bill today but won't consider the proposal until tomorrow. The proposal is in the form of a limitation on use of funds for the Air Force and the Army. The Air Force and the Army are obligated to the fiscal year starting next July 1. It says that none of the money can be used to finance the sending of troops into combat outside the United States. Its territories or possessions except with the consent of Congress. A formal declaration of war, or an enemy attack on a foreign nation whose defense the United States is obligated to assist by treaty.

There is no mutual defense treaty between the United States and Indochina.
The purpose of my amendment, Couderd said, "is to limit further extension of the area into which the United States may send troops without the consent of Congress."
Couderd added that the proposal would not restrict the use of American troops in defense of western hemisphere nations or western European countries.

bound to the United States by mutual defense treaties.
Airist, House Standing Committee on Foreign Relations, was referred to in a Pentagon spokesman's disclosure that the Air Force is studying several proposals for increased airlift aid to the French and native forces, but that no action has been taken so far.
Also, Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, hurried home from Europe and arranged talks with Eisenhower. He has conferred with British and French officials in London and Paris on the Indochina situation.
A letter from Couderd's proposed rider to the defense money bill, this bigger appropriations measure of the year appeared likely to stir little controversy in the House. His appropriations committee has recommended these allotments:
Air Force $7,615,523,000, a cut of $390,690,000.
Office of the Defense Secretary 12 1/2 million, a cut of 1 million.
Interagency activities, 500,000 from financing atomic tests, 527 1/2 million, a cut of 20 million.
The total cut of $1,296,348,500 includes $55 million in the nature of reduction in the defense of 310 million in cuts volunteered by requests that had been submitted.

Egypt Premier Arrests 52 to Curb Red Plot

Army" and no reaction was expected from the military.
Those arrested ranged in rank from lieutenant to major.
The arrests also were another step in solidifying Nasser's control following his resignation of the former government head, Maj. Gen. Mohamed Naguib, to a figurehead presidency April 18.
The government spokesman, Capt. Siems Ziddan, said several of those arrested were officers of a cavalry unit which had played an important role in bringing Naguib back to the presidency Feb. 20, after Nasser forced him to quit in the first round of their struggle for power.
The cavalry unit was commanded by Maj. Khalid Mohamed, chief of the Revolutionary Council in March and now in Egypt.
The Revolutionary Council decided its surprise move on the Army elements at an all-night meeting, lasting until almost dawn today, at Army headquarters in the Kubbeh suburb.
Squad of military police went out shortly before dawn to round up the officers.
Ziddan said the officers picked up had worked closely with the "United Front" political faction formed by Mustafa El Naguib, Nasser's ally, and the Communists, who have been active in the military since Nasser's decision to withdraw from the political scene this summer.
That decision was reversed and political parties again were outlawed when Nasser finally won out in his struggle with Naguib.
Ziddan said the officers were taken to the military prison at Naguib. Following the ceremony, a reception for about 50 guests was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

JAP REIDS WARNED
Tokyo, April 28 (AP) - A top Communist leader said today Japanese Reds have been ordered to "keep out of trouble" in May Day demonstrations throughout Japan.
About 200,000 persons are expected to attend labor-sponsored rallies in Tokyo Saturday. Smaller demonstrations are scheduled elsewhere.
Communist leader Shochi Kagawa said party members have been instructed to "maintain united and orderly conduct."
An anti-American demonstration occurred in Tokyo on May Day, 1952, with some 6,000 Communist rioters clashing with police. American-owned automobiles were overturned and two U. S. soldiers were tossed in the Imperial Palace moat.
Last year's May Day demonstration was quiet.

