earnings over $2,100. With earnings of $3,000 you would lose $400 in Social Security benefits for the year. Contact your Social Security office for complete information.

Q. I am 63 and have a seasonal job working in a tobacco warehouse eight months a year. My monthly wages are $250 a month but my total earnings are only $2,000 a year. Will I lose any checks for those months I earned over $172?

A. No. As long as your yearly earnings do not exceed $2,100 you will be entitled to all of your Social Security checks for the year.

Q. I'll be 72 June 30th and I'm still working. Is it true that I can collect monthly Social Security cash benefits even though I continue to work?

A. Yes, retirement benefits are not reduced for people 72 and over who continue to work. You should apply for these benefits two or three months before your birthday at any Social Security office.

Q. I am planning to retire from my job in July when I become 65. I have always paid the maximum Social Security wages. Since my earnings from the six months before I retire will be nearly $5,000, can I receive payments for the rest of the year?

A. Yes. No matter how much you earn before you retire, you can still receive Social Security benefits for any month you neither earn wages of $175 or less nor perform substantial work as a self-employed person.

Q. I am 63 and have been receiving monthly Social Security benefits of $387 a month for my wife and our two children. I have been offered a job which will pay $6,500 a year. If I take it will I lose all my Social Security benefits?

A. No. The 1972 changes in the Social Security law allows you to earn $2,100 without losing any benefits. Above $2,100 the low is $1 in Social Security benefits for each $2 of earnings. If you earn $6,500 and over $175 in each month of the year your earnings above $2,100 would be $4,400. You would therefore lose $2,200 in Social Security benefits for the year. The total amount of your Social Security benefits for 12 months is $3,844. As your loss of benefits are only $2,200, you would still be entitled to $1,644 in benefits for the year.

Princess To Marry Commoner

LONDON (AP) - The engagement of Princess Anne and Mark Phillips replaced the government sex scandal today as Britain's major news story.

The wedding is expected to be the most spectacular to be seen in Europe for many years.

Down in the Wiltshire village of Great Somerford, glasses were raised until the small hours to the son of the wealthy local squire whose engagement to the only daughter of Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip was announced Tuesday.

The 24-year-old soldier, horseman and commoner, the descendant of a coal miner, is expected to marry 22-year-old princess in the fall. November, the month the queen celebrates her 26th wedding anniversary, is being mentioned as the most likely time.

Boy, Girl Picked For Mock State

DONNA HOLLAND Correspondent Tel. 646-0375 Joel Fontanella and Linda Tomaszewski, both members of the class of 1974 at Bolton High School have been selected by the high school faculty to represent the school at Boys State and Girls State. Boys State will be held at the Coast Guard Academy in New London June 17 through 23. Girls State will be held at the University of Connecticut June 24 through 30. They were chosen on the basis of leadership, ability, friendliness, good sportsmanship, civic interest and high scholastic standing. The purpose of the Boys and Girls State program is to provide citizenship training for representative high school juniors from across the state, while they study together as self-governing citizens. "The program is, essentially, a mythical state patterned as much on local government as possible," a spokesman said. Students learn Connecticut laws and the duties of town, city and state officials. Funds will be provided for both Joel and Linda by the Bolton Scholarship Fund, Inc. in memory of Harry T. (Pete) Miner.

CCLU Booklet Defines Rights of Teen-agers

HARTFORD (AP) — Teen-agers have legal rights to, according to a booklet, "Rights of Teen-agers," published Tuesday by the Connecticut Civil Liberties Union (CCLU). "You do not have to salute the flag or recite the Pledge of Allegiance (or a prayer, for that matter) and you may remain seated," the booklet advises. "You may not recite a counter-pledge, a poem or a chant at the same time." The brochure suggests the teenager ask for equal time. Their parents, with no right of their own, a CCLU statement said. The booklet tells youths "how to cope with adults and adult institutions, not only so they will have the knowledge which is the key to power, but also because it will help them to avoid trouble." Ms. Mears said much of the booklet is common sense. Some of it is advice she would give to an adult. "On school attendance, the booklet advises: 'If you get married or become pregnant while you're in school, you should be able to continue classes and other activities, at least until they can prove you're endangering your own health by doing so. You should insist upon this right if you want to stay in school.'" "On the family: 'Parents have a right to discipline their children, and the court will only interfere if this discipline is much harsher than in the ordinary family.'" "On venereal disease: 'If you think you might have VD, you can go to any public or private hospital for confidential treatment. If you want to preserve confidentiality make sure the bill for your treatment is sent only to you.'" "On police arrests: 'be polite, noncommittal, and as inoffensive as possible. If there are other people in the vicinity, try to talk loudly enough for them to overhear your conversation with the policeman (this means a firm loud voice, not a scream).'" "On appearance: 'You may wear what you like in school, as long as it doesn't hurt you or the furniture, or cause a disturbance. You may wear buttons, armbands and other signs of belief, if they don't carry racial or ethnic slurs, outright lies, or obscenities.'" "On lockers: 'If the principal tries to search your locker when you haven't given your permission, at least try to be sure someone else hears you object to this.'" The CCLU stressed that the booklet cannot take the place of a lawyer. "So if you are in trouble, or need to know the specifics of tough questions, seek out a lawyer you can talk with personally," the booklet advises.

Ex-POWs Accused Of Collaboration

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army says five U.S. soldiers accused of aiding the enemy while war prisoners allegedly sought political asylum from North Vietnamese military officials. Two of them, Army S. Sgts. Robert P. Chenoweth of Portland, Ore., and John A. Young of Grayslake, Ill., allegedly cooperated with their captors by constructing model aircraft for use by the North Vietnamese army in conducting target practice for their soldiers' at the POW camp, the Army said. These skimpy details were gleaned from an Army summary made available late Tuesday after Air Force Col. Theodore W. Guy of Tucson, Ariz. (formally charged the five Army enlisted men and three enlisted Marines with misconduct while under his command in a Hanoi POW compound known as The Plantation). Meanwhile, it was uncertain how long it would take the Army and Marine Corps to decide whether the eight should be court-martialed. The Army summary, only a little more than a page, included no specifics bearing on Guy's recent public statement that some POW's caused him and other Americans to be beaten and tortured by the North Vietnamese for establishing communication links among U.S. prisoners. The Marine Corps did not provide any specifics on Guy's charges against the three

Tolland Travel Center Plan Opposed

VIVIAN V. KENNESON
Correspondent
Tel. 875-4704

Approximately 66 residents turned out last night to oppose a fuel station application in the proposed "Travel Center" on Rt. 195 (Merrow Rd.) near Exit 29.

