USW Asks $1.25 Hour Low in U. S.

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 22 (AP)—The CIO United Steelworkers of America today urged Congress to boost the hourly minimum wage to $1.25 from the present 75 cents.

A resolution passed at the union's biennial convention said the 75-cent minimum is "inadequate to provide a subsistence level of income."

"And since it is a minimum sanctioned by the law it has become an invitation to chisel employers to evade their responsibility to provide decent wages for their workers," the resolution said.

For the second year in a row the union's president, David J. McDonald, failed to preside at the convention. He was still confined to his hotel room with the grippe.

Secretary-Treasurer I. W. Abel again substituted for McDonald. A resolution adopted by the delegates yesterday took the Republican administration to task for what it called a record "of either inaction or outright rejection" of most of the union's legislative program.

The resolution was the first of 25 presented to the convention yesterday. None of the others made any reference to the relations with the parent CIO.

Reports had circulated earlier that the resolutions asking for a USW withdrawal from the CIO would be presented during the four-day convention. Other resolutions are expected to be introduced after the convention winds up tomorrow.

The resolution dealing with the USW's legislative program was approved by the 3,000 delegates who represent 1,200,000 steelworkers.

Harriman Wins Over Roosevelt

"It bygones be bygones" and promised to campaign for Harriman. He predicted that if the Democrats went all out in the campaign they would win their first New York gubernatorial victory in 12 long, horrible years.

Harriman then appeared on the platform and Roosevelt congratulated him. The son of the President also congratulated Tammany leader Carmine G. DeSapio, one of the party leaders who led the fight for Harriman.

Harriman, with Roosevelt at his side, thanked the delegates for their "expression of confidence" and Roosevelt for his pledge of support.

The harmonious scene contrasted sharply with the angry battle the Roosevelt and Harriman forces had fought for the nomination.

The struggle in progress since a Tammany coalition with more than enough votes to elect Roosevelt reached a breaking climax on the convention floor.

Delegates backing Roosevelt, most of them from upstate, staged a 30-minute demonstration after the Congressman's name had been placed in nomination by Assemblyman James J. McGuire of Albany.

A demonstration for Harriman, almost equal in noise, was launched after the former Mutual Security Administrator's name was placed in nomination by John Young of Syracuse, vice chairman of the Onondaga Democratic committee.

The Harriman marchers were largely delegates from the New York counties, which formed the core of the coalition's strength. The demonstration ended after 27 minutes, on orders from the leader.

Young pictured Harriman as an experienced, mature administrator and said he could lead the party to victory in the election Nov. 2. He cited Harriman's record as chief executive of the Marshall Plan, Ambassador to London and Secretary of Commerce and international trouble shooter for President Roosevelt and Truman.

He also cited Harriman's experience as a banker and chairman of the board of the Union Pacific Railroad, founded by the nominee's father, Edward Harriman.

Roosevelt is a candidate for reelection to Congress from a West Side New York district.

In his acceptance speech tonight, Harriman is expected to outline the issues upon which he will base his campaign. These undoubtedly will include criticisms of Gov. Dewey's 12-year administration. Harriman also is expected to include a promise of a "liberal" and "progressive" administration if he is elected.

Harriman left the Republican party in 1928 to support Alfred E. Smith's bid for the presidency. He later became an ardent New Dealer and Fair Dealer.

Ribicoff Asks State Pay Hospital Costs
Hartford, Sept. 22 (AP)—A. A. Ribicoff, Democratic candidate for Governor, today advocated that the state shoulder the full cost of caring for patients at all state institutions.

The proposal would relieve families and relatives of patients of any charges.

Financially able relatives now contribute about $3,500,000 a year toward the institutional costs of their kin. The Ribicoff plan would shift the entire financial load to the State's general fund treasury.

His suggestion, advanced in a speech at Waterbury this noon, goes beyond the Democratic platform pledge for a restudy of the relative support law.

The Democratic nominee's proposal also far exceeds Republican Governor Lodge's stand in favor of easing the relative support charges in some instances.

Reds Set to Enter West Berlin Race
Berlin, Sept. 22 (AP)—The Communists notified the West Berlin government today they will participate in the city elections Dec. 5.