Final Zoning Seminar Held

Good sub-divisions demand higher prices from the home-buyer remain in effect longer, and bring the community higher income from taxes, according to James Clark, planning engineer and member of the Connecticut Development Commission.
Clark made the assertion while pointing out some of the prerequisites of a "good" sub-division control law, at the final in the current series of seminars presented by the Connecticut Federation of Planning and Zoning Agencies.
The planning engineer admitted that good sub-divisions cost more at their institution, but in the long run they cost much less to carry. He backed up this statement by citing the reduction of costs in snow removal, maintenance and street grading.
Traps in Planning
To arrive at the desired effect in sub-divisions, Clark pointed out it is first necessary to arrive at a suitable sub-division design. And this can only be done by obtaining the best designers, landscape architects and civil engineers.
Some of the traps Clark urged the planners to be on the look out for include short blocks, not fitting the streets to the topography of the area, and planning purposes a dead-end street.
On the latter issue, Clark said, "I can't quite conceive of any place where a dead end street is necessary."
He did, however, offer high praise for the use of the "cul de sac" type road, where occupation of the area, and planning purposes should run parallel to the slope of the land. This, in the ideal case, the land would either slope up or down from the street.
Clark also warned trap planners to pay particular heed to topography when considering future drainage problems. He said all sub-divisions, wherever possible, should run parallel to the slope of the land. This, in the ideal case, the land would either slope up or down from the street.
Following his statement of the advantages of capital improvement and civic referrals.
Clark pointed out that civic capital improvement can be used readily to complement planning. He said, "we soon begin to relate sub-divisions to the general status of the community."
Following Clark as the last speaker of the planning seminars was Hubert Stone, a Director of the Connecticut Federation of Planning and Zoning Agencies, who spoke on the problems of capital improvement and civic referrals.
The proposed site of the school is the 140-acre farm of Henrietta Barnis in the northern part of town, which is now available and ideally suited to our needs. The soil has excellent drainage, permitting early spring and fall fall use. This site has been approved by the Board of Education and is available for building sites and equipment is $1,888,000.
Estimated cost of building sites and equipment is $1,888,000.
The school building, including mathematics, social studies, industrial arts and home-making for grades seven and eight. Selected courses for grades nine through 12 will enable the graduate to enter college or technical school.
The initial cost of the proposed new school building will be somewhat staggering, but it will be divided between the town and payment through amortization will not doubt be gradual. The State will also shoulder a certain percent of the expense.
The auditorium for the school will seat 800. The dining room will seat 400. A gymnasium will be provided and there will be library facilities.
It should also be remembered that the expense of sending students to Windham High, with transportation and tuition will be crossed off and utilized for the new school. After the new school has been paid for, continued education for the town will be more than it has been with Windham High, or may even be less.
It is of course understood that all this is simply the report of the planning committees and must come before the town for decision through a public hearing. May 10, 15, being the project before the people for decision.
School Growth Expected
A corresponding growth in estimated in all other towns of high school pupils to Windham High School which has already taken action which will exclude the tuition taxes. The report asserts a school plant large enough to sell high school services to all would exceed economical limits in construction and operation, and would be so large that maintenance of a high level of standards would be impossible.
Similar to a region including Andover, Hebron and Windham would have the same disadvantages.
On the other hand, the 4-town report goes to say, the establishment of a regional district comprising Hebron, Bolton, Andover and Marlborough will utilize town comparable in size, economic structure and social interests, and each town will gain a direct voice in determining the course of education in the region.
The proposed site of the school is the 140-acre farm of Henrietta Barnis in the northern part of town, which is now available and ideally suited to our needs. The soil has excellent drainage, per-

Just Call Him Lexidoc, He's a Doctor of Words

Louisville, Ky. (AP)—Once there was a press agent who wanted a special term to describe the abrupt charm of a client, a television personality.

He groined in vain for the word until his need came to the attention of Dr. Jacob E. Schmidt, who promptly coined one—callicol.

It means having a large and shapely bosom.

Delighted, the press agent forked over $275 to Dr. Schmidt, a 47-year-old teacher who says "I don't know whether I'm a doctor or a lexicographer or both. It's like deciding which you love most—your mother or father."

He writes a syndicated column on words, and articles for magazines. He helped proofread an electronic test. He also is a talented artist, and has won gold medals for scholastic excellence. And he tested all the inorganic substances in the Pharmacopoeia of the United States, the standard drug text.

His hobby for the last 20 years has been his "Dictionary in Reverse." Several metal cabinets are filled with index cards on which he has made about 150,000 cross references of meanings for 65,000 accepted words.

Plans Meanings Book
It will become a 640-page book next year. It works this way: Suppose you need a word to describe a thought like "person who hates women." In the fourth-hand book, you list the key words in your idea—person, hates, or women. Under at least one of them, you would find the exact word which has eluded you—misogynist.

The category beginning "a person who..." has 2,000 entries. "I don't think he will be a best seller," he said.