The zoning Board of Appeals took no action on the public hearing on the application of developer Richard Schoenhardt of Simsbury for a total of 22 fuel pumps.

Hebron Rejects School Budget Second Time

ANNE EMT
Correspondent
Tel. 238-3971

Less than 50 residents attended last night's town meeting and by a vote of 19 to 17 rejected the Board of Education's proposed 1973-1974 budget of $766,424 for the second time in as many weeks.

Two weeks ago, when the general government and regional school board budgets were approved, the school board's budget of $723,324 was rejected mainly because the Board of Finance cut $17,000, which represents Hebron's share of transportation of students to Rham High School for double sessions.

Concern was expressed at that first meeting that the board could possibly work with a cut of $15,500 as opposed to the $24,900 cut made by the finance board. He listed several areas where the cut could be applied.

These included $3,350 for the part-time music teacher, $600 for substitute teachers salaries, $1,500 for special education transportation and $4,000 for special education tuition, $400 for custodial salaries and $100 for custodial supplies, $5,500 for the well at Gilead Hill School and $200 for home tuition.

Most of the members of the Board of Education voted against the budget because it was too low and as Hinchliff put it, "We will not limit the education the children are getting in our school system."

The Golden Age Club will meet Thursday at 1 p.m. at the Senior Citizens Center. Members are reminded to bring canned fruit for a kitchen social.

Memorial Exercises
Because of Monday's rainout of Memorial Day ceremonies, the American Legion will hold memorial exercises at 7 this evening at St. Peter's Cemetery.

All Legionnaires and other residents are invited to participate should assemble at the Legion Hall at 8:45.

But the court disagreed, saying the city simply does not recognize this kind of claim.

It is true that all members of the community are entitled to reasonable police protection. But this is a general, not a specific, right. It does not mean that each victim of a crime, if he can point to some police officer, can collect damages from the city government.

The reasoning is mainly pragmatic. Courts fear that if such claims were allowed, the financial burden on cities would be staggering.

Nevertheless, under certain circumstances, a person may indeed have a special right to police protection. Consider the person who is an informer or a material witness in a forthcoming trial. If he is in danger, the city is likely to be held responsible for his safety.

"Otherwise," said one court, "it might become difficult to convince the citizen to cooperate with law enforcement officers if he is not assured that he will be protected."

In one unusual case, the family of a suicide victim tried to blame the city because the police had missed a chance to prevent the tragedy. They said officers had come out to investigate a family quarrel, then left with things still unsettled.

But the city was exonerated. The court said even if the officers should have stayed longer, they still could not fairly have been held liable for the suicide.

A public service feature of the American Bar Association and the Connecticut Bar Association will be held at the Sheraton on June 13-14.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Policeman's Blunder
Officer Harrison called a speeding motorist and gave him a ticket. But he failed to notice that the man was intoxicated. Scarcely five minutes later, the same motorist drove his car through a red traffic light and knocked down a woman pedestrian.

Could the woman hold the city liable for the accident because of the officer's blunder? "The city is supposed to provide police protection," she argued in a court hearing. "That's what we pay taxes for. If the officer hadn't let that drunken driver get away, I would never have gotten hurt."

But the court disagreed, saying the city simply does not recognize this kind of claim.

Institution Trading Causing Concern Among Brokers

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — A deep fear of institutional trading has spread through the securities industry, which only a few years ago scorned the individual investor and scrambled for the big block commissions.

The individual wasn't paying his way, was the common excuse for declining the odd lot business of the small investor in favor of the huge commissions paid by insurance companies and banks and pension and mutual funds.

But now the attitude of many industry leaders is 180 degrees different. They fear institutional trading will ruin the Dow Jones industrial average last Thursday. Rather than seeing it as evidence of strength, they viewed it as an institutional aberration.

Too often, they say, the institutions not only own the same stocks but buy them at the same time and sell them almost in unison. Playing games with each other, and without liquidity, they produce wide price swings.

John Whitehead, chairman of the Security Industry Association, provided some remarkable figures on concentration of ownership at a recent meeting of that brokers' organization:

"One of our largest banks," he said, "received over $1 billion in retirement and pension fund money to invest last year. It placed 68 per cent of that amount in just seven stocks, another 20 per cent into eight other stocks and the balance into less than 10 others."

While this may be exceptional behavior, it isn't unique. The assets of scores of institutions are concentrated in the same list of less than 50 stocks, while other, very worthwhile companies, are ignored.

These ignored companies may be highly distressed about the lack of interest in their shares, which have plummeted to the lowest price-earnings ratios—the number of times per-share earnings at which the stock sells—in many years.

For the first time in decades, some of them are seriously concerned about their ability to raise capital, or at least to raise it without incurring prohibitive costs. Some companies with "normal" P/E ratios of 12 to 18 are selling for 6 to 9.

The concentration of investing power in a relative few products—extremes of price in some corporate issues and results in a vast number of other issues being all but forgotten.

But there is another aspect to this situation that some people might think represents poetic justice. It concerns the fact that on orders of more than $200,000 the rates are now negotiated rather than fixed, as they were a few years ago.

It results in this scenario, related by Whitehead:

"Broker: By the way, Mr. Institution, we think we should charge you 8 cents a share on the excess over $300,000.

State Abandoning Automatic Toll Collectors

HARTFORD (AP) — Those coin-catching plastic chutes used to automatically collect nickels, dimes and quarters from motorists along the Connecticut Turnpike and other state toll roads soon will be replaced by human hands by a new surveillance program initiated last year.