It will be the first time since the 1948 East-West split of the city that the Socialist Union (Communist) Party has named candidates for the city parliament in the Allied sector.

Political observers saw virtually no chance of a Red candidate winning a seat. A political party that would receive 9 per cent of the total vote cast to achieve representation in the legislature.

Coventry New Church School Annex To Be Dedicated Sunday
Coventry, Sept. 22 (Special)—The former Phillips property on Main Street, across from the Booth-Dimock Memorial Library in South Coventry, will be dedicated Sunday during a special service there at 3 p. m.

The First Congregational Church will take title to the property which will be used for a more adequate educational church school program. Church officers, church members, town officials and others will be invited to participate in the program, the Rev. Truman O. Ireland, church pastor, said today.

The recent purchase of the 11-room house with about an acre of land was made to complement the need for a program to combat juvenile delinquency.

Church officials hope the addition of space available for church school and group programs in the new quarters will enable the church to help overcome the evidential problem.

Church Service Set
The theme of the Sunday morning worship services in the First Congregational Church—Faith in God—will be the subject of the church members participating in the services at 10:45 a. m. will include O. H. Smith on "Our God," Mrs. Adam G. Quinn on "Realization of a Dream" and Gilbert Chapman on "Dedicated Dollars."

Democrats Say Lodge Misused Council's Files

Pray said the governor is authorized by state law to submit matters to the Legislative Council for its consideration.

"It is an amazing fact that our two Democratic friends should attempt to criticize Gov. Lodge for simply doing his duty under the law," Pray said in his statement.

"It has been five days since the Governor made his recommendations on the welfare laws. It seems to me that 'Pedeco and Dempsey are a little behind the parade.' This whole silly allegation by the Democrats has a distinct sour grape flavor to it. Pray said the governor is authorized by state law to submit matters to the Legislative Council for its consideration.

"It is an amazing fact that our two Democratic friends should attempt to criticize Gov. Lodge for simply doing his duty under the law," Pray said in his statement.

"It has been five days since the Governor made his recommendations on the welfare laws. It seems to me that 'Pedeco and Dempsey are a little behind the parade.' This whole silly allegation by the Democrats has a distinct sour grape flavor to it. 'Pedeco and Dempsey' sound very much like two politicians who missed the boat and are making a desperate leap from the dock.

"The whole thing is they don't like it because the Governor beat them to the punch."

"It was after this action of the Legislature that the Legislative Council began studying these measures and we have now reached conclusions which, in accord with the next Legislature, meeting in 1955.

"With our work over, the executive department of our state government has been given access to the files of the highest committee of the legislative department, and the Governor now portrays himself as making recommendations which our bi-partisan committee has reached.

"To our knowledge, however, never before has a Governor, whether Republican or Democrat, ever invaded the privacy of the Legislative committee and missed such efforts for private, partisan advantage.

"Unfortunately for the Governor, the record proves his constant opposition to the very matters which he now claims to favor. We are confident that the citizens of our state will see through this

Hebron Brebant Calls Weather Shots With Accuracy

Hebron, Sept. 22 (Special)—Frederick J. Brebant, 52, came to this country from the islands off Great Britain a good many years ago, but often hit the nail on the head with his weather predictions, especially "to what kind of a winter would be in store for New England."

He bases his predictions on various things, some of them very curious, such as the entrance of animals, a custom which probably dates back to the ancient Romans. He also has in mind the temperature following what he styles "the line storm."

He claims that the hurricanes was the regular line storm, but with greater fury than usual. When contacted Monday he said he had not missed the matter out thoroughly, and was weighing several things in his mind. He predicted the very mild winter which we had some 20 years ago, and it came out exactly as he said.

The Doctor Says

Treatment for Pinworms Is Apt to Be Very Tedious

Written for NEA Service "My eight-year-old daughter," writes Mrs. A., "has had pinworms off and on 10 times in less than three years. I have taken her to four doctors but nothing seems to help her. She is a nervous child and restless at night."

Mrs. A. says she is at her wits end about the same problem. "I'm a mother of small children and have found they have pinworms and am almost beside myself trying to find a cure."

These letters show what is well known to doctors, that pinworms are hard to get rid of. Often the reason for this is not that they can't be eliminated but that re-infection is all too easy. In families of several children—or in institutions where many youngsters live close together—the problem is toughest to deal with because one youngster may get rid of them only to catch them again from another.