Reminiscing, he said "as long as I can remember, when I heard an apt word used, I envied the person who could employ it correctly."

Man Earns Living By Safe Cracking

Paris, Tex. (AP)—Sam Piqua, a spy 78, makes his living opening safes. Never saw one he couldn't crack. Lawmen don't bother him. All his thousands of safe-cracking have been strictly legal.

From miles around, they call him to open jammed safes when burglars hit them. combinations fail or fire scorches them.

Piqua's pet peeves are amateur safe-crackers who knock off the knobs and ruin the combinations. "They don't have a chance to open the safe," he frowns. "They just mess them up. And I have to clean up after them."

Professional safe-crackers usually do a nice, clean job explaining the cause. But he admits the pros are few and far between these days. "Modern safes are just too tough for most of 'em."

Bolton Informal Hearing to Clear Regional School Questions

Bolton, April 28.—(Special)—An informal public hearing at the Community Hall at 8 tonight will seek to clarify any questions of township in regard to the local high school situation.

The three representatives of the town to the 4-town Temporary Regional High School Committee, F. Weldon Miner, Harry Peltier and Paul Arnold will discuss with the township the problems to be considered in making a decision on the question.

It is hoped that the hearing will help members of the community in their consideration of the basic questions involved and reduce confusion of thought at the May 15 town meeting.

The town meeting will act on the formal report of the planning committee and consider holding a special referendum on the issue on June 14. The referendum would present an opportunity to all taxpayers holding real or personal property assessed at more than $1000 to cast a yes or no vote on the question of creating a regional high school district. Voting would be done on the voting machine.

Copies of the planning committee's report on the proposed high school will be available at the hearing tonight. The committee will also show slides presenting the floor plan, architect's conception of the structure and other details.

Chicken Barbecue Set

It will be prepared by Roy Jones, executive secretary of Chicken Barbecue Service of Storrs.

The fair will be sponsored by Congregational Church and all proceeds will go to the church, as in previous years. It will be conducted on the lawn of the Community Hall and grounds.

The site for the barbecue will be located on church grounds and supper will be served on the south lawn of the church. There will be two servings, one at 5:30 and one at 8:30 p. m. The co-chairmen have announced it will be necessary to make reservations in advance. They will be taken by Mrs. Dincock and Mrs. Ellsworth E. Perkins.

Newsman's Stubborn Efforts Help Michael Get a Donkey

By BARBARA HAYDEN NEA Special Correspondent
Schenectady, N. Y.—People can be just as stubborn as donkeys. Which is why 11-year-old Michael Koppach has a big smile on his face and a donkey beside the outting would include small children.

It was also decided to repeat the photographic project of last year in which informal portraits were done of the school graduates. Some revised plans in being worked out to improve distribution of the finished prints with the hope this might be accomplished before school closes.

Contacting the graduates and arranging for delivery of the prints after school closing presented many difficulties last year.

Food Sale Planned
The local PTA will conduct a food sale in Manchester tomorrow at 9 a. m. at the J. W. Hale store. Mrs. Paul Arnold is in charge of arrangements and will be assisted at the sale by Mrs. William Allison and Mrs. James G. Hassett.

Law Says Bathtub Is Not Plumbing

Sloux City, Iowa (AP)—A bathtub isn't plumbing. Municipal Judge Barry J. Sisk ruled that Walter E. Larsen, 61, who installed a bathtub himself, was innocent of violating a city plumbing ordinance.

He ruled that "a bathtub actually doesn't receive waste water, but clean water, even though that water which may be discharged from the bathtub is waste water."

Want Board's Action
Of Jan. 26 Followed

Indications at a meeting last night on the Kenney Street School were that the Bowers bloc on the Board of Directors plans to reaffirm its Jan. 26 action at the next Board meeting, May 3.

At a meeting held Jan. 26 in the auditorium of Hollister School, the majority of the Board voted to abandon plans drawn by Arnold Lawrence to demolish and rebuild the school. The plan, which would have cost $450,000, was rejected by a vote of 12 to 10.

The Bowers bloc, which includes the majority of the Board, is seen standing firm on its position. It is expected to take over the job soon, and to have a public relations office for the Travelers Insurance Co. for several years.

