Dewey Retirement Seen Temporary

There seemed little doubt that Dewey, retiring after 12 years in the gloomy mansion at Albany, would remain a close adviser to Eisenhower and the national administration.

As one who helped get Eisenhower into the race for the GOP nomination in 1952 and who has had the White House ever since, Dewey remains one of the relatively small group to whom Eisenhower might turn for a recommended successor if the President decides not to run again in 1956.

If Eisenhower does try again, some thought Dewey might turn to in 1956 for the Senate seat now held by Sen. Herbert Lehman (D-Lab-N.Y.).

Whether Dewey could reenter the political arena from a private law practice where he may command big fees remained one of the questions.

Little damage and no loss resulted from the mishap.

No other damage was reported in town.

hearing room yesterday were Benjamin G. Schuster, 25 of the Foxbury district, and Robert Morgan, 28 of Bevere, both residents of the Charles Street Jail. They were booked on "suspicion of having aided a prisoner to escape."

Byrne said Schuster was made a guard despite a criminal record. He said Schuster was given a suspended sentence in 1947 on charges of breaking and entering.

After ordering the arrest of the two jail guards, Byrne stated that two inmates of the Charles Street Jail held in protective custody.

The prosecutor said the two inmates were "amateurs" testimony in the grand jury concerning conditions at the jail and the escape of "Trigger" Burke.

A source close to Byrne said yesterday's grand jury session that the prosecutor will seek 11 indictments against eight persons, including jail officials.

Burke has not been seen since a week ago last Saturday night when two men cut their way through four doors to reach Burke in the jail exercise yard.

Burke and the two men then fled for the street and escaped in an automobile driven by a third accomplice.

Burke, who is wanted by New York police in connection with a number of slayings, was being held here on a charge of possession of a machine gun, a weapon he allegedly used in a vain attempt to kill Joseph "Specs" O'Keefe, a one-time Brink's robbery suspect.

Meanwhile, Anthony Pino, 46, who at one time was questioned in the $1,200,000 Brink's robbery, was back in the custody of immigration authorities today after an official ruled his freedom is a threat to the community.

Pino was free in $1,000 bail while awaiting action on his bid to overrule an immigration service order deporting him to his native Italy as an undesirable alien.

territories of the Asian part, and the general area of the south Pacific, including the Pacific area north of 21 degrees latitude, and the southern tip of the Philippines, but short of Chinese Nationalist Formosa.

Other Nations Can Join

The treaty stipulates that other countries can join.

Dulles helped clear the way for signing when he agreed to delete from the treaty's preamble the word "Communism" in identifying potential aggressors. However, Dulles specified that other member nations must agree in writing that the United States would not necessarily consider the local word "Communism" as an aggression. This specification was written into the pact.

The treaty, consisting of a preamble and 11 articles:

1. Approves a military agreement, patterned after the Australian-Georgian pact, which would defend Pacific Islands, and Mutual Defense Pact (ANZUS), "to meet the common danger" of armed attack in the treaty area or against any member according to the constitutional provisions of the respective countries.
2. In Seoul, meanwhile, South Korean Prime Minister Yung T'ai today bolted the new pact, and South Korea, the only true ally of the United States in the fight against Communism.
3. Establishes a council which "shall be so organized as to be able to meet at any time" and to include all of southeast Asia and the western Pacific area but not the Nationalist China stronghold of Formosa.
4. Defines the treaty area to include all of southeast Asia and the western Pacific area but not the Nationalist China stronghold of Formosa.
5. Supports "continuous and effective self-help and mutual aid" among member nations to resist armed attack and prevent subversive activity directed from outside the treaty area.
6. Upholds the charter of the United Nations.
7. The economic framework of the treaty may prove the most effective and the Democrats would ask equal radio and television time for amount of chattering and noise.
8. The eight countries also approved a "code of conduct" and self-determination of peoples in the area. It says the signers will work by peaceful means to "promote self-government and secure independence of all countries whose people desire it and are able to undertake its responsibility."
9. In a brief speech preceding the signing, Dulles called the treaty "a major step in building security for southeast Asia."
10. "Constitutional steps are still

Unskilled Labor Hurts China's Industrial Birth

(Editor's note: Deryck Winter-ton, London Daily Herald correspondent who accompanied the White party to Red China took time out in Hong Kong after the trip to sum up and record his impressions.

In the following article, he tells something of the industrial problems facing the Communist regime, and what the Reds are doing about them. The Herald is the organ of the Labor Party.)