Pinworms are one of several kinds of animal parasites which have a liking for the human intestinal tract. They live in comfort inside the bowel, usually laying their eggs near the outlet and thus causing itching in this area.

Youngsters with pinworms are likely to be nervous and irritable, suffer from difficulty in sleeping, and may even have convulsions. Any of these signs—or observing the worms in the intestinal waste—call for an examination with the microscope.

As indicated by Mrs. A. and Mrs. P. treatment may be discouraging, but there are some good remedies which usually work. If they don't work the first time the motto should be "try, try again."

These medicines, however, are often not enough to bring about permanent cure, particularly if there are other children in the family who have a few parasites and are all set to pass them on again.

This can happen through the use of bed linen, pajamas or other clothing, or the use of the same toilet. Consequently good hygiene is just about as important as treatment. Careful washing of hands and strict avoidance of the common use of bedclothes or inner clothing is necessary.

The worried mothers who have written have reason to be discouraged but not to despair. They should keep after the treatment in spite of setbacks and should themselves practice and teach their children the hygienic measures which will help to prevent re-infection.

Russian Steno Watches Clock Chatter 'Madly'

Moscow, Sept. 22 (AP)—Soviet self-criticism has got around to the clock-watching stenographer. Trad, newspaper of the trade union, described Irene as a girl (she is 45 but acts like 18) who is mad about the word "madly" (Russian) and also loves to say "absolutely (absolutely)."

When she gets on the telephone, it's enough to drive the rest of the office staff mad.

Pinworms. Friends incessantly. A bookkeeper counted up that Irene in a single day telephoned 49 times to friends and relatives. And he figured out how much time she costs the Soviet state by primping her face—eight hours a month.

Such inefficiency and self-indulgence, says Trud, must stop. "Irene Gromova," says Trud, "like to talk very much and her voice is heard the whole day. She keeps repeating how she was madly happy yesterday, how madly jolly her last party was, how madly sleepy she is now, what a madly terrific headache she has, how madly light are her shoes. She is also madly-hungry."

But it is when 947 Mama telephones that the office hears most from Irene. It is the telephone that interests her.

"People ring her up every five minutes and she discusses her intimate affairs. Sometimes the conversation is absolutely secret, but everybody understands that it concerns one of the directors of the shop who is to bring her tomatoes and cucumbers."

"But it is when 947 Mama telephones that the office hears most from Irene. It is the telephone that interests her."

Convict Is Freed For Rescue Feat

Marquette, Mich. (AP)—George Cardinal, 41, is a free man because he risked his life in the rescue of two fishermen on storm-wracked Lake Superior. Cardinal, an inmate at the Porcupine Mountain prison camp, went out on the dangerous waters in a rowboat and saved two of four fishermen who had been thrown out of their boat by the storm.

Handout Causes Much Suspicion

Boone, N. C. (AP)—It's not easy to give away money. At least that's the conclusion of J. B. Johnson, who likes to study human psychology. With crisp one dollar bills, Johnson recently stood on a street corner here and offered money to the needy. He was met with much suspicion.

TIME LOST Petersburg, Va. (AP)—The town clock on the courthouse steps had been showing the correct time on three faces and was an hour late on the fourth side. The city's building superintendent, James A. Sanford, who likes to know what time it is, climbed the steps and found the cause—pigrons. He evicted four fishermen who had been thrown out of their boat by the storm. The clock is again on time on all sides.

Hal Boyle
'Mr. Radio' Tunes Out For Florida Rest
By SAUL PETT (The Hal Boyle)
New York (AP)—Charley Butler, who you know the byline as "C. E. Butterfield"—is retiring as radio-TV editor of the Associated Press.

Around here, that's a little like saying the RCA building is going to be let down for a parking lot. Matter of fact, most of us were happy to hear that Charley would be writing about radio long after NBC breaks a faded dividend memory in the minds of David Baroff's descendants.

But Charley says he's tired and wants to go down to Florida and write. After all, he has only been writing about radio for more than 20 years. He has been radio editor for only 27 years. He has done his column for only 22 years.