The department plans to staff the toll booths through September with summer help, then add 33 full-time and 110 part-time jobs in the fall.

"The collection of 110 part-time jobs is designed to assist students, retired persons in need of additional income, and housewives who are available to work three or four hours at a time," the commissioner said.

"We propose to have a pool of permanent part-time employees who will be recruited through the state Employment Office," he said.

Wood explained that the move is designed to accelerate the flow of traffic, particularly during peak commuter hours, to eliminate toll evasions, increase employment and defray the cost of expansion projects.

"We believe that converting the automatic lanes to manual operation is in the best interest of the motoring public, especially the commuters who pass through toll stations going to and from work," Wood said.

"Because of the inability to deposit commutation tickets in the automatic equipment, commuters have been prohibited from using the exact change lanes. Forcing them to use the mixed vehicle lanes with truck major cause of congestion and traffic back-up experienced during peak commuter hours."

Wood said.

Thirty-six of the 52 exact-change booths are on the Connecticut Turnpike where Wood said $8.5 million of the $2 million cars that used the superhighway last year traveled on commuter tickets.

He said 32 of the 78 toll lanes on the turnpike would be designated "cars only" in an effort to speed up processing of vehicles.

"The conversion of the automatic lanes means that motorists will no longer be able to zip through the automatic lanes without paying the toll," Wood said, noting that annual estimated toll revenues losses from evasions have been cut from $300,000 to about $120,000 by a new surveillance program initiated last year.

R: SAFE LIVING MANCHESTER PUBLIC SAFETY COMMITTEE

Summer is almost upon us, and with summer comes school vacations. Children will be out enjoying the warm weather. But children are not noted for confining recreational activities to playgrounds and parks. At this time of year children are apt to be anywhere.

Motors should be on the lookout for children, especially in residential areas. But not all children will be walking, running or riding bicycles around to enjoy the spring weather.

Each year more and more children become motorized. Each year more minibikes and go-karts appear on the streets and trails of Connecticut. It should be noted that it is illegal to operate such vehicles on public streets. Usually the drivers of these types of vehicles are unlicensed and inexperienced. In most cases the vehicle is not registered with the Department of Motor Vehicles.

It is illegal for an unlicensed person to operate a motor vehicle, and state law does not permit the licensing of persons under the age of 16 to operate motor vehicles. The law provides that "no person shall cause or permit the operation of a motorcycle or a motor vehicle on the highways by any person under the age of 16."

Newspapers Used As Text For Experiment

By ROBERT PICK, Associated Press Writer, GRANITE CITY, Ill. (AP) — Kids in this industrial city are learning geography by reading the major league baseball schedules in their local newspaper. Arithmetic lessons come in news stories about such things as labor contracts.

It's all part of a new, first-in-nation educational experiment. For years educators have considered using the newspaper as a regular classroom supplement. In some cases, teachers have even experimented with the newspaper as the main textbook for a single subject such as social science.

But at Emerson Elementary School, Principal Al Wilson has thrown all caution to the wind — along with most textbooks. "We're blowing a lot of educational theory all to hell," Wilson said, eyeing first graders with the paper spread before them.

Supreme Court Decline To Hear Challenge Of Paternity Statute

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court Tuesday declined to hear a challenge to the constitutionality of the manner in which New York law limits paternity suits and benefits to illegitimate children.

The high court, finding no substantial federal question, dismissed an appeal by Lillian B. Alexander in her attempt to revive a 16-year-old paternity action against Arthur Gchs Sulzberger, publisher of the New York Times.

In 1971, the original paternity action was filed against Sulzberger, who paid a total of $41,000 over a period of 16 years. Sulzberger "at all times denied the claim of paternity," his lawyers said in opposing review. "Since Sulzberger was desirous of avoiding any publicity which might arise from such a proceeding, settlement discussions were commenced."

In 1972, the second paternity action was initiated, along with a motion that requested support for the child be extended from age 16 to age 21.

Rham High Students Given Academic Awards

Rham High School held its annual academic awards program last week and presented awards to students in 15 curriculum areas. Receiving awards were: Homer Greiner and Lorraine Rainey, art; David Johnson, crafts; Corinne LaRock, Chaeun Marquis, Miss Mary McCann, business; Alice Caya, Raymond White, Joseph Hemenach, Michael Donnelly, Kathryn Wirth and Cheryl Foley, English.

Also, Maria Miner, Lori Bugboe and Loretta Carter, home economics; Jesse Person, Richard Frost and Neil Brown, industrial arts; Jean Barraso, Patricia Barton and Cheryl Dixon, French; Thomas Mills, Jay Wederstrom and Walter Berk, Latin; Donna Henderson, Spanish.

Also, William Allen, Guy Kaskela, Andrew Shajenko, Barbara Holmes, Nancy Farning and Jeffrey Sirota, math.

Funds Allocated

HARTFORD (AP) — The Connecticut Planning Committee on Criminal Administration distributed some $6.4 million Tuesday in federal Law Enforcement Assistance Act (LEAA) funds to about 170 grants to towns and agencies. LEAA funds are provided to help improve the criminal justice system starting with the policeman on the beat through the courts to the rehabilitation system.

Among the largest grants were: State Judicial Department, $138,000 to improve Circuit Court prosecutor services, and $205,000 to improve Circuit Court defender services.

—$380,000 to the State Enforcement Coordinating Council to fund the state's regional crime squads.

—$225,000 to the Department of Children and Youth Services for "after-care" services for children released from other institutions.

—Grants totaling $350,000 for the state's first juvenile detention center in Hartford, Waterbury, Bridgeport and Norwalk. —$214,000 to the state Department of Corrections for a pilot redirection center — a program to divert persons charged with minor criminal offenses from the judicial system into alternative correction or rehabilitation projects.

—$130,000 to Bridgeport and $175,000 to New Haven for expansion and improvement of regional computerized information systems.

Death Squad Member Sentenced

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — A former police officer was sentenced to 31 years in prison on charges of being a member of the Death Squad. Neves, who was convicted Tuesday, had been accused specifically in the deaths of two criminals known as Cabo Verde and Eglio.