By DERYCK WINTERTON
Hong Kong, Sept. 8 (AP)—Six hundred million people and an industrial labor force, in the West-east sense, of around 15 million; the red handcraft workers or peasants.

That is the size of China's problem. She is starting her industrial revolution from the rock-bottom of poverty after 30 years of bad government, foreign war, invasion, civil war and disaster. You fly into Peking airport in a Russian-built plane. There are no Chinese planes.

Foreign Cars Only

You see the city in a Russian, or possibly American or British car. The first Chinese automobile factory is now being built.

Most endless lines of primitive carts, drawn by not very good horses, are being used to transport coal, blocks of stone, anything that needs moving. You see men and women—with heavy loads in baskets, hung from either end of a pole across the shoulders, in the south there are carts pulled by one man with another man behind.

Rep. take a ride in a pedicab—the taxi for one, or it may be two or three people. There are no motorized taxis. The Communists have ordered that no more pedicabs be built, and one guesses that most of the present supply will be in use before the real taxis are in production.

You watch a gang of 40 men placed on a sort of boat with two long shafts. They are being pulled through a complicated system of ropes, get the poles on their shoulders and they work with great skill and an extraordinary amount of chattering and noise.

And then from the world of pedicabs and straining muscles you are suddenly transported to the shapely rolling miles of Anshan in northeast China where most of the work is pressing an electric control button.

Machinery Is Russian

All the machinery is Russian, which "proves how unstable Russia is." This is one of the automatic phrases which it is bound proper to repeat at every opportunity. It goes with such other phrases as "thanks to the Comrade Mao and the Communist Party" and "since the liberation (which the Communists finally turned out Chiang Kai-shek five years ago), everything has been getting better and better."

But the tribute to Russia having been paid, you are then told in a voice that is no longer automatic but full of satisfaction that the machines are now worked entirely by Chinese technicians. Russian trained of course, and Chinese skilled labor.

One senses that Russia would do well not to trade too much on gratitude which can be seen pouring from the rolling miles of Anshan. The Chinese claim that they are now making such things as mining machinery, locomotives and jet engines, electrical generators for themselves.

How many is another matter. Precise figures are extraordinarily hard to get. Officially, in terms of percentage increase, houses going up everywhere, cinema, factories, and "cultural centers."

Apart from the griders and heavy rails and seamless steel tubes which can be seen pouring from the rolling miles of Anshan, the Chinese claim that they are now making such things as mining machinery, locomotives and jet engines, electrical generators for themselves.

Dubaldo Visits Italian Accordion Plant

During their recent trip to Europe, Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Dubaldo of 59 Irving St. visited Castelfranco, the accordion-making center of Italy, where they were taken on tours of two factories.

While at another factory, the Guarrini plant, Dubaldo made arrangements to import some accordions directly from Italy. He operates the Dubaldo Music Center in Manchester.

Dubaldo's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Dubaldo, accompanied them on their 40-day visit to Italy where they stayed in Magliano as Sabino with the old Dubaldo's sister. Every Sunday Bruno and his wife played in the San Liberata Church there. He plays the violin, his wife the organ. While in Italy they also visited Roma, Naples, Turin and Ancona, and held reunions with many of their friends and relatives.

The Dubaldos returned home Monday by plane.

Business Upswing

Pittsburgh, Sept. 8 (AP)—Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell says a "reviving off" of the economy, "then an upturn" and says "economists have told me that the employment should decrease this fall."

In an interview yesterday, Mitchell, here to speak at a conference of the National Urban League, said the United States has "ever had in a post war period."

There are 42 million unemployed, Mitchell said, with 3,000,000 unemployed.

Of the Pittsburgh district, Mitchell said the business upswing "will be as great... as nationally."

You have special problems here because of the concentration in coal and steel," he said. "But I do not look for the situation to get worse in this area."

Plants in foreign countries are maintained by 27 Connecticut firms.

Bus Smashes Pole Injuring Seven

West Haven, Sept. 8 (AP)—Seven passengers and the driver were injured last night when a Greyhound bus plowed into a utility pole on Route 1 during an electrical storm.

None of the injuries was critically hurt, but two were hospitalized for observation of head injuries.

Police Sgt. Thomas Patterson said the bus driver, Enoch Bartholomew, 37, of New Providence, N.J., veered his bus to the right in an attempt to avoid colliding with an automobile which had stopped to make a left turn.

The bus crashed into the pole after sidestepping the car, driven by Theresa S. Niles, Jr., 25, of West Haven. The pole snapped off at the bottom, pulling down electrical wires which service homes in the area.