To Fill Bloodmobile Quota

"I sincerely hope that tomorrow's Bloodmobile Day will prove a turning point in Manchester's Blood Program operation, and that we will be able to reach the 150 pint quota which we have failed to do for the last few months," said Mrs. Alfred Vennard, chairman of the local Red Cross Motor Corps. "People do not seem to realize how many lives are dependent upon the donors who appear at these monthly Bloodmobile drives."

Mrs. Vennard said her corps will appear to give a unit of blood tomorrow when the Bloodmobile will appear to give a unit of blood to Woodruff Hall. Every individual donor is a vitally necessary part of the program.

The Army's Hush-Hush CID

Schine Application Puts Focus on Elite Crime Investigators

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
Washington (NEA) — With the Army's military police corps there exists an elite, hush-hush group of criminal investigators who wear civilian clothes, operate around the world and work hand-in-hand with the U. S. Secret Service, FBI, U. S. Narcotics Bureau and other federal and law enforcement agencies.

The mission of these super criminal investigators is to protect U. S. troops as well as seek out those most in uniform who commit crimes.

Not long ago in Germany a farmer was found dead in the back of the truck on which he had been riding. Death was caused by what appeared to be a bullet wound in the man's head and local authorities had picked up a U. S. Army officer who had been hunting along the road as the suspected assassin.

The Army's CI men assigned to the case were skeptical of the officer's guilt although there was strong circumstantial evidence against him. The autopsy report made by a local coroner was a little vague and the officer's denial of guilt sounded true.

Branch Killed Him
CI men took a ride along the same route. In the middle of the trip one of the men noticed a very low-hanging branch. He stopped and found what appeared to be dried blood on a sharp twig.

An Army military police lab proved that it was blood and the same type as that of the dead man. The branch had killed him, not a gun.

On the other side of the picture, not long ago, the same sort of careful detective work uncovered a murder plot in what appeared to be an ordinary automobile accident. A GI had killed his wife and tried to make it look like the result of a car smash-up.

National attention has been focused on "this special Army investigation group by the much-publicized Pvt. G. David Schine, figure in the Army-McCarthy dispute. Schine's application to get in the Army's CI school at Camp Gordon, Ga., was turned down. In the resulting publicity the excellence of the school and some of its activities became general public knowledge for the first time.

Schine Didn't Qualify
Following regulations, the Army's Provost Marshal, Gen. William H. Magin, is not revealing why he turned down Schine's application for the school. But the established qualifications for candidates make it fairly apparent why Schine didn't make the grade.

In the first place Schine's experience investigating Communism for the McCarthy committee in no way qualifies him for this specialized MP work. "We worry about sin," explains Gen. Magin. "Subversion is the worry of the Counter Intelligence Corps, an other part of the Army entirely."

Only rarely do draftees get into the CI group. One of the last who did was a former G-man. Another qualification is two years service in the Army. Gen. Magin feels that an investigator must have an intimate knowledge of how the service operates.

Members of the CI group are officers, warrant officers and sergeants. They're mostly former detectives, police officers and investigators and plan to make this work in the Army's career.

Volcano Explodes, Forming Mountain

Goma, Belgian Congo (AP) — A new mountain is growing on the border between the Belgian Congo and the Belgian trust territory of Ruanda.

Feb. 21 the low saddle linking an extinct and an active volcano—the Nyiragongo and the Nyamuragira—blew up with a bang that was heard 50 miles around and flames started to shoot out of the hole, mixed with ash and pumice.

Lava poured out and ran down the mountain threatening an important road. A few days later, the new crater started to build a new cone of cinders and hot stones around the first hole.

Best Burglar Alarm Is Women's Shriek

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer
In an age variously attributed to the atom, to hydrogen, to parsons and to uikers, I would like to draw attention to a pleasant piece of intelligence which might otherwise escape notice.

The American Bankers Assn., no less, notes in a formal report that there is but one competitor to the modern, electronic bank anti-luption system, and that is "nature's most spontaneous self-starting alarm—the scream of a woman in distress."

It seems that any number of attempted bank holdups were frustrated—not by the omnibus and urgent clanging of the automatic alarm—but by the piercing shriek of a scared female. Hardened, tough criminals turned and fled.

The association also notes, at two instances the hold men abandoned their nefarious plans when the lady tellers exercised their out-moded prerogative to slip to the floor in a faint.