The former police officer's lawyers said they would appeal. Neves is one of several police officers accused of murder in connection with Death Squad activities. The squads were formed by policemen in several Brazilian cities to get rid of habitual criminals without resorting to jails and courts.

Ambulance Run Made By City Bus
SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — A city bus became an ambulance to get Mrs. Nellie Lee to a hospital in time. Bus driver Jerry Perrini spotted Mrs. Lee apparently ill at a downtown bus stop. His bus became her ambulance and the passengers served as attendants as Perrini plowed through morning rush hour traffic to Deaconess Hospital.

Mrs. Lee's doctor said she had suffered a mild heart attack and was "doing fine."

Members of the present seventh grade will be in attendance in both the classes and the activities. Refreshments will be served through the courtesy of the present seventh grade mothers.

Health
Kathy McCalliffe, ninth grader, has won a third place award in the Greater Williamatic Health Exposition at Windham Regional Technical School for her display on "Alcohol and Blood Pressure."

Art
Rham High School's annual Art Show is presently under way and will continue through June 8 from 2:15 to 4 p.m. daily.

Bowling
Rham's year-end bowling banquet will be Thursday immediately after the final session of regular bowling is completed.

Parents are advised that the bowling bus will be returning to school at approximately 5:30 p.m. on that day.

Orientation
J. Colin Pushee, principal at Rham High School, has announced an orientation program for parents of incoming seventh graders this evening at 7 in the school auditorium.

The program will be followed by visits to the classrooms with a modified schedule of periods set up to allow parents to attend classes in the academic areas and to view activities in the special areas.

BOOK REVIEWS

GROUP PORTRAIT WITH LADY. By Heinrich Boll. McGraw Hill, 466 Pages, $7.95.

Heinrich Boll, German novelist, with 13 books one of the most prolific and popular authors in Europe, president of the International F.E.N. (Poets, Essayists and Novelists), winner of the 1972 Nobel Prize for Literature. Impressive credentials, yet Boll is unknown to many American readers.

This may well change with the publication of Boll's 13th book, "Group Portrait with Lady." It is a substantial book worthy of any phrase of praise. Boll is not a novelist of technique. He is a storyteller, a master observer, and the joy of reading his book is in watching him build this novel piece by piece. He sets the tone from the beginning. "The female protagonist in the first section is a woman of 48, German; she is 5 foot 6 inches tall, weighs 130 (in indoor clothing), i.e., only 12 to 14 ounces below standard weight; her eyes are iridescent dark blue and black."

Her name is Leni Pfeiffer, and around her revolves the novel's intentionally pedestrian plot. At present, she faces eviction from the apartment in which she has spent most her life. Her son, fathered illegitimately by a Russian prisoner during World War II, is in jail for forging checks to help pay the bills. She is an independent, solitary figure, ridiculed as a "loose woman", out of place in modern Germany.

Enter Boll, the 1 in the novel, and the beginning of a painstaking research of the woman and those she has touched. Boll produces a multidimensional portrait. The reader meets nearly five dozen characters; his view spans 60 years of German history. There is war, national scandal and the like, but Boll concentrates on the common man and the common events.

A lesser author might have turned moralist in such a situation. But not Boll. With humor and compassion he weaves a tale of life and how it goes on. John Cotter

SLEEPING BEAUTY. By Ross Macdonald. Knopf, 271 Pages, $5.95.

On the surface, an oil spill off the California coast, a beautiful girl on the beach and a fire aboard an aircraft carrier during World War II wouldn't seem to have much in common. But they do.

In Ross Macdonald's series of novels about private eye Lew Archer, the seemingly unrelated always do. Which is what makes Macdonald's books, in large part, such a joy to read. The other parts are the writer's way with a phrase, his deft delineation of character and his sure ability to relate his story — without phony hooks — to mainstream America as it is now.

JFK Memorial Library Plans Told

BOSTON (AP) — A seven-story glass-walled pyramid will be the focal point of the $77 million John F. Kennedy Library...

The building, across the street from the Harvard University dorm where Kennedy lived as a student...

The plan, said Sen. Kennedy, "captures the magic, beauty and sense of grace that were so much a part of President Kennedy's life."

People "have expressed some legitimate concerns," said Kennedy, and the library trustees "continue to work with them so that we can speed the concerns in a speedy and satisfactory way."

Slow Pitch Softball Frustration Marks Scene at 500 Race

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Frustration... gray, dismal frustration. It was the overriding emotion during two futile days of attempting to get past the pace lap for the Indianapolis 500-mile race.

A steady drizzle Tuesday washed out the classic race for the second straight day, the first time in the 57-year history of the event that it has happened.

The race was rescheduled for 10 a.m. EDT today.

Thirty-one of the 32 remaining cars in the starting field managed to get in a parade and pace lap Tuesday before the rain returned.

One of the original starting field of 33 — David "Salt" Walther's No. 77 — was missing from the lineup then. It was the only car damaged seriously enough in Monday's multiplexer wreck to be missing Tuesday.

Speedway officials and drivers were apologetic in their remarks about the second wipeout.

Chief Steward Harlan Fengler told the second-day crowd of more than 175,000 that he waited for 4 1/2 hours before calling the race.

Two A. J. Foyts Are Determined

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — There were two A. J. Foyts in garage No. 32 on the Speedway's Gasoline Row, and it was hard to determine which was more determined to win an unprecedented fourth championship in the Indianapolis 500.