Both drivers were booked on charges of violation of the motor vehicle laws. Patterson said Bartholomew and Joan Foster, 27, of West Haven, were hospitalized with head injuries. The others were discharged after treatment at St. Raphael's hospital at New Haven.

The New Haven-bound bus carried only seven passengers.

CABLE LEAFS TO DEATH

Hartford, Sept. 8 (AP)—Cab driver Max Rosenberg, 41, stabbed himself 20 times in the chest with a boning knife yesterday then leaped to his death from a third floor window in a hotel here, the medical examiner said. Dr. Walter Weisenborn said the stab wounds were superficial and did not cause death. He said Rosenberg died of injuries suffered in the plunge into an alley.

Nationalists Blast China Coast Area

Indicate the Communists have four Army corps, about 100,000 men, in Fujian province, of which Quomoy, Amoy and other coastal islands are a part.

Red Artillery Doubled The spokesman said Communist artillery within range of Quomoy had been almost doubled prior to a five-hour bombardment of the Nationalist island Friday.

The Nationalists have said their combined attacks are in retaliation for the Red bombardment.

The Defense Ministry said yesterday's assaults accord direct lines to new Communist gunboats damaged another, sank four motor-land junks and more than 100 wooden vessels. It added that more than 100 military junks were damaged.

The attacks have concentrated on Amoy, the Communist island base just a few miles from Quomoy, and on nearby islands along the coast.

A British freighter was caught in Amoy's outer harbor Tuesday night and bombed by unidentified aircraft. It was reported to have been damaged.

The ship radioed that one plane was strafing the ship, machine-gunning the entire deck. Later two bombs exploded alongside, showing the vessel was under attack.

Following the attack on Amoy, a spokesman for the Nationalist government said the Navy would take action if the Navy would take action.

An official Army spokesman here yesterday denied a published report saying there were indications the Reds would try to storm Quomoy.

The getting tired of denying one after another, said Gen. Chang. The Defense Ministry said Communist surface craft were spotted at Wuyao Island near the Chinese coast last night by the board of Chinese, directly behind Amoy.

Alden Lancy, 20, of Pittsburgh, was killed when his dump truck crashed into a hydrant and fire tank at the club for 21 years.

When this fact was brought to the attention of the tax collector recently by an official of the club, Cervoni, unaware of the lease, suggested that the occupants would have to be disposed of unless immediate payment was made of all back rent. Club officials were expected to make restitution.

U. S. SHIPS QUIT PORT Hong Kong, Sept. 8 (AP)—U. S. fighting ships have all but deserted the port since the Communists fighting broke out.

There usually are from four to eight U. S. Navy ships here on any given day, and several of these are on patrol in the waters around the island.

here yesterday "the possibility of conducting a very thorough diplomatic exchange of ideas" with the nations involved in the European Defense Community (EDC).

After the French Assembly failed to ratify the EDC, Britain sent a conference invitation to the six signatory nations — France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg, as well as to the United States and Canada.

Several nations agreed to the proposed date, but the United States indicated that Secretary of State Dulles might not be able to attend at that time.

Admirer said in a television interview released last night in New York that if Germany is granted the full sovereignty to a united Europe, he added that "if we do have sovereignty, that does not mean that we want unlimited rearmament."

French Premier Pierre Mendès-France, interviewed for the same program, said from his home near Paris he thinks a new agreement on German rearmament for West defense can be reached and put before the French Parliament for ratification before the end of the year.

Denmark and Norway, which have a smaller group of nations work out a plan for rearmament.

In a statement made prior to Lancy's remarks, Danish Foreign Minister H. C. Hansen said he was "of the opinion that Denmark and Norway will agree that the final negotiations should be conducted inside NATO."

Buzz Bombs Give Way To Push-Button Rockets

seven sites along the channel coast where the Germans had started to build "V2." This was a multiple weapon on a gram available, designed to fire long-range rockets from smooth bore barrels 400 feet long.

Near Calais, 50 miles across the English Channel from London, Allied soldiers stumbled across emplacements for 50 of the giant-rocket guns which reportedly could fire 600 missiles an hour.

All were trained on London and they had been hastily abandoned as Allied forces swept across France.

Called Vengeance Weapon It was 10 years ago today in the gathering dusk on the outskirts of The Hague, Holland, that German troops unleashed Hitler's "Vergeltungswaffe Zwei," or "Vengeance Weapon No. 2," an aerial streaking toward England. The rocket's white vapor trail, reaching to a height of 60 miles, marked the beginning of modern rocket warfare.