Job Qualifications
Of course, all of this information may as well be used by ambitious young women who yearn for careers in teller's cages, for it provides them with an extra-attractive to economy-minded bosses.

Scare easy, scream loud, faint frequently, resume the fainting house sooner than the nation.

Of course, the feminine voice, when raised to a pitch by fear, anger or the necessity of bringing the menfolk in for meals, is always resulted in some sort of action and apparently it has not lost its old galvanizing action through years of service. It should stimulate no one to a woman's impulse to shriek can be stifled by no force on earth, even a criminal behind a gun.

270,000 Alarms
The ABA, in an address to would-be bank robbers, indicates that as a profession for a male, heisting roves an unburied bank, it watch TV shows and know underworld slang very well indeed in today's chancy operation. There are some 270,000 female bank employees covered to only 40,000 males, and every last one of them, presumably, carries a built-in alarm.

One ominous note: Last year women bank robbers made a total of 15 tries. The question to be an-

The government also was on the lookout for any hostile "semonstrations by sympathizers" with the late King Mutesa II of Buganda, one of the protectorate's four provinces. # Home Runs Fall Thick and Fast at Cincinnati Ball Park

Roberts Sings One-Run Blues Phillies Forget to Score Runs When Ace Is Pitching

CHICAGO (NEA)—Steve O'Neill adjusted a double-headed band of chewing tobacco in his jaw, then leaned back on the bench and watched his Phillies get ready for the day's activities. "One-run games," he said, "are the things that kill you. You get a good pitcher and the other fellow put in a real good one, and then you get hit one and you lose it. Or some guy hits a little home run and you're in a hole. You can't win like the Polo Grounds and instead of giving the pitcher a run and a walk, they're not shaking his hand for hitting a home run."

"Now, these fellows don't mean anything like that," O'Neill said. "Well," Roberts said, "just what would you say to yourself? I saw the same things you would. I don't think you could pretend there. You don't like to lose them, but you tell yourself that they'll give you the other way for you some day."

THE "SOMNAMBULIST" for Robin Roberts had better come quickly. The right-hander's attempt at a victory season last year was shattered by the loss of six single-run decisions. He finished the year with a 23-16 mark.

Proved Pitchers Were Not Ahead of Hitters

CHICAGO (NEA)—The Phillies' pitchers were not ahead of the hitters in the first three games of the season. In the first game, the Phillies were defeated by the Cincinnati Reds. In the second game, the Phillies were defeated by the Philadelphia Phillies. In the third game, the Phillies were defeated by the Philadelphia Phillies.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 28.—The 80th running of the Kentucky Derby took a bumpy start but there was every indication the names of 18 horses will be dropped into the entry box for the $100,000 race at 1:30 p. m. today.

QUITE A FEW were talking O'Neill just what he was a pitcher like Robin Roberts when he loses a 1-0 or 2-0 contest. "I don't care anything," Steve answered. "He pitches his heart out and we don't give him any runs and some guy hits for the chop and he loses, 1-0."

"If THE RUNS don't come, you can't blame anybody," Roberts said. "All you can do is throw hard and hope you can get a run or two."

Asked what Bill DeWitt's duties would be as the new assistant general manager of the New York Yankees, President Dan Topping grinned and replied: "If anything ever happens to me, I want you to take over."

Midget wrestlers will be making their bow in Rockville tonight when they appear in an Australian tag-team feature at the Princess Ballroom. First match at 8:30. Village Street plant starts at 8:30.

WORLD'S MIDGET champion Sonny Boy Cassidy and Diamond Jim Reedy will form one of the tag teams with Irish Jackie and the Masked Red Weasel in the opening contest.

THE MIDGETS are by far the most popular troupe of wrestlers right now, entertaining to young and old alike. Their mirth-provoking antics have all but laid the fans in the aisles. They can do everything their bigger brethren can do, and some things they can't, such as sneaking in from behind a referee, or running right over an ardent bent over to get a hold of the referee.

RAIN AGAIN WASHED OUT the scheduled baseball game between Manchester High and Rockville High in the Windy City. It marked the second time the game had been postponed.

AMERICAN LITTLE LEAGUE baseball candidates between the ages of 7 and 12 will meet in the West Side Recreation Center today to select their teams for the season.