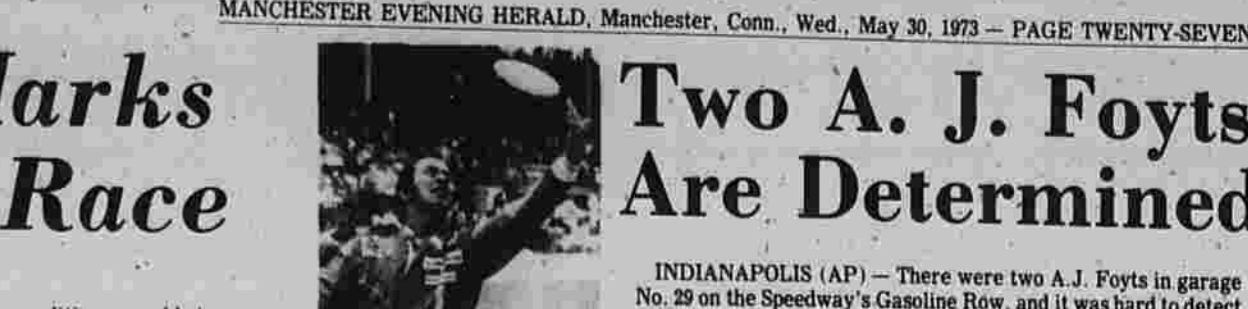

The father of the auto racing star, a three-time Indianapolis winner, is a young-looking man of 60 who plays nursemaid to A.J.'s Coyote and that of George Sinder, another member of the Jim Gilmore team. He is the head mechanic.

It was one of those most disturbed by the two days of rainouts and the frustrating on-again, off-again starts, although his 38-year-old son took it in stride.

"It's exasperating," he complained. "Up every morning at five, getting the car ready, hauling it back and fourth between the track and the garage, fighting the rain. Pretty soon you get all whipped out."

The younger Foyt holds numerous Indianapolis records. Best winning in 1961, 1964 and 1967, he leads all active drivers in the number of miles driven in competition, 5,410; most laps, 4,860; and most leading laps, 324. He is the only driver to have started the last 15 races.

Paris — Tom Gorman downed Milan Holocec of Czechoslovakia 6-3, 6-3, 6-4 and Chris Evert topped Czech Renata Tomanova 6-2, 6-3, both advancing to the quarter-finals in the $15,000 French Open Tennis Tournament.

Channel Switching

Wonder just how many sports buffs started out watching the second NBC Monday night telecast of major league baseball at 8:15 - 8 for the pre-game show - and then switched channels to view the Indianapolis 500 race at 9 o'clock?

Here's one who did and I was rewarded with all the great photo work by the ABC camera crew which recorded the hitting first by the accident.

Little Known Manager

The pre-game baseball show spotlighted little-known Jack McKean, Kansas City manager, who has steered his Royals into pennant contention in the American League's Western Division.

Tight defense, coupled with sound hitting and consistent pitching by Connie McCurry, lifted Manchester High to an 4-1 upset triumph over Newtoning High yesterday afternoon at Newtoning.

Despite a strong wind that blew in from the outfield towards home constantly, Manchester bats banged out eight hits, one for extra bases. The defense committed two errors, but also was credited with two doubleplays that snuffed out Newtoning rallies.

McCurry, on the hill, turned in a dazzling performance until tiring late in the ninth inning contest.

Manchester jumped on starter and losing pitcher Mike Russo for two runs in the third inning, another one in the fourth before Paul Palmer came in the fourth. Rick Vogel finished up.

Mickey Miller led off the third with a walk. McCurry was caught looking at a third strike. Ray Sullivan collected one of his three hits, but was forced on Bruce Peck's infield grounder.

With two outs, Jack Maloney walked to lead the defense. Burger's liner missed the outstretched glove of second baseman Al McDonald and both Miller and Peck scampered home.

The fourth Manchester tally came in the fifth inning with

Annuli Sets Pace In 22nd Golf Win

"It seems that someone always comes through for us," said Coach Tom Kelley of Manchester High's varsity golf squad. "This time Lon Annuli had a fine 72 to lead the team yesterday."

The Tribe trimmed both Hall High, 4-1 and stopped Bristol Central, 4-1, at the country club under very windy conditions.

Over-all, the record stands at 22-10.

"We're 13-1 in the CCLL and it seems hard to believe that we are behind Maloney, 18-0-1 and Hall, 19-0-1. All it comes down to the tri-match Thursday at Rockledge when we meet Hall and Maloney," Kelley added.

First place possibilities are: If Manchester wins two matches they are champs; If Maloney wins two they become champs; If Hall wins two and Manchester downs Maloney Hall wins; If Maloney loses two matches Hall and Manchester will become co-champs.

Annuli took medalist honors with a 72 carding a 29-33. Other Tribe scorers were Scott Leone 43-58-89; Brad Downey 39-37-76; Jim Thomas 40-37-77.

Results: Manchester vs. Hall Zieky (H) def. Leone (M), 2-1.

U.S.-French Talks Center On NATO

Pompidou Warns Nixon Against Unilateral Action

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — President Georges Pompidou of France warned President Nixon today that there would be "great danger" in any unilateral cutback of America's 300,000 strong military force in Europe.

In the first session of the French-American summit conference, the two leaders ranged widely over the problems confronting the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Their exchanges were "very useful and constructive," a French spokesman said after the 2½-hour meeting which ran on 30 minutes beyond its scheduled span.

While Nixon and Pompidou were focusing on the political and strategic issues of the transatlantic partnership, their foreign and finance ministers were meeting separately on more practical and technical problems that divide the United States and France.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Foreign Minister Michel Jobert examined the tense situation in the Middle East, in Vietnam where a final peace settlement is barely hanging together and in Cambodia where fighting persists. On each of these issues there were gaps between the two sides.