Less than six minutes later, at 6:43 p.m. Sept. 8, 1944, a shark-nosed 46-foot rocket carrying a ton of high explosives dropped without warning in the village of Chilton, on Thames. It exploded with a roar heard across London.

Others began dropping in London itself—26 in the next 10 days. Dr. Joseph Paul Goebbels, the adroit Nazi propaganda minister, exultantly predicted that London would quickly become a "Vergeltungswaffe Zwei" or "Vengeance Weapon No. 2" target.

Thus began a 20-day ordeal that shook England with its hammer blows, killed 2,754 civilians, injured 6,525 and turned 100,000 thousands of homes into rubble.

Shocking as it seemed then, we know today it was only a crude and small-scale preview of what could be done in the herculean rocket warfare of World War III.

For Hitler's V2s, with their erratic performance and limited range of 200 miles, were little more than pogroms—however lethal—compared with the modern U.S. arsenal of accurate guided missiles that seek out their targets by radar, some of them equipped with atomic warheads.

Only a few months ago the Air Force gave the tip-off that plans for transoceanic or intercontinental rockets may soon become a reality. It asked Congress for funds to extend by 3,000 miles the present 1,000-mile-long range for U.S. guided missiles in the Atlantic.

School Needs Set At Quarter Billion

Hartford, Sept. 8 (AP)—Gov. John Lodge has been informed by Connecticut's Education Commissioner that school building construction needs in the state will amount to about $250,000,000 in more than 100 cities and towns.

Commissioner F. E. Engleman, in his annual report to the governor which was released yesterday by Lodge's office, stressed that the past fiscal year was a boom year in school building.

Engleman said that $28,000,000 worth of public school contracts were awarded and during the same time work on more than $42,000,000 other school buildings was completed.

But, he noted, Connecticut still has a big job ahead in building schools to take care of the rapidly increasing number of children.

He also emphasized that, as the need for new school facilities poses a serious problem now and for the future, the shortage of elementary school teachers is something which requires early solution.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Richmond, 14 Pioneer Circle, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary Saturday.

Guests attended from Baltimore, Md., Springfield, Mass., Torrington, Hartford, East Hartford, Windsor and Manchester. Their son-in-law and daughters, who were host and hostesses for the silver wedding, served their guests at tables on the lawn with a buffet consisting of boiled ham, roast turkey, potato and macaroni salads, baked beans, pickles, olives, tomatoes, rolls, cake, cookies and hot and cold beverages.

A feature of the repeat was a large two-tiered cake topped with a silver loving cup and a 25th anniversary inscription. Portions of the cake were served to the guests on souvenir napkins.

Mr. and Mrs. Richmond received many beautiful gifts. Their children presented sterling silver vanity sets to them. Relatives of Manchester, they have resided at their present address for the past 11 years. Mr. Richmond, the former Angeline Baldwin, is a daughter of Peter A. 15 Kept from School By Bolton's Bus Hassle

Bolton, Sept. 8 (Special)—A committee at the beginning of its study school bus transportation has kept 15 children from the Rosedale section away from opening sessions of the Elementary school today.

Rosedale residents told the Board of Education yesterday of their displeasure in what they described as "the board's warring policy" on the question of whether or not the school bus would drive into the Rosedale section to pick up the children.

The board was told the children would be directed to walk for the bus at the Avery residence in the development, where they were picked up last year. If the children were not picked up at this location, the residents informed the board, they would be instructed to return home.

This morning the children waited accompanied by several mothers from 8 to 8:30 for the bus. When it did not arrive they returned to their homes. The school office reported at 8:30 that at least one child from Rosedale had been brought to school by her parents.

Mrs. Laura Lee, bus driver for the route, told The Herald that she picked up the bus at the new stop at Toland Road and Plymouth Lane.

Henry Sheekley, a Rosedale resident who served the board's Transportation and Study Committee, said board representatives assured the parents at a special meeting Aug. 30 that the bus would continue to make the stop at the Avery residence until such a time as a decision is reached by the town on the road question.

Board Chairman John McDermott said the board did not commit itself to the Avery stop.

The board announced the transportation routes and stop Friday and did not include the Avery entrance to the Rosedale development in four tenths of a mile long and owned by E. J. Hill, developer of the homes. The condition of the road is reported by a Rosedale resident to be completely "deplorable."

Mrs. Lee says she informed the board and the Transportation Committee last night.