"In those days," he recalls, "there were no commercial stations. All I got was coded signals from the government stations. I couldn't understand the code but it was fun for me. Anyway, it wasn't for the rest of the neighborhood."

"You see, I used an electrostatic rectifier to cut in on the house current, which was A. C. Every time I pressed down on the telegraphic key, it dimmed all the lights in the neighborhood. You should've heard the squawks."

In 1918, he came up to Chicago to do general bureau work for the AP. Within a few years, he was finding stories to write about radio at a time when many people still couldn't spell the word. For example, he wrote about Chicago's "Silent Nights."

On those nights every station in town closed up so radio owners could begin writing their diaries to see how many long distance stations they could pick up. On a good, clear night you could get Los Angeles.

Charley came to New York as AP radio editor in 1927. This was at a time when radio fans were just switching from battery sets, which frequently melted over and burned a hole in the living room rug, to receivers using house current.

The big attractions then were the A.F. Gypsies, the "Clipped Club Radio" (an orchestra), Graham McNamee, and the Rev. Charles F. Johnson. Only Frank Parker is still singing. Charley also tuned in on the first broadcast by a couple of fellows known then as "Sam and Henry." When the boys left Chicago they had to leave the name behind with the local radio station. In New York they became known as "Amos 'n' Andy."

In 1932, Charley made the front pages with an exclusive story. It was the first trans-Atlantic short-wave interview on record. The man on the other end in Valcan City was Guglielmo Marconi.

Even in those days, Charley was firing questions at the experts about a fantastic bit of nonsense known as telepathy. That interview, Marconi told Charley telepathy's chances were "rapidly improving."

Charley was writing so long ago about TV, the headline writers hadn't even had time to catch up with the news of the new medium. One head over a Butterfield story was: "Sight-Seeing by Radio."

Charley was not only writing about the new gadget in the early thirties, he even built his own first TV set out of a lot of parts. His first receiver used a neon lamp instead of a cathode ray tube. Thus the picture was dark red and light red instead of black and white.

You didn't have to be a grasshopper to enjoy the first experimental programs that came over Charley's set but it would have helped. Even with a magnifying glass that provided a picture only one and a half inches wide and one inch long. To see anything, he couldn't be any more than two feet away.

In those days, about all there was to watch was experimental pictures transmitted by NBC. Charley particularly remembers one in which all that happened was that a wooden figure of a cat kept revolving around a turntable.

But he watched that postage stamp screen and he watched and reported on everything that came with the bigger and better screens developed since.

Now he says he's going to retire in November, which just goes to show you how tough it is to hold on to help these days.

tion of his failure to appear before the committee in 1952 has been eliminated from the Watkins Committee's judgment.

This was not, incidentally, the only instance in the Watkins Committee hearings in which the McCarthy defense chose to base itself on a pure technicality.

It is understood, naturally, that a good lawyer defending a case will explore technicalities which may assist him. Nonetheless it was somewhat surprising that the McCarthy defense should in this particular situation, have relied so heavily upon various technicalities.

It was surprising that the McCarthy defense should choose to base itself so heavily on such technicalities, even if it thought them to be sound. It was surprising because such tactics are not always successful.

again. But before many hours with fall and winter, human necessity begins insisting it must come again. Fortunately, it will, Farewell, good summer, season of pulse and life.

Perhaps you have felt alone in this world and have made yourself more or less of a voluntary shut-in, feeling that you have no real friends, that people don't care about you. We have all felt that way at times.

The best way to overcome that feeling is first to remember that God loves those who love him. So begin with positive thinking and say to yourself, "Of course people like me. And then, I'm sure of that statement. First, forget yourself, then forget the Golden Rule—to do unto others as you would have done unto you—and then do a little more, not for outward praise, but for an inward satisfaction, knowing you are doing something that would please God and the person you do it for.

Finally, wear a smile and be joyful, and you will find you have many friends and are no longer alone. God has not promised strength for the day. Just help Him a little!

LOST FLEET NOT LOST... The greatest futility in baseball is not, after all, that of the Red Sox roster. It is the rather involved futility of the roster who live from year to year, for the possibility that the day may arrive when the Brooklyn Dodgers will show themselves psychologically capable of defeating the New York Yankees in a World's Series.