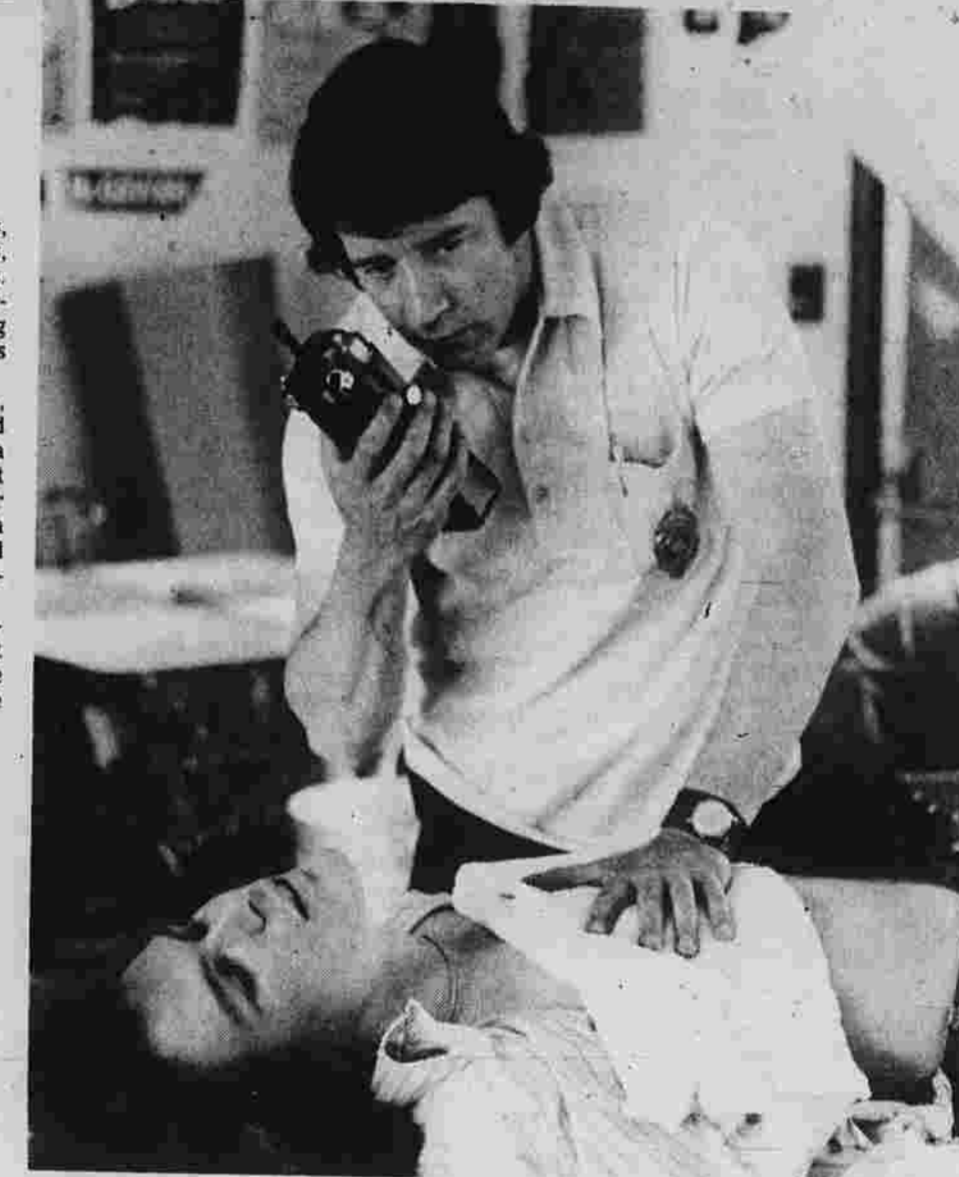

On the money, trade and economic front, Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz and Finance Minister Valéry Giscard d'Estaing discussed ways in which governments can act to help restore a stable world monetary system. Here, too, American and French ideas differed.

Ronald L. Ziegler, White House press secretary, told newsmen the emphasis in the first presidential exchanges was on "the evolution in the future of the Atlantic alliance."

The Nixon administration has disavowed any such intention. The French, nevertheless, suspect deals of this kind could result from Kissinger's proposal for linking negotiations on transatlantic political, defense and economic issues.

The French leader also had in mind the current conference in Vienna on East-West force cuts.

In the French view they could lead to an imbalance, with the Western powers left in a weaker position in relation to the arms and armies of Communist Europe.

Mock Disaster Tests Emergency Facilities

DAVID KNAPP (Herald Reporter) — Manchester Memorial Hospital has the capacity to handle large-scale emergencies, said Dr. Ruben Fialkoff, chief of the emergency department of Manchester Memorial Hospital, commenting on the mock disaster staged Wednesday at Manchester Community College's Bidwell St. campus.

The disaster, an explosion in the art building, left 18 persons with injuries ranging from minor burns to serious chest punctures.

The alarm sounded on campus at 2 p.m. Police arrived at 2:03 to render first aid and to control traffic in the area. Two police units were deployed at either end of the building's emergency access route while another cruiser was positioned at the campus' Bidwell St. entrance. Three police units rendered assistance at the scene and two others were dispatched to the hospital.

At 2:06 two pumper units of the town fire department, the department's emergency unit and the police rescue unit arrived on the scene.

The injured persons, all Manchester High School students who had volunteered for the exercise, were all given first aid treatment on the scene by police and fire department personnel.

Five ambulances, which arrived almost simultaneously with the rescue crews, were used to evacuate the disasterees to the hospital's emergency room. The first casualties arrived at the hospital at 2:10, according to Dr. Fialkoff.

The injuries were treated according to priorities. The first victims given aid were those with serious injuries — the man with the heart attack, the girl with the piece of wood buried in her chest, the woman with internal injuries.

Next came the fractures, the burns and bruises.

Some of the students feigned injury so well that hospital personnel had some difficulty separating the actors from those actually injured. One girl played the part of a hysterical woman so well she alarmed half the emergency room staff.

Dr. Fialkoff said that initial treatment on all the "disaster" victims took approximately one hour.

After the emergency was finished, Dr. Fialkoff held a debriefing in the hospital's cafeteria.

The victims were asked about the way they were handled. Aside from a bandage wrapped too tightly or the "too casual" treatment of some injuries at the scene, Dr. Fialkoff said that the exercise went well.

The exercise, according to Dr. Fialkoff, was held to find the weak points in the emergency care programs of the hospital, the Police Department, the Fire Department and Manchester Community College.

The "victims," all volunteers from Manchester High School, feigned injury and were treated as disaster victims. ### School Budget Pared To $11.1 Million

Doug Bevins (Herald Reporter) — The Manchester Board of Education Wednesday night unanimously approved 1973-1974 budget cuts of $270,491 to bring the operating budget in line with the Board of Directors' approved figure of $11.1 million.