There will be many educational exhibits in addition to the competitive exhibits, and of especial interest will be the exhibit of gold leaf by Judd Williams.

Joint Public Hearing Of Board, Planners Called on Subdivision

A joint public hearing by the Board of Directors and the Town Planning Commission will be held Sept. 21 on a 13-home subdivision which Andrew Ansaldi proposes to build off Wetherell Street just east of Server Street.

A few days before the public hearing the two groups are scheduled to meet informally to discuss the subdivision.

No opposition to it was voiced by Directors last night when they set dates for the two meetings. The Town Planning Commission has already given preliminary approval to a map for the subdivision which Ansaldi says will be completed in 14,000 sq. ft. The last is in Residence Zone B.

Septic tanks will be used in the development which cannot be hooked into existing sewers because of the topography. In answer to a question by Director Everett Kennedy last night, Wapping Center planning Administrator Maxwell said the sewer lines would be connected to Server Street, sewers in the Thompsonville area which are connected to Server Street is extended to Hartford Road.

With plans for an express highway through town in the works, however, it appears unlikely Server Street will be put through to Hartford road.

James H. Sheekley, town engineer, recommended that Ansaldi post a performance bond in the amount of $8,700 and that the street through the subdivisions be called "McLean Drive."

In other action last night the Board accepted a quitclaim deed from Ansaldi for a portion of Ansaldi Road.

Concussion Seen Accident Result

Wapping, Sept. 8 (Special)—Stephen Royce, 4, of Smith Street, suffered a concussion after being struck by a "good night" at Manchester and a possible chest injury. The boy received chest injuries from a utility truck rollover under a wheel.

The boy's father, George, was last night's host and planned him before the accident occurred. He said that Stephen was playing in the area with some other children when the truck rolled over on the back of the property.

He said he shut the machine off before leaving. However, a helper mounted the vehicle and it slipped forward about five feet pinning the boy under a wheel.

Royce said, "It was a freak accident. The motor was not running."

The contraption is a cut-down auto chassis that Royce has used for hauling dirt.

Ted

There are many ways for a town to be governed: by an individual; by a group of individuals hungry for power; or by men and women who represent the people. Ted Fairbanks, Republican member of the Board of Directors, believes in representing the people. His first term on the Board is evidence of the fact. Those who are running with him, Gil Barnes, Harry Firato, Natalie McIntosh, Jake Miller and Harold Turkington, believe the same thing: represent the people.

Probe Told Pentagon Is Behind Gag

Over quarter-million passengers use New York's terminal facilities at Bradley Field during past year...

documenting the effect of the much publicized European junket of Roy C. Cohn and G. David Schine...

Flinders also sent the committee a lengthy communication intended to back his charges that McCarthy "beamed" Gen. George Marshall and Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell...

Flinders also contended McCarthy acted in a manner "unbecomingly" a Senator when he accused Marshall of "treason" and in effect of "knowingly participating" in a Communist conspiracy against the United States.

McCarthy criticized Marshall in the Senate in 1951 for his role in the Truman administration...

Edward Bennett Williams, attorney for McCarthy, called as a second witness a man who identified himself as William J. Harding, Jr., of 335 Park Ave., New York City.

Questioning brought out that Harding had attended a public hearing of the McCarthy subcommittee in New York on the morning of Feb. 18 when former Army Maj. Peress was questioned.

Peress, a New York City dentist, has been described by McCarthy as "a Fifth Amendment Communist" who, nonetheless, was promoted by the Army and what he believed to be a copy of a cut-down version of the McCarthy-Army hearings.

Flinders had said McCarthy and anybody else who circulated it would have violated the espionage laws, Peress had been under Zwicker's command.

One of the charges against McCarthy is that he was abusive to Zwicker, much decorated former commander of Camp Kilmer, N. J., when Zwicker testified at the closed-door hearing.

Harding told the committee that Zwicker then turned to two officers sitting on his right and said:

"You see, I told you this is what we'd get if Zwicker was then commander of Camp Kilmer where Peress had been stationed."

He testified that Zwicker sat just behind him in the espionage section with several fellow officers.

He related that McCarthy asked Zwicker to stand up and answer several questions. When Zwicker sat down, Harding testified, "I distinctly heard him mutter, under his breath: 'You S.O.B.'"

"You see, I told you this is what we'd get if Zwicker was then commander of Camp Kilmer where Peress had been stationed."