This unfortunate roster necessarily has to spend his summer routing for both the Yankees and the Dodgers, in order to insure the Series meeting in which the Brooklyn Dodgers will have their chance to avenge themselves for all the dismal moments from the Green doppelganger strike on. And every time this roster wins in his summer task, and gets the Dodgers against the Yankees again, the Dodgers just don't have it.

Well, in 1954, this particular roster was out of his misery some weeks ago. Whatever happened, he had no chance of getting his favorite fall meeting again, and of dying through another Dodger failure and another demonstration of Yankee intangibles.

Instead, his warped kind of rooting has been called upon to absorb the spectacle of the Cleveland Indians handling the Yankees the way the Dodgers ought to be able to handle them, some day, and the further spectacle of the New York Giants handling the Dodgers as if they had borrowed all the intangibles the Yankees seemed to have lost in 1954.

And even from his limited kind of vision, this warped roster can acknowledge at least one salient fact. There was very little backing into anything in 1954. The pennants were won by teams which were best in the clutch, by teams which played with a greatness in deal more than nine men on the field.

As for the outcome of their meeting, it seems to this particular roster that it should come out so he can at least say that not only did somebody beat the Yankees, but that somebody beat the somebody who beat the Yankees.

Farewell, Good Season... The autumnal equinox, which is a better way of saying fall in a scrambled age, did, according to official computations, arrive shortly before 9 o'clock this morning.

That, as usual, is the official reality which is the unreality. That new season actually arrived at one particular moment during the rainy week just passed.

It was that particular moment when the hangover of summer warmth yielded to a damp chill which, in its turn, failed to yield back to summer again when the sun returned for exploratory visits.

When it rains and it is still fine, that's summer. When it rains and the rain stamps a chill on every thing, that is the end of summer. When, after the heaviest rain or dew, the sun can dry the grass by 10 o'clock, that is autumn. When the sun can still be wet from dew at noon, that is fall. When clothes dry, it is summer, when not, fall. When sun is a lurch of shiver, it becomes a climate to shelter from.

None of this happened suddenly, a little before 9 o'clock, this morning. It happened, in varying degrees, to different bloods, some time last week. When it happens, summer is gone as if it had never been, and were never to come

Sacrifice of Pig To Placate Gods
Honolulu (AP)—Hawaiians were not surprised when a swave-in occurred in a tunnel project through the Koolau mountains, killing five.

Old-time Hawaiians say the gods were angry because two sheep stons had been destroyed by bulldozers building an approach to the tunnel from the Honolulu side of the mountain range.

What can be done to placate the gods? This is what the Hawaiians recommend: "Nothing less than the sacrifice of a black pig with a red stripe down the body can undo the mischief."

Early on Chambers
Miss Earline Chambers, a former Manchester resident, entered New Paltz University at New Paltz, N. Y., last Wednesday.

She is enrolled in the elementary teaching course and will major in early childhood education.

Miss Chambers is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Earle Chambers, both of whom worked for Cherry Brothers while living in this town. Mrs. Chambers is known to many residents as the former Viola Lytle through her work as an assistant employment manager at the local plant. Her husband is now sales manager for the United States Envelope Co. in New York City.

Miss Chambers was graduated from the Balwin, Long Island, High School in June, where she was a member of the French Club, Delta Epsilon Upsilon, and the Art, Society and Senior Ball Committee. She is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henderson Chambers and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lytle.

All friends of the church, both old and new, are invited to attend this service.

PRIVATE RAILROADS South River, N. J. (AP)—Jay Wulfsberg and his railroad fan buddies don't wait for Santa Claus to bring them a railroad—they built one themselves.

And it wasn't the living room type, either. They picked up a 30-year-old 13-horse steam engine for $400 in the junk market, laid out 800 feet of small gauge track, constructed a tender room, scrap, and converted a log car into a passenger coach of sorts.

Now the 23-year-old dress manufacturer and his associates have a private museum on a three-acre lot.

The road cost them around $1,000 for rolling stock and parts plus tons of sweat.

More Luxuries for India, But Hike in Tariffs Follow

New Delhi, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Indian-made goods to be imported into India will now be taxed at 40 per cent. The new policy permits twice as many packs of playing cards to be imported at a duty boosted from 18 to 40 per cent. Those hours of leisure also may be brighter with more liberal quota restrictions on golf balls, smokers' articles, hunting weapons and musical instruments—higher duties do not spoil the fun.