The largest reduction — $17,373 — was made in the area of salary items. Cuts were also made in projects, supplies, transportation for special education students, buildings and grounds, equipment, student activities, and field trips.

Belson Schaffer, chairman of the board's personnel and finance committee (which made the budget cut recommendations) said "we're cutting the budget to the bone."

He noted that the reductions don't allow for a contingency fund, and administration of an $11 million budget without a contingency fund will be "tough."

Schaffer said that the board will probably be able to meet contractual commitments for salaries and will be able to keep on some staff formerly funded by state or federal grants. But several new staff positions deemed necessary by the board were cut, he said.

One of the few items maintained at a high level, Schaffer mentioned, is teaching supplies. The school board had requested an increase of $90,000 for supplies, and reductions left that figure at $80,099. Schaffer mentioned that the Board of Directors had indicated that high priority should be given to supplies.

The $147,373 in salary items cut from the operating budget include $70,875 for new positions, $50,000 in projected savings in nursing new teachers, $11,233 in personnel changes, and $15,175 in existing positions.

The projected savings and personnel changes figures, totaling $61,233, were to be the board's contingency fund.

Reductions in projects, totaling $34,500, included elimination of funds for media centers at Keweenaw Street School, Iling and Bennet Junior High Schools. Funds for media centers at Robertson and Washington Schools were maintained.

Additional funds were entirely eliminated for late classes at Manchester High School, the IGE program at Nathan Hale (See Page Fourteen)

Cost-Of-Living Bonus Offered State Employees

HARTFORD (AP) — Connecticut State Employees Association officials say the $300 bonuses for state employees announced by Gov. Thomas J. Meskill is "a step in the right direction."

But CSEA President Thomas Lyon and Executive Director Edward Gallant noted that $300 is less than half the amount they had requested from Meskill. They added that a special delegate meeting still is scheduled for Friday with the agenda calling for discussion of a possible work stoppage, work slowdown or political action by state workers.

CSEA had argued that because of recent increases in the cost of living, state employees should be given an additional $750 over a 12-month period. Friday's meeting was called after the General Assembly refused to include a cost-of-living raise in the fiscal 1974 state budget, which becomes effective July 1.

Gallant said $300 was about 4 percent of the average state employee salary.

"The fact that it is a lump sum is of special value," Gallant explained. "It's a chunk of money people can get their hands on."

Lyon added that the CSEA would continue to work for a cost-of-living raise for state employees next year.

In announcing the bonuses Wednesday, Meskill said the money will be taken from the surplus for the current fiscal year, which is larger than expected.

Latest figures indicate that the state would still close the fiscal year June 30 with a surplus of $65 million after paying out $11 billion for the bonuses, Meskill said.

Last February, the administration projected the surplus to be around $19 million. Meskill previously said the state didn't have enough money to grant blanket raises to state employees.

The raises will be made this year only and won't apply to employees whose salaries are fixed by law, summer workers and those who only receive per diem expenses. State commissioners and their deputies, who received controversial salary increases earlier this year, also won't be affected.

No legislative action is required for the bonuses, but they must be approved by the agencies that oversee state salaries: the Personnel Policy Board, the judiciary department and the Legislative Management Committee.

Frisina Sentenced 6-20 Years

John Frisina of Andover, a 49-year-old electronics technician, was sentenced to 6-20 years in prison by Tolland County Superior Court Judge Paul J. Driscoll, this morning.

Last month Frisina pleaded guilty to first degree manslaughter in connection with the Christmas Day death of his estranged wife, Anna.

On Feb. 5, an 18-member grand jury brought an indictment of murder against Frisina. Mrs. Frisina was shot, according to state police, while she was in the home of neighbors on Bear Swamp Rd. in Andover.

The shooting occurred shortly before 6 p.m. on Christmas Day, at the home of the Robert W. Bennett family and Frisina was arrested at the scene by State Police. He was charged with murder and was held overnight at the Colchester Barracks. Mrs. Frisina was pronounced dead on arrival at Windham Hospital.

Frisina has been held on bond at the Hartford Correctional Center, since the December incident.

'Socialites' Move About Providence

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Dozens of blue-collar workers are finding work these days as fashionable socialites headed for a plush ball in Newport, R.I., mansion.

The temporary blueblues are extras for the movie "The Great Gatsby," an F. Scott Fitzgerald fiction classic of the 1920s that's being filmed in an estate on Newport's prestigious Bellevue Avenue.

The extravaganza is expected to last from dusk to dawn for up to 12 days. Extras will be paid $20 a day for their elevated status.

To qualify for a spot in a crowded ballroom scene, scores of women are agreeing to dress without treat or tidbits, in the style of the '20s, and forego dark sunglasses this summer.

"We're the new women, it doesn't bother us," said Ingrid Koehler, one of about 175 extras tentatively selected from more than 400 applicants.

Women seeking a part must drive short hair or be willing to cut it. Men also must have a close crop, and no sideburns or beards—a requirement that has prompted casting director Bernard Styles to schedule interviews with servicemen at the Newport Navy Base next week.