News Tidbits

Over quarter-million passengers use New York's terminal facilities at Bradley Field during past year...

documenting the effect of the much publicized European junket of Roy C. Cohn and G. David Schine...

Flinders also sent the committee a lengthy communication intended to back his charges that McCarthy "beamed" Gen. George Marshall and Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell...

Flinders also contended McCarthy acted in a manner "unbecomingly" a Senator when he accused Marshall of "treason" and in effect of "knowingly participating" in a Communist conspiracy against the United States.

McCarthy criticized Marshall in the Senate in 1951 for his role in the Truman administration...

Edward Bennett Williams, attorney for McCarthy, called as a second witness a man who identified himself as William J. Harding, Jr., of 335 Park Ave., New York City.

Questioning brought out that Harding had attended a public hearing of the McCarthy subcommittee in New York on the morning of Feb. 18 when former Army Maj. Peress was questioned.

Peress, a New York City dentist, has been described by McCarthy as "a Fifth Amendment Communist" who, nonetheless, was promoted by the Army and what he believed to be a copy of a cut-down version of the McCarthy-Army hearings.

Flinders had said McCarthy and anybody else who circulated it would have violated the espionage laws, Peress had been under Zwicker's command.

One of the charges against McCarthy is that he was abusive to Zwicker, much decorated former commander of Camp Kilmer, N. J., when Zwicker testified at the closed-door hearing.

Harding told the committee that Zwicker then turned to two officers sitting on his right and said:

Hurricane Swings Away from Florida

The northern Bahamas were hit by the hurricane danger, none were advised to continue all precautions.

Winds of 115 miles an hour were recorded in the 50-mile wide core of the storm, and gales extended outward 120 miles to the northeast and 100 miles to the southwest.

At midnight the great wind was centered about 20 miles north-northwest of San Salvador, where Columbus first landed on the New World. Reports at that time indicated the storm might be turning slightly, along a line that would take it between Antros and Great Abaco islands in the northern Bahamas.

"However, we must emphasize strongly that all of south Florida should remain on the alert," a forecast said. "We can't say at this time that the storm won't strike the south Florida coast."

The big tropical blow was almost due east of the British colonial capital of Nassau, where gales of the storm were expected to strike this morning.

Merchants and residents in Nassau, a resort city of 20,000, fled this morning and moved out of exposed areas as the storm approached. It is expected to hit the island-towns for today's opening of the bird hunting season.

A Navy Hurricane Hunter near the tip of the storm reported a ship "fighting extreme seas," but said it could not make out the ship's name in the wild, wind-tossed ocean which at times broke completely over the vessel's decks.

Later reconnaissance was expected to give a more definite indication of the course the storm might take as it whipped past the Bahamas. Arthur Galt of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Mrs. Joseph Heard of Pittsburgh, Pa., one granddaughter, and several nieces and nephews.

Laborite Raps Attlee's Junket To Red Nations

Brighton, England, Sept. 8 (AP)—Arthur Dobson, British's most powerful labor union chief, struck today at British Laborite visits to Communist countries—"where people go and get indoctrinated."

Speaking to the annual meeting of the huge Trades Union Congress (TUC), Dobson made his attack as part of a scorching condemnation of Communist tactics in the British trade union movement.

It came while a great debate raged among British laborites whether they should work for closer contacts with Iron Curtain countries.

An official Labor Party delegation led by Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin has just finished a trip to the Soviet Union and Communist China. Other Laborites—as individuals, not official delegates—are now in Poland. Last night Russia's labor boss, Nikolai Shvernik, was expected to visit the Soviet Union.

Two Cars, Truck In Coventry Crash

A former State Police man and Manchester resident, David B. McKenzie, 51, now of Andover, was involved in a three-car accident on Route 4 in Coventry Monday afternoon when the car he was driving struck a truck and pushed it into an oncoming vehicle, State Police reported.

The truck, owned by William Bogner, 57, Birch Mountain Road, was heading east and waiting to make a left turn into South Street when McKenzie's car pushed it from the rear into the side of a westbound car operated by Robert H. Briggs, Leeds, N.Y., who was accompanied by his wife and two sons, according to police.

Damage was greatest to the McKenzie car's front end, while only minor damage resulted to the other vehicles, according to the investigating officer, Patrolman Clifford Bombard. He was assisted by Patrolman Thomas Gaultier after his visit to Russia and Communist China with the British Labor Party delegation.

Newsmen were told he would make no public statement until Monday, just before leaving Australia for England. He came here after his visit to Russia and Communist China with the British Labor Party delegation.