Increased imports of a few articles are to be allowed without the duty being raised. Chief among these are watches and toys.

The government said the new programs intended to provide high duty protection to young Indian industries which previously had been protected by tariff restrictions.

Officials explained the policy in this manner: In the past, the lower quotas possibly twice as much foreign-made silk, hosiery, cottons, woollens or other fabrics on the market. Along with this greater choice go boosted duties—on hose, 80 per cent instead of 60; on other fabrics, about 80 per cent instead of the 50 per cent average level previously.

Churches Council Conducts Session

Following a delicious supper served by the Women's League, the Churches Council of Manchester met in the sanctuary of the Second Congregational Church Monday night for a devotional period in charge of the Rev. Armon Tozer.

The vestian committee met briefly, then gathered for a business meeting conducted by the president of the Council, the Rev. John Newber, minister of the Community Baptist Church.

It was announced that a Reformation Service will be held this year on Oct. 31 at the Salvation Army Citadel with the Rev. Virgil Wickman of Worcester, Mass., as speaker.

Relative to President Eisenhower's proclamation of today, Sept. 22, as a National Day of Prayer, the Manchester Council of Churches voted to again urge its members to observe the day.

Moonshine Gives Judge Shudders

Greenville, S. C. (AP)—Police Court Judge John V. Jester was handed a half-gallon jar of moonshine whiskey officers offered in evidence against a man charged with transporting it.

He unceremoniously rejected the cap and inhaled deeply. After a few seconds "this has got his face back to normal," Jester added.

"I believe it," Jester commented. "And if he drinks this stuff he never will."

The officers said the defendant apparently was of the same opinion. They said he told them he bought the whiskey from a bootlegger but was unable to drink it and was taking it back when arrested.

Directors Buy Rock Crusher

The town will purchase a rock crusher for $17,000 as part of the gravel pit in buying off the gravel pit in buying off the gravel pit.

By an eight to one vote, with Director Walter Mahoney opposed, the Board approved a recommendation by James H. Shepley, town engineer, and General Manager Richard Martin that a Cedar Rapids crusher be bought.

The town now has run-out-the-bank gravel for most of its highway work. The stone crusher will break up all but the largest of stones and the crushed stone can be used in highway construction.

In other actions last night, the Board formally approved Andrew Anasid's McCann Drive subdivision on Wetherill Street, returned $100,000 from the engineers and architect's account and the capital works reserve fund and approved relocation of Water and Sewer Dept. appropriations.

The subdivision approval was a joint approval by the Board and the Town Planning Commission after a public hearing at which no objection or against the action was made.

The 13-home subdivision complies with all subdivision requirements except that septic tanks will be allowed because of the difficulty of connecting with existing sewer.

The $100,000 was taken from the capital works reserve fund for an chitectural work on the Keeley Street School and the high school before bonds were issued.

The bonds have since been sold providing money for the work, and that night's action returned the $100,000 to capital work.

Like all other department budgets, the funds in the Water and Sewer budget are allocated by the Board after appropriations are made by the Board.

The Board last night had made most of the reallocations but deferred making the rest which would be based on increased revenue from rate hikes since the hikes have not been authorized yet.

UN to Weigh Cyprus Despite British Plea

Dulles Set To Speak On Policy

Sante Fe Chief Jumps Track

United Nations, N. Y., Sept. 22 (AP)—Britain warned the U.N. today that political stability and peace in the whole Aegean area would be harmed if the General Assembly agreed to consider Greece's claims to the Island of Cyprus.

British Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd made his statement before the Assembly's 15-member steering committee as Secretary of State John Foster Dulles prepared a major speech on Cyprus.

U.S. Abstains Despite the British warning, however, the committee voted 8-3, with three abstentions to give the question a full airing. Britain, France and Australia cast the negative vote, while the United States, the Netherlands and Columbia abstained.

Russia voted with the majority in favor of placing the question on the assembly's agenda.

In strong terms, Lloyd opposed any U.N. intervention and the British-Balkan dispute over the island of Cyprus. He said the island is a part of the Aegean area and thus outside the jurisdiction of the U.N.