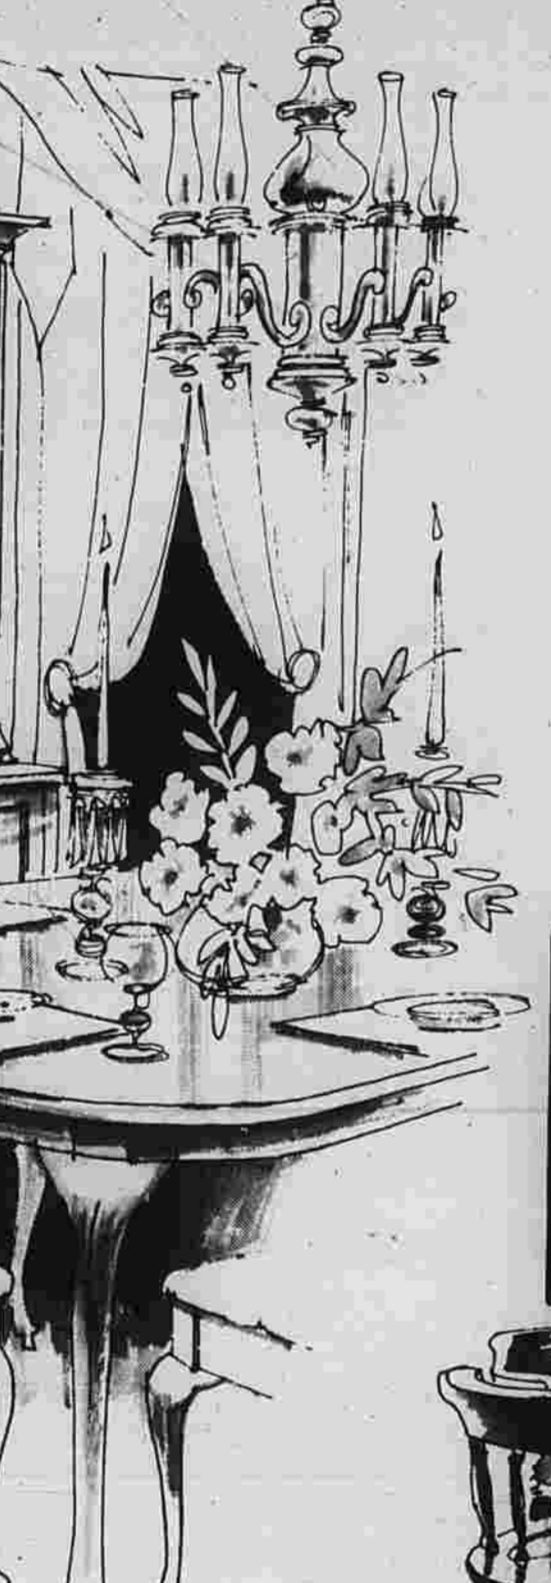

Styles set up temporary shop in the Rhode Island Department of Unemployment Security, which agreed to bring in candidates through part of next week.

He held a crowd of about 40 hopefuls: "What we're looking for is something intangible. It's a ray look, it's a sporty look, it's a digitized look, a casual arrogance, an elegance." Many of the characters in the story came from a wealthy background.

To most of the candidates, Styles says regrettably, "No, you just don't have the 'Gatsby' look." Or, "No, dear, you look too young." Guests at the ball are supposed to be between 25 and 70 years old.

Men Seek Sunken Whaler

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — Five men who want to revive the romance of old whaling ships in this famous port have gone to Canada to see if a 129-year-old whaling ship can be raised from the floor of Hudson Bay.

The expedition, headed by Alexander Byron, real estate dealer in nearby Marion, left Monday for the area, only 250 miles south of the Arctic Circle.

He said the group will dive to film the condition of the vessel and obtain wood samples.

The ship is the Ansel Gibbs, a 111-foot whaler built in Matlapisset. She was caught in the ice and sank in 1871. A team of Canadian divers discovered the hull two years ago.

Byron said if the ship is salvageable and finances can be made, the Ansel Gibbs could be raised in late July — the only time the bay area is free of ice. He wants to take it to Nova Scotia for restoration.

Byron said the estimated $1 million raising and restoration cost could come from a documentary film on the project. He said the cargo of whale oil and whalebone may be intact.

Democrats Begin Plans For Election

SOL R. COHEN (Herald Reporter) — The "highest ever" pre-election treasury balance in the history of the Democratic Party in Manchester was reported last night by Paul Phillips, town committee chairman.

His report of a $5,041 balance was greeted with applause from Democratic Town Committee members meeting in the Municipal Building.

Phillips said $2,106 of the amount was the profit from a dinner-dance held earlier this month, which he and Town Chairman Ted Cummings called "an extraordinary success."

Cummings commented, "This is the best financial position ever for Manchester Democrats prior to a campaign. It will enable us to concentrate our efforts on winning in November."

Manchester's election will be Nov. 6. Under Democratic Party rules, candidates must be endorsed between Aug. 2 and Aug. 21. A Democratic primary, if needed, would be on Aug. 25.

To be elected Nov. 6, will be nine members to the Board of Directors, for two-year terms and with a maximum of six from one party; six members to the Board of Education, for three-year terms and with three to serve 1973-76 and three to serve 1977-79; three to selectmen, for two-year terms and with only two to be from one party; a town clerk, for a four-year term; a town treasurer, for a two-year term; and seven constables, for two-year terms and with a maximum of four from one party.

Cummings said the Democrats on the Board of Directors and on the Board of Education will be invited to the June meeting of the town committee — to report on their achievements and to list their goals. The report from the school board members will be on new plans for Iling and Bennet Junior High school additions and renovations. Cummings said.

He said he will seek the cooperation of his Republican counterpart, A. Paul Berke, for a series of townwide public hearings in September and October, where the candidates from both parties could discuss issues and goals.

"It's a way to take the campaign even closer to the people

Watergate — WASHINGTON (AP) — John D. Ehrlichman, a former deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency for 10 months in the Watergate cover-up. And the former White House adviser says he can't recall asking for CIA assistance that E. Howard Hunt used in the Ellsberg burglary.

Ehrlichman's testimony behind closed doors Wednesday conflicts with that of present and former CIA officials.

The report for the fiscal year 1971-1972 contains financial information about the town and reports of the activities of various departments and agencies.

The report carries out the sesquicentennial theme and the pictures in it show Manchester in past years. Extra copies are available at Town Hall.

Tank Attack — SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government blames a Communist tank attack Wednesday near Hue was only a probe and not the beginning of an offensive against the former imperial capital, a government spokesman said today.

It was the first Communist tank attack since the cease-fire four months ago.

Earlier military sources said they were trying to determine the strength of the tank force to assess whether the attack heralded a new offensive against Hue.

SkyLab Problems — SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Skylab's astronauts and mission control wrestled today with a new problem that has drained another six per cent of the space station's power and forced reduction of experiments.

A battery went off line late Wednesday, the second of 18 to fail on the orbiting lab, which has been plagued by a series of problems since it was launched on May 14.

The total loss of 12 per cent of available power, however, poses no threat to the mission. (See Page Fourteen)
